Wiley & Tucker Get Junior Hi Job; Construction Is to Start Monday

Contract was let Tuesday to C. E. Tucker and Paul Wiley, local contractors for the construction of the new Junior High School. Actual construction will start Monday of next week, according to advices from the City Hall. Wiley and Tucker got the job with a bid of $21,950.

Plans for the school call for seven class rooms, study hall, bus garage (in basement) library, rest rooms and office. Birch D. Easterwood, architect of Waco has been named as the supervising architect.

According to City Secretary Eiland Lovejoy, the contract calls for the job to be completed in 100 working days. Since this is not a WPA job, the labor on the job will be handled exclusively by the contractors.

Drug Firm of Near Fifty Years Here Sells to Brown & Gordon

Thursday sale of Arnold Drug Store, firm of over forty years in business, was consummated, Boone Gordon and J. O. Brown, owners of the City Drug Store of this city being the purchasers. No intimation was given as to the consideration involved in the trade.

Mr. Arnold said yesterday, he would continue in Gatesville in the electrical business, and that he wished to thank Coryell Countians for their continued patronage and the many special favors given both him and his father, the late R. M. Arnold, Sr.

Arnold's Drug Store has always kept in the forefront in modernizing and keeping abreast of the times with new stocks, equipment and merchandising helps. Some ten years ago, due to a fire, a complete new stock was purchased along with the new fixtures which make it one of the most up to date drug stores in Central Texas.

As advertised, the new owners will continue the policy of Arnold's Drug Store, The Rexall Store, and on May 5-6-7-8 will have the regular late spring and early summer Rexall Sale.

Messrs. Arnold and Brown made a trip to Brownwood yesterday and arranged to have the bus line continue using the store as it's local headquarters. It is understood, Mr. Brown will be in charge of the new store, Mr. Gordon remaining with the City Drug as manager of that establishment.

L. POWELL TO BE ASSIST. PROF. OF PIANO AT C. I. A. NEXT FALL

Lytle Powell recognized nationally as a concert pianist, will take over the duties of assistant professor of piano at C. I. A. sometime next September.

First gaining recognition at Baylor University, and later in London England, where he studied for several years, Powell has received the most favorable comments from music critics wherever he has appeared on his concert tours.

At C. I. A., which is the largest college for women in the world, Powell will take no regular college classes but will instruct only private pupils.

DUO OF STRAW CADDIES GIVEN TO BEST GUESSERS

Painter's was on the donoring end, and J. C. Lowrey, Mound, and H. C. Gossett, were on the receiving end after the ice guessing contest held by Painter's in celebration of straw hat time.

On the first cake, Gossett's guess was 62 hours and 16 minutes. The ice melted in 62 hours and 40 minutes.

Secondly, Lowrey's guess was 64 hours and 43 minutes.

Mrs. Milton O. Thompson, who has been in a Temple hospital for the past month, was conveyed to her home near this city Monday and is reported as doing nicely.

Autos Collide on Main Street: No Injuries But Excitement Rife

An old car driven by Joe Baker and Burl Davis collided with a new sedan driven by Bertha Lillian Stewart accompanied by Belva McCoy, Nellie Routh, Mildred Witcher, Anita Lowrey, Jane Thomson, Nell Goodall and Frances McCoy Thursday about 3 p. m. on Main street.

It was only a makebelieve collision, for one of the scenes in the local movie called, "Watch Your Speed," which will be shown at the Regal Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, April 28 and 29, including the matinee both days.

Camera man from the Tinsley Film Company of Des Moines, Iowa, shot the scenes as the two cars came together. A heated argument between Joe Baker and Jack Hestilow developed into a fist fight. Chief of Police J. B. Graves enters upon the scene and settles the fight. Just as the excitement reaches its height the car breaks into flame. The Gatesville Volunteer Fire Department makes a spectacular run and extinguishes the blaze instantly. The ruins of the old car are removed by the wrecker. Large crowds of shoppers stood by to watch the making of the scene. J. R. (Longair) Saunders, ace News reporter, was at the scene immediately after the collision.

The comedy is entirely made up of Gatesville people. Miss Belva McCoy, Jack Hestilow and Joe Baker fit in splendidly in the leading role of the comedy, "Watch Your Speed." In addition to the collision some beautiful and romantic scenes were filmed in Raby Park and other interesting places over the city.

A very interesting scene was filmed at noon near the school grounds. The purpose of this was to show the hazards of two boys riding on the same bicycle. Two Boy Scouts taking part in the scene are Jimmie Dick Thomas and Tom Lasseter. The boys are removed from under the car driven by Harold Chamlee in which Misses Louise Hall and Ernestine Durham were occupants. The ambulance appeared on the scene and rushed one of the boys to the hospital.

During the past week numerous spills and thrills were filmed in Gatesville and will give you many laughs as you see yourself and your friends in the movies.

M. M. CHUNN OBSERVES 25TH YEAR AS PREACHER APRIL 25

On April 25, 1912, at Weatherford, Marcus M. Chunn became a licensed preacher and since that time has had ten charges and twenty-three churches. In his early ministry he served four circuits, the first being at Ellaville, where he promoted himself from horse back riding to a horse and buggy and at the same time advancing in the realm of his church. Since the year 1920 he has only served a one church charge, the Methodist church in Gatesville being his present charge.

Rev. Mr. Chunn and his family have lived in our city for the past four years. They have been a part of every church and civic organization and have manifested an interest in all movements for the betterment of the city and county. The News joins the host of friends in congratulating him on this, his twenty-fifth year in the ministry a mile stone of which he should be justly proud.

Rodeo Pens, Chutes Planned by Contractor; To Be Built Soon

From the Rodeo officials, we learn plans have been drawn by H. C. Galloway, local contractor, and have been submitted to the governing body and actual construction will probably start immediately, according to advices received by the News.

Collections, according to the finance committee, have been coming in good.

Howard Franks, J. R. Saunders and Sterling Edwards, committee on newspaper advertising meet this morning to lay further plans for the promotion. This sub-committee is a part of the Publicity Committee which is composed of C. E. Alvis, Chairman, E. W. Brooks, Chairman of Sub-Committee on Buses and Band, with Edgar Franks and D. W. Diserens as members; J. R. Saunders the committee for contacting Radio Station KTEM, Temple; Floyd Zeigler, Chairman of committee to contact the Light Crust Dough Boys, with Bob Arnold as member; Eiland Lovejoy Chairman of Committee on canvas signs, along with R. M. Arnold Jr., and Floyd Zeigler; Committee for distribution of circulars and placards is composed of Edgar Franks, Chairman, E. W. Brooks and Howard Franks. The Committee as a whole meets again Wednesday morning to complete the publicity and advertising schedule.

