Officials who paid their respects to citizens of Gatesville and welcomed the visitors during the open house included Judge S. A. Lindsay, president of the Company; Oscar Burton, general manager; J. About three hundred visitors registered during the afternoon and evening.

At a sumptuous banquet table at the First Methodist Church, arranged by the local Chamber of Commerce, members of the official family of the telephone company and business men and citizens gathered for an hour and a half together.

A novel menu was presented, including shrimp cocktail, chicken, peas, dressing, sweet pickles, salad, coffee, and pie.

Judge S. A. Lindsay, president of the telephone company, Tyler, and chief speaker of the evening, outlined his career in the telephone business, stating that he "staggered into it because he believed it would be of service to peoples of the several communities which his company serves." He also related many interesting bits of his life history, business interests, associations and affiliations, ending with the statement that the new exchange was here for the service of Gatesville people and was the company's gift to the citizens of this community.

Preceding Judge Lindsay, Oscar Burton, general manager of the company, was introduced by toastmaster Fred G. Prewitt, and stated his "telephone connection" very nearly started with his "plug in" in Gatesville some long years ago, and that he always considered this one of, if not the best, town he had been privileged to serve.

Dan E. Graves, president of the Gatesville National Bank, was introduced by toastmaster Fred Prewitt, and in turn introduced Judge Lindsay. Invocation was given by Edgar Franks.

Present were Leake Ayres, J. M. Prewitt, H. S. Compton, R. B. Cross, C. H. Wallace, Guy Powell, Ercell W. Brooks, L. M. Stinnett, Floyd Zeigler, C. E. Alvis Jr., W. W. Bamberg,

THE LORD'S PRAYER!

Folks, that's what Coryell County and especially Gatesville citizens should say—and mean it—when it comes to water!

Sunday week, we saw San Angelo and vicinity. This week, east of us, in Waco, we see the results of the high Brazos. Of course, we have the Leon, which hasn't been behaving so nicely, and has done a lot of damage to crops, land, bridges, roads and other property, but nothing like what has been suffered by San Angeloans and Wacoans.

In Waco, and San Angelo too, the silt in the homes, yards, stores, stalled cars, garages, streets, sidewalks, the flower beds, lawns and everywhere the receding water touched is from 3 to 8 inches deep. Clothing, furniture, bedding, cooking equipment, everything these people, especially in the Waco district, own is ruined. Water rose as high as three feet in ten or fifteen minutes in some places. There was no time to save anything, except human life. It's unbelievable tragic, when people lost their property like these have.

Certainly, we have had heavy rains, but no floods, no serious dust storms, no tornadoes, no calamities of any sort that literally wipe out property, possessions, and leave us at the mercy of the Red Cross or other charities.

Coryell County and Gatesville have been lucky and we, by all means, should be thankful that we have been overlooked by these catastrophes which have so hampered the prosperity and well being of our neighboring communities.

We have one of the most prosperous, undisturbed communities in the Nation, and certainly should be thankful for our well being and lift our heads above the groveling "depression" talk of hard times and poor luck which WE CERTAINLY DO NOT HAVE, and of which we still hear too much!

Gridiron Hero Now a Film Comedian

At the wheel of a 1903 model Ford is Andy Devine, Hollywood comedian, who stopped in Dallas to visit the Texas Centennial and inspected the Ford Exposition. Devine's companion is Ann Gordon, an information girl in the Ford building. Devine is on his way to New Orleans to appear in a new picture, "Murder on the Mississippi."

Andy Devine, Universal Pictures comedian, who is kept very busy in Hollywood appearing in featured roles, visited the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas and attracted considerable attention in the Ford building, where he autographed everything that the fans offered him.

Devine entered motion pictures several years ago after making a name for himself in one of the larger universities as a football player. His peculiar voice attracted immediate attention and shortly he had parts in many prominent productions. His last part was that of Peter in the Romeo and Juliet version starring Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard.

From Dallas Devine goes to New Orleans to be featured in a new picture, "Murder on the Mississippi."

"I visited the Ford exhibits in Chicago and at San Diego, California," Devine said, "and it seems the building here is up to par with anything the Ford Company has done to date."

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Anderson were Waco visitors Tuesday.

Master Carl McClendon is spending this week in Dallas with his aunt, Mrs. C. E. Jones. While there he will visit the Centennial Exposition.

Passengers in the smoking compartment on my train were arguing about why railroad business is picking up.

A factory owner said it was because of this new Free pick-up-and-delivery of less than carload freight. This is door-to-door service with no extra charge added to the freight bill.

A traveling salesman said it was because so many passenger and freight trains now run on faster schedules.

There was a school principal in the group and he said it was because train travel is so much cheaper for passengers. He said passenger fares are at the lowest point in history, with substantial reductions if you buy a round-trip ticket—and no more surcharge for riding in sleeping cars.

One man, a farmer, said he liked something he could depend on, that's why he was traveling by train.

Another man, a newspaper reporter, said people were in favor of railroad travel because it is by far the safest. He quoted a lot of statistics from a book called, "Live and Let Live."

A banker we all know by name said railroad tax payments mean a lot in this state.

We are proud of railroad achievements, appreciate the public's good will and increased patronage, and pledge continued progress.

THE LORD'S PRAYER!

Folks, that's what Coryell County and especially Gatesville citizens should say—and mean it—when it comes to water!

Sunday week, we saw San Angelo and vicinity. This week, east of us, in Waco, we see the results of the high Brazos. Of course, we have the Leon, which hasn't been behaving so nicely, and has done a lot of damage to crops, land, bridges, roads and other property, but nothing like what has been suffered by San Angeloans and Wacoans.

In Waco, and San Angelo too, the silt in the homes, yards, stores, stalled cars, garages, streets, sidewalks, the flower beds, lawns and everywhere the receding water touched is from 3 to 8 inches deep. Clothing, furniture, bedding, cooking equipment, everything these people, especially in the Waco district, own is ruined. Water rose as high as three feet in ten or fifteen minutes in some places. There was no time to save anything, except human life. It's unbelievable tragic, when people lost their property like these have.

