TWO COUNTY BANKERS GO TO HOUSTON BANKERS CONVENTION

Gatesville's only representative to the Texas Banker's Association meeting at Houston of last week was Andrew Kendrick, cashier of the Gatesville National Bank. The only other representative from the county was Mr. G. I. Draper, president of the First National Bank, of Oglesby, who was accompanied by his wife.

Mr. Kendrick reported he had a "conventional" time while in Houston enjoying the convention.

ANNUAL SCHOOL TRUSTEES MEETING

The annual County-wide Trustees meeting will take place on Monday, June 1st at 10:30 a. m., in the District Court room. School problems that are common to developing rural schools will be discussed by those who have had much experience.

Trustees are urged to attend and ask such questions as will help them in conducting successful schools during the coming year.

Among those who will take part in the program are Judge Zeigler, L. J. Garner, State Supervisor; Frank L. Williams, superintendent of Gatesville schools; Dave Culberson, Tax assessor-collector; and State Superintendent L. A. Woods. There will be, in addition, short talks from school trustees from over the county. The County Board will be represented by some of its members.

It is hoped that every board in the county will have representatives present at this meeting. This annual meeting helps materially in conserving the better interests of the school work throughout the school year. Where the best minds of the county act in the wisest ways in concert action desirable results are usually obtained.

The program in detail will be published in Friday's News.

GOERTZ-LOWREY CASE IS SETTLED OUT OF COURT

After testimony had started and the case had been underway for some time, the case of Leonard Goertz of Waco vs. Mrs. M. W. Lowrey of Gatesville, was settled out of court for $2,250.00, according to information we have. The case was being tried in a District Court in Waco, and was the result of a collision there several months ago. The case against Mrs. Blanche Powell was dismissed.

Hog slaughter will probably increase 30 to 35 per cent between now and next September as compared with the corresponding period a year ago, the bureau of agricultural economics predicts.

HOLDS MEETING IN TENT

Rev. J. F. Lilly of Graham started a meeting Saturday for the Church of Christ, which is scheduled to last ten days, and is being held under a large tent at the rear of the Dixie Service Station, at Main and Lutterloh.

Evangelist Joe Corter will be in charge of the song service. Preaching services start each evening at 8 o'clock.

Rev. Lilly is a young man, but has preached in about 12 different states during his public ministry.

The general public is cordially invited, regardless of church affiliations, and Rev. Lilly states there will be no personating or mud slinging.

CITY HEALTH OFFICER QUARANTINES SELF; HAS DIPHTHERIA

The flag's flying—and yellow, too! Dr. Kermit Jones, City Health Officer, has decided to take some of his own medicine, and, while looking around for something dreadful to have, picked on that scary—diphtheria.

What's more, being City Health Officer, with officious dignity and ceremony, he promptly planted the canary flag in front of his home, and shipped his young doiter out to Gram'ma's and Gram'pa's house. Dr. John Thomas Brown has the case under his careful supervision, and in a bulletin issued late tonight, said: Dr. Jones passed a very successful day, and seems to be doing as nicely as possible under the circumstances.

Dr. Dean B. Jones of Dallas will arrive tomorrow as a special consultant in the case, and incidentally, to take care of the ailing Dr. K. Jones' patience, and also his patients.

LAST ROUND-UP AT SCHOOLS THIS WEEK END

Several hundred more Coryell County schoolers are out for vacation beginning Friday of this week. Plenty will be out here in town when Gatesville high school and grammar school close for the summer.

Then there's Purnela, Evant, Turnersville and Flat that we have heard of, where the old school bell won't ring again this spring.

A few more schools are out later, and then it will be a long summer of going, fishing, vacationing, and recreation before the bells begin ringing again in September.

CORYELL COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

The June meeting of the County School Board will take place at 2 o'clock, Monday afternoon, June 1, in the District Court room.

The appointment of trustees where vacancies occur will be considered. The board will likely take its initial step in classifying the schools of Coryell County for the coming year.

Much other business brought over from the May meeting will receive attention.

Those who have problems on which they wish the Board to help them are always welcome.

A growing system of schools should have the best thought of all concerned.

WOMEN'S 4-H CLUBS TO HOLD EXHIBIT SATURDAY, JUNE 20

Women of the different clubs over the county, working in conjunction with the County Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Gladys Martin, will hold their exhibit in her office on Saturday, June 20.

Clothing exhibited at this time will be modeled at 2:00 p. m. and will be dresses and slips. These must be in the Agent's office by Friday 3:00 p. m., June 19.

"WE'VE SHORE HAD LOTS SINCE DAY BEFORE YESTEDYEVNIN"

That's what we heard on the streets, and friend, it's a fact. The line-up, so far, (and we're not quitting at that, since it's coming down right now) but the count so far is like this:

Friday, May 22,	.20
Saturday, May 23	1.08
Sunday, May 24,	1.30
Monday, a. m.	.53

Total 3.31

GROESBECK CITIZEN VISITOR IN GATESVILLE WITH FAMILY

B. W. Lee, formerly of the firm of Painter & Lee of this city, was a visitor here this week end. Mr. Lee has recently opened a drygoods store in Groesbeck, and has sent to this office some of the advertising he used in his opening, which carried the general layout which he formerly used in connection with the old firm here.