With the close co-operation noted at this date as distant as it is from June 4 and 5, it appears that the wheels are moving toward a great day for Greater Gatesville and the 1937 Rodeo and Home-Coming.

Gatesville Men Hurt in Two Car Wrecks on Waco Road Wed. Nite

Travelling at high speed a car driven by Martin Donaldson crashed into the guard rail of a concrete bridge seven miles out on the new Waco highway about 11 o'clock Wednesday night.

Donaldson, the only occupant of the car, was cut about the face in several places and suffered bruises. The Milton Powell Hospital, where he was rushed for medical attention by Dr. Otis Ray who happened along at the scene of the accident, stated that his injuries were not serious and that he would be released soon.

The front end of the car, which crashed headon into the concrete rail, was badly wrecked, the wheels being driven back under the car and the motor mashed back, but the body suffered little damage. No glasses were broken and no tires blown out.

Going to sleep while driving is thought to have been the cause of the wreck.

Five occupants of a car, driven by Elsworth Hinsley, suffered various injuries when it turned over on the stretch of road halfway between Waco and McGregor Wednesday night about 12:30.

Jack Malone suffered a wrenched back and shoulder, D. P. Lemons a twisted foot and ankle, Horace Blanton cuts and gashes on the left eye and cheek and a bruised side, Happy Turpin was gashed on the head and arm, and Hinsley's face was scratched and bruised.

The apparent cause of the accident was the loosening of some welded parts of the steering gear. The car turned over several times and was completely wrecked.

Malone was the most seriously injured of the party and was rushed to the Milton Powell Hospital by Ted Harris and Andy Anderson, who were returning from Waco at the time of the accident. Thursday night he was reported to be resting quietly and as far as is known his injuries are not serious.

FORMER GATESVILLE MAN NAMED BY ALLRED ON STATE BOARD

Irvin McCreary, president of the Farmers State Bank of Temple, and formerly of this city, was honored by Governor James V. Allred Monday with an appointment to state board of education for a six year term.

HOUSE BILL, 600, PASSES SENATE

Superintendent J. M. Witcher late Thursday received the following telegram from Senator J. Manley Head at Austin, which tells of the passage of the $1,080,000 appropriation for the schools of the state which will enable many of them to continue, whereas, if it had not passed, many of them would have had to close.

The telegram reads:

HOUSE BILL 600 JUST PASSED SENATE WITH SOME AMENDMENTS AM SURE HOUSE WILL CONCUR IN SAME BY TOMORROW. PLEASE NOTIFY TEACHERS.
J. MANLEY HEAD

This is the second honor conferred by Governor Allred on Mr. McCreary, who served for a time as state banking commissioner.

Members of the board of education serve without pay, so the appointment will in no way affect Mr. McCreary's residence and connection in Temple.

The board of education has jurisdiction over the $50,000,000 permanent school fund, sets the state apportionment for public schools, invests the permanent fund's $5,000,000 a year income and directs state school affairs.

The appointment came unsolicited to Mr. McCreary, who accepted the honor only after considerable persuasion, dispatches from Austin said.

"HOW'S CARS"

Probably the newest subject on the American horizon. It's the keynoter for 1937. Trailers! House-cars!

On a recent trip, we saw hundreds of them! They have special tourist camps for them in Florida, Texas, California and everywhere. They are "the thing" for your outing, trip, or your place to live during 1937.

Now! You wonder what this is all about, probably.
Here's the angle that we're suggesting. we're after highway, publicity for the city and county, visitors, tourists, etc. Our suggestion is, that it's an ideal time to have, either privately or municipally to equip a lot or place for these "covered wagon" travelers of 1937 to stop over in our city. It's a thought for you to chew on, but not for long, because, otherwise of no greater note, will "grab the bull by the horns." Let's don't be late.

Two local F.F.A. boys won first place in the District Judging contest held at Gatesville recently. Herschel Wilhelm, of Ames, was high man in the judging of dairy cattle, and Kenneth Coop, of Pirmela, was first in poultry judging.

Each of the boys received a bronze medal for their judging abilities.

of several years having been an invalid for the past year.

Mrs. Scott, who was the former Miss Susan Rachael Franks, was born in Louisiana on Feb.
10, 1861, coming to Texas with her family when only a small child. At the age of twenty she was united in marriage to F.
M. Scott and they made their home at Eagle Springs. Mr. Scott died December 19, 1927 and two children, William and Myrtle, are deceased. Those surviving are, W. H. Frank, Walter,
Burt Scott and Misses Emma,
Lillian, Ola, Mable, Ethel Scott,
Mesdames W. R. Bowlin of this city and Mrs. Herman Wheat of

WASHINGTON WITH Congressman

W. R. (BOB)
POAGE

April 19, 1937
Thursday night the House finally passed one of the most monstrous pieces of demagoguery that I have ever seen go through any legislative body. The Gavagan anti-lynching bill is not only admittedly unconstitutional—one of its proponents stated in the record that he did not consider it constitutional but that he would vote for it—it seeks to place the control of local law enforcement in the hands of the Federal Government and will beyond any doubt greatly increase the number of violent deaths by making it unlikely that any negro accused of a serious crime will ever again receive the protection of the law enforcing officials of the South. The only merit that can properly ascribe to the bill is that in the words of one of its advocates, it will probably keep a bunch of northern Democrats who represent large negro districts, in Congress. It is said that the author, Mr. Gavagan of New York, who represent a Harlem district, has more negro constituents than any other Congressman.

The bill provides that when a mob takes a prisoner away from the custody of a peace officer for purpose of violence that the Federal District Attorney shall prosecute both the officer and all officers with power to act to protect the victim, including even the Governor of the state, and that these officers may be fined up to $5,000 each and be subject to 5 to 25 years imprisonment. They are also subject to civil suit by the relatives of the deceased as is the County in which the lynching occurs. And the County may be required to pay $10,000 penalty even though no one in that county has anything to do with the lynching. Remember all penalties are imposed on officers and taxpayers but not on the parties who do the lynching. During the last fifty years there has been a 500 per cent decrease in lynching. No Northern State can point to any record even remotely approaching this record of the Southern States for stamping out a crime and when we proposed to include gang murders in this bill, New York representatives were the first to object. They are ready to have the Federal Government try to penalize the Southern Counties for every failure to enforce the law but they are unwilling to apply the same rule to their own lawlessness and by confining their penalties to cases where a victim "is taken from the custody of an officer" there can be no doubt but what officers will hesitate long before they take custody of a negro accused of a heinous crime. The officers will simply let the mob take custody of the victim rather than subject themselves, their state and their county to the penalties of the federal courts, for remember there is no violation of the Act if the victim has not been in the custody of an officer. Unfortunate as it is attacks on the principle of local self-government, it is more unfortunate that the splendid progress of the South has made in stamping out lynching, should be stopped and that hundreds of innocent as well as guilty blacks will undoubtedly die unnecessarily, simply that a group mis-led idealists and a larger group of negro-elected politicians can continue to pull the wool over the eyes of the very people they claim to aid.

