4-H Club Boys of Coryell Continue Winning Streak

4 H Club boys exhibiting livestock and cotton at the Brazos Valley Free Fair won their due share of prizes in competition with club and vocational boys this week. Elmo King of Plainview exhibited champion fat barrow of the show on a very choice Duroc he fed and bred himself. This barrow being a son of the sow which Elmo showed to championship last year. Elmo also had second prize Duroc gilt of the show. Travis Harper of Flat exhibited the first prize Duroc Gilt and the first prize Poland China Gilt. Russell Holt of Ewing community exhibited the third prize Duroc gilt. Johnnie Apel, Harold Koch, and Clovis King, Plainview 4-H Club members, each had entries in the show.

Robert Todd of Oglesby placed fourth on his heavy shorthorn calf. Wallace and Robert Williams of Jonesboro entered their Angus calves in the show.

Anson Bertrand, Purmela, Carl Cleveland Goodwin, Plainview and Carl Schenewolf, Plainview, had entries of twenty Cotton bolls each.

At the auction sale held Tuesday night the champion barrow was sold by Elmo King to Simon Brothers Market, Waco for 11 and one fourth cents per pound. Robert Todd received nine and three fourth cents per pound for his calf which went to Blue Bonnet Grocery and market in Waco. The other animals exhibited will be returned home.

Those vitally interested in the show and who attended the show suggest that it would be very practical and proper for a large number of Coryell County boys to feed and exhibit hogs, calves and lambs at the annual Waco show, and plans are under way to start this work immediately.

Acts, Features, Instrumentalists, Solos, Gags, Nov. 12

These are the possible acts that will be in store for the public, on November 12, when the Hornet Clubs' Amateur Night will be held at the City Auditorium.

Individual entries are certain to prove most interesting.

In this edition of the News, there is a coupon which can be filled out and left with City Secretary Eliand Lovejoy, or at his office.

In addition to the sponsorship of the Hornet Club, the Gatesville Chamber of Commerce directors have voted to give financial support, assuring the entrants of plenty to work for.

Entries are to be taken for so many of each class or kind of amateurs, so those who want to assure themselves of being entered should fill out the coupons and bring or mail them in. There is no entry fee, that's free!

Come on! Let's have a big show! You'll be surprised!

SALESMAN DODGES CLOD WHICH PASSES THRU CAR

Coryell, a veritable Ripley paradise, has another. E. M. Hall, traveling collector for P. F. Collier & Sons, publishers, had a curious experience in Coryell. Thereby hangs this tale:

Driving in to Gatesville from Evant a clod of dirt was thrown thru his front windshield, between he and his wife, and out the back, making a clean hole in each glass, but missed both occupants of the car. However, Mr. Hall had some small cuts on the side of his face, which was the only damage to the occupants. Now, Mr. Ripley, you tell one!

This man Ingram has made Coach Worley smile several times on defensive plays, and may show Adams up on offensive tonight.

The game has been called for 7:45 so you, and you and you had better get started early if you want to get a good seat.

Football Boys Complimented With Colorful Party

On Monday evening the C. H. Wallace home was the scene of one of the leveliest and most delightful forms of entertainment ever had in this city. The dinner and party was given by Mesdames C. H. Wallace and Ruth Davis as a compliment to the deserving football team and Coaches.

The home was colorfully and appropriately decorated throughout in hornet colors; cut flowers and tapers in the gold and black colors adorned the rooms. An added attraction was the placement of miniature and large pennants of all the opposing conference teams.

In the center of the dining room was the large table laid with a beautiful white cloth bordered in black. The table was an exact semblance of a football field; lines were marked off as to the proper yardage, and a Gatesville colored post was at one end of the table, and a Mart colored post was at the other end. Scattered along the table were gold and black candies, but coach Worley told the team how well he liked candy, and added: "No candy, boys—remember?" Favores for each plate were miniature footballs with G. H. S. printed on each. Place cards of black and gold which bore each Hornet's jersey number showed the guest their correct place at the table.

Before the plates were served "Alma Mater" was sung by the boys and invocation was given by Mr. Brooks. The following menu was selected for the guest: roast gravy, mexican style beans, stuffed potatoes, pickles, apple sauce, hot biscuits and butter, and gold salad. The hostesses were assisted in serving by Mesdames E. W. Brooks, Dave Culberson, Earl Worley, and Miss Vera Sams.

