COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE REPORTS SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

The Coryell County School Board was in session Wednesday from 10:00 a. m. until 5:30 p. m., with the exception of the noon hours which was spent very pleasantly at the Lion's luncheon. At the morning session the matters that were carried over from the last meeting were discussed and put in workable form. The school board from Longview (community) asked that they might come before the Board. This being permitted the Longview trustees stated that they had voted bonds to erect a new building preparatory to becoming a State Aid school, and that the community has shown good school interest. This Board asked to be allowed to teach eight grades. The County Board took this matter under advisement, stating that they stood ready to do any thing that would establish an efficient County School System.

In the afternoon Plainview and Stringtown came before the Board asking the Board's approval of a contract whereby Stringtown might attend the Plainview school. This request was granted. The details of a transportation system required by the contract is to be worked into the general County System. This may call for a local bus in Plainview District. Principal A. E. Whisenhunt served as spokesman for the two schools.

Ireland school, represented by Supt. M. L. Bannister, Tom Grubb, and Henry Johnson ask permission to change the bus route near Ireland so as to accommodate more students. The County Board thought favorable of their plans as being practical.

5 Generations Includes Gatesville People; 5th Member Born Monday

James Orville Moore, arrived at a Waco sanitarium Monday, completing five generations, which includes Mrs. R. E. Meeks, of Gatesville.

Here's the story! James' mother is Mrs. Vernon Moore, her mother is Mrs. H. O. Payne of Waco, her mother is Mrs. R. E. Meeks of Gatesville, her mother is Mrs. M. E. Halpain also of Gatesville.

That gives young James something to think about on Mother's Day, there's mother, grandmother, great grandmother, and great-great-grandmother, which is no mean achievement for such a young man of this old world.

Bonus Boys Bonds Are Being Distributed Fast Here Says Postmaster

It's "Over Here" now for the boys who wore kahki, navy blues or white, or the Marine blue or kahki during the war, because Uncle Sam is paying off the bonus rapidly in Gatesville. The count so far, according to Postmaster Hurl McClellan, looks about like this:

Monday, 96 bonuses paid,
Tuesday, 20 bonuses paid,
Wednesday, 2 bonuses paid,
Thursday, 35 bonuses paid, making a total of 153 bonuses being paid this week up until Thursday.

As to the amounts, we were unable to get any information since Mr. Farmer of the post office force said the tabulation would be done last night, after press time for this paper, but our guess is the bonds will average $450, making a mere matter of some $68,850, plus or minus bonds that have been placed in Coryell County since the first of the week. More are to come yet.

WADDILL'S CANDY STORE LOSES $85.00 WORTH CIGARETTES

Waddill's Candy Shop proved to be a helpy-sefy Friday night last, when burglar or burglars cut thru a vent pipe, lowered themselves on a rope, opened the back door and skipped with some 60 cartons of cigarette, worth approximately 85 simoleons.

Either because they had another call, or were scared away they left without examining the safe which was unlocked. However, they did take time to look in the cash register which happened to be empty.

So far, no clues have been found, and no suspects have been picked up.

Fire Practically Wipes Out Osage Business Section Tuesday Nite

Fire of unknown origin destroyed three stores and damaged the gin at Osage Tuesday night between 10 and 11 o'clock. The fire started in the store owned by C. A. Tubbs and burned the store belonging to Bill Tubbs and Bill Edwards completely.

Gatesville fire department was called and saved most of the gin which, however, was badly damaged. The gin was insured, but we understand that the stores carried no insurance.

Being confined to the business district, no homes were burned. No people were injured.

"THAR'S GOLD IN THEM THAR CIRCULARS," OF JOE HANNA'S

Yes, -sir, "Thar's certainly gold in them thar circulars." With the first run thru the press we gathered up enough gold dust to plate an old brass ring we have—it really looked like we had a shiny gold press "back in the back." And that was only the first run! After we got the other bargains of Joe Hanna's Cash Store Harvest Sale on this circular, the shop literally ran with gold. There certainly is a gold "tode" in this circular. See, and read one!

L. A. Preston Is the First to Announce for Public Weigher Here

In before the deadline is the way L. A. Preston came to be the first to announce for Public Weigher, Precinct No. 1.

