President of U. S. to Receive LLB At Baylor University in Waco Sat.

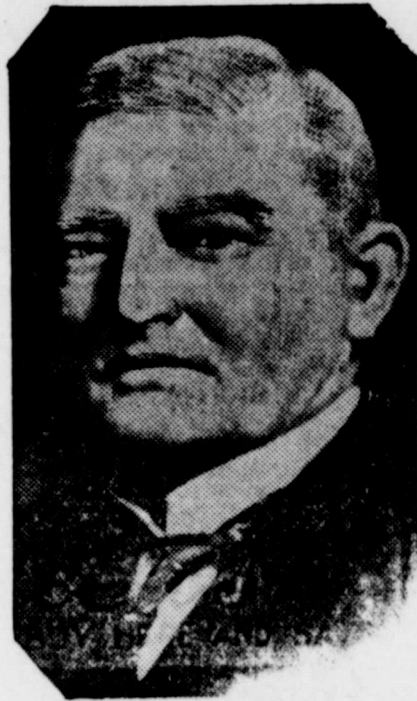

John Nance Garner, usually Vice President of the United States, but President now since President Franklin D. Roosevelt sailed on the cruiser Indianapolis for Buenos Aires, Argentine, South America, for a peace conference of 21 nations. President Garner will be given an L. L. B. degree at Baylor University, Waco, 45 miles east of here.

This is the first time in history that so distinguished a man has received a degree from this University, and it is the nearest one so distinguished has ever been to Gatesville.

The importance of the occasion has brought Paramount, Metrotone, and Fox news-reel camera men in addition to a radio hook-up over stations WFAA, WOAL and KPRC, in addition to flocks of Associated, United, and all the major news gathering agency representatives to write up and photograph the proceedings Saturday morning in Waco Hall, according to Pat M. Neff, President of the university.

In the afternoon, Dr. John Nance Garner will attend the Baylor-SMU football game, after which he will proceed to Dallas where he will be present on Monday for the Victory Jubilee cratic party in the last presidential campaign.

Making this day an even better day for children of this county to attend the Centennial on their Special Day, Monday, November 23.

CHURCHES UNITE TO HOLD COMMUNITY SERVICE IN NEW BUILDING FOR FIRST TIME IN CITY'S HISTORY.

Thanksgiving service will be held in the new City Hall Auditorium Wednesday evening, November 25th, at 7:30, with the Reverends C. A. Morton, M. M. Chunn, and James M. McLean, who will make the principal addresses.

Although the program is not complete, (and will be announced in Tuesday's issue of the News), all the choirs of the churches of Gatesville and throughout the county are asked to join in bringing the music for the occasion.

This is a novelty in Thanksgiving or holiday music, for it has been many years since the churches of the city have united in a community-wide service such as this will be.

This service will also be unique, due to the fact that it will be the first service of its kind that has been held in the new auditorium, and too, other organizations of the city have attempted to hold dedicatory services opening the new building and for various reasons, their plans have not proved successful.

According to City Hall officials "the thought is by no means to confine the program to the churches alone, but as a community-wide service with community-wide participation.

MAJORITY POULTRY DEALERS CLAIM MORE TURKEYS THAN ON '35 MARKET

Talking with different poultry buyers of Gatesville and surrounding territory, the consensus of opinion is that the Thanksgiving movement of the national bird has been considerably greater, in some instances, as great as both the Thanksgiving and Christmas movement of 1935 even at the prices which were offered this year.

One buyer stated yesterday, that he would finish up Thursday and that on this Thanksgiving market, he would buy as many turkeys as he bought both during the Thanksgiving and Christmas markets last year.

Another buyer said he had been kept up most of the week caring for the purchases he made and that he was glad it was over so he could get some sleep.

A third stated, that he did do as well as usual and that there were still 75 per cent of the turkeys to be bought for the Christmas rush which he was expecting.

All in all, it seems that the turkey market for Thanksgiving was considerably better than was anticipated, and a far greater one is expected beginning approximately December 7.

LEAIRD'S TOY AND GIFT CITY STORMED BY 1,000 IN TWO HOURS TUESDAY

More than one thousand Christmas-minded men, women and children literally packed Leaird's Toy and Gift City Tuesday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock, proving convincingly that the local Xmas shopping period is going to be a stand-out for volume.

Souvenirs were given to each present, and the grown-ups were surprised that there was such a variety of choice gifts to be had at such reasonable prices.

A souvenir "Christmas Shopping List," appropriately decorated was handed to every visitor, which carried a delightfully new Christmas theme in colors, in addition to clever Christmas verses on each of three pages.

Coryell County School Days at the Texas Centennial in Dallas are Sunday and Monday, November 22 and 23, at which time approximately 300 students, teachers and others as chaperones will make their pilgrimage to this exposition in Dallas. Plans are now for the students to leave here Monday, making the trip in one day only.

Superintendent Ercell Brooks stated laste yesterday afternoon that there would be very few students from the Gatesville schools who would make the trip. However, as we understand it, those who do go will be allowed Monday as a holiday, as it has been officially proclaimed so by the Governor, James V. Allred.

According to the Waco News-Tribune, quoting Deputy District Superintendent A. M. Tate, the special train will leave Waco at 7 a. m., November 23, arriving in Dallas at 9:30, and from the depot to the Fair grounds, street cars will transport the youngsters for seven cents fare each way. Fare on the train will be $1.00 for the roundtrip. Parents and teachers may go in as large numbers as they wish. The train leaves Dallas at 10 p. m. returning to Waco at 12:30. When the parties reach the fair grounds, a special 25 cents admission is granted, provided there are at least five children with each adult presenting himself for the school rate.