Mrs. Davis presided over many peppy games, each of which were relative to football. She showed each boy through the "grave yard" in which lay buried, Moody, M. E. Home Clifton and Valley Mills. Each tombstone bore suitable inscriptions composed by Ye Scribe Dave Culberson Jr. There was also an open grave and a bouquet of flowers from the Gatesville Hornets ready for Mart after the approaching Friday game. A poem, read by Mrs. Davis that had been composed by one of the Pep Squad members, Miss Martha Jean Pattillo, in which all of the members of the football team received mention and were called by their nicknames, was particularly outstanding during the enjoyable evening.

As a grand climax a football game was played by the boys on the dining table in which Gatesville justly beat Mart by a score of 24 and 8; the game was called by Coach Worley.

After they had said "Good-night", as an appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Wallace and their co-hostess, the boys congregated in front of the Wallace home and gave fifteen rabs for the Wallaces and fifteen rabs for Mrs. Davis.

The guest included the traveling squad, namely; Alvis Ingram, John Albert Lester, Neil Hinsley, Sidrey Gregory, Joe Reese Robinson, Jack Hearne, Byron Gilbreath, Bill Morgan, Zack Fore, James Weaver, C. H. Wallace, Cotton Davis, Jack Jackson, Fish Culberson, Bayne Blankenship, E. L. Taylor and Cub Postos. Those unable to attend were: Fuzz Voss, Glenn White, Roy Adams, Lester Williams, and John Frank Post. Special guests were: Supt. Brookes, Coaches Worley and Swartz, and the four efficient managers; Pat Bone, D. I. Campbell, Sticky Anderson and Billy Kirby.

Mrs. Winters' Party For Bridge Club

Mrs. S. B. Winters entertained at her home Friday afternoon with a Halloween bridge party honoring the Friday Contract Club. "And the goblins will getcha if you don't watch out" along with the witches, in tallies, score pads, table service, and prizes which were all in keeping with Halloween.

Mrs. Tommie Winters was favored with high club prize and Mrs. E. T. Brooks with high out prize.

Refreshments, consisting of pumpkin pie a-la-mode and coffee were served to club members: Mesdames Ben O. Grant, Elmer Brooks, Wade Sadler, E. T. Brooks, T. W. Winters, Wrasie Austin, and Miss Katherine Austin—Four County Press.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Coward and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pollard attended the Brazos Fair in Waco Wednesday evening.

Miss Johnny Carroll resumed her work in the Benson Beauty Shop Wednesday following an illness which confined her to her home several days.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. McCoy spent the week end in Waxahatchie with relatives. They were joined by Miss Francis McCoy, Student at S. M. U. Dallas.

WORLD COMMENT

THE ALTERNATIVE TO DISASTER

The continuation of the Republican Party as a factor in American politics is dependent not upon its traditional foe, the Democrats, but upon the future leaders of the G. O. P.

The insidious and devastating influence of the Old Guard leaders, who refused to relinquish the leadership after the 1932 debacle and in 1936 saw their party carry only two of forty-eight States, is still rampant in Republican councils. The alternative to complete collapse in 1938 and 1940 is a complete repudiation of the leaders who were in large part responsible for the 1929 economic collapse.

Former President Hoover has assumed the leadership of a movement designed to oust the oldsters and supplant them with young and vigorous leaders from the ranks of the young Republicans. Realizing that the negative opposition operation of the G. O. P. during the last five years has netted the party only defeats, Hoover is determined that the Republican party shall enter the general elections and in 1940 free for all with a positive program to these millions who oppose Rooseveltism.

In response to the great and growing demand for a vigorous minority party—a party which can present an alternative program to that of the new deal, Mr. Hoover suggests that a general conference of the grass roots Republicans be held at some centrally located city for the purpose of formulating a platform and choosing new leaders.

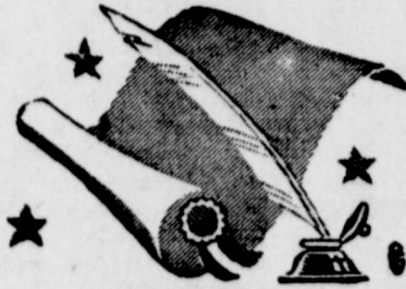

It has been estimated by reliable authorities of an independent character that Mr. Roosevelt has lost 2,000,000 supporters since January of this year, but will these dissenters support Republican candidates next year and will they vote for the Republican presidential nominee in 1940? As matters now stand, they could be expected to do neither.

For Republicanism has nothing to offer these 2,000,000 who come largely from the middle classes. While Alf Landon may be the titular leader and while Herbert Hoover may command a larger personal following than any other republican, the party is still controlled and dominated by the Eastern financiers and industrialists. Why is this true? Because the Eastern interests who ran the American government for 12 years from 1920 to 1932 control the purse strings of the party.