Mr. Preston will make his formal announcement to the voters of this precinct in a later issue of the News.

He was born and raised in Coryell County and has been here most of the time during his life time of fifty years. LEAIRD'S 38TH ANNUAL CLEARANCE SALE STARTS TODAY

Leaird's 38th Annual June-July Clearance Sale opens with a bang today, what with an 8-page tabloid circular, ads in the local papers decorated windows and everything else, telling the customers about it.

Beginning with "Hope Domestic" and running thru tight full pages to "Occasional Chairs or Rockers," there are values from "kiver to kiver"—kivers included.

Sales not only help the merchants, but also, give bargains—no, not bargains, but values—to the people of this county, and, compared to prices elsewhere, it's "no baloney," they are bargains.

YOU FURNISH THE CHECKERS, MERCHANTS OF TOWN AND NEWS THE BOARD

Tuesday and Friday of next week readers of the Coryell County News will be presented with a checkerboard by the merchants of Gatesville. Keep these for hot summer evenings, and long winter nights. The board can be used either for checkers or for chess games.

If you don't know how to play, learn. It keeps us out of meanness!

We'd suggest that you paste this on a piece of cardboard, a table or board. If they're pasted smoothly and securely, they'll last indefinitely.

Local Softball Team Goes to McGregor Tonight

Doc's Sandwich team goes to McGregor tonight for a softball game. The Sandwich crew will be bolstered with one or two of the Firemen.

The games at McGregor are played under the lights of the football field, so should be very efficient. As the small ball is used at McGregor and good base ball players run wild in that part of the country, the locals are apt to lose their first game of the year.

There should be quite a few local fans making the trip. The game starts at 8:15 with an admission price of ten cents. The gate fee will be split between the teams 60-40.

Pete Patterson is dickering with a Waco team for a game with the Firemen on Saturday night. If the game materializes cards will be put out around town Saturday afternoon to let the fans know.

Baseball Banter

One report came in this week. In the Sunday division Seattle beat Levita 6-3. The harvesting of the grain crop will throw a kink in things for a week or two now as most of the players will be engaged at this work. The Sunday division should be hurt less in this respect.

Not having any other reports we can only give the schedule for the week end.

Saturday: Jonesboro vs. Osage at Osage. Turnersville vs. Pidcoke at Turnersville. Mound vs. State at State.

Sunday: Levita vs. Gatesville CCC at Gatesville. Flat vs. Neff Park CCC at Neff Park. Pearl vs. Seattle at Seattle.

For the benefit of Mr. Glass of the Seattle team, we have not heard heard from Pearl concerning their games with Seattle on Sunday.

Nigel Bruce, English character actor, belongs to the Buck's club once London's most exclusive club.

GOLF TOURNAMENT BEGINS AT HAMILTON UNDAY

On Sunday the qualifying round for the annual Perry Country Club golf tournament will get under way. This is always one of the most interesting tournaments in central Texas and golfers from all the neighboring towns will be in attendance.

Several local link stars will be there both as entrees and spectators.

The tournament will continue through Wednesday with various forms of other entertainment including a dance on Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock.

Softball

Monday night Bugs Rutherford's newly organized aggregation put up a creditable showing for a first game performance before losing to the Merchants 7-3. Goatmilk Rutherford served them up for the losers while Bradford worked in the box from the Merchants. Anderson of the Merchants swatted one of Rutherford's tosses for a home run.

In the second game of the evening the Firemen had difficulty in disposing of the Reds 7-6. The Camp team led 4-0 for four innings, then collapsed, allowing the Firemen to score enough to win.

Wednesday Doc's won over the Whites 6-0 in a game that saw quite a few nice pieces of defensive work. The Camp team layed good ball afield but could not connect with the ball at the plate.

The second game between the Merchants and the Firemen for three innings was perfect, but in the fourth a hit, two errors and a home run by Bone accounted for five runs on the part of the Firemen, while an inning or two later they scored five more featured by Shepherd's circuit clout with the sacks loaded. In the last inning the Merchants found their batting eyes and dented the platter with four runs, leaving the final score—Firemen 10, Merchants 4. F. Worley pitched for the Firemen while Bradford started in the box for the Merchants, being relieved by Hair. The winners connected for 9 hits while Anderson's crew granered 7.

