Evant People Hurt in Wreck Near Sweetwater Wednesday, June 10

Mrs. Harlan Y. Price and daughter, Christine, and Hartman Smith, all of Evant, were seriously injured and narrowly escaped death Wednesday, June 10, when the truck in which they were riding from Lubbock to Evant collided head-on with an automobile occupied by two men. The accident occurred about eight or ten miles east of Sweetwater.

The truck cab was driven back into the trailer, and Mr. Smith suffered chest injuries, and Mrs. Price was pinned in the jammed truck until it was quite a while before rescuers were able to release her. She suffered critical injuries. Miss Price was not badly injured, but all three were conveyed to a Sweetwater hospital where they received medical attention.

COCO COLA DEALERS OVER COUNTY ENTERTAINED

Last Thursday evening about 65 Coco Cola dealers of the county, together with their families, gathered at the Gatesville Coco Cola Bottling Co. on N. 7th street, where John T. Morgan, assisted by W. F. Reaves of Waco, presented a motion picture entitled "Along Main Street."

Following the show, ice cold "cokes" were served as refreshments to the visitors. For the benefit of those who were unable at this time, the picture was shown again in the District Court room at two o'clock, and at 7 o'clock in the recreational hall at the CCC Camp.

Lets Talk about Clothes

Denton, June 22. — The one outfit in a good summer wardrobe that withstands all the wear and tests is a dark street dress. Through the hot summer months, you'll find many times when a dark frock is not only suitable, but almost necessary.

When traveling, you need something that will look just as nice at the end of the journey as it did in the beginning, and if you work in an office, your white and pastel frocks soon become wilted and yellowed with constant wear. A navy or black dress is ideal—it does not show hard wear as easily as other colors, and it can be tubbed or cleaned with guaranteed satisfaction.

Chiffon is especially good this summer, and the latest trends are toward the redingote style. I saw one interesting model featured on the campus at the Texas State College for Women (CIA). The dress was buttoned with material lousps of little over half way down the front, and then stiod open to reveal the box pleat in the dotted slip. The sleeves were short, slightly puffed, and had a tiny cuff of Irish lace. The neck was finished in a like manner, and two small tucked breast pockets adorned the frock.

Brown and white is an interesting combination for summer, and a checked silk in these two colors is especially attractive. Some dresses have yokes from which tiny pleated sleeves

Pioneer Woman Is Claimed by Death

Mrs. Ella McCauley, wife of W. A. McCauley, passed away at Whitson, five miles of Moody on June 15, 1936 at 6:30 o'clock p. m.

Mrs. McCauley was born at Covington, Tennessee, July 2 1856. Later she moved with her family to Batesville, Arkansas, where she lived until she was married to W. A. McCauley on March 29, 1877. She moved to Texas and has lived in the Whitson community twenty-seven years.

She was converted and joined the Methodist church when eighteen years of age. Later she joined the Baptist church with her husband and was an active member until health prevented her attending. As long as her eyesight permitted, she was a daily reader of her Bible having read it through several times. After she was deprived of this pleasure she enjoyed hearing the religious programs over the radio. Especially the Cranfill Bible Lesson each Sunday morning and the Radio Revival each day.

In 1905 she fell and fractured her hip and never fully recovered from the misfortune. In 1927 she suffered a stroke of paralysis, which paralyzed her right side to such an extent that for the past nine years she was helpless, and for many months before her death she could neither see to read nor talk audibly. Although afflicted thus, she enjoyed visitors and always greeted them with a pleasant smile. She bore her suffering nobly and recognized and appreciated each love deed from friend or family. The beautiful offerings and the large concourse of friends which followed her to her last resting place showed the esteem in which this sainted mother was held.

Mrs. McCauley was the mother of six children. Four of whom lived to maturity. She is survived by her husband, W. A. McCauley; one son, Dr. E. R. McCauley, and three daughters, (Mrs. Tim Nelson, Miss Nora McCauley of Moody, and Mrs. Curtis Ritchie of Gatesville; seven grand-children and two great grand-children; two sisters, Mrs. Emma Holmes of Batesville, Arkansas, and Mrs. Fannie Tichenor of Dallas; and one half sister, Miss Jennie White of Batesville, Arkansas.

appear, and the high necklines have small collars which are brought together with grosgrain ribbon bows in the matching shade of the belt.

Dark cotton dresses feature maroon as the favorite color. Dotted swiss is trimmed with rick rack braid, and linen lace frocks boast small bolero jackets.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church of Moody and were conducted by the Reverend A. Loper of Gatesville, her former pastor, and Reverend C. A. Morton of Gatesville, and Reverend J. W. Hiser. Her favorite hymns, "Asleep in Jesus," and "The Haven of Rest," were sung by the choir. Interment was made in the Moody Cemetery with Denny & Witt undertakers in charge.

Pallbearers were C. C. Welch, J. C. Perryman, W. J. Ritchie, H. A. Collois, Fate Nelson, and John Linder.

