MRS. SAM SNEED HONORED AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mesdames Elmer Brooks and A. O. Arnold were co-hostesses Tuesday afternoon when they entertained at the home of Mrs. Backs, honoring their mother, Mrs. Sam Sneed on her 80th birthday with a birthday party.

A lace cloth was used on the dining table, which was centered with the birthday cake on a mirror reflector with a tiny rosebud wreath around the base of the cake and happy birthday greetings on the cake in pink and white. This was used for a color scheme.

Among the special entertainments planned for the guests, Mrs. T. A. Sawyer sang "Forget-me-not" and Mrs. Clara Baker gave three beautiful selections of poetry composed by herself and a sister. In a bible contest Mrs. Susie Lane and Mrs. T. A. Sawyer tied. An apple race on tea spoons was won by Mrs. S. D. Warren. The Beauty contest was won by Mrs. W. C. Brooks who gracefully received this honor. Mrs. B. F. Gholson received a beautiful gift as she was the lady of 90 years of age. The fruit jar of candy squares was guessed correctly by Mrs. Clara Baker who was among the many that received gifts along with the honoree as she proudly received her many beautiful gifts. The closing scene of the program was the ladies one at a time telling the most thrilling moments of their girlhood days.

Fruit Punch and birthday cake were served to the invited guests. Mesdames: B. F. Gholson, D. S. Warren, J. T. Ming, Henry Frasier, Arthur Arnold, J. T. Wilhite, Hunter, Susie Lane, T. A. Sawyer, W. C. Brooks, Clara Baker, and the honoree, Mrs. J. R. White sent her gift.—The Four-County Press.

PALACE-MESSENGER TO HAVE COOKING SCHOOL OCT 26th TO 28th

Announcement was made Friday of a motion picture cooking school to be held in Gatesville October 26-28, under the auspices of the Palace Theatre and the Gatesville Messenger and Star-Forum.

An innovation in cooking schools, this motion picture cooking school is the story of the life of a young bride and her culinary adventures, entitled "The Bride Wakes Up," a full length feature, directed and filmed in Hollywood, with a competent cast to interpret the appealing story.

The only thing missing in this motion picture school will probably be the smell of the cooking, but we understand the picture is partly in technicolor, which in a way will make up for the delicious odors.

OKLAHOMA CAR CRASHES BRIDGE BANNISTER ON HIWAY 7

Head lights, fenders, doors and many other parts of a late model Oldsmobile were scattered hither and thither Sat. aite, when it came in contact with a bannister of the bridge on Green Briar Creek about eight miles out on the Waco hiway.

We have been unsuccessful in learning the name of the driver but it is believed that he was a salesman.

The only passenger was Roy Jackson of Oglesby who had accepted a ride from the unknown driver at a Gatesville service station, Jackson being on the side that hit the bannister, was injured, but not seriously, receiving only slight cuts on the head and bruises on the body. The driver was only addled for a few minutes.

In a statement the driver said, his front wheel went over in the loose earth, causing him to lose control, as he was going close to sixty miles per hour. Wrecker service was summoned from McGregor and the demolished car was hauled to that place. This makes about five cars that have had mishaps on Green Briar bridge, since the new highway has been opened.

FAIRVIEW CONSOLIDATES WITH EVANT SCHOOL

The people of Evant are indeed happy that Fairview has cast their lot with them in the contracting of their school. It is needless to say that Fairview has progressive trustees who have at heart the interest of their community. The people of that district should appreciate the progressiveness of their trustees and teachers. The Fairview teachers also progressive and hold uppermost the welfare of the child.

The school at Evant is not Evant's school, but the school of all the communities who take part in it. The people of the surrounding districts are invited to come and visit us. We want you to come; this is your school. You once visited school so don't slight us. We need you to help us make, for all the children concerned, the best possible school we can have, it is the aim of the school work to the betterment of all. Again we welcome all our outlying districts.—The Four-County Press.

Miss Bess Holmes was a Waco visitor over the week end. She accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carter of that city who have been visiting here the past few days.

CITY NIGHT WATCHMANS' AUTOMOBILE BURNS MON. MORN.

During the wee hours of last Monday morning, in fact about four o'clock, the city night watchman became minus one auto. In making his regular rounds his car began to short out. Thinking it was some minor trouble, Mr. Walker parked at the curb and continued on his round. In rounding the corner at a local cafe, someone yelled and informed him that an automobile was afire at eighth and main. Pleas rushed to the scene and found his own car a mass of crumbled steel. We understand that the car was covered by insurance.

BROTHER OF H. T. CHAPMAN PASSES AWAY

Friday morning at 2:30 o'clock W. E. Chapman, age 79, brother of H. T. Chapman of this city, passed away at his home in Paris, Texas, following an illness of several weeks.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning at Eunice, where Mr. Chapman had lived most of his life.

He is survived by his wife and two daughters.

Miss Effie Yows of near Gatesville, H. T. Chapman of this city, and his brother, L. S. Chapman and family of San Angelo were among those who attended the funeral.

LARGE CROWD HEAR WALTER DILLARD IN OGLESBY MONDAY

Walter Dillard discussed to the people of Coryell County just what kind of cotton he could use in his textile mills at New Braunfels when he spoke at Oglesby yesterday afternoon. In his speech he stressed the importance of Texas farmers raising one kind of cotton. There is only one grade of cotton that can be used for making clothes in textile mills. In order for them to get this grade, he urged the farmers to plant only that kind of cotton.

As an illustration he mentioned a mill operating at Copeland, Texas. In that county farmers, ginners and cotton buyers are cooperating and are raising, ginning and buying only the grade that can be used in the mill. In that way the farmer is getting two cents or more per pound for his cotton than he would otherwise.

He stated that last year had to buy a majority of his cotton from another state, in order to get the grade that he desired.

Among those who attended the meeting from Gatesville were J. M. Wichee, Floyd Zeigler, H. C. Stewart, Frank Blair, Gus Kock Mrs. Preston Jones, and J. B. Reach, and others whose names we did not learn.

W. O.W. MEETING IS CALLED FOR THURS. OCTOBER 8

According to E. T. Mayes, Sr. there will be a meeting of the newly organized chapter of the Woodmen of the World at the Jack Horn building (upstairs) Thursday evening at 8 p. m.

All candidates are asked to be present, as the Waco Degree team will be here to confer degrees.

Turnersville's Annual Pure Food Show opens for evening sessions only, on Thursday of this week, with the headliner of the entertainment being the Gatesville Quartet composed of Troy Jones, Leonard Meeks, Curt Rogers and "Bugs" Ruthersford.

Also as a special feature of the Thursday evening program is Miss Dixie Gilchrist of Turnersville, who will have some startling entertainment for the visitors.

Friday the Pearl String Band under the management of M. Tharp, popular Superintendent of the Pearl High School, will be leading the band.

Saturday night is Clifton College Night, at which time a special program will be presented by members of that school and faculty.