Monday's schedule: Doc's vs. Firemen, and Reds vs. Merchants.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a museum in Paris or somewhere where there is a lot of skeletons of animals. A Frenchman was showing some American friends through this here museum, and he was trying to impress the visitors with Napoleon.

Every once in a while he would claim that something he was showing them was connected with Napoleon. So he came to a horse's skeleton, and he says, "Now, that there is the skeleton of the horse Napoleon rode in all his great victories! The horse's name was Pet, I believe, and he was almost as brave as his rider."

So the Americans didn't pay much attention, but one of them asked, "Say, what about the skeleton over there of a little animal? Right there, beside Pet. Looks like a cat or a cat or something."

"Ah, that, too my friends, is connected with the history of the glorious Napoleon! That is, in fact, the skeleton of Pet when he was a cat, brave and true!"

APPETIZERS Accompany Cool Summer Drinks

When nights are hot and days are long a cooling drink before dinner with a plate of tantalizing appetizers has an especial appeal. Here are some new ones to pique the most jaded warm weather appetite into interest.

SARDINE CRESCENTS

Remove skin and bone from 1-3 cup of sardines, mash. Combine with 1-4 cup finely chopped pickled onions, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 teaspoon chopped parsley. Serve on small crescents of toast.

CUCUMBER HORS D'OEUVRES

Pare cucumbers and cut in crosswise slices 1/2 inch thick. Remove centers with a small round cutter. Cut circles of dark bread toast a little larger than the cucumber. Spread with any preferred mixture, and place piece of cucumber on each and fill center with more of the mixture. Garnish as desired. Small tomatoes cut in halves with seeds removed may be substituted for cucumber slices.

OPEN CHEESE AND TOMATO GINGER SANDWICHES

Equip large tray with a generous supply of crackers, a bowl of soft cream cheese and one of tomato ginger conserve and the necessary implements for spreading.

WHIRLS

Cut all the crust from a loaf of fresh sandwich bread and cut lengthwise slices 1-4 inch thick. Spread each slice with butter and then with any soft filling you like. On one use cream cheese mixed with Worcestershire sauce and finely chopped nuts; on another use minced ham with mayonnaise; on a third orange marmalade and and peanut butter seasoned with Worcestershire. Roll each slice tightly lengthwise, wrap in waxed paper and chill. Just before serving cut in one-half inch slices, crosswise of the roll. This makes small circles. The chilled butter keeps them from unrolling.

STAR CANAPE

Nine slices brown bread cut with a star cutter, 3 ounces of cream cheese, 2 pimentos, and black olives. Cut bread untoasted side with cream cheese and place strips of pimento from points of star to center. Dot center with black olives.

WORLD COMMENT

By
BURNS

Since the Democrats captured Congress in the election of 1930 more honors have come to Texas Representatives than in any other decade of this State's political history.

John N. Garner was elected Speaker of the House—most powerful official next to the chief executive—in that year, and two years later was nominated and elected Vice President. Today Garner occupies a position of trust and influence with the President and in the party councils seldom attained by a Vice-President. Recognition by the President of Garner's political sagacity and wisdom is witnessed by the fact that Roosevelt refused to yield to the demand of many in the party that the Texan be replaced on the ticket by a person from a doubtful state.

Senator Sheppard and Senator Connally both hold positions of trust and importance in the Senate. Sheppard, dean of both Houses of Congress in point of service, is chairman of the powerful Senate Military Affairs Committee. Connally is a member of the Finance Committee and one of the Democratic Floor Leaders.

In the House, some of President Roosevelt's closest confidants and most trusted advisers are Texans. Hutton W. Summers of Dallas is chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and was recommended by President Roosevelt to draft the new constitution for the Philippine Commonwealth. J. P. Buchanan of Brenham is chairman of the Harbors and Rivers Committee in the House and Sam Rayburn of Bonham heads the Foreign and Inter-state Commerce Committee. Marvin Jones of Amarillo is chairman of the House Agricultural Committee and Thomas L. Blanton, if re-elected, will be chairman of the Military Affairs Committee of the lower house.

Death of Speaker Joseph W. Burns of Tennessee puts another Texan in line for the coveted Speakership. Following the death of Speaker Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, Sam Rayburn was a candidate for that office but withdrew in the interest of party harmony. He is the man the White House is understood to favor, although President Roosevelt refused to interfere in the Byrns-Rayburn contest.