We can only hope that the Senate will display a sane brand of statesmanship and if not that the courts will strike the act down as its own proponents say it is unconstitutional. In this connection we have a splendid example of the attitude of too many Congressmen. They state, as was stated about this bill in the Congressional Record, that they believe the measure to be unconstitutional, but still they vote for it. How can we hope for constitutional Acts of Congress, when the very men who vote for them say in advance that they are unconstitutional? And yet it is not entirely the fault of the Congressmen, for I have several letters each week from people in our district asking me to disregard the constitutionality of this, that or the other legislation in which they are interested and pass it anyway.

The only important Act of the House this past week has been the passage of the Pettengill Bill which allows railroads to reduce their long haul rates to meet water competition. I voted for the bill believing that it would enable the Santa Fe, the Missouri Pacific, the Southern Pacific and the Katy to handle a volume of through business that is now moved by water. If this is done, it will mean much more work for our trainmen and shop men at Temple and Waco particularly.

The Immigration Committee, of which I am a member, reported out a bill to provide for the deportation of aliens convicted of crimes in the United States. I only wonder why we have never had such a bill in the past it seems to me to be fundamental that this government should be rid of those who come here from abroad and instead of becoming American citizens become criminals and a burden to this country. Under this bill they will be sent back to their own countries.

FINAL SIGNING DATE FOR WORK SHEETS GIVEN BY CO. AGENT

The final date for signing Work Sheets under the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program as set forth in Section 62, SRB-101, is hereby set for Coryell County at Saturday, May 8, 1937.

All farmers who intended to sign Work Sheets should do so immediately at the County Agent's Office. This date, May 8th, is final and after that date no Work Sheets will be accepted under any circumstances.

BAPT. REVIVAL GOES INTO SECOND WEEK WITH CONT. SUCCESS

One of the greatest revivals in the history of the First Baptist Church will come to a close Sunday night. When interviewed by a News reporter Wednesday, the Pastor, Rev. Clarence A. Morton, stated that up to Wednesday noon there had been 32 additions to the Church by baptism and letter.

Friday morning will be a special Old People's service, when the songs and sermon will be in their honor.

Tonight at 7:45 the Evangelist Dr. Dossey will preach on "The Prodigal Son." Baptizing will follow the sermon. Saturday night the sermon will be, "Who Is Responsible For the People Who Go To Hell From Gatesville?"

The goal, according to Sunday School Supt. J. M. Witcher, is for 600 in Sunday School Sunday morning at 9:45 and everyone staying for church. Mrs. Morton, Director of the Baptist Training Union, hopes to see 150 present Sunday evening at 6:45.

Gospel Singer, Joe Trussell, with two pianos, and orchestra, and choir will offer Sunday morning and night the greatest music of the meeting.

During the services Sunday morning there will be celebrated the golden wedding anniversary of two very prominent members of the First Baptist Church.

R. M. ARNOLD, JR.

Announces the Sale of Arnold Drug Store,
Thursday, April 22 to Boone Gordon and J. O.
Brown of Gatesville

We wish to thank our customers for their continued patronage during the more than 40 years this store has been operated under the name, ARNOLD DRUG STORE, and for the especial courtesies shown us by Coryell County citizens.

Until May first, we will be at the drug store, and accounts made up to April 22, may be taken care of there. After above date, all accounts will be payable to the new owners.

R. M. Arnold, Jr., will continue in Gatesville in the electrical contracting business, maintaining shop, equipment and business at his home at 1013 Main Street.

Messrs. Brown and Gordon, it is understood, will "carry-on" with "THE REXALL STORE" 1c SALE as has been advertised by us.

R. M. Arnold, Jr.

Twofold Secret of a Great Life," and "The Two Ways."

The pastor will administer the ordinance of Baptism Sunday night. Church officials urge the attendance of every member of the Church Sunday and give a cordial invitation to the people of Gatesville and Coryell County to attend the closing services, of the revival.

TEA COMPLIMENTS RECENT BRIDE

Mrs. Lenox Lign of Austin and Mrs. Marion Bursleson of this city were co-hostesses Wednesday afternoon when they entertained at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Tom Carlton on East Main street, with a tea and miscellaneous shower in the form of a post-nuptial courtsey complimenting Mrs. John Thomas Brown, the former Miss Frances Austin.

In receiving were the hostesses Mrs. Mable Gardener, Mrs. John Thomas Brown, Mrs. Reb J. Brown and Mrs. S. B. Winters of Evant. Others in the house party were Mesdames J. E. McClellan, R. B. Cross, I. F. Johnson Jr., L. K. Thomson Jr., Lee Colwick, and Miss Pearl Brown.

During the afternoon, delightful music compositions were rendered at the piano by Miss Orpa Mayo of this city.

The dining table was laid with a handmade centerpiece and was graced by a lovely arrangement of pink snapdragons. Other floral decorations carried out the chosen color scheme.

Among the out of town guests who called during the afternoon were Mesdames Carl and Frank Brown of Ewing and Mesdames S. B. and Tommie Winters of Evant.

It is estimated that the average man shaves 20 square miles of face during a life time.

FROM THE COUNTY AGR'L AGENT

NOTICE TO FARMERS

All farmers in Coryell County who have signed up to turn under green oats in order to comply with the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program may turn under these oats at their pleasure as long as they are turned under by the time they reach the dough stage.

CUT WORMS

Almost every year, especially in the coast section, a great amount of damage is done young crops by cut worms. Where care is taken to prepare the land for planting in winter, and to keep the grass and weeds down, especially in late winter and up to planting time, the worms are starved and damage is avoided.

Cut worms may be destroyed by distributing poison bran mash thinly along the rows, using a planter or other such mechanism, or by placing it by hand. The mash is prepared of the following materials:

Wheat bran 25 pounds
W'te arsenic or Paris green--1 lb.
Lemons or oranges ----- 6 fruits
Low grade molasses-----2 quarts
Water ----- 1 gallon

Mix the bran and poison thoroughly while dry. Dilute the molasses with the amount of water as named, squeeze the lemon juice into this diluted molasses, then grind the rind of the lemons finely with a meat chopper and add this also to the liquid. Mix the liquid thoroughly with the poison bran mixture. After an even mixture has been obtained, add more water and mix until a mash is obtained that when squeezed in the hand readily falls apart.