In addition to the entertainment displays will be presented from Turnersville, Gatesville, Clifton, Valley Mills, Mosheim, and many others.

Each night auction sales will be made, and many pieces of merchandise will be sold to the interested bidders, all the funds going to the First Methodist Church, under whose guidance the Pure Food Show is being held.

Last year's Pure Food Show was a successful affair and well attended and subscribed to by many merchants of the surrounding territory.

GATESVILLE FOLKS GO TO "PEN" BUT GET OUT

Luther Todd, Robert Todd, J. C. Poston and R. O. Poston are the lucky Gatesville folks who "got in the pen" and out, the same day. They said they got to go thru the whole works.

The occasion was a Rodeo which was held in the Huntsville run-around, by the "prisoners".

These "unfortunate" folks have movies, Rodeos, in fact more pleasure than most "outsiders" do, and live on the state, too.

BOOKKEEPING, NEW COURSE OFFERED IN EVANT HIGH SCHOOL

Bookkeeping is now a part of the curriculum of this school. This course is very practical and is being offered for students who are interested in a business career.

Mrs. Ross V. Avery, who teaches the course, is working for affiliation in order to add one more credited unit for graduating seniors. There only ten students taking bookkeeping, the required number for affiliation.—The Four-County Press.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Jones and little daughter, Jo Ann left Friday to spend several days with Mrs. Jones grandmother and other relatives in East Texas.

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL NOTES

Patients in the Hospital at present are: Mrs. Walter Schaub, Miss Pauline Weaver, and Mrs. Joe Kincaid.

Farmers Save $5,000,000

College Station. Approximately $5,000,000 was saved Texas farmers by the grasshopper control program waged during the spring and summer in Northwest and Central Texas counties which were threatened with a severe grasshopper infestation equal to or worse than the destructive one of 1924, according to a conservative estimate by R. R. Reppert, Extension entomologist and state leader of the committee on grasshopper control.

Definite data on the saving has been supplied by Hemphill and Wheeler counties. Hemphill count suffered a crop loss of $84,000 and estimated that the loss would have amounted to $12,000 except for control measures—a saving of $128,000. In Wheeler county the actual loss was $40,000 and the estimated savings effected by the control campaign were $900,000.

Egg counts made in the spring revealed the area in greatest danger of a severe infestation. "Egg counts are of definite value in determining the severity and exact location of infestation," says Reppert. "Grasshopper eggs are laid in pods, each pod containing approximately 100 eggs. If one pod is found per square foot in fields or pastures, or as many as 16 egg pods are found per square foot along roadsides or ditches in the fall or early spring, farmers should prepare for grasshopper damage the following summer."

Control campaigns were carried on by county committees working with the county agriculture agent under the supervision of a state committee. The Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine which has been designated by Congress to administer a $1,000,000 fund for grasshopper control furnished the state with 2,190 tons of bran and 45,000 gallons of arsenite. Additional bran was supplied from local sources.

The area marked by broken lines was the area determined in the spring as being in danger of the greatest infestation. Each dot represents 80,000 pounds of bran used in grasshopper control.

WORLD COMMENT

Joe Burns

Many Americans share the this editorialist genuine concern for the future of our country. Such concern is supported amply by trends and conditions which have arisen as a result of and following the World War and world-wide depression. But if America, its institutions and its democratic ideals, are threatened both by social and economic circumstances, not to mention certain subversive interests and individuals, the states of the continents of Asia and Europe are threatened by even more serious problems which defy solution by their ablest diplomats and most skilled statesmen.

While America and Americans contend with the problem of maintaining the neutrality of this Nation in any future European or the present Asiatic war, the countries of the other continents are confronted with the menace of war in their own back yards, so to speak.

The British Empire is in the most precarious state it has occupied since the Spanish Armada threatened to wipe out democratic government under a constitutional monarchy and supplant freedom of religion with Catholic absolutism. Since 1935—the year of the Italian conquest of Ethiopia, and the fiasco of the British-inspired League of Nations sanctions against the Fascist state—the prestige of Britain has been on the wane.

Mussolini not only thwarted the efforts of the British to drive him from Africa, but continued his venture in the face of League and world wide condemnation. Britain and Italy came dangerously close to war, for the statesmen of Downing Street fully realized that the conquest of Ethiopia was but a prelude to future efforts to bring the entire Mediterranean and Red Sea area under the domination of the Fascist government of Rome.

Until Britain's rearmament program is completed in 1939, its control of the Mediterranean-Red Sea route to the East and the Empire's most valued colonial possessions is subject to the whims of one Benito Mussolini, who with his fleet and air force can sever this vital artery of the empire upon which the sun never sets in a few hours.

Another British problem is the question of who is to dominate Spain. Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Eden want neither the Russian Communists nor the Italian-German Fascists to dominate the Iberian Peninsula, but they are confronted with the unhappy problem of choosing one.

If the Fascists ride into power under Franco's banner, Britain's Mediterranean artery will be further jeopardized with the Balearic Islands fortified by Italy and Gibraltar commanded by loyalists guns on the Spanish mainland.

Considerable space was devoted to the shooting of the British Ambassador to China, Sir Archibald Kitchbull-Huguesen, by Japanese aerial fighters, but Britishers were more deeply hurt by this incident than we were led to believe. The fact that they were unable to institute reprisals against the Japanese brigands only added to their mortification.

Britain's problems are not solely of an international nature. The British also have to contend with the problem of one third of their population being "ill-fed, ill-housed and ill-clothed," to use the words of our own chief executive on one of the fundamental American problems. Edward VIII, before his abdication, foresaw the need for alleviation of the living conditions of the Welsh coal miners and other sections of the lower strata of British society, but strangely enough he was overruled by the leaders of the conservative party, who were thoroughly irked by a march taking a national problem by the horns in such manner as did Edward.

France's problems are of such a grave nature that one American editor and recent visitor to that country has been prompted to write that the French Republic will soon sink to the rank of a second or third rate power.

This is a dire predicament for any state occupying the critical international position which France occupies today. Hitler, on the west, is arming his people, apparently for an attack upon some state, although ostensible carrying out his rearmament program for defense only. On the south, the Fascists, whom most Frenchmen hate, are fighting for control of the peninsula and if victorious will establish a regime corresponding in aims and methods to those of Italy and Germany.

Like Britain, France must keep the Mediterranean or at least its western end free of Italian domination if it is to retain communication with its three north African colonies, Morocco, Tunisia, and Algeria. From these colonies came many thousands of husk Arabian and Mesian fighters to fill the trenches against Germany 20 years ago. Needed raw material and foodstuffs as well as fighters make it imperative that the route to Africa be maintained free of interference by potential hostile powers.

This explains the readiness with which France joined the piracy patrol to rid the Mediterranean of "pirate" submarines. Paris reasoned that if Italian submarines attacked the Spanish and Russian merchant vessels, they would turn to French vessels if they succeeded in subduing the Spanish loyalists.