From Turnersville, we understand there are 122 going; Coryell Church school will send 19; Coryell City, 15; Osage, 20; Spring Hill, 10; White Hall, 22; and unnamed numbers from Antelope, Ewing and Levita. Reports from County Superintendent J. M. Witcher's office did not mention any other schools, but there probably are others from the different schools of the county who will make the trip.

Plans, but as yet indefinite, are that a train at McGregor may be taken also for the trip. We have no confirmation of this as yet.

FARMERS LAST CHANCE IS SATURDAY TO SIGN FOR ELECTRICITY IN HOME

BEANS
Are Busy
These Cold Days

Do you know beans? Do you know, for instance, that there are two general types of canned pork and beans? One type is baked in ovens and called baked beans. In the other type the baking is omitted, and the beans are cooked in the can after it is sealed.

There are also two or three different types of sauce. Some beans are packed plain. Others with tomato sauce. Some are packed without pork as a so-called "vegetarian" product. Look at the labels and select the kind you like best.

Then there are canned lima beans. Podding raw limas is a hard, time-consuming job. Housewives want to avoid it. Even right in the raw lima bean season, many of them buy canned limas to save this labor.

For Winter Warmth

At this season of the year, this good nourishing vegetable is in great demand because it helps those who eat it to resist the cold. Of course if you know beans, you know how to prepare them for the table, but here's a recent recipe for lima beans that you may not have learned.

Stringless Beans in Cheese Sauce:

Drain the contents of a No. 2 can stringless beans and spread out in a shallow baking dish. Make a white sauce of three tablespoons butter, two and a fourth tablespoons flour, two-thirds cup liquor from the beans, two-thirds cup water and two-thirds cup evaporated milk. Season to taste with salt and pepper, add two-thirds cup grated cheese and stir until melted. Pour over beans. Cover with buttered crumbs and brown in hot oven. Serves six.

CORONATION—

Jane Stone and Duke Ben Owen Kindergarten kiddies brought the house down with laughter and applause at their antics, bows, and leadership.

Minstrel Preceded Coronation

With Bob Thomas as interlocutor the minstrel show proved entertaining, with Jack Straw probably taking off the honors as end man, and Frances McCoy lifting the honors as a monologist with her telephone skit.

Vocal numbers by The Three Favorites, Belva McCoy, Nell Goodall and Helen Chamlee, carried their share of applause. Choruses were unusually good.

John Rufus Colgin of the "deep voiced" side of the show, proved probably the outstanding male performer with his rendition of the popular new song, "When Did You Leave Heaven?" seeming more at home with his lines and being better at home with the audience than the other male members.

C. H. Wallace tapped out the rhythms of the famous "Organ Grinder's Swing" to the delectation of the house.

Monologues by Patsy Olsen and Anita Lowrey were well taken.

Concession Features

In the high school entertainments were concessions including ring pitching, nail driving, Madame Know-See-Hear, a Country Store, House of Magic, Fish Pond, barkers, peanut vendors, and many other attractions including a large collection of curiosities.

State settings were handled by Carl W. Bradley and A. R. Clary, the lighting being realistic and beautiful. Directors of the entire program included Miss Lois Scott, Miss Mamie Sue, Halbrook, Miss Ernestine Durham, Miss Louise Carlil, Fred ing played with such success in concert at the Wigmore Hall and the Queen's Hall in the annual Matthay Festival Concerts. After Powell's first year in London with Mr. Matthay, the following statement appeared in the American Matthay Journal of 1934:

"William Lytle Powell is one of the most arresting personalities among the American students

He is an indefatigable student, with all the gifts of a great artist in the making."

Powell won first honors with the Senior Silver Medal after his first year in London, following this with the Chopin prize and the Overseas prize during his second year. He is one of the two Americans to hold the Teacher's Diploma from the Tobias Matthay Pianoforte school as well as the honorary Artist's Players Diploma.

On May 27, 1936, Powell, at the age of 21, made his London debut, which was widely acclaimed by English critics.

Lytle Powell will be in the States the next six months concertizing and will return to London in June 1937, for further concert engagements in England and the Continent.

Tickets for the performance may be obtained from the City Drug Store and from members of the Morris Federation and the Lions Club.

"THE TEXAS PRESS" OF THE DALLAS NEWS LAUDS HENRY EDWARDS

"The Texas Press" column of the Dallas Morning News has the following to say with regard to Henry Edwards, father of Mrs. Fred G. Prewitt, who was recently buried in Tyler:

"The passing of Henry Edwards, for many years an ornament to East Texas journalism, removes from Tyler and all Texas, one of the finest figures in the service of the Texas press, and one of the most beloved members of the Texas Press Association. He was the owner and editor of the Tyler Journal, and he loved it and loved his work. He cast his lot in his early years with the Troup Banner and from there went to Tyler, always being content with the weekly field and always satisfied with its returns in financial reward and the esteem of his clientele. He had the education and the ability requisite for wider service, but he did not aspire to more than local reputation and the well earned comforts of his familiar community. Alert, companionable, industrious, he made friends out of acquaintances and acquaintances out of strangers. Henry Edwards had the gift of fellowship, combined with a singular devotion to his family and an invariably cheerful outlook upon the world. These lines are written under the promptings of a sincere sorrow."

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mason Crawford over the week end were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Huckabee, Mrs. Maude Hearn Smedley, Misses Reese, Lola and Elizabeth Hearn of Waco and Miss Lala Fore of Corsicana.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurl McClellan and Mrs. Nora McBride attended the funeral of Mrs. John R. Williams in Snyder Friday. Mrs. Williams was a sister of Mesdames McClellan, McBride and Bob Brown of this city.