Certainly, we have had heavy rains, but no floods, no serious dust storms, no tornadoes, no calamities of any sort that literally wipe out property, possessions, and leave us at the mercy of the Red Cross or other charities.

Coryell County and Gatesville have been lucky and we, by all means, should be thankful that we have been overlooked by these catastrophes which have so hampered the prosperity and well being of our neighboring communities.

We have one of the most prosperous, undisturbed communities in the Nation, and certainly should be thankful for our well being and lift our heads above the groveling "depression" talk of hard times and poor luck which WE CERTAINLY DO NOT HAVE, and of which we still hear too much!

Gridiron Hero Now a Film Comedian

At the wheel of a 1933 model Ford is Andy Devine, Hollywood comedian, who stopped in Dallas to visit the Texas Centennial and inspected the Ford Exposition. Devine's companion is Ann Gordon, an information girl in the Ford building. Devine is on his way to New Orleans to appear in a new picture, "Murder on the Mississippi."

Andy Devine, Universal Pictures comedian, who is kept very busy in Hollywood appearing in featured roles, visited the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas and attracted considerable attention in the Ford building, where he autographed everything that the fans offered him.

Devine entered motion pictures several years ago after making a name for himself in one of the larger universities as a football player. His peculiar voice attracted immediate attention and shortly he had parts in many prominent productions. His last part was that of Peter in the Romeo and Juliet version starring Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard.

From Dallas Devine goes to New Orleans to be featured in a new picture, "Murder on the Mississippi."

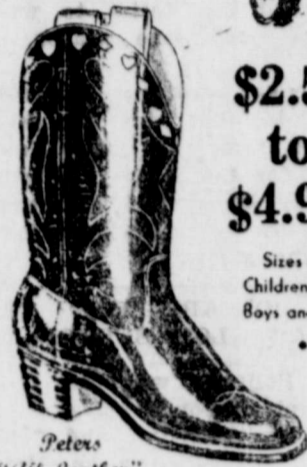

"I visited the Ford exhibits in Chicago and at San Diego, California," Devine said, "and it seems the building here is up to par with anything the Ford Company has done to date."

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Anderson were Waco visitors Tuesday.

Master Carl McClendon is spending this week in Dallas with his aunt, Mrs. C. E. Jones. While there he will visit the Centennial Exposition.

Passengers in the smoking compartment on my train were arguing about why railroad business is picking up.

A factory owner said it was because of this new Free pick-up-and-delivery of less than carload freight. This is door-to-door service with no extra charge added to the freight bill.

A traveling salesman said it was because so many passenger and freight trains now run on faster schedules.

There was a school principal in the group and he said it was because train travel is so much cheaper for passengers. He said passenger fares are at the lowest point in history, with substantial reductions if you buy a round-trip ticket—and no more surcharge for riding in sleeping cars.

One man, a farmer, said he liked something he could depend on, that's why he was traveling by train.

Another man, a newspaper reporter, said people were in favor of railroad travel because it is by far the safest. He quoted a lot of statistics from a book called, "Live and Let Live."

A banker we all know by name said railroad tax payments mean a lot in this state.

We are proud of railroad achievements, appreciate the public's good will and increased patronage, and pledge continued progress.

BRENNENDE KIRCHEN

In Spanien rauchen Hunderte von Kirchen. Allein in Barcelona sind alle zerstort. Der blaue Himmel schaut durch das verbrannte Dach hinein. Die Waende sind geschwaerzt. Der Alter ist ein Truemmerhaufen. Herrliche Bilder sind zerstort. Kruzifixe schweben auf dem Boden. Unheimliche Gestalten schleichen mit ihren Petroleumkannen herum und verbrennen, was anderen heilig ist. Es ist ein vulkanischer Ausbruch aus der Tiefe unterdrueckter Empörungsinstinkte, und die Kirche, das Kreuz, das Heilige leuchten als ein Fanal des Hasses und dienen als Symbole fuer den Geist, der verschwinden soll.

Es sind lauter katholische Kirchen, die brennen; keine protestantische ist angezuehndt worden. Man erinnert sich dabei nicht ohne Schaudern jener Flammenmale frueherer Zeiten, jener Autos da Fe der Inquisition wo Bibeln und Menschen brennen muszten. Aber angesichts der kirchlichen Berwuestung und der bewuszten Schaendung des Heiligen gibt es heur keine konfessionelle Erinnerung oder Gleichgultigkeit oder gar Schadenfreude. Alle, die noch christlich denken und fuehlen, werden mit Abscheu und Entsetzen diese sinnlose Zerstoeungswut anklagen, die hier an der Arbeit ist. Waeren solche Greuelthaten geschehen in der Hitze des Kampfes, so koennte man darueber hinwegsehen, aber es steckt Methode in diesem Wahnsinn.

Wir sehen das in Rusland wie in Mexico. Es geht heute Licht mehr nur um wirtschaftliche, soziale und politische Ziele. In diesen Kaempfen wird gleichzeitig ein Generalangriff auf das Christentum sichtbar. Es sind gewaltige Fronten eines geistigen Kampfes aufgestellt, in dem sich der Sinn der Gegenwart enthuehlt. Gewisz raemt dieser Kampf auch auf mit Dingen und Zustaaenden, die verwinden muessen. Ueber darueber duerfen wir nicht uebersehen, dasz hier ein dunkler und daemonischer Erdgeist am Werke ist, der sich erhebt gegen die uebersinnliche Welt, die Welt des Glauben, das Reich Gottes. Wohl flammt in diesen Kirchenbraenden ein neuer Glaube auf oder vielmehr ein Mythos. Eine neue Ideologie wird ausgedacht, die auch zu einer neuen Religionspolitik fuehrte. Im Fuenfjahrplan des Sowietkommunismus wird die Vernisshtung der Religion und der Kirche zu einem eigentlichen Programmpunkt gemacht. Wohl scheint die neue russische Verfassung eine Aenderung diese Politik vorgesehen zu haben. Die gesammte Christenheit begrueszt sie mit Freude; aber ist damit auch die religionsfeindliche Ideologie, der Hasz gegen das Christentum abgeschafft? Die brennenden Kirchen in Spanien scheinen das Gegenteil zu beweisen. Man Moechte hoffen, dasz sich soziale und politische Wandlungen vollziehen koennen, ohne Blasphemierung das Heiligen und mit einem letzten Respekt vor dem, was andern heilig ist. Wenn diese Ehrfurcht fehlt, dann enthuehlt sich ein letzte daemonische Tiefe des Menschen, in die hineinzuschauen einen schaudert.

