Doolittle Does Much in Dogie Debacle Doubly Daringly Delightful

Doolittle's at it again! Puttin' on the best rodeo this side of Fort Worth, in the usual Doolittle manner, the leather and horsehair fans, and who isn't in Texas, will gather en masse, when "The Shokus is On" at the cool rodeatorium at The Grove, July 21 and 22.

Plans are rapidly underway for the presentation of Doolittle's annual spectacular celebration, which has made The Grove famous for the past six years. Performances are to be staged at 2 p. m. each day.

The rodeo is an annual affair and probably the biggest sponsored, by a town its size. Fans that have attended this show before say that it contains more action than any other rodeo they have as yet seen. To them it is known as "Where the Old West is Reenacted."

The same horses that were used at the Fat Stock Show have been contracted for. Brahma trees and roping calves are to be secured by the promoter this week.

All roads leading out of The Grove have been graveled in the past months and are now passable in any kind of weather.

MAYOR GANDY NAMES JULY 13 TO 18 RAILROAD WEEK

Appreciating the services performed by the American Railway Systems, and particularly the St. Louis-Southwestern Railway Company, to both America and to our own individual County, I. C. E. Gandy, Mayor of the City of Gatesville, do hereby proclaim the week of July 13 to 18, Railroad Week.

The great railroad systems which officially comprise the Western Railways of America, the Pullman company and the Railway Express Agency, Inc., will focus public attention upon the great part of railroad transportation, both freight and passenger, has played in the life, development, progress and happiness of the people of this country.

Enhanced by the fact that in 1935 only one life was lost in over 446,000,000 passengers handled by railroads, we should recognize the fact that the railroads are crusaders to the cause of safety, and the conservation of life and property.

For these reasons, I deem it my privilege and duty to proclaim this week Railroad Week. (Signed) C. E. GANDY, Mayor of Gatesville.

Prizes in Limerick Test Will Be Announced Fri, Few Entries so Far

The News' Limerick Contest, which opened Tuesday morning is continuing with the second number appearing in today's paper.

As stated in last issue the contest is open to anyone, except employees of this paper. Entries are free.

Headlines in last week's issue stated a 7 weeks' contest. However, since it has been decided to run the Limerick advertisement each issue, the contest will close July 31, with the final decision of the Judges coming Friday, August 14.

Due to so many people being busy in the country, the Limerick contestants have been relatively rare, but with the slackening up of work, the publishers are expecting a great many entries. Time for the first Limerick published is 9:00 p. m. July 16, so there is still plenty of time on the first one.

WPA OFFICIALS ENJOY FISH FRY AND SUPPER

A number of WPA officials, including some of the district officers out of Waco as well as local superintendents of projects now going on this county, met at the McKinney farm on the Leon River Friday night and enjoyed a fish fry and supper, with plenty of fresh fish to eat.

District officials out of Waco were Dad A. Davis, Mr. Sandford, and Mr. Neal. Local superintendents were Charles Livingston, Donald McKinney, Bub Berry, Cohen Ritcherson, and C. W. Dockeray.

This being National Railroad Week, W. J. McWilliams, local agent for the St. Louis-Southwestern Railway Company, which operates thru Gatesville, was kind enough to give us a list of employees and their positions and the extent of the investment the Cotton Belt has in this county.

Included in those employed in Gatesville by the Cotton Belt besides Agent McWilliams, are B. S. S. Cook, cashier; W. H. Satterfield, shop foreman; Jesse Davenport, porter; Homer and Clifford Clemons, deliverymen.

Mr. McWilliams also stated that the Cotton Belt has in this county 43 miles of main line track. Eighteen men are regularly employed besides several part time men. The length of service to the company begins with about five years and the oldest one has 27 years to his credit.

As to taxes paid here, Mr. McWilliams stated the city, county and state taxes paid last year amounted to $5,836.28, and salaries brought pay roll of something around $20,000.00 annually.

The Western Association of Railway Executives, who have designated this week have arranged special services in many towns and communities, and the total of this association's people affected numbers 750,000, who have developed western railroads into the safest, fastest, most comfortable and least expensive land transportation the world has ever known.

NO SUBSTITUTE FOR RAILROADS

This is "National Railroad Week," July 13 to 18, and according to Alfred E. Smith, "There will never come a time when railroads and their equipment are not necessary to the commerce of the nation."

There probably would never have been much Gatesville had there not been a St. Louis-Southwestern Railroad. Not only this railroad, but every railroad has been and is one of the chief factors in establishing towns. Look at the many where the country is sparsely settled. A railroad runs thru, and there are towns and cities where, if you investigate, there is no plausible reason for them. Railroad did it.

The growth of other forms of transport has served to emphasize, rather than dim, the service performed by the railroads. The truck systems perform a valuable service in certain fields, but when it comes to mass hauling the rail lines are preeminent. Busses likewise are transportation asset, but the average traveler has a growing appreciation of the speed, comfort and safety of the railway train. Airplanes have an important place in the transportation scheme—but they certainly do not replace rail service.

It is an interesting fact that we hear less than we did a few years ago to the effect that the railroads are out of date, and are approaching oblivion. The truth is that they were never more essential to the public. And they were never more progressive. The improvement that has been made during the last decade in bettering road beds, adding to the comfort of passenger trains, speeding up both freight and passenger schedules, reducing accidents and damage to freight, and so on, is nothing short of "revolutionary."

Railroads had been an "epic" in the past history of the United States, and the epic is even now unfolding faster and more fully than ever before, and in consideration of this "rejuvenation," it is our opinion that the railroads are going to accomplish miracles during the next few decades.