Mr. Lee was also kind enough to send us a copy of the Pioneer Edition of the Groesbeck Journal, which was published during the Cynthia Ann Parker Celebration held at the site of the old Fort Parker, near Groesbeck. Direct radio broadcast were made from the restored Fort Parker during the days of the celebration, and descendants of the Parkers spoke briefly for the radio listeners.

"OLD MAN RIVER" COMES DOWN BIG

Flood warning! That's the headline now, with it still raining and old man Leon River at flood stage! Late yesterday afternoon, he lacked about five feet being out at Gatesville. Jonesboro reported Sunday, the river was out of bank, and we understood Monday it was out at Ater.

So, look out, Straws Mill, Mound, Leon Junction, Belton, Temple, etc., there's plenty of water coming your way. Seems like the storm warning is out all over the southend of Texas, with high water at Houston, Galveston, points southeast of San Antonio, around Lampasas and many other points.

DAVIDSON DISPLAY DAVIDSON'S DOINGS OF DARLINGS

Displayed in Davidson's Department Store window are a number of neatly done quilts, "crib" size, they look, done by members of Mrs. Aubrey Davidson's Kindergarten class.

The display includes "crayons" by John Edwin Morse, 7; Beverly Barber, 6; Betty Jean Lengefeld, 5; Billy Bob Ashby, 5; Billy Frank Carroll, 6; and last and least, Little Dianne Jenson, age 3½ years. What are "them youngsters agoin' to do next?"

MUSIC HATH CHARMS BUT A BANK NOTE CALMS.

Through seven months of sanctions and war losses the people of Italy stood solidly behind Mussolini in his war against Ethiopia. They now have been rewarded by the creation of an Italian Empire with their king as Emperor of Ethiopia. Il Duce has kept his promise of reviving the Roman Empire, although the present areas in Africa under Italian control cannot compare in population and area with the dominions of old Rome.

Three hundred-fifty square miles and 10,000,000 people have been added to Italy's African empire, bringing the total Italian possessions on that continent to 1,266,754 square miles and 13,350,244 persons.

But the maxim that the winner is the loser in modern war seems to apply to Italy, as it so vividly applied to the allied Powers in the eighteen years elapsing since 1918. While Italy has been busy in Africa, France and Britain have outbuilt it in naval strength. Germany has become so powerful that Italy may be unable to keep it from absorbing Austria.

Mussolini spent $915,000,000 to conquer Ethiopia. At the beginning of the war in October, 1935, gold reserve in the Bank of Italy amounted to approximately $443,000,000. Today, gold reserves, including all foreign currency credits and securities total only $360,000,000. The internal debt is now at $13,600,000,000, a crushing burden for a nation whose annual income averages only $1,000,000 (billion). The home market for bonds is saturated, as witnessed by the recent bond issue which yielded only half of what was expected. League of Nations sanctions and the cold hostility of Britain preclude any foreign loans for Italy unless the Paris market is willing to absorb the risky Italian bond issues.

Most observers believe it will take twenty years—ten at the least—for Mussolini to realize a return on his investment in Ethiopia. "France needed twenty years to make life safe for her citizens in the Berber-ridden hinterland of Morocco," one observer recalls.

Another makes this comment on the possibility of colonization of the Ethiopian plateau: "Mussolini intends to colonize the plateau with hundreds of thousands, if not millions, of Italy's surplus population. Now there is no question that there is much fertile soil on the plateau and that the climate is such that Europeans can adjust themselves to it without great difficulty.

"However, it might be worth while to point out that in the northern part of the Abyssinian plateau lying in Eritrea (Italian colony adjacent to Ethiopia) there are now, after fifty years of Italian occupancy, less than one hundred Italian colonists on the land. Quite true, the central plateau in Ethiopia is much larger, more fertile and better watered than the highlands of Eritrea.

"But even allowing for these favorable circumstances, there remains the all-important fact that before any Italian colonists can be established in Ethiopia, immense sums will have to be spent on roads, bridges, housing, implements, sanitation, police, defense, and all the other necessities of civilized life."

This is one of the best observations on the possibilities of Italian colonization of Ethiopia your correspondent has heard. It vividly brings out the just begun in Ethiopia—a battle against native hostility and natural difficulties that have been encountered by all the powers with colonies on the Black Continent, and, at home, a never ceasing fight against the dread spectre of bankruptcy.

The international "bad boys"—Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini—have in the last three years made the League of Nations impotent as a factor for preserving the peace of the world.