Das christliche Gewissen mag heutige Verfolgung als ein gericht empfinden, das ueber das Christentum ergeht, und in der Stille des Herzens Busze tun. Aber trotzdem musz ein lauter Protest durch die Welt toenen gegen die Schaendung dessen, was Millionen heilig ist, gleichviel welcher Konfession sie an gehoeren.—Arthur von der Thur.

The Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church were entertained Tuesday with a luncheon which took the form of an ocean voyage around the world. Before boarding the ship which was the adult assembly room, the passengers purchased their passports from Mrs. J. D. English and Mrs. R. E. McCurry inspected them at the "gang-plank." During the cruise Mrs. Earnest Blankenship furnished the music and later during the program Mrs. Ed Schloeman and Mrs. Merle Carroll.

Mrs. John Milner who was Captain of the crew gave the historical and geographical outline of the various countries to be visited. The following missionary spirits assisted her; Mrs. Jimmy Stephenson, E. W. Jones Jr., Jim Ward, and Travis Hestlow. Spain was represented by Mrs. John Hodges and little Miss Lupe Najola; Rumania by Mrs. Elgin Davidson and daughter, Martha Ann, and Rozella McCoy; Italy by Mrs. Bill Weigand and Yvonne Davis and Katherine Ward; Hungary by Mrs. D. R. Boone; and Jugoslavia by Mrs. J. A. Painter.

This pageant was written and directed by Mrs. B. K. Cooper. Two attractive waitresses, Mrs. Lorraine Webb and Mrs. Byron Freeman, dressed as sailors served the travelers who were seated at small tables which were laid with a white linen cloths centered with baskets of roses and plumbago. The luncheon plate consisted of salad, meat loaf, gravy, bread, pie and tea was served to approximately sixty passengers.

Morton, reading the ceremony. Following the ceremony the couple left for a honeymoon trip, destination unknown. They will make their home in McGregor.

Dyson-Koch Nuptial.

Miss Emma Claire Dyson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Dyson of the Plainview community and Robert Gus Koch, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Koch, of that place, were united in marriage at a ceremony read by Rev. Mr. Bueening pastor of the German Bethel Church, located west of Gatesville. The marriage took place Saturday evening at six o'clock.

The couple left for Los Banos, California, the next day, and will make their home there.

Coming Marriage Announced At Coffee Thursday.

Announcing the marriage of her daughter, Miss Raye Virginia to Woodland Meador of Stephenville, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Meador of Valley Mills, Mrs. Laura Rayford entertained Thursday morning with a coffee at the home of Mrs. L. K. Thomson Sr. 1416 East Leon street. The marriage will take place at high noon, Wednesday, October fourteenth, at the First Baptist Church, this city.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. L. K. Thomson Sr. The receiving line included the hostess and the bride-to-be, also Mrs. T. P. Priddie Sr. Mrs. T. P. Priddie Jr. of Houston, Mrs. Irvin McCreary of Temple, and Mrs. Billy Nesbitt, recent bride.

Mesdames Jim McClellan and L. S. Holmes were in the living room, assisted by Mrs. J. A. Hallman, who took the guests to the guest room where they registered in the Bride's Book presided over by Mrs. Chess Sadler and Mrs. O. N. Hix.

During the morning Mesdames Byron Leaird Jr. and Clarence A. Morton rendered vocal selections accompanied by Mrs. Miller Stinnett who also played several piano selections.

Bouquets of gorgeous pink roses were artistically arranged throughout the house. The dining room table which was laid with a white lace cloth was centered with a modernistic blue oblong mirror which reflected in its surface a crystal bowl of delicate pink roses and baby's breath with blue crystal grapes on each side. White tapers burned in silver holders and in a branched candelabra on the buffet. Seated at the table were Mrs. L. K. Thomson Jr. and Mrs. Doyle Baldrige of Temple. They were assisted by Mesdames Floyd Zeigler, Rufus McKinney of Goldthwaite, Clark Jensen, and Miss Lindsay Belle Dickie, and Mrs. Stewart Williams.

The announcement was engraved on a blue miniature scroll in script, tied with dainty pink ribbon, bearing the names of the betrothed, and date of the wedding. These were placed on the refreshment plates.

The bride elect was gowned in an exquisite creation of Royal blue velvet, a model made on long lines which depended on its simplicity of fashion for its great beauty. The gown was designed shirt-waist style with leg o'mutton sleeves and a lovely red poppy adorned the wide velvet belt. Those in the house party wore gowns of the new autumn shades and corsages of pink rosebuds and baby's breath.

Approximately one hundred and fifty guests registered during the morning.

JOE E. BROWN IS COMING TO REGAL IN RIOTOUS FILM

Millions have read the hilarious exploits of Alexander Botts, the whimsical and egotistical tractor salesman and comedy hero of the famous series of stories, "Earthworm Tractors," written by William Hazlett Upson for the Saturday Evening Post.

Now Alexander Botts has been brought to life on the screen in the First National comedy, "Earthworm Tractors," which is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Regal Theatre on Saturday night at 10:30, also Sunday and Monday. Botts, on the screen, is no other than the famous wide mouthed comedian Joe E. Brown.

Joe is supported by a notable cast. He has two leading ladies, June Travis and Carol Hughes, and such talented player as Guy Kibbee, Dick Foran, Gene Lockhart, Olin Howard, Joseph Crehan, Sara Edwards, Charles Wilson, William Davidson, Irving Bacon and Stuart Holmes.