Flower girls, Francis McKamie, Ruth Hill, Doris Jones, Myrtle Neale, Francis Collins, and Addell Collins.

Out of town people present for the funeral were Mrs. Fannie Technor of Dallas, Mrs. J. E. Sadler, Mrs. W. A. Holt, of Haskell; Lemora Sadler, Weibert; Mrs. Ed Ferrill, Mrs. Elgar M. Ferrill, Oglesby; Mrs. Dr. M. W. Lowrey, Mrs. Edgar Franks, Gatesville; Mr and Mrs. Jerry Keyton, Miss Lula and A. P. Willis, W. O. Hill, Dr. L. F. Naylor, Waco; Mrs. John Davis, and sons, Homer and Jay, Speegleville; Arnold Bailey, H. E. Hackney, Mrs. Owen Reed, McGregor; Miss Eurhene Taylor, Mrs. C. H. Martin, Hamilton; Mr. Will Talley, and F. A. Thomson, Temple.

CHECK YOUR HOME

First signs of decay may already be apparent on your home—a leaking roof, point-thirsty surfaces, sagging doors, rusted sheet metal. All these things, unless remedied at once, mean a rapid accumulation of expenses.

1. Are the floors sound? The building may not be as solid and sound as it should be. Perhaps floors need reinforcing—new posts and piers. Plaster on the underside will make them fire resisting.

2. Leaky foundation walls make cellars damp and increase your fuel bill. Waterproofing properly applied will help.

3. Are your basement stairs safe? firm railings and treads plus well placed lights and switches will help prevent any floor accidents.

4. How about floor foundations? Rot and termites work quietly, without your knowledge. A checkup by an expert might disclose vital wood portions of your home that need to be treated, repaired or replaced.

5. Is your basement just wasted space? Plaster, wall-board, paint or new windows can convert those unused areas into a recreation and play room, laundry, garage or workshop. A concrete floor might increase the basement's usefulness.

6. How about wood trim, window and door frames, cornices? These are the spots constantly exposed to hard wear from weather.

The History of Coryell County

By FRANK E. SIMMONS

Authorized by County Commissioners, as Official History for Texas Centennial Celebration.

LAYING CORNERSTONE OF PRESENT COURTHOUSE

Writing a County history in as condensed form as this has necessarily demanded, it has been no little task to separate the outstanding facts and events from a mass of less important matter; and finding the right place to close is a question of uncertainty. The reading of this book will revive the memories of many old timers who will be able to contribute important facts and material to the future author who may undertake to revise or rewrite the county history in its final form.

Receiving information from so many sources, and the delay as has often been the case, is a reason for the presentation of chapters in a seemingly disconnected order.

Before giving you this last chapter, an account of the cornerstone laying of the present courthouse, we wish to quote a few words of approval of our efforts received from three distinguished native-born, former Coryell County citizens:

JOE SAPPINGTON writes the author: "Just a word about your literary contributions, Frank. The time will come when your writings on pioneer days in Coryell and adjacent counties will be reproduced by the press of those sections, not alone for the engaging manner in which they are written, but for their historical value."

H. W. COUSINS, Excerps from a letter from H. W. Cousins, publisher of the Southern Pharmaceutical Journal, Dallas: "You have undertaken a big job and you are doing it right. I regret that you have to be so brief in your treatment of the subjects concerned in this history of the county."

HON. PAT M. NEFF, Former Governor Pat M. Neff, president of Baylor University, Waco, writes: "This is to thank you for your splendid write-up of Mother Neff Park and its historic setting. Your article was read with genuine interest. I shall keep your article in my files."

As stated in a preceding chapter in this history, Coryell County is now using its third courthouse building. The first was a wooden structure located on the corner lot where the City Filling Station now stands. It was erected soon after the county was organized and was used until 1872, when the cornerstone laying of the second courthouse took place. The second was a rock structure that served its purpose for twenty-five years, and stood in the public square now occupied by our present substantial county capitol.

In the summer of 1897 work of tearing down the old building was started and three months later, October 2, 1897, the cornerstone of the present building was cemented in its place in the northeast corner, under the impressive ceremonies of the Masonic fraternity. We quote here from an account printed in a local newspaper published at that time:

"Last Saturday Gatesville Lodge No. 197, A. F. & A. M., laid the cornerstone of the new courthouse with the beautiful and ancient Masonic ceremony, assisted by members from all the other Lodges in the county. There were thousands of people assembled from all parts of this and adjoining counties to witness the ceremony. A large platform had been erected at the northeast corner of the foundation, a part of which was occupied with a tent cloth to serve as a stand for the speaker and musicians. Mrs. Shadden's orchestra, composed of herself, Mrs. O. F. Wells, Misses Shadden and Wells, Messrs. Fagg, Voss, and Baker, rendered sweet music so soothing and soft that one almost imagined himself in some enchanted clime.