Hitler has scrapped the military and naval restriction clauses of the Versailles treaty and re-occupied the demilitarized Rhineland. Mussolini has waged a war of aggression against and conquered Ethiopia—League member—in violation of every principle upon which the League was founded. Japan has been biting off hunks of China since 1931. At the time Manchuria was taken both Japan and China were League members.

Eight months ago the Council and assembly of the League voted an economic boycott—sanctions—against Italy for its war of aggression in Africa—the first step ever undertaken by that body to punish an aggressor nation. "Mussolini will resign from the League," cautious diplomats exclaimed, but acquiesced to the desire of John Bull that the Duce be punished. Since October, 1935, sanc-

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a cop in Chicago that heard an awful loud yelling on his beat at about three o'clock in the morning. He thought it was just another guy that was being taken for a ride, making a little objection, so he didn't interfere. But the guy that was hollering so loud gradually came around the corner towards where the cop was standing, and then the cop seen that it wasn't no ride the fellow was taking at all. He'd just come out of a speakeasy, and his face was purple from yelling, "Oh, John and Jerry! Come on here, John and Jerry!"

The cop says, "See here, you can't yell that way in this street at this time in the night. Some strangers are in town, and they want to sleep."

"Yeah, officer," the guy says, real friendly-like, "but them bums in the speakeasy was gettin' rough with me, and I was just calling my two brothers to come an' help me mop up the joint."

"All right, but don't holler so loud."

"But officer, I got to holler loud. My brothers are both in London."

Hubbard's Portrait Presented College

In recognition of a decade of achievement, Miss Helen Langford, president of the senior class at Texas State College for Women (C.W.), opened the thirty-third commencement activities by presenting the Jerry Bywaters portrait of President L. H. Hubbard to K. W. Denman, chairman of the board of regents. Students, faculty, and alumni organized to make the painting possible. It will be hung in the college library.

IF STATESMEN RULED, THE RESULTS WOULD BE LIKE THIS

On just what would be the results in Texas, if Statesmen, instead of politicians, ruled, is given below by the "Texas Tax Journal," of Austin:

If the taxpayers of Texas should decide this year and begin now to formulate a tax program based on fundamental business principles and secure its adoption here are a few of the many accomplishments that should follow:

1. About twelve of the larger and more expensive boards and commissions could be reduced to one or two, and provide by strict and plainly written law for the proper administration in counties where the nature of the work is to be looked after in counties. This would mean a saving of at least $5,500,000 annually and a better enforcement of the law.

2. Require all taxes, fees and other income, except school income, to be deposited to the credit of the General Fund and before any of it is paid out require specific appropriations by the Legislature and also provide a heavy penalty for the violation of the expressed provisions of the act making the appropriations. The careless and loose method of appropriating public money is costing annually $2,500,000.

3. The office of State Tax Commissioner should be changed to a reductive office or discontinued. The enforcement of the gasoline and cigarette tax laws, and the refund of the gasoline tax not used on the highways should be under the State Tax Commissioner for the reason the Legislature has literally smothered the Comptroller's department with too many difficult and intricate laws that involve millions. The present method is costing the State approximately $2,000,000.

4. No state in the union needs a tax system as badly as Texas needs one. There is no direct State supervision over the assessing and collecting of the ad valorem State levies. The authority to collect occupation taxes due the State is scattered. The forced collection of delinquent franchise taxes is by the Attorney General. By reason of our defective tax system the State loses at least

World Comment—

Sanctions have been enforced against Italy by all the League members, depriving that nation of most of its outlets for the exportation of goods and seriously handicapping the military operations in Africa.

Why did not Mussolini resign from the League? This is a question difficult to answer and perhaps only the Duce knows the answer. The best guess is that Italy's modern Caesar fears the loss of prestige around the council tables of Europe entailed by a resignation from the League. Although, as in the case of Manchuria, Ethiopia, and the Rhineland, the League has demonstrated its inability to cope with violations of international law, it is still supported by Europe's two most powerful nations,

Britain and France. Another European dictator, Hitler—Mussolini's greatest rival—has announced his willingness to re-enter the League on equality with the other nations of the world if granted his country. The Duce is said to fear that Germany's Hitler would step into his shoes as the guardian of Austria and perhaps make an alliance with Britain and France that would render him all-powerful in the region Mussolini hopes to dominate—the Balkans of southern Europe should he "take a walk" from Geneva. In the peace proposals referred to Britain and France following the remilitarization of the Rhineland, Hitler stated that a recognition of Germany as a free and equal power by those nations, accompanied by a return of the former imperial colonies, would be rewarded by Germany returning to the League fold.

Both Britain and France rely upon Italy to protect Austria from the wooing of the German Nazis. This naturally gives the Duce influence around the council tables of the Continent which would be lost should he step out at Geneva.

SOCIETY

MISS VIRGINIA WORTHY TO BECOME BRIDE OF ATTY. C. E. ALVIS JR.