As Botts, Joe E. is in love with a small town girl, but she and her family frown on his suit because he is merely selling gadgets. Disheartened he finally picks out the biggest thing he can think of to sell, tractors. Knowing nothing about tractors, he writes the Earthworm Company asking for a job and stating he knows the machine so well he could build it himself.

He is sent to a small town as mechanical assistant to the salesman there. The salesman drinks some of Joe's shoe-polish by mistake and passes out so Joe takes over the sales end. He makes so many colossal blunders he is fired by wire, but by a strange twist of fate a big order is sent for tractors and Joe is reinstated.

While in the small town he and the daughter of one of his prospects fall in love with each other, but Joe goes back to marry his sweetheart. He finds her already married, and returns but stupidly tells the second about the first girl and is spurned again.

Carol Hughes plays the part of the first girl, and June Travis is the second and greatest love of Joe.

Joe gets into every kind of difficulty through his mistakes. However, he tackles the toughest prospect in the district, a cantankerous deaf old man and father of the girl who has just spurned him.

Through another monumental blunder he craves his prospect over a road that is being dynamited. Both are nearly killed and so is the daughter who followed them in a car to get Joe to turn back. Again fate turns to Joe's aid and he rescues his lady love from a pile of debris where she has been hurled by the blast. The detonations cure the deafness of the prospect and in a smashing climax of riotous nature, Joe becomes the hero of the old man and his daughter who promises to wed him, while the father puts in an order for many Earthworm tractors.

ALLOTMENTS OF FUNDS FOR SECONDARY SCHOOLS ARE APPROVED

Austin, Oct. 1.—Yndon B. Johnson, director of the National Youth Administration in Texas, announced Wednesday that allotments of funds for 1,299 secondary schools in Texas to provide part-time payment for students had been approved.

Applications from other schools are being considered as rapidly as they are submitted.

The allotments provide for employment of students on socially desirable work to enable them to earn a maximum wage of $6 a month. Most of the money earned is used for carfare, school supplies, lunches, or clothing, Mr. Johnson said.

Other schools desiring to participate in this program should apply to their county superintendent. Individuals seeking employment should apply to the principals of their schools.

TWO PARTIES RESCUED ON SUNDAY MORNING AT PECAN GROVE

Caught in the fast rising waters of Coryell Creek last Saturday night, Miss Eveless Cox and Kenneth Wiggins, residents of Pecan Grove, were forced to climb to the top of the tabernacle on the camp grounds there at 9:00 o'clock p. m. They were rescued at 1:00 a. m. Sunday by an unknown party.

An unknown man, his wife and baby were stranded on the Pecan Grove bridge over Coryell Creek Saturday night and were rescued during the night by Bonnie Martin of that community, who rode a horse to the bridge to rescue the parties.

the planning board, C. S. Clark, also member of the board and chairman of the State Board of Water Engineers, and Frank S. Robertson, of San Benito, conferred with the Vice President about the treaty in New York.

Presbyterian Church

The month of October is being observed by the whole of our Church as 'Loyalty Month.' There is something about the word 'loyalty' which makes us stand up a bit straighter. It has a very real nobility in its sound; yet to be loyal is within the reach of the most obscure as well as the most prominent. We do not speak of being loyal to objects but to persons; a man is loyal to his friend; an employer to his employee. Loyalty is our response to a trust committed to us, a confidence reposed in us. We reveal our loyalty to Christ by our loyalty to His Church.

For each of the four Sundays during the month, we are emphasizing October 4 as the day of Loyalty to Our Church, October 11 as the day of Loyalty October 18 as the day of Loyalty to Our Denomination. And October 25 as the day of Loyalty to Our Savior.

A loyal church member will make it a habit to attend church regularly; he will make an honest effort toward consistency of life at home and in public; he will participate actively in the work of the church where he can best serve; he will make a definite contribution to the maintenance of the church; and he will take his church letter with him when he moves, and unite with the church of his choice.

This is a call to all loyal Presbyterians in the city of Gatesville to attend church next Sunday. Be loyal to YOUR church.

Sunday, October 11, will be Rally Day. Every member of the church is urged to be present that day. There will be a congregational meeting at the close of the worship.

The public is most cordially invited to worship with us. You will receive a hearty welcome. "The Friendly Church."

TIPS FOR THE HOME

By HOUS N. HOM

WALLS AND CEILINGS OF KITCHENS MAY OF MADE STRUCTURAL GLASS

Wherever remodeling or new consideration is being given consideration is being given structural glass for kitchen walls and ceilings. It has been found to combine color and beauty with sanitation and ease of keeping clean. Structural glass will not absorb odors, crade, or grow dull with age.

One large Toledo manufacturer of structural glass offers the builder and home owner a wide range of color—sixteen in all—so that a great many effective combinations can be worked out. Plain colors of black and ivory, as well as many hues and shades in jades and agates, light, medium or dark, help to beautify the kitchen in a way never known before.

If the housewife spends a considerable time in the kitchen, she will be particularly appreciative of the saving of work, as well as the color and cheerfulness of structural glass walls and ceilings. If the work is done by servants, there is no better way to keep them cheerful and lighten the burden of their work.

The drab, old-fashioned kitchen of yesterday can be transformed into a joyful model of beauty and convenience, with little bother and at surprisingly low cost, as structural glass can be applied right over old walls, with plastic cement. In the long run, it is least expensive, for structural glass requires no yearly decoration or upkeep cost. Real estate operators have been quick to recognize its value and appeal to women, and are feauring it as a sales inducement in their advertising.

