NATIONAL COTTON WEEK

It's National Cotton Week! This should certainly interest us, since our "bread and meat" depends on cotton.

A week like this is designed to bring home to us that we should use as much of the product that we produce as possible, so that the demand for it will be as brisk as possible and consequently the price of OUR commodity will be as high as possible.

Researching, we find that cotton is produced in Coryell County in amounts from 18,000 to 40,000 bales a year, (Texas Almanac, 1936 edition); also another section of the same book, Texas now spins only 2 to 3 per cent of the cotton it grows, and the cotton manufacturing industry is potentially one of the State's greatest.

Cotton is used in the manufacture of many by-products, such as cotton seed oil, meal, cakes, gun cotton, rayon, and many others.

Coryell County last year fell short of the usual production and the figures for 1935 are 16,808, the lowest since 1924, with the exception of 1925, which was only 6,832 bales. The highest year in this period was in 1934, with 34,235 bales.

So, when we're buying cotton products, we're taking our money out of one pocket and putting it the other. Let's push the sale of these products.

For three days, beginning May 19, Groesbeck and Mexia will jointly sponsor as a Texas Centennial Celebration, a tribute to the early pioneers who lost their lives at the hands of Comanche Indians during the siege of Fort Parker a century ago. The historic fort, shown above, as visualized by the artist, is being reconstructed from Centennial funds on its original site in the new 1,600-acre Fort Parker State Park on Highway 14 between Groesbeck and Mexia.

Pledge

I will think—talk—write . . . Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be. . . . .

Lets Talk about Clothes

Deaton, May 7.—Formal graduation frocks make their debut this week, and the fashion world joins spectators at commencement parades. Some of the graduates will tread the platform in conventional cap and gown, but others will don lovely sheer, white frocks with ruffles and flounces, and will look as distractingly feminine as possible.

Fashion experts have been kind to the girl graduate and designed her frock with an eye to the practical side. Graduation dresses are no longer now wrapped in tissue paper and put away when that all-important June event is over—instead, they are making big hits at summer formals.

In selecting a frock, girls at Texas State College for Women wager you'll want one that carries its own clever little jacket. Some of them come just to the waistline, and are held so that they look to be a part of the dress itself. They feature little capelets of lace or net, and elaborate sleeves with lace or ruffle inserts. Materials are organ-dy, net, chiffon, mousseline de soie, and French dimity.

One smart frock is made of white net with narrow inserts of white satin at four inch intervals all the way up the dress. The pointed Peter Pan collar buttons at the top of the back with four satin covered button, and the placket is open from there to the waist. The dress has a stitched satin belt, and is worn over a satin slip. Another youthful dress is made of mousseline de soie, trimmed with accordion pleated ruffles at the bottom of the skirt. The adorable jacket has a high stand-up pleated collar and full sleeves that are circled with three rows of pleated ruffling. The waist fits snugly and a blue velvet ribbon gives the effect of a one-piece dress.

CARD OF THANKS

THANKS, is about all I can extend to the 300 Gatesville people, to 341 people on rural and star routes served by this post office who signed a petition of endorsement, and to the 50 to 75 people who wrote letters recommending me for the position of Postmaster at Gatesville.

For this trust, and your confidence in my ability as shown by your willingness to do me these favors, I am sincerely grateful.

CLUB NEWS

Ireland 4-H Club

The Ireland 4-H Club met April 30 at 10 a. m., in the High School building. Our sponsor, Miss Eunice Dooley, was with us. She checked up on our past work and gave us instruction for our next project.

Miss Dooley told us to check the number of feet of green vegetables to make sure that we have 145 feet per member. She also said that we may make our next project to suit ourselves.

Our pie supper was discussed and the last arrangements were agreed on.

Those present were Donnaleta Pattenon, Laura Hampton, Pauline Richardson, Pauline Watkins, Johnnie May Robinett, Jamie Lynch, Eloise Squires, Albertine Robinette, Georgia Jane Grubb, Bernice Squires, Irlada Austin, Elaine Watkins.

Ewing 4-H Club

The best plans to arrange a closet was given by Miss Gladys Martin, the Home Demonstration agent, to the Ewing 4-H club girls at the Ewing school house May 6.

With the discussion of proper spacing and shelving of the closets, Miss Martin also explained the correct arrangement for dress compartments.