"At two o'clock the Masons formed their line of march at the southwest corner of the square and proceeded two blocks east on Leon street, thence one block north to Main, thence west to the platform. Rev. Sam Waddill opened the services with a beautiful and appropriate prayer, after which the orchestra rendered another beautiful selection. Past Grand Master Norton Moses then delivered an address, explaining the ancient custom and treating somewhat of the grand principles upon which Masonry was founded, closing with a eulogy on woman that was sublime.

"After the address, the large, grey granite stone from Granite Mountain, which was suspended by block-and-tackle immediately above the spot where it was to rest, was lowered to its resting place as the ritualistic ceremony proceeded in solemn and impressive manner.

"The stone is of blue-grey granite, weighing 1825

LOCALS WIN FROM MCGREGOR SOFTBALL TEAM

Doc's Sandwich team with the addition of Patterson and Ray of the Firemen beat McGregor Friday night 14-8.

The locals found the lights and the pitcher to their liking and had a big night. The McGregor crew presented a good team but couldn't match the batting power of the winners. Sloppy fielding on the part of the McGregor infield hurt their chances also.

Baker of McGregor caught hold of one of Blanton's fast pitches and slammed it half way to Bosque county, scoring two mates ahead of him. The ball sailed high and far over the left field wall with room to spare. Franks, Ray and Jones did some heavy hitting for the locals.

The two teams plan to meet again in a couple of weeks.

Softball

Thursday night the Reds won over the whites in the first game 5-1. The winners tallied their total all in one inning after which both teams settled down to play tight defensive ball.

In the second game Doc's won over Rutherford's crew 22-6. Bugs pitcher was absent so he himself worked in the box. The losers at one time went ahead by a 5-4 count but this seemed to irritate the hash slingers who came to bat the next inning and for awhile appeared as if they intended to remain there the rest of the night. The heat with the loose play of the lousy hitting of the winners coupled with the loose play of the losers field ran the total up to its high mark. Red Jones hit a long homer for Doc's crew.

Wednesday night's schedule: Whites vs. Rutherfords, and Merchants vs. Doc's.

Thursday night's schedule: Whites vs. Fireboys, and Reds vs. Rutherfords.

FEDERAL HOUSING ADMINISTRATION INSURES HOUSING NOTES

San Antonio, June 22.—Federal Housing Administration had insured 28 modernization notes, valued at $11,402 in Coryell county through April 30, 1936. It was announced today by H. P. Drought, state director of the National Emergency Council for Texas. For the entire state, 33,829 modernization notes valued at $11,108,322.16 had been insured.

By insured, means the government insures the payments of loans made by loan companies.

The agency had accepted 2 mortgages, value at $4,200 for insurance in this county as of March 31, 1936. Drought reported. For the state, Federal Housing Administration had accepted for insurance 2,353 mortgages amounting to $8,591,815.

It was estimated that through the Federal Housing Administration some 30,000 Texas property owners have been enabled to obtain loans required to repair, improve or modernize their property while more than 2,000 families have been enabled to finance the building or purchase of homes.

give Tom Hunter a try after two unsuccessful races? What about Ferguson and his candidate, Sandford? Has Fiscner a chance? These and other innumerable questions we will attempt to answer as the campaign progresses, but none can of course be answered with certainty until after the election returns come in after the balloting of July 25.

With the campaign just warming up, it looks like a two-horse race between Hunter and Allred. Pierce Brooks of Dallas is out of the running, and as it looks today, Fischer and Sandford are also.

Jimmie Allred proved two years ago that he could hold his own on the stump with any and all speakers. He has, during his tenure of office, worked diligently for the success of the Centennial, but his frequent excursions from Austin to other Texas cities and to points outside the State have been subjected to vigorous criticism. Likewise his refusal to call a special session of the Legislature to reach a final decision on the old-age pension problem, has been criticised.

Two years ago Tom Hunter was conceded by observers to have had the race won until a week or ten days before the second primary. At this time the Wichita Falls man gave out of money and other factors entered into the contest to give the attorney General the nomination. Tom Hunter has in his two campaigns for the governorship made thousands of loyal friends but to what extent they will respond this year we do not know.

Roy Sandford is the Ferguson candidate and makes no bones about it. His importance as a factor in the race is open to question, as twice before James E. Ferguson has failed

STUMPIN' THE STATE

Two years ago only 426 votes over a million were cast in the governor's race. Although the State has a potential vote of 1,240,000 this year, only about 1,200,000 votes will be cast in the most popular state race—that for governor—on the basis of the total vote cast in other years. About 150,000 eligible to vote do not take advantage of their privilege each election year. If 1,200,000 votes are cast for governor, a candidate polling 600,000 votes in the first primary can win the nomination. With five candidates in the field this seems unlikely, as the highest total in the first primary of 1924, with six aspirants, was only 300,000.

The 1,000,000 votes cast in the first primary of 1924 were distributed as follows: Allred, 298,000; Hunter, 243,000; McDonald, 207,000; Small, 125,000; Witt, 62,000; Huges, 58,000.

