BACCALAUREATE SERMONS IN MANY SCHOOLS

Chamber of Commerce Gradually Working Out Organization Plans

Since the initial meetings for the purpose of re-organizing the local Chamber of Commerce for Gatesville, nothing much has been heard. However, considerable is being worked out for the directors, who have had two or three meetings during the past week.

Judge Floyd Zeigler, who was at first named secretary-treasurer of the young organization, has been replaced, at his request, by Andrew Kendrick of the Gatesville National Bank.

At the last meeting of the directors, the nucleus of a membership committee was named and included Horace K. Jackson, Francis Powell and Luke Walker.

At a meeting yesterday additional members on the membership committee were named as follows: L. K. Thomson, John P. Reising, Howard Franks, C. H. Wallace, Elgin Davidson, Robert Stout, W. T. Hix, E. W. Jones Jr., J. O. Brown, O. N. Hix, R. W. Ward, L. M. Stinnett, C. E. Alvis Jr., and Dr. Otis Ray.

As yet a membership fee has not been worked out, and these new will contact business and professional people of the city with the idea of getting 100 per cent membership among both these. Other matters of importance are gradually being worked out by the directors who, we understand, meet each Wednesday morning for breakfast and business sessions at a local cafe.

KENNETH ADAMS HAS OLIVER AGENCY HERE

With V. L. Edwards as agency holder, Kenneth Adams has been appointed local manager for the new Oliver Farm Implement Agency here, which is located in the Turpin building, at the corner of East Leon and 8th streets, in the rear of the Conoco station.

Adams needs no introduction in Gatesville. He was formerly a resident of this city, and is well known both in the city and the County.

L. S. SECREST IS NAMED AS COUNTY ENGINEER

L. S. Secrest, formerly of Hamilton, has been named County Engineer, with office on third floor of the Court House.

Mr. Secrest is now at work on re-arranging school districts, and other needed work which comes under that department.

Formerly of Mason, Texas, Mr. Secrest was operating an engineering firm at that place, and has been doing general engineering practice, and particularly working on building and structural costs.

FINAL INSPECTION ON NEW POST OFFICE BUILDING HELD TODAY

Final inspection will be held today for the new post office building.

District engineer Porter and a mechanical inspector, both of Dallas, will pass final judgement on the building. It will be some time, however, before the new building will be occupied, since part of the equipment and furniture have not arrived.

The new post office is one of the finest small town Federal buildings in the state and is quite an asset to Gatesville.

"YUH CAN'T PARK THERE!" IF YOU HEAR THAT, IT MEANS ON THE SQUARE

Due to the routing of Highway 7 thru Gatesville, and also on account of the congestion on the city square during busy days, City Officials have moved to cut out the "center parking" on the square (both lines).

In order to help people visiting Gatesville to get around better, Saturday and all other days, you will be asked not to park in this square.

Parking will still be allowed next the court house fence and at the curbs all around the square, but the center line parking will be stopped, it is understood.

GOSPEL MEETING TO BE HELD AT CHURCH OF CHRIST MAY 30TH

A series of meetings will begin at the Church of Christ, located at Tenth and Saunders streets, on May 30th and will continue two weeks.

Services both morning and evening will be conducted by Rev. Jesse Powell of Arling, Texas. Morning services will begin at 10 o'clock and the evening service at 8 o'clock.

A very cordial invitation is extended the public to attend any and all these services.

Regular services for the coming week will be held at the usual time with the exception of the Sunday morning service. On account of the baccalaureate service for the graduating class of the Gatesville High School to be held at 11 o'clock on Sunday morning, our worship will begin at 9:30 instead of 11 a. m.

JOLLY HELPERS CLUB

Mrs. Cecil Rivers was hostess to the club Tuesday, May 16.

There were fourteen present who quilted a quilt. Friendly conversation was exchanged and business discussed.

There were several members absent whom we wish to meet with us at Mrs. Earnestine Lilljedahl's Tuesday, May 25.

We are to finish a birthday handkerchief shower for Mrs. Lilljedahl and Mrs. Strickland on Tuesday, May 25.—Mrs. Travis Pruitt.

MECKS CASH GROCERY ADDS MEAT DEPT. WITH COOLER

Besides preserving and keeping the meats fresh, this new refrigerator adds materially to the appearance of the store.

CONGRESSMAN POAGE WILL VISIT IN HOME OF BAPTIST HOME WHILE HERE

Congressman W. R. Poage will arrive in Gatesville Thursday from Washington to deliver the commencement address for the graduating class of the Gatesville High School that night.