The club sponsored a pie and box supper last Friday night to defray the expenses to the Centennial. Plans were made for a picnic to be given in the near future.

Those attending the meeting were Virginia Brown, Virginia Powell, Edith Brown, Edith Hartzell, Floy Ingram, Martha Elizabeth Smith, Ruth Woodson, Mary Evelyn Eubanks, and Mrs. Virgil Powell.

Bluebonnet Workers Club

"Study yourself critically before a full-length mirror, pick out your defects and flaws of figure, so as to know how to properly plan a dress for your individual type."

suggests Miss Martin, Home Demonstration Agent, at a meeting in the home of Mrs. F. R. Wilson last Thursday afternoon. "Raglan sleeves for the broad shoulders will keep them from appearing so, and puff sleeves for narrow shoulders will be more appropriate."

Dress patterns and proper colors were discussed and plans were made for a penny carnival to be held in the near future.

To this union was born one child, Otto Yates. She has made her home in Coryell County for about fourteen years. Her husband preceded her in death three years.

informed by the regional headquarters that almost half a million dollars is now available for cooperative loans in Texas and Oklahoma will be diverted to other use unless it is loaned before the end of June.

This fund amounts to $312,000 in Texas, but only a few thousand dollars have been loaned to date. Most of the loans so far have been for pure-bred sires and farm machinery. The loan is usually made to one man, and his neighbors sign an agreement to use the animal or machinery at a specified price.

Many other types of cooperative enterprises may be financed through such loans from the Resettlement Administration, including syrup mills, feed mills, laundries, canning plants, meat curing plants, threshing outfits, and facilities for grading and shipping farm products such as fruit, vegetables, eggs, and poultry. Loans may also be made for membership in existing cooperative associations. In one county a loan is now being considered which would enable borrowers to become stock holders in a cooperative hospital.

First Games of Soft Ball Season Tonight at 8:00

MERCHANTS AND FIREBOYS MEET CCC TEAMS

Tonight at 8 o'clock the local softball league gets under way at which time the Merchants will meet the Blues of the C. C. camp. The second game finds the Firemen opposed by the Reds, also of the CCC camp.

For the Merchants "Poison" Ivey, speed ball expert, will more than likely start in the box, although Sasse may be the choice, while the catching duties will be taken care of by Dave Culberson Jr.

The Firemen will start their ace, Doc Ray, in an effort to subdue the Reds while Chief Roger Miller will do the receiving act.

The batteries for the Camp teams are unknown.

Rules to govern the play of the league, agreed upon by the managers are as follows:

The ball to be used is a 14-inch in seam official soft ball. (A vote will be taken by the managers later on in the season to determine whether the 12-inch ball will be used after the players have become accustomed to conditions.)

The first game is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock and at 8:10 if a manager fails to have as many as nine (9) men on the field his team loses by a forfeit. If neither team is prepared to start play at 8:10 it will count as half a game won and half game lost for each team.

The first game will be halted by the umpire at 9:00 or as near 9:00 that both teams have had an even number of time at bat. The second game starts at 9:10 and will be halted at 10:00 or as near 10:00 that both teams have an even number of times at bat. If in the second game at 9:10 one club is not ready or if neither club is ready the forfeit route will be taken as in the case of the first game. If, in either game at the end of seven innings (all games will consist of seven innings) or at the time the umpire halts play the teams are tied, they will be allowed to play until a winner is determined, regardless of the time. In case the first game goes into extra innings the second game will start 10 minutes later with all rules in effect.

Rules of the official softball rule book will be in effect with the exception of the size of the diamond which will be sixty (60) feet instead of forty-five (45) feet unless it is found necessary to employ local ground rules.

There are other rules which pertain to the players and can be obtained from the manager of each team.

The above rules were adopted for use during the first half which comes to an end Friday, July 10.

SPORTS

The softball season gets under way this evening at 8 o'clock. In the evening's first encounter, the Merchants meet the Blues of the CCC camp. The Blues, due to more practice, should be the winner, but we like the chance of Anderson's crew the better.

***

***

Thursday evening Doc's Sandwich Shop ten and the Camp team of Whites make their initial appearance, opposing one another in the first game, while the Merchants and Fireboys tangle in the second game. Friday the Whites and Reds and the Blues vs. Doc's Shop complete the week's schedule.