Menus for 'Me 'n You'

By Aunt Em

The "something special" to top off a holiday meal need not be the traditional pie or pudding. Perhaps your family would appreciate a lighter dessert—ice cream, or an ice, perhaps, served with dainty cookies or cake.

WINTERMINT ICE CREAM
One cup condensed milk, three-fourths cup water, 1 teaspoon green vegetable coloring, 3 tablespoons essence of wintergreen (if very strong use only 1 tablespoon.), 1 and one-third cups whipping cream.
Mix the condensed milk, water, coloring and flavoring and chill thoroughly. Whip the cream to the thickness of custard and fold into the chilled mixture. Freeze to a stiff mush, remove from the refrigerator and scrape the cream from the sides and bottom of the tray. Beat two minutes with a rotary beater. Replace in refrigerator tray and freeze with the coldest temperature for 2 hours, then at the half-way point till proper consistency.

NAPOLEON PARFAIT

Three-fourths cup sugar, one-third cup strong coffee, 1 square chocolate, 4 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1½ cups heavy cream.

Cook the coffee and sugar together for 5 minutes and pour slowly over the well-beaten egg yolks. Mix thoroughly the chocolate melted over the hot water. Let cool, add the vanilla and fold, carefully into the cream, beaten barely stiff. Freeze without stirring. Serve in tall parfait glasses and sprinkle a dash of cinnamon over the top.

CHOCOLATE MOUSSE

One and one-half squares unsweetened chocolate, two-thirds cups sugar, 2 teaspoons vanilla, ½ cup milk, 1½ cups cream, salt.

Melt the chocolate, add sugar, gradually stir in the milk and stir till it boils. Strain and cool. Whip cream until stiff and fold in first mixture, salt and vanilla. Pour in refrigerator pan and freeze without stirring.

"It's O. K. We've Got the Light with Us"

Traffic signals are electrically timed to aid the orderly flow of traffic. They are timed in fairness to all who use the streets—drivers and pedestrians—and it would seem a simple matter to obey them. A review of the accident records, however, would indicate that drivers need to be reformed as to their meaning.

RED means "stop," not "slow down, make sure no officer is in sight, and then sneak through."

AMBER means "wait," not "step on it and get through before she turns red."

GREEN means "proceed with caution, and with due respect for the rights of others," not "go like blazes."

Nine out of ten accidents that involve drivers' mistakes, according to Travelers Insurance Company records, are caused by undue haste.

Slow down, and live longer.

THE SPICE OF LIFE

If the humdrum of existence were not relieved by spicy happenings, existence would be dull indeed. If we had to do all our cooking without a tinge of spice, many dishes would lack the flavors with which we are familiar and which we like. As one rhymester has put it:

"Oh, what would we do without capers,
Without mustard, paprika, cayenne,
Without anise and cloves, without nutmeg?
Life sure would lack spice, if and when—"

If and when we had no spices to cook with, a lot of dishes that are now at a premium would promptly lose their popularity. Take the following recipes for instance. They would not taste the same without the spices.

Spicy Recipes

Lobster with Caper Sauce: Remove tendons from two 6-ounce cans lobster and heat in double boiler over hot water. Serve with the following sauce: Make a cream sauce with two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one and a half cups thin cream (or evaporated milk, partly diluted) and season with a few grains nutmeg. Add two teaspoons lemon juice, four tablespoons cooking sherry, four tablespoons capers, one grated hard-cooked egg yolk and salt and pepper to taste. (Remember that the sherry is salty.) Serves six.

Oyster Savory: Heat the oysters from a 5-ounce can in one tablespoon butter for a few minutes, saving the liquor for soup. Beat one egg yolk slightly, add three tablespoons cream, nutmeg, salt and paprika, and add to the oysters, cooking till creamy. Add one-half teaspoon lemon juice, and serve at once on toast points. Serves four.

"STAGE STRUCK" NEWEST LAUGH HIT COMING TO REGAL

"Stage Struck," heralded by First National as the gayest and snappiest of all its long list of musical comedy hits, comes to the Regal Theatre beginning Saturday night at 10:30, also showing Sunday and Monday.

There is an all star cast, which includes Dick Powell, Joan Blondell, Warren Williams, Frank McHugh, Jeanne Madden, and the four Yacht Club Boys besides a large number of supporting principals and hundreds of extras.

The picture is filmed on a lavish scale with spectacular numbers. Busby Berkeley directed the production.

In addition to three spectacular chorus numbers, there is still another in which Powell sings "Fancy Meeting You" to his lady love, Miss Madden, in the New York Aquarium with all the piscatorial aggregation as listeners. This catchy song as well as another, "In Your Own Quiet Way," sung by Powell and Miss Madden together, were written specially for the production by the famous tunesmiths, E. Y. Harburg and Harold Arlen.

The Yacht Club Boys also put on two hilarious numbers numbers in which they cut their mad antics, and sing songs written by themselves, entitled "The Body Beautiful" and "The Income Tax."

Powell in the leading role has the part of a dance director who is driven to distraction by his star, whom he can not discharge because her money backs the show.

Joan Blondell plays the role of the actress, who has gained notoriety and riches through many marriages and the shooting of her latest mate.

Miss Madden plays the part of a newcomer to Broadway, who is trying to crash into the show business, but is discouraged by Powell because he loves her and doesn't want her in that kind of life.

William has the role of a cagey producer who resorts to psychology to control his temperamental star and angel, though he tears out most of his hair in going through the ordeal. McHugh plays the part of a comic assistant to Powell and Craig Reynolds is the leading man whom Miss Blondell sends to the hospital with a bullet wound in his scalp, she using a gun for her sweethearts as well as her husbands.