During Railroad Week, this Centennial Year, we pay our respects to one of the real pioneers of the past, and again, one of the greatest pioneering agencies of the future, The American Railway Systems!

WORLD COMMENT

By JOE BURNS

Not discouraging to Texas Republicans was the overwhelming defeat of Hoover by Roosevelt in 1932 or the sound beating administered D. E. Waggoner by Jimmie Allred two years ago. State leaders of the G. O. P. brought back from Cleveland some of the enthusiasm engendered by the Landon campaign managers and are preparing for a fight in this state that will rival in intensity that of 1928 when adversion to the religion of the Democratic nominee helped the G. O. P. carry Texas.

Hoover, Landon, Hamilton, and Knox will be invited to speak at some time before the fall election. Hoover has been asked to speak at the Cotton Bowl at the Centennial August 12. The former President is seriously considering an invitation to speak in San Antonio before the State Republican Convention which meets there Aug. 10 to nominate candidates.

John W. Philp of Dallas State Republican director of organization, promises a visit by Governor Landon if there is any indication of carrying Texas. Colonel Knox is almost sure to visit the State in the fall for at least one address, according to Philp, and John Hamilton, Republican National Chairman, will make a visit also, as he has indicated he will speak in every state.

The Republicans have little chance of carrying the State this year, if for no other reason than that loyal Texas Democrats will go to the polls to endorse John Nance Garner, Democratic vice presidential candidate. Roosevelt would probably carry Texas if Garner were not on the ticket. Four years ago the majority of Roosevelt over Hoover was 662,000 but the Republican was as elsewhere below the average. In this state it was the smallest total amassed by a Republican presidential candidate since 1916, when Charles Evvan Hughes polled 64,000 votes. Wilson's majority over Hughes in the State that year was only 222,000, however. In the three national elections following 1916, the totals in Texas ran like this: 1920,

Fort Worth, July 13.—The stirring and colorful story of the development of agricultural pursuits in west Texas will be told graphically at the Texas Frontier Centennial celebration opening here July 18, in a display being arranged by the west Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Interesting feature of the exhibit will be the display of ore than 400 branding irons which has been loaned to the show by A. C. Williams, president of the Federal Land Bank at Houston.

Lets Talk about Clothes

TEXAS STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN (CIA)

Denton, July 13.—Black and white retains top billing in the season's fashion revue. Smart young women about town have found that nothing looks cooler, crisper, and generally more fetching on hot days than the clean cut contrast of this combination.

Black linen is one of the best bets of the season. It's featured in suits and simple tailored frocks with starchy white accessories.

The classic black linen suit depends for its effectiveness on careful tailoring, perfect fit, and spotless accessories. It's grand with a chalk-white blouse, one of those crownless, washable white linen or pique hats, with white gloves, bag and shoes. The black linen shirtwaist dress fastens all the way down the front with big white pearl buttons. It has short sleeves slightly puffed, and dramatizes the whole effect with a white patent belt.

For more dressy occasions, girls at Texas State College for Women suggest a white mossy crepe frock with a black yoke of the same weave. Three medium white patent buttons fasten the yoke up to the tiny collar, and a black and white woven belt gives further contrast. White ground prints with black motifs are also good for

If you happen to have a short sleeved black crepe dress left over from spring, you can turn it into a brand new summer costume by adding white accessories and one of those chalk-white swagger jackets of cool slippery sharkskin. LITTLE CANNING AT MOUNTAIN

"The dry weather and rains ruined our garden," said Mrs. Reuben Fry. "I have canned only 6 pints of English peas."

Mrs. Fry is the pantry demonstrator in the Mountain H D. club. She has been unable to follow her canning budget but she hopes to have a fall garden.

She is having good luck raising 400 white Leghorn baby chicks as she has only lost 16.

A blind student, Clifford M. Witcher from Atlanta, has been awarded a fellowship in engineering at Columbia.

World Comment—

Cox (Dem.) 288,000. Harding (Rep.) 114,000; 1924. Davis (Dem.) 484,000 Coolidge (Rep.) 130,000; 1928. Smith (Dem.) 341,000 Hoover (Rep.) 367,000. Hoover's official majority over Smith was 26,004.

The victory in 1928 which added Texas to the Republican column has given the State Republicans something for which to work and accounts for the zeal with which they intend to pursue their task of defeating Roosevelt this year.

Several Texas publications are supporting Landon, strange as that may seem. The East Texas publications of Carl Estes, including the Longview News, are "agin" the New Deal. In San Antonio the two papers of William R. Hearst, the News and Express, are pro-Landon and loudly denouncing Roosevelt, as are all the Hearst magazines and newspapers. The Light of San Antonio is also anti-Roosevelt.

The Republicans can probably stir up more enthusiasm for Landon for President than they can for their gubernatorial nominee. Not since A. J. Hamilton was named governor in Reconstruction days has this State had a Republican Governor.

Two years ago D. E. Waggoner, Republican gubernatorial nominee, polled less votes against James V. Allred than any G. O. P. candidate since 1912, when John W. Philp, the present State Republican director of organization, was the nominee. Philp polled 11,000 votes against James E. Ferguson, the Democratic nominee, who received 176,000. Waggoner's total was 13,000 to Allred's 421,000. Philp's proportionate vote in his race against Ferguson was larger than the vote of 1934, however.

The first State-wide Republican primary was held in 1926. It was occasioned by the 295,000 votes given Republican Geo. C. Butte in 1924 against Democratic Miriam A. Ferguson's 422,000. Any party which polls 100,000 votes or more in the general election must by law choose its nominees by a State-wide primary.

