ICE CAUSES SHIV-V-VERS! ALSO GRAND JURY!

Cold 16°. Wrecks! Damages!

Following unusually warm days, Coryell county, along with the rest of Texas and neighboring states has just experienced (as you know) the first real cold of the year. Coryell's temperature going to below 18 degrees Fahrenheit.

Since the cold is of course no interest, the results, to localities might be. A number of harrowing experiences, a few car smash ups, with few injuries reported, except to the automobile owners.

Pleas Walker driving a light weight car had a head-on collision Friday morning at 8 o'clock on North 10th street near the Church of Christ with another car driven by M. H. (Skeet) Shepherd.

Cleburne McCarver, riding with Walker received a deep gash in his forehead. No one else was injured. Both cars had damaged fenders and McCarver's car had a broken windshield.

About 10:30, the same day, a car driven by Jack Boyd collided with a bread truck driven by Hazen Ament on the city square. No one was injured. Boyd's car had a wheel caved in, an axle bent and a damaged fender, the truck only had a damaged fender.

Roy Chamlee drove his car into a tree, damaging the fender slightly and also bending the bumper.

All of these accidents were unavoidable and were caused by the slick streets, made glassy by the ice.

Light and Phone Men Have Trouble

Although business has been at a standstill during the icy weather, no one experienced trouble with the exception of the light and telephone men, their power lines a few times being out, and practically all the telephone lines in the rural districts were down. Long distance telephone messages were taboo, practically altogether. The switch-ins by the light company helped the town to be lighted and "motored" most of the time, and credit must go to these two public utilities for the splendid work they did in keeping the business and pleasure of the community in motion.

In the telegraph office, things were also unusually slow, some telegrams being delivered by mail out of the Waco offices on account of icy and broken lines.

A mobilization order signed by King Henry the Eighth in 1544 "against our ancient enemy the French king" was sold for 25 shillings at Robson Lowe in London recently.

EARL HUDDLESTON NOW IN AUSTIN FOR WORK WITH LEGISLATURE

Representative Earl Huddleston left Monday for Austin where he will be during the important session of the Legislature which will open immediately.

Mr. Huddleston writes the News, asking for the co-operation of citizens of Coryell county in helping to solve the problems which will confront the law making bodies of the state.

He invites Coryell's citizens to visit him in Austin, and if he can be of service to you in any way, he requests that he be called on, assuring that he has the interests of the entire county to the foremost.

DAUGHTER OF WACOAN WITH RELATIVES HERE DIES IN WACO

Funeral Services for Billy Ruth Bone, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bone, route two, Waco, who died in a Waco hospital at 3 p. m. Saturday, will be held some time today from Blevins Baptist Church. Rev. Mr. Temple of Eddy officiating. Burial will be in Blevins cemetery. Surviving her besides her parents is a sister, Mary Katherine.

Gatesville relatives who were not informed until yesterday of the death of the child were Mr. and Mrs. Jess Hill and daughter who went to Waco yesterday. Communication was impossible with Waco, and no news of the death came thru.

MRS. FRED SMITH QUILTS AT LEAIRD'S; IS MOVING TO WACO

Mrs. Fred Smith, formerly with Leaird's Dept. Store in the Ladies-Ready-To-Wear department has resigned her position and is leaving for Waco where she will make her future home.

Mr. Smith who has for some time been employed on the junior high school building there, also has work on a new department store building, and Mrs. Smith gives this as her main reason for leaving Gatesville, so that she may be with husband.

Special Notice

On account of the weather condition the "Fascinating Fanny Brown" will not arrive in time to be seen at the City Auditorium next Thursday night, Jan. 14.

She hates to postpone her visit to Gatesville a second time but she was "snowed under" and just couldn't get here.

She will be well worth seeing when she does get to this city, so look for further announcements concerning her visit to Gatesville.

Information From Your Co. Superintendent's Office About Schools

Coryell County teachers will again meet on January 23, at their regular meeting place, the high school auditorium. Reports from all the standing committees are expected, according to Superintendent J. M. Witcher.

For the 34 buses operated in the county, a total of the amount requested for these is $22,413. Yesterday the State Board met to pass on these appropriations, and no approval of the budget has been received as yet.

The new county library now has some 500 new books in the "Rural" division of the library. The "professional" part of the library contains 50 new books. Approximately $50.00 is being spent on new books for the professional division of the library.