It is generally believed that William B. Bankhead of Alabama, chosen to succeed Speaker Byrns, will not be a candidate for re-election next January because of the precarious state of his health. He was absent from all the sessions of Congress last year because of ill health and Representative John J. O. Connor of New York acted as temporary floor leader in his absence. The only possible opposition to Rayburn in the event Bankhead is not a candidate is O'Connor, who however, because of his Tammany affiliations, would have little chance of election.

Rayburn has piloted many Administration bills through the House. As chairman of the interstate commerce committee, he reported out the holding company measure, and was floor leader in the fight which put in through the interests are said to be after House. As a result the power Rayburn's political scalp and several opponents have already announced against him.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Attend to Your Shadow Contrasts

Strong shadow contrasts, plus foreground objects and a foreground "frame," all combine to give these pictures depth and perspective.

WHAT makes some pictures seem real enough to walk right into, while others appear to be little more than a design on a flat wall?

The thing that makes the difference is that quality in a picture, variously called "perspective," "depth," or "third dimension effect," that puts objects in relief so that they appear solid, and makes it possible correctly to perceive their relative size and position.

In photography, this quality of reality is created chiefly by proper attention to contrasts in lights and shadows. Remember that to achieve reality in a painting, the artist creates light and shadow contrasts, but that in nature such contrasts do not always come ready made. They must be looked for. In nature what often seems a good picture to the eye is not a good picture for the camera lens, because of the absence of contrasts. The eye is aided by our imagination but not so the lens. In the print, the scene may turn out flat and uninteresting, especially if we try to include the whole country side in the picture.

Hence, to get perspective, pay attention to light and shadow contrasts. Look for vantage points that best reveal them. Usually the longer and more sharply defined the shadows the greater is the third dimensional effect and the appearance of reality of objects depicted. In outdoor photography there is value in taking pictures when the sun is low, because then shadows are long and accentuate the perspective. Always remember, too, the photographer's maxim: "Expose for the shadows and the high lights will take care of themselves." That, however, does not mean always to expose for a very deep shadow, but, in general, to expose to record detail in the intermediate shadows.

Another way to accentuate depth in a photograph, especially in scenic views, is to include a distinctive foreground object, which emphasizes the diminished size of objects in the distance, thus creating "depth." A human figure or tree, in the foreground at the right or left, will often serve the purpose and at the same time add interest.

Another way is to choose a vantage point which will give the picture a foreground "frame." Such a frame often serves where long shadows and distinctive foreground objects are absent. Foreground trees with lacy overhanging boughs are splendidly useful as frames. They are full of beauty in themselves, and, if in the print they show completely in silhouette, that is to say, in dark outline without interior detail, the effect is often all the better. Everything beyond is accented by the dark tone that strikes its deep note in front.

Similarly a foreground archway in a bridge or other structure is not only an attractive element itself, but helps the eye to move forward into the picture to the scene beyond.

Study these points before you "shoot."

transportation fee of $1.00 and $2.00.

Superintendent Frank L. Williams appeared before the County Board, asking that changes in the present system be studied carefully before alterations should be made. He also expressed a desire to be heard on proposed or rumored changes in the Gatesville system before they were made. He stated that the Gatesville School Board would be willing to accept on reasonable terms students or schools, who actually seek education advantages by entering the Gatesville School System.

Superintendent J. C. Culwell, of Copperas Cove school came before the County Board stating that his school desired to continue the busses that were serving to advantage high school pupils in this and other counties. He was asked by the Board to work out any difficulties that might have arisen with the schools concerned. Mr. Culwell stated it as his opinion that within a short time and with continued road improvement, satisfactory service could be had.

GATESVILLE, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JUNE 19, 1936

NUMBER 52

Congratulations

VETERANS

PERSEVERANCE

From 1918 to 1936, eighteen long years, veterans of the World War have been working for the "bonus". Time has told and now they are receiving and "cashing-in" their just compensation in the Baby Bonds presented to them with the compliments of that Grand Old Uncle with the goatee and striped pants.