STRUCTURAL GLASS NOW IN UNIVERSAL USE FOR STORES

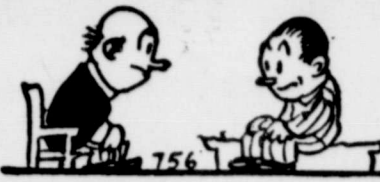

Attracts Trade—Increases Profits
Structural glass is the newest material now in general use for rebuilding and decorating store fronts. Its utility, its unusual beauty, and its sanitary features make it one of the most desirable materials for structural use. Its polished surface reflects light and color, attracting attention, and giving an atmosphere of newness at once noticeable and inviting to shoppers. Structural glass will last year after year, its surface unchanged, and may be cleaned as often as desired, a damp cloth only being needed for the job.

Store owners who build or remodel store fronts with structural glass will attract a better class of trade to their stores—and thereby increase their profits.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a Chicago gunman that was in trouble. He was going to be sentenced the next day.

So that night the minister was giving him some good advice and trying to console him.

"Don't you get discouraged," says the preacher. "Every human has his trials and tribulations you know, and we've all got to bear 'em."

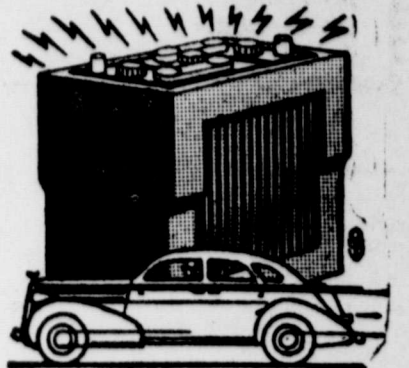

"Well," says the gunman, "I ain't complaining about the trials. They've been a sleigh-ride so far. And the tribulations I don't know nothing about, unless it's one of them motions the lawyers make for a hundred and fifty bucks apiece. But it's the sentences that worries me. Every human ain't got to have them, has he?"

WELCOME

Figures from the office reveal that approximately 175 high school students are from rural districts. This is almost half of the present enrollment. From other towns come new students. To all of you we extend a hearty welcome. Remember that you are not still attending your former school. You are now a part of one of the best and one of the most efficient schools in Texas. You are now a rooster of the "Black and Gold." To all of you fellow students, we again say Welcome!

Campus Lowdown Author Unknown

Well, here we are again for another hectic season of scribbling all the dirt we can glean from all the 380 students of this dear ole institution. For the two past years, this "Author Unknown" has worked alone, but this season the column is bolstered by two capable gals who will make the column the ace feature in the Hornet's Nest—we hope! These lassies are Cookie Cook and Jean Patillo.

Is Mildred Gandy making a play for C. H. Wallace because he is a football hero or because William Worrell has returned to the capital city.

"I draw the line at kissing, she said in accents fine;

But he was a football hero—
So he crossed the line."

The press club has the greatest membership it has had in many moons. Mr. Brock's tickling of the ivories increased his popularity 10 per cent. The lad from Waco is causing Miss Durham to buy aspirins by the gross. His center name is Martez! Is Ruth Hamilton lonely? (All together now—yeah man.) Mr. Schwarz's chief ditty is "Let a Smile be Your Umbrella on a Rainy Day." Mumps proved to be the Waterloo of Don Weaver, ex-stude. Is Wilma Franks really serious about George Donaldson? Jinx Tucker must hate Moody plenty. He even predicted a 30-0 victory for the Hornets. Whose ring is Betty McCoy Wearing. It belongs to a '35 graduate. Mary Ann Post didn't strain her vocal cords at Friday night's game as she did last year, but we don't wonder why. Joe Louis keeps in condition by shadow boxing the echo of his blows. Nellie Goodall should be receiving plenty of specials from Austin these days. Pauline Whigham is Ted Brazzil's ex. William Powell is a Jr. Lucille English and Dale Britain are both Juniors; they ought to get together. Mildred McMorde and Maxine Dollins are the freshwimmen who are on the spot! Overheard in public speaking—"Her s's whistle." Utense Sellers intends to be a coach; she has a good start anyway. Our weekly simile—As incomplete as Skeeter Shepherd without Mildred Grant. It's time to blow, but we'll breeze back in again next week.

Hornets Crush Moody Bearcats With Score 26-0

Unleashing a powerful attack featuring the driving of J. C. (Big Train) Byrom, the Gatesville high school Hornets chalked up their first victory of the season over the Bearcats of Moody, 26 to 0.

The Bearcats were a thoroughly outclassed aggregation of footballers, although they did threaten the Hornets goal late in the fourth quarter. All during the first three quarters they fought with their backs to the wall, but they were game and never quit.

The Bearcats kicked to the Hornets over into the end zone and the ball was brought out to the twenty. The Hornets could not go and they kicked to the Moody forty. Moody kicked back to Gatesville 40 and from there the Hornets marched right on to a touchdown.

From then on it was just the Hornets marching up the field to touchdown after touchdown.

The leader of the Hornets' brilliant all-veteran backfield was J. C. Byrom. This boy is tremendously fast and shifty and was consistently ripping the tackles and sweeping the ends for long gains all night, while his blocking and defensive work were above par. The line play showed up well all during the game, both on the offense and defense.

Because of the slippery gridiron, not much could be learned about the Hornets except that they have a powerful offense.

The dedication ceremonies and the pep squad drill were all rained out and the crowd was about half as large as expected.

Pep Squad Organizes.

On Wednesday, September 16, the 1936 Pep Squad was organized. The sheer leaders were chosen, being Frances McCoy, Ruth Hamilton, and Eloise Cook. Ruth Frances McCoy, who was chosen leader, and Ruth Hamilton were assistant cheer leaders last year. The uniforms for this year are the same as last year, except that nothing is worn on the head this year. The pep squad was there Friday night in full form yelling for the Hornets. Due to the rainy weather, they were unable to put on the stund which they had planned. However, if nothing happens, they will be ready for the game this Friday with Bruceville-Eddy. Miss Ernestine Durham was chosen sponsor of the squad.