While here the Congressman will be a guest in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Clarence A. Morton. Congressman Poage and the Rev. and Mrs. Morton have been friends from childhood days.

Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Jackson and family, also longtime friends of Mr. Poage, will be guests in the Morton home on this occasion.

HIEROGLYPHICS BEING PUT ON SHOW-WINDOWS ARE COUNTY BRANDS

On windows of the stores in town, some hieroglyphics are being painted by one of Gatesville's foremost commercial artists.

These are brands used by various early Coryell Countians, which were "painted" on the hips, choulders and other parts of "doggies" torsos with branding irons so that the owners could identify them. That was the time before the U. S. Steel Corporation hit on the barbed-wire idea and there were not enough rail fences to hold the cattle and horses roaming Texas prairies.

All of which reminds us, that Gatesville and Coryell County is to have its First Annual Rodeo and Home-Coming, on June 4th and 5th.

WITCHER WANTS TEACHERS PHONE NUMBER AND ADDRESS

Not exactly that—However, Superintendent J. M. Witcher asks that we ask teachers who plan to attend college or university during any part of the summer months, to come by his office and leave their addresses, or write him after they arrive in their respective college or university.

In case you have any important mail it will be forwarded to you, or your patrons or some one else may want to write you.

"OIL MIXES WITH MONEY" NEW EMPLOYEES AT GUARANTY BANK

If Pete asks you "how many" when you go to the Guaranty Bank & Trust Company to cash that gov'tment check, or if it's just pay day and you want your hard earned check cashed, he's not selling Cities Service, but is just day dreaming. He has just come back home and now is employed at the Guaranty.

Besides Pete, there is also Anne Hill, who is also pounding the keys there, after working variously for the County Agent, County Attorney and Judge and Stinnett and Stinnett law firm.

President Dons Pan American Garb

Delighted with his gifts, President Roosevelt, author of the "good neighbor" theme of the Pan American Exposition in Dallas, is pictured as he calls his aides to view the hand-woven serape in the design of the official flag of the Exposition, and the sombrero presented to him by Governor James V. Allred (rear) at Texas A. & M. College. The Governor is honorary director general of the fair, which opens June 12.

Schools are closing, closed or will close soon!

Already over, with the students now working or playing, are Dunn, Hubbard, Davidson, Lincolnville, Harmon, Osage, Bee House, Topsey, Belcher, Murrell, Harmony and Turnover.

Closing this week are Slater, Bigham, Pearl, Arnett, Mountain, Schley, The Grove, Eagle Springs, Coryell Church, Newland, Hay Valley, Levita, Ewing, Maple, Enterprise and Evant.

All others, including Gatesville schools, will close in rapid succession.

WORLD COMMENT

of Ambassador William E. Dodd of Germany to Senator Robert Bulkley and other members of the senate warning against the dangers of a dictatorship in this country will not be taken seriously by anyone acquainted with political conditions here. Nevertheless, Senator Nye's demand that the prosterous assertion be investigated and Dodd be asked by the State Department to name the man who owns nearly a billion dollars and would support an American dictatorship should be followed.

There are individuals of great wealth who would promote the establishment of a dictatorial form of government here, they should be apprehended and duly prosecuted under law for sedition. Ambassador Dodd knows an American citizen who would overthrow the democratic system of government, it is his solemn duty as a citizen to name this person.

In his letter of fear to Senator Bulkley and his colleagues, Ambassador Dodd writes, "I have studied our history for forty years and I do not help feeling that all of us who believe in our system must do what we can to support our president, even if we wish to amend some of his reform measures." He further warns that a breakdown of the Democratic will endanger our democratic system.

Ambassador Dodd's letter has come at a time when the Roosevelt Administration is in critical need of support for its frightful proposition for packing the supreme court. If the Ambassador to Germany had any idea that striking a note of fear about a potential American dictatorship would affect the opposition to the court packing scheme, he was badly mistaken.

If there is any tangible threat to the American system as maintained for the last hundred and fifty years, it comes from the source of Ambassador Dodd's position as American emissary at Berlin. The only true threat to traditional American democracy comes from the court reorganization bill and, in lesser degree from the executive department reorganization bill. On the independence of the judiciary is destroyed by packing it with appointees responsible to the chief executive and to him only, will a personal dictatorship supplant the present time-honored democratic system any time in the near future.

H. R. Knickerbocker, the noted foreign affairs observer and commentator, foresees a reconciliation between Germany and Soviet Russia in the offing with a probable military alliance between the two. This is indeed disconcerting to those who since 1933—the year which saw Hitler meteorically rise to power on the German political horizon—have read of the personal hatred between Hitler and Stalin and the incompatibility of their two political cretines—National Socialism (Fascism) in Germany and Communism in Russia.

