McKnight, and other important officials will be here to inspect the plant and meet the patrons of this vicinity.

RAIN AMOUNTS TO 7.29 IN. HERE SINCE LAST THURSDAY

7.29 is not the time of day the train arrives or leaves, but means the number of inches of rain received in the rain gauge on the Court House lawn. It'll vary in inches, and may be feet in certain parts of the county.

No casualties have been reported so far, but J. O. Forrest, employee in Gatesville on returning to his home near Ames, had his car drowned out about seven miles out on the Jonesboro road in a "flat" this side of Ames, near Yows and left it. On returning the car had been washed some 200 feet off the road, along with a Model T and a Plymouth belonging to other parties whose names we could not learn. J. O. said the water got about three feet over the road. He was driving a Model A.

An unnamed man was caught on Coryell Creek bridge where water held him until rescue could be effected.

At 5:15 p. m. Monday reports from Ater community were to the effect that the Leon river was higher than it has been before this year and was still rising fast. This rise can be expected at Gatesville sometime today. At 5:00 p. m. Monday, the river at Gatesville was reported as holding it own, although it lacked about three feet being out on west Leon.

COTTON GINNINGS INCREASE

W. R. Goodson, special agent for the Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, reports that on Sept. 16 there were 3,983 bales of cotton ginned prior to that date as compared with 1689 ginned prior to the same date in 1935.

Amateur Night Postponed Due To Crops, Schools, Weather etc.

LOCAL CCC CAMP ENROLLEE MAROONED IN TREE BY FLOODED S. BOSQUE

Ray Cox, 20, is in a Waco hospital suffering from injuries sustained Saturday night when the car in which he and two companions, Rufus Mooney and Loyce Jordan, were riding, was swept away by swollen waters of South Bosque river near McGregor when they attempted to cross Cox was separated from his companions and swam ashore where he was forced to take refuge in a tree, where he remained throughout the night and until 9 o'clock Sunday morning when he was rescued in a row boat by Waco firemen who conveyed him to a Waco hospital for treatment. Mooney and Jordan were not so unfortunate and received only slight bruises.

The boys are enrollees of the Gatesville CCC Camp and Cox holds the capacity of Mess Stewart.

Of the 2,069 votes cast, 1162 voted against the sale and 903 for the sale, giving the dry forces a majority of 259 in the county, according to unofficial count.

Texas Woman Helps Edit Big Magazine

MRS. BEN C. BALL OF DALLAS

SHE has been selected as a "typical American homemaker" by the Woman's Home Companion, and is spending two weeks in New York as one of the editors of the magazine. Her selection is part of a plan to keep the contents of the magazine closer to its average readers. Twelve "reader-editors" are being selected each from a different section of the country. They will each spend two weeks in New York, where they will work with the regular magazine staff on problems which confront any woman in her home, particularly in the kitchen.

Mrs. Ball went to Texas as a baby graduated from the Hillsboro High School and then from Baylor University in 1925 she married Mr. Ball, a banker. They have two children. Her indoor hobbies are cooking and sewing; outdoor hobbies, golf and swimming.

"It's all off!" Chairman C. H. Wallace says, in reference to the proposed Amateur Night, which was to open the new City Hall Auditorium on October 8. The whole affair is postponed on account of schools opening, people are busy with crops, and inclement weather, according to Mr. Wallace.

When the Amateur Night will be held was not announced, according to Mr. Wallace, after conferring with the general entertainment committee of the Lions Club, who had the featuring night in charge.

One reason for the postponement was the inability of the committees to get sufficient talent at this time, because everyone is busy with either school work, crops, and too, the heavy rains have made it inadvisable to set a time or this opening, at this time.

CONTEST FOR 4-H GIRLS

To enter the contest a contestant must be between the age of 13 and 20 and members of a regularly organized 4-H club working under the direction of the county home demonstration agent employed by the Extension Service of the Agricultural and Mechanical College. The girl must be 13 by January of the year she is entering the contest, according to Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, extension specialist in clothing.

INCREASED PRODUCTION

Fort Stockton. By delaying the last cutting of his alfalfa in 1935 until the plants were in full bloom, and thus allowing them to form a vigorous root system, J. M. Montgomery of Pecos county has increased his alfalfa production from one-half ton to two tons per acre, it was recently reported by L. E. Bailey, county agricultural agent.

Lets Talk about Clothes

Denton, Sept. 28. Velvet is one of the most popular material trimmings for fall clothes. Women are utilizing it not only on frocks, but for collar and cuff sets, bags, hats, and gloves. Velvet bows are new for suede or kidskin opera pumps, and velvet scarfs are plentiful with silk or wool sports suits.