Of wide social interest was the tea given by Mrs. Frank L. Williams Saturday afternoon from three to six in her home on 14th street, announcing the engagement of Miss Virginia Frances Worthy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Worthy, Roscoe, and Eugene Alvis, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Alvis of Gatesville.

Tall baskets of pink and blue yucca were used about the reception rooms and in the hall where Mrs. W. C. Guggolz greeted the guests. In the living room receiving with Mrs. Frank L. Williams were Miss Worthy, Mrs. C. E. Alvis, Mrs. Margaret Baldrige of Temple, and Mrs. Elizabeth Thomson.

The tea table was laid with a handsome lace cloth and in the center was a blue reflector banked with roses, cornflowers and daisies. In the center of the reflector, giving the impression of standing in a small sparkling pool was a white ship with blue and pink satin flags, bearing the name "Matrimony." On the deck stood a miniature bride and groom. Crystal candelabras in which burned blue tapers formed a gateway to the ship. Over the table, the chandelier was draped in blue chiffon over blue globes that cast a lovely glow over the entire room. At the other end of the table was a crystal punch bowl banked with flowers, containing crystal punch with blue flowers frozen in the ice cubes. Blue bowls containing an assortment of mints were placed on the tea table.

Mrs. Ross Woodall and Mrs. John P. Reising were hostesses in the living room and Mrs. Ed Melborn and Mrs. Edgar Franks were hostesses in the dining room. Miss Robbie D. Simpson acted as hostess in the guest room. The first hours Miss Elaine Cross and Miss Ernestine Durham presided at the punch bowl, and they were succeeded by Miss Boochie Wollard and Miss Catherine Gordon.

Little Miss Sammy Beth Williams dressed in pink and organza with a corsage of pink and blue sweet peas, presented each guest with a small sail boat, with the announcement, "Virginia and Gene, June 21."

concealed in the tiny oar tied to the side of the ship.

Miss Mary Catherine Gresham of Temple, accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. O. P. Gresham, aunt of the groom-elect, sang several selections.

Miss Ruth Raby Franks and Dorothy Culberson, Leah Dale Franks, Fred Byrom, Frances McCoy, Margaret Gilfer, and Rosa Lee Boyd served plates with ribbon and triangle sandwiches, white cookies decorated with rose buds, pickles and mints.

The bride-elect wore a lovely frock of blue taffeta with a sash of blending shades of pink velvet ribbon with a corsage of sweetheart buds arranged at the neckline. The hostess wore a smart model of yellow net over yellow satin with a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. E. J. Worthy, mother of the bride-elect, Miss Mary Edna Worthy, and Miss Willa B. Sloan, all of Roscoe, and Mrs. A. B. Green, aunt of the bride-elect of Ardmore, Oklahoma, and Miss Sally B. Eakins of Sweetwater were to be a part of the house party and presented in the receiving line, but due to impassable roads, were detained near Evant and did not arrive.

Miss Worthy, a popular member of the younger set, graduated from Roscoe High School with honors in 1930, where she was prominent in debating and dramatics. She later took her degree from Hardin-Simmons University (1934) where she was President of Oratorical and Debating Club, president of the Scholarship Society and was the Junior Class Beauty Queen. For the past two years she has been head of the English Department of the Gatesville High School.

Mr. Alvis, one of the popular young bachelors of the town's smart set, attended Southwestern at Georgetown, 1925-26, and Texas University 1927 to 1933. He received his A. B. and L. L. B. degrees and was a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. He is now County Attorney of Coryell County.

One hundred eighty-seven guests called during the hour.

$50,000 Exposition Hall of Religion

It's a long way from the "gospel riders" of early Texas, who carried a pistol in their holster and a rifle in their lap as they rode around their "circuit," to the $50,000 Hall of Religion now being built on the grounds of the Texas Centennial Exposition, the $25,000,000 World's Fair which opens in Dallas June 6. Religious lore of Texas over a period of 400 years will be housed in the building, which is being sponsored and built by stockholders of the Lone Star Gas Company. From the top of the building's 75-foot tower "The Eternal Flame of Life" will burn from the Exposition's opening until its close Nov. 29.

Australia is investigating the high rate of accidents where taxicabs are involved.

Softball

Thursday night saw only one game played as the Whites and Blues, due to the dance at the Camp, that started at nine o'clock, didn't play.

In the game played, Doc's Sandwich Shop crew won over the Merchants in a wild and wooly game 15-9. The Merchants showed no respect whatsoever for the highly favored hash slingers and belted the ball with wild abandon. It was the terrible defensive play of the Merchants that was their downfall. The sandwich crew did some plain and fancy slugging themselves and in the last inning their long range fire coupled with miscues on the part of the losers enabled them to chase over seven runs to break an 8-8 tie and ice the contest. The Merchants scored their final run in their half of the final inning in a desperate, but futile attempt to overcome the long lead of the winners.

Jesse Lee Wiggins of the Sandwich team and Culberson of the Merchants hit for the circuit in this game that both teams had better be glad their opponents were who they were.