A little dope on the status of the schools of the county: Ten are classified as 11th grade schools, 14 as 9th grade schools, 25 as 7th grade, and 9 as contract schools. Seven are affiliated, 13 standardized, and 2 are classified, awaiting approval before they are affiliated.

Schools costs are figured as cost per child, and these figures give Belcher (Pidecke) with the lowest cost per capita, $4.40, while Topsey, due to many of the pupils attending the nearby Lutheran school, is $11.55. The average attendance at Topsey is 18.08, the school being a two-teacher school. The average at Belcher is 103.33, the school being a four-teacher school.

FORMER CO. COMMISSIONER HAS POSITION WITH MACHINERY CO.

Richard (Dick) Payne, former popular County Commissioner of Beat 4, has accepted a position with the Austin Western Road Machinery Company of Dallas.

Mr. Payne retired from the Commissioners office and "did not choose to run" in the last election. Oad Painter, recently elected and sworn in, has taken his place in the Beat.

Mr. Payne is also connected with a local terracing company that has been terracing farms in conjunction with the Soil Conservation movement in the county.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Hirschfeld and daughter, Rose Ann, of San Francisco, California are new residents of our city. Mr. Hirschfeld is Construction Engineer for the government on the construction of the new Post Office in this city.

Mrs. Wm. Richard, Cullman, Ala, says she has tablecloth that has been in use for 3 years.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT HAS OFFICIAL HERE TO O K POST OFFICE

B. S. Hirschfield, recently of San Francisco, California, and a licensed architect in that state, has just moved to Gatesville as an official representative of the Federal Treasury Department in inspecting the work being done on the new United States Federal building here by the Dolph-Batteson Company of Dallas.

Mr. Hirschfield stated yesterday he had just completed his work on a Federal building in San Francisco and had been transferred here to take charge as an inspector on the local post office job.

Mrs. Hirschfield and their young daughter accompanied Mr. Hirschfield. They will make their home on North Tenth st. while in Gatesville.

RADIO PROGRAM ADVERTISED DEPENDENT ON LOCAL SPONSORING

The proposed Booster Radio Program, which has been suggested over radio station KTEM, Temple, depends on the local support of public spirited citizens, merchants, and civic or other organizations.

The News was presented with the idea and was asked to cooperate by giving the program publicity—our only connection with the exception that we consider it a worthy undertaking.

So far, practically no comment has been received on the feasibility of such a program, even if they have been sponsored by communities such as Flat, Copperas Cove, Florence, Kilken, Belton and others. The program could be placed, as advertised, on Sunday, January 17, from 12:30 to 1:30, or another date could be arranged.

SENATOR CONNALLY BACKS FARM TENANTRY BILL IN U. S. SENATE

Senator Tom Connally of Texas, Wednesday introduced in the Senate a bill creating the Farm Tenant Home Purchase Corporation.

This measure provides for a comprehensive system of land purchases and loans whereby farm tenants may become home owners and may acquire farm lands in amount sufficient to provide a livelihood for their families and income sufficient to amortize the indebtedness.

The bill carries with it authorization for one billion dollars of capital stock which is to provide allotments and appropriations. Administration is vested in five members.

Houston citizens shivered in freezing weather the past week end—unusual.

9 Called 1st Day! Big Docket

Coryell County's January term of District Court opened here yesterday, with the Grand Jury, with A. B. Bennett of Gatesville as foreman, giving the "jitters" and shivers to those who know and don't do, and to those who do and don't know.

Sheriff Joe White yesterday stated he had seventeen in jail and they were being brought before the Grand Jury as rapidly as possible in order to get them billed, bonded or freed, so as to cut the County board bill as much as possible. Nine had appeared before the Grand Jury up to a late hour yesterday evening. There were fifteen felony cases to be worked out. No information as to the disposition of any of these who appeared was given out.

Other members of the trouble makers of the county include W. A. Tubbs, Osage; George Manning, Evant; Bethel Duncan of Turnersville; Paul C. Hensler, Gatesville; V. L. Arnett, Gatesville; Hugo Haedge, Copperas Cove; Roy Hayes, Gatesville; S. E. Conner, Bee House; Geo. T. Moore, Purlama; Dink Dyer, Gatesville, and Willie Dreyer of Coryell county.

