Turnersville Hi Opens New Gym, Taking Two Of Three from Flat

Breaking the "ice" so to speak Turnersville High School opened their new gymnasium right Saturday night, when they took the opening game from Flat High School boys with a count of 15 to 5.

Suffering a setback in the second game of the evening, the Flat Junior Girls took the Turnersville Girls to camp to the tune of 13 to 1.

As a "nightcap" Turnersville Senior Girls were pouring it on the Flat Senior Girls, but the results, after the half, of this game was not received.

Here's a layout for some fast snappy basket ball, in one of the dandiest gym in this, or anyone-else's county, and it certainly a credit to the Turnersville community. Well lighted, well "basketed," with plenty of lobby, entrance, dressing room and everything else that it takes to make a good gym. Turnersville will pack 'em in during the coming "floor season."

UNCLE SAM GOOD COLLECTOR AS SHOWN BY REPORTS ON CROP LOANS

Figures received today show that in 1932-33 Emergency crop loans 98.69 per cent were collected; in 1934 90.46 per cent, and in 1935 93.35 per cent were repaid by farmers who borrowed money from the government to buy crop seed.

These are remarkable figures when it come to repayments, as anyone on the "receiving end" will tell you.

Coryell County, the informant says, was considerably above the average in repayment for the entire state.

Viewing the displays in the Brazos Valley Free Fair Sunday, the FFA, Gatesville Community, and other stock and farm people have very interesting exhibits at this fair, and have made a creditable showing, considering the fact that no elimination or other fair has been held in the county this year.

"MIDGET ORCHESTRA" HERE ENTERTAINING FIRST MONDAY CROWDS

Billie Joe, Don L. and Bobby Lee Beeman, "Midget Musicians" attracted considerable attention in Gatesville yesterday with their guitar, mandolin and violin music, a part of a publicity stunt put on by Walter's, who had them riding the top of the car on its trips round the square.

These musicians are making their appearance at the Brazos Valley Free Fair in Waco, in addition to playing other engagements at different places. They are sons of Bob Beeman who will be remembered as a former Coryell County resident. They now live in Pampa, Texas.

ADDED TO PENSION FUNDS

As state money in the Texas pension fund neared exhaustion, the entire picture was changed this week by the Legislature's enabling act authorizing transfer of the $475,450 permanent fund to that available for paying the assistance, Orville S. Carpenter, executive director of the Old Age assistance Commission, explained this week.

The Commission sent out $3,270 October checks ($1,301,787) Tuesday and then Friday mailed 2,000 more warrants ($28,844) bringing the total number of October recipients to 85,270.

This transfer will enable the addition of more names to the rolls during October. Funds transferred will not be sufficient for the State's share of the November payments, Carpenter explained.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Dornstead, of McAllen and son Leo of McGregor and Miss Ruth Jones of this city visited relatives in Cranfills Gap Sunday.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

A JOKE about Chicago now is pretty near as common as a joke about a Scotchman. Well, most of the Chicago jokes are a bit more common. And it seems that the real reason why folks josh Scotchmen and Chicago is that they are both great successes.

A sheriff in a country town in Indiana captured a burglar that broke into a house in his town. The papers had a story about the brave sheriff, and the folks in the little town were all rushing downtown to buy their clothes for the trial. The town was pretty important when, all of a sudden there comes a telegram from the Chief of Police of Chicago.

"We're sending two cops after that guy you caught," says the message.

"What for?" replied the sheriff, mighty nified.

"We want him in Chicago. He's a burglar," is the answer. But the sheriff wasn't satisfied. He wires back, "Ain't you got enough of them yet in Chicago? Can't you afford to let us borrow this little one until we get him tried?"

THIS PAPER CARRIES STORY "YEAR ROUND;" NEW STORY STARTS FRI.

Since the change in management, carrying a continued story continuously in the News is not just a "subscription talking point," but a year round feature. First we started, running the story once a week, but now the story appears in both issues of the News each week.

Two Sundays ago we were fortunate to hear over the radio a program, "We, the People." The Last of the Mohicans speak and tell of his people. For the past twelve issues James Fennimore Cooper's story, "The Last of the Mohicans" has been running, ending up in this issue.

