Contract to be Let on 'Last Mile' Highway No. 7 East on June 3

It's only half done!
Word has been received by Judge Floyd Zeigler that contract will be let June 3 in Austin on the 4 1/2 mile stretch of Highway 7 east, completing Coryell County's part of the highway to the McLennan county line. Grading having been completed on that part several months ago.

Bids have been advertised for this stretch, and carries with it an estimated cost of $60,000.

With construction going on on the two bridges across Greenbrier and Coryell creeks, and also on a short section of highway beginning at the end of the completed part 5 1/2 miles east of Gatesville, it seems possible that Coryell is at last going to be "cement shod" within a comparatively short time.

At present approximately 150 men are working on the contracts which have already been let, and things are taking shape.

SUPT. WILLIAMS ANNOUNCES ALL-SCHOOL PROGRAM CANCELLED

Scheduled for tonight, the all-school program, which was to be presented in the gymnasium has been cancelled. Reason for cancellation, as explained, are that nearby schools are closing on that date and their programs would conflict with the proposed all-school program.

A similar event will be held near the opening of Gatesville schools next fall.

BUSINESS BOOM CAST BY LOCAL DODGE MAN

"That the Texas State Centennial, celebration would materially stimulate business activity in this part of the country, was something that I was reasonably sure about—but what I heard and saw during the two day meeting of Dodge and Plymouth dealers and factory personnel from all parts of the State was a revelation to me, as to what these Centennial observances are going to mean to every line of business in the Southwest," said D. D. McCoy of Gatesville, local Dodge and Plymouth dealer, interviewed a few days ago, upon his return from Dallas.

"I was truly surprised by the degree of enthusiasm and the business activity already discernible in connection with the Texas Centennial Central Exposition which is nearing completion. Speakers who addressed our meetings in Dallas, and who had recently toured many parts of the country, reported a similar amount of interest and awareness of what Texas is doing this year."

"What Dodge thinks of the prospects created by these observances, and by the stepped-up business activity already to be noted in nearly every line throughout the Southwest, is indicated by the fact that three major executives from Dodge

INJURED SOUTH PAWS SLOW WORK IN CO. AGENT'S OFFICE

"The Leftists have put the kibosh on Old Man Work in the County Agent's office.

Last Tuesday we reported one South-paw out of commission on one Adele Bone, who became "Centennial-minded" and tried to go Western. A spirited caballo tossed her off on her left hand, resulting in a couple of fractured or broken fingers.

Lightning hit twice in the same place, and now Lillian Hale came in with her left stove up. How it happened was not learned, but there they were, Lillian and Adele the two trying to do the work of one with onehand each, and that one that was "left."

Whereby hangs a tale, don't get impatient with Uncle Sam about your farm program papers, as the loss of two lefts has caused business in the Agent's office to be a little slow. Right now!

Bids for the new Post office building will probably be asked for in July, "if no unanticipated delay occurs, and if predetermined wage schedules have been received in time" is the information received by Dr. Clyde Bailey in a letter written to Honorable Oliver Harlan Cross by W. E. Reynolds, Assistant Director of Procurement Public Works Branch, of the Treasury Department.

The letter to Mr. Cross states as follows: "Further reference is made to your telephone conversation with a representative of this Division regarding the proposed new Post Office building at Gatesville, Texas.

"The site for this project was selected by the Post Office Department on October 10, 1935. Title was acquired by condemnation and vested in the United States on December 26, 1935.

"Tentative drawings were started on February 10, 1936. From its inception the preparation of drawings for this building has been complicated by the necessity for provision of required space and satisfactory interior arrangement for the Post Office Department, while in the funds available. These endeavors to keep costs with-considerations entailed several revisions of and changes from the original design. Adverse ground water conditions have added to estimated costs and have necessitated additional study and modification of the original detail of foundation construction.

"Revised tentative drawings have been prepared and are now under consideration. It is believed that these drawings will solve the difficulties encountered in the planning of this project, although the estimated cost of construction still appears to be in excess of the amount available for that purpose. However, if these tentative drawings receive the approval of the Post Office Department, it is the intention of this Division to prepare working drawings and specifications and advertise for the submission of competitive construction bids. It is hoped bids may be received which will permit the award of a contract.

"If no unanticipated delay occurs, and if predetermined wage schedules have been received by that time, this project should be ready to be placed on the market for bids by or before the early part of July.

"Please be assured that no avoidable delay has been allowed to retard this project, and that every effort consistent with proper procedure will be made to expedite its further progress."

BETTE DAVIS IS COMING TO REGAL IN "DANGEROUS"

A picture that is said to give Bette Davis an even greater opportunity to display her rare dramatic genius than did "Of Human Bondage" or "Border-town" has been booked for the Regal Theatre for a limited engagement beginning Saturday night at 10:30, and running Sunday and Monday.

The picture is the Warner Bros. Drama "Dangerous," in which Miss Davis is supported by Franchot Tone who has the leading masculine role and Margaret Lindsay, again her rival in love.

"Dangerous," which has been hailed as a masterpiece wherever it has been produced, is sheer, stark drama, featuring both the glamor and the shadows of Broadway life. It is the story of the most brilliant actress of her day, who was loved by many, but who loved only her own career and who sacrificed everything and everybody to her ambition.

Then, a fallen idol, she becomes an object of scorn, sodden with drink, and pitied even by those she had ruined.

This fallen idol is portrayed by Bette Davis. She is rescued from the gutter by Franchot Tone, a young architect, who also succumbs to her fatal fascination, neglects his profession, and his fiancée, Margaret Lindsay. He seeks in vain to wed the girl he had saved, despite the fact that she was thought to be a "jinx" and fatal to anyone coming in contact with her.