These figures are of particular interest this year because the run off candidates of that year—Allred and Hunter—and a Ferguson candidate are again candidates for the office.

Just what changes in voting sentiment have occurred since 1934 it is difficult to ascertain. Has Allred lost strength as his opponents maintain? Is there really dissatisfaction among the Allred supporters? Are the voters of the State willing to stumpin the state to deliver his "pistol-pocket-vote" to his choice for the nomination. In 1928 Dan Moody gave L. J. Wardlaw, Ferguson's candidate, a sound beating in the first primary, 442,000 to 245,000. Two years ago C. C. McDonald, bearing the toga of support from Ferguson, ran third with Hunter and Allred several thousand votes ahead.

McDonald as a campaigner, was not comparable to either Allred or Hunter but Senator Sanderford is also a doubtful quantity as a vote-getter. Last time for Ferguson should have realized that he must put up a man who can conduct a whirlwind campaign on a par with Allred, Hunter, and some other recent candidates to even enter the second primary. No longer is the Ferguson bloc support large enough to put the favored candidate into the runoff. He must win votes in his own merit in addition to the support delivered to him by Jim Ferguson.
The sanity and common sense of Texas voters is conclusively demonstrated by the fact that Townsendites, Coughlinites, and other "ites" and "isms" with economically preposterous schemes for the salvation of the country have gained little support while in other states their numbers have reached threatening proportions, politically speaking.
F. W. Fischer of Tyler wants to pay old age pensions and lift the ad valorem taxes from real estate by a tax on natural resources. Over $100,000,000 a year can be raised by taxes on oil, gas, sulphur, and the like, claims the Tyler candidate. Just why this has not been done before is not explained. Perhaps Governors of by-gone days remember the experience of Huey Long had in Louisiana when he proposed to make the oil companies pay for the hundreds of miles of concrete roads he was laying down. Standard Oil of New Jersey, with hundreds of millions of dollars invested in Louisiana shut down several refineries and threatened to transfer its properties to another state where there were no taxes levied on oil. No, whether Standard really meant what it said we do not know, but we do know that Huey Long, who usually got what he wanted in Louisiana, mentioned no more taxing the Louisiana properties of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

"With the immense crowd in town, everything was very orderly. During the whole day, splendid order was maintained by the great throng of sightseers, and all in all it was a day that will remain fresh and green in the memory of our people.

The Deposits.

"The deposits in the cornerstone were many, and as follows: H. M. Barnhardt, a Honduran dime; Ben Newland, a metal tablet showing the taxable values of the county; S. A. Chambers, a photo of the old courthouse; T. W. Kirkland, two boxes of medicine; Dr. U. M. Gilder, a box of pills; Mort Suggs, newspaper clipping; W. A. McBeth, a vial of Sodom salt; S. B. Hawkins, occupation tax receipt; J. C. Gouldy, copy of Dallas Morning News of Oct. 1, 1897; James Stewart, half penny Sterling; M. L. Ayres, 1897 five-cent piece; Fordyce Woodard, 1884 three-cent piece; Wm. Rose, a bottle of whiskey; D. R. Hall, copy of the Gatesville Sun, Dec. 20, 1873, and copy of Gatesville Star, Sept. 20, 1897; W. E. Brown, a thought; W. H. W. Jones, U. S. 25-cent treasury certificate; Owen Fauntleroy, a thought; Y. S. Jenkins, city and county statistics; Miss Felicia McVey, a list of W. C. T. U. officers, etc.; A. J. Newton, a note congratulating the county on the new courthouse; C. F. Caruth, a history of the Gatesville Water Supply Co.; Honeycutt & Jenkins, book of formulas; R. W. Bartin, copy of the Gatesville Messenger, Sept. 1, 1897; First National Bank, its card; T. D. Bone, bottle of whisky; Crow & Anderson, a memorandum book; A. Matthews, a key tag; Ed Wesson, a rock from Lebanon; J. W. Saunders, a Chinese mili (one-tenth of a cent); P. B. Barnes, photo of the old courthouse; Committee on arrangement, program of the day's entertainment; T. C. Taylor, Columbian half dollar, 1893; J. H. Arnold, Columbian half dollar, 1893; Joe Gage, memorandum for posterity; Mrs. Joe Gage, Primitive Baptist paper; Felix Boyd key tag; Masonic Lodge, Bible; Gatesville No. 197 A. F. & A. M., roster of membership; Unkonwn, 25-cent coin.

"The copper box in which the deposits were placed is eight inches square, and was made and sealed by M. C. Bigham, the tinner. It just fit the cavity in the rock and was a very neat piece of work. The salt deposited by Mr. McBeth was taken from near the Dead Sea. The bottle of brandy deposited by T. D. Bone was a part of the bottle placed in the old cornerstone of the old building when it was laid in 1872."