The greatest vote accorded Republican candidates for governor in this State have been when the Democratic nominee was a Ferguson. The vote of Butte against Mrs. Ferguson is illustrative and in 1932 when Mrs. Ferguson was again the nominee Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls, the Republican candidate, received 317,000 to Mrs. Ferguson's 528,000.

"Where Flour is Proved"

CINNAMON ROLLS

Four cups flour, 1 yeast cake, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup warm milk, 2 tablespoons of shortening melted, 1 tablespoon sugar.

Dissolve yeast cake in milk, then add sugar, shortening and salt. Mix and add the flour and knead. Roll out $\frac{1}{8}$ inch thick on slightly floured board. Sprinkle with sugar, cinnamon and raisins. Roll up like a jelly roll and cut in pieces about one inch thick. Place flat in greased pan and let rise 2 hours. Bake in slow oven until golden brown. When done and while hot, brush top with melted butter to which a little sugar has been added.

QUICK DINNER ROLLS

If bread is to be made quickly, two and sometimes three yeast cakes are used to a pint of liquid. Thus made the whole process need not take over three hours.

Two cups liquid, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 yeast cakes, 6 cups flour 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 tablespoon butter dissolved.

Dissolve yeast cakes and sugar in liquid—milk or water which should be luke warm, winter or summer. Add one-half the flour and beat well, then add butter, salt and remainder of flour (if this is not enough flour to make a moderately stiff dough, more flour should be added). Place in well greased bowl, cover and set in warm place to rise. Let rest until the dough has doubled in size, which should take about one and a half hours. Toss on floured dough board and mould into any desired shape. Either the round or creased oblong Dinner roll is very popular. The round Dinner roll is shaped by simply rolling the risen dough out with rolling pin to about one-half inch in thickness. Spread one-half with melted butter, fold the other end over and lightly press down with rolling pin, then cut out with sharp edged biscuit cutter. Dip cutter into melted butter each time before cutting, instead of into flour. Place in well greased pans and let rise again in warm place until double in size, and bake in hot oven. The crust should be delicately brown when done. The creased oblong Dinner roll is shaped by rolling out the risen sponge to one inch in thickness, cut out with large biscuits cutter, brushing one-half of each cut round with melted butter and folding the other side over, press together firmly, let rise and bake in same manner as round rolls.

SUMMER FOOD

Whatever superstitions you hold about summer diets and regardless of how you feel about eating less in hot weather, do not lose sight of the truth that the basic essentials for growing children remain unchanged. Milk in the same amount is needed. On a hot day nothing is more refreshing than a cool glass of milk or fruit juice. Remember, these should be drunk slowly, especially after work or play. The cool desserts like ice cream and custards are refreshing and healthful. Salads of vegetables of all kinds furnish certain food necessities. Emphasize the tomato.

When the child is less active than during cool weather, cut down on the meat, fish, bacon, and potato but only slightly. He is still growing, hence in need of building materials and energy. But don't reduce the milk, fruits, fresh vegetables, bread and butter, or the occasional egg. Allow him to drink all the cool water he wants, but prohibit fast drinking of ice water. As an extra precaution be sure that your ice is from a pure source. As a matter of fact it is well to go slow on ice water, favoring instead water that has been cooled.

BILL ALLEN

HAMILTON COUNTY CITIZENS INDORSE H. W. (Bill) ALLEN FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY, AND GIVE REASONS—

We, as citizens of Hamilton County, heartily indorse H. W. (Bill) Allen for District Attorney.

He is able and fearless and recognized as a good lawyer by all who know him. He holds a L.L.B. degree from the State University, earned in part by his own efforts. We know him to be of high moral character, having lived a clean life among us. He has the trust and confidence of the people who know him all his life. He is not "high hat," has time for the humblest citizens and tries to help them with their problems. He is clean in his law practice, not stooping to win cases by unfair means. He is firm in prosecutions, though not unreasonable and of the persecuting, overbearing type. He seeks to protect the innocent as well as prosecute the guilty. His policy to warn young boys who he knows to be bordering on crime, we commend most highly. We believe he has saved a number in our county from such mistakes. We believe in the principle that counties in a district, as well as individuals, should be good neighbors. Coryell County, which has always been a good neighbor, is conceded the election of District Judge for a four year term without opposition. We submit in all fairness one of the other counties should furnish the District Attorney.

Mr. Allen's Record in the number of Cases tried in his eight months in office and the relatively small number of acquittals, compares favorably with any District in Texas.