Tone does not know she has a husband, a man of wealth whom she had ruined, but who still loves her so much he will not consent to divorce. In a fit of hysterical anger, she smashes the car in which they are both driving into a tree, slightly injuring herself and badly crippling her husband.

The scandal brings the young architect, his own career on the verge of ruin, temporarily out of his hypnotic state, and he points out to the actress that it is not a jinx that has wrecked her life but her own egotism and selfishness.

For once she sees herself as she is, and she makes a supreme sacrifice in one of the most unusual and startling climaxes.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT OLD AGE PENSIONS

This is one of a series of questions and answers that people of Texas are concerned about. Orville S. Carpenter, state pension director, answers frankly and to the point.

Q. Why cannot assistance be paid to every person in Texas who is 65 year of age or older?

A. First, because the Texas law says that assistance may be paid only to those "in need"; second, because the Federal Government will not allow us to pay Federal money to people who are not in need.

Q. Will not Federal money mean a lot to Texas.

A. Yes. It will mean that several millions of dollars each year will be given to the aged people of Texas that they would not otherwise get; it will mean that with it a person will be able to receive as much as $30 a month, and without it no one could get more than $15.

Q. What does the Federal law say about "need?"

A. It says that the Federal appropriation is made for the purpose of enabling states to assist "aged needy individuals."

Q. Was this aged needy individuals question checked?

A. The Social Security Board stated that this was the correct interpretation of the law.

Q. How does the Texas definition of "needy" compare with that of other states?

A. Texas has the most liberal definition of "aged needy individuals" in the United States. The Texas law is much more liberal on this point than that of any other state in the Union.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

AIN'T it remarkable, how quick big families went out of style? Why it happened a lot faster than the long skirt style did. There was two years spent in getting the girls to add some streamers to their skirts, while the small family fad seemed to hit the country like straw hat day, all in a lump.

But they tell a story of the old times, when a lady took her baby to be baptized, and the old minister was making out a certificate. When he came to the dateline at the top, he says, "Lemme see, ain't this the seventh?"

The lady says, "I should say not, Pastor; how bad your memory is getting! Henry was the seventh, and this here one is the twelfth!"

U. S. Navy Accepts Lincoln-Zephyr as Official Car As Ford Exposition at Centennial Nears Completion

United States Navy Representative at Texas Centennial have accepted delivery of a Lincoln-Zephyr as their official car for all parades and state occasions in which the Navy will participate during the Exposition. Left to right: Lt. (J.G.) C. L. Keithley, U.S.N., disbursing officer for the Navy detail at the Centennial; Commander J. M. Lewis, U.S.N., Navy representative at the Centennial; M. T. Runyon, Lincoln Service representative, Dallas Branch of Ford Motor Company; and 2nd Lt. J. C. McHanly, United States Marine Corps, personal aide to Commander Lewis.

With three weeks remaining in which to finish the huge Ford Exposition at the Centennial in Dallas, contractors now say that the Exposition building is more than 75 per cent complete and promise it in its entirety June 1. The Centennial is scheduled to open June 6. Work was begun on the Ford Building March 5.

Official acceptance of the Lincoln-Zephyr, a Ford-sponsored product, by the United States Navy for its activities in parades and State occasions has just been made.

Machinery is moving into the Ford Exposition building for the company's exhibits, concrete flooring having been completed and carpenter and electrical work continuing while the machinery is being placed. The multi-pleater, a machine which pleats and sews cushions for the Ford car at an average of from 12 to 14 a minute, has been moved in and to the visitors at the Centennial is expected to prove one of the most interesting of many exhibits. Cotton batts are picked up and stitched into the cushions, as the multi-pleater fashions the cushion.

The Ford Exposition, devoted largely to showing how importantly the products of the Southwest enter into the making of the Ford car, will picture graphically how the resources of this region are drawn on by the Ford Motor Company in its manufacture of the Ford V-8, Lincoln and Lincoln-Zephyr cars.

Blistering sun and pouring rain alternating at frequent intervals are created artificially in an automobile finish testing device which will be displayed in the Ford Exposition. The machine is known as a Weatherometer and is used to test the weather resistance of body finishes in which soy bean oil is an important ingredient.

How the body finish for Ford V-8 cars is subjected to severe tests simulating actual weather conditions is demonstrated in the "Weatherometer" exhibit. Soy bean oil, an important ingredient in the body enamel, is obtained by a simple extraction process which will also be shown.

A sample of paint placed in the Weatherometer undergoes, within a few days, the same treatment it would receive in several years out-of-doors. Its wearing qualities can then be quickly determined.

Soy bean oil, according to Ford chemists, has proved highly satisfactory in the production of wear-resisting enamel. It is used both in the production of glycerine used in making the resin and as an oil modifier of the finished enamel.

This use of a soy bean derivative is only one of many made by the Ford Motor Company. The oil is also extensively used for greasing in the foundry, and the meal from which the oil has been extracted is made into horn buttons, light switches, window trim and other moulded parts. A model of a soy bean oil extractor and a display portraying the uses will also be included in the Ford Exposition.

MANY INSPECT MILLION DOLLAR REXALL TRAIN IN TEXAS

The world's first convention train, a hotel on wheels, is creating tremendous interest along the route of its 29,000 mile tour of the nation. In nine stops in Texas 106,017 persons inspected the exhibits aboard the twelve car streamlined train.

Built by the United Drug Co. to hold conventions of Rexall druggists in 109 towns during an eight months tour, the train is revolutionizing sales technique by taking the convention to the dealer's doorstep instead of asking him to travel long distances and take several days off from business. The schedule is so arranged that no Rexall dealer need travel more than 100 miles from his store. As a result, more than 95 per cent of the Rexall dealers in the territories already visited have attended the one-day conventions held aboard the train.