The side seams of straight simple skirts are carefully and are covered with narrow velvet ribbon. Dresses have vertical bands of narrow velvet streaking down the front, adding inches to any streamline.

Prim, dashing street suits of dull black wool rave lapels collars, and cuffs of velvet to contrast the suit. Some even boast sleeveless vestee effects and waistcoats in excitably new and smart contrasting colors. With a very simple velvet skirt and several different styles and kinds of blouses you can easily acquire a reputation for being originally dressed. Tunic blouses, skirt plaid wool or velvet jackets, for dress-up are a few of the possibilities.

Girls at Texas State College for Women discovered one of the most unusual blouse ideas this fall in a collection of imports. The skirt was of black velvet, and the top of novelty soft but nubby-looking trick wool and silk combine. The huge, puffed sleeves were worn just below the elbow, and the basque effect of the blouse reached well down from the normal waistline. Three-inch fringe was cut from the material to finish the blouse. The ensemble made an interesting model for dinners in town.

AN ERROR, OR WAS IT?

Friday we carried a brief story about the State Highway Commission designating a highway from Moody to Mother Neff Park, and across the Leon River to intersect Highway No. 36 north into Gatesville. The road will route by way of Moody and The Grove.

We are just wondering where they are going to this beautiful Highway 36, since we have been unable to discover it. Maybe plans have been made to complete 36 from Temple to Gatesville, so this "Neff Park Highway" won't just run out in the brush and stop.

Anyway we desire to go on record as thanking the Highway Commission for this little consideration. Another thing we wonder, is how folks are going to get thru mud to Moody to get on this "Neff Park Project." Looks like this new highway will have two open ends just running from mud hole to mud hole!

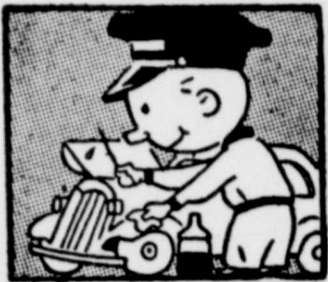

Mrs. W. M. Merrill, who has been visiting her sisters, Mrs. R. J. Merrill and Mrs. J. D. Shipman, returned to her home in Colorado the first part of last week.

Mrs. Aubrey Walker and Miss Kitty Welch visited George Walker Friday. Mr. Walker has been in a Waco hospital for the past week and underwent an operation Monday.

TEXAS ROSE FESTIVAL LOOM AS OUTSTANDING

Tyler, Sept. 28. Promising a celebration that will eclipse any of its former fetes, Tyler sets the stage for the Fourth Annual Texas Rose Festival which will open for five days beginning October 2.

During the past three years of successful operation the annual rose show at Tyler has attracted the attention of the nation and indications are that the Centennial year festival will be one of the outstanding Texas Anniversary events.

In Dallas last week a plane loaded with more than 10,000 east Texas roses flew low over the city and grounds of the Texas Centennial Exposition showering the earth with the beautiful flowers, each one an invitation to attend the Texas Rose Festival.

Features of the fete this year will include a mammoth floral parade, sacred concert, coronation of the Queen, horse show and historic pageant, football game between Baylor University and Centenary.

Seventy-five years of rugged pioneering in rose development has produced the greatest rose area in the world in east Texas, furnishing more than one-third of the entire production.

Hornets Defeat Moody 26-0 In Opening Game

Led by J. C. Byrom, flashy halfback, the Hornet running attack clicked beautifully last Friday night to defeat Moody by the decisive score of 26 to 0.

Despite a rain-soaked field the sweeping end runs and power plays of the Worley men proved too much for Moody's Bearcats. By virtue of their superior blocking and speed, the Hornets scored easily and as easily retained their lead being seriously threatened but once.

With the fine offensive work done by the line, Gatesville's backfield had no trouble in ripping off their gains. There were no outstanding stars on the line, each man playing bang-up football and all showing up well.

The broken field running of Byrom was the main attraction of the game. With the blocking of Baker, Colgin, White and Ivy paving his way, he had no trouble in flaunting his hips in the whole Moody team's faces. In this writer's opinion this boy is one of the best ball carriers to ever play with a Gatesville team. Shifting easily with no change in his stride, he consistently ran the Moody team ragged and set up all four of the Hornet's touchdowns. The actual scoring was completed by Baker and White, who did a very neat job of line-plunging, aided by a hard charging line.

Late in the third quarter found Gatesville on defense for the only time during the game. Backed up on their own one-foot line, Baker successfully punted out, but penalties and the mistakes of several Hornet second-stringers kept Moody knocking at paydirt until almost the end of the game.

