Stork Waiting for Final Rush As Closing Date Comes; No Entries

Evidently that long heralded, long legged bird is waiting for a final dash in Coryell County's Stork Derby, and Coryell County's No. 1 1937 baby has not reported yet. Dallas started off at 12:20 with twins, one being born before 12, midnight, and the other at 12:20.

Since the complete reports must be in this office by 12:00 noon, Thursday of this week, both the stork and the parents or their friends are going to have to get busy. The first properly REPORTED wins the prizes, and none will be considered unless conditions are met. They're easy and simple, only a few minutes being required to fill out everything necessary.

Right now no reports have come in, and if there are reports after this issue is out, no information will be given as to when or who, until the closing date. It is possible Old Father Time will have to wait on the Stork to do his duty, but with prospects we've heard of the old gent won't be pacing the floor long.

Be certain your friend's or relative's baby is entered in this contest if their "newcomer" came to stay with them since January 1 at 12:01 a. m.

Merchants who are panicky to know just who this youngster is to be are: E. Price Bauman's Clover Farm Store, Jim Martin, First National Bank, Regal and Ritz, Painter's, Leaird's Department Store, Morton Scott, Mrs. J. B. Graves, Milton Powell Memorial Hospital and the Coryell County News, and Gamblin's Dairy.

LOCAL WOMEN TO BE GUESTS OF WOMEN'S CLUB IN TEMPLE

A motor party consisting of Mrs. Jim Turk Brown, Mrs. Francis Powell, Misses Sidney Gale Gibson, Lillian Hale, Frances Voss, Minnie Lou Witt, Beulah Gamblin, Pauline Garner, and probably others will leave Gatesville at 5 o'clock this afternoon for Temple where they will be guests of the Women's Business and Professional Club of that city at a dinner in the Kyle Hotel. This trip is being made in the interest of organizing such a club in this city.

METHODIST YOUNG PEOPLE TO MEET IN OGLESBY

There will be a meeting of the East Side Gatesville District Union in Oglesby Friday night at 7 o'clock, January 8, at the Methodist church of that city. An interesting program has been planned by the Oglesby Young People's department and a recreational hour will be enjoyed following a business meeting, over which Miss Nellie Kinslow will preside.

How the Social Security Act Works as Outlined By Officials in Charge

How do you figure where you stand? Do we have eight employees, according to the Social Security Act.

Those and ten thousand other "worries" are bothering employers and employees alike at this time.

Here is a reasonably concise and clear "statement of facts in the case" as compiled in a bulletin "Regulations 90," issued by a commissioner of internal revenue and the National Editorial Association. The summary follows:

1. General provisions. a. An employer is a person who employs eight or more individuals; must be employed on a total of 20 or more calendar days; c. each such day must be in a different calendar week; d. the weeks not to be consecutive; e. individuals need not to be the same; f. need not be employed any particular length of time; g. need not be on and particular

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

If you are interested in securing electricity on the farm, please file a survey blank in the County Agent's office before Wednesday noon, January 6, as a representative of the Rural Electrification Administration will be here on that date to make a survey of the entire county.

STORK WABBLES TO HOSPITAL WITH 11-POUND GIRL

The Stork arrived last night at 9:16 at the Milton Powell Hospital with an eleven pound passenger, a baby girl, born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilton Krempin, who live near Copperas Cove on Route A. The baby came under the auspices of Dr. J. H. Hamilton.

We immediately received a telephone call that Miss Frances Lorena Krempin would be an entrant in Coryell County's First Stork Derby Contest, and that Proud Papa would bring in the necessary papers to enter her.

Final decision will not be made on the matter of prizes until Thursday, January 7, at 12:00, and then announcement will only be made in the Friday issue, which comes out Friday, January 8.

HILTON (PETE) HARDIE OF WHITE HALL BITTEN BY RATTLER

Hilton, better known as Pete, Hardie of White Hall community was bitten by a rattle snake on the thumb of his left hand Sunday at 2:30 while out on Cave Creek.

Page Blankenship, J. L. Hardie and Joe Walton were with him, and he was rushed to the hospital for treatment, then returned home where he was reported resting well.

They reported the snake as a large one, but being anxious to get medical aid as soon as possible, they did not take time to kill it.