Designed especially for convention purposes, the train carries four cars of merchandising exhibits, two meeting cars accommodating 300 delegates, a cafeteria diner from which lunch and dinner are served, a comfortable lounge car, two cars for dancing, and its own orchestra, the Rexall Ramblers under the direction of Jack Fay of Boston.

L. K. Liggett, resident and founder of the United Drug Co. and creator of the Rexall plan of cooperation merchandising, is aboard the train with 25 executives of the United Drug Company. The train's operating crew of cooks, porters and engineers numbers 27.

In the six weeks that the train has been on the route, the electrical eye has counted 301,581 visitors, and average of more than 50,000 each week, which is approximately capacity as the train is open to the public only during certain hours of the day.

In the nine cities in Texas that the train visited 106,027 people visited it.

lation of the "National Weekly" Mr. White tells the country the story of the great birthday party which is to open here in Texas next month.

"What Texas plans to do for your amusement," says Mr. White "to say nothing about filling up a few gaps in your education, is to show you something different from anything you ever saw before—something that's got size to it, and background, and depth, and history, and romance and color.

"And that's why, when it invites you to attend its birthday party it wants you to understand that the Central Exposition at Dallas is just one part of the really big show that is being put on for your benefit all over the state. Texas is a tremendous piece of territory. Its size, however, is not what it wants to impress you with. Its bigness was an accident. But its history wasn't; neither was its development, and therefore the story that Texas is now trying to tell you, as it holds centennial celebrations of one kind or another in practically every one of its 254 counties, is as glorious and colorful a tale of battle, murder and sudden death, of sacrifice and suffering, of law-breaking and law-making, and finally of peace and progress and happiness as has ever been written."

After telling something of the history of Texas, and describing many of the exhibits, Mr. White ends his article with the following sentence:

"Of course you can't see half of what Texas will try to show you, but anyhow you'll have a ripping good time, and as you get going, on the way back, Texas will holler after you—and will mean it too—that it sure does thank you for having dropped in, and come again!"

SECURITIES RACKETEERS ARE SCUTTLING FROM STATE

Kilgore, May 22.—"Like rats leaving a sinking ship the racketeers in securities are leaving Texas, Governor Allred said here in an address before the North and East Texas Press Association Friday night. "This exodus has been caused by the operation of the Texas Securities Act which went into effect approximately a year ago and has resulted in the saving of millions of dollars to Texas investors."

"Mail fraud violators have decreased by 5 per cent, we are reliably informed," the Governor continued, "and indictments are pending against many prominent swindlers. The Federal government has convicted several of these high-binders, who were ferreted out by the Securities Division. The Texas Securities Act has done all and more than we had anticipated. The widow, the small business man, the school teacher and thousands of other small investors have renewed confidence in the state to protect them from the depredations of the smooth tongued swindlers."

The Governor called attention to the fact that Texas has long been known as the "end of the crime corridor." The drive against the confidence man has not been as spectacular but equally as effective as against known gamblers and other notorious characters.

The legitimate dealers in securities and oil instruments are supporting the administration of the Securities 100 per cent, the Governor stated, as is evidenced by the increasing supply of letters in the files of the Securities Division. Texas now has one of the best securities laws in the nation.

ARTHUR SCOTT UNDERGOES OPERATION

Talbert and Walter Scott returned a few days ago from Memphis and Wichita Falls to be at the bedside of their brother, Arthur Scott whose home is in Hall County.

Having been in a Memphis hospital for a few days they decided to bring him to Waco for an operation for gall stones.

After starting he grew worse and it was necessary to stop in Wichita Falls and have the operation performed. Talbert who was with him at the time, returned to Gatesville yesterday and reports that his brother is doing nicely, and has since returned to his home.

less boards, bureaus and offices. I favor a sales tax and the use of same to pay the full old age pensions of $15 a month and the removal of state taxes on farms and ranches and other real estate.

I favor the cooperation of the state with the Federal Government in loaning money at low rates of interest on long time without down payment to homeless people with which to buy farm homes. My service as supervisor with the Federal government gives me a special knowledge of home ownership legislation.

In my opinion this country will not see any permanent recovery until we get the farmer back on his farm and not a rented farm. Having served as chairman of the school board of my home town for eight years, I appreciate the necessity of needed changes in our school laws to make same more practical.

I believe in the right of the laboring masses to organize for their protection in their own way.

I shall make an active campaign and will be glad to receive any letters from the voters at my home address.

After this program all political candidates present will be given an opportunity to speak to the people.

NEW RULING ANNOUNCED BY STATE COMMITTEE

College Station.—Land owners having multiple tenants on a contiguous block of farms may fill out a master work sheet instead of separate work sheets for each farm, it was announced by the State Soil Conservation Committee.

They also pointed out that payments will be prorated among all tenants similar to the way old parity payments were distributed and the land owner will be held responsible for compliance.

Of great importance to Texas farmers, members of the State committee commented, is the new rule that two rows of corn or grain sorghum interplanted with one row of cowpeas will count as two thirds soil-depleting crops and one-third soil-conserving. The county committee will determine the percentage of land occupancy.

Sudan grass has been ruled a soil conserving crop regardless of use and can be harvested for hay or seed, used as a pasture, or left on the land.

The same is true of oats if followed by a summer legume after harvesting. The State Soil Conservation Committee assumed that crops will be grown and compliance will be sufficiently late to allow for this purpose.

It was also announced at the same time that the base rice acreage and production for 1936 will be the base that was established in 1935, except where producers are eligible for upward adjustment.

Upward adjustments will be made where the years of 1929 and 1930 were excluded from the previous base calculations; where the producer did not grow rice in one or more years in base period; where production was below a 10 barrel acreage on account of uncontrollable natural causes.

With the completion of the fine arts building at Texas State College for Women (CIA), the third unit in $1,500,000 building project will be ready for occupancy for the summer session.