During these eighteen years the bonus has been pushed in Congress, several times failing, pushed by aspirant politicians (some of whom were merely courting favor), and pushed by the veterans themselves, who have marched to the capital city in bodies and camped there only to be disbanded by governmental officials. But not daunted they have persisted for their rights and—PERSEVERED.

So, here's throwing posies to these veterans who knew what they wanted, and never stopped until the job was finished.

MANY LARGE COMPANIES BELIEVE IN DALLAS' BIG EXPOSITION

Dallas, June 18.—Some folks say they misnamed the Hall of Foods and Beverages at the Texas Centennial Exposition.

They are probably correct. Food and Drink Fairyland would be more appropriate.

When it came to erecting this quarter of a million dollar fire-proof building and assigning it to exhibitors, exposition officials accomplished what no other World's Fair ever did.

No food or drink show anywhere or at any time presents such a swanky appearance as the one at the $25,000,000 show Texas is going to run at Dallas for the next six months.

More industries are represented in this palace than have ever been collected heretofore under one roof. An outstanding feature is the nationally advertised products to be found there.

Of the nearly 200,000 visitors who flocked to the opening of the Lone Star's great birthday party, fully 75,000 passed through the Hall of Foods and Beverages. No day has passed since that did not attract its full quota of visitors.

Beech-Nut Packing Company has a mechanical circus that includes every character and entertainment found under the biggest of the big tops.

Southern Rice Industry demonstrates more than 20 ways that make rice a leading food article.

CALIFORNIA ENTHUSED AT CONSERVATION WORK IN STATE OF TEXAS

Fort Worth, June 18.—"I certainly am impressed with the effective use that is being made of vegetative means of erosion control," was the enthusiastic comment of R. R. Cozzens, district manager of the soil conservation service at Watsonville, California, following a visit to the Lindale, Texas, soil conservation service project.

"I saw more vegetative erosion control work at Lindale than at any other project that I have visited. You are certainly using Bermuda grass to good advantage," Mr. Cozzens told L. P. Herrill, regional conservator, while in Fort Worth today. "Meadow strips and sodded outlet channels are caring for excess water perfectly, carrying it safely to lower levels without washing or scouring. I certainly wish that soils and other conditions were such in California that we could make the same good usage of Bermuda grass in California as you are doing in Region 4.

"I was also much impressed with the effectiveness of strip crops and farming on the contour. I noticed that contour cultivation is being practiced by the farmers of the Lindale area.

"There is a most vivid contrast between the farms of co-operators where the land is protected by a complete coordinated erosion control program and farm lands outside the project area that are not protected. The effects of the erosion control work done at the Lindale project should be far reaching and offer a means of 'coming back' to farmers throughout the immediate section, who will adopt the practical erosion control measures already in operation on so many of the farms in that section."

Saturday morning Mr. Cozzens made a trip over the soil conservation service project at Garland, Texas, and expressed himself as being greatly impressed with the practical erosion control program being carried out on the farms of co-operators in that area.

STUMPIN' THE STATE

With The Spectator

Of the five candidate for Governor, three are from North Texas, one from East Texas, and one from Central Texas. Two years ago, in a field of seven, five gubernatorial aspirants were from North Texas, one from West Texas, and one from Central Texas.

North Texas has produced most Texas Governors. Of the eleven chief executives who have served since the turn of the century, only three have been from south Texas. Sayers of Bastrop (1899-1903), Hobby of Beaumont (1917-1921), and Sterling of Houston (1931-1933) were the only governors elected from South Texas since 1900.

On the other hand, North Texas boasts Lanham of Weatherford (1903-1907), Campbell of Palestine (1907-1911), Colquitt of Kaufman (1911-1915), and Allred of Wichita Falls. From Central Texas have come James Ferguson of Temple (later of Austin), Pat Neff of Waco, Dan Moody of Georgetown, and Miriam A. Ferguson of Austin.

Texas seems destined to have north Texas governor for some time to come. Two years ago, Clint Small, the representative of the Western counties on the ticket, and Edgar Witt, Central Texas candidate, ran far behind in the gubernatorial race. The next governor of Texas is likely to be from a north Texas city, not particularly because a majority of the field are from that section of the State but because the two strongest contenders for the nomination are from that part of the state.

On the primary ticket for July 25 will be a member of former office holders and former candidates for State office.