Contrary to Reports, the District Court Here Will Be Extremely Long

Sheriff Joe White stated yesterday that he had sixteen guests in the County Hotel who hadn't yet found any "betters" that they wouldn't run off and not appear when trial comes, and so they are still in. Some others, approximately the same number, have gotten "betters," placed their bets with the proper authorities and are "at large" again.

These Boys Start to Work Today in Washington; Poage's First Time

MORRIS SHEPHERD

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

VICE PRESIDENT GARNER

BOB POAGE

Today, following caucuses of yesterday and last night as to who the Speaker of the House would be, it seemed to be conceded to Representative Sam Rabburn, Democrat of Texas. Senate majority leader Joseph T. Robinson was holding the whip hand in the Senate.

At noon today the overwhelming Democratic Seventy-fifth Congress will convene. Major matters to be considered include the issue of constitutional amendments, regulation of hours and wages of workers, improvement of conditions surrounding farm tenants, legislation to protect farmers competing in highly complex industrial civilization; and appropriations for millions of citizens who cannot find work, determining America's permanent neutrality policy.

And at noon today Congressman R. W. (Bob) Poage takes up his toga as Representative of this district, the 11th Congressional District. Old timers who will also represent Texas, and this district are Vice President John N. Garner, who recently received an honorary degree from Baylor University at Waco, Senators Tom Connally and Morris Sheppard, and the best friend the American farmer ever had, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Setting an unusual precedent, the President will be inaugurated on January 20. This is done to get rid of long winded lame ducks who bleat while important legislation waits.

Too, January 30, the nation will again dance to the strains of a million or less orchestras when the Presidential Balls, or entertainments will be held thruout the nation, for the benefit of the Warm Springs Foundation for the prevention and retarding of infantile paralysis, and this county follows the precedent set last year, the President won't get anything here.

WORLD COMMENT

Soviet Russia is numerically the most powerful military nation of the world today. The Soviet army numbers 1,300,000 men and boasts an air force of 4,000 planes.

But with Germany on the west and Japan on the east eyeing the rich plains of the U. S. S. R., Moscow plans further increases in its huge military establishment. Plans formulated within the last year call for fully equipped force of 1,600,000 specialized soldiers by 1940, according to "Current History," and in reply to the recent assertion of Germany's Gen. Hermann Goering that Germany must train 70,000 aviators, the Union will push a movement to train 150,000 airplane pilots.

Military experts discount the effectiveness of both the Soviet army and its air corps. They point out that in 1914 Czar Nicholas flung 2,000,000 troops into east Prussia against a numerically inferior German force numbering at first only 150,000. At first the Russians swept all before them, but within a short time after Germany's General Hindenburg arrived on the scene with 350,000 crack troops, one Russian army was completely annihilated and the other was in flight. Never again did the Czar's hosts seriously threaten the Teutons.

It is true that much of the corruption that was prevalent in the Russian armies of Czar Nicholas does not exist in the armies of Stalin, and it is also true that the Soviet armies of today are immeasurably better equipped and disciplined than were the Russian armies of 1914.

Yet inadequate transportation facilities and lack of the basic essentials of the modern army, namely, food (at the point of battle), chemicals, munitions, which were in part responsible for the defeat of the old Russian armies, today counterbalance whatever superiority in numbers the Soviets may boast.

Germany is rapidly approaching the stage of military perfection that it had reached in 1914. Then as now the nation was geared to place its entire resources behind the army and navy. Because of the unceasing efforts of the Kaiser and military leaders since the founding of the Empire in 1871, Germany was able to withstand onslaughts from two sides for 4 years.

Experts believe Hitler has one million three hundred thousand men under arms today in addition to 650,000 in the Nazi semi-military organizations. The air force of 4,000 planes manned by 40,000 men is being augmented by a monthly production of 300 planes.

Given time in which to train officers and build up an effective and mobile reserve, it is believed the new German troops will equal the Kaiser's hosts in discipline and training while far surpassing them in mechanization and mobility.

Hitler and his aides are energetically seeking to avoid the mistakes made by the old regime in the business of warring. The friendship of Britain has been zealously cultivated and to advantage. When Germany begins fighting again, it wants a neutral Britain and if possible complete peace on its western frontier, which points to a possible rapprochement with France in the future.