Other States Like Plan For Parole Devised By Governor Allred

Austin, May 21.—That the eyes of the Nation are upon Texas' experiment with the voluntary Parole Board system inaugurated by Governor James V. Allred, has been evidenced by newspaper comment to that effect. The Little Rock, Ark.,

GOV. JAMES V. ALLRED

Democrat recently said, after a lengthy discussion of the plan "Perhaps Arkansas can learn something from Texas."

A Council Bluffs, Iowa, paper reviewed at length the Texas plan and compared it with the Iowa system of indeterminate sentence.

A Walla Walla, Washington, newspaper said: "A novel experiment in handling paroles for prison inmates is now in operation in Texas. Clearly, such a system ought to have some definite advantage if conducted in the manner related. Much of our difficulty with the parole system is that men released from institutions have to go entirely on their own, against a world which is hesitant to give a chance to anyone who has worn a number."

Inquiries have been received from public officials all over the Union requesting information as to the Texas plan, Governor Allred revealed.

There are at the present time some 160 volunteer County Parole Boards supervising paroled convicts in Texas, the Governor further said. Complete organization of the State is expected at an early date.

JONESBORO P.-T. A. TO PRESENT PLAY

The Jonesboro P.-T.A. will present the play "Up the Hill to Paradise," tonight at the Jonesboro high school auditorium. There will be a small admission charge.

Arkansas, is visiting in the York home at this time.

Mrs. Madie Bland and son, Thovee Lee and Mr. Melvin Cleary visited in the Ed Autrey home Sunday.

Several from this community attended the plays at Turnover, Schley and Maple recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Weaver visited in the Will York home Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Weaver has been at the bedside of her mother Mrs. Glass.

The Owl Creek school will close Friday, May 29, with a picnic and a play, "Spooky Tavern," and everyone is invited to come.

TOM GREEN COUNTY GOES IN FOR TERRACING

Seventy miles of terraces on land where they are necessary as part of a complete water conservation and erosion control system, have been constructed to date on the land of farmers who have signed cooperative agreements with the Soil Conservation Service project at San Angelo, according to R. M. Milhollin, project manager.

Three types of terraces systems are being constructed, Mr. Milhollin said. On deep, absorptive land, where no outside water comes into fields, terraces are constructed level with both ends closed. By using this system all water that falls is held on the field.

Where outside water drains onto land that is deep and absorptive, terraces are constructed on the level with alternate ends closed. Each terrace delivers the water to the one below in somewhat the same manner that syrup flows through the old-time syrup vat. These are consequently known as "syrup pan" terraces. This system gives the land benefit of outside water as well as that which actually falls on the field.

On land too shallow or compact to absorb the water that falls on it, level terraces with one end open are used. The open end is for the purpose of emptying excess water onto well-sodded pasture land or otherwise protect areas where there is no danger of erosion. In no case is excess water from terraces being emptied into public roads.

The cooperating land owner or operator carries out his part of the erosion control and water conservation program by closing the terrace ends, making fills where terraces cross ditches, plowing around terraces to prevent the ground from becoming hard or baked, harrowing terraces to give them the correct slope, and also does all other team work necessary for completing the system.

Woodrow Wilhite of Oden,

WORLD COMMENT

By JOE BURNS

Interest on those billions which Uncle Sam so freely poured into the coffers of the Allied Powers through three years of war and postwar reconstruction again falls due on June 15 with little hope for payment by any of the chief debtors.

No debt installment will be forthcoming from Britain, which considers the debt situation "just as moribund as ever," according to an exchequer official. Diplomatic and financial quarters announced with emphasis that Britain has no intention of taking the initiative for a renewal of payments or for any discussion with Washington on a scaling down or cancellation of the money owed. "Any initiative lies with the United States," these sources said.

Leon Blum's assurance that the new French government will seek a settlement of the war debt problems is regarded as more of a gesture than an actual willingness to negotiate. France, like Britain, is pouring every franc into armaments while efforts to keep the nation on gold engross the financial authorities. With gold pouring from the Bank of France because of the victory of the radicals in the recent parliamentary elections, any payment to the U. S. might result in an abandonment of the gold standard and wild inflation such as occurred in the critical days of 1926.

Italy, faced with the dwindling gold supplies, an unbalanced budget, and crushing taxes as a result of the Ethiopian war, will follow Britain's example by ignoring the debt problem.

Finland, tiny republic squeezed in between Sweden and the U. S. S. R., made an independent nation and saved from the Bolsheviks by American loans, is expected to make its semi-annual payment June 15. Finland has paid its full debt installment on each due date, which falls on the 15th day of June and December of each year.

European war debts to America total $13,670,987,391, of which Britain owes $4,950,595,301 and France $4,041,152,328.

By the refusal of the war debtors to pay the principal and interest on their thirteen billion dollar debt, they have indirectly rendered the cause of peace a service. No more can European nations fly at one another's throats and expect American loans to maintain their armies and American doughboys to rescue them from aggressors.

The Johnson Act prohibits loans to European nations in default to the U. S. and American public opinion keeps Uncle Sam out of Continental squabbles.

The Johnson Act, sponsored by Senator Hiram Johnson of California, makes it unlawful for any person in the U. S. to buy or sell the bonds, securities, or other obligations of any foreign government or to make any loans to such a government while that government is in default in payment of its obligations to the U. S."

Will the Johnson Act, the neutrality bill, and public opinion keep the United States out of the next world conflict?