TRENCH SILOS

In answer to this question "Can a farmer afford to be without a trench silo" we quote the following excerpts, giving some of the advantages and disadvantages of trench silos, from statements received from men in this county who have a trench silo:

"My trench silo, which is 60 ft. long, 6 feet wide, and 6 feet deep, having a holding capacity of approximately 25 tons, was dug in 1934 for the amount of $6.50. That same year the total expense for labor in digging, filling, and sealing this silo was $18.50.

"In feeding beef calves for the market the calves I fed silage to put on flesh quicker than the ones fed on other feeds.

"I find a trench silo the best way to put up feed that I have tried as rats and weevils cannot destroy the silage and because it will keep indefinitely."

"I filled my trench silo with immature corn which made an excellent feed, but had it been left in the field to mature, it would have been almost a total loss, due to lack of rain."

"One year I did not smooth off the sides of my trench before refilling which left air pockets which caused a greater amount of spoilage than when the walls were smooth."

"One year I did not have a pasture for my hogs so I fed them silage which proved to be a most excellent substitute for green pasture."

"I like silage cut with a cutter as it is easier to take out of the trench and also because it can be mixed with cotton seed meal when feeding."

Due to the scarcity of silos in this country it is sometimes difficult to secure a cutter and a tractor when needed."

"I dug my trench too long for the amount of feed I had to fill it with. After it was filled, the silage settled below the level of the ground, therefore, a great amount of silage was spoiled."

Watch this column for further comments on trench silos.

"The Holy Terror," coming Saturday, Sunday, and Monday to the Palace Theatre, set out to study public reception of the first riotous comedies by Twentieth Century-Fox's seventy-five pounds of screen dynamite, Jane Withers, before proceeding with the filming of her latest picture.

"The public's reaction to 'Ginger' Jane's wildcat comedy shows plainly what audiences want from her," declared Stone, "so in 'The Holy Terror' we're going to open up with a cataclysm and work up to a real climax."

Describing the picture as a "ripping, roaring, crash-bang, shoot-the-works" comedy, Producer Stone expects "The Holy Terror" to satisfy all Jane Withers' Fans.

James Tinling directs Jane in her role as wildcat of a Naval Air Base, and the juvenile star gets into so much mischief that a sailor bodyguard is assigned to her. With a hundred winsome personality tricks Jane soon wins her jaller over to her side, and the two of them go in a rampage.

Anthony Martin as the gob guard, finds the vivacious Jane not only a tonic for the nerves but a great help in arranging his romance with Leah Ray.

Also featured in the cast are Joan Davis, El Brendel and Joe Lewis.

SPORTS

The softball season will start May 12 in Gatesville. That is the day when all the devotees of the grown-up school boy's game will begin their annual session of verbal battles and possible assault and battery. The word "possible" is used because although there have been many and varied arguments on the local softball diamond, the actual resorting to fistcuffs has been rare.

Psychology has been over-worked as far as entertainment for the more bloodthirsty fans are concerned. In past seasons the umpire has either been some hairy-chested, ham-handed, bull-necked he-man that the contestants have been very respectable to, even going so far as to call him "Mr. and address him as "sir," or he has been some scrawny, and of diminutive stature, person that no self-respecting softball player would raise a hand against. Although few members of local softball clubs are self-respecting, so far most of the umpires have escaped bodily harm.

True enough, strange and wondrous words of a blue flame vitrollic nature have frequently rained upon their ears, most of them consigning with due haste to a region beneath the earth's crust, and others commenting on the nature and origin of their parentage, but the umpires are a hardy lot. If they stay long in the pastime they learn early what to hear and what not to hear. Some shouting, arm-waving, indignant player delivering a loud and profane address on the character and physical handicaps of the ump, and growing bluer and bluer in the face with each word until he finally winds up speechless and exhausted, and then to hear the smug-faced official say, "yer still out," is a common occurrence under the lights of any softball diamond. Some of the more rabid enthusiasts of the game have hinted darkly of wining their Congressman to do something about it, but so far very little legal action has been accomplished.

There is a case or two on record where fans have done something about an erroneous official. When one said official displeased, and continued to displease, the crowds, he was presented with a soft drink bottle, delivered with a hard swinging over arm motion from a distance of about twenty-five yards. (He was revived later by friends, who rescued his body, and to this day his most violent form of sport consists of exercising his arm at the beer garden around the corner.) Most officials can be persuaded with such methods, but of course there is a slight risk of incurring the displeasure of the local gendarmes. But then your dyed-in-the-wool enthusiast is a resourceful character; under cover of the bleacher shadows and surrounded by a bevy of friends in sympathy with his feud, such drastic moves can be made with very little risk of detection. Usually such a move taken to correct the decisions of the umpire is received with wild cheers and applause from the spectators. In this land of the free and untrammelled spirit a hardy soul with a desire to crusade for his convictions is looked upon with the nodding head, the wagging beard, and words of commendation. Such is just, and also raises the insurance rates on umpires.

With the coming of the softball season romance also slips silently into the picture. Two young hearts, that beat as one, ask nothing better than the darkened interior of an automobile parked in the shadows at the edge of the ball field. With the groans and moans from the playing field forming an off stage innuendo, young love flourishes and grows. Many a sweet young thing has answered Mama's glowering questions and piercing eye with, "I wuz at the ball game with Myrtle Schultz, and I must say that things are coming to a pretty pass when a girl can't go to a ball game with one of her best girl friends without her own Mama asking questions and acting like a G-man. And Mama why can't I go with Herman? He's a nice boy and is he to blame that his papa is cutting sugar cane for Governor Allred down at Huntsville? etc., etc." Any public gathering is always a dead cinch for two estranged romancers, and a softball game is sim-pully too, too, too ducky.

It is rumored that all the games with out of town teams will be limited to one town, McGregor, and it will be in the playing agreement that the games will be played in that famous health resort. (Famous for the energizing propensities of its water.) If such a restricted schedule is carried out then the end of the season will probably find all Gatesville players walking around with a large and dignified paunch where their flat and athletic abdomens used to be.

HELP KIDNEYS

To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste

Your kidneys help to keep you well by constantly filtering waste matter from the blood. If your kidneys get functionally disordered and fail to remove excess impurities, there may be poisoning of the whole system and body-wide distress.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination may be a warning of some kidney or bladder disturbance. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. A multitude of grateful people recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

UNBEKNOWNINGLY THE BANKS CLOSED ON "SAN JAC" DAY

April, 21, Gatesville citizens woke up to see signs hanging on all three banks, saying, "Legal Holiday". Amid considerable head scratching, and by tuning in the radio and listening it was found a monument was being dedicated at San Jacinto Battlefield, in honor of Texas Independence.

Some brightly shining light soon figured it out—it was San Jacinto Day.

Nearly all bankers were out of town, either fishing or else.