The answer, explains writer Knickerbocker, is that the German military staff has become convinced it cannot defeat both France and Russia, as it would almost certainly have to do under existing conditions in Europe. Germany and the Soviet both have designs upon the fertile plains of Poland, and a division of this unhappy nation might grow out of a Soviet-German alliance, we are told.

Without the statement that Germany's military leaders dare not tackle Russia and France simultaneously, Knickerbocker's statement could not be accepted. For the mutual hatred and dislike of Germany and Russian leaders toward each other has not been fanned through the hectic months since 1933. Russia has feared the expansionist aims of the Nazis as it has no other power—not even Japan.

Because of this, Stalin and his cohorts would undoubtedly welcome a rapprochement with the Nazis, and the latter would secure decided advantages thru a tie-up with Moscow. The vast storehouse of raw materials which is Communist Russia could be opened to the land-poor Germans. Poland could be gushed between a mighty phalanx of combined German and Russian armies. Without doubt, a German-Russian diplomatic and military alliance would dominate Europe and fix France in the position of a second-rate state.

Such a forecast as that of H. R. Knickerbocker cannot be discounted, due to his long experience as an observer of European politics and trends. His assertion is without doubt well substantiated with facts, and events which have been brought to his attention. If his forecast is true and should come to pass in the months or years to come, its consequences upon the future history of the world cannot be foreseen.

A complete reversal of German foreign policy for the last four years would accompany any agreement with Russia. The Nazi dream of expansion into the rich Russian Ukraine would be forsaken. The alliance between France and Russia would be repudiated, for Hitler would tolerate no tie-up with the French on the part of his new ally.

It is to be hoped by the lovers of peace that such a fatal blow to peace will not be dealt, as a German-Russian alliance would provoke Aligned today on the side of France and Britain for peace, the Soviets are constructively aiding those forces who shall in the future attempt to maintain the peace of the world by force.

SPORTS

No rights and fights, murders, or even minor quarrels marked the opening of the Softball season at the GOC camp last Monday night. The entire night's entertainment was disgustingly peaceful. Probably that is the reason the large crowd left after the first game.

In the opener the CCC blasted the Merchants out of the box 19 to 2. "Diaper Dan" Ricketts, formerly of Scott's Washitorium, pitched a fair-to-middling lukewarm game for the Merchants, but lacked support from his teammates. Possibly the boys were suffering from stage fright, or maybe "Klieg-eyes," a common ailment in Hollywood, caused by unaccustomed powerful electric lights beating down into the optics. Griffin hurled for the Tree Monkeys.

Doc's and the Firemen battled it out in the second round in a tightly contested tete-a-tete until the sixth inning when the former forged ahead to finally win 9 to 5.

Cut-rate Blanton floor walker at Brown & Gordon's, modestly informs us that he was responsible for the Sandwich Shop victory. With his unassuming air he explained that up until he started pitching in the fourth, Doc's didn't have a chance, but with his entrance the Firemen visibly wilted and quickly gave up the ghost.

All-Star Team Will Perform Waco Friday Night

An all-star team, selected from all over Coryell County will take on the powerful Jay Beer team of Waco, next Friday night at Katy Park. (The game will be baseball, not a drinking contest.)

Angora is noted for its production of cotton so that it will not be compelled to buy any foreign supplies. It is believed that a large share of the cotton will be produced in the county. The cotton will be produced in the county. The cotton will be produced in the county.

BEHIND ANY GRADUATION

Graduation is a show; an accomplishment; a pageant; a ceremony! It is a culmination of hopes, ideals and inspirations.

Whose? Mamas! And, believe it or not, Papas!

Son or Daughter, of course, (as in a show) are the ones seen in this First Thrill, this first recognition of a personality thru graduation.

Of course, the graduate is thrilled to death, and rightly so. Thrilled so, in fact, that rarely brother, you very rarely do they pause for one brief moment to realize just WHO is the pleased, lovable soul behind all this big show.

It's Mama and Papa, who both have watched this little tender nothing develop from the very moment of birth into a glorified and publicly recognized individual in the first big moment of its life. They are proud. They won't say much. They continue to give, to arrange, to hope, to guide this very beginner who is just graduating into life, so that the trials and tribulations of their respective lives will not again mar the history of lives of this hard old world as they themselves have experienced.

So, graduates, in your excitement of this momentous occasion stop, just once, and quietly call Mama and Papa separately and tell them just how very nice they have been to you, and that you love and cherish them both, and resolve to yourself that in the life ahead of you you will do nothing to dim the sixteen, seventeen or eighteen years of hope and aspirations that they have had for you and that you will do your best to merit this confidence and hope they have in you.