Germany might have fought longer in 1918 despite Yankee successes if there had not been resentment and defeatism at home engendered by lack of foodstuffs. It as often been said in Germany that the war was lost by the German people and not by the German armies. Such assertions inspired the attacks upon the Jews by the Nazis. The Semites, it was charged, betrayed the armies by speculation in foodstuffs and other necessary commodities.

So is inspired the Nazi demand for self-sufficiency in foodstuffs. In other war essentials, coal, iron, chemicals, Germany is as well equipped as are Britain and France, while all three lack oil and cotton.

SPORTS

Football

East beats West, 3 to 0! Pittsburgh downs Washington, 21 to 0! Santa Clara sinks L. S. U., 21 to 14! Duquense ooches out Miss. State, 13 to 12! T. C. U. topples Marquette, 16 to 6! The Packers humble the Dodgers, 21 to 13. Hardin-Simmons beats the School of Mines 34 to 6. Villanova and Auburn tie, 7 to 7. So what! Wake up Myrtle, this is where we come in.

In all the various bowl games that were played hither and yon we cannot work up even a mild form of enthusiasm. Too many post season games being played by mediocre teams have momentarily ruined our interest in the sport.

The Orange Bowl! The Cotton Bowl! The Sugar Bowl! The Rose Bowl! Where will it all stop?

As far as we can determine from the press reports of all the various New Year's Day games the two best were the Hardin-Simmons-School of Mines battle, and the Villanova-Auburn fray.

The former played in the Sun Bowl (a glass of water please I'm growing faint) at El Paso was little more than a free-for-all battle, with spectators and officials alike cheering the slugging contestants. The latter game, played in Havana, Cuba, was an attraction during the International Sport Week being held there, was little better.

In both games the heat seems to have affected the boys to the point where they forgot their sportsmanlike code reverted to the primitive. It was so hot down in the land of rum and sugar cane that each player averaged losing 9 1/2 pounds, which may be enough to cause anyone to lose their temper.

I would be willing to slap another mortgage on the old homestead in wager though that the fans got their money's worth. If a football game turns dull as many of them do, why liven up the fans with a few fisticuffs. There is nothing so thrilling, from my point of view, than to see some bellowing, enraged, man-mountain take a healthy swipe at one of his opponents.

Of course, some official always as to step in, and in the name of sportsmanship, stop the battle and banish the offenders. Now, that is where the benefits of a college education should take hold on a student. Instead of letting go a hay maker at the one who has incurred his displeasure, the smart thing to do would be to kayo the referee first then start the main bout of the afternoon. In such a manner a good clean fist fight could be held unhampered by interference from the officials. And the fans would go away with a much deeper sense of enjoyment from such an afternoon, than if just a routine game had been played.

If you will pardon this Old Gaffer's reminences, one of the most enjoyable afternoon ever spent was watching the Oklahoma City University Goldbugs and Tulsa U's Golden Hurricane fight it out in open combat. The smack and thud could be heard wap up in the six-bit seats where I was sitting, and the crowd roared like one of Nero's old time gatherings. And what did the referee do, interfere? No!

He sat back with a sly smile and enjoyed himself, because he knew what the fans wanted. It was all good clean sport, if a trifle rugged, and a good time was had by all.

Basketball

The Gatesville High School Hornets will resume their hardwood duties this week after the Christmas Holiday interruptions. A regular schedule will probably be completed in a short while for both the boys and girls teams.

Basketball seems to be gaining in the nation's favor. It is drawing good crowds in Madison Square Garden, and any sport that draws there usually has the nation's stamp of approval on it. Watching some news reel shots of a professional basketball game the other night I was particularly impressed by the methodical way in which the players worked. Every play was worked out to perfection, with every man knowing his exact assignment and place, and there was no wasted motion whatsoever.

To a casual onlooker the players may have seemed lethargic and listless in the way they got around. But there were no slips or fumbled balls, and usually each shot at the basket swished the net. It was highly perfected basketball and interesting to watch in its mechanical completeness.

AGRICULTURAL WORKERS
MEET IN TEMPLE
Jan. 8 and 9

The annual meeting of the Texas Agricultural Workers' Association will be held in Temple on the 8th and 9th of Jan.