Riding Bailiffs are Ed Elms, Gatesville; W. B. Bynum, Pearl; L. M. Mayberry, Gatesville; Geo. R. Hodges, Gatesville, and Guy Grantham, Purlama. Door Bailiff is Joyce Ryan.

FORMER GATESVILLE BOY MAKES "BAD" IN BIG CITY

It appears from a story in the Times-Herald, (Waco) of the 9th under an "AP" story, a former Gatesville boy has made "bad" in the big city of Dallas.

We only quote the story in part: Federal agents claimed today exposure of the largest narcotic ring in the nation with the arrest of eight men and the seizure of $100,000 worth of narcotics.

Six were arrested in Dallas and two at Hot Springs, Ark. Bonds asked were $25,000.

Those arrested in Dallas were Sam Civallo, Leon Civallo, Joe Civallo, Dick Smith, Guy Payne, berg and D. D. Moody, alias Dan Moody, the latter two at Hot Springs.

Former Coryellite Now FHA Consultant for Texas

Federal Housing Administrator Stewart McDonald Saturday announced the appointment of Horace L. Walling as building and loan consultant for Texas. He will work directly under the supervision of George L. Palmer, a former president of the New York State Building & Loan League, who is in charge of the participation of building and loan leagues in the insured mortgage program of the housing administration. Walling is a native of Coryell County, Texas, and has resided in that commonwealth practically all his life. He was graduated from the public schools and business college of Austin. He has been traveling passenger agent for the New York Central Railroad in San Antonio and Houston, where he was a resident for twenty years. For the past fifteen years he has been in the building and loan business. Walling and his organization have engaged actively in accepting insured mortgages under the FHA plan, which he has described as a "new era in home financing, offering a broader field for service to home owners." He believes the insured single mortgage plan is the streamlined, up-to-date operation for building and financing of homes and the refinancing of new construction.

MAPLE SCHOOL NEWS

(Delayed)

When school opened January 4, everyone was in a very high spirit. The pupils had enjoyed the holidays, and were ready to begin school work again, with a determination to meet problems and difficulties with smiles to make school a pleasure as well as beneficial.

Playground activities were at a top-most peak. The boys still had the football spirit and are still playing. The junior girls began a systematic study and practices of playground ball. Being fortunate in having six members of the '35-'36 club back we hope to build a team that will furnish plenty of competition for schools in our class.

The Seventh Grade English Club was organized and the interest was in a mood for better English programs for the betterment of their speech.

The Eighth and Ninth grades have reorganized their English Club, and their opportunities in this field look very good. Miss Marie Baker was elected president, and Miss Moise Colvin, Secretary. Program committee: Waldean Brashear, Oneta Bay and Blanche Shafer.

The Rythmn Band will begin work again in the near future. Be sure to see this band perform, as they have something interesting for everyone.

The Eighth and Ninth History classes have been very interested in the Mattson Kidnaping case. Some of them have different views of the subject.

Everyone is invited to attend the community program Friday night, Jan. 15th.

LET'S TALK ABOUT CLOTHES

Denton, Dec. 21.—The insatiable hat collectors have found their hearts desires in the last minute headline arrivals. Tiny skull caps of fabric or velvet, to wear far back on the head, in bright colors and street shades are effective to contrast or harmonize with a suit or fur coat. They are ideal items for large fur collared coats for they perch comfortably and decoratively inches away from the collar.

New and smart are the angora-jersey turbans. Swathed cleverly to fit the head, they are most comfortable to wear, and come in all imaginable colors. White is featured in high models and the fitted styles; pearl gray, black, all high shades of red, blue, green and one striking mixture of at least seven different colors should please anyone out for an unusual hat for mid-season wear. Girls at Texas State College for Women (CIA) find them especially nice with mid-winter clothes, and they have surprisingly low price marks.

Other tricky tops are the pill box turbans in felt and silk fabric, with what is called a schoolgirl bow at the back. This Saturday morning dispatches from the United Press announce one of the most startling innovations in the sports world for years, the virtual cancellation of the Braddock-Schmeling as a result of the Non-Secretarian Anti-Nazi's boycott of the fight scheduled to be held next June.

Schmeling is an admitted Nazi, one of Herr Hitler's whitest-haired boys, and the league is bitterly against Herr Hitler, hence the boycott of the fight.