The international situation in France is charged with dynamite. The popular front of Premier Camille Chautemps has the unpleasant and unpopular duty of reestablishing the national credit, keeping down commodity prices, maintaining the defense program, refraining from participation in the Spanish civil war, in spite of decided preference for the loyalists by the French populace, and carrying on the social reforms instituted by the Jewish Premier, Leon Blum.

The Communists are dissatisfied with the popular front coalition with the Socialists and Radical Socialists and threaten to bolt any moment, and by doing so drive Chautemps from power. The Fascists under Colonel De la Rocque are active in spite of popular disfavor. The people are in perpetual fear of an attack by Germany, or Germany and Italy acting in concert. They know that if Hitler attacks either Czechoslovakia or Russia or both they must join the ensuing war for the preservation of France. And knowing war, the French people shrink from this duty.

American travelers returning from Germany paint a pitiful picture of conditions prevailing there today. The resources of the country, of the people, of business, are being drained at an appalling rate of finance the public works and armament program of the Nazi dictator. Since Hitler came into power, the Reich has spent twelve billions of dollars on armaments, according to the most reliable figures available. (Cost of the Roosevelt new deal to date, $14,500,000,000 (billions)).

The people of Germany, from children of four and five years of age to men, in their thirties, are regimented, trained, drilled, taxed, worked, and taxed again. Dissenters are clapped into concentration camps without public trial or trial by jury. In extreme cases, dissenters and objectors are placed before the firing squad or lose their heads. Every youth spends two years receiving military training and one year in the labor corps, where he works for nothing on government-sponsor-

SOCIETY

Mrs. T. R. Mears Entertains Club.

Mrs. T. R. Mears used roses as the decoration of her party room for the regular meeting of the Wednesday Contract Club this week. Those who enjoyed the series of contract games, followed by the serving of sandwiches and a delicious drink were: Mesdames J. D. Brown, Francis Caruth, Harry Fleutge, B. B. Garrett D. D. McCoy, Howard Franks, George Painter, C. W. McConnaughey, D. R. Boone, O. N. Hix, Stewart Williams, Laura Rayford, Louis Holmes, A. L. Chollar, H. K. Henry, and one guest, Mrs. George Beane of Sonora, Texas.

Picnic Enjoyed At Meridian

Sunday an all day picnic was enjoyed by employees of the Gulf States Telephone Company of this city, Stephenville, and Hamilton at the Meridian Park. During the afternoon those from Gatesville visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jameson; the latter being a former telephone operator and a resident of Gatesville.

Those enjoying this delightful affair were: Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKinney, Mr. and Mrs. E. Huey, Miss Allene Wardell, and Miss Betty Lee of Gatesville; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Truett and son Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Hopper, Miss Lockhart, and John Mitchell of Stephenville.

Ruth Jones to Marry Leo Domstead

A wedding announcement of much interest to people in this community was made Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Chester Burchett.

Many guests began to arrive at 3:00, and after registering in the lovely blue and white Bride's Book presided over by Mrs. K. R. Jones, were shown in the reception room. After all the guests were seated, Miss Johnnie Belle Coskrey entertained with a violin solo, entitled "Golden River". It was followed by a very clever and appropriate reading by Miss Nona Diltz.

Little Gordon Jones, nephew of the honoree, next entered as the postman and presented each guest with a letter, the contents being "Leo Domstead and Miss Ruth Jones, Oct. 23, 1937."

With Miss Mertie Sue Jones as the preacher; Miss Coskrey as the bride, and Joenita Jones as the groom, a darling mock wedding was enacted.

The Climax of the afternoon was the entrance of little Myres Margaret Ann and Nelda June Jones with a load of lovely and useful gifts, which were opened by the surprised bride-elect.

The very enjoyable afternoon was concluded with the serving of punch and cookies by the hostess, Mrs. Burchett, Misses Edith Raby Lackey, and Ruth Warner to fifty guests.

Irvin Koch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Koch, and who is attending Baylor University in Waco, spent the week end in Gatesville with his parents and friends.

CONSERVATIVE BUNGALOW HOME

Simplicity of design and ornamentation is the element upon which true efficiency and genuine comfort is based. In this bungalow home simplicity in handling is demonstrated at its best. The rooms are large and well proportioned, the arrangement makes for convenience and the utmost comfort. The sleeping porch is an appreciated feature in southern localities and the plan provides an alternate basement arrangement when the first floor heater is not desired. Hall space in this design is kept at a minimum, yet each of the rooms retains all necessary privacy.

SEATTLE ITEMS

The cotton crop that looked so promising in the summer is the shortest since 1925, due to boll worms and weevils.

Mr. and Mrs. Burl Watts have a little son. They have named him Donald Glee. The little gentleman has nine living grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Geiselbrecht, Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Watts, great grand parent; Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Dixon and great grandmother Mrs. Adella Watts Mrs. S. C. Dixon and Mrs. Rhoda Wolff.

Rev. and Mrs. O. F. Williams visited his mother recently.

The Longview School will begin Monday, Oct. 4th. The Dunn School has postponed a week to give the people more time to finish picking cotton. It will begin, Oct. 11th.

BESIDES BROADCAST HUMBLE ISSUES FOOTBALL NEWS

In connection with the radio broadcasts of Southwest Conference football games which the Humble Oil and Refining Company is sponsoring this year for the third consecutive season, Humble is publishing the Humble Football News, the first issue of which is in the hands of Humble service stations and Humble dealers for free distribution to football fans this week.

The sprightly, authoritative football news-weekly enters its third year of publication with this first issue. Its guiding genius is Kerns Tips, one time sports writer and sports editor, now ace Southwest football announcer. Tips has secured leading sports writers throughout the State as contributors for the Humble publication.

The first issue features comment by all Southwest Conference coaches on the season coming up. Next week, leading sports writers will analyze individual Conference team's championship prospects. Contributors to this symposium will include George W. White of the Dallas News, Jinx Tucker of the Waco Times Herald and News Tribune, Flem Hall of the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram, Weldon Hart of the Austin American, State-man, Andy Anderson of the Houston Press, Dick Freeman of the Houston Chronicle.

The Humble Football News is distributor free every Thursday by Humble service stations and Humble dealers.

HORNET SECONDS DROP GAME AT COPPERAS COVE, 26-0

Gatesville High School Hornet Seconds were defeated by a neat Copperas Cove team in Copperas Cove Friday evening by a score of 26-0. Coach Fred Schwarz was in charge of the team.

Stars for Copperas Cove included Turner, end, Fritz, quarter, Adams, end, and Duncan Crabb linemen. Although a complete report was not received on the game, the Cove has a splendid team.

For Gatesville, the stars were not named, but the backfield included, Culberson, Jackson, Jr., Satterfield, Mayberry, Holt and Anderson. Linemen were McBride, Whigham, Perryman Adolphus, Malone, McDonald and Newland.

Coach Schwarz said the team was "picked up", and had not had any practice together, but acquitted themselves well in the game although they did not win.