S. H. Terrell, candidate for State Comptroller, held that office from 1925 to 1931, retiring undefeated in that year. George B. Terrell, candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture, served as commissioner from 1925 to 1931 and as Congressman-at-Large from 1932 to 1934.

Carl C. Hardin of Stephenville, candidate for Railroad Commissioner, served twelve years in the State Senate before retiring to the practice of law.

Several unsuccessful candidates of other years are attempting to make comebacks. Most prominent of these is Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls, making his third race for governor. Hunter first ran in 1932, when Ross Sterling's plea for a second term was being hotly contested by former Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. Given another month Hunter might have nosed out Sterling to enter the runoff with "Ma" but the tally gave him 220,000 to Sterling's 296,000. In 1934 he ran second to Jimmie Allred in the first primary but was defeated in the runoff by 40,000 votes.

Guy B. Fisher of Bland Lake, candidate for United States Senator, was an opponent against Senator Connally in 1934. He received 41,000 votes. J. Edward Glenn of Kopperl, another candidate for Senator Sheppard's seat, was an unsuccessful candidate in 1932.

H. O. Johnson of Houston is making his third race for the Railroad Commission. First, in 1930, in a field that included Pat Neff of Waco, Nat Patton of Crockett, and W. Gregory Hatcher of Dallas, Johnson ran third with 109,000 votes to Neff's 362,000, Patton's 93,000, and Hatcher's 175,000. Neff was elected, resigned two years later to become President of Baylor University, and was succeeded by Ernest Thompson, the present incumbent. In 1934, Johnson was again a candidate, this time against Commissioner Lon Smith. He ran fourth in a field of five. This year the Railroad Commissioner's race includes the incumbent, E. O. Thompson, former Senator Hardin of Stephenville, Frank Morris of Dallas, Goodson H. Rieger of Houston, and Joanson.

There is no unwritten law in Texas that a State office holder may not hold office more than two terms, with the exception of the offices of Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Attorney General.

Chief Justice C. M. Cureton is this year asking for a third term on the Supreme Court bench. Morris Sheppard wants a fifth term in the United States Senate. George Sheppard is seeking a fourth term as Comptroller of Public Accounts. Treasurer Charley Lockhart and Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald are also running for fourth terms. L. A. Woods, Superintendent of Public Instruction, wants a third term in that office.

Liberty H. D. Club

The Liberty Woman's Club met with Mrs. J. D. Hedgepeth June 10. A bridal shower was given to Mrs. Ozella Balize Belvin, bride of Mr. Clovis Belvin.

The popularity of the bride and hostess was manifested by the large attendance, more than 35 members, about a dozen 4-H club girls and many visitors were present.

The bride was presented with many useful and beautiful gifts. The club presented a pair of house slippers to Mrs. Bessie Brown, who is ill.

A quilt was finished for the hostess. It was pieced by her mother, Mrs. Curlee, thirty-six years ago. The log cabin pattern fashioned into the sunshine and shadow design was much admired, and many members resolved to copy it.

The home coming of the many old timers among the club members and visitors and the age of the quilt was strengthened by the Southern colonial type of the refreshments of nut gingerbread and iced Bulgarian buttermilk was graciously served by Mrs. Belvin's 4-H girls. Mrs. Calvin Perryman was joint hostess with her mother.

The next meeting of the club will be held with Miss Grace Elam June 30. It will be a double briday shower, honoring Mrs. Elva Hyson Hill and Mrs. Bernice Glaze Tyson recent brides of Erman Hill and Albert Tyson.

All friends of these splendid young people are invited to attend this meeting. The woman's club is making plans for another gala affair.

MORE THAN 800,000 NEW 1936 CHEVROLETS have been sold

America

is giving overwhelming preference to Chevrolet because it's
The only complete low-priced car

MORE than 800,000 new 1936 Chevrolets have been built and sold—more than four-fifths of a million since announcement day—the largest volume of business that Chevrolet has enjoyed in any comparable period in its entire history.

Record-breaking sales always indicate record-breaking value, and that is why we are printing these figures. They are important, not because they establish a record, but because they carry the following message to all people who have yet to buy their 1936 cars.

America is choosing Chevrolet because America is convinced that Chevrolet represents the most motor car for the least money.