"SNAKEROIS" BUSY AS NEW STORIES ARE BEING BROUGHT IN

Fisher Brothers, living on the Hassel Farm on Coryell Creek are the latest snake finders. They've run onto two they have not weighed, and don't want to, but the best guessers in the neighborhood have called the avordupois at twenty pounds each.

Furthermore, our correspondent states, John Woods got bit by a "rattler" last year in the vicinity, and J. J. Nichols killed a "monster," and A. M. McCallister got a mighty good flag dog bit by another. Old settlers in that community are predicting a bad year for snakes, and it's just about correct from these reports.

METHODIST CHURCH WILL OBSERVE BISHOP'S CRUSADE

Some two hundred Methodists of this city are expected to be present tonight, April 23, at 7:30 o'clock when the church joins with thousands of other churches throughout the world assisting in the commemoration of the sailing of the early pioneer as he went forth into new fields of Christian conquest.

This gathering is a culminating hour in which all present will sit together in the presence of God, and hear His voice as He directs further paths of the crusader.

A covered dish supper will also be a part of this meeting and all members are urged to be present and bring a guest if they desire. For two years the church has looked forward to this hour.

"MORE THAN A SECRETARY," IN TEMPO OF "THEODORA"

Starting at the Regal Saturday night, 10:30, and continuing thru Sunday and Monday.

Continuing in the glorified tradition of "It Happened One Night," "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," and "Theodora Goes Wild," the Columbia Studios present this week at the Regal Theatre, starting Saturday night 10:30, a new comedy-drama entitled "More Than A Secretary," with Jean Arthur and George Brent in the star roles. In addition to the popular principals, the picture has an exceptionally strong supporting cast including Lionel Stander, Reginald Denny, Ruth Donnelly, Dorothea Kent, and Geraldine Hall.

Now one of the screens foremost comedienne, Miss Arthur tries her hand at another comedy role in "More Than A Secretary," with George Brent appearing as a fine foil in the first light role he has had since "Living on Velvet."

The story concerns itself with the submerged emotions of a young prim-spinster proprietress of a secretarial school whose devotion to business has robbed her of romance. On the other side of the fence is the editor of a health magazine, bran-fed, diet-conscious, addicted to calisthenics and a lost cause for Cupid. The two meet when Miss Arthur, the one with the school girl inhibitions, is forced to accept a position as Editor Brent's secretary in the office of the Crosby Publishing Company.

WORLD COMMENT

IS REPUBLICANISM DEAD?

In a recent issue of "The Saturday Evening Post," Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan answers the question, "Is the Republican Party Dead?" in one of the most forthright and convincing articles I have ever read.

At the outset Senator Vandenberg states that it would never have occurred to him to discuss such a question but for the frequency with which it has been asked since the defeat of November, 1936. Then he proceeds to point out the fallacy of any assertion to the affirmative, basing his argument upon two facts: One, a close analysis of the November election returns, which reveal that the Republican defeat was not so compelling as it first seemed to the casual observer; two, a glance at the record of defeats for the Democratic Party, which shows it to have been in even more lean straits than is the G.O.P. today and to have recovered to its present pinnacle of political leadership.

Electoral votes determine the winner of a presidential election, but any analysis of a party's strength must take into account the popular vote of the party. Seventeen million voters cast their ballots for Alfred M. Landon last November to 27,000,000 for Mr. Roosevelt. The plurality of the Democratic candidate was one of the largest in the history of American political parties, but, seventeen million qualified voters can't be dismissed with a wave of the hand as of inconsequence in political reckonings.

Senator Vandenberg recalls that one other time, aside from the fateful 1916, the Republican Party was only able to muster eight electoral votes—in 1912, when Theodore Roosevelt led his historic progressive revolt against the Taft administration. Four years later it polled 46 per cent of the total presidential vote and lost the White House only because it lost California by 3806 votes.

Electoral college can not be used as a basis of ascertaining the popular strength of a party. Senator Vandenberg cites the fact that President Wilson in 1912 got 438 Democratic electors on the strength of 42 per cent of the popular vote, while Landon polled 36 per cent of the popular vote and received only eight electoral votes.

Again, the eight Republican electors represented more than 2,000,000 popular votes apiece on a nation-wide apportionment, while each of the 523 Democratic electors represented only 53,000 popular votes apiece on the same basis.

In the course of his article, Senator Vandenberg states frankly that it is not his purpose to belittle the Democratic victory of 1936, admitting that his party was administered a thorough and unchallenged defeat. It is the sole purpose of his article, he says, to disprove the prevalent opinion that the Republican Party was delivered a death blow by the 1936 defeat.

A point of interest which he brings out, and one which must

"GEORGE" PREWITT, GETS "THE COMMENTATOR'S NOTICE

"George" Prewitt, Fred, as we know him got the following in the Waco Times-Herald, in the "growing famous" "The Commentator's" column:

While tripping with the Waco traders the other day we met, at Troup, a delightful couple upon whom today we want to bestow the white glare of publicity.

Gatesville! Are you listening? They are Mr. and Mrs. George Prewitt. She is the daughter of the late Henry Edwards, who for years made the Troup Banner an outstanding small town newspaper of Texas. We're not sure of this fact, but, if in error we haven't missed it far—but once they asked him to keep out of state newspaper contests because the excellence of his product hogged the show.

Prewitt, himself, comes from Gatesville and a long and notable line of Prewitts.

Now he and Henry Edwards' daughter are up at Troup running the newspaper and to say they will make a good job of it goes without saying.

It has been a long time since we encountered as delectable

He has especially trained himself for the superintendency in Baylor by taking administrative and supervision courses.

In his four years as Superintendent at Highland he has coached all athletics. The Highland Girl's team have made good records in the past four years having participated in two Central Texas A. A. U. Tournaments, The Southern A. U. U. Tournament for girls in 1936 and made a very good showing in the personality as Mrs. Prewitt—a vivid yet pleasing personality. And, brother, you must admit that's a rare combination.

We want to thank the Prewitts for the opportunity we had of visiting with them and we say to Troup, take advantage of this excellent couple. They are doing their best to get out a newspaper which will keep Troup on the Texas horizon. Help them all you can.

STRIP CROPS ARE SHOWING GOOD GROWTH IN THIS AREA

Winter strip crops are now making a good growth on the farms of 60 cooperators with the Soil Conservation service in the Gatesville Camp area, according to E. E. McAlister. A like number of farmers will also plant summer strip crops of Sudan, Sorghum and Hubam Clover on their farm for erosion control, Mr. McAlister, Technician in Charge says.

When water runs off the land more is brought back, but when soil and plant food is swept off by the water, the land is per-

State A. A. U. Tournament at Hillsboro this year.

The Highland boys basketball and baseball teams have always been among the leading teams in McLennan County.