"The Texas Democrat," official publication of the Young Democratic Clubs of Texas, recently took a straw poll of the strength of the gubernatorial candidates in the five largest counties of the State. Dallas county puts Allred first, Hunter second, Fischer third. Tarrant county gives Hunter first place, Allred second, and Sanderford third. Harris county places Fischer first, Sanderford second, Allred third. Hunter is first, Allred is second, and Fischer third in Travis county. Fischer leads in Bexar county, with Sanderford second and Hunter third. Generally, this poll indicates that Allred and Hunter draw their main support from north Texas; Fischer and Sanderford from east and south Texas. If this poll is truly indicative of the support these candidates enjoy in the counties listed, sentiment has markedly changed since the primaries of two years ago. Dallas county is the only one that runs true to form. The first primary of 1934 found Allred leading Hunter by 800 votes, with the Ferguson candidate (C. C. McDonald) far behind. "The Texas Democrat" poll lines them up the same way: Allred first, Hunter second, and Sanderford, the Ferguson candidate, fourth. In the second primary Allred increased his lead over Hunter to 2,500, so Dallas seems pretty safe territory for the Governor. The poll indicates a change of sentiment in Tarrant county. There Allred lead Hunter in both primaries, with the Ferguson candidate a poor third. The situation is reversed now with Hunter first, Allred second, and Sanderford third. In the first primary of 1934, Allred, McDonald and Hunter ran in the order named in Harris county with the totals 13,000, 12,000, and 10,000, respectively. Today, according to the Young Democratic poll, F. W. Fischer, Tyler oil man, is first in the State's most populous county, Jim Ferguson's candidate is second, Allred third, and Hunter a bad fourth. Travis voted the same as Harris in the first primary, but today the straw ballots place Hunter first, Allred second, with the Ferguson candidate out of the running. Allred beat Hunter by 3,000 votes in the second primary two years ago in Travis. Bexar, with its large foreign element, voted Hunter, Allred, McDonald, in order named two years ago and Hunter nosed out his younger opponent by 5,000 votes in the August primary. Now the name of Fischer leads (Continued on page 3)

Lets Talk about Clothes

Denton, May 20.—At this time of year people all over the country are discussing vacations. "Where to go" and "what to do" are questions that must be decided, but that of "what to wear" is of far more importance to the feminine traveler. So many times I've heard a woman say "Oh, you can travel in anything." But, can you? The traveling dress is regarded in a new light when you ask yourself this question.

Appearance and comfort are elements that must be considered in selecting a traveling frock. You want something that is cool, something that won't wrinkle easily, and something that you will feel well dressed in. Let's look over the materials in the stores. First of all, there's an interesting new fabric called silk linen that makes an excellent traveling dress. It can be found in the dark shades of blue and brown, and also in a smart new sea green that is particularly smart when worn with black patent leather accessories.

Sheers are always popular for traveling. Designers are showing novelty weaves with tiny self-color pin stripes in vertical lines woven into the material. They have sleeveless bolero jackets that are worn over short sleeve blouses. Some even have separate printed jackets with large elbow length sleeves, and are particularly charming when worn with a dark frock. Girls at the CIA College find these ensembles very smart for either automobile or train trips.

The washable silk sport frock find an appropriate place in the traveling wardrobe. They feature large plaid, tiny conventional flower designs, and combination stripes. The dresses are gaily trimmed with patent leather buttons and matching belts, and they can't be equalled in comfort or durable qualities.

EXHIBIT TO TELL STORY OF PECANS

College Station, May 21—One hundred years of pecan development in Texas, leading pecan producing area of the world, will be portrayed in the pecan exhibit being arranged at the Centennial exposition which is to open in Dallas June 6.

During the period from 1836 to 1860 pecans were eaten by Indian tribes which roamed the state. Large quantities of the nuts were carried by them in baskets. In years of large production, pecans were stored in coal to keep them fresh.

The first intimation that pecans might have commercial value came in 1860 when a few shipments were made in barrels to the eastern markets. In 1900 a Texan, E. E. Risien of San Saba was the first man who budded a pecan tree. He took buds from trees that bore good nuts and budded them into trees that bore inferior nuts. Since that time pecans have become commercially important in Texas. Millions of pounds of nuts are harvested each year and shipped to other states. Texas is known as the Empire of Pecans.

A page in Shirley Temple's autograph book reads: "My dear Shirley, I feel so important. Douglas Fairbanks."

in Bexar, with Sanderford and Mr. Ferguson second and Tunter third.

Summing up, "The Texas Democrat" poll of five counties gives Allred one first, Hunter two, and Fischer two.

F. W. FISCHER of Tyler, prominent oil producer, offers as a candidate for governor on a platform filled with promises of relief from the present burdens of taxation.

"Tax the untaxed" and "Untax the Overtaxed" are two of his slogans. He advocates a "just" tax (we'll let him determine the State's leading cities, Houston and San Antonio.

That the candidacy of Fischer has been attracting attention among Texas voters has been mentioned in this column. A straw poll conducted by "The Texas Democrat," official publication of the Young Democratic Clubs of Texas, placed Fischer first in Harris and in Bexar counties, homes of two fine (that) on natural resources—oil, sulphur, natural gas, etc.

Under the "Untax the Overtaxed" section of his platform, he favors taking the State tax burden off the ranch, farm, home, and all other real property and reducing the gasoline tax to two cents a gallon, which he maintains will save the people of Texas $18,000,000 a year.

"If the oil, sulphur, and natural gas monopolies pay the State of Texas a just tax on the irreplaceable natural resources that they take from Texas,

"JAUNTY JIMMY"

Political campaigns must have slogans. One opponent has tagged the present governor "Jaunty Jimmy." Such an appellation is not entirely without merit. It takes a jaunty spirit and an inexhaustible store of energy to get the things done that Allred accomplishes. He wears down hose around him to a nub, while he himself keeps up with an unbelievable drive. He receives and answers more mail than any Governor of Texas ever did. He sees more people more people than any Governor in recent times. A famed Washington newspaper correspondent recently told a Texan that the Texas Governor worked harder and longer than did the President himself.

A review of the record of Jaunty Jimmy convinces thinking Texans that his accomplishments have exceeded those of any Governor this State has had in two decades. He proposes to pay the old people with cash instead of promises.