"The most motor car," because it's the only low-priced car with such vitally important features as New Perfected Hydraulic Brakes and Solid Steel one-piece Turret Top for greatest safety; Improved Gliding Knee-Action Ride*, Shockproof Steering*, and Genuine Fisher No Draft Ventilation for greatest comfort; and a powerful High-Compression Valve-in-Head Engine for the most efficient all-round performance.

And "the least money," because Chevrolet's low purchase price, low operating costs and low maintenance costs make it the most economical of all cars to own.

America is saying these splendid things about Chevrolet with actual buying orders! Follow America's judgment. Place your order for a new 1936 Chevrolet—the only complete low-priced car!

The Story of GARY COOPER in "MR. DEEDS GOES TO TOWN" JEAN ARTHUR

An adaptation of the screen version of Clarence Budington Kelland's story
A FRANK CAPRA PRODUCTION

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE:
Longfellow Deeds, pride of Mandrake Falls, inherits twenty million dollars, goes to New York and stands the city on its ear with his eccentric behavior. He refused to make up an $180,000 deficit for the opera, he goes on a binge with a famous author, feeds doughnuts to horses to see how long it will take the horse to ask for a cup of coffee, he helps the fire department extinguish a blaze and he orders social leaders who have assembled at his house for a party to get out so that he can keep a date with Babe Bennett, pretty blonde newspaper reporter that he has met. Longfellow does not know Babe is a reporter and has fallen in love with her. He cannot understand where the daily stories of his exploits are coming from. Babe, who has been posing as a stenographer named Mary Dawson to Longfellow, realizes that she has fallen in love with him, too, and is seeking desperately for some way to keep him from learning that she is the reporter who has labelled him the "Cinderella Man" and made him a laughing stock in the press. Meanwhile, his attorneys who have vital reasons for not giving Longfellow an audit of his estate, are plotting a surprise for him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY. Chapter Five

Cobb was waiting at Longfellow's house when he returned from his poetic proposal to Babe. Longfellow, smiling broadly, was bursting with his news, but "Corny" cut him short. "Hello, sucker!" he said. He rose from his chair and crossed the room toward Deeds.

"Well," he said, "it's just as I suspected, wise guy! I don't mind you making a sucker out of yourself — but you made one out of me, too."

"What's eating you, Sour-puss?" Longfellow asked.

"I finally had sense enough to have you followed tonight. The dame you've been running around with is Babe Bennett. New York's smartest sob-sister. She took you for a sleigh ride that New York will laugh about for years. She's the slickest, double-crossing, two-timing —"

Longfellow, in a rage, grabbed Cobb's throat and shook him. "What are you talking about?" he roared. Cobb yelled right back at him, "All right — go ahead! Sock away." With his free hand he reached into his coat pocket. "And then try to laugh this off," he added, thrusting a photograph under Deeds' nose.

It was a photograph of Babe Bennett and Longfellow relaxed his grip on Cobb as he read the caption beneath it. "Louise (Babe) Bennett wins Pulitzer Prize for reportorial job on Macklyn Murder Trial." Longfellow stared unbelievably at the picture while Cobb continued with his tirade. "She's the smartest reporter on the 'Mail'. Every time you opened your kisser you were giving her another story. She's the dame who christened you the 'Cinderella Man'. She's the —"

Longfellow interrupted him. "Shut up!" he cried, and there was agony in his voice. He crossed to a chair and sat down. For a long time he said nothing and his face was a dead mask of disillusionment. Slowly, a wry smile came to his lips as Cobb and Walter watched him in sympathetic silence.

"Pack my things, Walter," he said. "I'm going back to Mandrake Falls."

Cobb's face softened. "Gosh, pal, if I knew you were going to take it so hard I'd have kept my trap shut." Longfellow was about to speak when a commotion in the hall distracted them. The door burst open and a wild-eyed man came into the room, struggling with the butler.

"Lemme go!" he cried. "I wanna see him! I wanna see that guy! Lemme go!" He stared at Longfellow.

"There you are! I just wanna see what you look like — a guy that can spend thousands of dollars on a party when people are starving all around him! Cinderella Man! Know how many families you could feed with the money you pay to get on the front page? Feeding doughnuts to a horse! Got a kick out of it, huh? Got a big laugh! Did you ever think about feeding doughnuts to human beings? No!"