Mrs. Morris, of McGregor, the 1936 Chairman of McLennan County Home Demonstration Council, Dr. Whitacre, Miss Swift and other important home economics workers will appear on the program.

All who are interested in the Home Demonstration work should attend if possible, as the Association does not often meet in this section of the state.

THE WAY THE NEW YEAR SHOULD BE

By Bellmay Bellecor.

The old year goes and the new year comes
Like thoughts from desire into hope is flung;
By faith we act and life's drama is staged,
Our own true minds, making history films.

Time destroys and finishes as the serial goes,
True life on the screen as thought vision flows,
So, as we think that must we be,
What kind of part in life do play?

Are our thoughts of the lovely, the good and the great,
The worthwhile things that are worth their make,
Putting into practice until we possess the skill
To accomplish the art with a model fill.

A star in the picture to fame the show,
A poser of truth or maybe so,
Truth that is beautiful with no harm to the foe,
Be the trend of the picture with soft soothing glow.

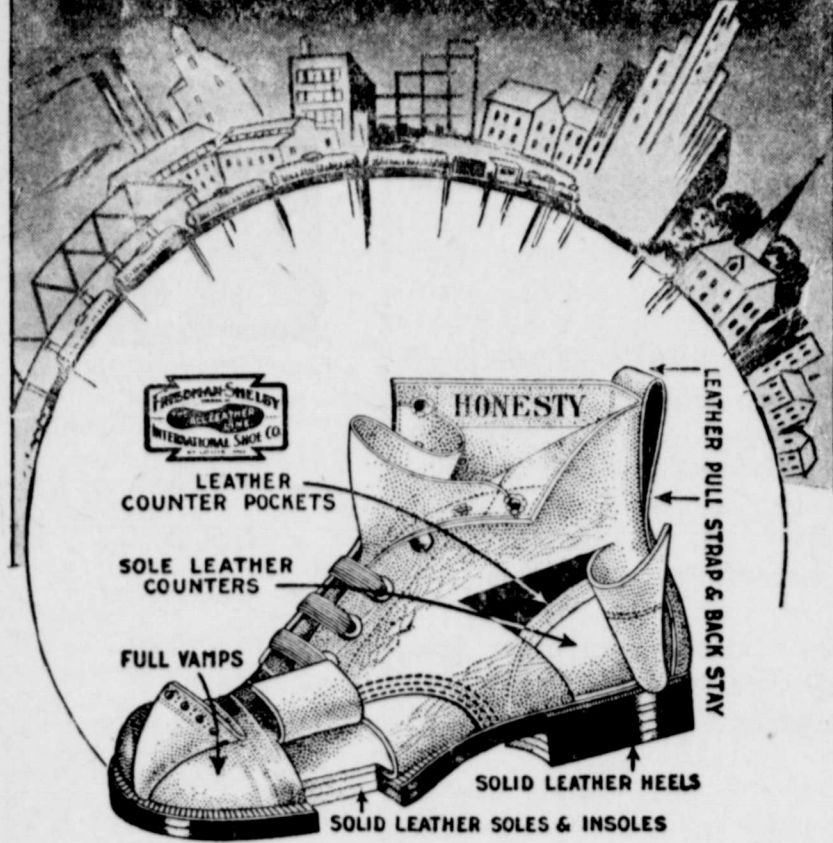

For the New Year serial better to grow,
Better each cast as long as they last;
For the producer that is true and faithful too
Is love's master artist who creates as he wills.

The exquisite, the fair, the magnificent rare,
From the coarse and the vile He takes no part;
He chooses the unmarred for likeness to trace
And this is the reason for His paramount grace.

And the longer the scene the better we know,
For He fashions His work by superlative degree,
With continual effort like the growth of a tree,
The way the New Year should be.

ADVERTISING SELLS COMMODITIES

Before Thanksgiving this year, the progressive food stores of the country carried on an aggressive turkey sales campaign. More turkeys were sold than ever before, and at prices that were attractive to consumer as well as producer.