The game was marked by several fumbles, but not as many as the sloppy condition of the field warranted. A dry field would have materially aided the fast backs of the Hornet club and also given an indication of their strength in an aerial attack. As it was their running attack and fine defensive work of the line proved adequate for the occasion.

A few statistics of the game: Passes attempted: Gatesville, 3; Moody, 9. Passes completed: Gatesville, 0; Moody, 1.

First downs: Gatesville, 12; Moody, 1.

Gatesville averaged 27 yards on punts, while Moody averaged 14 yards.

Despite adverse weather conditions, a fairly large crowd attended the game. One stand was entirely filled and the other had about one hundred in it. A conservative estimate from the box office set the attendance at 1,000, but we, not being conservative, say about 1,200. If it had not rained the stands would have both been completely filled. Next Friday night's game, if fair weather prevails, should see such a crowd.

Heard in the stands from a spectator viewing his first game: "If they don't stop fighting and start playing, I'm going home!"

PIGMY ELEPHANTS WITH HUGE CIRCUS

Mighty Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey combined organizations offer among vast hosts of new features Col. Tim McCoy, screen's great western star, midget African elephants and pongurs.

With 100 double-length rail road cars, bearing 1600 people African pigmy elephants, African ongurs, seven herds of full size elephants, 1009 menagerie animals and 700 horses, the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined, Circus will arrive in Waco Wednesday September 30, for afternoon and night exhibition.

The circus is especially elated this season over the amazing success of the Big Show's sensational new super-feature—the first herd of African pigmy elephants (tiny tuskars that years ago attained their full growth) ever to lieve the depths of darkest Africa, and the first herd if American elephants ever to set foot in America. The weird midget pachyderms are accompanied by a herd of miniature African pongurs, world's smallest beasts of burden. These new importations have taken America by storm.

The Big Show's big top seating 16,000 persons, covers rings and stages, a huge hippodrome track and encircling grandstands, and is one of 31 great tents, among them the menagerie, sheltering the world's largest traveling zoo. In its center this season will be seen Col. Tim McCoy's Indian village, with Sioux and Blackfeet warriors encamped Col. Tim McCoy, the screen's most outstanding western tsar, will himself lead his congress of rough riders of the world in the main performances and in the wild west.

The Greatest Show on earth offers scores of foreign features this year, including the the Naittos, the Royal Bokaras, the imperial Vennese, an assemblage of 60 free running horses, ponies, and elephants; the largest aerial ballet ever produced. Fresh from Europe are the Walkmirs, the Antaleks, the Buomrangs, the Romeos, the Maschinis, the Robertos the Willos, the Terrence Victorios, the Rooneys, aerial novelty sensations. The Royal Repenskis, the Rieffenachs, the Walters, famous bareback ridding troupes;

the two guice aerial comedy troupes on the lofty bars; the two renowned Wallenda troupes of high wire thrillers; the Otaris who fly in mass somersaults from an aerial cross; the flying consellos, with Antinette, only girl to accomplish a two-and-a-half mid-air somersault to a hand-to-hand catch; the flying Comets; Dorothy Herbert, mad-cap rider of reinless jumping horses over fire hurdles, and Hugo and Mario, human projectiles—these are some of the most prominent features of the superb 1936 Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey program.

TIPS FOR THE HOME

By HOUS N. HOM

GLASS "MAKE-UP" BOXES FOR YOUNG MODERNS

One manufacturer has introduced a line of make-up boxes made entirely of glass mirrors with electric lights attached inside the boxes, which are automatically turned on when the boxes are opened, and off as they are closed. It is practical, beautiful and very handy for the dressing table.

MORE BASEMENT WINDOWS ADD TO UTILITY OF THE HOUSE

Basements have become very important and useful rooms in the home. Formerly they received very little light and windows were small and sometimes improperly located. Now, however, more basement win-add utility by giving more natural light, and better ventilations are being built, for they are very easily adaptable for use as playrooms, laundry, billiard rooms, etc. The housekeeper usually spends many hours in the laundry, which is generally located in the basement. Therefore plenty of windows and proper ventilation are essential. Even storage space should have a certain amount of cross ventilation and light.

WINTER WINDOWS SAVE FUEL

Before winter sets in is a good time to check up on storm sash and see that they are in place, all around the house. Do you know that storm sash can save as much as 10 per cent to 15 per cent of the fuel you burn in winter. The United States Bureau of standards tells us this is the case, even in uninsulated homes. If the home contains insulation, even a greater saving is effected. Winter windows soon pay for themselves in fuel saving. But that is not all. Without the convenience of winter windows, much draft is caused by winter winds resulting in colds, flu and pneumonia. If there are children in the home, this measure of safety is doubly important.