***

Hereafter there will be a column devoted to softball which will appear in each Tuesday issue of this paper.

***

The new athletic field is taking on a rather pleasing look. The stands are completed with the exception of the painting and the first stages of this work are about completed as workmen are putting on a coat of preservative creosote underneath the structure. The rock wall on the north side is nearing completion and no doubt the sodding will begin very soon.

County base ball results are still conspicuous by their non-appearance and it is puzzling to us why the managers can not arrange to send in the results. They have from Saturday or Sunday, as the case may be, until Thursday morning to do so. This should not be asking too much and as the results from this office are to be taken as official, more or less, it ought to be of interest to get them in to us to receive them on time.

Exports of French champagne continue at a relatively low level, shipments abroad in the last year amounting to 8,250,000 bottles compared with an annual average of 21,000,000 bottles in pre-war years.

TO THE VOTERS OF GATESVILLE

I offer my name as a candidate for Alderman to succeed Dr. Bailey.

I offer these reasons why I think I would make you a good officer:

I favor drastic economy in city government, with all possible savings to be applied on outstanding debts so that interest may be stopped as quickly as possible.

Furthermore, I would like to see taxes brought down as fast as possible for two reasons: (1) that our merchants may be relieved of tax burdens so that they may better compete with other towns for the communities' business. The City Council has a grave responsibility here. Everyone knows that taxes must be added onto the selling price of merchandise just as rents, wages, insurance, etc. (2) Taxes must be lowered to meet tighter money conditions which now prevail, to relieve the people in general.

I propose a plan to change the taxpaying time to June first and November first in equal payments with a 30-day grace period.

There are many mechanical angles to the city's business. I believe my experience will save many mistakes being made along this line.

I would like to see a workable set of traffic regulations made and ENFORCED impartially. Penalties should start low—about $2.50—and rise for subsequent offenses. It's too late after a death.

I believe telephone rates are too high compared to the high value of the dollar. This matter needs pointed attention.

The lights and gas rates could be lowered with fairness to the companies also.

I enter this race with only one thought in mind: To serve Gatesville in a time of necessity. I believe I can do this better than either of the estimable gentlemen whose names have been announced.

I ask only one favor of my friends in this race. That is, if you do not think I could do the best job for Gatesville, vote for the man who can. Thank you.

(Signed)

Ford Exposition to Show How Southwest's Products Are Employed in Manufacture of Modern Motor Car

The opening in Dallas June 6 of the great Ford Exposition will show to the Southwest how its own products make the Ford, the Lincoln and the Lincoln-Zephyr automobiles possible. This unusual photograph well pictures the vast proportions of the Ford Exposition building, in which will be housed an exhibition showing how importantly Southwestern raw materials enter into the making of modern cars.

The huge Ford Exposition building, erected especially for the Centennial Exposition in Dallas, Texas, opening June 6, will be devoted largely to showing how importantly the raw materials of the Southwest enter into the manufacture of Ford V-8, Lincoln and Lincoln-Zephyr motor cars.

Forty-three thousand of a total of 55,000 square feet in the great air-conditioned structure will house an interesting group of manufacturing and testing exhibits, a pageant of transportation, dioramas showing the use of raw materials in the Ford plants, and an exhibit of the Henry Ford trade school at Dearborn, Michigan.

Displays carrying out the principal theme of the Ford Exposition show how such Southwestern products as cotton, mohair, wool, corn, cattle, soy beans, resin and rice are employed in the making of Ford and Ford-sponsored automobiles.

Five hundred and fifty-eight thousand acres, producing 160 pounds to the acre, raise the cotton used in each one million Ford units. A working exhibit at the Ford Exposition will show how cushion tops for Ford V-8's are stitched at the average rate of one every five seconds—consuming annually more than 57,000,000 pounds of cotton. How some of the millions of pounds of cotton used by the Ford Company is processed in its final stage at the factory will be shown in the demonstration of the machine known as the "multi-plier."