The league is a national organization affiliated with hundreds of other groups and backed by millions of supporters. When Joe Louis and "der Maxie" put on their brawl, in which the Brown Bomber came out second best, the league had on an unofficial boycott and the reported loss to the gate because of this boycott was more than $100,000. What can they do when they come out in the open?

They worked by a "whispering campaign," chain letters and other devices that proved formidable. Now that they have come out in the open they can throw the full power of their organization into the fight with all their money and supporters to back them.

The United States has always conducted their sports as to the "best man wins," no matter his race, creed or color. So when Herr Hitler excluded the Jewish athletes from the Olympic games in Germany last summer it drew a storm of protest from the fair-play lovers in this country. Now, Der Reich is only getting some of his own medicine with the league's boycott of Germany's most famous athlete.

Mike Jacobs, who hold Schmeling's contract, sent his attorney, Sol Strauss, to the league's headquarters as soon as the boycott was announced, but Solly could not do anything. He was told that nothing he or Jacobs could do, legal or otherwise, would stop the boycott. Mike is tearing his hair at present, and that this will kill the fight from his past experience with the league in the Louis-Schmeling fight.

Joe Gould, Braddock's manager, said that if the boycott went through he would not permit is boy to fight Schmeling, because they would be fighting for peanuts.

In case of cancellation of the fight Joe Louis, of Detroit, will probably meet Champion James J. Braddock for the title in Madison Square Garden on June 3, instead of Max Schmeling of Germany.

A New Year's Buffet

If you have established the pleasant custom of having friends drop in on New Year's day you will welcome some suggestions for buffet. Sandwiches, appetizers, one hot dish, coffee, and—if you are so inclined a brimming punch bowl are a natural choice. The following are suggested as a tempting array—sure to appeal to feminine and masculine tastes alike.

Punch

Dried Herring cut in thin strips
 Russian Canapes
 Lobster Fingers
 Stuffed Celery
 Moulded Chicken Salad
 Baked Oysters, Mexican style
 Thin buttered rye bread
 Walnut drop cookies
 Russian Canapes

Hard Cooked egg, chopped finely, mayonaise, Worcestershire sauce, caviar.

Chop eggs very fine and mix to a paste with mayonaise. Season with Worcestershire sauce. Spread on thin bread cut in diamonds or half moons. Cover with caviar and sprinkle with hard-cooked egg yolk that has been pressed through sieve.

Lobster Fingers

Lobster paste, butter, Worcestershire sauce.

Cream together equal parts of lobster paste and butter, seasoning to taste with Worcestershire sauce. Spread on bread cut in finger lengths. Top with two or three pieces of stuffed olives.

Molded Chicken Salad

One teaspoon gelatine, 1-4 cup cold water, 1 cup mayonaise, 2 cups cold chicken cut in small pieces, 1/2 chopped celery, 1-4 chopped pimento.

Soak gelatine in cold water and dissolve over boiling water. Add to salad dressing. Fold in chicken, celery and pimento and more dressing if necessary. Turn into large individual molds and place in refrigerator to chill. Unmold on crisp lettuce and garnish with fan pickles, stuffed olives or radish roses.

Baked Oysters, Mexican Style

One-half cup tomato ketchup, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 qt. large oysters, 1/2 cup grated American cheese, 1 teaspoon butter, sweet dill pickle, dash pepper.

To ketchup and Worcestershire sauce add salt and pepper. Place the oysters in buttered casserole or baking dish, cover with ketchup mixture, sprinkle with cheese and dot over with butter. Bake in moderate oven until cheese is melted and oysters curl, and serve hot with generous slices of dill pickle.

Stuffed Celery

Fill concave sides of tender stalks with cream cheese mixed with Roquefort cheese. Sprinkle with paprika.

Walnut Drop Cookies

One-fourth cup shortening, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 egg, 1 cup chopped walnuts, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 1-4 cups pastry flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon soda 1-3 cup sour milk. Sugar gradually, creaming continually. Add the egg, well beaten, and mix. Add walnuts and vanilla, then the flour mixed and sifted with salt and soda alternately with the milk. Drop from teaspoon on greased cookie sheet 2 inches apart. Bake in a hot oven 10 or 12 minutes.