Gatesville - Bruceville-Eddy Game Friday

Eight o'clock Friday night. Coaches Worley and Schwarz will present their fighting Hornets in another game. Their worthy opponent will be Bruceville-Eddy. From all predictions, Eddy has a much better team last year, which went down before the Hornets by a score of 19-6. "Dutch" Schneider, Bruceville-Eddy coach, would away his breakfast to come to Gatesville and beat his home town. We saw the Hornets on a wet field last week and they looked very favorable while playing in the mud, as they slashed to a 26-0 victory over Moody. If the weatherman will be kind to us and present us with a dry field it ought to be a bangup fight Friday night. Joe Satterfield, the flashy back from Comanche who was ineligible last year is supposed to be in the lineup, "Cotton" Davis, who was not in the game Friday night, is also expected to play some at guard. Joe Brown, the golden flash, will be ready to go. Byrom, Colgin, Baker and White are also expected to show the spectators what they can do on a dry field, weather permitting. If the field is dry our prediction is that Gatesville will come out on the long end of a 27-7 score.

Coach Schwarz

Coach Fred Schwarz, former coach of the Moody Bearcats, is now head line coach of the G-ville Hornets. Coach Schwarz came from Thorndale, where he graduated from the Thorndale High School. TOMATOES

By The Ton!

MORE tomatoes than any other vegetable are canned in this country today. The annual value of our tomato crop is estimated at more than $50,000,000 of which approximately $20,000,000 is spent for tomatoes by canners and manufacturers. Besides being canned, tomatoes are manufactured into soups, purées, catsups and tomato juice. From 1,000,000 to 1,250,000 tons are grown annually for the canners and manufacturers!

There is a very good reason for this. And that is that modern cooking minus tomatoes would be very much like the play of Hamlet with Hamlet left out. Not that there is anything so dramatic or heroic about the part the tomato plays in modern cooking, but as a general utility man he just simply can't be left out. What would the following recipes taste like, for instance, without the tomatoes?

Tomatoes Give the Tone

Tomato Fritters: Beat one egg slightly, add two cups canned tomatoes and one and a third cups crushed cracker crumbs, and season with salt and pepper. Drop from spoon into plenty of hot fat in a skillet. Brown on one side, turn and brown on the other side. Drain on brown paper. Makes about twelve small fritters.

Meat Loaf with Tomatoes: Add one small finely chopped onion, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon sage and one-half cup dry bread crumbs to one pound of chopped beef. Add one beaten egg. Mix well together and pile in a rounded mound in the center of a flat baking dish. Pour over one cup canned tomatoes and bake in a hot—400 degree—oven for about forty-five minutes, basting occasionally with the tomatoes. Serves four.

have dropped out of the high school, however, until now there are about 385 enrolled there. There are 90 seniors, 119 juniors, 90 sophomores, and 75 freshmen. There was an overflow of students in some of the classes, a few of them having over 60 members. Four hundred and nine students have enrolled in the Grammar school, thus far. Mr. Shelton reported that they are doing nicely.

Press Club

The Press Club met for the first time Monday morning. Jack Hestilow, senior, was elected editor. Other officers elected were: Jack Straw, sports editor; Sydney Gregory, joke editor; Eloise Cook, club editor; Helen Walley, society editor; Jane Thomson, feature editor; Jack Hearne, office editor. The Press Club plans to do big things this year according to editor Jack Hestilow. Miss Durham has been replaced by Miss Scott, librarian, as sponsor of this club.

Home Economics Club.

On Monday morning Mrs. Chapman, home economics teacher, called a meeting of the class interested in becoming members of this club. There was a large attendance and much interest was shown. The following officers were elected: Frances McCoy, president; Patsy Olsen, vice president; Pauline Turner, secretary and treasurer; Azalea Whisenhunt, reporter. The club will meet every Monday morning at activity period.

Supt. Ercell W. Brooks. Ercell W. Brooks comes to us from Waco to take the place of Mr. Williams, our former superintendent. Before accepting the position as superintendent of Gatesville schools, Mr. Brooks was Deputy State Superintendent of Central Texas Schools.

Mr. Brooks is the holder of a B. A. degree with Education Administration as a major from the West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon, 1930, and the holder of the Superintendent and principals certificate of administration required by a recent state regulation, and one of the few superintendents having a certificate of this requirement.

Mr. Brooks has had experience as principal of Thompson school, Walbarger county, for four years, County Superintendent of Wilbarger County for four years, City Superintendent of the Texline schools for two years, and Deputy State Superintendent of all the schools in seven counties for three years.

We believe that Mr. Brooks is going to do much to better our school. He is a likable person and has all the qualifications of a good superintendent.

Edna Murray.

Miss Murray was born in Gatesville and attended Gatesville schools. She went to Baylor and received her B. A. degree in 1930. She taught English in grades four, five, and seven; civics seven, and history five the past year. She is now teaching English grade seven civics grade seven, writing, spelling, art grade six, and English I in High School. Miss Murray has taught in Gatesville schools four and one-half years.

Linnie Fore.

Miss Fore was born in Gatesville. She attended Baylor and received her A. B. degree in 1936. Last year she was a teacher of math. in the Elementary School where she has taught for fifteen years. This year she is teaching civics and history in high school. Miss Fore's hobby is nature study.

The Cafeteria.

Next to football, the cafeteria is perhaps the most important part of our school system, especially about 12 o'clock, and after close of school. The cafeteria seems to be gaining in favor among school children this year, as some two hundred get their delicious lunches here daily. Mr. Cantrell and his wife are both very good cooks, very good servers, and a very ideal couple to operate the cafeteria in the very best way. The cafeteria puts forth every effort to please you, prepares excellent food, serves you politely and all in all is a very great asset to our school. Mr. Cantrell extends an invitation to all patrons to visit the cafeteria and see just how it is operated.

Personals:

Belva McCoy has been ill with mumps for the past week and has not been able to attend school.

Among the new pupils recently enrolled in high school is Danny Crist who hails from Waco.

The home economic girls are to act as hostesses for the opening of the new telephone office.

Because of heavy rains and the rise in the river, many pupils have not been able to attend school the past several days.

Our School Buses.