This Week in Oglesby

Country village sociability where people can talk to and about each other all they want to—that's Oglesby. Jim Griffin, Chas. Pollard, Ernest Pollard, Porter Adams, Arthur McMillen, Felix Morris discuss the value of the last shower, the government agricultural plans and other subjects related to the farming people. The crowd gathered at Alton Dalton's garage discussing the merits of the various row-crop tractors. Down at L. A. Woods store Mrs. Woods, Miss Rena Collard, Mrs. Len Stockburger, Mrs. Chapman and other ladies discussing matters that interest women.

Clem Perkins carrying a badly lacerated hand, got hurt unloading a combine. Rev. Mr. Boswell former pastor Pecan Grove mentioned in Oglesby in the multitude of people that come to see the closing of the Wax Trade Day Saturday night. Bro. Boswell was trying to get to Gatesville.

John Huddleston and Chas. Stockburger home from the State Home at Corsicana where they are employed, to visit homefolks. Guy Rogers and wife of Waco to visit the G. R. Greens. Birdie Foster in town. Jim Moody sitting on the shady side of the house complacently smoking his pipe. Festus Shope exhibiting a very fine turkey. S. E. Shope and wife and Festus Shope to Killeen to visit the John Hoover family.

Sheep owners, R. L. Alexander, R. H. Alexander, Sam Powell, G. J. Green, Reid Compton, Wes Davis, John Feggett, rejoicing over the fine wool clip of this season.

Ruddy faced Rev. J. W. Griffin carrying his eighty-four years with the happiness and Merriment of a spring breeze. Never hear Raymond Sims use any but the cleanest of language. Gene Simmons and Earl Sims driving thru that beautiful hill country south of Gatesville.

Sunday morning we all changed shirts and shoes and drove to Z. G. Allens home on Middle Bosque. We found the Allen clan gathered to do honor to our host on his sixty-seventh birthday. Haven't seen a dinner like the one we helped to eat for many, many moons. We had a big day, all day. We made a few blunders like dropping gravy on our clean shirt and turning our coffee over, but we got by with it all.

By the time you read this, there will be many fields of oats in the shock. Oats and wheat average pretty good all over the Oglesby territory. And, by the way did you know that Coryell County is the leading county in these good old United States in oat production?

While reading a lot about business women's clubs. We have a number of very efficient business women in Oglesby. Mrs. L. J. Johnson hardware; Mrs. W. Guy Drayer, banker; Miss Ora Graham and Monette Walker and Mrs. W. R. Cavett, groceries. The Misses Magee, beauticians; Miss Ida Stockburger, postmistress. Now, we don't know about their club. Of late the members of the Hot Stove Club, tho they've got no hot stove now, have been doing some research work along the line of women's clubs. A number of sundry houses and stores they have found old sun-warped axe handles, old rusty skillets, knotty live oak stove wood, broom handles, rolling pins and other strange things. All of these have been classified by our experts as being women's clubs, and some of our prominent Store Club members admitted to have seen them used as such. A resolution was passed to call upon Representatives, Sen. Huddleston to try to stop the movement before it becomes a menace to man's welfare.

Oscar Bankhead and family of Mexia to see the George McAnleys, Duane Pollard and friend Mr. Duncan of Waco week ended at W. W. Pollard's.

The church service was well attended. Key quadruplets of Bartley, a fine singing at the service at the Baptist Church. Chas. Wick was his best and they were one of the best Sunday School at the Sales Church. The regular and the annual foot washing.

Late Sunday evening Lon Pollard, Harry Johnson and C. Graham were called upon hasten to the hospital where he was operated upon for appendicitis at 12:00 midnight. Monday Mr. Hall was reported getting along nicely.

REVIVAL OF ELEGANCE IN DRESS PREDICTED BY SCREEN STAR

"Get a lift with a pin," is the key note of the revival of elegance in dress accessories for the fashionable woman, finding its most eye-filling exponent and its most brilliant expression in the magnificent wardrobe created by Royer for the charming and beautiful Loretta Young in "Love Is News," comedy romance opening at the Palace Saturday, in which Loretta is co-starred with Tyrone Power and Don Ameche.

In both costumes and real jewelry, new combinations of stones, revivals of old settings, and metals all give a lift to the season's ensembles.

"The newest in costume jewelry doesn't hesitate to call attention to itself by its size," according to the beautiful star. "However, the correct use of such jewelry makes or breaks the outfit with which it is worn. In wearing jewelry, the bigger the piece, the more consideration should be given its relation to the costume. Mere blobs of stones awkwardly placed can wreck an otherwise perfect ensemble, no matter how expensive the stones may be.