DRESSINGS GIVE PIQUANCY TO SUMMER SALADS

To vary your salad dressings is to give the salad bowl new tang and interest. Here are some familiar dressings in new versions and some that are unique:

MAYONNAISE

One-half teaspoon sugar, half teaspoon salt, half teaspoon of powdered mustard, 1-8 teaspoon paprika, 1 egg yolk, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup salad oil.

Mix the dry ingredients. Add the egg yolk and beat with rotary beater.

GOLDEN DRESSING FOR FRUIT SALAD

Fourth cup pineapple juice, 1-4 cup orange juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon dry mustard, pinch cayenne, 2 eggs, 1-3 cup sugar.

Scald the fruit juices, salt, mustard and cayenne in a double boiler. Beat egg yolks until light, adding gradually half the sugar. Add the fruit mixture to the egg yolks, whipping constantly until very foamy. Return to double boiler and cook over hot water until thickened, stirring constantly. Beat egg whites until stiff, fold in rest of sugar. Then add yolk mixture, beating until thoroughly blended. Chill thoroughly before serving.

ONE MINUTE LEMON MAYONNAISE

Put in pint jar 1-2 cup of lemon juice, 1-2 cup sweetened condensed milk, 1-2 cup salad oil, 1 egg yolk unbeaten, 1 teaspoon salt. Fasten jar top tightly and shake vigorously for a minute. Makes 1½ cups.

CHIFFONADE DRESSING

To 3-4 cup well seasoned French dressing add the following: 2 tablespoons each of finely chopped parsley and red pepper, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, 1 hard cooked egg chopped, and 1-4 cup chopped cooked beets. Let stand in refrigerator for an hour or longer—long enough for flavors to become blended with the dressing. Mix well before serving.

GATESVILLE, TEXAS, TUESDAY, JUNE 23, 1936

the MODERN Bride

Miss Virginia Worthy Bride of C. E. Alvis In Ceremony at Roscoe

"County Attorney robs local School." That should be the headline for Coryell County papers this week. Maybe it should be "School Teacher Robs County of Attorney."

Anyway, here's the story of how it all came about.

Before an improvised altar of baskets of pink gladioli and roses before the fireplay in the of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Worthy of Roscoe, Miss Virginia Worthy, their daughter, became the bride of C. E. Alvis Jr. of Gatesville at 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning, June 21. The Reverend James Easterwood officiated.

Music for the occasion was given by Miss Mamie Heizer, who played the wedding march from Lohengrin. Mrs. F. J. Gibson of Big Spring sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly." During the reading of the single ring ceremony, Miss Mamie Heizer played Traumeri.

The bride, Miss Worthy, entered with her father, E. J. Worthy, and was given in marriage by him. Accompanying the groom as Best Man was Mr. Jap Arnold of Houston.

Miss Worthy's wedding ensemble consisted of navy blue sheen tulle, trimmed with real lace. Her accessories were navy blue and she carried an arm bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Miss Worthy was a popular member of the younger set, graduated from Roscoe High School with honors in 1930, where she was prominent in debating and dramatics. She later took her degree from Hardin-Simmons University in 1934, where she was president of Oratorical and Debating Club, president of the Scholarship Society and was the Junior class Beauty Queen. For the past two years, she has been head of the English Department of the Gatesville High School.

Mr. Alvis, one of the popular young bachelors of the county, attended Southwestern University at Georgetown and the University of Texas, receiving his A. B. and LL. B. degrees at the University in 1933. He was a member of the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. He is now County Attorney of this County and has been practicing law since he completed his work in the university.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvis left immediately after the ceremony for a honeymoon trip, destination unknown.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Alvis, mother and father of the groom, Supt. and Mrs. Frank L. Williams, Miss

JUNE, AND JUNE BRIDES

It's with us again, June, and all the hopes and aspirations that go with June--and its Brides!

Brides, since time immemorial, have been an emblem of purity and nobleness. Such is June and its Brides!

This is a month of brides, especially here in Coryell County, where the outbreak seems to be nothing short of an epidemic. Radio crooners may be the reason, soft moonlight, warm nights, cool (?) evenings, or even Leap Year, we wouldn't say just what the reason is. One other might be, that the depression is over. Quen Sabe

Here, let us pause, to wish each and everyone, who has set out on this "Sea of Matrimony," a bon voyage, a life of lingering happiness, success, and pleasure, even though those who "are already in trouble" have repeatedly discouraged and advised, in their own fatherly- and motherly-way, against it.

So, in the place of something better, we can't do less than bid each and everyone of them a "bon voyage!"

Dr. Ellsworth Lowrey Miss Alene Langston Married in Fort Worth

A love attachment started in the Gatesville High School a few years ago was consummated Sunday morning at 6:30 o'clock in the marriage of Dr. Ellsworth Lowrey of Gatesville and Miss Alene Langston solemnized at the Fort Worth Arlington Heights Methodist Church, with Rev Roy A. Langston, pastor and father of the bride, officiating.