The number of buses has been increasing for three years. In 1934 Mr. Williams purchased three buses for the school; in 1935 two new ones were added to the list; now this year we are proud of the fact that we can again add two more new buses to the other five. Any student in our district who wishes to go to school can now be reached.

Bug No. 1 is driven by S. O. Watson and runs to Jonesboro. No. 2 is driven by Mr. Bell and runs to Arnett, Plainview and Purmela. No. 3 is driven by Mr. Gilbreath and runs to Leon Junction. No. 4 is driven by Mr. Cantrell and makes the Woodward and Leon districts. No. 5 goes to Ewing and is driven by N. E. Powell.

The two new buses, No. 6 and 7 are driven by S. N. Graves and A. Painter. They go to Osage and Coryell.

Cracks From the Campus.

Mr. McLaughlin: "What is HNO-2?"

George: "Oh-er-er it's right on the end of my tongue!"

Mr. Mc: "Well, spit it out: It's nitric acid!"

Esteen: "I see twenty-four Frenchmen and one Dutchman were killed in a train wreck."

Bobbie Melbern: "Poor man."

John Rufus: "Did you notice how my voice filled the auditorium?"

Danny Crist: "I did. Several people left to make room for it."

Mary Ann: "Is Bush a reckless driver?"

Helen Walley: "Say, when the road turns the same way he does it's just a coincident."

F. F. A. Class:

Approximately 85 students are enrolled in the vocational agricultural class this year, compared with 60 last year. This shows that more students are becoming interested in agriculture.

Applications for green hand and future farmer degrees are being filled out, and also applications for certificates of merits which are to be secured by the students of last year's agriculture class.

All students have begun to think about what project he will be able to carry for the coming year. Everyone is looking forward to the first trip which will be to the Brazos Valley Fair at Waco the latter part of October.

GATESVILLE HI. vs. BRUCEVILLE-EDDY TONITE

The Gatesville High Hornets take to the gridiron again tonight in an endeavor to down a former Gatesville player's team.

Tommy, "Dutch" Schneider brings a well coached fighting machine from Bruceville-Eddy tonight to try and down his high school alma mater. Dutch will be remembered here for his football ability during '28 and '29 and the continuation of his career at Baylor University, where he successfully made the varsity team.

Bruceville-Eddy boasts of a fairly large team, averaging 148 pounds on the line, and will present much more ability than the Moody team of last week's game.

This game will mean much to them and their coach, and they have been pointing for it since the beginning of the season. Gatesville has been well scouted, both during practice and actual playing conditions, by Schneider and they should be well prepared for anything that Gatesville can put out.

Gatesville's lineup will be little changed for tonight's game: Hinsley has been shifted to end, with Byrom and Baker taking care of the passing and kicking in the backfield.

Practice during the week has been rough and tough and an injured ankle may keep Colgin out of the game. In such an event, Baker will take on the signal calling and should perform creditably in that capacity. This boy's blocking looked impressive in the Moody game, and during the practice sessions he has been smearing the defense all over the field. Watch him tonight.

Joe Satterfield, former Comanche flash, will probably see action tonight. A blocking halfback, he is probably the fastest man on the Hornet team and has more football experience than any of them. Owing to a slight illness he started practice only last Monday but has enough on the ball to see plenty of service tonight.

Line Coach Schwarz is still spending sleepless nights trying to think of some way to make his guards block properly. Defensive work is fine but the running plays with the guards leading interference still look a little weak.

Adams and Voss have been having a merry struggle for the left tackle post. Both are big men and both full of fight, with little to choose between them. Adams seems to be the more consistent player, while Voss could rise to the point of brilliancy if "riled" enough. With "Fats" Williams at the one tackle position and both of these boys ready to go at the other, there should be some headsup playing on the line tonight.

J. C. Byrom will again strut his stuff tonight, with the capable blocking of Baker, White, and Satterfield paving his way.

During the week Byrom has been shifted to the passing post and has been slinging the pigskin in a very creditable manner. On a dry field tonight the Hornets should give some indication of their aerial attack strength. Last Friday's game was too sloppy weather for such an exhibition, but it did show a very noticeable weakness on pass defense for the Hornets. Moody would have completed several passes if the rain had not made the ball so hard to handle and the field so treacherous. If Bruceville-Eddy has has even a fair overhead attack then the game should be fairly even.

The price of admission has been raised to forty cents tonight. Many of the good citizens will probably shout "robber," but not the true dyen-in-the-wool fan. Many a Class B high school game at forty cents is better than some of the so-called college "thrillers" at much higher prices.

This cooler weather should bring all the gals out in their new fall outfits, and probably much comment will go on in the grandstand as to "Look what she has on! Why, I would not be caught in such a garb." Well, it's all in fun anyway, and a football game is one of the greatest melting pots in the world. Every week kings, crooks, and drunks turn out to see the boys fight over the pigskin. The followers of the "Swine-rind Art" are truly cosmopolitan in character:

SCANNING THE SOUTHWEST GRIDIRON

The biggest question mark in football this season is the Southwest Conference. Every sports writer in Texas had his champion picked during the practice sessions, but since the playing of several games and the resulting scores the boys are all shouting "mistake, mistake" and are re-picking their choices.

Jinz Tucker, the man who gets paid for picking them wrong at Waco, was shouting the praises of TCU before they played Texas Tech and came out on the little end of the score. Now the handsome brute is all for Arkansas, which may be isn't such a bad choice. With their impressive defeat of Pittsburg Teachers, 53-0, the Razor backs are a very definite favorite for the crown.

Dick Freeman of the Houston Chronicle picked TCU, Arkansas, and A and M College to finish the race in the order named. One of the upsets he also picked was for Texas to finish in the cellar. This is unusual in that Texas is supposed to have a great team this year for the first time in several seasons.