"On the other hand, severely simple lines, or an all-dark color scheme can often be properly highlighted by a massive looking piece of jewelry that does not hesitate to turn a broad face to the beholders."

Not all the carefully selected jewelry that accompanied Loretta Young's "Love Is News," wardrobe is jeweled. There is, for instance, the amusing, over-size silver safety pin—at least five inches long—that fastens a wide strip of gray suede used for a belt about a raspberry-rose woolen dress. It is pinned low on one hip, and has more dash than could ever be imagined from a lowly safety pin.

Pete Martin and Bradford Boyer of Hamilton were in Temple Sunday and visited the latter's wife, who is in a Temple hospital convalescing from a recent operation.

M. H. Shepherd and sons, Durward and M. H. Jr., were visitors in Fort Worth Sunday.

HAMILTON COUNTY CLOTHING EXHIBIT

Saturday, May 15th, the Coryell County Home Demonstration Agent attended the Hamilton County Clothing Contest which consisted of children's clothing, demonstrators' and co-operators' dresses.

In judging the Hamilton County exhibit the judges took into consideration the following points:

1. General appearance.
 2. Color (becoming to wear).
 3. Style (appropriate for person).
 4. Style (appropriate for material).
- Some of the details which the judges criticize are:
1. Small flat decorations should be chosen by stout women.
 2. Buttons and buckles should harmonize with the material on which they are used.
 3. Buttons should have a purpose.
 4. Bright trim as flower bouquets at the neckline and belts are good if used sparingly.

Directions for Preparing and Processing Berries

Gather the berries in shallow vessels to prevent crushing, and can them as soon as possible after gathering. Sort the fruit and use the smaller and imperfect berries for making a medium sweet sirup of the juice. Wash carefully and remove caps and stems. Pack into containers pressing gently into place. Cover with boiling medium sirup (2 cups of water or berry juice to 1 cup sugar). Process quart and pint glass jars 20 minutes in boiling water and No. 2 and No. 3 sanitary or R enamel tin cans for 15 minutes.

Some berries shrink so much during processing that the containers are not well filled and the berries tend to float. This can be prevented by precooking the berries before filling the containers. To each pound of berries add one-fourth to one-half pound of sugar, according to the sweetness of the fruit. Place in a kettle and heat to boiling, stirring gently, and boil for 5 minutes. Pack boiling hot and process immediately containers of all sizes for 5 minutes in boiling water.

WHITE LIGHTS RUSH FILLING OF SITE FOR NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR OF 1939

New York (Special)—Battalions of men with trucks do their nightly stint in moving 7,000,000 cubic yards of dry fill necessary to preparation of the site for the New York World's Fair. The "white way" on the Flushing Meadow is made for them by the greatest known system of construction flood-lighting—517,500 watts in lamps on top of 12 steel towers 80 feet high and the cost for electrical current alone is $80,000. Centres adjacent to that shown, and likewise on 24-hour days, are excavating new lake beds and new channels for the Flushing river, which flows through the 1,216½ acres of the largest fair site in history. The New York Department of Parks does the surfacing, and leases the acreage to the Fair Corporation, for the grounds are destined to be a permanent city park. Construction of the $900,000 Administration building for the $125,000,000 project will begin in January.

Nations of World Allot Year 1939 To New York Fair

World Exposition Already Growing Up; Seeks Active Participation of State

NEW YORK, (Special).—The New York World's Fair, in which every state in the nation must inevitably take small or prominent part, is out of its infancy.

Preparatory construction goes on night and day at the Flushing Meadow Site of 1216 1/2 acres at the geographical centre of New York City. A steady flow of activities and announcements emanates from the Fair Corporation headquarters on four floors of the Empire State building. Judging from all of these, the Fair is a lusty, growing institution that will reach full maturity—no question about it—by the scheduled opening day, April 30, 1939.

The task of grading the site is about half completed. Battalions of men with trucks have already moved over 3,000,000 cubic yards of dry fill in the process of turning the waste marsh lands of the Flushing River basin into park ground. Other battalions are scooping out "meadow mat" for use as fertile top soil for the made lands, and in so doing excavate the beds for the two large lagoons featured in plans for the Fair.

The first of the 300 structures which, according to estimates, will house the 1939 Fair, has been completed and is ready for occupancy. This is the headquarters building for the field forces of today and the employment department of the exposition period.

Scheduled for early in the new year is the start of actual construction of the $900,000 Administration building. The designs for this structure, set under architectural contract a few weeks ago, are nearing the day of their approval in the Corporation's offices. Upon completion of this building, late in August, 1937, the Fair headquarters, bag, baggage and sales offices, moves to the exposition site.