Caramel Pecan Tarts

Have prepared 6 tart shells, ready baked. Fill with the following: 2 cups milk scalded in the double boiler, add to this one cup brown sugar and mix with 4 tablespoons flour and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Stir until smooth and thick. Cover and cook over water 15 minutes. Pour slowly over two beaten egg yolks. Return to double boiler and cook 2 minutes. Remove from fire and stir in 2 tablespoons butter and cup finely chopped pecan meats. Flavor with vanilla and pour in tartlets. Top with whipped cream.

good business man would try to run a business without keeping accounts.

There are so many, many questions that we might ask ourselves on taking this inventory that we should be careful not to stop checking too soon. Remember the successful business man checks every item and then plans to improve his methods and salesmanship.

So I am wishing for each of you and your family a happy and prosperous New Year.

Lets Talk about Clothes

TEXAS STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN (CIA)

Denton, Jan. 4.—Nothing new equals the lure of the new neck scarfs. Once an addict or collector the ruge never dies, you keep buying and wearing the arrivals to wear under dark winter coats, and found a most satisfying assortment of brand new ideas.

For instance there are the paper prints—a nice newspaperish stunt in off-white soft silk that is especially effective. The scarf is slippery, slim, and soft to manage, in double loop or single twist around the neckline of the suit, blouse or knitted outfit. The matching bags come in two distinctive styles; a round one with a sooty black sain button in the center and a strap and a pouch affair with corners cut and a long loop for the wrist.

Silk squares in script, printed several stunning combines and are a nice scroll idea to wear with plain silk.

Another printed scarf has bands with the names of famous movie stars in contrasting color; and still others have an international alliance of tiny figures dressed in national costumes printed in an all over design against a clear one color background. These scarfs are square shape and can be doubled and worn as triangular styles.

Ascots of silk are blazing with such unusual designs as express labels, tiny reproductions of all the allroad stations of Paris, or some of the famous buildings. These are especially favored by girls at Texas State College for Women (CIA). In addition to the printed scarfs, the novelty crepe ideas with embroidered initials are rapidly gaining in popularity.

YOUR NURSERY STOCK

Remember when you buy nursery stock from me you are not buying from jobbers and dealers. I grow the stock I sell; it has never been handled but once, and you get them fresh, guaranteed true to name. When you buy from bootleggers or tree dealers they have been handled by 2 or 3 different men, they are half dead when you get them. In buying Elbertas you might get May Flower. I am the only man within fifty miles of Gatesville that grows fruit trees. I grow mostly 2 year dormant budded trees; east Texas can't grow two year trees on account of disease. I meet all lawful and reliable competition.

THOUGHTS FOR THE NEW YEAR

By Mrs. John Palmore, President Texas Home Demonstration Association.

The New Year is here! How are we going to use it?

The beginning of a New Year is the time to take an inventory of oneself—our possibilities and our limitations. We should plan to make the most of our possibilities and to overcome our limitations; resolve to conserve our time, strength and money.

During this inventory let's ask ourselves a few questions.

Am I neat in my personal appearance at home and abroad? So many think there is no need to be particular with ourselves at home, but our husbands and children appreciate a clean dress and well-kept hair.

Do I keep my home as tidy as possible? Tidiness is as contagious as measles and a trait that we want to instill in our children.

Do I criticize my loved ones and friends? We should correct our own faults first and then if we criticize, do it in a kind sympathetic way. The habit of criticizing is an easy one to form and a hard one to overcome.

Do I look for the good in people and then tell them about it. Merited praises helps all of us, and especially children. Praise a child when he has done something nice and watch him try to do better.

What plans have I made for improvement this year on my home and club work? Let's spread the gospel of better farm homes and farms.

Plan to keep accounts. No

HOW TO DRIVE YOUR CAR ON ICE AND SNOW

Ice and snow always bring problems for drivers. These problems are the result of less friction. And that is interesting, because usually we are trying to reduce friction all we can. We use ball and roller bearings to overcome friction. We smooth and polish parts to reduce friction. We put oil in our cars to avoid friction. But we can't get along without friction, just the same.

For, after all, we couldn't start a car, we couldn't stop a car, we couldn't turn a car, if it weren't for friction. The friction between the road and our rubber tires is what gives us traction.

Most of the time we have plenty of traction. But in certain climates every year, winter comes blowing and blustering down from the North, and the first thing we know we have spread ice and snow over our roads, and our whole traction condition is changed.