"That's enough out of you," Cobb yelled, starting toward the man. He suddenly whipped out a gun and leveled it at Cobb. "Stay where you are, young feller." Cobb backed away and the man turned the gun on Longfellow.

"You're going to get some more publicity, Mr. Deeds. On the front page again, but I don't think you'll like it this time!" His voice rose hysterically. "See how much good your money will do you when you're pushing up daisies! Never thought of that, did you, — you money-grabbing hick! Never thought about all the people who are starving — not able to feed their wives and kids. Not able to —"

The man's voice broke. He sobbed, staggered to a chair and, glancing down, saw the gun in his hand. Realizing what he was about to do, he dropped it to the floor where Cobb quickly retrieved it. "Oh, my God!" he cried. No one spoke and Longfellow looked at him pityingly. "Sorry," he mumbled. "I didn't know what I was doing. Losing your farm after twenty years — seeing your kids go hungry — standing in breadlines — I guess I went crazy for a minute." He looked up at Deeds. "You can call the cops now, Mister."

Longfellow continued to stare at him. "A farmer," he said, and he went over to stare out the window. For the next week the newspapers in the country carried Deeds' name in bold headlines.

"LONGFELLOW DEEDS TO GIVE FORTUNE AWAY"

"FINANCIERS SHOCKED BY AMAZING PLAN OF DEEDS"
"THOUSANDS OF UNEMPLOYED STORM DEEDS HOME TO APPLY FOR FARM LAND"

The drawing room of his home transformed into a noisy, bustling office, Longfellow worked night and day talking to applicants, ordering farm implements, consulting with architects and farming experts. Neither Cobb nor himself had been away from their desks for more than a few hours at a time since Deeds' desperate visitor some days before. Cobb pleaded with Deeds to take his time but Longfellow would not listen. He wanted to finish everything as quickly as possible and get back to Mandrake Falls. Babe Bennett had tried to talk with him by telephone several times but Deeds would not talk with her.

Longfellow was sitting at his desk, munching on a sandwich and interviewing the long line of men waiting to see him. He was unshaven and his shirt collar was open. Three strange men pushed their way to the head of the line and approached Longfellow's desk. One of them spoke.

"Longfellow Deeds?"

"Yes."

"We've got a warrant for your arrest. You'll have to come along with us." Cobb jumped to his feet. "What are you mugs talking about?" he asked.

"I don't know nothin', buddy," one of the men replied. "All I know is the sheriff gimme an insanity warrant to execute."

"Who says he's insane?" Cobb demanded.

"The complainant is a relative of the late Martin Semple. Charges that Deeds is insane and incapable of handling the estate."

Longfellow laughed cynically. "That's marvelous," he said. "That makes everything complete. Just 'cause I want to give my money to people who need it they think I'm insane."

"Wait a minute," Cobb interrupted. "We want to get a lawyer, I'll call Cedar."

"Don't bother, buddy," the deputy sheriff said. "Cedar swore out the complaint. He represents the complainant. C'mon, Mr. Deeds, let's go."

Longfellow slowly rose and walked out with the sheriff's men, with Cobb trailing along behind him.

MOVIE STARS PLAYGROUND SEEN IN FILM

Frances Langford, Sir Guy Standing, Smith Ballew, David Niven, Spring Byington and Ernest Cossart head the cast of Walter Wagner's production for Paramount "Palm Springs" that opens tomorrow at the Palace Theatre.

This is the first time the resort near Hollywood, where stars rest and play between pictures, has been filmed. Because of its interesting atmosphere, it is used as the setting for the story which offers Frances Langford as a young society deb who is suddenly thrown into the gay maze of a Palm Springs vacation.

She is forced into seeking marriage with a playboy millionaire to save her family from poverty, in spite of the great love she already bears for a handsome cowboy. To win the young scion, she she masquerades as an English noblewoman. Frances almost succeeds in completing the alliance when her father, realizing that she is sacrificing herself for him, exposes her.

How he frustrates the marriage, and aids Ballew, enacting the cowboy she loves, to get her, supply a fitting climax to the story.

Five songs especially written for the picture are sung by Miss Langford and Mr. Ballew during the course of story unfoldment.