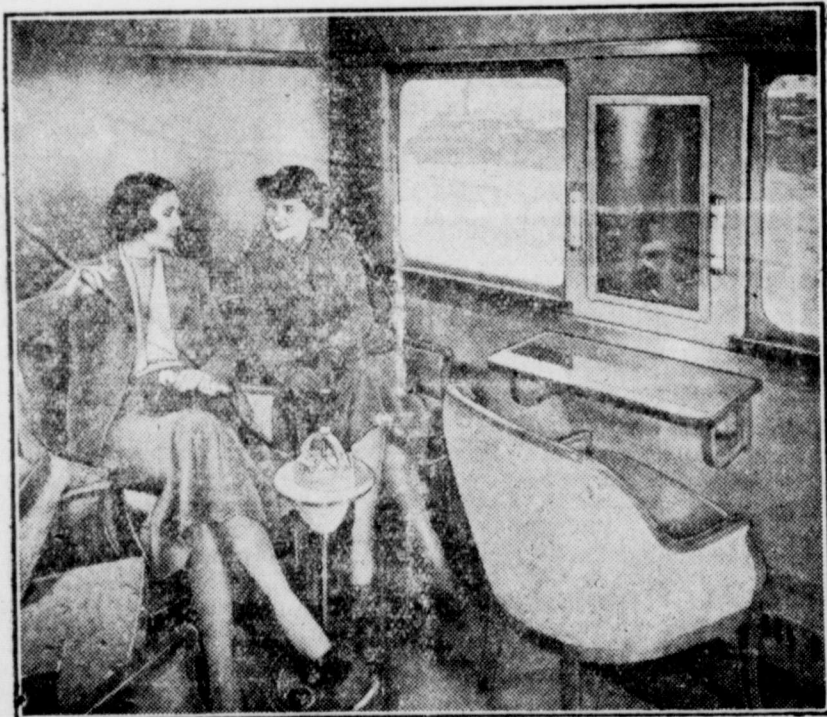

Any consideration shown him by the voters will be greatly appreciated by his Home County Friends.

Chair Car Smoking-room for Women

NOW the ladies are to have their own smoking-rooms on railroad trains. This attractive lounge, reserved exclusively for women, is an innovation in a light-weight, stainless steel chair car. The car, built for the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway by the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing Company, of Philadelphia, builder of the Burlington Zephyrs, weighs only half as much as a conventional Santa Fe chair car. The passengers are Misses Dorothy Boyer, left, and Marguerite Bradley, right, of Philadelphia.

Doc's to Play Waco Softball Crew To-Nite at 8:15

Tonight on the local diamond, Doc's Sandwich Shop softball team will meet the Calvary Baptist team of Waco.

The Baptist are one of the leading teams of the Waco Sunday School League, and the chances are that they will give the locals a good shelling.

Although the game is played on a poor night for a crowd, fans should be out in fair numbers any way, and those that do come will witness a good brand of softball.

The contest is scheduled to get underway at 8:15.

GOLF MEETING TO BE HELD SOON

Sometime soon, probably this week, a meeting of all golfers of the city will be held. The purpose of the meeting is to arrange some means whereby something can be done about the deplorable condition of the local course.

Active members are so few that Ben L. Sellers, who took over the course this year, is receiving barely enough to take care of the rent and it is up to the golfers themselves to lend their help to Mr. Sellers in an endeavor to keep the ball rolling.

All the divot diggers in town, whether you are playing now or haven't played in several years, are asked to be thinking it over and some one will notify you concerning the place and date of the proposed meeting.

DOC'S - FIREMEN TO PLAY FOR BLOOD

Starting last night the Fire-boys and Doc's Sandwich Shop play a three-game series this week to settle, once and for all, just whether or not the best team won the first half title.

As the Firemen have gone in the hole on the lights this year and as Doc Rutherford, sponsor of the sandwich crew, has been out quite a bit of coin on his team it was decided to charge five cents for each game. Fifty per cent of the gate will be deducted for the light fund while the other fifty per cent will go to the winning team. Should the Firemen win their fifty will go into their fund, while Doc's fifty be used as Mr. Rutherford sees fit.

The two teams, sports enemies at the best, should put on a real show. The first game was played last night and the second scheduled for Wednesday, and the third, if a third is necessary, coming up Thursday night.

Each team believes itself to be the better, while fans take side also. Be out to back your choice.

SEATTLE WINS OVER MOUND In GRUDGE GAME

Sunday afternoon in Seattle, Mound lost the grudge game in thirteen innings 4-5.

The game was all it was heralded to be and was witnessed by a fair sized crowd. Every run was closely contested which helped to keep the fans at fever pitch. The losers were behind 4-2 as the ninth inning got underway, but pushed across a couple of runs in this frame to tie the count. In the twelfth Mound came close to winning the old ball game when at home on a close play the runner was declared out.

Whigham and Barton hurled for Mound while Frye and Brown served them up for the winners.

MERCHANTS TO TANGLE WITH TURNERSVILLE WED.

On Wednesday evening the Merchants softball team will battle with a team from Turnersville. Several of the Merchants played on the team that went from here a week ago and suffered a defeat at the hands of this same Turnersville crew, so will be playing Wednesday night with a vengeance. Fans will witness two good games at this time and should turnout in goodly numbers. An admission price of 5c will be charged.

Soft ball

Although this is an off week for league playing, several games will be played with visiting teams and also an interesting series of games between the Firemen and Doc's hashlingers.

The series between the two league members cropped up out of the argument as to who really has the best team. Not only do the players of both teams argue the point but the fans as well. It was agreed that to settle the question and to make it more interesting a three-game series would be played with the winner taking all proceeds after money for lights was deducted. A small admission fee will be charged, probably a nickel, for the games as it is felt the fans will be assured of some fine entertainment.

European Railways Building Stainless Steel Trains

EUROPE is adopting the lightweight, stainless steel train developed in the United States. Shown here is one of 20 two-car units being built in France for the State Railway by a licensee of the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing Company, of Philadelphia, which pioneered the use of stainless steel in railway construction.

The French trains are similar in basic construction to the eight Budd-built Zephyrs of the Burlington Railroad, the Flying Yankee of the Boston and Maine, and the Super Chief which is being built for the Santa Fe.

Twelve two-car stainless steel trains like those of the French are being built for the Italian Railways by Piaggio and Co. in Genoa, another licensee of the American company.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR S. H. TUCKER WAS HELD SUNDAY, JULY 12

S. H. (Sam) Tucker, who has been confined to his bed for the past seven months, passed away Saturday morning, July 11, at 10:40 o'clock, at his home on East Bridge Street.