Used in making seat cushion tops and backs, the multiplier can sew at one time as many pleats as desired. In making Ford V-8 cushion tops, the pleats are made simultaneously. At the same time, cotton batting is fed into the machine, sewed into place, and the cushion cover is sewed to the cotton sheeting. The machine in regular production makes 24,000 stitches a minute and turns out 12 to 14 cushion tops every sixty seconds. This machine is but one example of how Southern agriculture contributes to the automobile industry.

With the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company exhibit in the Ford Exposition building showing another important use of cotton, the making of fabric for tires, it is further revealed that for one million Ford units, 25,000,000 pounds of cotton are required. It has been estimated that in production of Ford units this year, approximately 116,000,000 pounds of cotton will be used.

WORLD COMMENT

By
BURNS

The name "FERGUSON" has for two decades enlivened Texas gubernatorial campaigns, and this year promises to be no exception. Senator Roy Sanderford of Belton, now completing his first term as representative of the 21st District in the upper house, has entered his name as a candidate for governor with the official endorsement of former Governor James E. Ferguson and Miriam A. Ferguson.

O. B. Colquitt completed his second term as chief executive in 1914 and the State had a rather mediocre flock of aspirants from which to choose his successor. Thomas H. Ball was the dominant personality to enter the race, but in the primary an obscure Bell county banker and farmer by the name of James E. Ferguson won the nomination. Official total of "Farmer Jim" as he came to be called because of his appeal to the agrarian vote of the State, was 237,000. In but one primary since that time has Ferguson polled less than 200,000 votes in the first and second primaries.

Texans reelected James E. Ferguson with enthusiasm in 1916. The total vote cast was considerably less than the total of 240,000. In 1917, after three years in office, Governor Ferguson was impeached and removed from office, being succeeded by Lieutenant Governor William P. Hobby.

The old saying that has been proved false so many times since, "this marks the end of the Fergusons," originated at this time with the impeachment of the first of the Ferguson Governors.

In the primary of 1918 "Farmer Jim" came back to vindicate himself by announcing against Governor Hobby. Although he lost by a large majority, he maintained his primary-vote record by polling 217,000 votes.

The primaries of 1920 and 1922, which saw the first use of the double primary system, were without a Ferguson or Ferguson candidate on the ballot. These two primaries mark the only lull in the twenty-two year battle of Mr. Ferguson to maintain or regain the governorship.

The year 1924 saw Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, wife of the former Governor, entered in the campaign with eight other candidates, the most prominent of whom were Felix D. Robertson, Joe Burkett, Lynch Davidson, and T. W. Davidson. Lynch Davidson was Lieutenant Governor and T. W. Davidson had served in the same capacity from 1920 to 1922. The large field prevented the polling of 200,000 votes by Mrs. Ferguson, whose total was 146,000 to 193,000 for Robertson in the first primary. In the second primary Mrs. Ferguson, whose campaign was done by her husband, won handily over Robertson by nearly 100,000 votes. Opposition to the Fergusons was first manifested by a huge protest vote by Democrats in the general election, which gave George C. Butte, the Republican candidate, 294,000 votes, an unprecedented total for a G. O. P. nominee in Texas.

January 1925 witnessed the inauguration of Mrs. Ferguson for her first term, and also the induction into the office of Attorney-General of a young, tousled-headed boy named Dan Moody. Moody's two-year record as defender of the State's rights was brilliant and without reproach. And in 1926 he became the bulwark of the opposition to the reelection of Mrs. Ferguson for another term.

Mrs. Ferguson, Moody, and Lynch Davidson, a holdover from 1924, were the main contenders for the nomination in 1926. Young Moody's candidacy was received with enthusiasm over the State and he received 409,000 votes in the first primary to Mrs. Ferguson's 283,000. A month later Texans made Moody their chief executive with a plurality of 225,000 votes over "Ma" Ferguson.

Two years later "Jim" Ferguson adopted the policy of running one of his friends on a Ferguson ticket and supporting him on the stump and in his "Ferguson Forum." Louis J. Wardlaw, a West Texas rancher was the gentleman chosen to oppose Dan Moody. A lively campaign ensued with a typical Ferguson and anti-Ferguson battle raging heatedly throughout Texas' 254 counties. Moody won with ease, 442,000 to 245,000, although the Ferguson candidate maintained the precedent of polling over 200,000 votes in the first and second primaries.