Beginning Friday a story that is thrilling all America, "Valliant Is the Word for Carrie." This story is a best seller novel and has not been shown at a local theatre. Stars of the picture are Gladys George and Arline Judge. They say it's a tear jerker.

CORYELL COUNTIANS IN VARIOUS HOSPITALS

When Coryell Countians get sick they go places! Martin Donaldson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Donaldson, is in a Dallas hospital.

Mrs. Pat Potts has been in a Temple hospital for the past two weeks. Boone Gordon has also been in a Temple hospital.

Mrs. O. N. Hix is a patient in the hospital in Gatesville.

FATHER OF LOCAL MAN IN HICO PASSES AWAY LAST SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Lively of this city left for Hico Sunday morning, after a message had been received by Mr. Lively that his father had died.

Information as to the funeral arrangements had not been received here yesterday, but it is probable Mr. Lively's father was buried Monday.

Mr. Lively is newcomer to Gatesville and Coryell county and citizens here will be grieved to hear this sad news.

Aury Powell, who for the past two years has been principal of the Turnover school, left Monday for Fort Worth where he has accepted an appointment as Railway Mail Clerk.

Mr. Powell has many friends who are congratulating him in receiving this appointment.

RELATIVE OF CORYELLITES DIED IN UVALDE LAST WEEK

Surviving him is one sister, Mrs. Annie Waldrop of Oklahoma and 13 children, 23 grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren.

With 89 entries by 63 exhibitors, Coryell County's 2nd Annual Colt Show, went over bigger and better than last year, according to W. E. Lasseter, superintendent of the show. These two institutions—and they are institutions—both having been in Gatesville for years and years, are Arnold Drug Store and the Gatesville Drug Store.

You've read some of their publicity or know about these two 1c sales, and know, of course about their many values.

WORLD COMMENT

By JOE BURNS

Latest census figures released by the department of commerce place the population of the United States at 128,429,000 and show that Texas still holds 5th place in rank.

Since 1930, the nation's population total has increased by 5,388,888. This figure compares favorably with the yearly increase in the population of Japan, which has been termed the most prolific of all peoples.

New York leads all the states with 12,935,000. Pennsylvania is second with 10,136,000. Illinois has 7,845,000 and Ohio 6,713,000. Texas, in fifth place, has 6,117,000 and California 6,059,000.

Dallas gigantic Texas Centennial will reopen its doors on June 12, 1937, for a second run of five months, the closing date being set at October 31.

"We are going to reopen in 1937 with a better and more extensive world's fair," Director General Harry Olmstead said. "It will be an entirely new show, better and smoothly running by virtue of the experience gained through the operation of 1936.

The grounds of the $25,000,000 will be remodeled and revamped with several new buildings, exhibits, and concessions erected. All of the large exhibitors including, Ford, du Pont, General Motors and Chrysler will reopen their exhibits for the second run.

Next year there will not be any major exposition in the United States with the exception of the exposition at Dallas. San Francisco's fair does not open until 1938, and the opening date for New York's exposition is 1939.

Officials of the Dallas Fair are expecting the 1936 total attendance to have surpassed the 6,000,000 mark by the closing date. At this writing the grand total is 5,404,721.

This surpasses both the attendance records at the San Diego and Cleveland expositions. The former had a second year run. The Chicago world's fair was also extended for another year with financial success.

The recent accord between Germany and Italy may cause a complete revamping of the alliance map Europe. Already resulting from the Berlin-Rome agreement is the loss of a close ally by France. Yugoslavia, pro-French since its creation by the Treaty of Versailles in 1919, has definitely abandoned its ties with Paris and cast its lot with its two powerful Fascist neighbors, Italy and Germany.

Negotiated in Berlin by Italy's young foreign minister and son-in-law of Benito Mussolini, Count Galeazzo Ciano and Dictator Adolph Hitler of Germany, the new entente provides for the following points of policy:

1. Germany and Italy will support the Fascist forces in Spain and recognize General Francisco Franco as the new Spanish dictator when his forces enter Madrid.

2. Germany and Italy will pursue a common policy in respect to the League of Nations.

3. Germany extends recognition to Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

4. Germany and Italy will attempt to preserve the status quo in the Balkan region.

In spite of the reassuring utterances from the French Premier, Leon Blum, that the Spanish conflict would not involve the nations of Europe in a mafor conflict of catastrophic proportions, the chancelleries of the Continent are openly worried.