Mr. Tucker was born Sept. 23 1857 near Rusk, and was united in marriage to Miss Annie Tucker on Dec. 28, 1880. To this home were born eight children, six of whom live to survive their father's demise. Two sons, Ben and Homer Loyd died at an early age.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker have lived in Coryell County for the past 52 years and Mr. Tucker, a modest, unassuming citizen of Gatesville, was a genius for inventing, having invented a cotton chopper, and the Tucker plow, which was a combination that could be converted into a breaking plow, middle buster, or sweep and shovel. Mr. Tucker followed the trade of a blacksmith and woodworker, and was mechanical genius in the early days of the county.

Funeral services were held at the grave at the City Cemetery with Rev. M. M. Chunn officiating at the last rites, Sunday afternoon, July 12, at 4 o'clock.

Mr. Tucker is survived by his widow and six children: W. H. Tucker of Lockhart, Mrs. J. F. Mitchell of Sour Lake, Mrs. T. L. Williamson of Tom Ball, Mrs. G. S. Cole of Thompsons, Jack Tucker of San Antonio, and Mrs. Jack Horne of Gatesville; by 8 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Out of town people present were Mrs. F. P. Gage Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Smith, F. M. Fox, Mrs. J. F. Mitchell and daughter, Maxine, and Mrs. Frank Meek all of Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hawkins of Temple, A. L. Stahl of Beaumont; Mrs. T. L. Williamson of Tom Ball, Mrs. Cole of Lake Charles, La., Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Cole and daughter Bobbie of Thompsons.

"MADE IN AMERICA" SLOGAN DESIGNED TO PROMOTE AMERICAN BUSINESS

The made in America movement, which was launched in this country a few months ago by a group of prominent American citizens well-known in their respective fields, is a patriotic and welfare endeavor. It is distinctly non-partisan and non-profit as the officers are devoting their time and energy without expense to the treasury of the organization.

The aims and purposes are primarily to educate the American public and the American consumer to give greater preference to merchandise manufactured by American labor and products that are grown and produced on American farms.

Last year we imported more than eight hundred million dollars' worth of food products alone. It is not merely industry that is being injured through foreign imports. Imports of foreign merchandise increased 24 per cent last year, whereas, exports of our own products showed a scant increase of 7 per cent. Large quantities of hams, bacon, sausage, butter and dozens of other products of the farm are being imported.

The idea that we can sell more of our own products abroad if we buy more foreign goods is not working out that way.

Manufacturers are teaching their employees to give greater preference to merchandise having the Made in U. S. A. label, and also to the products of the American farm and in this manner help the American farmer. The farmer is also expected to cooperate by signing the pledge to give preference to the products of American factories.

FIRST ANNUAL REUNION OF EXPEDITIONARY FORCES HOLDING IN DALLAS

Major General B. B. Buck, National Chairman of the AEF Reunion Association, announces the First Annual Reunion of the American Expeditionary Forces in Dallas, September 3rd thru 13th, 1936, as a feature of the Texas Centennial. Every Division that served with the AEF will have separate Reunions and the Gobs that served on ships will have Ships Reunions. September 12th will be St. Mihiel Day and September 13th will be Pershing Day, a combined meeting of all the AEF Military and Naval forces being held on these last two days. Many splendid features are being planned for your entertainment, such as Company and Regimental Luncheons, Divisional banquets and dances, in addition to the hundreds of attractions on the grounds of the great Texas Centennial Exposition. The finest attraction of all however is the fact that you will meet that Buddy you went thru Hell with during the great War and relieve the many happy memories of the AEF when we shared a common danger in the Service of our beloved country. Thousands of the rank and file have already sent in Post Card registrations and we have letters from practically every Commanding General of the AEF.

So load up your gang, Buddy, let's all fight the War over again in our memories. Low rates on all Bus Lines and railroads.

TEXAS SIAMESE TWINS TO WED AT CENTENNIAL

Dallas, July 13.—Perhaps the strangest wedding ceremony ever performed will be solemnized at the Texas Centennial here on Saturday night, July 18, when Miss Violet Hilton, of the famous Texas Siamese twin Hiltons, will be wed to James Moore, of Cleveland, Ohio. The ceremony will take place in the Cotton Bowl and the public is invited to witness this strange wedding rite.

Refused licenses in many parts of the country, this young couple finally turned to Texas, the home of the bride, and County Clerk Ed Steger of Dallas County, could find no law to forbid his issuing a license to the couple. They sought the aid of the man who put them into vaudeville years ago for help in the ceremony—Terry Turner, who is associated with DuFour and Rogers in Warden Lawes Crime Prevention Exposition, who played them in vaudeville for years.

Violet and Daisy were born in England, but were raised in San Antonio, Texas, which they still claim as their home. They have recently completed a tour of Continental Europe.

Following the wedding ceremony, a complete stage show

WALLACE ANNOUNCES CONF. ON UP-STREAM FLOOD CONTROL

Problems of "up-stream" engineering in relation to flood control and land conservation will be discussed at a conference of experts from the United States and foreign countries in Washington, September 22 and 23, Secretary of Agriculture, Henry A. Wallace announced today.

The conference will be called Mr. Wallace stated, by a special committee appointed by President Roosevelt. Members of the committee are H. H. Bennett, Chief of the Soil Conservation Service, Morris L. Cooke, Administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration, and F. A. Silcox, Chief of the Forest Service.