FORMER NEWS EMPLOYEE ACCEPTS POSITION AT CENTERVILLE

Ted Harris, late with the mechanical department of the Gatesville Messenger & Star Forum, and formerly, Sports Writer and linotype operator for the Corvell County News, Saturday accepted a position with the Leon County News at Centerville, the newspaper edited by James Read Saunders, also formerly with the News.

Ted will be in the mechanical department of the Leon County News, and as we understand it, will be shop foreman.

Ted will be missed locally by both sport fans and other people whether or not they are interested in the publishing business.

He is a son of Mann Harris, formerly of this city, but now of Waco.

The News congratulates Ted on his new assignment, and predict the Leon County News will go over with a bang, with this addition to its staff.

TOPSEY H. D. CLUB REPORTS 1937 SUPPLY ACHIEVEMENTS

The accompanying home food supply report was sent in by Mrs. Howard Simpson, food demonstrator for the Topsey Home Demonstration Club. She adds that the members have attempted to 'prove the beauty of life and the wealth of soil' and that 19 members have done this to the best of their ability.

A summary of the womens work gives the following results: Two ladies have demonstration gardens 17 are co-operating, 9 have orchards, 19 have adequate dairy cows 19 have adequate poultry, 11 have adequate meat animals, 18 have adequate field crops, or potatoes, corn peas and beans, 19 have hotbeds cold frames or canvas gardens, 1 has irrigation system.

Several are following daily meal plans, 19 are using improved preparation methods, several are improving storage for staples, eleven have receipt files.

Canning has played a large part of their work, 509 quarts of vegetable, 100 quarts of pickled or brined vegetables, 204 quarts of jams, jellies marmalades and preserves, 150 quarts of beef, 960 quarts of fruit, 30 quarts of poultry, 3,600 lbs. of vegetables stored fresh, 4,279 lbs. of pork cured, and 20lbs. of dried fruit and vegetables. Four store houses were built.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND, Director, Physical and Health Education, New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

"Big Ears"

I am often puzzled by the rashness of parents in speaking before children. What makes it worse is then to say "Now don't repeat that" Such is the way we get our first lessons in gossip and deceit. The same parents admit jokingly that a child's ears miss nothing. Of course they don't if they're normal; nor do his eyes miss anything. Childhood is the developmental age; it is the time when learning is quick and easy and the tools of learning are alert and sharp.

Now children tend to have faith in their parents. They believe Dad and Mumsy are pretty fine and right. Would that we were! But why are we so clumsy about living up to the child's ideal? Perhaps we would do better if we trained ourselves to stop frequently to think "what effect will this word or act have on my child?"

Be one faced before the child. Let him hear within the family circle the nice things he heard you say to a neighbor. When you don't, the word is hypocrisy. The child doesn't understand it, but he soon catches on to the act and then begins to practice it himself. Think of lying, deception, slang, and veiled meanings in the same way. Hearing is a tool of learning, and children's ears are very, very large.

Miss Margaret Rutherford spent Thursday and Friday at her home in Jonesboro. She returned to this city Saturday to begin her new work as clerk in Alvis, Garner & Co.

World Comment—

ed public works. Do not Americans have something for which to be thankful and grateful that they are living in a country where there still exist freedom of speech and of debate, absolute freedom of the press and of thought, public trial by jury, no concentration camps, sanctity of the home against unwarranted intrusion by secret political agents, no compulsory military training or labor camps, no attacks upon churches, ministers of the gospel?

This article constitutes no effort to minimize the problems facing America today. Instead, its purpose is to point out that Americans have no reason to despair at the adverse conditions with which they must contend. Its further aim is to bring home to readers of this column the necessity for preserving an eternal vigilance against those who would pervert the Constitution and the liberties of our free people to personal or selfish aims; against those who, through organization or promises would seek to dominate the government and use it for their own enrichment and aggrandizement. These thoughts are not directed against any one individual, but against any who may now or in the future have such designs and aims as characterize those enslaving the peoples of Russia, Italy, Japan, and others of the globe today.

GATESVILLE, TEXAS, TUESDAY, OCT. 5, 1937

YOUR CONSTITUTION

1. The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during a term of four years, and together with the Vice-President, chosen to the same term be elected as follows:

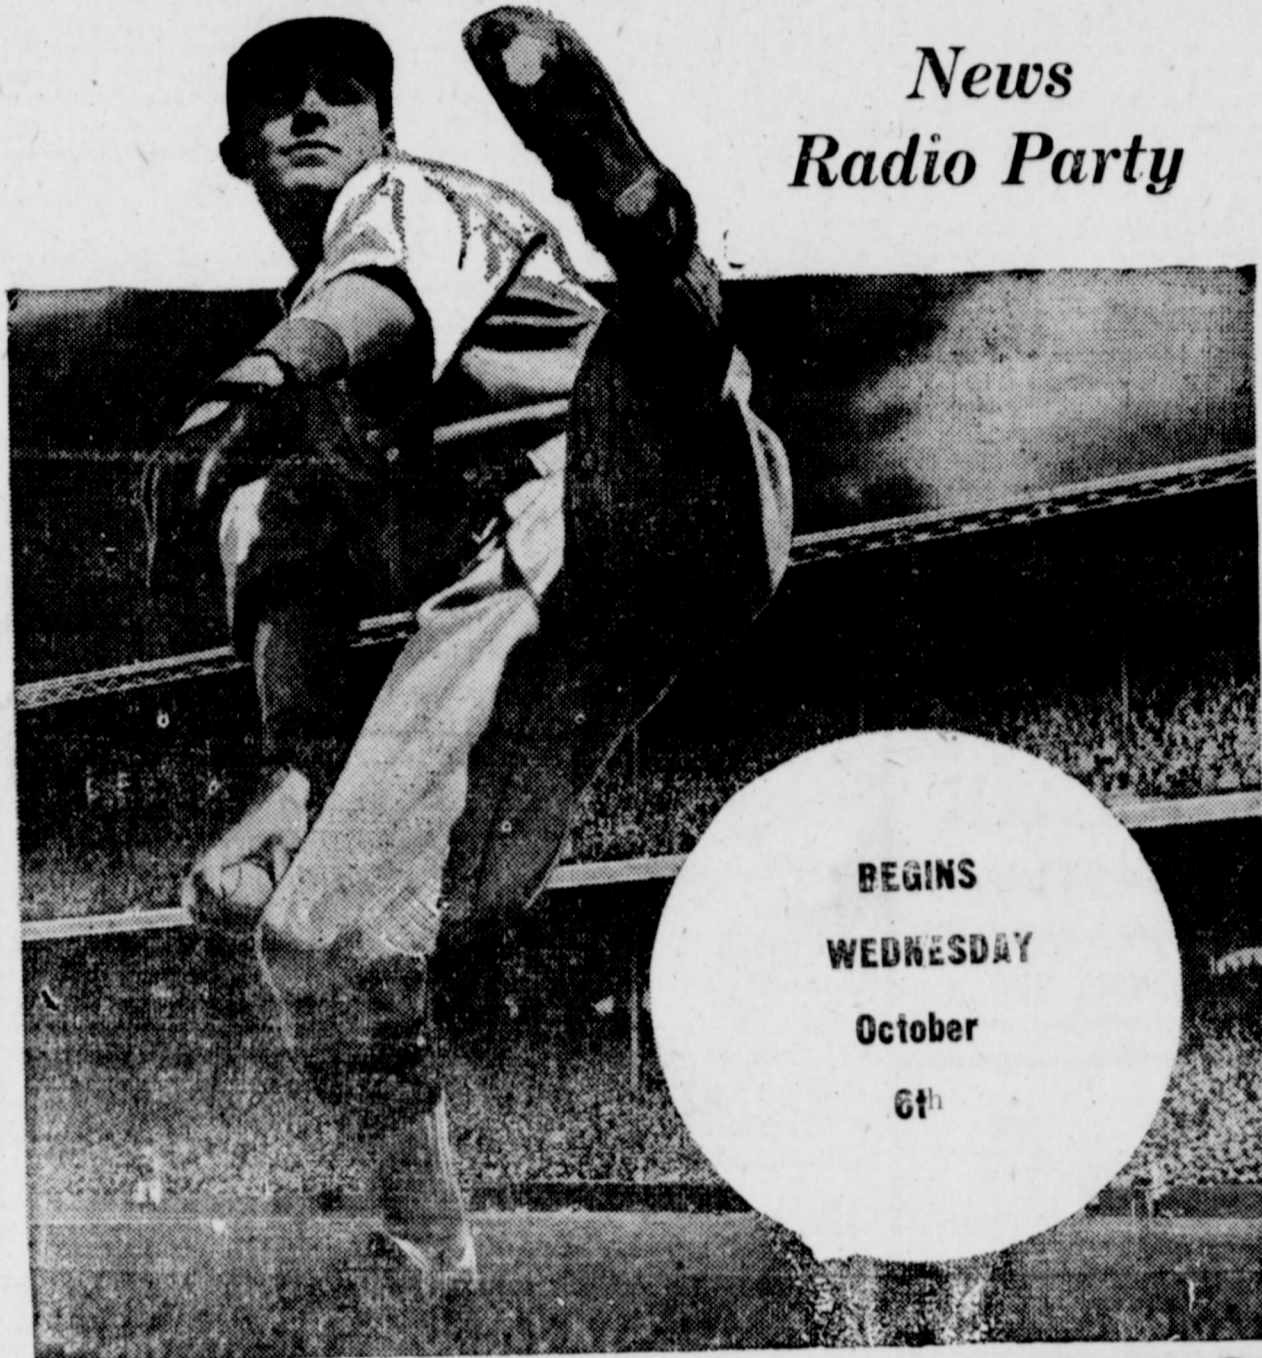

2. Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the state may be entitled in the Congress; but no Senator or Representative or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

3. (The Electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of Government of the United States, directed to the president of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose by ballot one of them for President; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said House shall in like manner choose the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the President, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall then be Vice-President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the Senate shall choose from them by ballot the Vice-President.) This clause superseded by Article 12, Amendments.

4. The Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

5. No person except a natural citizen of the United States, at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall be eligible to the office of President; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of 35 years, and been fourteen years a resident of the United States.

6. In case of the removal of the President from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers (see bottom of last column)

WINTER CRUISE BEING MADE FROM CITY OF HOUSTON

Houston, Tex., Leaving winter's icy breath behind, some 100 fortunate persons will spend a delightful three weeks in tropical waters the result of the good cruise to be conducted by the Houston Chamber of Commerce beginning February 25.

Aboard the luxurious French Line steamer "Mexique", the good will party will visit the principal ports in South America, the West Indies and Panama.

Leaving the port of Houston early on the morning of February 25, the boat will soon leave old Man Winter behind as it noses its way through the crystal clear waters of the tropics.

Havana is the first official stop. The steamer is scheduled to dock at this colorful old city early the afternoon of Sunday, February 27. A 27 hour stop will be made here, after which the lines will be cast off for the 687 mile cruise to Port Au Prince, Haiti, when arrival is scheduled for March 2.

Sailing late that night, the liner will next head for Ciudad, Trujillo, separated from Port Au Prince by 439 miles of placid water. After spending a day in this colorful capitol of the Dominican Republic, the party will go to San Juan, Porto Rico.

From San Juan the tourist will move to Venezuela, spending the day in Caracas. The night of March 7 will be spent between LaGuaira and Williamstadt on the Dutch island of Curacao, the next stop. After a day here the good willers will set sail for Cartagena, in far off Colombia. The last stop will be made at Cristobal in the Panama Canal Zone.

The return trip is scheduled to begin Sunday, March 13, the vessel arriving back in Houston on the afternoon of March 17.

Mrs. G. L. Painter was taken to a Waco Sanitarium Thursday and underwent an operation Friday morning; she was accompanied by Miss Maude Alice Painter, who will remain with her for several days. Norman Painter, of Coryell City, a grandson of Mrs. Painter is also in the sanitarium recovering from an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Pollard and little daughter of Oglesby spent Friday in Gatesville.

KNOW TEXAS

Bat Paradise

DENTON, Oct. 5—Even the best of hunters may not know of the unusual laws tucked away in the state game regulations of Texas. Among the "don'ts" one finds that it is unlawful to kill or injure a bat, presumably because these birds are so destructive to harmful bugs and insects.

Dear hunters must remember not to use any sort of deer call except deer horns, which may be rattled. Nor can one hunt at just any hour during the season; between sunset and sunrise the hunters must forbear shooting at any game animal. Game animals which must not be killed at any time are turkey hens, doe deer, fawn or spike buck.

Prey of Texas Hunters

For conversational purposes non-hunters may be interested in knowing just what kind of game lures their fellow Texans to the chase. Listed as game animals are deer, elk, antelope, wild sheep, bear and squirrels. Among the game birds are, turkeys, ducks, geese, brant, grouse, prairie chickens, pheasants, quail or partridge, wild pigeons, doves, snipes, chachalaca, plover and shore birds of all varieties.

Fur bearing animals, on which tax must be paid, include badger, civet cat, fox, mink, muskrat, opossum, polecat, skunk, raccoon, beaver and ringtail cat.

Lets Talk about Clothes

DENTON, Oct. 5 Although black has spread its somber wings over the entire fashion picture there are a few corners left for color, and only the wise stylist knows to what a great advantage these corners can be used.

Leading the field is green, not the plain, obvious green of past seasons, but several subtle and queer greens that have to be matched carefully with complexions. Enticing labels give magic to these shades, from the dark armor, bottle, boxwood and forest greens on thru to the Startling or vivid and the blue greens.