The Highland School was classified and fully accredited under Mr. Dickerson's supervision. At the expiration of the present school terms of both Highland and Ireland School, Mr. and Mrs. Dickerson with their three children, two boys and one girl, will move to the Ireland Teacherage where preparations will be resumed for the 1937-38 school term.

San Patricio County News Is Now Owned by Local Newspaper Man

"Thirty" in the vernacular of "The Fourth Estate" may be said on the local career of L. R. Ables, combination advertising and shop man of the Gatesville Messenger and Star Forum, when he leaves here this week to go to Sinton, where, with John L. Tracy of Robstown, they will be joint editors and publishers of the San Patricio County News of that city. We understand the new employee at the Messenger will be Ted Harris, and that Sterling Edwards will assist in handling the advertising.

Mr. Ables has been a valued member of the newspaper fraternity of Gatesville for the past several years, and has made many friends among the merchants of this city, who will regret the pleasant relations, both in personal and business way, that they have had with Mr. Ables.

John L. Tracy, partner of Ables has been for the last several years with the Robstown Record, gaining widespread recognition for his work on this paper. In a recent issue of the Corpus Christi Voice, this paper states, in part: "Mr. Tracy has been on the Robstown Record for a number of years. While we have never met him, we have admired his weekly newspaper for several years."

Quoting farther, the "Voice" states about Mr. Ables: "We do know Mr. Ables for a capable newspaper man. Our first experience with him dates back some 18 years to the time when he was advertising manager of the Tyler Daily Courier-Times. Welcome to the Fourth Estate in South Texas, Tracy and Ables. May your venture continue a success."

Now, with those good wishes to both Mr. Tracy and our own L. R. Ables from Gatesville, they've got a send-off they both deserve, and the good wishes of the entire citizenry of Gatesville goes with both Mr. Ables and his family.

From the Taft Tribune: "Tracy and Ables both have made enviable records in the publishing business. They are thoroughly experienced newspapermen, and should make a success of their new venture."

manently injured, Mr. McAlister states.

Realizing this, more farmers than ever on the Gatesville Camp area this spring and summer will have close-growing crops in strip across the slopes between the row crops.

Strip crops are one of the easiest methods whereby soil-depleting row crops such as cotton and corn can be grown safely without subjecting the land to excessive soil losses. Spring is one of the best times for farmers to start using strip crops if they are not already doing so, according to Mr. McAlister.

The proportion of close-growing crops to clean-tilled crops is determined by the slope and the degree of erosion. The more slope a field has, the closer the strips are spaced. In some instances strip crops straddle the terrace. In others strips are planted in the interval between terraces, or just above or below the terrace.

Strip rotations, says McAlister, slow up the water, increase absorption, minimize sheet erosion and are the most systematic and easiest rotations to follow once they have been established.

1937 Ford V-8

● If you think that "all low-price cars cost about the same" — forget it! They don't.

Ford makes a car — a 60-horsepower economy Ford V-8 — that sells from 30 to 60 dollars under the prices asked for any other car of comparable size. The lowest Ford prices in years!

Check delivered prices in your town and see for yourself.

● Of course, first cost doesn't prove "low cost" — you must consider operating cost also.

The "60" has definitely established itself as the most economical car in Ford history. Ford cars have been famous for economy for 34 years, so that means something!

Owners who have driven it thousands of miles report that the Ford "60" averages between 22 and 27 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

You can prove those figures — on the open road — in a car provided by the nearest Ford dealer.

● When you've finished your personal check-up, ask yourself:

"Do I want to save money the day I buy my car and every mile I drive it?"

"Do I want a safe, roomy, comfortable car of advanced design — created from the finest materials to the highest precision standards?"

There's only one answer, of course — the 1937 Ford V-8.

Ford V-8 $529 at Dearborn Factory. Prices begin at $529. Transportation charges, State and Federal taxes extra. This price is for the 60-horsepower Coupe equipped with front and rear bumpers, spare tire, horn, windshield wiper, sun visor, glove compartment, and ash tray.

$25 A MONTH, after usual down-payment, buys any Ford V-8 Car, from any Ford dealer, anywhere in the U. S. — through Authorized Ford Finance Plans of Universal Credit Co.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

HERE'S another Scotch story that I thought you might like to hear.

A Scotch farmer had a beautiful collie dog. A rich American stopping in the town saw him and wanted to buy him. He offered 30 pounds for the dog. The farmer refused. After a day or so he offered 50 pounds, but the old Scotch farmer would not part with the Pup. The American got up to 75 pounds, then 100, which he informed the farmer was his highest and last offer.

The old farmer still shook his head. Three months later the American in motoring through there again hunted him up and asked him about the dog.

"Oh, I sold him," said the farmer.

"Sold him? Who did you sell him to?"

"To a gentleman fra Edinburgh."

"How much did the dog bring you?"

"Seventy pounds."

"Seventy pounds? Why, I offered you a hundred pounds. If any man after this ever tells me about the Scots being canny, I'll tell 'im a few things."

"Scots are canny enough, mon, mak no mistake about that!"

"Are they? Well, why didn't you sell the dog to me?"

"Mon, mon, ken ye no understand, the dog canna swim the Atlantic Ocean."

HOW I BECAME A RADIO STAR

by HELEN HAYES

When I was a little girl of eight in Washington, D. C., my mother took the initial steps which launched me on a professional career. She persuaded the Columbia Stock Company that I wanted to act, and knowing my love for "sweets", inveigled them into casting me as a child prince who ate too much jelly cake at a picnic. They had real jelly cake, and the first time I played the part, I remember getting very sick. The May Ball at dancing school found me impersonating a Gibson Girl. Lew Fields, the well-known producer who was in Washington at the time, saw the performance. Later he asked me to play Little Mimi in "Old Dutch." I will never forget the opening night. Victor Herbert led the orchestra and "Diamond Jim" Brady and Lillian Russell were in the audience.

My parents insisted that I continue my schooling, and so I did, graduating at seventeen from the Sacred Heart Academy. Shortly afterwards, my career as a child actress ended with a part as the daughter of John Drew in "The Prodigal Husband." I loved the story, and remember so well playing dolls with the famous actor in the first act. Then began my friendship with a man I shall always admire. It was William Gillette and I will ever treasure the experience of appearing with him.

Various dramas followed and I played three seasons in "Coquette" until the play closed in 1929. Then I tried Hollywood where I made several pictures including "Arrow-smith," "A Farewell To Arms" and "The Sin of Madelon Claudet." I was lucky enough to win the Academy medal for my efforts in the last-named film. I soon decided that I wanted to return to the East so I could be near my family and the theater. My next show was "Mary of Scotland" and now I am portraying another famous queen in "Victoria Regina." I think it is the most completely satisfying part I have played.