In announcing the conference Mr. Wallace made public a letter from President Roosevelt pointing out the need for coordinating land use principles with existing knowledge of down-stream engineering methods in federal planning for flood control and land conservation. The President's letter follows:

"Up-stream engineering will have a major part in efforts to save the land and control floods, and for that reason it offers a broad field of opportunity for the engineering profession. I am therefore in hearty accord with your suggestion that there be held an open conference on the subject in the early fall. The date might well be in proximity to that of the Third World Power Conference in September, in the hope that some of the distinguished foreign engineers attending the latter may be interested also in contributing to the proposed conference.

There are indications that a substantial body of technical information on the control of little water is now available in the scattered records of American experience—Federal, State and professional. The urgent problem is to bring these data together into a coordinated body of engineering knowledge so that public officials and engineers may have a more definite picture of up-stream engineering as an important field of public and professional activity.

"There is a wealth of experience and data as to down-stream engineering and works required for navigation, power development and flood control—levees, large dams, great reservoirs and channel improvements on major streams. But necessary as these are for the safeguarding of those who live in areas subject to destructive floods and of property located therein, it must be remembered that down-stream waters originate largely in up-stream areas. The objects of up-stream engineering are through forestry and land management to keep water out of our streams, to control its action once in the stream and generally to retard the journey of the rain-drop to the sea. Thus the crests of down-stream floods are lowered.

"In accordance with your further suggestion I am appointing as a committee to organize and promote such a conference or institute: Hugh H. Bennett, Chief of the Soil Conservation Service, Department of Agriculture; Morris L. Cooke, Administrator of Rural Electrification Administration; and F. A. Silcox, Chief of the Forest Service, Department of Agriculture.

Importance of Farmer of Southwest in Manufacture of the Ford V-8 Told by Lecturers and in Murals

Industrialized Farm Exhibit at Ford Expo

In the Ford Exposition building, at the Texas Centennial in Dallas, Texas, murals as well as trained lecturers tell a complete story of how important the farmer of the Southwest is in the manufacture of the Ford V-8, the Lincoln-Zephyr and the Lincoln motor cars. The industrialized farm exhibit has proved to be of marked interest to the tens of thousands who throng into the Ford Exposition daily. The story of how the soy bean is utilized is told at the Ford Exposition and in the story below.

A fascinating development by the Ford Motor Company, the industrialized farm exhibit in the Ford building at the Texas Centennial in Dallas reveals how the Ford company uses products of the farm in manufacturing cars. One example is the utilization of the soy beans, a crop of the southwest.

Murals on the wall of the exhibit building tell in figures that the Ford Motor Company is a very good customer of agriculture. Machines on the floor demonstrate how soy beans are used. Henry Ford is among the foremost experimenters in the use of the soy bean and is constantly seeking to enlarge the number of parts of the Ford car which are made from either the oil or the meal.

In the exhibit is a small transparent model of the soy bean oil extractor developed by the Edison Institute, which is maintained by Mr. Ford at Dearborn, Michigan. Soy beans contain 20 per cent oil, 35 per cent protein, and 45 per cent carbohydrates. It is the protein that is converted into plastics.

The extractor crushes the beans into flakes and a solvent washes out the oil. The oil is then separated from the solvent by distillation. The oil is used in paint, enamel and as a bond in moulding sand cores.

The soy bean is used extensively in plastics. The exhibit shows how soy bean plastics are used in the manufacture of 41 different parts for the Ford car.

The soy bean will thrive in almost any kind of soil and is a prime builder of the soil. As a forage crop it has many enthusiastic advocates.

Mr. Ford foresees the time when it will no longer be necessary to denude the forests and deplete the mines for materials with which to build homes, offices, furniture and even automobile bodies. He believes that better materials can be grown on the farm than those produced from forests and mines.

Back of this is the cherished Ford theory that the farm and factory are natural allies and that in any movement toward universal progress they must be united. The connecting link is chemical research.

STUMPIN' THE STATE

With the Spectator

With this issue we continue our review of the candidates for United States Senator, opposing Morris Sheppard. Senator Sheppard and Guy F. Fisher received attention in this column fortnight ago.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend and his famous $200-a-month pension plan have doubtless gained many friends and supporters among Texans but this is the first time that Townsendism has entered as a political factor in Texas politics.

Three candidates for United States Senator espouse the Townsend plan as a solution for the economic woe of the nation and the retirement of several millions of aged to a life of peace and contentment. Joseph H. Price of Fort Worth was the first candidate to announce against Senator Sheppard and consequently the first Townsendite to enter the race. J. Edward Glenn of Kopperl and Richard C. Bush of Waco entered the lists at a later date.

Joseph H. Price gave several thousand people an inkling of what was to happen in the United States economically in a book written and published in 1919. The title of the book was "National Death Letter" and he not only predicted trouble but advocated one of the remedies not being pushed as a cure, the "principle of limited inheritance."

A ruddy-faced, blue-eyed man with graying hair, Mr. Price conducted a real estate investment business in Fort Worth, Dallas and other cities until the depression ended all development.

His ventures were successful financially and since the depression he has been managing his farm, Twin Lakes Land, near Fort Worth, and "helping the poor."

While admitting that the Townsend plan would cost the government one billion and six hundred million dollars per month, Price believe that it would break the depression and bring greater prosperity.

J. Edward Glenn of Kopperl works on his 500-acre farm in Bosque County during the day and at night attends to correspondence and writes campaign statements and newspaper articles in longhand. Adoption of the Townsend plan is just one of the many planks in his platform.

In addition, he favors the complete cancellation of the foreign debt, shortening the hours of labor to counteract the displacement of workers by use of labor saving machinery, prohibition of speculative trade in farm commodities and all things vital to the needs of the people, a national program of home-building, home-ownership, and home-protection and the placing of our money in the hands of the Federal Government "to be operated for the benefit of the nation, and a great and noble people."