Sales methods varied somewhat in different localities—but the participating stores seemed to appreciate the value and necessity of newspaper advertising. For example, here is an excerpt from the report of one large chain system: "Newspaper advertising was carried in all the principal metropolitan and rural newspapers in our territory . . . before our Thanksgiving demands had been filled there was a scarcity of turkeys of the top grade in our market." Another chain reported: "We have advertised turkey in approximately 250 newspapers this week as well as 750,000 circulars which were distributed to the consuming public's homes. Present indications are that we have sold about 30 per cent more turkeys for Thanksgiving this year than a year ago."

Newspapers have been a potent factor in other food sales campaigns, such as the recent beef and real drive. Similar future campaigns, of which the first will feature the grapefruit are planned.

It is apparent that this is good business all around, for the farmer, for the merchant, for the newspaper and for the consumer. In the past, some retailers have attempted to eliminate newspaper advertising, and they have usually found it was the poorest kind of economy. "The paper"—whether it be daily or semi-weekly—is a fixture of the American home and finds an eager audience.

Food stores, chain or independent, which have not joined in special selling campaigns would do well to take a leaf from the book of the stores which have. Pay the farmer a fair price, charge the consumer a fair price, and everything soars.

They will make their home at 417 Hollenbeck Street in South San Antonio.

"Way down South in Dixie" is being set to the music of cash register bells for 1937, and the tempo is being speeded up to the pace of a boom-time crescendo by Southern industrial leaders.

A survey made by the All-South Development Council as the year ended indicates industrialists are preparing for an encore of the increased business enjoyed during the past year. They predict still higher notes in the commercial score will be sounded in the coming months by the hum of new paper mills, the blast of whistles on factories running on near capacity scales and the roar of trains rushing record orders of cotton goods and other finished products to market.

Harmonizing with the trend towards greater expansion is the attitude of the South in clearing the way for industrial development by protecting its natural resources and manufacturing enterprises from harassment by excessive taxation, the survey points out. It emphasizes that the movement for stabilization of axes, plus the co-operative and understanding spirit shown by state and local governments in discarding extreme tax proposals, will make for a flow of new capital to the South in 1937, bringing greater wealth and prosperity to the entire region.

Forecasts of executives in various enterprises in the South show confidence that 1937 will bring expanded activity, with a general increase ranging from 10 to 15 per cent in value of goods produced and a similar increase in sales volume," according to a report of the Council.

"Increased employment for thousands of persons is indicated by renewed purchasing power, seen in retail sales gains of 14 per cent, while the opening of new markets is assured by the influx of capital attracted to the South," the report states.

"Value of the 1936 cotton crop in the United States is estimated at $744,000,000, as compared with $590,140,000 for the preceding year—a gain of more than 26 per cent. It is virtually impossible to estimate the value of the 1937 crop at this time, but from the best available data it is believed that cotton consumption in 1937 will reach 7,500,000 bales, although more optimistic observers predict it will go as high as 8,000,000 bales.

"Agriculture, always the principal activity in the South, is again on the upturn, after several years of decreased production. Sugar consumption was up to a remarkable degree in 1936, and may reach a new peak of more than 6,000,000 tons before 1940—an exceptional favorable outlook for cane growers. There is every indication that improvement shown in marketing of other crops will be extended through 1937.

"Manufacturers reported renewed activity up to 20 per cent greater than in 1935, deflected in gains scored by the sulphur, coal, lumber, iron, petroleum, gas and other natural resource industries."

Research that overcame difficulties which prevented the use of millions of acres of Southern slash pine in the manufacturer of newsprint and fine white paper, is opening the way for the south to cash in on "paper profits" to the tune of many millions of dollars.

"More than $55,000,000 has been invested in nine new paper mills in the South," the council's report disclosed, "with Texas and Louisiana in a position to assume leadership in expansion of the industry."

"In addition to these, the construction of a $29,000,000 steel mill by the United States Steel Company at Birmingham, Ala., a $500,000 addition to the Tubize Chatillon rayon plant at Rome, Ga., a $1,000,000 plant of the U. S. Pipe and Foundry Co. at Chattanooga, Tenn., a $4,000,000 factory of the Universal Bag and Paper Co. at Savannah, Ga., and the construction of 146 new coke ovens in Alabama by the Koppers Co., all indicate the tremendous industrial development that is taking place in the South generally."