"The most splendid and significant edifice projected for the 1939 international exposition," the Theme building, as described at Fair headquarters, is also well along in its contractual period. The estimated cost of this great building for the "Thematic Centre" of the exposition is set at $1,200,000. The preliminary designs are to be finished in about eight weeks and the final plans submitted within four weeks thereafter. Construction is scheduled to start immediately the designs are completed.

From this Theme centre will radiate all that is to be the 1939 Fair as conceived by its founders and rendered into concrete terminology and model by the Fair's Board of Design.

"Our job from now on is to give physical expression to the plan and theme of the Fair as announced and as set down on paper in our headquarters," says Grover Whalen, President of the Fair Corporation. "Starting next April 1, we plan to complete the design of our major building every ten days for a period of seven months. In all, we expect to design no less than 30 major buildings to house the exhibits from every part of the world. Some 300 structures, in all, are planned for the Flushing Meadow site, within a few minutes' ride from Manhattan."

Without solicitation on the part of the Fair, more than 250 American business houses and institutions have begun preliminary conversations regarding their participation and are already planning exhibits. Five of the great nations of the world have already assured the Corporation that they would erect their own buildings, while no less than 32 other nations have informally indicated their desire to participate.

And then, on top of all this display of keen interest, comes the announcement that the International Convention Bureau, meeting in Paris, has allocated the year 1939 to the New York Fair. This means that the New York Fair has exclusive ranking as the "one international exposition" of 1939, and assures it of the active support of the 21 nations signing the agreement.

President Roosevelt has just extended official invitation to the nations of the world. Governor Herbert H. Lehman, of the host State of New York, has extended invitation to the governors and residents of 47 states. Grover Whalen, likewise, has invited the governors in a letter pointing out that "the commercial consequences of the New York World's Fair are so great and important that they alone would justify the active participation of every state."

Fair Commissioners are already in South America and Europe. Still others are on their way to the Far East and other foreign shores. Major Dennis E. Nolan, retired, as head of the Department of Foreign, State and Municipal Participation, will himself make representation to the governors and legislatures of the various states.

Meanwhile, under the direction of Harvey D. Gibson, President of the Manufacturers Trust Company, and Richard Whitney, former president of the New York Stock Exchange, the prominent figures in the financial capital conducted a 28-day campaign to sell $27,829,500 in debenture bonds of the Fair to finance the construction period.

Every confidence is being expressed that the Fair not only will "pay its way," but that it will bring a billion dollars more of revenue into Greater New York and stimulate American industry in general to an extent many fold that amount.

The total cost of producing New York's Fair, including collateral improvements, is set at $125,000,000. Statisticians estimate that the attendance will total more than 50,000,000 persons.

The City of New York, the State of New York, and the Government of the United States, according to expectations, will account for $35,000,000 of the total expenditures and thus lend an official backing never before achieved.

CONVICT RELATES STRANGE TALE OF MUTILATION TO ESCAPE WORK

Orville Watson of Coryell County and Eugene Wynn of Harris County, inmates of the Harlem prison farm, are $5.00 poorer and facing possible serious charge today as a result of a crude operation they performed on William Shoemake, 19, another inmate of the prison farm. Shoemake promised Watson and Wynn $5 if they would chop off his leg with an axe, so that he could get out of his work in the garden. After the lunch hour Wed. last week the three went between two sheds and Watson placed a brick in place.

Shoemake stretched out on the ground, placed his foot on the brick and Wynn chopped it off, just above the ankle, with one swing of a double-bit-axe.

In a statement to Prison Farm Manager O. J. S. Ellington, Shoemaker said that Wynn threw down the axe and ran and Watson dragged him from between the sheds and shouted for help.

Shoemaker, under a two-year sentence from Tarrant County, is in a serious condition. Watson and Wynn will probably be charged with mutilating him, even though they were requested to do so by him.

STUDENTS SHOULD APPLY FOR S.S. ACCOUNT NUM.

Austin, May 20. High school students who plan to enter industrial and commercial employment for the first time this summer should apply now for social security account cards, M. D. Dewberry, field representative of the Social Security Board, said today.

"Many boys and girls will be finishing school within the next week or two, and will take regular employment. Some not graduating this year will work during the vacation period and others will be employed part time. As monthly retirement benefits, payable at age of 65, are determined solely on the basis of wages received in included employment, it is important that these young men and women apply now for account numbers, so that wage records may be set up for them," Dewberry explained.