Demogoguery won't help the old people. It will take the cash and that's what this Jaunty Texas Governor, who is a credit to the State, particularly in this Centennial year, proposes to give Grandma and Grandpa.

Texas could use more kindred jaunty spirits, such as Allred, in public life.

At the same time, we can see no point at all in calling forth the stumbling, grasping, groping, feeble services of such as may be typified by 'Three-Time Tottering Tom.'—Donley County Leader.

The History of Coryell County
By FRANK E. SIMMONS

Authorized by County Commissioners, as Official History for Texas Centennial Celebration.

PRESENT-DAY GATESVILLE

Centennial year finds Gatesville a city of approximately 3000 population, and as ultra modern as any city its size in the State. The city is eighty-two years old, and in that time has grown from the R. G. Grant trading house, roofed with bear skins, to a city with every convenience enjoyed by metropolitan communities.

The central architectural structure is the County Courthouse, built in 1897 of solid native masonry. It has basement with steam heating plant, and accommodations for every unit of county government, a spacious District Court auditorium. Fireproof vaults protect all county records, and on the dome towering high above the city is the "town clock" that has kept watch for the citizenry for nearly forty years. There is a spacious courthouse lawn, enclosed by a substantial rock wall. Upon this lawn there is soon to be erected a granite monument to the memory of James Coryell, for whom the county was named. The shaft of granite will contain a bronze plaque with a brief history of James Coryell. This is authorized by the State Historical Commission. The historical markers for both Fort Gates and James Coryell have had the enthusiastic support of the people at large, and especially the Coryell County Centennial Committee, headed by Mrs. T. R. Mears and including F. W. Straw, Jouett Allen (deceased), Mrs. Pearl Brown, Mrs. W. W. Winters of Evant. Later, a Highway Beautification committee was created with the following personnel: Mrs. T. R. Mears, chairman, Mrs. Clyde Bailey, Rev. M. M. Chunn, Judge Floyd Zeigler, C. E. Alvis Jr., Mat Jones, and Mrs. Schloeman. The official plants for decorating Coryell County highways were named cedar, youpon, and redberry bushes. The above committees have done much to make Coryell County people Centennial conscious.

Gatesville Churches

Institutions that have exerted the highest cultural influences on Gatesville are the churches and schools. The First Baptist Church building of Gatesville is one of the highlights of architectural beauty in Texas. Built of interlocking tile, brick, and native stone. Besides an auditorium which will seat 1,000 people, the church has a pastor's study, office, modern kitchen, banquet hall and social parlors. There are four secondary auditoriums, and including the Sunday School class rooms, there is a total of sixty rooms in the building. The system of indirect lighting is used. The building was started May 15, 1935, and the dedication took place March 1, 1936. Rev. Clarence Allen Morton is the pastor.

The next outstanding church edifice is the Methodist. This is a fine brick building, and contains a large auditorium. The building is equipped with all needful conveniences, a kitchen and banquet hall. It has a pipe organ, the only one in the county. Rev. M. M. Chunn is pastor.

The Presbyterian congregation has a substantial church building located on Main street. Rev. James M. McLean is pastor.

The First Christian Church has a comfortable frame church building on Leon street. The Church of Christ worship in their own building located at the intersection of Tenth and Saunders streets.

All local churches have their several auxiliary organizations and are doing a great work in maintaining the high spiritual standard for which Gatesville is noted.

The colored people of Gatesville maintain two church organizations, the Wesley Methodist Church and the Bethlehem Baptist.

Gatesville Public Schools

The public schools of Gatesville ranks as one of the most efficient and complete of the town and communities of like size in the State. At the close of the 1935-1936 school term Gatesville schools will have 32½ units of affiliated credits. So efficient and complete is the training given that graduates are permitted to enter any standard college or university without further examination. Mr. Frank L. Williams is superintendent. The work includes flagstone wall of native rock on the north side. An arched entrance and ticket office; the installation of a 4,800 candle power lighting system is a part of the field. A 300-foot grand stand, ten rows high will seat the visitors, and when completed the field will be one of the best and most modern in the state.

The Gatesville National Bank, capital $100,000 and a like surplus, has Dan E. Graves as its president, and Andrew Kendrick as cashier. J. P. Kendrick, formerly cashier, is now active vice president. UNUSUAL WAYS TO SERVE FAMILIAR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

You know how interesting and stimulating it is to meet an old friend all dressed up in a new suit or frock? There is a real thrill in seeing them in a different light. The same thing is true of the foods we eat. Served in familiar ways they are welcome, of course, but when prepared by original and novel methods appetites respond with zest. Here are some interesting methods for the preparation of early summer vegetables and fruits.

CREAMED CUCUMBERS

Peel and dice 5 cucumbers; salt and let stand for 30 minutes. Chop 1 onion, brown in butter; add drained cucumbers and cook ten minutes. Add 2 cups cream sauce seasoned with salt, pepper and cayenne.

EGGPLANT AND TOMATOES

One eggplant, 6 large tomatoes, 2 tablespoons shortening, salt and pepper to season, a sprig of dill.

Peel the eggplant and cut in thick slices. Rub a baking dish with shortening, put in a layer of sliced eggplant, then a layer of tomatoes and seasoning, repeating until the dish is full. Cover and bake until tender, (about 40 minutes). Before serving sprinkle the top with minced dill or choppel parsley.

FRIED CUCUMBERS

Use 12 thin small cucumbers, 6 tablespoons shortening, 1 onion, ¼ teaspoon ginger, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon salt. Peel the cucumbers and cut in quarters, lengthwise. Slice onion and brown it in melted butter, then add the cucumbers and brown on all sides. Season with salt and pepper and cover the pan and let cook to tenderness. Sprinkle with giger and serve.