The Fascist and Communist causes and the nations of Europe espousing those causes, Italy and Germany on one hand and Russia on the other, are fighting one of the most brutal wars in the history of the world on the Iberian Peninsula.

Russia is aiding the Reds in Spain, while Italy and Germany have from the beginning of the conflict sent arms, munitions and trained fighters, to aid the cause of the rebels. One of the main reasons for the rapidity and success of the rebel attack upon Madrid was the fact that the spearhead of attack consisted of myriads of tiny tanks manned by Italians and spurring death from machine-guns and tiny mortars.

Britain and France, the latter in alliance with Moscow but by no means eager to fight, are fearful the taint of the animosities arising from Spain will grow the germ which will again send Europe to war—and to chaos.

DOLLAR SALES IN DEPT. STORES INCREASE THIS YEAR

Austin, Tex., Oct. 31—The dollar sales of department stores in Texas during September increased substantially over the like month last year and the gain in sales from August to September was greater than the average gain between these two months, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Reports from 87 representative establishments show total gains of 16.7 per cent over September last year. The increase from August to September was 40.3 per cent against an average of the seasonal gain of 35.8 per cent. During the first nine months of the year aggregate sales increased 16.6 per cent over those of the corresponding period last year.

Eastern markets are consuming 60 per cent more California wine than they did in the year 1935.

long or short sleeves, interesting necklines, lots of pockets on the chest and hiplines, and they come in every color you can ask for, with old gold leading in popularity.

Brushed wool sweaters have come into their own. We find anything from short sleeveless jockey coats, to the elaborate twins. Both sweaters are the same material, but the short sleeve "first" one is often of a different shade. Robin Hood green coat sweaters, boast a twin of old gold, and chocolate brown ones choose mates of rust. When both sweaters are the same color, each is trimmed with narrow brilliant bandings and matching leather buttons.

Jersey is especially popular with girls at Texas College for Women (CIA). These sweaters are very tailored shirtwaist models, and they are trimmed with self stitching or small bone button. Some of them are over blouses, but the majority have a slender waist band that fastens in the front with a covered buckle.

Fancy sweaters are distantly related to the twin sweaters. These giddy imports are ablaze with cut-out hearts, with Alpine flowers, and oak leaves. Sleeveless felt vests, likewise adorned with sentimental trifles of hearts and flowers, are grand after months of being practical.

The sweaters are all short perky little things of vivid color and even brighter trimmings.

Glass Bathrooms Modern as Tomorrow

To possess beautiful bathrooms seems to be the desire of every American family. Leading archiitects and building designers have been quick to catch that fancy and cater to it, as is evidenced by the greatly increased number of installations, where bathroom walls and ceilings are built entirely of structural glass. In a recent nation-wide competition for beautiful bathrooms, a large portion of the prize-winning designs featured the use of structural glass. Prominent clubs and hotels, also apartment hotels, have adopted the mode and even manufacturers are showing a decided preference to glass in building their display and show rooms.

One reason why the glass "era" is becoming so popular, is because the first cost of structural glass is also the last. It needs no yearly decorating, it is practical and sanitary, and can be quickly and easily cleaned at any time—the use of a damp cloth being all that is required to maintain its polished surface.

Then too, structural glass is now made in a wide range of beautiful colors and color combinations of jade, agate, and several rich tones of blues can be combined with the plainer colors of white, ivory and black. With structural glass a bathroom interior may be made very simple, or it can be designed to meet the most fastidious requirement.

Structural glass has particular advantages in modernizing existing bathrooms, for it can be applied with plastic cement over old walls and ceilings which are dry and secure, with very little delay or inconvenience. Many an unused attic space can be quickly converted into an interesting bathroom. A simple arrangement of white structural glass for the wainscoting and tub recess, trimmed at the top with narrow metal moulding, combines with the colors of the floor, walls and fixtures to produce a strikingly beautiful effect.

The surface of the structural glass is hard, gleaming, sanitary and non-absorbent. It will not craze or grow dull with age, but will keep its newness and color as long as the building stands.

West Team Defeats Gatesville Hornets 25 to 0

Coaches Worley and Schwarz Bite Nails While Players Bite Dust

Naming the Hornet football team, of Gatesville High School, honor guests, the West Trojan's Athletic Association entertained with an afternoon tea dance last Friday sponsored by the "Little Giants Sock 'em and the Score social Club."