Friday night's games were rained out, and along with the second game of Thursday night will be played this week on the off-nights of the week.

Tonight's schedule pits the Whites against the Merchants, and the Firemen against the Blues.

Thursday the Reds oppose Doc's, and the Merchants tangle with the Blues.

FIREBOYS AND CITIES SERV. TEAMS PLAY POSTPONED GAME SATURDAY

The game between the local Firemen and the Cities Service team of Waco, which was rained out last Saturday night, will be played next Saturday, the weather permitting, unless other unforeseen incidents arise.

SOFTBALL SCHEDULES TO BE HAD AT NEWS OFFICE

There are several hundred games of the first half of the Softball season ready for the convenience of the fans.

These schedules can be obtained at this office or at Doc's Sandwich Shop.

Domestic production of automobiles tires and tubes, which was recently inaugurated in Rio de Janeiro, is expected to benefit the Brazilian rubber producing industry.

Unable to find a girl willing to play the role of Lady Godiva during its carnival this year, Coventry, England, has offered to provide a wig of flowing tresses to any miss who will volunteer, but she must be able to ride a horse.

NO CLOSED SEASON IN TAXATION

They have a closed season for game, but there is no protection for people against tax eaters. The game may be preserved, but tax-producing citizens will soon become extinct. Taxes already are beginning to make us feel hopeless and as they increase to meet wild spending we will give up. We are not so dull but what we can see that it is better to be a tax eater than to struggle hard to create property for tax eaters to devour. Slowly but surely we are losing heart and when we quit trying and join the ranks of the tax eaters there will be nothing for people to do except devour each other. No sane man will long get up to alarm clock and work his head off to earn money that will be taken away from him.—Claude Callan in Fort Worth Star Telegram.

A five-year closed season on the killing of marten, fisher, wolverine and otter to save them from extinction is urged by Ira N. Babrielson, chief of the bureau of biological survey.

IF STATESMEN—

These four items are a few of the many costly defects in our state Government. If the facts are brought out as to other extravagances we are confident at least $20,000,000 of useless cost can be eliminated and the government would function better than it does today. Why raise any more taxes for Old Age Pensions? These corrections will not be made by politicians. They will have to be made by tax payers employing a few capable tax men who are not in office or running for office to take a few months time and rewrite the laws and present them to the Legislature for adoption (and all aid in the passage of the bills. Any reasonable Governor and Legislator would welcome such constructive assistance. It may be accomplished if these and other suggestions might bring enough money to remove the State ad valorem tax from property as well as pay Old Age Pensions but the small additional amount needed for that purpose could be easily raised.

SYNOPSIS

Scornful of the bloody feud that exists between the Tolliver and Falin clans in the Kentucky mountains, Martin Reed, young city engineer, arrives to build a railroad over their properties. June, Judd Tolliver's daughter, causes complications when she falls in love with Reed, thus incurring the ire of Dave Tolliver, her fiancé. Dave and the unsuspecting Reed engage in a brutal fist fight over June but when the Falins descend on Dave to avenge a beating Dave had given one of them before Reed holds them off until Dave and June can make a getaway. After the fight, Reed sends June to his sister in the city and returns to his camp to find that the Falins for revenge, have decided to impede progress of the railroad by sabotage.

CHAPTER VIII

"I AIN'T! I ain't! I ain't!" June screamed defiantly as she faced Martin's puzzled sister in the reception hall of the latter's Louisville home. "Them's no fittin's for into her arms, trying to laugh and cry at the same time.

Back at camp Martin was having great difficulty finding another crew to build the railroad. The Gaptown folk absolutely refused to join him although he offered very high wages. They knew what feuding meant and wanted none of it. Finally he was forced to go to a Cincinnati employment office and recruit the roughest types he could find. These fellows asked no questions when he announced that they would get double pay but would receive no money until the job was done.

With these bulles on the job the work progressed rapidly and soon the grade was completed and ready for the steel rails to be laid.

June had formed the practice of calling Martin from Louisville every day to report her progress with her dile of the camp. As he ran out the tent others followed in quick succession. One of them struck the steam shovel. Rifle fire rattled on the mountain.

The new men were on the verge of losing their nerve, since they could not determine from whom the attack came.

"Use your brains!" yelled Martin as he tried to rally them. "Get your guns and return the fire."

A large tree trunk bounded out of the evening shadows and roared down upon a group of terrified workers. Two of them were crushed beneath it. The others fled pellmell.

"We're getting out o' here, see ... right now," a leader of the men shouted at Martin.

"What are you afraid of?" The engineer stared at him scornfully. "We don't know ... that's why we're afraid."

"Use your brains!" yelled Martin as he tried to rally them. "Get your guns and return the fire."

me to wear, an' you know it! They kin take 'em back or they kin do what they want with 'em. I got feelin's, I has, an' I ain't goin' a-be laughed at. Besides I ain't goin' a-fall on my face tryin' to balance on them stilts." She whirled on the two maids and the butler, who were carrying her new clothes in their arms and drove them before her. "I wish I'd never come," she wailed. "That's what I wish."