WITH THE SHIP OF STATE

Washington, D. C.—As far as human instincts are concerned, Congressmen are not much different from other people. They like to get along quietly and hold on to their jobs, which, in their case, means they want to be re-elected. As they see it, the issue of their re-election campaign in 1938 will not be Mr. Roosevelt, as it has been in the past four years, but rather they must submit themselves to the voting jury next year on the basis of their record. The days of hopping aboard the Roosevelt bandwagon, and riding to success are over. It was all too easy. The boys are now on their own and they know it. It does not necessarily mean that they will abandon the New Deal, but they will have to establish their own campaign basis. And it is the first time in four years that they are forced to "think for themselves." Pity the poor Congressmen!

You are not expected to believe this, because no outsider would, but a guide at Washington's home in Mount Vernon told it to us and swore it actually happened.

An old Englishman was following a guide around the historical home when they came upon a handsome hedge.

"What a really fine hedge," exclaimed the Britisher. "General Washington must have gotten it from England."

"No doubt he did," came back the guide. "He got the whole bloomin' country from England, y'know."

Although the world in general has been apprised of the fact that ex-Governor Alfred E. Smith is making his first trip to Europe (at one dollar per word for five—1,000 word articles), there was a bit of excitement over at the Federal Communications Commission the other day when it was announced that "Al Smith" was in the building and seeking an audience. The visitor turned out to be a young lawyer by the same name, who is mayor of the little city of La Porte, Ind., seeking the allocation of a wave length for a new radio station in his home town. Much ado about nothing!

Under-cover talk in official circles has it that Vice President Garner already has picked Jesse Jones, chief of the R.F.C., as his candidate for the 1940 Democratic presidential nomination.

The sage of Uvalde keeps his lips taped whenever newspapermen are nigh. In the meantime Jones is working quietly among Conservative Democrats.

Postmaster General Farley, as chief Administration patronage dispenser, may have had occasion sometimes to sympathize with Thomas Jefferson's plaint that "few officeholders die and none resign." But not some days back when Postmaster Donald A. Miquez, of Ovina, Neb., a man with a government job he doesn't want, continued to bewail the fact that he can't get rid of it. Miquez submitted his resignation several weeks ago, but Washington authorities asked him to hold on to the job until somebody could be found to take it. After a long and futile search the poor Postmaster still complains that nobody wants the office. And we were under the impression that Jim Farley knew more people eager for jobs than he could please!

Behind the scene belief in Washington is that the prospect of war in Europe is definitely receding. As Germany and Italy are tiring, the British are apparently returning more and more to command of the situation. The United States would of course, shun any military alliance even if it meant strengthening democracies against dictatorships, but will probably play an important role in strengthening commercial and financial ties with France and England — the only first class democratic powers left in Europe.

Fiume is expanding its petroleum refinery to make it one of the largest in Italy.

"MY HOME TOWN," SUBJECT OF READING BY ANITA LOWERY BEFORE WEST TEXAS CHAM. OF COM.

The recent West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention at Brownwood had as one of its features the "My Home Town," speaking contest, open to high school students from all over Central and West Texas. The following is the speech given by Anita Lowrey, popular student at Gatesville High, at the convention:

The word "Home" is the sweetest sounding word in the English language. Webster defines it as "the locality where a thing is usually or naturally abundant. One's native place or land. The abiding place of the affections." So, when I say "My Home Town" Gatesville, I have this feeling of tenderness and affection that no other name can inspire.

Gatesville is not an old town, but was established a few years after Texas won her independence from Mexico. About 88 years ago when the United States Government took over that vast frontier reaching from the Rio Grande to the Red River, that territory was entirely without military protection save for a few scattered companies of Texas Rangers.

So, the United States Government sent out the troops, returning from the Mexican War, to establish a line of forts to protect the advancing white settlers from the Indians.

One of the forts was established on the north bank of the Leon River, a tributary of the Brazos and about 80 miles north of Austin, named Fort Gates by Brevet Colonel W. R. Montgomery with two companies of the 8th Infantry. The fort was named in honor of Major C. R. Gates of the 4th U. S. Infantry.

After the soldiers evacuated this post, in March, 1852, the settlers resolved to stay and civilize this frontier and their permanent homes here.

So, on March 15, 1854, the county of Coryell was organized, and the survey located the center of the county for a site for the county seat. This was near Fort Gates, so the new town to be was called Gatesville. And these sturdy frontiersmen began at once to build their town. They laid the town off in a square with a wide street on each side of the square.

Up and down these streets sprang the usual businesses of a small town and, as time passed, they improved, until now they spread in all four directions, and modern stone and brick buildings take the place of the old log ones and wide paved streets take the place of the old sandy ones.