PNEUMATIC HAMMERS TELL US REPAIRS BEING MADE ON STAND PIPE

Mechanics and boilermakers from a Waco iron works have been disturbing the peace of the people near the standpipe for the last week due to the repairs which have been ordered by the city.

These repairs include scaling and painting the interior of the standpipe, repairing the riser-pipe, expansion joints and other repairs to the supports.

During the past week, the pumping plant has been furnishing the water for the mains, keeping the pressure constant. It is reported the job will be completed this week, and water will again be put back in the tank.

PATSY OLSEN, SENIOR IS NAMED QUEEN WITH 4,035 VOTES

Other candidates' votes were: Juniors, 2250; Sophomores, 1044; Freshmen, 1685; 7th Grade, 1300; 6th Grade, 1800; 5th Grade, 2015.

Jack Hestilow has been chosen by Miss Olsen as the King. He was also Miss Olsen's manager.

THANKSGIVING

WORLD COMMENT

By JOE BURNS

Political rumors flow freely in Texas, and the current one centers around the chief executive, Jimmie Allred. Unsubstantiated but coming from reliable sources is the report that the Governor will resign before the end of his present term to accept a Federal appointment or to run for Congress from his home district.

Since his selection in 1935 as the nation's outstanding young man and his smashing defeat of four gubernatorial opponents in the first primary last summer, Governor Allred has been top politically in Texas and with the national administration. It is said he has a choice of several Federal appointments which will be open some time next year following President Roosevelt's governmental housecleaning, starting with the resignation of his cabinet shortly before January inauguration. The cabinet resignation is for the purpose of permitting the chief executive to retire several members without embarrassment to himself or to them.

A Federal judgeship may be available for Allred if the Texas congressional delegation agrees upon the formation of a new district for South Texas. Likewise, the post of United States High Commissioner for the Philippines will be vacated in January by Frank Murphy, governor-elect of Michigan. Either of these may be taken by Allred, who will be denied a cabinet post due to the numerous and influential positions which Texans hold in the legislative and executive branches at Washington.

Senator Tom Connally is said to be desirous of Allred accepting a Federal appointment on or before the expiration of his second gubernatorial term. This would eliminate the main obstacle to Connally's re-election in 1940.

Allred's friends have never denied that he wanted to run against Morris Sheppard this year, but was dissuaded by Vice-President Garner, friend and confidant of the senior senator. The national administration and national committee also refused to support Allred against Sheppard.

So it is more than a natural assumption that Senator Connally's seat will be the target of Texas' best vote getter in 1940. Unless, of course, he in the meantime accepts a Federal position.

If Allred runs for Congress in 1938, it will be for the seat now held by Rep. W. D. McFarlane of Wichita Falls. Such a move would undoubtedly be for the purpose of keeping Allred before the public in preparation

"THANKSGIVING"

The reading sounds like someone is thankful for something. We wonder. Anyway, for the past few Thanksgivings we haven't seen much evidence of any thanks.

In this commercialized world, Mr. Average Citizen is looking for a full stomach and a good time on Thanksgiving, and if there is anyway to get it he usually does it. At present it is a time when we gorge ourselves on the national bird, then go drowsily to a football game in the afternoon, and yell ourselves hoarse for the team and come home with a hangover that lasts well until the following Sunday.

Formerly, as you no doubt vaguely remember, it had something to do with a rock, some antiquated folks called pilgrims, a few Indians, and a real Thanksgiving for a safe trip from England in a rickety boat, and considerable good luck in a rock-bound New England settlement.

They say 'history repeats itself,' but we doubt if it will on November 26, this year.

for the senatorial race two years later.

Should Allred run for Congress, he would resign probably six months before the expiration of his term. This would place Lieutenant Governor Walter Woodul in the governor's chair and change the complexion of the political setup for the 1938 gubernatorial race.

Unofficial leaders in the 1938 race to succeed Allred are Attorney General William McCraw and Railroad Commissioner E. O. Thompson. Several House and Senate members are potential candidates.

Woodul, if present conditions hold true will run for Attorney General, but should he succeed Allred upon the latter's resignation and serve as governor for several months in his own capacity, he might run against McCraw and Thompson for the regular term.

Gatesville Conservation Work Extends to Bosque Watershed

Gatesville, Texas, Nov. 19.—Since the Leon River flows near the center of the Gatesville Camp Area, it is interesting to note that the Camp work area is not confined to the Leon River watershed as might be expected.

In establishing soil and water conservation demonstrations, the Gatesville ECW Camp is also cooperating with land owners on the upper watershed of five streams tributary to the Bosque River. These demonstrations are located in the Coryell City community on the Rainey Creek watershed, the Mosheim community (Bosque County) on the Live Oak Creek watershed, the Turnersville community on the Hog Creek and Middle Bosque watersheds, and the White Hall community on the Cave Creek and Middle Bosque watersheds.

Since field work in this part of the Camp Area was not started until the Spring of 1936, the amount of work accomplished since that time is evidence of the interest in soil and water conservation. The number of farms and approximate total acreages cooperating with the Camp in these communities are as follows:

- Coryell City—13 farms and 2700 acres.
- Mosheim—5 farms and 600 acres.
- Turnersville—6 farms and 2000 acres.
- White Hall—7 farms and 900 acres.

These farms may be seen during a few hours tour from Gatesville.

The above named communities occupy a strategic position in an erosion-control program since they are located in the principal farming section in this Camp Area and also within the watershed of Lake Waco. Very little soil conservation work has been done in the past and farms in this area are contributing a part of the silt that is filling (Continued on last page)

Krebs, Austin, state manager of Central and Northwest Texas; Mrs. Lena Alexander Shugart, Garland, state manager of Northeastern Texas; Mrs. Hazel D. Godlove, Houston, state manager of Southwestern Texas; and Miss Bessie Dolan, Taylor, state manager of Southwestern Texas.