In spite of all the scribes switching from the Froggies of TCU, however, they can hardly be left out of the picture that easily. They can barely nose out Howard Payne and be nosed out by Tech, and still remain a definite threat in their own league. Howard Payne has a good, seasoned ball club this year and no team should feel disgraced at barely nosing them out. And as for Texas Tech, ranking with A and M as the second largest school in Texas, they could probably take on any team in the Southwest Conference and hand them the same drubbing, or worse. Tech is noted for its high ideals and clean sportsmanship. In the Frog game they only drew 105 yards in penalties, which is fairly good for Pete Cawthorn's boys.

Every team in the Conference is a potential champion and all deserve equal recognition. Baylor is always good as a dark horse threat, while Ray Morrison picks SMU to be the first team in history to annex the title for two consecutive years.

Arkansas, TCU, A and M, and Texas look the best on paper, but anyone's guess is as good as the next.

Here is the Coryell County News guess at the race, to be regarded with George White of the Dallas News:

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE: Major Heyward, youthful British officer, carries dispatches from England to Colonel Munro, stationed at Albany, New York, with orders to advance to Fort William Henry against the French and await reinforcements. His mission accomplished, the Major goes in search of Alice Munro, the Colonel's daughter. The Colonial Irregulars grumble at leaving their homes unprotected, but agree to march on Munro's promise that they can return home should the French Indian allies, the Hurons, break through.

Chapter III

MAGUA'S TREACHERY

As Magua left, Hawkeye and the Mohicans came on the scene. They caught only a fleeting glimpse of the Indian scout, but their suspicions were immediately aroused.

"Magua," Hawkeye exclaimed, "I wonder what that weasel is doing here?"

"Him scout," said Chingachcock. "Him say him Delaware."

Hawkeye frowned. "I bet a rifle against a powder horn that he's a Huron."

The two Indians nodded their agreement. "Come on," Hawkeye said. "I think we'd better warn Munro—he's not very smart about trapping weasels."

At the general's headquarters, Cora and Alice were packing for their long journey. Their door was open, and Hawkeye and the two Indians stood framed in the doorway for almost a minute before Cora looked up and gave a startled cry. Alice looked up too and seeing Hawkeye, her face hardened.

"What do you want?" she asked curtly.

"I want to talk to the Colonel," Hawkeye answered.

"Colonel Munro is not here."

"It's sort of important, ma'am."

Alice bridled instantly. The more she saw of Hawkeye, the more she disliked him.

"Do you doubt my word?"

"Of course not, only . . ."

Alice interrupted coldly. "I'm quite sure the colonel would not be interested in anything you might have to say."

"He'd be an awful fool then," said Hawkeye stiffly. "I came here to be of service."

"You! Of service!" Alice exclaimed. "If you want to be of service, then why aren't you in uniform?"

Hawkeye grinned. "Maybe I have too much sense to wear a red coat in the woods."

During this interchange, Uncas had been staring at Cora with obvious fascination. She observed his stare and struck from it Chingachcock also had noticed his son's fascination and his usually impassive features betrayed strong concern.

The conversation between Hawkeye and Alice ended with the indignant girl slamming the door in his face, so that Hawkeye's well-meant warning was never told to the colonel, and perhaps would have gone unheeded even if it had been. If Hawkeye had been present at the time of the girls' departure, he might have protested even more strongly, for Magua's proposal was accepted that the girls go by way of a short trail that he alone knew, leaving the army to take the main road. Major Heyward was to accompany the girls.

The drums beat and the trumpets sounded. The army lined up for the march. The Colonial Irregulars in front, colors flying. Behind them a ragged train of transport wagons and camp followers. The British Regulars then swung into line and in fine military formation marched as if they were on parade grounds.

Heyward's party, the two girls and their Indian guide, turned out at a trail leading from the main road. Their first day's journey seemed to them uneventful. Camping out, living Indian fashion, seemed a lark to the girls. As they broke up camp, Magua lagged behind to put out the camp fire. Had they not gone ahead, they would have seen him hold his mantle above the smouldering embers so that a huge cloud of smoke arose. He repeated the movement to form a second cloud of smoke, kicked dirt over the fire and moved swiftly on to join the party. Had Heyward been blessed with Indian ears, he might have taken alarm at the sound of a wolf call that rang out from a distance. Had he been blessed with an Indian's eyes, he might have observed that the woods about him became suddenly alive with swift but silently moving figures—Hurons in full war paint.

But Heyward suspected nothing and accepted Magua's explanation, when they halted beside a pool, that it was time to water the horses.

Four savage Hurons were full upon them before Cora looked up and screamed. Heyward drew his pistol, but Magua knocked his hand aside.

"No—these my people," he said.

"Oh, well what do they want?"

"Want pale face squaws," Magua said grimly.

Heyward stared coldly at his guide. "If this is treachery, Indian—" and again he levelled his pistol. But he was grabbed immediately from behind. Magua snatched the pistol from him and stepped back.

"Magua great warrior," he said boastfully. He whipped off his mantle to reveal half-healed welts on his back.

"White chief Munro fogged Magua like dog. Now Magua wipe out scars. Squaws live, you die—slow death . . ."

The terrified girls were seized by the Indians. Heyward attempted to spring to their rescue, but was overpowered by Magua, and the captives were being dragged through the forest, when suddenly one of Alice's captors slumped to the ground and the woods rang with the report of a gun. Immediately after, Cora's captor fell writhing, and again the report of a gun echoed through the woods. From afar came the triumphant sound of a war whoop.

"Mohicans!" Magua cried, and fled with his two unwounded companions towards the woods. A short shot dropped one of these Indians, but he raised himself and continued in his flight.

Heyward grabbed a musket from the side of one of the dead Hurons, cocked it and pointed it in the direction of his fleeing enemies. But they were already out of sight. Now, however, two more Indians, scalping knives in hand, emerged from the underbrush. Heyward pointed the musket in their direction, but Cora stayed his hand.

"Don't shoot!" she cried. "can't you see they're different from the others?"

"I don't trust any of them," Heyward cried and brushed her aside.

This time he was interrupted by Hawkeye who had slipped without a sound into the clearing.

"If your aim is as bad as your judgment, Major," he said, "I don't imagine there's much danger of your hitting 'em."