The large open-air pavilion, adjoining West High School, was tastefully and originally decorated as a weed-strewn plowed field, with horizontal white stripes and goal posts at each end, adding the suggestion of a football field. Music was furnished by the Gatesville "Weeping and Walling Rooter's Band", composed of some thirty or forty pour souls who drove sixty-four miles to attend the function.

Three of the West hosts were the lions of the hour, carrying away all honors with their superlative dancing, featuring their famous "Tbuckdown! Strut". Msers. Gambel, Beseda, and Dvoracek held their guests, the Hornets, spellbound as they waltzed nimble-footed back and forth up and down the field. As one spectator so crudely put it, "Watch them Bohunks go!"

The occasion was enjoyed by everyone, except, of course the Hornets and Gatesville spectators.

The Gatesville High Hornets are now definitely out of the running after their third straight loss, 25 to 0 to the West Trojans. Perhaps they were never in the running, unless it was after the Valley Mills game when they were considered district threats, but Clifton and Mart upset that particular apple-cart, and West added the final touch. Which may be all for the best, for perhaps now they can settle down and beat Mt. Calm. To beat Hamilton and McGregor is asking too much. One more win is all the fans are asking to complete a typical Hornet season. It may come to pass, that in posterity's dim corridors there is lurking a Gatesville football team that will come forth to win a district title, but I fear not in this generation. Hallelujah, sister, after all it's only a game, as every loser so sportingly says.

The comic who entertained the crowd between halves with the public address system deserves a vote of thanks from the Hornet backers. He injected a note of merriment into an otherwise dull occasion.

Gambel accounted for two Trojan markers an Beseda and Plsek tallied the other two. The famed Hornet pass defense failed to perfection again, leaving the goal-line path wide open. Two identical passes put the Trojans on the Gatesville twenty yard line twice and each time the hard running Gambel crashed across, leaving the Hornets clutching at empty air. Beseda unlimbered a slow, lumbering 77 yard gallop for the longest scoring run of the game, trotting across the pay stripe with the Hornets panting futively at his heels. West should have scored again, the receiver dropped a long pass after he had crossed into the end zone.

Little Joe Baker emerged as the star of the Hornets. His short but effective kicks got Gatesville out of several bad holes, one of them going over the Trojan safety man's head to place West in a spot on their own ten yard stripe, from which they successfully escaped however. Wallace, the Hornet's spark-plug and most consistent performer, went into the game with an injury and only played a few minutes. King alternating at center and guard, handled his assignments efficiently and was a mainstay in the line.

As usual the center of the line proved the stronger. West making most of their gains at the ends and tackles and by passes. The old story of experience making a ball player still holds good. Green boys can hardly expect to become champions in six weeks.

The Hornets possess a wealth of material but like the aggressiveness and alert play that will come from several seasons of competition. The team as a whole seems to be made up of "silent but not so strong men." Rarely does the team "talk it up" on the field, but continue to play in their non-committal reserved way.

The Itasca Wampus Cats, supposedly one of the strongest teams in the district, only beat McGregor 18-0 last Friday nite. The Hornets favored greatly over the Bulldogs at the start of the season, are now not so greatly favored. The annual Thanksgiving classic, to be played at Gatesville this year, is promising to be a good battle.

NEW CARS REGISTERED IN TEXAS OVER THAT OF 1935

Austin, Tex., Oct. 31.—New passenger car registration in thirteen representative Texas counties during September totaled 4,364, a decline of 14.6 per cent from August, but an increase of 41.9 per cent over September last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Sales during the first nine months of the year in these 13 counties totaled 51,642 cars, an increase of 21.8 per cent over the corresponding period a year ago.

The change over to the 1937 models by a number of car builders doubtless accounts for the decline from August to September, the Bureau's report stated. Unusually large back orders announced by several companies should soon be reflected in expanding registrations, the Bureau added.

MORE EMPLOYEES IN TEXAS BUSINESS THIS YEAR THAN LAST

Austin, Tex., Oct. 31.—Reports to the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas from more than 1,500 Texas business establishments show a total of 79,773 employees during September, an increase of 7.5 per cent over September last year and 2.9 per cent over August. Average weekly pay rolls totaled $1,788,723, an increase of 8.9 per cent over September last year and 2.9 per cent over August.