Mrs. Lela Callaway, state vice-president, Temple and district managers Nettie Yarbrough, Waco and Fae Gelber, Bryan, are in charge of plans for the convention. Mrs. Jennie Ramsey, Bryan, district president, will preside over the sessions.

The program will include formal opening exercises, introduction of visitors, a business session, and exemplification of the ritualistic work. A large class of candidates will be initiated, with uniform drill teams from Austin, Waco, and Temple assisting.

There will be graduation of juniors into the adult society, presentation of pins to members who have belonged to the society 25 years or more, awarding of proficiency certificates to officers who can give their charges perfectly, and entertainment program by the Temple juniors, and special drills by the teams from Austin, Waco and Temple.

The following officers were elected at the business meeting: vice president, Boots Boswell; reporter, Bertina Schulze food demonstrator, Reba Dean Lary, clothing demonstrator, Helon Humes; council delegate, Lavern Scott.

At the next meeting we are to have the aprons finished. Twenty-two members were present.

Operation of National Social Security Act Is Reviewed

Post offices throughout the country began Monday, November 16, the distribution to employers of a form known as the "Employer's Application for Identification Number." This form will enable the Post Office Department to know how many employees' application forms to deliver to each employer.

Then, beginning November 24, post offices will distribute to employees, through their employers, forms known as "Application for Social Security Account Number." These employees' application forms will be distributed to all work places and will also be available, after such distribution, at all post offices.

When the worker has filled out the form, he may return it without paying any postage, by: Handing it back to the employer, or handing it to any labor organization of which he is a member, or by handing it to a letter carrier, or delivering it personally to any local postoffice, or mailing it without postage in a sealed envelope addressed simply, "Postmaster, Local."

On the return of this information to the postoffice a Social Security account will be set up for each person eligible and he or she will be furnished a card—comparable to an insurance identification card—certifying that an account has been set up and bearing the number of the employee's Social Security account so as to make it easy for the worker to find out at any time just how his or her account stands.

Oscar M. Powell, director of the Social Security Board region embracing Louisiana, New Mexico and Texas, describing old-age benefit provisions of the Social Security Act, said:

"All of this means that men and women of Louisiana, New Mexico and Texas, like men and women of the other 45 states of the Union, who work in the same factory, shop, mine, mill, store office or almost any other kind of business industry, will begin January 1, 1937 to earn benefits that will come to them later on. From the time they are 65 years old, or more, and stop working, they will get a check from the government every month of their lives, if they have worked some time (one day or more) in each of any five years after 1936, and have earned during that time a total of $2,000 or more.

"Retired workers will receive their checks regardless of the amount of property or income they may have accumulated; however, if a person prefers to continue work after he is 65, the monthly government checks will begin coming to him whenever he chooses to retire.

"How much a worker will receive after he reaches the age of 65 will depend entirely on how much he earns in wages from his business or industrial employment between January 1, 1937 and his 65th birthday. A man or woman who gets good wages and has a steady job most of his or her life can get as much as $85 a month for life after the age of 65. The least a person can get in monthly benefits is $10 a month.

"If a person should die before monthly retirement checks begin to come in, his family will receive a cash payment amounting to 3½ cents on every dollar of wages earned by the worker after 1936. If, for instance, a worker should die at age 64 after having earned $25 per week for 10 years before that time, his family would receive $455. If however, a person has not worked enough to get the regular monthly checks by the time he is 65, he will get a lump sum, or, if he should die, his family or estate would get a lump sum amounting to 3½ cents on every dollar of wages earned by the worker after 1936.

"Taxes called for in this law will be paid by both employers and workers for the next three years, beginning January 1, 1937 workers will pay 15, 25, or 30 cents a week or more, depending on what they earn. In other words, during the next three years workers will pay one cent for every dollar they earn, and at the same time employers will pay one cent for every dollar earned by the workers in their establishments, up to $3,000 per year per individual.

"After the first three years—that is to say, beginning in 1940—employers and employees will pay 1½ cents for each dollar earned up to $3,000 per year per individual. The tax is then graduated one-half cent each 3 years until finally in 1949, employers and employees will each pay 3 cents for each dollar earned. This is the most employers and workers will pay.

"The government will collect both of these taxes from the employer. The worker's part of the tax will be taken out of his salary. The government will collect from the worker's employer an equal amount out of his own funds.

"The Social Security law also creates an old-age reserve account in the United States Treasury, and Congress is authorized to put into this reserve account each year, enough money to provide for the monthly payments workers will receive when they reach the age of 65.

"What workers will receive from this government plan will always be more than they have paid in taxes and usually more than they can get themselves by putting away the same amount of money each week in some other way."

Enough's Enough

Much praise and criticism have been accorded the satirical sport articles which have appeared after every game the Hornets lost and after one or two that the team won. They probably deserved the scorching attack they received after the Clifton melee as this was a disappointing let-down affair. However when these lashings began being published incessantly it became monotonous and extremely annoying. The irritating commentaries have become the towering element in the weakening of the morale of the Hornet squad. The writer has unmercifully scathingly attacked certain players until the fellows themselves hardly knew what was going on. Although a newspaperman is supposed to be unbiased and impartial in his work, in the town the size of Gatesville with only one team as material, the person should boost the team in every possible way instead of perpetually knocking it.

This week has been one of the most hectic of the year so far but exams haven't been here yet. Shock of the week—one of the Voss' twins without her shadow. Is Map Post forgetting that she was once that way over a lad in Austin who is now trying to get an education but is having plenty of trouble doing it since reports from the home town have worn him to a frazzle.