Cooling Off the “Black Gang”

THE torrid heat of the engine room of an ocean liner holds no terrors for modern scientific refrigeration equipment. When the S.S. Rotterdam, 24,000 ton liner of the Holland-American Line sailed from New York recently with hundreds of happy vacationists aboard, bound for a cruise to the tropical waters of the West Indies, she carried far below decks in her engine room an electric refrigerator, installed by Kelvinator engineers to store cooling beverages and foods for the perspiring engine room crew of 160.

The refrigerator contains a built-in thermometer, visible evidence of man's latest triumph over heat. It provides a dramatic demonstration of the effectiveness with which modern electric refrigerators operate under even the most unfavorable conditions.

Above is a photograph of three members of the engine room “black gang” sampling the refrigerator's contents—cool and refreshing to parched throats even at blistering engine room temperatures.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a guy come to a life saving station on Long Island, New York, during a big storm. He was wet through and terrible cold. He knocked at the door of the place kinda timid-like, and when they let him in he says, "It's very inclement without, is it not?"

"Sure, it's rough," says one of the men. "Won't you set down and rest?"

"Thanks, I will if you don't mind. And I want to ask a favor of you boys, if it's not to bold of me."

"Shoot."

"Well, when the storm has quite abated and the rain has stopped, I wonder if you'd go out and try to save my mother-in-law. She fell out of a boat a half mile off shore an hour ago, and I'm getting awfully worried about her."

A banquet was served at a Hamilton cafe with plates laid to the group, with Chief Roger Miller, Rev. J. M. McLean, C. E. Alvis Jr., Louis Neuman, and David Franks.

The distinguished dinner guest and speaker of the evening was Eugene Sanders of Austin, Fire Prevention chief and Assistant State Fire Marshal. During the dinner, guests were entertained by the "Clod Hoppers," a group of Hamilton boys who rendered musical numbers. After the dinner, the guests were conducted to the District Court room where the addresses were made.

Murals Portray Texas Life

Expressive of the four sections of Texas, their bountiful natural resources and historical background are the elaborate murals which adorn the walls of the $1,200,000 Hall of State, the dominating building of the Texas Centennial Exposition at Dallas. At the top a section of one of the giant murals found in the great hall portray two of Texas' foremost natural resources, oil and cotton. On the extreme left may be seen the prow of a sea-going freighter, representing the vast shipping industry of East Texas and the lower Gulf Coast. In the center mural, which hangs in the North Texas room, Old Man Texas is the predominant figure. The lower is unmistakably typical of the hearty West. The paintings adorning the walls of the Texas Building's great hall are reputed to be the largest in the world. They portray the story of Texas, both in the days of the republic and after statehood.

Although completed but a few weeks ago, the magnificent Hall of State has won a reputation as one of the nation's foremost memorial edifices.

25 MILES TERRACES ON ONE FARM

Lipscomb. With money he will receive for summer-fallowing 547 acres of blown out wheat land on the contour, William Freeman of Lipscomb county is building 25 miles of terraces for which he will receive $21.12 per mile. C. M. Gay, county agricultural agent, said in a recent report.

"I have wanted to terrace my farm for several years but have not been financially able to do it," says Freeman, "but by taking advantage of this new feature of the Agricultural Conservation program, I am getting good terraces built now."

Coffee Icing

Three cups powdered sugar, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1-4 cup strong coffee, 2 egg whites.
Beat on fire until lukewarm the powdered sugar, coffee and vanilla. Add well beaten egg whites. Ice cake while icing is warm.

STANDARD COOKIE FROSTING

Two egg whites, 1-8 tsp. salt, 2 cups confectioner's sugar, 1 tbs. thick cream, 1 tsp. vanilla.
Sift sugar 4 times and place in bowl. Add vanilla, salt, cream to beaten egg whites and give them 3 or 4 beats with a wire whisk. Add to sugar and beat until smooth. Spread on cookies at once as this frosting is quick to dry. I use it some in making hand molded flowers for wedding cakes.

Lemon Butter Frosting
One-half cup butter, 2 cups confectioner's sugar, 1 tbs. lemon juice, 1 tsp. graded lemon rind.

Wash butter in cold water. Dry on clean dry cloth. With wooden spoon work one cup of the sugar into the butter, adding a spoonful at a time. Then add lemon juice and continue with sugar until all has been thoroughly worked into the butter. Add graded rind during the period of adding the last half of sugar. Spread between and on top of cake, cookies or muffins. Then harden in refrigerator before serving.

Lemon Icing

One and one-half cups sugar, 2 egg whites, 1-2 cup water, juice 1 lemon.