Baskets of pink gladioli added

Ernestine Durham, Miss Wilhelm Kropscott of Beaumont, Miss Allie Eakin of Sweetwater, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jackson of Sweetwater, Miss Corrina Green of Duncan, Oklahoma, Miss Wjlla B. Sloan and Miss Mary E. Head of Abilene.

color to the palm-banked altar, lighted by cathedral tapers in wroughtiron candelabra.

Miss Mamie Sue Halbrook of Gatesville, cousin of the bridegroom, played the organ prelude, "On Wings of Song," and accompanied Miss Margaret Elder of Arlington who sang "At Dawning," as the pre-nuptial solo, and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," during the ceremony. Miss Halbrook played the wedding marches from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn.

The ushers, Messrs. David Franks of Gatesville and Roy Hartwell of Dallas entered first and lighted the tapers. The groom and his best man, Mr. Wendell Lowrey, his brother, came next, followed by Mrs. James Edward McClellan, cousin of the bride, then Miss Elder, the maid of honor. Mrs. McClellan wore an embroidered net frock of aquamarine blue with a white picture hat and other accessories of white, and carried an arm bouquet of Supreme roses. Miss Elder was gowned in yellow lace with a matching picture hat and accessories, with a bouquet of daisies.

The flower girl, little Blanche Banner, wore an embroidered frock of green chiffon with a wreath of fever few and pink roses in her hair.

The bride, entering on the arm of her brother, Mr. Hal Langston, wore an afternoon frock of French open crochet in pink with which she wore a picture hat of baby blue and all blue accessories. Her arm bouquet combined white sweetheart roses with lilies-of-the-valley.

Moon-Struck Mat Makes Mildred Masterly Mate; Matter Marvelous Move

People around the square will miss that familiar tune, "Have you seen your morning News?" as Mat W. Jones, Ye Editor of the News, has departed for points south after taking that deep plunge Sunday morning, (we were really getting worried) in that swirling, rocking stormy sea of Holy Matrimony. Mr. Jones has been in a daze for several months, since his "find" across the street from the News office, (whatever we tell now holds good until he returns, then the say of the sub-ed. will be over). But when Mat returns from his "frolic" he will settle down to business again and improve the news columns of this "rag."

Seriously, though, we mean that Miss Mildred Graves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Graves of this city became the bride of W. Mat Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis M. Jones, in a quiet single ring ceremony at the home of the bride's parents Sunday morning at 7:30 o'clock, with Reverend Clarence A. Morton, pastor of the First Baptist Church, reading the marriage vows.

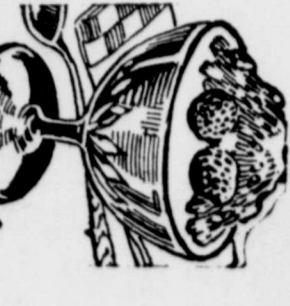

The bride wore a navy blue tuckered chiffon suit with accessories to match. For her flowers Miss Graves had a lovely corsage of lavender orchids and also lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Graves, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Graves, is a graduate of Gatesville High school of the class of 1930. In 1930, 1931, and 1932, Miss Graves attended the College of Industrial Arts at Denton where she specialized in the art of painting. Since leaving school she has been associated with her mother and father who operate a florist parlor in this city.

The Graves' home was lovely decorated with baskets of pink gladioli and fern for the occasion, at which only immediate members of the participating families and a few friends were present.

Mr. Jones also is a graduate of Gatesville High school of the class of 1922, and holds a B. B. A. degree from Baylor University, Waco. Since completing his schooling, he has worked with various oil companies principally, and in March 1935, in partnership with S. F. Bethel, purchased the Coryell County News from Mr. Ayres Compton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones left immediately after the ceremony for a short honeymoon trip to Corpus Christi, Alice and to Monterey, Mexico.

RULES FOR CHESS

First, Chess is played on a regular checker board. The men are placed on both sides of the board, (whites and blacks). Beginning at the first line of spaces, at the "slip corner" the men are placed on BOTH white and black spots as follows: Rook or Castle on first white spot in corner; then Knight or Horse on first black spot to first Rook; then Bishop on next white; King on next black; Queen on White; Bishop on black; Knight on white; Castle on black. The eight Pawns go immediately in front of this first line of men, on both the black and white spots. The other side of the board is set up the same, and the Queen is always on "color," or the white Queen on the white spot and the black Queen on the black spot.

In chess, men may be taken, not by leaning over them, is in checkers, but by occupying the space in which they stand.

MOVES: A pawn moves forward only, the first move being one or two squares; after the first move the pawn can move only one square. A pawn may take any man belonging to the enemy by moving one space diagonally to the square occupied by that man.

Knight has eight moves—two squares forward, and one square sideways in either direction; two squares backward and one square (in the same move) sideways in either direction; two to the left and one square either forward or backward; and 2 squares to the right and one square either forward or backward. As a knight may leap over any intervening man it is evident that he can remove a man of the enemy from any one of the eight spaces.