"Darling—I'm not trying to make you wear them," said her hostess gently. "It's only that the girls of today—I want you to look nice, darling. I wouldn't hurt your feelings intentionally for anything. Besides, if Martin comes soon, I want him to ..."

"I ain't a-hatin' you—you been so sweet," June sniffled brokenly. "An' I ain't so ag'inst wearin' 'em neither, but ... but ..." She broke down and sobbed. "It's the way I looked when I come here—that's what's hurtin' me—I know it now. An' I said, 'Do you think yore sister'll recognize me,' an' he said, 'I don't see how she kin miss.'" Her voice grew vicious: "I'll spit in his eye after all, that's what I'll do." Suddenly her eyes met those of the older woman. The latter smiled. June flew lessons, and he was amazed to note how her grammar and command of words improved from week to week.

"You don't know what busy means," she told him one day. "I ain't ... I mean, I haven't had a minute to myself. This morning I learned all about the Revolution. Just like a big feud it was. In 1775 ..."

"Wait a minute," Martin interrupted after listening for a while. "That wasn't Patrick Henry. It was Lord Cornwallis ... Cornwallis."

"All right, Cornwallis ... what difference does it make now? How are you? Workin' hard ... Yes, that's right ... you did tell me that the very minute you answered the telephone. Has Dave been down to see you?"

"Nobody's heard from him since he left Judd's."

"Well, he'll be back. You know what I'm goin' to do when I come home."

"You're talking through your hat," grinned Martin. "Oh, yes you are. Now let me tell you something ..."

He dropped the receiver as a huge rock bounded down the mountain side and crashed through the mid-

"All right—get! But you won't be paid until this job is done!"

"Is that so?" snarled the husky.

"Listen, men," Martin shouted above the tumult. "I'm not trying to get you killed, but this job means everything to me. You birds get behind me and we'll clean out those rats. What do you say? ... Come on, I'll raise the ante ... triple your money. What about it?"

"I tank it bane a crackerjack idea," boomed a big Swede. "Where's my gun. Let's go!"

Armed with rifles, shotguns and revolvers, the hundred men of the road gang soon were swarming up the mountain in the growing darkness. Their attackers did not stay for a fight, but melted away into the night.

"You git 'er fixed, son?" Buck Falin inquired of Gorley, as they stopped for a last pot shot at the climbing laborers.

"She's all sot under the bridge, pappy, an' ready to go. Shall we touch 'er off now?"

"We'll do it in the mornin'," grinned the old man as he pulled the trigger again. "Kinda like tuh have Mr. Reed see it. Good effect, you know."

Strain of City Life Too Much For Screen And Radio Stars

WILLIE HOWARD

PHONY-FACE, newest horror disease to attack city dwellers, struck down three well-known stage and radio performers within an hour. Victims, reading from left to right, were: Eugene Howard, Ray Knight, and Willie Howard. Always quick to take advantage of a new twist, even if it be a twist of the face, the three stars rushed to record the result of their attack of cityitis before the camera. A sympathetic photographer, struggling to transfer facial symptoms to film, discovered that watching the birdie wouldn't do the trick, but Laughing Glass would!

The Howards and Knight were so elated with the photographic records of their attack reproduced above, that they sent out prints as warnings to friends of the new epidemic.

Now "Phony-face" photos are a fad, and dozens of fans are collecting pictures of their favorite actors and authors made by photographer John Joyce with Pittsburgh Crazy Glass.

EDITORIAL

GRAD WEEK

Being Glad is mighty close to being Sad! People cry with joy and, sometimes, laugh at sadness or danger.

Both are in store for the 1936 grads. For every sweet there must be a bitter.

This week ends your eleven or more years school work; grind, you may have called it—you're glad! Also, this week you and your classmates will probably meet in Commencement for the very last time you will all be together—you're sad!

Now, after the tumult and shouting dies, you've moved one peg, only one, on your cribbage board of life. You're eager for the next move. The competition is keener, more cold-blooded, more vicious, more real. It's a great game! Some of you will move many pegs and win in the game. Some will lose, and never move a peg. Your opportunities are limitless. The keen competition is in the first few peg holes. It's easier, if you're good enough to get above the rabble.

Your spirits are up, keep them that way. Dig in and get to work. Work will be the Key to any success that may be attained, and only one word of advice is necessary for any one, and that is "Work!"

In conclusion, we'd suggest, with a parting wish of "Good Luck!" that you, each of you, "get busy!"

LOCAL GIRLS SHOW MUSICAL ABILITY AT TARLETON

Miss Dessa Lee Hair and Miss Guinevere Whisenhunt, local students at John Tarleton College at Stephenville, have made a splendid record in music during the past term. Miss Hair played a clarinet in the symphony orchestra and Miss Whisenhunt played violin. Miss Whisenhunt also sang in the girl's double sextette that appeared on many programs this year.