Dissolve sugar in water, boil until spends a thread. Pour over stiffly beaten egg whites in fine stream, beating constantly. When about half has been added, add lemon juice, then remainder of syrup in same way. Continue beating until icing is stiff enough to spread and hold its shape.

My Favorite Icing

Two cups granulated sugar, 4 egg whites, 1-2 cup confectioner's sugar, 3-4 cup cold water 1-4 tsp. cream of tartar, 1-2 tsp. almond extract, 1-2 tsp. vanilla extract.

Dissolve granulated sugar in water and boil until strings a thread from 4 to 6 inches long.

While the sugar mixture is boiling beat egg whites until they foam, then add cream of tartar and beat until almost stiff enough to hold their shape then add 1-2 cup confectioner's sugar and beat until stiff. When syrup is ready, pour over egg whites in a tiny stream beating constantly until all has been added. Then add the flavoring and beat until the frosting holds its shape. I do not believe you can fail with this recipe if directions are carefully followed.

SILAGE PROPER FEED

Wharton. "Silage solves our feed problem," says J. B. Forgason of the J. D. Hudgins Estate near Hungerford, Wharton county. Silage has been fed on the Hudgins estate for many years and has given satisfactory results, although upright silos have been replaced by the trench type during recent years, according to V. L. Sandlin, county agricultural agent.

Forgason states that the trench silo is more satisfactory than the upright silo as it is not subject to storm damage and is easy to fill and empty.

Five hundred acres of red top sorghum is being used to fill 22 trench silos on the Hudgins estate. Most of the silage will be fed to 500 Brahma calves after they have been weaned in October and November.

MODERN MIXED VEGETABLES

PERHAPS you like to parboil in the kitchen preparing vegetables for cooking. Most people don't, and there is a good modern way to avoid all this work. The way is simply to use mixed vegetables in cans. Then all the work of preparation has been done for you much more thoroughly than you could do it, and you can go straight to your cooking. And what a variety of combinations you can make with these mixed vegetables in cans! Curries, cutlets, jellies, stuffed peppers, even pies. These recipes prove it.

Casserole of Curried Rice and Vegetables:

Sauté one minced onion in one-third cup butter until tender but not brown. Add one and a half teaspoons curry powder, one teaspoon celery seed and one teaspoon salt, and stir smooth. Add one cup boiling water, and cook a few minutes longer. Pour this over three cups hot cooked rice and toss lightly together until well mixed. Line bottom and sides of a buttered casserole with the rice and fill center with the drained contents of a No. 2 can of mixed vegetables. Cover with rice, dot with two tablespoons butter, and bake in a hot oven for about thirty minutes. Makes eight servings.

Cutlets and Jelly

Vegetable Cutlets: Make a thick white sauce of two tablespoons butter, four tablespoons flour and one cup milk, and season highly with salt and pepper. Add the well-drained contents of a No. 3 can of mixed vegetables and spread out on a buttered plate to cool and stiffen. Then take up heaping tablespoonfuls of mixture and shape into cutlets (or croquettes, if desired). Roll in fine crumbs, then in one well-beaten egg, and again in crumbs. Set in refrigerator to get firm. Fry in deep fat—390 degrees—until brown. Makes about twelve cutlets or croquettes. Serves six.

Vegetables in Tomato Jelly:

Soften two tablespoons gelatin in one-half cup water, and dissolve in two and a half cups boiling canned tomato juice. Add four tablespoons sugar, four tablespoons vinegar, four tablespoons lemon juice and one teaspoon salt. Cool and let thicken to consistency of honey. Add the drained mixed vegetables from a No. 2 can, pour into wet individual molds, and let harden in refrigerator. When ready to serve, turn out into nests of crisp lettuce. Serve with a dressing made by whipping one-half cup cream and beating into it one-half cup French dressing. Makes eight to ten servings.

Stuffed Peppers and Pie

Baked Stuffed Peppers: Cut off stem ends of six or eight medium green peppers, and remove seeds and membrane. Parboil for two or three minutes in boiling water, then drain. Combine contents of a No. 2 can mixed vegetables with one cup white sauce, season well, and fill peppers with mixture. Top with buttered crumbs. (If desired, a square of sliced cheese may be placed on each pepper.) Place close together in a shallow pan and surround with a little hot water. Bake until tender and browned or about thirty minutes. Makes six to eight servings.

1-MINUTE SAFETY TALKS

By Don Herold

DRIVE BY SPEEDOMETER

Abe Martin (Kin Hubbard) once spoke of one of his neighbors who had a pretty good rule for safe motoring: He drove just fast enough to "spit comfortably".