FRUIT CUP

Mix equal amounts of seedless grapes, orange sections and pineapple diced. For 2 cups fruit add 1-3 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ cup pineapple juice, and a few grains of salt. Freeze till syrup becomes mushy.

FROZEN PEACHES

Two pounds very ripe peaches, 5 peach kernels (from pits), 1 cup sugar, 2 cups hot water, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, few drops rose coloring.

Chop the peach kernels fine and add them to sugar and water. Cook 5 minutes, strain and let stand until cool. Pare the peaches and toss in the lemon juice. Press them through a coarse sieve and add with the rose coloring to the cold syrup. Turn the mixture into a freezing tray and freeze slowly, stirring at 30 minute intervals for 2 hours. Finish the freezing without stirring. Serve in slices with whipped cream.

SCALLOPED PEACHES

One cup sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 cups crumbled shredded wheat, 3 cups of sliced peaches, 2 tablespoons of butter, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, 4 tablespoons water.

Melt the butter in the top of a double boiler over boiling water and add to the crumbled cereal. Stir until well blended. Mix the spices with the sugar. Use a baking dish 7 inches in diameter and 3 inches deep and cover the bottom of the dish with the buttered crumbs. Add a layer of peaches and sprinkle with the sugar mixture. Continue until the crumbs and peaches are used, leaving a layer of crumbs on top. Add the water mixed with the lemon juice. Bake 45 minutes in moderate oven.

SYNOPSIS

Scornful of the bloody feud that exists between the Tolliver and Falin clans in the Kentucky mountains, Martin Reed, young city engineer, arrives to build a railroad over their properties. June, Judd Tolliver's daughter, falls in love with him, thus arousing the jealousy of Dave Tolliver, her fiancé. Enraged because June is on her way to the city with Reed to go to school, Dave follows them vowing that he will kill Reed. A fist fight ensues in the Gaptown street with Reed the victor. Meanwhile the Falin clan anxious to avenge a beating Dave had given one of them, appears on the scene. Reed holds them off until Dave and June can make a getaway.

CHAPTER VII

DESPITE Thurber's protests that he had now made enemies of both the Tollivers and the Falins, that there was bound to be trouble which would keep him from ever finishing the railroad, that June had tied to him and wasn't worth thinking about, that he was a bally darned ously. The train was starting. June was not yet aboard. He kissed her hastily and she smiled at him through her tears.

"Well—that's over with," sighed Martin a few moments later.

"Is it?" inquired Thurber innocently.

"Oh, she's just crazy," growled the engineer.

"You're mistaken," grinned the other. "She's just in love with you. You're the one that's nuts."

The two went back up the mountain the next day and arrived in camp to find a scene of indescribable confusion. The steam shovel was idle. The scoops were minus their mules. The equipment was scattered about in general disorder. They thought the whole place was deserted until, in the center of the clearing they found Tater trying to pry up a huge boulder which had imand I'll do it too. I'll do it if I have to hire every man in Gaptown to finish the job."

Dinner was a miserable affair at the Tolliver cabin that night. Melissa was trying to cheer up Dave and Judd while Buddie pored over the A-B-C book which Martin had given him.

"Better try some of these dandelion greens, son," said Judd in order to break the grim silence. "Zeke Denzer fetched 'em over this mornin'."

"I ain't hungry," answered Dave, staring at the door.

"But you gotta eat, David—with all that plowin' you done," urged Melissa.

"A is the first letter in the alphabet," Buddie was muttering. "Because it means AN Apple an AXE. But what's this un, pappy?" He held out the book to Judd.

"You mean this 'un?" his father hesitated. "Him. O'hand I'd say it was kinda like an ox yoke."

"Didn't Mr. Reed tell you?"

"He did but I forgot," Buddie turned to Dave. "You know what it is?"

His cousin's eyes hardened as he looked at the book. He snatched it and hurled it into the fireplace, ignoring Buddie's wail.

"It's civilization—that's what it is!" he cried as the boy dashed forward to rescue the precious volume. "I'm sick o' the whole thing. I'm goin' away from here!"

"David! Don't say that!" cried Melissa.

"Yes, I am. I ain't no part o' this. . . I don't belong no more."

"You keep yer shirt on, son," Judd tried to soothe him. "If it's Junyore thinkin' about—she'll be back pretty soon."

"No she won't," answered Dave fiercely. "She ain't never comin' back—not the June I knowed. She's gone fer good! An' pretty soon what's here will be gone too. That's what them new-fangled machines is doin' down in the Ticopee—they're eatin' their way up here an' then you'll be gone jus' like her."

"Shucks, son, tain't like that a-tail. Lookit there." He indicated a shallow dish on the table. "We got five more o' them checks from the coal company. We got money to do things, son—an' half of it's yours."

"I ain't wantin' that money," was the reply. "I'm goin' back—back where my pappy raised me."

"David!" There was anguish in Melissa's tone.

"I belong to the earth—the plowed-up soil. They ain't goin' to get me. I was raised in it. I'm goin' a-die in it. An' the closer they come the further I'm goin' back. I've had enough of this!"

He rose from the table, strode over to his gun, picked it up and turned to the front door. Then he paused and came back.

Hesitatingly he walked over to Melissa and looked down into her up-turned, mute and pleading face.

"One fer you," he spoke softly as he kissed her on one tear-filled eye. "One fer me." He kissed her on the other eye. Then he hugged her. "An' one fer June."

He turned and without a backward glance, marched through the door. The two old people stared after him hopelessly.

"Are you sure your sister kin recognize me?" asked June doubtfully. "I don't see how she can miss," replied Martin, stifling a grin.

fool and so forth and so on, Martin listened to the girl's pleas and finally agreed to send her to live with his sister in Louisville so that she could get the "schoolin'" on which she had set her heart.