Then comes gold, which makes a determined appearance on almost all occasions this year. Gold accents everything from feathers to shoe buckles. It has invaded the field of gloves, of applied leather trimming, belts and bows and has held its place of glory in the jewelry line. The new gold

IT MEANS SUSTAINED DRIVE

Only slight encouragement was received by Central Texas committees as they presented their plea before the state highway commission Monday for construction of gaps in Highway 36.

Highway 36 association has a task of rather large proportions ahead of it trying to sell the highway commission on the importance of this northwest-southeast state highway which will connect northwest Texas with the Gulf of Mexico at Freeport.

A campaign of large proportions and one which will not be slowed down until success is assured should be carried forth for the realization of this major project.

Temple, seated as it is, midway in the route, ought to take an active and energetic leadership in working to the recognition of the project and the completion of unfinished sectors particularly in Central Texas.

With Cameron, Temple, Gatesville and other towns along the route fighting for it hard, Highway 36 can be built. Temple needs to get back some of its old highway enthusiasm and match the interest which has been shown for years at Gatesville, for instance.

This is too important an arterial highway to be neglected by any one section, or to put only casual effort behind. It takes continuous, sustained drive.

The effort will be worth it.—Temple Daily Telegram.

Popular Russell Circus Will Appear Here Soon

Circus is coming!

That's thrilling news for red-blooded folks of all ages—those young in years and those in whom the very word circus rekindles youth in spirit.

Agents for Russell Bros Circus have just completed arrangements for that nationally famous tented organization to give two shows in Gatesville on Wednesday, Oct. 13.

Already popularly established throughout the Middle West, East and South, the Russell Circus this season made its first extensive tour of the Far West, and comes here fresh from the new triumphs on the Pacific Coast. Enthusiastic newspaper reviews from the many Western cities visited are unanimous in their praise of the circus all attesting to its high quality and its consistent reputation for presenting a performance of unusual merit at prices that are agreeably low.

Russell Bros. will bring a notable array of circus talent. The roster includes such arenic champions as the internationally renowned Five Fearless Flyers; the celebrated Rebras troupe of French equilibrists; Walter Jenner's remarkable trained sea lion exhibition; Miss Aerial-etta, hailed as foremost of all feminine aerial gymnasts; the Six Lelands; Frank B. Miller's nationally famed dancing horses; Irene Ledgett's performing elephants, and scores of other animal and human stars. There are, of course, clowns galore, and as is always the case with circuses of major proportions, there is a complete menagerie for which no additional charge is made.

Recent Bride Honored

Mrs. Paul Hensler named Mrs. Wendell Powell, the former Miss Osha Ray Rose, honoree for a miscellaneous shower at her home on 7th Street, Thursday afternoon. After all the guests were seated Mrs. John R. Colgin arrived, asking if she could talk "Insurance" to the hostess and guest a few minutes. After being seated by the honoree she suggested Mrs. Powell's taking an insurance policy. The policy, in Mrs. Colgin's insurance bag, proved to be a shower of lovely and useful gifts. Punch and cookies were served to about twenty guests.

Honoring Mrs. Clarence Bauman

Mrs. Clarence Bauman was honored with a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Otha Anderson, Misses Mozelle Holmes and Hermie Robinette in the home of Mrs. O. K. Jordan, Tuesday afternoon at 5:00.

The guests were served punch, then seated in three rooms. Each room had a leader for the interesting contests that were enjoyed.

Mr. Bauman is in the grocery and market business, therefore the shower was delivered as an order of groceries. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received.

The out of town guests were: Mesdames Charlie Bauman, Ernest Bauman, John Hodges, and N. Pederson of Gatesville. The guest number reached 60. Everyone had a nice time.

Miss Margaret Ann Morton Honored At Farewell Parties.

Last week, a party, a picnic, and a luncheon complimented Miss Margaret Ann Morton, who left Tuesday to make her home at Ballinger.

On Saturday night, September 25, Miss Nancy Satterfield entertained a group of the younger set at her home on East Leon Street. All of the guests brought gifts which were presented to Miss Morton in a basket. Punch and cookies were served to; Grace Walker, Leone Mann, Mable Brown, Nettie Davidson, Juanita and Yveta Graves, Ruth Bradford, Joyce Thomas, Marjorie Hall, Ernestine Shelton, Jack Jackson, Wayne Strickland, Bruce Baumer, Craig Davidson, Ben Owen Crow, Richard Alverson, Byran Jones, Hupert Davis, John Mings Davidson, Sammie Jack Horne, Douglas Mayberry, Jan Jones, the honoree and the hostess.

The following Sunday Miss Mabel Marion Brown named Miss Morton honoree for a luncheon given at her home on Main Street. The friends of the hostess and honoree that enjoyed this lovely affair were: Misses Nancy Satterfield, Marjorie Hall, Leone Mann, Grace Walker and the honoree and hostess.

The last of the series of compliments to Margaret Ann was a picnic supper given by Miss Marjorie Hall at her home, 7:30 o'clock. Those present were: Leone Mann, Nancy Satterfield, Mabel Marion Brown, Grace Walker, Yveta and Juanita Graaves, Joyce Thomas, Ernestine Shelton, Nettie Davidson, Marguerite Kelso.

The Story of FRANK CAPRA'S Mightiest Production

RONALD COLMAN in LOST HORIZON

A serialization of Robert Riskin's screen version of James Hilton's novel. Narrative by Albert Doffy. A COLUMBIA PICTURE

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE
Robert Conway, British diplomat in the East, is found in a small Chinese mission after having been missing for more than a year. He has no memory of his past life but he readily agrees to return to England with Lord Gainsford. On the boat, en route to England, some strains of strange beautiful music bring back his memory. He insists that he must leave the boat at its next stop—that he must return to Shangri-la. Conway tells of the evacuation of the white residents from Baskul—where he was the consul—when the city was attacked by bandits. Conway, with his brother, George, an American named Barnard, a sullen, down-on-her-luck daughter of joy named Gloria Stone and an English scientist, Alexander P. Lovett, leave in the last plane just a few jumps ahead of the oncoming bandits. The next morning they discover that their pilot is not Fenner of the Royal Air Force as they supposed, but a mysterious Mongol. They have been kidnapped! Suddenly the plane begins to descend. Conway and his brother plan to attack the pilot as soon as the plane reaches the ground.

George joined him from the other side just as Conway, after a quick frisk, stuffed the pilot's revolver into his pocket. "What's up?" George asked. "Fainted?"

Conway, impressed by the pilot's utter limpness, lifted his chin, stared into his face, pulled up his eyelid and then placed his hand over the flier's heart. He looked up at his brother soberly. "He's dead," he said. "Probably happened the moment we hit the ground." Conway picked up a map that was on the seat beside the pilot and studied it.

"See that spot?" he asked George. "That was where we stopped his morning for gasoline. He had it marked. It's right on the border of Tibet. Since then we've been in the air for fourteen hours—covered roughly two thousand miles."