We know several speakers whose theme song should be "How Dry I Am." Margaret Gentry should author a book and title, "My Experience in the Band." Anita Lowry has two Jacks on her trail—burros are supposed to be slow but sure. Simile of the week: As flat as a date without a goodnight kiss! Is Mattie Earl Jones a little worried since Foy Wicker is to be the escort of one of the biggest heart-stealers in G. H. S. Overheard: She's the kind of a person who prefers twin beds. J. R. Saunders favorite pastime is playing the simple little game of knock! knock!. (Mostly on the football team). School's Day at Centennial Coryell county's days at the Texas Centennial have been designated for November 22 and 23, but Mr. Brooks stated the school would not go in a body but if anyone who wished may go on the two days. They could get a very special rate on the railroad and also get a cheap ticket to the Centennial grounds.

Tuesday Morning Assembly

On Tuesday morning, November 10, at the regular activity period, Rev. Marcus M. Chunn pastor of the First Methodist Church spoke on a topic in keeping with education. This was the second of two programs which the student body enjoyed during the National Education Week. Rev. Mr. Chunn used this subject: "Our Language Betrays Us." He also gave several interesting incidents which he experienced at the annual Methodist Conference in Houston from which he recently returned.

Box and Sack Supper

The senior class had a box and sack supper last Tuesday night in the high school building. The money went to their queen and annual fund. The girls brought well filled boxes and sacks, which the boys bought.

Assembly

In Assembly Friday, November 13, the student body was surprised by an impromptu program. Superintendent Brooks called on these students, songs, piano solos, etc: Gladys Marie Phillips, Anita Lowrey, Leon Mann, Marguerite Kelso, Patsy Olsen, Jane Thomson, and the Minstrel cast sang "Crosspatch." Contestants for the queen and king were asked to rise so that the student body might get a glimpse of the future king and queen. As everyone knows, the queens and their escorts are: Senior—Patsy Olsen and Jack Hestilow; Junior—Rosylene Anderson and Jack Hearne; Sophomore—Mildred Gandy and Joe Reese Robinson; Freshman—Marjorie Hall and Douglas Polard.

The F. F. A. Club

The F. F. A. Club met on Thursday at 11:30. Out of the eighty-six boys in the club, there were found to be twelve boys absent when the roll was called. The most important thing that they did was to arrange for a father and son banquet to be held on December 10, 1936. There were five committees elected to prepare for the banquet.

Among the most important committees were the program committee and the refreshment committee.

Assembly Program for Tuesday
 The program for assembly Tuesday morning was a miscellaneous type.

After Bertha Lillian Stewart volunteered to play the piano, the song, "America," was sung.

For the first time this year we were entertained by elementary children. Ralph Bailey told about Columbus, and Yvonne Davis gave a reading entitled, "The Quarrel."

The rest of the period we were entertained by Mr. Brooks who told jokes and riddles of various types.

Although the program was planned only thirty minutes before assembly it was one of the best of the year.

Nicknames

I suppose Jack Straw got his name from "Turkey in the Straw Streetcar." Turner got his name because he thought the first

V-8 was a street car. And then there's his little brothe, "Trolley-car." Of course we all know why they call Lester Williams "Fats" (this is a case of "you can tell by looking..). And we all know "Poison" Ivy and "Itchy" Mayes, but tell us one thing—why do they call Jack Hestilow, "Old Faithful?" We can't quite get the connection.

Personals

Nell Routh spent last week end in Dallas.

Among the Waco visitors last Saturday were Pauline and Sophia Voss, Gladys Marie Phillips, and Mildred Gandy.

J. Leigh Brooks, a former student of Gatesville High School, visited in Gatesville last week end.

Bertha Lillian Stewart went to Hamilton last Sunday.

Marjorie Flentge was absent the greater part of last week due to illness.

Miss Durham visited in Meridian over the week end.

Pauline Turner has moved to Stephenville. She was formerly a senior in Gatesville High School.

Sport Flashes from G. H. S.

The topic for discussion for to-day is Thanksgiving Day. At this time the McGregor Bulldogs and the Gatesville Hornets will clash. This has always been a great game and this year will be played on the Gatesville gridiron. The Hornets will not play another game before Thanksgiving and therefore will have plenty of time to get ready for the Bulldogs. After being defeated, although they went down fighting, the Gatesville team the Gatesville team is looking forward to a hard game. J. C. Byrom is the only man in the backfield that played in the game with the Bulldogs last year when the Hornets gained a 6-0 victory over the Bulldogs. Last year the Hornets, by winning, broke a losing streak that had lasted many years.

Each team has been looking forward to this day all season, and both coaches will be "shooting the works." When the Hornets went to McGregor last season, they were not given much chance to win, but they fought all the way and ended up on the long end of the score.

There is one player on the Hornet squad that was ruined by the great works of art written by J. R. Saunders. He would have been a much better player than he is if he had been left alone. He has been slammed so much that he has lost all confidence that he had in himself. Because of this great deed, we nominate J. R. Saunders, "Hornet Enemy No. 1."

Gatesville-Hamilton Game

The Fighting Hornets, who showed the people of Hamilton why they received their name, went down before the Hamilton team by 15-0. The team seemed even to us, but the timely fumbles helped the Hamilton lads to cross the goal line two times and receive a safety. There were a host of Gatesville fans present and if it had not been for the bad breaks, the Hornets might have shown that night. As it was they fought for all they were worth. Joe Baker played a great game at the quarterback post, while "Badger" Hinsley was praised as an understudy of Sam Baugh.