Since she could not go down to the capital in the knee-length calico dress she was wearing, they outfitted her with the best that Gaptown afforded which wasn't very good. Then they escorted her down to the railroad station and put her on board the accommodation local.

"Are you sure your sister kin recognize me?" asked June doubtfully as she stood on the platform, togged out in the finery which would have been in style a decade ago.

"I don't see how she can miss," replied Martin, stifling a grin.

"Am I—am I all right now?" quavered the girl after Thurber had adjusted her funny ostrich feather hat to what he considered a more becoming angle.

"My dear young lady," he replied with a bow. "as reticent a man as I am by nature, it behooves me, at this moment, to tell you that you are wearing the finest that this city affords."

"Bo-ode!" cried the conductor.

"Ain't you goin' to—to kiss me goodbye?" June turned to Martin. The engineer beseeched Thurber with his eyes. The latter nodded vig-prisoned Corsey, the steam shovel engineer, by the foot.

"We was workin'," Corsey explained between groans of pain when they had finally freed him. "Then all of a sudden it come—just like thunder. First, logs a-crashin' down the mountain side—then a voice—it was hollow and ghost-like. It screamed from over by the point: 'get out! Get out before it's too late!' The men was for leavin' right then—but I argued against it—then the boulders—they came from everywhere—one of them caught my foot."

"You all right?" asked Martin.

"I'll be okay." The husky fellow groaned again.

"Why didn't you leave too, while you had a chance?"

"I . . . Corsey grinned shamefacedly. "Well, maybe Buddie wouldn't have liked it."

"So that's the way they play ball, is it?" gritted Martin as he walked away. "All right!" He shook his fist at the mountains. "You dirty skulking coyotes—I'll play your game. You're not going to lick me. I'll get you where I want you and I'll make you like it."

"But Martin," protested Thurber. "The company—I know they'll insist that you wait till it blows over."

"Not with me, they won't. I've got a contract—I've got my work to do—

Mr. Welborn estimated that $2,000 of this is being spent by the 148 who have received loans in this county.

"A still larger amount is being spent for horses and mules," Mr. Welborn said. "In Texas as a whole, it is estimated that 20,000 mules are being bought, and 5,000 horses and mares, at an average of $85 a head, which means a total of $2,125,000 being paid out to producers and traders in work animals." In this county, he said 45 mules and 55 horses and mares have been bought, of which will be bought.

It is estimated that clothing and groceries being bought in Texas, as a result of Resettlement loans, total as much as the amount spent for work stock, and that physicians and pharmacies will receive more than $300,000.

"The average borrower is being allowed $12 this year for medical expenses, which he would not have been able to obtain, or would not have been able to pay for, without this loan," Mr. Welborn said.

Another $300,000 is being invested in 10,000 cows, $90,000 in 19,000 hogs, $27,500 in 40,000 hens, $220,000 in household equipment. More than two million dollars is being spent for seed, feed and fuel, but those who were in the program last year are spending very little for seed and feed, which they are required to grow for themselves.

In addition to the money filtering into the veins of Texas business from these individual farmers aided by Resettlement, more than $3,500,000 is being spent for land and construction of 533 farms, which will be sold on forty years time, with three per cent interest, to families selected from outstanding tenants and other low-income farmers who have demonstrated their willingness to repay.

Japan will shortly strengthen its industries.

Firemen Meet Waco Soft ball Crew Sat Nite 8:30

FIRE FIGHTERS, BOLSTERED BY FEW LEAGUE MEMBERS TO PLAY CITIES SERVICE TEAM OF WACO.

Saturday night at 8:30 on the local soft ball field the Fireboys meet the strong Cities Service team from Waco. The locals will be strengthened for the contest by the use of several players from the other league teams.

Pete Patterson of the Firemen, who matched the game, saw the team in action a few nights ago and states that they have a hard hitting end fast fielding club that will probably take the locals to the cleaners.

As this is the first out of town game to be played this season and with a leading team of its own league the fans should flock out to witness the contest.

Softball

Tuesday night Doc's Sandwich Shop crew beat the Firemen 6-3 to go into undisputed possession of the lead tip rung.

The scores were all largely due to miscues on the defense rather than hard hitting. However, the hash slingers maltreated Doc Ray's offerings rather severely on several occasions while the Firemen connected but few times for real hits.

In the second game the Merchants won over the Reds 9-3. Sasse was in the box for the winners and though a bit wild he had enough in the pinches to come through.

The Camp team still showed a fielding weakness that was the big difference between defeat and victory.

All the scores we received this week were from the Sunday division clubs.

Levita, behind the seven-hit pitching of Tooter Hall, won over the hapless Pearl crew 11-4. Hall whiffed 11 and issued one free trip to first. Levita nicked Whatley for an even dozen blows while he struck out nine and didn't give a base on balls.

In the other games the Gatesville CCC and Seattle kept up their winning ways and remained in a deadlock for first place with victories over Flat and Neff Park CCC, respectively. Seattle turned their heavy artillery loose on Neff Park to blast the way to 15-0 walk over

TIPS FOR THE HOME

REFINISHING AN OLD DINING ROOM—1650

When it comes to restyling an old dining room in the Early American manner there is no way more interesting than with wood paneling, paper, and paint, and good judgment.

First the trim is removed if the panels are to be a natural wool finish, or it may be left on where paint is used. Square panels 4 feet high, or knotty pine boards running from 4 inches to 10 inches in width can be applied right over the old plaster vertically.

A suitable cap is applied and a real Colonial paper put on above that will carry out the color scheme.

Painted wainscotting will require a softer color effect in the paper and drapes than natural finished wood, which is best, is decided by the furniture to be used in the room and the other furnishings that will remain.

In either event the results will be a comfortable room that will cost very little to remodel, and a job which will never tire the family. The very simplicity of Early American styles is what endears them to the hearts of people today.