A bishop moves angularly any number of spaces forward or backward on the color on which it was originally placed.

The rooks move any number of spaces, as far as the line is clear either forward, backward or sideways.

The Queen has the moves both of bishops and rooks.

The King may move in any direction, one square at a time

(except in castling). Each king is permitted to castle one during the game. The player moves his rook to the square next the king, then leaps his king over the rook to the square on the other side.

A player is not compelled to take a man within reach; but may refuse, if to his own advantage. When the king is situated so that he can be taken at the next move by an adversary's man he is said to be "in check." If the player is unable to avoid the attack by taking the king to a place of safety, he is "checkmated," and loses the game. Any man properly situated may attack the opposing king. The king is also able to take any man of the enemy. If neither player is able to checkmate his opponent's king, the game is drawn.

It is not practicable to explain the rules of chess in a brief article, but a full explanation with illustrative games may be found in Hoyle's Book of Games.

RULES FOR CHECKERS

The game is played on squares of a single color. In the beginning the board is placed so that each player shall have a double or "slip" corner at his right hand, the same as chess.
The 12 men each player has are arranged in 3 rows so as to occupy the first three rows from the back of the board, men placed on the blacks only.

MOVES: The men may move either diagonally direction forward, or toward the opponent. When a man has penetrated the opponent's back line of men, or has moved to a spot on the opponent's back line, he has reached the "king row" and becomes a king. He should be crowned by a second "checker." This entitles him to also move backward.

JUMPS: Whenever a man finds an adversary on the next diagonal square with a vacant square beyond, he may jump over and take that man, thus removing him from the board. The object of the game is to remove the men of on's adversary from the board, or to block them so that they cannot move. When the number of men on each side has been so reduced that there is no hope of either player winning, the game is said to be drawn. Any number of onlookers may be present, but it is considered a want of etiquette to assist either player.

History of Checkers.

The origin of the game is buried in antiquity. It is an ancient game with the Chinese, and was well known to the Egyptians, Greeks, and Romans. A curious bit of sculpture on the wall of a chamber in ancient Thebes represents Rameses III playing a game of checkers with a goddess. The earliest description of the game in English is dated 1566.

History of Chess

The game is said to be of Hindu origin. It was played in Hindustan 5,000 years ago. The Arabs loaned the game from the Persians and introduced it into Spain and Western Europe.

The Story of GARY COOPER in "MR. DEEDS GOES TO TOWN" JEAN ARTHUR An adaptation of the screen version of Clarence Budington Kelland's story A COLUMBIA PICTURE A FRANK CAPRA PRODUCTION

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE: Longfellow Deeds, pride of Mandrake Falls, inherits twenty million dollars, goes to New York and stands the city on its ear with his eccentric behavior. He refuses to see newspaper reporters but Babe Bennett, pretty young newspaper woman meets him by pretending to be an unemployed secretary named Mary Dawson. It is Babe, who, unknown to Longfellow, writes the daily stories about him, calling him "The Cinderella Man". Longfellow falls in love with her and asks her to marry him. Babe has fallen in love with him, too, and is seeking desperately for some way to keep him from knowing who she is and what she has done to him. But "Corny" Cobb, hard-boiled ex-newspaperman and friend of Longfellow's, has him trailed and discloses the real identity of Mary Dawson. Disillusioned, Longfellow is preparing to return to Mandrake Falls when he conceives the idea of using his money to buy up farm land, split it into ten acre tracts and turn it over to unemployed farmers. He is proceeding with this plan when the lawyers who have been handling his late uncle's estate have him arrested on the grounds that he is insane and incapable of handling the estate.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY. Chapter Six

The court room where the Deeds insanity hearing was being held was packed to capacity as Attorney Cedar finished his opening address. Suddenly, Longfellow had refused to retain counsel to defend himself against the insanity charges. Babe Bennett was called as the first witness and sworn in. Deeds, slumped in his chair, did not look at her. Before Cedar could ask his first question Babe turned to the judge. "Your Honor," she protested, "this hearing is ridiculous. That man is no more insane than you are!" "Young lady," the judge admonished, "you're here to testify. Please confine yourself to answering questions! Proceed."