By 1930 Texas voters were divided into two rather clear-cut groups, those traditionally opposed to Fergusonism and those who with regularity voted for the Ferguson candidate. Moody was challenged by Governor Jim to run for a third term but this the Governor refused to do. Ferguson promptly entered his wife's name into a field that was finally enlarged to twelve, including a former United States Senator, a State Senator, a former State Senator, a former Congressman, the Lieutenant Governor, and a millionaire oil producer. Mrs. Ferguson led in the first primary with 242,000 votes, 72,000 more than were accorded her nearest rival, Ross S. Sterling of Houston, the millionaire oil producer.

Governor Moody lent his support to Sterling in the second primary, which resulted in the election of Sterling by nearly 100,000 votes over Mrs. Ferguson.

Dissatisfaction among the people arising out of the world-wide depression caused another flock of aspirants for the governorship to announce against Governor Sterling, including Mrs. Ferguson and a Wichita Falls oil producer by the name of Tom F. Hunter. The latter, comparatively unknown among the voters, carried his candidacy to the people in a whirlwind campaign of over 200 speeches and registered what has been called a "protest" vote against Governor Sterling and Mrs. Ferguson of over 220,000. Sterling and "Ma" went into the second primary, which resulted in another "pro" and "anti" battle with traditional mud-slinging and hair pulling. Official tally of votes gave "Ma" the nomination by 3,798.

Two years ago five men of State-wide popularity announced for the governorship. Former Governor Ferguson clarified his position at the start by refusing to run his wife for a third term, but announced as his candidate Charles C. McDonald, former Secretary of State and Assistant Attorney General who had been a consistent supporter of Ferguson and Ferguson policies since 1924.

Other candidates included Attorney General James V. Allred, State Senator Clint C. Small, who had made a remarkable showing four years previously, Tom F. Hunter, running on the basis of his 220,000 vote total in 1932, Lieutenant Governor Edgar E. Witt, and State Democratic Chairman Maury Hughes. As in 1928 when Wardlaw was the candidate, politicians wondered if Governor Ferguson could deliver what he called his "pistol-pocket vote" to his candidate. The former Governor hammered for McDonald in the columns of his newspaper and made several addresses for his candidate McDonald maintained the 200,000 mark—but by only 6,000 ballots. Allred and Hunter went into the second primary, and Ferguson announced his support of the latter. Again he was doomed to defeat when Allred won the nomination by 40,000 votes.

Again the familiar cry of "the Fergusons are dead politically" resounded in the newspaper columns of the State. But did the defeat of Charlie McDonald write "finish" for the name Ferguson in the political history of Texas?

July 25, 1936, two run-off candidates of 1934—James V. Allred, now Governor, and Tom F. Hunter—and Senator Roy Sanderford, carrying the blessing of James E. Ferguson, will be placed before the people of this State. Whom will they choose?

THIS WEEK IN TEXAS HISTORY

(Week of May 10)

1836—On May 14 the treaty of Velasco was signed between President David G. Burnet and General Santa Anna. It provided that hostilities should cease and the entire Mexican army should retreat beyond the Rio Grande.

1846—President James Polk signed a declaration on May 13 that war with Mexico existed. Both houses of Congress had passed it with large majorities, and appropriated $10,000,000 and empowered the President to use the army and navy.

1888—The new capital building was completed and dedicated May 16. The highest point in Texas is the tip of Guadalupe Peak in Culberson County which is approximately 8,500 feet. The highest town in Texas is Fort Davis, 5,000 feet in the Davis Mountains—Texas State College for Women (CIA).

LIFE INSURANCE

Life insurance to some of us is a booger-bear! It should not be so!

Life insurance is life saving, without which you and I would not have a thing to show for our life's work. It is systematic saving that carries with it protection of the first water, in case of accident, ill-health, old age and death. Nearly all companies now provide education insurance, retirement, and numbers of other interesting features.

UNICAMERAL LEGISLATURE EXPLAINED

BY SENATOR G. H. NELSON

ARTICLE V

ARGUMENTS OF THOSE OPPOSED TO ONE-HOUSE SYSTEM

Those who are opposed to the creation of the one-house Legislature argue that such one house would be more susceptible to corruption than two houses. It is my contention that the contrary would be true.