We didn't see J. R. Saunders at the game. He must have been hiding behind some of the worms that we saw crawling around the field.

Hornets Meet McGregor Bulldogs Here In Annual Turkey Day Clash

Thanksgiving Day sees the culmination of the 1936 football season as far as the Hornet fans are concerned. On that day, dedicated to turkey and football, the Gatesville High Hornets meet the McGregor Bulldogs in the traditional battle of the season, every year regardless of the relative strengths of the teams, the meeting is looked forward to with great anticipation by both towns. Rich in Tradition, the game this year will be no exception.

McGregor has one of the poorest teams in the history of the school. Although they boast of weight to spare, the team as a whole is sluggish and haven't the usual fight and hard hitting tactics that marked the Bulldogs during the regime of Carol Woods.

Since the rivalry started between the two schools, McGregor has always given the Hornets trouble, no matter what the respective strengths of the teams.

The teams are fairly evenly matched, with Gatesville having a slight edge due to records of teams both schools have played. The outcome of the game however, will be decided on the field and not by comparative records.

As it stands now, the Hornets are due to take the Bulldogs by virtue of several touchdowns. Whether that will be the actual outcome is doubtful.

Gatesville is capable enough to beat McGregor in actual football strength, but their season has been so erratic that they can not be depended upon.

At the start of the season your correspondent was the recipient of a letter from Mr. Harold Jenkins, former coach and now principal of the McGregor High School. Mr. Jenkins stated that all the reports about the Bulldogs were true; they did have a heavy team but it was slow and not aggressive enough. He continued to say that although they would have a poor season, by the time the Thanksgiving game was reached the Bulldogs would be ready to give the Hornets plenty of trouble.

Mr. Jenkins has proved an excellent prophet so far. McGregor has had a very poor season, one of the poorest in years, but whether they will take the Hornets into camp is doubtful. That will depend entirely on the Hornets.

The game should be an interesting one. It has always been in the past, and anyway, it will be a good place to work off that heavy feeling resulting from too much turkey.

Miami Beach, Fla., officials estimated the season's winter expansion was 30 days ahead of previous years. They predicted a longer tourist season.

It was with great difficulty we made the announcement last Sunday of our intention to leave Gatesville. For seven years and seven months, this has been our home; home in every sense of the word. Together we have rejoiced and sorrowed, until our hearts and lives have become entwined with a great love for the betterment of the church here and our own good. We may find a people we love as well, but none we can love better.

We expect to be in Gatesville for two more Sundays. We cordially invite all our friends to worship with us these two Sundays. Worship at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m.

Camels Carry Radios to the Orient

THE most primitive means of transportation is used to carry the instruments of the most modern means of communication to the heart of India. The above photograph depicts a camel caravan conveying a shipment of Philco radios past the river Hub to the State of His Highness the Jam Shaheb of Las Beyla (Baluchistan). This is another example of the way in which the entertainment and education facilities of the civilized world are being brought by radio to the most remote sections of the world. Only recently another Indian potentate, His Exalted Highness the Nizam of Hyderabad, announced his decision to place a radio set in each of the 20,000 villages that constitute his domain, and to construct four modern radio stations that will break down the age-old cultural isolation of his people. Radio also offers the American short-wave listener contact with the most inaccessible quarters of the globe, and brings him understanding of foreign peoples whose customs have remained unchanged since the dawn of history.

SYNOPSIS

Carrie Snyder, pretty, blonde, and thirty-one, operates a rendezvous for the town's gay blades in small Crebillon, La. Paul Dornley, a misunderstood lad of eleven, makes her acquaintance. Shortly after, Carrie is ordered to leave town. Paul runs away from home and takes refuge with Nick, a tramp river fisherman. He rescues Lady, a six-year-old orphan girl, from a train wreck and takes her to Nick's. Carrie hears of the children's plight and brings them to New York. She gives up her old life for the dry-cleaning business and is immediately successful. The two youngsters are given the best of everything. Paul graduates from college and gets himself a job in the office of Dennis Ringrose, literary agent.

CHAPTER V

BUT for my business I'd have been pretty desolate that first fall and winter with Paul away at college. Lady, too, missed him badly. The five years we'd spent together had drawn us very close to one another—closer than the members of most families, I think. For we all felt, because of our early struggles, that it was us three against the world. And Lady, by the time she'd got her second teeth, was already head-over-heels in love with Paul. She didn't say much about it, but I could see, from the way she trailed around after him all summer and ignored other boys, how things were.

"But Aunt Carrie," he pleaded, "I want to find my own work and then stand on my own feet, and pay my own way with my own money."

My business, though it had been slowed up like everyone else's by the depression and labor troubles, was still piling up profits, and the Mowbray and Dessolles chains were shooting hard at each other. The old red-headed Mowbray, who had bought herself a new husband and was as full of ambition as a young lover, was bragging around in the trade that she was going to recover the ground she'd lost and push me over the cliff.

I didn't worry; just kept steadily at work. And before I knew it, what with one thing and another, four years slipped by and Paul was back home again, a Bachelor of Arts.

I was all for his taking a rest, lying around in the sun for the summer, and going into one of my shops to learn the business in the fall. But the day after his arrival—we'd had a big homecoming celebration the night before and stayed up till all hours—he left the house while Lady and I were still asleep, leaving word that he'd be gone all day.

When I got home that night he met me at the door.

"I've got a job, Aunt Carrie," he announced happily.

I'd always told myself that when the time came that he wanted to be free and independent I'd not try to hold him back, not smother him with kindness and protection in order to keep him near me. But I didn't know how hard it would be. With my head whirling I clutched at a compromise.