"Where does that put us?" George asked. "See this spot?" Conway asked, pointing at a dot on the map. "That's where civilization stops. We're at least a thousand miles beyond that—in unexplored country that no one has ever reached." George stared at his brother, wide-eyed, the gravity of their situation slowly penetrating his mind. "Listen, Freshie, our chances of getting out of this are about—well, they're slim, at best. We can't afford to have three hysterical people on our hands. Keep this to yourself." He turned and entered the body of the plane.

"Everything's all right," he said cheerily. "That pilot isn't going to bother us any more. He's dead." "Well, what are we gonna do now?" Barnard asked. "Wouldn't be much use doing anything," Conway said. "My suggestion is a good night's sleep. It's warm in here, and the storm may die down before morning."

George, who had followed his brother into the plane, suddenly grasped him by the shoulder and

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Chapter Three

The plane bumped over the rough, uninhabited space. As it taxied to a stop Conway turned to his brother. "All right, George, come on!" He threw open the door and started to get out. Then he stopped suddenly. George peering over his brother's shoulder, whistled softly in amazement. A horde of strange, scantily attired natives—all brandishing swords and ancient muskets—had sprung up around the plane. Conway climbed back into the plane and shut the door.

The leader of the band went to the front of the plane and parleyed with the pilot. In due course the pilot handed over some gold to the native leader who turned and issued a command to his men.

"Hey, look," Barnard cried, "they're loading her up with gasoline!" And indeed they were.

All that day and far into the night they flew from the windows there was nothing to be seen but a steady procession of mountain peaks as the plane climbed higher and ever higher. In the plane Conway did everything he could to keep his fellow passengers calm. When the altimeter registered 15,000 feet and still continued to climb, Gloria, who had suffered in silence most of the day, pressed her hands to her ears and began to groan. "My ears are killing me!" she cried. Barnard tried to calm her.

"We've been up fourteen hours on this stretch, sister," he said. "This can't last much longer."

Gloria's voice rent the air. "I can't stand it!" she screamed. "Take us down! I can't stand the pain any more!" She rushed to the panel behind the cockpit and began to pound on the glass. Barnard followed her and put his arm around her shoulder. "Take it easy, sister," he said.

For a time nothing was heard save her stifled moans. Suddenly the motor began to spit and cough. The plane lurched violently, there was a loud, sputtering noise and then the motors went dead.

"He's run out of petrol," Conway explained.

"Good heavens!" cried Lovett. "Can he land?" Conway tried to keep the doubt out of his voice. "He can glide her down," he said.

George, peering from the window, began to shout. "There's a spot he can make!" The plane swayed perilously in a cross wind as Conway looked out over his brother's shoulder. He turned to the others—his voice electric with authority. "Come here, all of you! Crowd to the back of the plane. He may nose over!"

They all rushed to the rear of the plane as it lurched to the ground. The undercarriage struck the icy clearing, bounced several times and finally stopped. For a moment there was utter silence. Then Conway grasped his brother.

"Come on, George. We'll try the same thing again. You go around back and I'll tackle him from the front." Conway opened the door and they both plunged out into the swirling snow.

Conway clambered forward to the cockpit. He pushed open the door and climbed inside. The pilot was slumped, inert over the controls.

whirled him around. "Why don't you tell them the truth?" he demanded fiercely. "Tell them they're a million miles from civilization—not a chance of getting out of here alive. It's slow starvation, that's what it is—a slow, horrible death!"

Everyone turned to Conway, hoping that he would refute his brother's hysterical statement. But Conway looked beyond them at George who, ashamed of his outburst, slipped into a seat, avoiding his brother's accusing eyes.

All that night they remained in the plane, sleeping fitfully, and in the morning Conway and George set out through the storm to forage. A couple of hours later they returned, their arms filled with mountain grass.

"Well," George said, dumping the grass on a seat, "at least we won't starve while we have this. There's real nourishment in this stuff." Barnard turned away in disgust and peered out the window. Suddenly he shouted "Hey—look!"

They all rushed to the window. Coming over the brow of a nearby hill was a caravan of native porters.

In the middle of the caravan there was a hooded chair carried by four natives. Conway approached the chair, bowed courteously to the elderly Chinese who was its occupant, and greeted him in Chinese. The Chinese smiled at Conway.

"I am from a nearby lamasery," he said in perfect English. "My name is Chang."

Conway grinned and extended his hand. "Mine's Conway," he said simply. Quickly he explained to Chang what had happened to the little group in the plane. Chang listened quietly and then ordered his servants to provide warm clothes for the refugees. "I shall be pleased to guide you to our lamasery where you will be most welcome."

Conway and his companions quickly climbed into the warm clothes and the caravan was soon on its way back up the mountain pass. It was a torturous and wearying journey. Hour after hour they climbed higher and higher into the mountain fastness, skirting dangerous ravines, maneuvering around treacherous hairpin turns.

At long last they reached the summit of the mountain, crept around a narrow ledge and with one accord they stopped, staring unbelievably at what lay before them.

It was, indeed, a strange and half incredible sight—an eye-filling horizon diffusing a softness and a warmth that was breath-taking. Below them, to the left, a group of colored pavilions clung to the mountainside. Farther on, in the hazy distance, was a valley that looked for all the world like a huge tapestry, superb and exquisite in its blending of soft colors.

Conway felt a hand rest lightly on his arm. He turned and found Chang standing beside him.

"Welcome to Shangri-la," he said.

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

NO matter how much your neck aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month. Too often the honeymoon express is wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward sign that she is a victim of periodic pain.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Hornets 12, M. E. Home 7, When Locals Open Up

HOLT FOR HOME, VOSS, BROWN, WALLACE, OTHERS STAR FOR HORNETS

With a cool brisk wind blowing in from the north pole, The Gatesville Hornets won nothing less than a sensational ball game from The Methodist Home Badgers Friday Night. The two teams were almost evenly matched with The Hornets having a slight edge on weight. The Home boys were in there fighting all the way, but were ably out-classed by the Hornet squad.

In Voss and Brown, fans saw two boys who are going far into the high honor rolls of the conference. Each time either of the boys received the ball it meant from five to twenty yards. There was very little chance for the Orphans to gain thru the strong Hornet line which gave way little or none. Holes just seem to open up in front of that man Blankship, despite his heftiness he covers ground like a lightweight. Gilbreath was on the job thru out the game and did some real pass snatching from the steam shovel hand of Hinsley. One of the greatest thrills of the night, came when Hinsley stepped back and tossed a pass to Gilbreath which netted a mere little fifty yards.

Another tense moment came when Holt star quarter for the home raced down left end for sixty yards and a touchdown. Holt is the football kick-en-est boy we have seen in many moons. He made several fifty and sixty yard punts which helped the Orphans plenty. The penalties for roughing hurt the Home no little bit and took lots of the courage from the boys. Coach Malone has a mighty fine hustling, fighting team tho and will deal other teams on his schedule lots of trouble.