In the old days of open cars it was easier to gauge our speed. Today with cars closed and with quiet motors under our hoods, with smooth roads, and with excellent springs on our cars, we have no idea how fast we're going until we tie ourselves in a bow knot around a telephone pole or plough into a truck.

Lew Holtz tells of a man who, when asked the size of his shoes, replied: "I wear sevens, but eights feel so good that I wear nines."

To paraphrase that: There are times when we should be driving 40, but 50 seems so slow that we drive 60.

Speed is comparative. When we start out, 30 seems fast. Then, pretty soon, 40 seems slow. Then we get up to 50 and 60 and 65 without realizing it. Since most accidents—and the worst accidents—occur in these upper speed brackets, according to accident statistics gathered by The Travelers Insurance Company, we must decide IN ADVANCE what our top speed is to be under certain road conditions—and then drive by speedometer, NOT by feel or "ear".

On a recent 500-mile trip, with my family, I said "We don't cross 50 on this trip." We might have done 60 or 65 safely on good stretches, but our tires are getting a little aged, so I said 50.

Now you can't observe a rule like that unless you make your speedometer your guide. Your sense of speed is no good after you've driven a while. An occasional glance at your speedometer will tell you if you are going 52. And your wife can tell you, too.

The limits should, of course, be lower under many conditions—for example, never over 35 at night.

And be hard-boiled with yourself. DON'T CHEAT.

—If you have something to sell, you have something to advertise!

NEW SLANTS ON CHICKEN

Nearly every one likes chicken and so the impulse is to serve it over and over again in familiar ways. It repays unusual treatments so well, however, that once you have experimented a little you will be on the lookout for new ways to serve this familiar fowl.

CHICKEN CURRY

One chicken, 1 fresh coconut, 2 tsp. curry powder, 1 large onion, milk, butter and flour necessary for thickening.

Cook the chicken with half the meat of the fleshy coconut. Chop the onion fine and fry in butter. Add the onion to the stock of the chicken which is then passed through a colander so that no piece of onion is left in the liquid. Add the curry powder, thicken with the milk, butter and flour. Thin this down with coconut milk and add the rest of the graded coconut. Pull all the meat off the chicken bones and put in the sauce, allow the mixture to simmer on the stove for 15 minutes. Although curry can be eaten at once, it is better to make it 24 hours beforehand in order to allow the flavor to permeate the chicken. Serve with rice that has been steamed to the point of allowing each grain to stand alone.

HOT BISQUIT CHICKEN SANDWICH

Six tbsp. mayonnaise, 12 baking powder bisquits, 1-2 cup pickles, finely chopped, 1 cup cold chicken, diced.

Blend together the mayonnaise and chopped pickles and chicken. Spread the mixture between the baking powder bisquits, split and butter while hot. Garnish with ripe or stuffed olives and serve.

ESTIMATES ARE MADE FROM COUNTY PLANNING SURVEYS

College Station. Farm men and women of Texas from 204 counties who turned in program planning surveys instituted by the extension service, estimate that if farm practices were adjusted to maintain soil fertility and control erosion that the farm population in the State should not in their judgment increase more than 115,000.

George E. Adams, assistant state agent of the Extension Service and chairman of the committee on program planning, pointed out that these figures are taken from estimates made entirely by those living in the county as farmers and farm homemakers.

Other things brought out in the survey which has been sent to Washington for compilation with figures from other states in a national report, was that the farm men and women of Texas estimate that there should be a decrease in crop land, especially in cotton and wheat, and a corresponding increase in pasture and grain for feed.

They also estimate that there should be an increase of at least 550,000 head of cattle and 320,000 hogs on Texas farms, particularly, at least, for home use. These committees also found that more gardens and orchards were needed to supply vegetables and fruits for home use in Texas.

This county planning activity will go ahead in Texas this year under the supervision of an Extension Service committee consisting of George E. Adams, assistant state agent, Miss Mildred Horton, vice director and state home demonstration agent, Miss Lola Blair, specialist in foods and nutrition, R. W. Snyder, supervisor of specialists' work, S. A. McMillan, economist in farm management and W. E. Morgan, economist.

TORE DOWN AND REBUILT OLD KITCHEN

Palestine. There are many women who would undertake the building of a pantry, a clothes closet or a set of shelves for food storage, but not many that raze a structure and rebuild it from the ground up. Mrs. T. L. Thomas, Anderson county home demonstration club woman, did just that.

Her kitchen was dark and dingy which a kitchen should not be, Miss Mary Louise Jones, home demonstration agent, says. Mrs. Thomas' husband had no time for carpenters, so with the help of a daughter just out of high school, she tore down the old room, including taking down an immense chimney.