But automobiles are pretty well prepared these days to meet any conditions. All we have to do is to adjust ourselves to these changed circumstances.

For instance, many skillful drivers start their cars in high gear on very slippery, icy streets. Ordinarily this would be a bad thing to do. But when our tires have to start us going on slippery ice or snow, starting in second or high is harmless and it helps to avoid spinning wheels, side slipping and difficulty in getting away. If you haven't tried this after stopping at intersection you may be surprised to find out how much more quickly you get started again. Only remember to engage the clutch very slowly.

This business of starting in slippery weather can be quite a problem. But stopping is even more so. However most good drivers agree on one method that they find quite satisfactory. First of all they begin to slow their cars down at quite a distance from where they want to stop. They press the brake gently at first and release it almost at once. Then they press again and release quickly. By a series of brief, moderate brake actions instead of one continuous pressure, they gradually reduce speed and can usually stop without skidding.

Many of the best drivers always make it a point not to disengage the clutch as soon as they apply their brakes, but to wait until the car has almost stopped. While this is their general practice they say it is especially important on slippery roads, as they claim it reduces the chances of skidding. But if we use this method there is one thing we must look out for. We have to remember that on a slippery surface it is very easy to stall our engine by using our brakes when the clutch is still engaged.

Outside of starting and stopping, most winter skidding is at turns and curves. Many good drivers tell us that they treat every slippery curve or turn as though it were going to be a stop. In other words, they approach curves using their very same system of short, moderate brake actions. The result is that when they reach the curve they are going so slowly that they can actually give the engine a little gas and put some power in the wheels. With power turning the wheels we are not so likely to skid.

After all, the main thing to

H. J. Rogers and Wife Celebrate Their Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Rogers observed their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, January 3, at their home near Levita.

In 1877, Mr. Rogers came to Texas from Mississippi in a covered wagon. He first settled in Bell county, later coming to Coryell county where he bought the farm that is his present home. The historical rock house is the same that Mrs. Rogers came to as a bride.

Mrs. Rogers, who was Miss Mary Lynn Patton, before her marriage came with her family from Mississippi in 1882 and settled in Bell county. In 1887 she was married to Mr. Rogers near Pendleton in Bell county with Rev. Mr. Cunningham, a Baptist minister, reading the ceremony.

To this union eight children were born; A. T., W. P., and Curtis Rogers all of Gatesville; Otha of Levita, N. B. of Purnella, Mrs. A. L. Miles of Waco, Mrs. Odie Jones of Levita and Miss Eva Rogers. There are 15 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Friends and relatives other than the children present were Mr. and Mrs. Finis Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Rabon Balch and children, Talou and James Rabon, Rev. G. L. Derrick, Miss Kathryn Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mayes of Hamilton, a nephew and niece of Mrs. Rogers, and Mesdames Kate Permenter, and J. M. Rogers, sisters of Mr. Rogers, who attended the wedding ceremony fifty years ago.

N. FOOTE HAS PART ON PRODUCTION CREDIT MEET AT WACO

At the meeting of the Waco Production Credit Association Friday of this week, at which meeting five hundred farmers from Falls, Bell, Bosque, Coryell and McLennan counties are expected, N. Foote, well known Turnersville ranchman will be on the program.

"All farmers and ranchers qualified for safe, dependable type of production credit are invited to attend, the program being educational in nature as well as attempting to trace progress of the association during the last year," according to the story in Sunday's Waco News-Tribune.

R. A. Gorham will preside and Ed Brewster Jr. of Temple will report on activities of the board of directors and executive committee.

do about driving in lippy weather is just what we do about walking in slippery weather. We are all pretty careful about that. The first thing most of us do when we go out on a slippery morning is to put out one foot cautiously and get the feel of the surface to see how careful we have to be. The best drivers we know do practically the same thing with their cars. The first thing they do after they get started is to test the surface. They make sure that there are no cars too near, and then they gently apply the brakes. If they don't skid they resume speed and apply the brake again—this time a little more firmly. In this way they determine the surface and know the degree of caution they must exercise to be safe. This seems like a very sensible idea.