anything I took his words and twisted them around so they'd sound imbecilic. He can thank me for that! I banded the gang a grand laugh! "Certainly I wrote those articles. I was going to get a raise and a month's vacation. But I stopped writing them when I found out how real he was — when I discovered that he could never fit in with our distorted viewpoint because he was honest and sincere and good. If that man's crazy, Your Honor, the rest of us belong in strait jackets." Cedar was shouting now. "This is absurd, Your Honor. The woman is obviously in love with him." Babe turned on him savagely. "What's that got to do with it?" "You are in love with him, aren't you?" Cedar insisted. Even Longfellow Deeds watched her as she shouted her answer back at the lawyer. "Yes! Yes! Yes! I love him!" Longfellow slowly rose to his feet. "You Honor," he said quietly, "I'd like to get in my two cents' worth." The judge smiled. "Of course, Mr. Deeds. Go right ahead." "That was a pretty speech Mr. Cedar made about me," Longfellow began. "If I was an outsider I'd be sure the feller he was talkin' about was crazy. I guess that's what a good lawyer's supposed to do—make things look like what they're not. "About my tuba playin'. If a man's crazy just 'cause he plays the tuba, somebody better look into it, 'cause there are lots of tuba players runnin' around loose. I play mine when I want to concentrate. Most everybody does something silly when they're thinking. For instance, you're an O-filler. You fill in all the spaces in your o's with your pencil." The judge looked down at a paper in front of him to discover that all the O's and P's and R's had been filled in. "Now one of those articles said I chased after fire engines. Well, who doesn't? There were five hundred people that night doing the same thing. Besides, I'm captain of the Mandrake Falls volunteers so naturally I'm interested in fires and fire engines." Cedar rose and interrupted Longfellow's testimony. "Your Honor, this is becoming farcial. Let Mr. Deeds explain wandering around the streets in his underwear and feeding doughnuts to horses." Longfellow grinned. "Mr. Cedar's right, Judge," he agreed. "Those things kind of look bad, don't they? To tell the truth, Judge, I don't remember them. Oh, they must have happened all right. But I was drunk — first time I was ever drunk. It's probably happened to you, too, Judge. I mean when you were younger, of course." "About the Falkner sisters. Mind if I talk to them Judge?" "Go right ahead," the Judge smiled. "Jane, who owns the house you live in?" "Why, you do, Longfellow." "Do you pay any rent?" "Good heavens, no!" "Do you still think I'm pixilated?" "Oh, yes. You've always been pixilated, Longfellow." "Who else in Mandrake Falls is pixilated?" "Why, everybody — except Amy and me." "Just one more question, Jane. The Judge here is a nice man, isn't he?" "Yes, seems to be." "Do you think he's pixilated?" "Yes, indeedy."

THE END.

Percy Metcalfe, distinguished medalist and designer of Irish Free State coinage, has just completed 24 huge modernistic animal figures for an amusement park in Blackpool, England, and the beasts will parade around a massive Noah's Ark.

GARDENS AND ORCHARDS FOR HOME USE

Under the non-interpretative title of "program planning project," men and women in the rural communities of Texas have been meeting during the last six months an analyzing land use customs on Texas farms and ranches. The object of this work which was inaugurated by the Extension Service, is to start a flow of live information from the farm to the Department of Agriculture, and the method was for small groups of neighbors to meet and, using prepared schedules, may their own and the whole community's land use.

Two hundred and four counties having been engaged in this work, 70 of these counties made out schedule seven which had to do with gardens, orchards and sweet potatoes, all for home use.

Figures compiled for the state from these 70 counties are very revealing: 31,649 acres more of orchards are needed in these 70 counties to supply fruit for the home tables; 20,716 more acres of garden are needed in these 70 counties to supply vegetables for home use; and 6,123 acres more of sweet potatoes are needed by the families in these 70 counties.

In releasing these figures which he has assembled from the county reports, George E. Adams, assistant state agent, who has had charge of this project comments: "These are not the findings of county agricultural agents, but of the men and women who themselves live on Texas farms and ranches. Having come to the conclusion that they need this additional acreage in food for home consumption, it is logical to expect that 1936 will see a considerable increase in home gardens and orchards."

NEW ADMINISTRATOR OF AAA WILL SPEAK AT FARMERS SHORT COURSE

College Station.—H. R. Tolley, newly appointed administrator of the AAA, will speak Friday, July 24, on "Phases of the Agricultural Conservation Program" at the Centennial Year Farmers' Short Course to be held at the A. and M. College July 20 to July 24.

Tolley, who was formerly assistant to the administrator, Chester C. Davis, and also director of the Program Planning Division, directed much of the development of the regional and land-use plans which are now being utilized in working out the Agricultural Conservation Program. He was born on a farm in Howard County, Indiana, and taught country schools for several years following his graduation from Indiana University.

Also at the Farmers' Short Course again this year will be the three day meeting of the Texas Institute for Cooperatives, starting Monday and running through Wednesday. The program is based around topics relating to effective organization and management.

Some of the outstanding men to appear on this program are E. E. Scholl, director of Extension from Oklahoma A. and M. College; Sterling Evans, president of the Houston Bank for Cooperatives; C. F. Huff, president of the Farmers; National Grain Corporation, Chicago; Harold Hodges and V. N. Valgren, both from the Farm Credit Administration, U. S. D. A., Washington, D. C.; and Maurice R. Cooper, agricultural economist from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. D. A.

THIS WEEK IN TEXAS HISTORY

Week of June 21 1832—On the morning of June 25 the Texans approached