With hammers, saws, and planes, Mrs. Thomas and Gladys built a new kitchen 9 by 13 feet. On one side of the room are the stove and ventilated pantry. On the opposite wall are two windows, sink, drain, and work surface with storage cabinets underneath.

All the work was done by Mrs. Thomas and her daughter except the building of the flue. The only cash spent on the new kitchen was for paint, nails, and labor for building the flue.

NEW OUTDOOR LIVING ROOM

Belton. Thirty-five shrubs planted in her back yard help to make an attractive outdoor living room for Mrs. Ed Dice of Bell county, Miss Lorena Dry, home demonstration agent, recently reported.

The shade from big live oak trees, cool green grass, and the privacy afforded by the shrubbery and flower plantings have been utilized by Mrs. Dice. A fish pool, chairs, tables, and electric lights also add to the usefulness of the spot.

Business activity in Norway has slackened its pace slightly.

ON TEXAS FARMS

Minnie Fisher Cunningham
Extension Service Editor
A. & M. College

J. W. Efinger of Lamb county proposes to harve plenty of feed for his dairy cows this winter in the face of scarcity and high prices. He filled one four-ton trench silo in August with hegari, kafir, and corn bundles, and another one the same size in September.

The first trench silo in Bailey county was filled in 1935 on E. L. Smith's farm in the West Camp community. Twenty-four other trench silos were filled last fall and 30 more this fall, making a total of 55 now in use in the county.

Nine farmers terraced 1,097 acres of land in Precinct No. 2, Crosby county, during August.

County agricultural agent R. W. Howe, estimates that the work was done at a cost of 32 cents per acre with the use of the county grader secured by the cooperation of the county commissioner. Howe supervised the terracing of 500 other acres without the use of the county equipment, and reports the cost a little less per acre, at the terraces not quite so good as where the heavy county equipment was used.

Alfalfa demonstrations in the county of Swisher are planned by three Swisher farmers working with county agricultural agent P. C. Colgin. The agricultural conservatin program has made farmers legume-minded, and alfalfa demonstrations will be on the increase wherever this legume can be grown.

Government experiment show that summer and early fall apples sent overseas to England arrive in much better condition if shipped under refrigerated conditions.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE: The French and English War has invaded Colonial America. Major Heyward, British officer, carries dispatches from England, ordering Colonel Munro, stationed at Albany, to advance to Fort William Henry, and await reinforcements.

Chapter II

"WE MARCH TOMORROW"

Within the Patroon's mansion the dance was in full progress. A string and harpsichord trio furnished the music: British officers in full regimentals, white-wigged and scarlet-coated, outshone the more rustic Colonial youths of the town, captured the prettiest girls, moved with more assurance through the stately measures of the minuet. The prettiest of the girls, the most fashionably dressed, the center of all the rivalry, were the Major's daughters, Alice and Cora.

The elders watched the young dancers with indulgent eyes. The Patroon's plump wife smiled dreamily, and beat time to the music with a pudgy finger. The Patroon, a corpulent Dutchman, in velvet knee-breeches and hornrinned spectacles, turned to Major Munro.

"This iss the first time," he remarked, "that I haff seen your daughter so gay, so carefree, Colonel—"

Colonel Munro nodded. "Yes, Mynheer. The child had a sad experience—lad she was to marry—lost at sea in a naval engagement. I had hoped that this trip might help her forget."

He broke off as a servant entered to announce Heyward.

"Duncan Heyward!" he cried. "What wind blows you to America. Have you bedevilled Mariborough into granting you a furlough after all?"

Heyward shook his head. "Important dispatches, sir."

Munro read the communications and looked pleased. "Ah, action at last. Time we were on the move. My men need a brush with the French—they're stale as ditch-water here." He looked keenly at Heyward who was looking elsewhere. "I suppose you know what this says."

Heyward's eyes still roamed the room. "Yes—you're looking very well yourself, sir."

Munro laughed. "Oh, I see. Very well, go find Alice. But report back to me in half an hour."

Alice was conversing gaily with a handsome young captain of the Regulars. She saw Heyward before he saw her, and called over amusedly: "Looking for someone, Major Heyward?"

Heyward's face lighted up. Alice excused herself, and walked with him to the veranda.

"Jove," Heyward said, "I've looked forward to this." He moved to take her in his arms, but she held him off, and viewed him somewhat critically.

"You haven't changed a bit, Duncan."

"Can you blame me? You've no right to look so beautiful."

"As gallant as ever," observed Alice.

"And you're just as cruel. You know, I'd hoped that you might have changed your mind about me."