SYNOPSIS

Green Ridge College is picked to represent the East in the Rose Bowl football game against Sierra. Oddie Merrill, Sierra fullback star, hails from Bellport, which is the home town of Paddy O'Riley, Green Ridge second string quarterback. The two were once rivals for the affections of Cheers Reynolds, Bellport belle. Dutch Schultz, Green Ridge varsity fullback, plays a practical joke by writing Cheers a letter telling her of Paddy's devotion. In retaliation, Paddy informs the college press agent of Dutch's old high school romance with Florence Taylor, now a movie star. Dutch, in turn, tells them of the triangle involving Merrill, Cheers, and Paddy. The romances receive national attention and heighten interest in the game but cause Paddy and Dutch to come to blows. Dutch hurts his leg in practice. His substitute Russell, also receives a broken nose. This causes Coach Soapy Moreland of Green Ridge to worry about his lineup for the Bowl game.

CHAPTER IX

DUTCH was resting his game leg while he sat on the porch of a Pasadena hotel and compared notes with Donovan, his husky teammate. "What are you going to order for your first meal when you break training?" the former inquired dreamily. "Chocolate pie a la mode, chocolate pie a la mode, chocolate pie a la mode—and a blonde," sighed Donovan.

"Nice talk! Nice talk!" Dutch opened his eyes to give his friend a disgusted look, then sat up with a jerk. On the porch before him stood Cheers Reynolds.

"Well! Well!" He hobbled to his feet. "If it ain't the woman of moods! And what are you doing so far from home, if I may ask?"

"I robbed the till at the Sweetery to get money for the trip," she smiled a bit shyly. Then: "Well, are you going to tell me where he is?"

"You mean Paddy? He's in Room 406. Knock twice and say Al sent you." As Cheers nodded and started away he added suddenly: "How about giving him a message? Just tell him the word is 'Crawl!'"

"That's silly." She was impatient to get away.

"Sure. But you tell him anyway." As the girl hurried into the hotel Soapy peered her as he came out.

"Who was that?" he asked Dutch. "Don't you know?" was the surprised reply. "That's Cheers Reynolds—O'Riley's reason for living!"

"Umamun!" The coach nodded thoughtfully. "Nice looking little girl." He turned on his heel and re-entered the hotel.

Paddy was studying Oscar, the Green Ridge mascot, with great satisfaction when a knock sounded on his door.

"Come in," he yelled without looking up.

Cheers entered, then rapped twice on the open door.

"All right! All right," Paddy groaned as he touched up one of the many scores on the toy donkey's flank. "Knock—knock—who's there?"

"Clarify," she answered in a deep bass.

"All right again! Clarify who?"

"Clarify come in?" Cheers finished in her normal voice.

Paddy jumped up at this and faced her, hardly believing his eyes.

"It's a lie!" he whispered. "That is, unless I've died and gone to heaven!"

"Then you're really glad to see me?"

"Am I glad to see you?" He sprang forward and took both of her hands in his. "Am I glad! Say!"

"What's this?" Cheers inquired, pointing at the deserted Oscar.

"Just a bust of Schultz."

"It does kind of look like August," she agreed thoughtfully. "Oh, say, he asked me to give you a message. Something about crawl being the word."

"What?" Paddy gasped as though he had been splashed with cold water.

"'Crawl is the word' was what he said. I didn't think it made sense either."

"Oh yes, it makes sense all right," O'Riley suddenly had become stiff and distant. As Cheers looked at him in complete surprise he rushed on: "Now, let's get something straight. The last time I saw you—there was a battle. So what did you come way out here for?" He folded his arms majestically and concluded: "If you came to say you're sorry—I'm listening."

"Maybe that is why I came." She was stunned by his complete change of front. "But..."

"You know darned well it is." He was gaining assurance.

"Don't be too sure!" she flared up. "Maybe I came to watch Sierra knock Green Ridge's ears down!"

"No you didn't!" Paddy was still exuding confidence. "Remember you're talking to the O'Riley now..."

For a moment she merely stared at this grim, hard-to-get person before her. Then she capitulated. Moving closer to him, she began softly: "Aw, Paddy—when I get mad I get all mixed up and say the craziest things—Be nice—Gee—they allow a dog three bites. Don't you think you ought to allow a girl three mistakes?"

His determination to make her crawl rapidly weakening, Paddy looked down at the girl tenderly. When he put a hand under her chin and tilted her face up to him.