Industry groups making above average gains were building materials, clothing, textiles, cotton oil mills, wholesale and retail distribution, food products, furniture manufacturing, newspaper publishing, petroleum refining and steam railroad car shops.

The pleb at Annapolis is simply regarded as a worm.

Home Demonstration Club followed the method outlined and demonstrated by J. R. Rosborough, Extension Horticulturist, in making grape juice and her product was given first place in the Home Demonstration Exhibit Saturday.

She used ripe mustang grapes and after heating them, filtered the juice through flannel, producing a clear grape juice.

Taxes Paid in Texas by The Frisco Rail, Paid 1,678 School Pupils

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 29—Taxes paid in the state of Texas by the Frisco railway in 1935 were sufficient to maintain 1,788 pupils in Texas schools for one term, according to a survey just completed by the railway.

The Frisco paid an aggregate of $79,954.88 in the state, road county, school, city and special taxes to the state last year, it was shown. This figure, divided by $47.64, cost per pupil in Texas schools, according to figures of the U. S. Office of Education, illustrates the part that railroad taxes play in educational affairs of the state.

NEW CHARTERS GRANTED TO TEXAS CORP. SHOW INCREASE

Austin, Tex., Oct. 31—New charters granted to Texas corporations during September totaled 123, an increase of 23 per cent over September last year, but a decrease of 6.8 per cent from August, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Capitalization of $1,639,000 was 2.8 per cent above September last year, and 29.1 per cent below the preceding month. For the entire third quarter capitalization of $5,521,000 was 11.1 per cent below that of the corresponding period a year ago.

Gain in the number of new charters granted in September over the like month last year was shown in manufacturing, oil, and public service groups.

The number of plants chartered with capital of 5,000 or less increased substantially over a year ago, whereas a number of large concerns with capital of $100,000 or more declined very sharply.

REWARD FOR GOOD PRESERVES

"I like good preserves," stated a merchant and Mrs. W. B. Duncan, Pantry Demonstrator of the Harmon Home Demonstration Club, who made the good preserves received the prize he offered.

According to the judges, "The good preserves hold their shape full pack, are uniform in size and shape, are free from crystals, not too dark from over cooking or too light from under cooking, taste like the natural fruit as far as possible, are crisp, tender, plump, and the pieces are translucent."

With these points to remember, the Home Demonstration members in making preserves strive to "make the best better".

Those other than Mrs. Duncan who made good preserves, each winning a first place were: Mrs. R. A. Bertrand of Purmela, Mrs. W. Melton of Carden, Mrs. Geo. Moore of Purmela and Mrs. Nolte of Hood Springs.

The LAST of the MOHICANS

THE JAMES FENIMORE COOPER Classic
 RANDOLPH SCOTT • BINNIE BARNES • HENRY WILCOXON
 A RELIANCE PICTURE • Released thru UNITED ARTISTS

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
 In the massacre of Fort William Henry, (1757) Colonel Munro, commanding the Fort, is killed and his daughters, Cora and Alice, carried into captivity by the Hurons. Hawkeye, an American hunter, and Major Heyward, rivals for Alice, set out in pursuit. With them are their Mohican allies, Chingachgook and his son, Uncas. Uncas rescues Cora but is killed by Magua, Huron Chief. Cora hurls herself over a cliff to escape Magua. Magua is in turn killed by Chingachgook. To save Alice, Heyward and Hawkeye both offer themselves as prisoners to the Hurons, Heyward claiming to be the much sought after Hawkeye.

Chapter XII

WHICH IS HAWKEYE?

The Hurons stared at both men in bewilderment.

"Do you want proof?" asked Hawkeye. "Then bring us a rifle."

The Sachem frowned. And then, as he caught the drift of Hawkeye's plan, he smiled and nodded.

"Pick your target, Major," said Hawkeye grinning.

Heyward was sober. "The guard by the door," he suggested.

"That?" said Hawkeye scornfully. "Why I could spit in it." He looked around, and then spoke in the Huron tongue to one of the warriors. "Put a clay jug on that stake."

The distance was so great that in the torchlight the jug was barely visible. Heyward was incredulous.