In a statement sent to this writer, Glenn stated:

"I will work on my farm this year and produce crops as I have for the past 50 years and if I am elected I will go into the United States Senate with hands calloused by honest toil, with the fragrance of the fields and the fresh turned soil still clinging to my boots, and capable of knowing the value of the taxpayers' dollars, measured in terms of sweat."

Richard C. Bush of Waco, advertising executive and newspaper man, is the youngest man in the United States senate race—only 34—but seven years older than Senator Sheppard was when the senior senator first went to Washington in 1902 as a congressman.

The Wacoan, his friends state, knows Texas from border to border. During several years in editorial capacities on Texas newspapers, Bush became intensely interested in political and economic developments in the news.

He decided to go after the toga of Senator Sheppard when the discovery was made that Sheppard was against the Townsend Plan. Bush feels that the unemployment problem is the biggest problem confronting the American people, and he sees in the Townsend Plan a solution.

Bush has members of the Townsend clubs distributing his literature in many towns, house to house and maintains that the Townsend vote will be "heard from" in the July 25 primary.

He is telling the people in his speeches that Senator Sheppard's four terms of six years each is long enough for any man, and that asking a fifth is too much.

The Waco candidate predicts his complete victory in the first primary, with no runoff necessary.

'ISSUES, NOT PERSONALITIES' IS ALLRED'S THEME

Austin, (Special).—Consistently holding his campaign on the plane of "issues rather than personalities" where he set it in his opening speech, Governor James V. Allred continued his campaign for a second term in office through West and Central Texas this week.

His record as Governor is the basis of his request for reelection. Allred has told audiences already in North, East and West Texas. That same record will be cited by him to Central Texas audiences during the remainder of this week.

"The Allred record" includes: inauguration of the first comprehensive social security program in the history of Texas, including, of course, old age assistance payments which began July 1 to more than 40,000 of the state's aged needy; an actual ad valorem tax reduction of 15 cents on the $100 valuation that cut $4,787,400 from the tax bill of Texas taxpayers during 1935; advocate of a natural resource tax increase, but limited so as not to handicap Texas products in the world market; establishment of a "clemency-by-merit-only" policy and of the voluntary parole board system as forward steps in convict rehabilitation work; highest appropriations for schools and rural aid in the history of the state.

In addition to citing the record of his past performances, Governor Allred also has pledged in speeches delivered during the last 10 days that the social security program will be broadened to include unemployment insurance and other phases of social welfare, as well as old age assistance.

In his speech at Atlanta he assured Texas farmers that they will get their share of Federal agricultural benefit funds through a coordination of this state's agricultural program with that laid out in the Federal Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act.

CHAPTER I

"So it's you again!" The stunning, dark-haired girl in the lean and hungry roadster stared in mock exasperation at the motorcycle policeman who had signalled her to the side of the road. "Well, what was I doing this time?"

"Seventy-two, Miss Winslow."

as he pushed open the door of his superior's office half an hour later.

"All right. Bring him in," answered Lt. Knox, as he turned from a miniature highway model beside his desk on which he had been busily reconstructing an accident with the aid of toy automobiles.

"It's a her."

"Oh, one of those, eh?" Knox's jaw tightened. "What's she been doing?"

"Seventy-two miles in a thirty-mile zone. Here's the ticket."

Knox scrutinized the pasteboard which Sanborn thrust before him.

"Betty Winslow? . . . Any relation to J. R. Winslow who runs that department store?"

"Yeah—it's his daughter. Want me to bring her in?"

"Let her wait. She's no better than anybody else, even if her dad is a millionaire."

"She seems to think so," was the sour reply.

Knox leaned back in his chair

"You seem to have the idea you can break the law any time you like and get away with it," Knox said.

Sergeant Sanborn's usual grin was not in evidence. "Let me see your license, please."

"Seventy-two?" laughed Betty Winslow. "I'm improving! Last time you gave me a ticket I was doing eighty."

"License, please," Sanborn extended his gloved hand.

"Oh, now listen!" Betty's black eyes were snapping. "What if I was hitting it up a little? It's a nice wide road, and . . ."

"License, please!"

"Don't you ever smile?" she tried to tease him.

"Not at drivers like you. I've seen too many of them crack up."

"Well, you don't have to be so disagreeable about it." The girl fumbled in her handbag and produced the license. Then, as Sanborn took the card and studied it deliberately she demanded with growing exasperation: "All right—Don't stand there! Write out your ticket. I happen to have an appointment."

"No ticket for you this time." The officer's voice was grim. "Turn your car around. You're coming back to town with me."

"What are you talking about?" she glittered at him.

"You heard me—get started." He turned his motorcycle and headed back down the road. For a moment the girl was tempted to disobey. Then, shrugging her slim shoulders, she turned the big car round and followed.

"I've got a four ticket case for you, Lieutenant," Sanborn reported as though there were all the time in the world as he inquired: "Keeping you busy, Sanborn?"

"Plenty!" The burly cop got the idea at once.

"By the way," The lieutenant leaned over to the highway model and picked up one of the toy cars. "Here's something for that kid of yours. He's got a birthday coming up, hasn't he?"

"Next month. He'll be seven."

"Think he'd go for this?" Knox held out the auto. "We've got plenty without it."

"I'll say he will!" grinned the sergeant. "Anything coming from you. . . . You know you and Lindbergh are tops with him. I'd like . . ."

He was interrupted by the sound of angry voices outside the door. A moment later Betty Winslow had brushed aside the protesting desk sergeant and stormed into the lieutenant's office.