"Remember," he said quietly. "I told you if I ever had anything to say to you, I'd say it? I've got something to say now..."

play carefully through his binoculars, then went on in a slightly louder tone:

"There seems to be a slight change in the lineup—Russell—number 22—started at fullback for Green Ridge instead of Duncan. There goes the kick. Russell caught it. He's wearing a nose-guard helmet to protect that broken nose of his. He's off down the field. Now he's tackled by Sierra's number 12. He's down after making a fifteen yard gain!"

On the next play Russell fumbled, then recovered in his characteristic manner.

"Now you see!" Cheers exclaimed to her sister. "If they had Paddy in there!" She gritted her teeth and added: "That dumb lunk of a coach!"

On the third play Russell fumbled once more and Green Ridge took time out for a huddle.

"I was afraid of that," the commentator remarked cheerfully. "Russell's young, inexperienced. It's asking a lot to expect him to meet this veteran Sierra team... It was Russell, you remember, who almost lost the Erie game for Green Ridge

"Well! Well!" Dutch exclaimed. "If it ain't the woman of moods! And what are you doing so far away from home, may I ask?"

"Yes, Paddy?" Almost in his arms now, she waited with bated breath.

"All right, O'Riley!" Soapy's voice cut through the love scene like a knife. "Turn in your suit!" As the youngsters stared at him uncomprehendingly he nodded toward the open door. "You'd better get out of here, little girl," he told Cheers.

"You can't talk to Cheers that way!" flamed Paddy.

"I haven't got time to talk to her at all," was the frigid reply. "You're through, O'Riley."

"You can't take Paddy off the team!" wailed the girl.

"Outside!" He pointed to the door and waited until she had gone.

"I can take it, Coach," exclaimed Paddy when they were alone. "But you've got to listen about Miss Reynolds."

"If you're smart, you'll forget about it," was the quiet reply.

On the day of the big game Cheers and Susie found themselves perched high in the Rose Bowl close to a box where some radio announcer was describing the colorful crowd, the parading bands and, of course, the wonderful California climate.

"Too bad neither Schultz nor O'Riley is going to meet Oddie Merrill today," the commentator chatted with his unseen audience. "Schultz is laid up with a recurrence of the knee injury he received in the Erie game. The fans are buzzing with a thousand theories as to why O'Riley is out of the lineup, although it is pretty well known that a girl was mixed up in the mess..."

another development in the much publicized Rose Bowl quadrangle, by the way... Now the teams are on the field. Sierra, in the white jerseys, is about to kick off to Green Ridge..."

The announcer paused, studied the through nervousness. Those two bobbles haven't done the Easterners' morale any good. Sierra's having a swell time out there—they're kidding Green Ridge now. Funny thing, though, Coach Soapy Moreland doesn't seem worried."

Again the teams lined up. But this time Russell broke through the over-confident Sierra line and started a sensational, sidwinding run down the field. Oddie made a dive for him as he came past, but the supposedly nervous youngster stopped in his tracks, made a quick shift and was off for a touchdown, leaving the fullback staring after him open-mouthed.

"I take it all back, folks! I take it all back!" the radio man was yelling as he pounded his binoculars on the table before him. "This Russell kid is all right! He just got away for a sensational run-to-a-touchdown... Wait a minute. What's this, folks..." He grabbed a slip of paper which an assistant slammed before him, gasped and dashed on: "It wasn't Russell who made that run—it was Paddy O'Riley! O'Riley reported to the official as himself—but he went in with Russell's number on and a nose guard helmet which made him unidentifiable. Man-o-man-o-man-O-MAN! O'Riley at fullback... Nobody expected it! Soapy Moreland pulled one out of the hat that time."

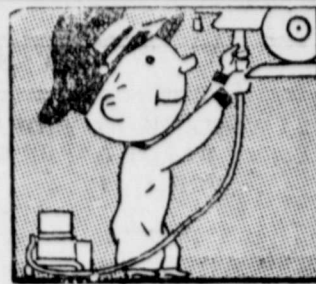

"Cheers, honey," Susie screamed over the roar of the crowd. "That's Mr. O'Riley out there—You remember Mr. O'Riley, don't you?"

"Yeah—I remember him—the heel!" was the bitter reply. As her sister stared uncomprehendingly, she rushed on, eyes blazing. "He and that Soapy Moreland had this all figured out ahead of time—and they made me the goat!"