HELEN HAYES

Just before "Victoria Regina" opened, I was approached to appear on a radio series for the first time. At the same moment I received another offer from Hollywood. Well, I chose radio. For one reason I was anxious to try my hand in a new field. But more important—radio would permit me to stay with my husband and little girl in New York and at the same time be close to the theater. Last season I broadcast "The New Penny." This time it is "Bambi."

At present I am thoroughly happy because I have my stage work and my family and at the same time the opportunity of reaching many new people via the airwaves. But I'm also a mighty busy lady. I appear in the theater six nights and two afternoons a week, and Mondays find me at Radio City for my broadcasts over the NBC-Blue network. I appear in a nineteenth century costume for the program because the minute it is over I have to dash across town and go on the stage.

CIVIL SERVICE ANNOUNCES ANOTHER EXAM FOR G'VILLE SOON

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination for positions of substitute clerk and substitute city carrier at the Gatesville post office. Applicants must appear for examination in Gatesville and will be eligible for appointment only in the office for which examined.

From the eligibles resulting from this examination it is expected to make certification to fill existing and future vacancies in the positions of substitute clerk and substitute carrier, unless it is found in the interest of the service to fill any vacancy by reinstatement, transfer, or promotion. Almost invariably appointments are made to substitute positions and promotions are made to regular positions according to seniority or appointment. Substitutes are required to be available for duty on short notice and their employment may consist of only a few hours a day or week.

Applicants must be citizens of the United States and at least eighteen and not more than forty-five years of age, and meet certain physical requirements.

The necessary application forms may be obtained from E. C. Farmer at the local post office, and must be on file with The Manager, Tenth U. S. Civil Service District, at New Orleans, not later than April 28, 1937.

SYNOPSIS

Princess Olga of Sweden, who is in reality a stranded American showgirl posing as royalty to get a film contract, meets King Mandini, the Concertina King on board the S.S. Arignon bound for America. Mandini is crazy about the Princess but in order to keep up pretenses, she treats him coldly. Darcy, a blackmailer attempts to shake down Mandini on his past prison record. When the latter kicks him out of his cabin, he goes to the bogus Princess and manages to extricate money and a ring from her. After the ship's ball, the Princess returns to her suite to find Darcy dead on the floor. With the aid of Benton, his pal Mandini transfers the body to an empty stateroom. Meanwhile, a group of international police chiefs en route to a New York convention, are searching the ship for a runaway murderer, Merko who has booked passage in the name of Petroff. Mandini and the Princess are questioned by the police.

CHAPTER VII

ALTHOUGH they had spent a bad night neither King nor Benton showed it when they turned up on the verandah deck the next afternoon and engaged in a game of ping pong. The musician was trouncing his friend easily when he happened to catch sight of an emerald ring on Benton's little finger.

"Where did you get that?" he demanded.

"That cost me a thousand bucks."

"How much?"

"Five hundred."

"Come on."

"I found it."

"Found it! You took it out of Princess Olga's purse."

"I didn't," Benton lowered his voice. "I took it out of Darcy's pocket."

"Give it to me," King examined the ring carefully and found the inscription. "Wanda Nash," he muttered thoughtfully, and slipped the jewel into his vest pocket. "Come on, I saw the Princess and Lady Gertrude go down to the gymnasium. I want to have a talk with them."

When he got downstairs he found Her Highness, in a bathing suit, sculling on a rowing machine and Lady Gertrude, a hippopotamus in gym clothing, bouncing up and down on a mechanical horse.

The older woman shut off the machine at once.

"In justice to Her Highness, I must explain about last night," she began without preamble. "You know, of course that Darcy was a blackmailer. No doubt you've assumed that he was blackmailing Her Highness."

"Her Highness?" King acted surprised and hurt.

"Nothing, young man—nothing could be further from the truth," she paused for dramatic effect. "His victim was I—myself. Years ago, in my youth, I was indiscreet." She swept out her hand in a dramatic gesture and accidentally started the horse. "Oh, blast this thing," she snapped. Then, dropping back into the grand manner: "By some foul means Darcy became acquainted with this youthful indiscretion. I was married at the time—great names were involved. I have long since been absolved by my King and my church. Truly, the woman pays." She started to weep, reached for her handkerchief and started the mechanical steed once more.

"The scoundrel came to us last night and demanded more money than I possessed," Lady Gertrude resumed when quiet had been restored. "When he grew nasty Her Highness came to my rescue. Stripping a ring from her finger she flung it at the fellow and bade him begone forever."

"And now you want me to retrieve it before the detectives find it," grinned King. Turning to the Princess, he bowed grandly. "Please don't worry, Your Highness, that ring is as good as in my pocket right now."

"Your confidence is contagious, Mr. Mandini," she smiled as she extended her hand. "As you Americans say, we bury the hatchet."

"I hope you don't bury it the way your great grandmother did," he answered as he shook hands solemnly.

Before she could reply the Purser approached the group.

"Good morning, Your Highness—Lady Allwyn—Mr. Mandini," he said. "The Captain's compliments—Doctor Steindorf has solved the mystery. He's going to announce the name of the murderer in his stateroom at eight o'clock and he has requested Your Highness and Mr. Mandini to come to his stateroom five minutes earlier."

"Not for murder," was the quiet answer.

"May I suggest that Her Highness and Mr. Mandini be excused while we conduct a thorough investigation of this room?" Crane spoke up. He looked at them coldly then added: "Return to your cabins. You will, of course, be prepared to answer any questions that occur to us after our investigation."

Lady Gertrude took the news hard. That is, she resorted to hard liquor, downing highball after highball and finally getting around to relating events in her youth when she was a famous Broadway actress.

"... I married the second time in Glasgow," she was wandering on. "I don't quite remember why—possibly because it was a very cold winter."

A knock at the door interrupted.

"Your confidence is contagious, Mr. Mandini," the Princess said. "As you Americans say, we bury the hatchet."

"Did he say why?" inquired King. "No sir."

"It is a most peculiar request—but we will come," said the Princess.

At exactly 7:55 that night King knocked on the door of Steindorf's cabin. Evidently it was unlatched for it swung open at his touch. As he entered he beheld the body of the German crumpled across the table, a pair of scissors protruding from his back.

Mandini knelt beside Steindorf, who was still breathing laboriously and demanded sharply: "Who did it? Can you hear me? Who—did it?"

The detective tried to reply, but spoke in incoherent German. King straightened up, trying to decide his next move. As he did so the Princess stepped through the doorway.

"Give me a hand," commanded her friend.

She stepped forward obediently, but before she reached the body Captain Nicholls and the four other detectives entered the cabin.

"Get the surgeon," snapped Lorel. Then, kneeling beside Steindorf he asked: "Who was it, Doctor? Was it Paul Merko?"

"Passports!" gasped Steindorf. He mumbled a few more incoherent words, then suddenly lapsed into unconsciousness.