"I'd hoped you were coming into the cleaning business with me," I things that didn't matter between us anyway. And this job of his—I hadn't even asked about it, thinking only of myself.

"I'm sorry, Paul," I said. "Tell me about the job, will you?"

He brightened.

"It's at a literary agency—Dennis Ringrose. I saw the ad in the Times. He and Maggie Devlin, his assistant, sell manuscripts for writers to magazines and publishers. It doesn't pay much, and I'd be sort of an office boy at first, but I think I could make it into something worthwhile. And it's my kind of work."

"Well, it's for you to decide," I said. "You're a man with two jobs—one you like and one you don't. The question is, which will you take, and I think I know the answer."

Then, pleading a headache, which God knows I had all right by that time, I went upstairs to bed and to think.

When I got up the next morning he'd already gone out, leaving a note for me which read, "Have entered the cleaning and dyeing industry. It's what I really wanted to do all along."

"Well, you dirty old cleaning woman," I said to myself, "now that you've made a mess of things, you'd better see what you can do about it."

Ringrose was reading a manuscript when I arrived at his office. He looked up as I came in, then went on reading. Maggie came forward, and hearing who I was, led me to his desk.

"This is Paul's aunt," she said. He came alive then. Yes, Paul had been there—said he wasn't going to take the job.

"Did he give any reason?" I asked. "Said he'd changed his mind that's all," said Ringrose. "It's a darned shame, if you ask me."

Maggie had resumed work at her desk.

"Nobody asked you," she said, without looking up.

Ringrose glared at her and then winked at me.

"But let me tell you, Miss Snyder; you may absorb that boy in your business for awhile, but don't flatter yourself that you'll keep him.

And let me tell you, Miss Snyder—"The name's Carrie," I said.

"He'll come back, Carrie, and break into the book world somewhere. He may be bookseller, publisher, editor. He may start in as low even as authorship. But he'll come back. It's a madness that gets into the blood and bones, and he's got it.

"Tell me," I said, "about this book business—is it any good?"

"Of course it's good. But if you're talking about money, no. Even the handful of successful publishers have fewer cars and operations than good plumbers."

"Yeah, look at him," Maggie broke in. "He pays me on Saturday, and on Monday he's nicking me for quarters."

I liked these two, and I wanted to see Paul happy. I reached for the phone on Ringrose's desk and called Paul.

"I'm over at this Ringrose joint," I said. "Come on over here where you belong."

Bears Play Mustangs In Important Melee In Waco Saturday

Waco, Tex., Nov. 17-(Spl)—After two weeks of hibernation from Southwest conference grid play, the Baylor Bears will emerge Saturday for their annual battle with the Southern Methodist Mustangs, and if you'll peep into the records, you'll find that the Bruins have a time worn tradition to uphold. Always the Nemesis of the Ponies, the Grizzlies have suffered defeat at the hands of the Methodists in Waco.

The Jenningsmen have come from their pair of clashes with Sooner opponents with revived spirits. First they handed the Oklahoma City University eleven a 48-6 licking, and last week they journeyed to Stillwater Okla., where they counted seventeen first downs to one for the Oklahoma A. & M. team for a 13-0 victory.

Loyd Russell's stock found abundant buyers among the Oklahoma grid fanatics as the Dallas speed merchant side-stepped his way to unprecedented ball-carrying glory. Against the Oklahoma Cityans he tallied two touchdowns, one on a 43 yard sprint through the center of the line. Proof of the undaunted spirit of a throughbred came last Saturday when Russell, the Bears scoreless for fifty-six minutes, raced madly over the Aggie gridiron to tally two markers in the last four minutes of play. All of which left Russell's name deeply imprinted on the minds of the Stillwater fans and gave him a tie for first place in the individual scoring of the Southwest conference.

As for the Mustangs, Russell says, "They were lucky to win from us last year. Wait until we get a crack at them Saturday." It's and old Baylor custom to play their best game of the season against the Ponies. Last year the Bears opposed a mighty Mustang eleven, tabbed by experts as the greatest in the nation in 1935, but were licked in the fourth quarter after way out of their Rose Bowl dreams. It was in 1934, Russell's first year in the green and gold uniform, that Baylor scored one of the country's major upsets of the year to win from the touted Mustangs 13-7.

But old-timers around Baylor are scaring up Waco fans with the questioning of the Bears' jinx over the Ponies. "They used to say that an S. M. U. team had never licked a Bruin eleven on Carroll field, but now the Bears have forsaken Carroll field for the new Waco Municipal Stadium."

Regardless of the jinx, and regardless of the fact that both the Ponies and the Bears have been ousted from the Southwest title quest, a Baylor-S. M. U. match is a natural for the Central Texas fans. The heated rivalry of the two teams always draws Waco's largest grid crowd of the season, and this year's contest is no exception as it now appears. Advance ticket sales are booming and promises are bright for a packed stadium when the Grizzlies hop back into the Southwest turmoil Saturday.

SOIL CONS. WORK—

ervation program employing the use of crop rotations, contour tillage, contour strip cropping, and terracing where necessary on crop land; the use of permanent vegetated waterways for outletting runoff water; the retirement of excessively erodible land from cultivation to pasture or meadow; revegetation, con-Lake Waco.

Because of numerous requests for surveys received, the Camp plans to concentrate additional cooperating farms in these communities in order to increase the effectiveness of a complete coordinated soil and water controlled grazing, and contour ridges on permanent pasture; and gully control—treating each part of the farm according to its needs and adaptations.

These soil and water conservation demonstrations combined with the spread of practices involved to other farms, as is now being evidenced, will directly influence the amount of water and silt entering streams, thus minimizing the hazards of floods and silting of reservoirs.