On the peak of the hillside of Gatesville, and in the center of the square stand an imposing court house, made of native white stone. An astonishingly small number of criminals have been tried here.

Gatesville can be seen from the roads in all directions and the view from everywhere is very beautiful and inspiring. A lecturer once visiting Gatesville said that in all his travels at home and abroad, no lovelier place than ours could be found, and even the scenery of Italy, the most beautiful country in the world, does not surpass that of the Gatesville vicinity.

Gatesville has many new public buildings. These are the new Federal Post Office, the Junior High School, the school gymnasium, the county jail, and the municipal auditorium that houses several departments of the city government, such as the city management department, a well equipped fire department, a good library, and a spacious auditorium.

Gatesville has a lovely city park which has in it a large cement swimming pool, a band stand, a modern and electrically lighted stadium.

Gatesville, like all other towns, has its share of substantial business houses and thriving businesses of all kind. During the depression not a business failed, not one of the three banks closed, or failed to pay dividends, and building and improvement went steadily on.

Some of the outstanding things Gatesville prides itself on in addition to its natural advantages, are its fine churches, its efficient schools, its wonderful artesian water, and its high-minded, whole-souled citizenship.

Gatesville has personality, for no other term can describe the friendly appeal, with the atmosphere of doing things, with the spirit of working together, the feeling of things being successfully accomplished, the touch of wholesome neighborliness and the high standard of home life and of living. Many other good characteristics that influence social and home life make Gatesville one of the most pleasant places in which to live to be found anywhere.

Underneath the bright smartness of Gatesville runs a deep current of piety and culture.

Her schools and churches exemplify the spirit of America in its best and her idealism that made our nation great.

Gatesville is a town that grows on you, a peaceful little town of soothing charm, inspiring vigor, and no one with a seeing eye and an open mind will ever regret having lived in Gatesville, "My Home Town."

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE: When he kissed Monique Pelerin in a darkened movie theatre (mistaking her for his friend Yvonne) trouble begins for young Philippe Martin, a Parisian actor. First he is fired from his job, and then hauled to court, where he is sentenced to pay 1,000 francs or to serve three days. However, Monique relents and pays the fine. The scale swings—Philippe because of the notoriety is a decided attraction for his theatre, and the manager is forced to re-hire him at triple his former salary.

Chapter Five

THE MAN PAYS — IN INSTALLMENTS

Philippe's first act at this stroke of good fortune was to telephone Monique.

"I must see you at once," he shouted through the mouthpiece. "I am ready to pay you back the thousand francs. This afternoon." "It is impossible," Monique says, adding slyly, however, "It is impossible because this afternoon I go skating at the Palais de Glace." We may now shift the scene to the Palais de Glace, where Philippe and Monique are skating together, quite as if they had known each other all their lives. They have almost forgotten the excuse for their meeting, when suddenly Monique observes that it is time for her to leave. Philippe reaches ruefully for a bill fold. "I almost forgot. I must return your thousand francs." "And that will end the matter," says Monique—but a note of regret creeps into her voice. "You mean, I won't see you again?" "Why should you?" Philippe thought fast. "Because . . . because I can't give it to you all in one lump. You will have to permit me to pay back a little every day . . . say one hundred francs." "Then it will take . . . ten days," says Monique thoughtfully. Philippe nods eagerly . . .

It is the tenth and last day. Philippe and Monique have been meeting regularly during this period at the Palais de Glace. In fact, under Monique's tutelage, Philippe has almost learned how to skate. But now it is all over. Monique remembers that she is, after all, engaged to be married to Count Donstelli. The meetings with Philippe have been pleasant—have meant more to her than she admits to herself—but she is beginning to think they must end.

As they are about to leave the ice, they are recognized by newspaper photographers. They retreat hastily, but too late. They are blinded by a veritable bombardment of flash-bulbs.

When the afternoon papers come out, Monique has to face another bombardment. Both her father and her fiancé demand explanations. Monique faces them coolly.

"What a picture," she says, scanning the paper they thrust under her nose. "Good of Martin, though, don't you think. But I look simply frightful."

"Come now, Monique," says her father sternly, "explain this picture."

Monique plays innocent. "But Father! Can I prevent him skating if he wants to?"

The Count Alfredo is outraged. "I can!" he yells. "That Mephisto! I'll prevent him skating. I'll prevent him kissing. I'll prevent him living!"

"You'll do nothing of the sort," Pelerin interrupts. "From now on I'll take care of this myself."

Meanwhile, at the theatre Mallot, the producer, fumes and rages. The rehearsals are an hour late and he