"This is Miss Winslow," Sanborn announced her with heavy irony.

"How do you do, Miss Winslow," Knox rose and bowed slightly. "Wait outside, will you, Sanborn."

"Are you responsible for my being brought to police headquarters like this?" Betty demanded with steady smoldering anger when they were alone.

"Yes," Knox's voice was quiet.

"Will you be so good as to explain why?" The girl looked at the tall, rather handsome man before her with growing distaste. "Of course I know the newspapers are playing up your safety campaign—your lovely idea of painting a skull and crossbones on the street wherever there has been an auto crash, and all that. But still I don't see . . ."

"Miss Winslow, this is the fourth ticket you've had this month." Knox pointed to the license Sanborn had given him.

"Well—what of it?"

"You seem to have the idea you can break the law any time you like and get away with it."

"Oh nonsense," she cried impatiently. "You talk as if I'd robbed a bank. I was doing seventy-two in a thirty-mile zone. What's the fine? Let me pay it and get out of here."

Before Knox could answer the dictograph on his desk buzzed sharply.

"Lieutenant Knox speaking," he answered after snapping down the key.

"What's this paint job you did outside Winslow's store," a harsh voice demanded.

"It's just another of those skull and bones things I told you about, Captain Lawrence. There was a smash-up there this morning. It looks pretty good," Knox chuckled.

"It doesn't look so good to Winslow," the voice continued grimly. "He's been saying so plenty loud! What are you trying to do—run the man out of business? Get a man out there to clean that sidewalk right away."

"But captain—listen . . .!"

"You heard me!"

"All right, Captain—just as you say." Knox's face was stony.

"Having some trouble with the Winslow family today, Lieut. Knox?" inquired Betty, who, during the conversation had stepped over to the highway model and tried a few experiments with the little cars.

"The Winslow family seems to have an idea it's entitled to special privileges in this city," gritted the officer.

"But you don't think so," she finished for him with dangerous sweetness. "Very interesting. . . . Tell me," she held up one of the tiny cars, "what do you do—play with these when business gets dull?"

"Miss Winslow," Knox stepped forward and looked down at her with desperate seriousness. "We have a special list for reckless drivers—you're on it."

"Really?" She arched her eyebrows mockingly.

"Before recommending a jail sentence for the people on that list, I have them brought in to see me. I talk with them—try to make them see reason. . . ."

"That's really awfully decent of you. Anything else, Mr. Knox?"

"Miss Winslow," he tried once more. "Have you ever seen anyone killed in an automobile accident. No? Well, it's a very horrible way to die!"

"I'm sure of it," she answered, stifling a yawn.

"Did it ever occur to you that you might die in an automobile accident, Miss Winslow? It's worth thinking about."

"If you're going to make me think," Betty said wearily, "perhaps I'd better sit down."

Menus for 'Me 'n You'

By Aunt Em

Meatless Dishes

When days are sultry meat loses some of its appeal, so such dishes as these are an appetizing substitute for the usual hearty main dish.

EGGS AU GRATIN

Cook eggs hard. Make a thin white sauce allowing 4 eggs to 1 cup of sauce. Season with salt, pepper and paprika. Slice eggs and place in a shallow baking dish. Pour sauce over them and sprinkle generously with grated cheese and fine bread crumbs. Place in a hot oven to brown top.

PIMENTO POTATOES WITH EGGS

Two cups mashed or riced, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-3 cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons chopped pimento, 3 eggs, salt and pepper, 1-4 cup bread crumbs.

Combine the potatoes, butter, milk, salt and pimento and mix well. Put the mixture into a well greased baking dish. Make four hollows in the surface of the potato and slip an egg into each. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven until the eggs are set.

ASPARAGUS AND CHEESE

Boil peeled asparagus in salted water and drain thoroughly. Serve on buttered toast and sprinkle generously with grated cheese. If the heat of the vegetables does not melt the cheese put under the flame for a minute.

WELSH RAREBIT WITH OLIVES AND BACON

One tablespoon butter, 1 teaspoon corn starch, 1/2 cup thin cream, 1/2 pound yellow cheese, 1-4 teaspoon mustard, 1-4 teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne, 1/2 cup quartered olives, toasts, crisp bacon.

Melt butter, add cornstarch, stir till mixed. Add thin cream, cook 2 minutes. Add cheese cut in small pieces and seasonings. Stir till cheese is melted, add olives and serve on toast garnished with rashers of crisp bacon.

TIPS FOR THE HOME

By HOUS N. HOM

CHECK ROOFING BEFORE WINTER ARRIVES

In considering reroofing, several possibilities are offered. Pitched roofs can use wood shingles, prepared shingles of asphalt or asbestos, slate, tile or sheet metal; flat roofs can be covered with tar and gravel, sheet metal, or canvas. But even a so-called "flat" roof should be allowed some pitch to provide for drainage.

With composition roofing individual shingles, "grouped" shingles, or roll roofing can be obtained. Most of these types can be laid directly over the old roof, a factor that means added savings in remodeling. The attractive new colors, many distinctive patterns and fire-resistance qualities of this type of material forms an added recommendation for this type of roof.

Where metal is used, seams should be carefully watched. Pitched roofs should have the standing type of seam; flat roofs should have flat seams.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

KIDS like animals, generally. And they often learn tricks from animals too. There was a woman that took her little five-year-old Bobbie to the zoo, and she caught him making terrible faces at the monkey. She says to him, "Say, Bobbie, that's awful! You're making a holy show of yourself. Didn't I often tell you not to make faces?" "Well, Mom, he started it," says the kid.