McCLELLAN TRUCK DAMAGED BY FLAMES LAST WEDNESDAY NIGHT

A truck carrying ground corn and driven by Dan McClellan, who had started to Houston, caught fire about five miles west of Gatesville last Wednesday night and damaged the truck to the extent of $150.00. Mr. McClellan discovered the fire before it had gotten entirely beyond control. He received some minor hand burns in extinguishing the flames. The truck damage was covered by insurance.

TEXAS OFFICERS TRAIN THE MARINES FOR LONE STAR STATE CENTENNIAL
Quantica, Va., May 20—Under the watchful eyes of three Marine Corps officers from Texas, a hand-picked detachment of sea soldiers are going thru their paces here daily in preparation for the Texas Centennial Exposition, scheduled to open in Dallas, on June 6.
The Texans who are supervising the special drills and maneuvers which will be used during the exposition ceremonies are, Captain A. H. Butler, of El Paso, First Lieutenant G. H. Cloud of Rogers, and Second Lieutenant B. H. Hochmuth of Houston.

In addition to the three Texas marine officers, more than a dozen enlisted men from various sections of the State have been selected to take part in the celebration. The Marines remember that Texas contributed approximately 2,500 men to their ranks during the World War.
Visitors to the fair will have an opportunity to see the company of officers and men comprising the detachment, stage the colorful guard mounts and parades which are a part of the Marine Corps' military ritetual. A special marine band will also accompany the detachment to take part in the various ceremonies.

For years the Leathernecks have played a prominent part in the most famous of these exhibitions. In 1878, a company of them attended the Universal Exposition in Paris, and then made a return visit to the French capital in 1889. Since then they have taken part in the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago, the Jamestown (Va.) Celebration, the Brazilian Exposition at Rio de Janeiro, the Sesqui-Centennial at Philadelphia, and more recently the World's Fair at Chicago in 1933-34.

The San Francisco - Oakland bridge will carry six lanes of auto traffic, three lanes of trucks and two interurban street car lines.

TIPS FOR THE HOME

PREPARE NOW FOR NIGHT COOLING

Hot weather will again emphasize the need for some way to cool off the house during the night: but now it is easy to get good results by installing one of the very efficient night cooling units that are offered for very little money. If needed, they can be financed through the FHA and paid for over a period of years.

Night cooling is simple when it is understood how the unit operates, and best of all it is not necessary to tear the house apart to install it. The large fan is installed in the ceiling of the top floor and, because of its capacity and position, is able to pump the cooler night air into the house through the open windows and out through vents placed in the attic.

This method of cooling will change the air every few minutes and will remove all the accumulated heat that the walls and furniture have absorbed during the daytime.

It is said by the manufacturers that the temperature can be lowered 10 to 15 degrees over night and that if the windows are closed during the day this cooling can be kept circulating during the hot hours of the day.

Let's Talk about Clothes

TEXAS STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN (CIA)

With the approach of summer women everywhere begin their search for something cool, yet something that can be worn for any number of occasions. To meet this need manufacturers present clever short sleeved dresses that can be used for sports, for spectator wear, and still go to town of an afternoon with a big hat, white gloves and other white accessories.

The shops are already assembling the prize assortments. Gay, one-piece, unusually designed summer dresses show different details in their make-up. They feature stitched bands, necklines with front fullness contrived by experts, buttons used for decorations as well as a purpose, and pockets cut in curves, in points, with and without flaps.

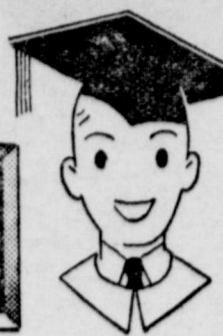

The colors are new and exciting. We found aqua, a knock-out blue for blondes or red-heads, shades of pink from bluish to dusty coral, pale lemon yellow, and strawberry reds. White dresses are used with blazing color effects, and they are tops for summer wear, according to girls at Texas State College for Women (CIA).

Linen textures are the most interesting fabrics, and dull weaves fashion the smartest dresses. Plaits are flat, tailored with precision, and placed where they do the most good. Short sleeves are either cut with the bodice top or cleverly inset to assure freedom even for strenuous games. Cotton mesh yokes are used for contrast as well as coolness and gently rolled collars hug the neckline and are slit down the front so that the muffled ascot scarf shows. Belts are generally of the dress material when they are not of two or three colors for the only color contrast.

STATE SOIL CONSERVATION COMM. RELEASES NEW RULINGS

College Station, May 25.—
Three supplementary recommendations of the Texas State committee of the Soil Conservation program have been approved by the Secretary of Agriculture, it was announced today by A. L. Smith, executive secretary of the State Committee, and Jack Shelton, vice director and state agent of the Texas Extension Service.

The first of the recommendations approved is that the term "soil conserving crops" has been ruled to mean any crop on crop land upon which an approved soil-building practice is carried out in 1936, and from which no soil depleting crop is harvested in 1936.