Alice shook her head slowly. "I haven't, Duncan, I'm sorry." From the ballroom came the sound of cheers. Colonel Munro had just made his announcement: "We march tomorrow!"

Heyward expressed his indignation to Munro at the lack of discipline among the Colonials. It was his first experience with them.

"The fact of the matter is," Colonel Munro explained, "technically they aren't under our command. They're civilian troops, organized to protect only this territory."

"Then they aren't soldiers at all?"

"No," Colonel Munro answered, "but they're jolly good fighting men."

Fighting men or no, the Colonials showed no disposition to join the Regulars on the march to Fort William Henry.

Munro showed serious concern. His orders were to advance upon Fort William Henry and to engage General Montcalm until reinforced by General Webb. The War Office had not taken into account that fully half of his command were Colonials.

"I'll talk to the men," he said, and turned to Heyward. "Have them assembled, sir."

The drums sounded. The men gathered in the huge square. Major Heyward began to address them, confident in his own ability to swing them over.

"Men," he said, "Colonel Munro has asked me to say a few words. Having just arrived from London, I can assure you that His Majesty, King George, is eager for you:

support. I'm sure that, as loyal subjects of the Crown, you will be glad to render this valuable service to His Majesty. Thank you."

But the Colonials were unmoved by this appeal. They were more ready to listen to Hawkeye, famous Colonial scout, who now moved forward to warn them against leaving their homes. With Hawkeye were his Indian friends, Chingachgook and Uncas, father and son and the last of the once powerful tribe, the Mohicans.

"While you are cooped up in Fort William Henry, the Indians will burn your homes— butcher your families," Hawkeye warned.

There was a murmur of assent. Colonel Munro decided to take a hand in the matter.

"I've just learned that the French are advancing on Fort William Henry. You know what that means. If they break through, what will prevent the Indians then from looting and pillaging every settlement this side of Lake George?"

It was a convincing argument. Winthrop conferred with some of his men, and then stepped forward to address Munro.

"I believe the men will enlist, sir, on one condition—if the Hurons break through, you let them return to protect their homes."

"Agreed!" said Colonel Munro. One of the Colonials turned to Hawkeye. "What do you say to that, Hawkeye?"

"I've had my say," said the scout, and turned away.

Alice had been watching him with growing distaste.

"Who was that impudent scamp?" she asked of her father.

"Oh, a fellow they call Hawkeye. A scout, and a good one, too, I understand. Why?"

"Nothing," said Alice. "Only I'm surprised that a traitor like that is left unhung."

Returning to the barracks, Colonel Munro spoke to an Indian scout, an evil-looking fellow, who received his instructions and departed in gloomy silence.

"Sullen beggar, that," said Heyward.

"Name's Magua," said Munro.

"Best spy I have. He's a Delaware. Had to give him a taste of the cat once—made a man of him."

"Only way to treat savages," Heyward agreed.

nourished has the muscle strength to hold the bones of the skeleton in place.

Suppose muscles and ligaments could be made to disappear, just for the purpose of our experiment. Obviously, under the force of gravity, the bones would fall to the floor. Now this force is pulling on the skeleton all the time, so what must happen when the muscles and ligaments are flabby and weak? Tend to sag downward of course, thus causing the entire body to assume faulty posture.

It is evident, therefore, that the firmness of tissue, the condition we call "tone," is essential to good posture. And of course everyone knows that tissue tone results in turn from good nutrition. For this reason, all my school posture programs insist that children receive their quart of milk, an adequate diet, and the full amount of sleep.

HOME IMPROVEMENT AT TOPSEY

Mrs. L. M. Terry, cooperator in the Topsey Home Demonstration Club, has improved her home with new paper, enlarging a room, building in kitchen cabinet, painting the home and painting the kitchen wood work. Three coats of cream toned paint over the kitchen drawers and doors make a striking difference in the attractiveness of her kitchen. She expressed satisfaction with the improvement which is one more attempt to carry out the motto of the Home Demonstration Club, namely, "To Make the Best Better."

TOPSEY H. D. CLUB

The Topsey Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday Sept. 23, at the home of Mrs. Victor Fraze. There were twenty-one members and two visitors present. After the close of business refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held on October 7, at the home of Eva Durham.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND Director, Physical and Health Education New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Curves of the Spine

While enthusiastic about correct bodily carriage, I am not a posture fanatic and in the sense of advocating braces and special exercises for every child with a fault. For one thing I have seen too many children straighten up, as well as brighten up, under the simple prescription of more milk and sleep and a better all-round diet. In such cases, the change takes place through improvements in muscle tone and strength. Given a desire to stand correctly, the child who is well