"You mean to try to hit that—by torchlight?"

The Sachem eyed both men grimly. "Hawkeye will hit it," he said.

Heyward frowned, but lifted the rifle and took careful aim. The bullet shattered the jug, leaving only a small fragment on the stake. The Hurons murmured their approval. This was surely Hawkeye.

But the real Hawkeye only smiled, grasped the rifle and let the barrel drop carelessly in his palm. The piece was fired as if by impact. The fragment disappeared.

The Hurons now whooped their approval, their animosity apparently forgotten, as they crowded around Hawkeye to congratulate him on his shot. The Sachem glared at Heyward.

"You creep into village and lie like singing bird. Take squaw and go. When sun come over hills, my braves go look for you."

Alice was led forward and released. She stepped up to Hawkeye with a little cry, but he spoke rapidly, urgently.

"You have until sunrise before they start after you. Chingachgook's watching. He'll find you and take you to safety. He's not to come back for me. My orders, Major. Do you understand? You have Miss Munro to think of."

Alice flung her arms around Hawkeye and began to kiss him passionately. The guards pulled her away.

"Go!" ordered the Sachem.

With Chingachgook as their guide, Heyward and Alice trudged silently through the forest. Alice began to weep.

"Father—Cora—Uncas—and now Hawkeye—the greatest spirit of them all."

Heyward nodded a gloomy assent. Suddenly Chingachgook, a few paces ahead, stopped short.

"What is it?" asked Heyward in alarm.

"Many come. Yengeese." Heyward shouted joyfully. They plunged through the underbrush to meet their rescuers.

Hawkeye, bound to the stake, stripped to the waist, viewed quietly the preparations for his torture. Around his feet the brushwood was piled to his knees. The Indian warriors sat in rows around him, watching his face keenly for signs of weakness. Screams of delight came from the squaws as an old hag brought in a burning brand and set fire to the brushwood. The smoke began to curl around Hawkeye's body.

Despite his anxiety to affirm the honor of his race, Hawkeye squirmed slightly. A squaw stepped up and placed a burning pine needle on his arm. He groaned. The Indians began to laugh and jeer.

Hawkeye shook his head. "Uncas, now," he reasoned, "would have shown you how a warrior can die. But it's not a white man's gift to stand pain and not show—"

A volley rang out. Several Indians plunged forward. The others leaped up and rushed for their arms. The women and children scattered, screaming. The surprise was, however, complete, and the Hurons were completely unable to form any defense. Chingachgook bounded forward, Heyward close on his heels. While the Major kicked away the burning brands, Chingachgook slashed away the bonds with his knife. Hawkeye reeled forward groggily into Heyward's arms.

"Thanks, Major," he said hoarsely. "Getting a little warm." "I was always sure you were born to hang," the Major answered grimly.

Hawkeye's rescuers were part of an advance column under General Abercrombie. Regulations were regulations, and having saved Hawkeye from death by torture, they now held court-martial over him, preparatory to his hanging.

Strangely enough, however, he found an able defender in Major Heyward, who was presumably pressing the charges.

"He did instigate the men leaving the Fort," Heyward argued, "but let me recall to you that had he not, those men would never have met your command to save them from an Ottawa ambush, and you, General Abercrombie, might not be here to pass judgment on him. Also it is true he struck an officer. I am that officer, so you may believe me when I say that if he is guilty of insubordination, I am guilty of exceeding my command by goading him to it."

General Abercrombie smiled. "May I ask, Major, if you stand before this court as his accuser, or his defense?"

"Neither, General—I am merely telling the whole truth."

"Since you are so familiar with the case," the General said, "I would welcome a recommendation."

"I would recommend that he be attached to the British army as a scout."

The time had come for parting. Major Heyward was to return to England. And Alice? She waited for Hawkeye's word.

But Hawkeye had come to a decision. His way led into the wilderness, to paths as yet untrod by the paleface. He was a pathfinder, a pioneer. And his life was not the life for a delicate English girl, used to the ways of the civilized world. His word was—goodbye.

"But you once said you loved me."

"I do—I always shall. And that is why I say goodbye."

And so Alice was left behind to wave sad farewell as Hawkeye stepped in his place in the British column, Chingachgook by his side.

An officer roared a command: "Forward! On to Canada!"