The second recommendation that was approved for the State of Texas states that sorghum or millet when seeded on crop land between January 1, 1936 and July 31, 1936, if all the crop is left on the land or plowed under, will be regarded as a soil-conserving crop.

The third approved recommendation is in regard to a soil-building practice which states that any sorghum, sudan grass or millet will receive a soil-building practice payment at the rate of $1.00 per acre then seeded on crop land between January 1, 1936, and July 31, 1936, and all the crop is left on the land or plowed under, providing that all the requirements for grant are complied with.

NEW SYSTEM DYKES AND "WEEP" HOLES

San Angelo.—When rains fall on the D. T. and Zack Jones farm in the Grape Creek community, flood water will be conserved through a system of dykes and "weep" holes designed to spread the water over 250 acres and to eliminate damage that has occurred in the past to field terraces, according to R. M. Milhollin, manager of the Soil Conservation Service project at San Angelo.

"Terracing on a number of places in Tom Green county has been thought impractical because of damage that might result from off adjacent lands," Mr. Milhollin states. "The system used varies with the slope of the land, type of soil, number of acres from which outside water comes and number of acres on which water can be spread.

"Water from the hills four miles from the Jones place, when rains of flood type occur, cross the Jones farm through a broad valley that parallel Grape Creek. Cooperating landowners, through control of outside water on their own farms, have reduced the number of acres from which runoff may be expected to 1000 acres. This flood water is picked up on a large graded dyke and spilled onto an adjacent pasture, where thru five "weep" holes in the large dyke, the water is let into five terrace intervals of a cultivated field. Any water not needed on the field can be by-passed and used in a 'syrup-pan' terracing system on another field.

"Taking advantage of flood water for increased vegetative growth, erosion control and for flood control," Mr. Milhollin states, "lends special significance to this type of work being done by land owners cooperating with the Soil Conservation Service."

VEGETABLE AND FRUIT GROWERS INCLUDED IN SOIL PROGRAM

College Station.—"Texas fruit growers, truck farmers and other vegetable growers will be able to earn payments under the Soil Conservation program," A. L. Smith, state agent assigned to conservation work in Texas, announced.

Smith pointed out that land that has been in vegetable crops will be counted in acreage used in determining the soil-building allowance if planted to winter cover and green manure crops, provided that such crops are turned under as green manure. However, the crop must have been growing at least two months, before being turned under.

"This classification of acreage," Smith said, "will be used only for the purpose of determining soil-building allowances. The number of dollars for soil-building payments cannot exceed the number of acres in soil-conserving crops on the farm in 1936.

"In regard to fruit growers," Smith said, "land devoted to orchards, vineyards, small fruits and nut trees is included as crop land under the program."

If such land is clean cultivated, it is classified as neutral. If it was used in 1935 to produce an interplanted soil-depleting crop, the actual acreage so used is classified as soil-depleting. If it is interplanted with a soil-conserving crop, the actual acreage is classified as soil-conserving.

The provisions governing rates of payments and qualifications are the same on the interplanted part of all land devoted to orchards, small fruits and nut trees as on other crop land.

LIGHT SUMMER CAKES

When warm days come the prospect of eating a rich heavy slice of cake loses its appeal even to the possessor of a highly developed sweet tooth. So plan to serve cakes that are not so rich in texture or content. Cakes of the sunshine or angel food variety are delicious with fresh berries or ice cream and general favorites as well.

SUNSHINE CAKE

One cup cake flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 6 eggs, 1 cup fine granulated sugar, 1/2 cup strained orange juice, - teaspoon grated orange rind.

Light the oven and adjust public to be their guests on heat to 275. Sift the flour, then remeasure and sift four times with the baking powder and salt. Beat yolks of eggs till foamy and thick. This requires about 10 minutes of beating by hand.

Add sugar gradually and continue beating until stiff. Add orange rind, then juice and flour, mixing alternately, stirring in thoroughly. Carefully fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, last using a wire whip and rotating the bowl with one hand while folding in with the other. Turn into an ungreased turk's-head pan, being careful not to stir batter as it is being transferred.

Bake for first 20 minutes at 275 degrees, then increase the temperature to 300 degrees and bake for 50 minutes longer. Invert to cool in the pan, like angel food, and remove when cool.

ICING FOR SUNSHINE CAKE

Beat 1/2 cup granulated sugar, 1/2 cup powdered sugar, 1 cup shredded pineapple and 1 egg white together until the icing is very stiff, holding its shape.

TERRY GIVING ANOTHER BIG PICNIC JULY 12

Marion M. Terry, Richland Springs, nurseryman, milk-goat breeder and all-round farmer, invites editors and publishers of the southwest and his many friends to an all-day picnic celebration at his farm near Richland Springs, July 12.

Mr. Terry entertained last year with a big barbecue picnic, and promises to show his visitors a still better time this year.