"Pardon, Monsieur," said Lorel, rising and turning to King. "When you came to this room, you saw no one else?"

"No."

"Merci, Monsieur," he smiled graciously, then added: "In the United States you served a term in prison, did you not?"

her. The Princess answered it, stood rigid for a moment, then turned back to her friend and announced dully: "Steindorf is dead. He never spoke." After a long, dreary pause she added: "Good-bye, Hollywood—Hello, Brooklyn. It's the finish, Gertrude! Everything we've been working so hard for..."

"I can't see why," Lady Gertrude was belligerent. "You're innocent. Truth crushed to earth shall rise again." She hiccupped, then rushed on: "Pardon me. And that recalls my biggest success. I played it for two years—nineteen-five and six—'One Against All.' Best third act ever written. I played the young Duchess—sweet and pure, who had been unjustly accused of sundry delinquencies. At the end of this marvelous third act my accusers were gathered in the castle library. Let me see..."

She rose a trifle unsteadily and began producing herself in her big scene.

"I entered upstage right." She suited the action to the word. "Walked center and took stage—my right foot slightly behind the left heel, as one does to denote authority." She swayed a bit as she assumed this pose. "I looked from face to face. No hope. 'Gentlemen,' I cried. 'I'm the Duchess of Ravenbury. I demand to know of what you dare to accuse me'—with my arm extended, palm pointed downward—mind you, not upward in a pleading gesture. Hey, where are you going?"

This last remark was directed to the Princess who was walking out on the show.

"I'm on my way to see the captain," was the grim but valiant reply.

DEPTH OF FIELD—
What Does It Mean?

ALTHOUGH good picture-taking with a focusing camera depends in a large measure upon obtaining the proper depth of field (or as sometimes called depth of focus) for the subject, some little uncertainty exists (even in the minds of some who are no longer beginners) as to precisely what this phrase means.

By depth of field we mean really depth of definition, or the distance from nearest to farthest object from the lens that is sharply defined.

Depth of field is controlled primarily in two ways. One is by the aperture in the diaphragm of the shutter. Using a smaller aperture increases the range of definition. Depth of field also depends upon the distance for which the lens is focused. The greater the distance, the greater the depth. When the lens is set for 25 feet, for example, at some particular diaphragm setting, the depth may be from 15 feet to 50 feet. Objects closer than 15 feet will appear blurred, the blurring being more noticeable for objects closer to the camera. When the camera is focused for objects close to the camera, the depth is quite small. For example, when focused for 6 feet, the depth might be from 5 feet to 8 feet, again assuming a particular diaphragm setting. Objects beyond will be blurred.

Isn't there a way, you ask, to get good definition of both near and far objects? Yes, if you want it. This is done by using a small aperture, and since less light comes through a small aperture, giving a little longer exposure.

An experiment may be easily performed that will give a visible demonstration of the need of proper focusing on the object that you want to be clearly defined. Remove the back of your camera and open the shutter after setting it for "time." Place the camera on a table pointing it out of a window towards some fairly distant object such as a house or tree. Next, place a small piece of ground glass at the back of the camera. Now operate the diaphragm changing it from a large opening to a small one, while watching the image which will appear (upside down) on the ground glass. Note how the image changes in definition as the size of the opening is changed.

Then move the lens forward and back on the distance scale. Note that there is one certain setting at which the image is especially sharp and clear. At other settings it is more or less blurred and indistinct.

Now having secured a sharp image of the distant object, observe the image of some nearer object, such as a vase of flowers on the Effect of large stop (f.4.5) with lens focused on background.

Effect of large stop (f.4.5) with lens focused on foreground figure.

Effect of small stop (f.16). Gives greater depth, but main subject loses emphasis.

window sill, say at 6 feet from the lens. The image of the flowers will appear blurred. If the lens is moved forward on the scale, a setting can be found which will give a sharp image of the flowers, but the image of the distant object will be blurred.

The experiment should then be tried both with the largest and the smaller stops, when it will be found that if a small stop opening is used it is possible to have both near and far objects reasonably sharp at the same time.

JOHN VAN GUILDER.

Nocturne—B Sharp or B Flat

The curtain never drops on that great American tragedy known as "Death on the Highways." Night falls and the stage is darkened, but Death stalks on. Indeed, the drama quickens, for under cover of darkness the grim villain of the piece exacts his heaviest toll.

Danger looms too suddenly out of the shadows. There often isn't time to avert it. Careless pedestrians fall under speeding wheels.

Bright lights glare. Drivers crash into fixed objects and into each other.

Statistics prepared by the Travelers Insurance Company show that deaths after dark last year numbered 21,480, while deaths during the normal hours of daylight, when traffic was much heavier, numbered but 14,620.

The moral is clear: When the sun goes down, slow down.

World Comment—

loyal of Democrats, is that the Democratic victory was less a party victory than a personal Roosevelt victory. "By the same token," we are told, "the national Republican defeat was less a party blow than it was an enforced surrender to conquest by an invincible rival personality supported by exigent resources of incalculable scope."

This point is of immeasurable importance to Democrats as well as to Republicans. The absence of Roosevelt from the ticket in 1940 will undoubtedly mean the loss of several millions of votes for the Democrats at the outset of the campaign.

In support of his second contention that the Democratic Party has recovered from sounder defeats than that administered the G.O.P. in 1936 and 1932, Senator Vandenberg recalls that the Democratic percentage of the popular vote in 1920 was 35 per cent, in 1924 29 per cent, in 1928 41 per cent, in 1920 Franklin D. Roosevelt was the Democratic candidate for the vice presidency; his ticket, of which James M. Cox was the presidential candidate, polled one per cent less of the popular vote than did the Landon-Knox ticket in 1936. In 1924 John W. Davis polled seven per cent less of the popular vote than did Gov. Landon last November.

In 1928, Senator Vandenberg points out, the defeat of the Democrats was intensified by the Solid South, with only two states going for Smith. A similar parallel might be made with the Republican defeat of 1936: only two states of the traditionally Republican New England region stayed with the Good Old Party.

Yet, in spite of three successive defeats which led Senator Glass to comment, "it (the Democratic Party) lies gasping for breath and in immediate danger of death . . ." the Democrats came back in 1932 and in 1936 to win two of their greatest triumphs in the national field.

In 1928, after the Hoover landslide, the new governor of New York, Franklin Roosevelt, issued a statement of encouragement to his fellow Democrats which might well apply to the Republicans who in defeat will not admit death for their party, their ideals, their philosophy. He said that "a party which polls 15,000,000 votes does not need any reorganization."

This is not to say that the Republican Party does not need reorganization, but it is to say that a party which polls 17,000,000 votes in the face of insuperable odds is by no means dead!