PLAY BY PLAY

McMahon, for the Home, kicked to Fore, who returned 9 yds. Voss made 5 yds. thru center. Brown dropped a yd. at R. E. A end around lateral, featuring Fore and Weaver, made 4 yds. Fore kicked 35 yds, which was killed by Gilbreath.

Home's ball, Holt made 2 yds off tackle; Holt stopped at line for no gain. Holt kicks 50 yards, which is returned by Weaver who made 5 yd. return. Voss goes thru line for 8 yds. Fore on end around lateral, from Brown loses 6 yds. but the play was called back, and the Home penalized 5 yds., off side. Voss made 3 yds thru center. Brown stopped at center for no gain. Fore punts which is killed by Jones.

Pass by Holt to Carter, for Home, incomplete. Holt on end run stopped, no gain; Holt loses, attempted pass; Holt punts 35 Weaver returning 25; Brown picks up 5 off L. tackle; Voss makes one thru center; Brown quick kicks 35 yds. out of bounds.

Carter stopped at line by Wallace; Holt punts 45 yds, ball killed by Fore; Voss makes 6 yds thru center; Brown goes over center for 1st down; Weaver makes 6 off tackle; Weaver is stopped by tackle, and on this play Home is off side, getting 5 yd. penalty. Fore to Gilbreath by air, nets 20 yds. Fore loses yard on long run as quarter ends. Count, 0-0.

Beginning 2nd quarter. Hinsley is substituted for Weaver, White for Blankenship, for the Hornets. Wilson for the Home was substituted for Heusden.

Resuming play, Voss makes 8 thru line; Hinsley to Jones, 20 yd pass nets 1 yd; Hinsley passes 30 yds., incomplete over goal; Brown loses 1 on lateral around end; Fore loses 8 on long end run; Hinsley passes to Gilbreath who completes after ball bounces off two Home men's fingers, making the touchdown. Hinsley fails on place kick. Hornets, 6, Home 0.

Hinsley kicks Brown holding. Holt for the Home returning 30 yds. Home gaining 3 thru line. Thomason attempting to pass was downed; Holt kicks 30 yds to Brown who is stopped by Murry for small gain;

Hinsley passing to Gilbreath over center nets 3 yds; Brown over guard nets 4 yds; Voss on delayed buck, fumbles, recovers, and nets 3 yds. and 1st down; Hinsley passes, intercepted by Thomason for Home; Holt fumbles, recovers and is stopped by Davis after 1yd. game; Holt makes 3 yds. off tackle Holt punts 40 yds out of bounds.

Hinsley passes to Brown for 9 yds.; Voss makes 1st down thru center; Voss off tackle makes 5; Hinsley passes toward Fore, incomplete; Brown quick-kicks, and ball is killed by Adams on Hornets 10 yd. mark. Fore on this play is slightly injured and is taken out, Gregory replacing him.

Home ball, Holt stopped with 1 yd. Holt kicks 35 to Brown who returns 10 yds. Hinsley attempting to pass loses 5; Voss makes five thru line; Brown makes 4 thru line; Brown kicks out on 20 yd. line. Holt stopped by Williams for 3 yd gain; On tripple pass, Home makes 40 yards Wallace making sensational shoestring catch after he stumbled; Home passes 6 yds. as half ends. Gatesville 6, Home 0.

SECOND HALF

Hinsley kicks Brown holding ball, to 10 yd line. Holt returning 15 yds; Holt loses 2 on left side of line; Holt gains 2 off tackle play. Holt fumbles. Thomason recovering, with 6 yd. loss. Holt punts 60 yds over Brown who was too close in, but returns 10 yds.

Voss thru center nets 3 yds. Voss makes 6 yds thru center; Gregory makes first down; Brown makes 4 on right tackle; Brown makes 4 but penalty called on Hornets, holding fifteen yd. penalty; Hinsley passes, knocked down by Thomason; Brown punts 30 yds to Holt who returned punt 60 yds. for touchdown. Holt kicks for additional point. Hornets 6, Home 7.

Holt kicks to Jones, who fumbles, ball being returned by Home; Pass attempted by Home incomplete, officials say intentional grounding. Ball goes to Hornets as penalty.

Brown makes 5 thru center; Voss fails to gain thru right side of line; Home penalized 15 yds. for piling on; Voss thru center gets 3; Hinsley passes lung pass to Gilbreath, incomplete; Brown makes 6 yds off right end; Murray slightly injured on play but stays in game; Voss makes 4 yds and 1st down; Voss makes one half yd. thru right side line, Voss makes 3 yds. thru center; Brown makes 1 off tackle; Hinsley fails on place kick; Brown holding.

Home's ball on 20; Holt stopped by Williams for one half yard; Holt punts over Brown to 20 yd. line; Brown returning to 10 yds; 60 yd. punt; Hinsley to Brown makes 4 yds. Home offside, 5 yd. penalty; Voss makes 8 yds. and 1st down; Voss makes 5 yds off left tackle; Brown at right end makes 5 and 1st down; Gregory makes 3 off right tackle; Gatesville offside yd. penalty; Hinsley passes, incomplete to Gilbreath, Hinsley passes to Gilbreath, getting 5 yds. third quarter ends. Home 7, Hornets, 6.

Hinsley passes to Gilbreath who was covered by two Home men, pass knocked down; Brown kicks 35 yds. and ball is killed by Hornets.

Holt takes ball out of bounds for 1 yd; Holt on trick play makes 1 yd, tackled by Williams, but play is ruled illegal and ball brought back; Holt punts 50 yds to Brown who returns 10; Hinsley passes to Brown for 8 yds. Brown passes 40 yds. to Gilbreath who catches sensationally on finger tips, taking the ball to the 3 yd. stripe; Voss makes 2 over center; Voss stopped at line; Voss goes over for touchdown; Hinsley fails thru left side for extra point Gatesville 12, Home 0.

Hinsley kicks to Pierce who returns 15 yds.; Pass Holt to Murry nets 8, pass knocked down by Wallace who broke thru line; Holt passes incomplete, when knocked down by Voss, who plunged thru center, ball goes over to Hornets.

Brown goes thru center for 7. Voss makes 2 yds off tackle. Brown plunged center for 1st down; Brown makes 1st down but Home get 15 yd. penalty for roughing; Substitutions, White for Blankenship, Ingram for Adams.

Voss made 7 off tackle; Voss made 2 thru line; Hornets penalized 15 yds for holding; Brown loses wind on next play, but stays in; Hinsley's pass blocked partially and recovered by Wallace; Hinsley attempts kick but fails.

Holt picks up 2 thru center; Holt passes to Pierce but Home offside; 5 yd penalty; Holt punts 55 to Brown who makes short return. Brown goes over left tackle for 2yds. Fore stopped by 3 men after making 6 yds. Voss made 5 yds. and 1st down; Holt taken out of game for roughing and Home gets 15 Holt; Brown makes 2 thru center; Voss thru left end makes 5 yds as game ends.

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.