The two houses offer a way to dodge responsibility, in that it permits the passing of a Bill in one house with the definite intention of using one's influence to kill it in the other; by passing it and then killing it in a free conference committee; or blocking it in a free conference committee as has been illustrated heretofore.

It is perfectly apparent, therefore, that instead of one house being a check on the other, the double barrel system is a shield for corruption concealing the record of unworthy Representatives, making it impossible for a critical public to know just what the record is. There are just six times as many ways to corrupt a two-house Legislature as a one-house.

If a majority of the members of the House of Representatives can be influenced to vote against any piece of legislation it means its death. Likewise, if a majority of the members of the Senate can be so persuaded, that piece of legislation is doomed. By controlling the Speaker of the House of Representatives, regardless of who he may be, he being the one who appoints arbitrarily the members of the free conference committee, one can thereby control any piece of legislation. The same thing is true with reference to the Lieutenant Governor in the appointment of the conferees of a free conference committee for the Senate. Then, if one can control a majority of the conference committee on the part of the House, or a majority of such conferees on the part of the Senate, he can control any piece of legislation.

Thus it will be seen that instead of one-house being a check against the other, the two houses serves as a check upon the desires and the will of the people, leaving the balance in the hands of those who are working contrary to the people's best interests.

If the check and balance theory will hold good, then why does not a corporation have two boards of directors; why doesn't your city have two sets of aldermen, and why do we not have two Governors instead of one? It is because that system is not conducive to good business nor the placing of direct responsibility.

By the adoption of the one-house Legislature in this State we will make of our State Government which spends over a million dollars per year a business institution rather than a political machine. Let us conduct the business of our State as the business of a great corporation is conducted by making the Governor the president of our State corporation, letting the Legislature serve as the Board of Directors, and the public as the stockholders.

Then, there are those who argue that the two houses are more conducive to better laws. The best answer that I can give to this is, that the two-house system has not done so. If one hundred years of experience under the two-house Legislative system cannot be more efficient than it is now, then, is it not time that we began something new rather than to patch that which we already have. The opponents to this system say that by having the two-house system a law will be considered more than once, and therefore, we will likely have a better law. In answer to such argument, I say that it is a poor law which is not considered more than twice, whether we have one house or two. Then, in answer to those who argue the check and balance theory, I say to them, we still have the courts; the Governor's veto power and the people's suffrage to act as our checks and balances after the adoption of the one-house plan.

It is a part of the job of every man and woman to maintain comfort for home and family, to look into the future as well as provide for the present. A man may be a good provider, but if he has not taken care to insure for the days to come he has missed a big point in a very important job. It is a natural reaction to work hard from day to day, to strive toward a high place in the community, a spot in the limelight. It is a natural inclination to get ahead. But the job doesn't stop there. The lean days that might come in the future must also be taken into consideration. They MAY come.

Anyone who does not believe that the Future Farmers of Gatesville have a future as truck farmers should see the onion project north of the athletic field. Sometime in the early part of March the F. Because of necessary work to be done in school these young farmers have been unable to give the onions much care for the past few weeks. Plans are being made for the hoeing of these onions and they will probably be harvested about the last of May. The proceeds received from the onions will be placed in the F. F. A. treasury.

In conclusion Gladys Marie Phillips played a piano solo.

Vocational Agriculture Students Study Soil Composition

Mr. W. E. Lasseter opened the vocational agriculture class Monday with a discussion on the necessary elements needed for the growth and development of plant life.

What is soil- Mr. Lasseter explained it as "the upper few inches of the earth's surface, containing an abundance of plant food." Soil contains water, air organic matter, bacteria, and rock particles. Water is necessary because it dissolves the plant food, conveys plantfood, and contains plantfood. Organic matter improves tilth and aeration, increases water adding capacity, contains plantfood and increases amount of available plantfood. Bacteria breaks down organic matter and makes the plantfoods available. Rock particles are the source of plant food elements. People in order to grow and develop must have certain vitamins, while plants musa have certain elements. In order to improve one's health a doctor prescribes vitamins, therefore a farmer should prescribe necessary elements for his plants. A farmer should place himself in the position of the doctor and feed his plants accordingly.

The Future Farmers wede very intrested in this discussion and the necessity of proper elements in the soil was clearly brought out. Veteran farmers should follow the example set by these young students and fnd out what elements are most needed on their own land and how these can be attained.