As Mr. Hoover realizes, by a simple act of repudiating these solons and depending for moral and financial support upon the middle classes, from whom the Republican Party must draw for votes in the future, can the Good Old Party make a comeback on the political scene. For millions, including the 17,000,000 who voted for Alf Landon last November and other millions who have since repudiated Roosevelt, are waiting for a new Republican Party to emerge as the logical contender to assume

SHIP OF STATE

WASHINGTON PARADE

Washington, D. C.— Little boys used to be told not to believe more than half of what they saw—and nothing that they heard. Pity the Washington Correspondent who is allowed to see very little and to hear — to much to sift — to weigh — to find the news that matters — in all the bagle to talk. Try it for yourself. For instance — they say: That the Supreme Court will never rule on the eligibility of Justice Black because if they once bar an appointee it would make the court for all practical purposes the arbiter of its own membership — and that would be the straw that would bring about a constitutional amendment curbing the whole federal judiciary.

They say: That Army and Navy heads as well as the state department men insist that Japan must be checked before she acquires the vast resources of China because then it will be futile for any one nation — meaning us — to oppose her.

And did you know: That American buyers canceled their orders for nearly all Japanese products which have to be stamped "made in Japan" but have the orders of raw silk of which we already buy 80 per cent.

They say: That all Italian and German training officers have been recalled from the Chinese armies by their Governments to emphasize the new Nazi-Fascist-Jap accord.

They say: That the threatened passage of an anti-lynching bill is a club held over the heads of the rebellious southern democrat bloc to force them into line on administration measures and that the bill could be passed if sentiment in the West and North was aroused.

They say: That beef on the hoof which will be graded "choice and good" is bringing the farmer seven and one-half cents a pound but the housewife is paying over 50c a pound and that — even discounting the waste — the profit to Somebody is three to four hundred per cent.

They say: That the reason bank deposits are low is because of heavy investments in industry and the reason the wall street stocks are low is because the heavy investments are not in the old line stocks but in brand new enterprises.

And did you know: That half of the margin accounts in the brokerage houses are inactive under the present law until the would-be financiers put up more margin.

They say: That the huge C. I. O. vote in Detroit primary was the factor that finally decided Father Coughlin to go off the air.

They say: That the late Ogden Mills, Mr. Hoover's Secretary of the Treasury, died from too strenuous physical training to keep himself fit to tackle the job of being President of the United States of America. . . Which job he confidently expected to fill come the year of our Lord 1940.

YOUR PILL AND POWDER MAN

Your pill and powder man, that little man that is behind the scenes in your favorite drug store. He works with a little scale, dusts a little powder here, a little pill here a two drops of some "dark" fluid there.

He is a shipping clerk. He obeys orders. He does what your doctor says, and no matter how nervous or worn out the doctor is, this little pill and powder man, MUST not make a mistake. It might mean your life. If the "Doc" fails to dot an i, or cross a t, it might mean your swan song, that is, if this man didn't know what he was mixing, and incidently, could nearly, or could tell, by the prescription, what it would do to you.

This man has untold and unsung responsibility. He has never been appreciated as a professional man, however, he is gaining professional appreciation, more and more.

We are talking about your pharmacist, and especially, since this is National Pharmacy Week. There's a man who does you a million favors, and you say, he's just a "Clerk", or even worse, "drug store cowboy", "Head soda-skeet" or something to that effect.

There's a man for you, who does things for YOU.

Little Miss Janice Baird who is three years old came all the way with her mother from the territory of Alaska. Her mother had to go to a sanitarium where she underwent a successful operation. Our Daily mail service on the mixed train of the Cotton Belt has been discontinued and certainly meets with our approval and should have been discontinued when the motor was taken off.

No regularity when this mixed train would arrive, but sometime during the day, and now we are getting the mail daily out of Dublin; arrives at nine and leaves at two o'clock by truck. This is the end of the line. We have no connection with the East Section; take us two days to get a letter from Levita, a distance of eight miles or Gatesville 17 miles. We hope this mail service will soon be adjusted and this mail line will continue on to Gatesville and give us the service that we deserve and we feel sure it will soon be regulated.

South American radio stations will observe a day of silence "in Homage to wireless."

DOCKING—AT NEW YORK

While tugs push and pull against the contrary forces of wind and tide, the Grace Line's "Santa Elena" moves out of the North River channel into her slip.

The guide lines have been picked up by the shore gang, and seamen let out the forward hawser which will be made fast to a pier cleat.

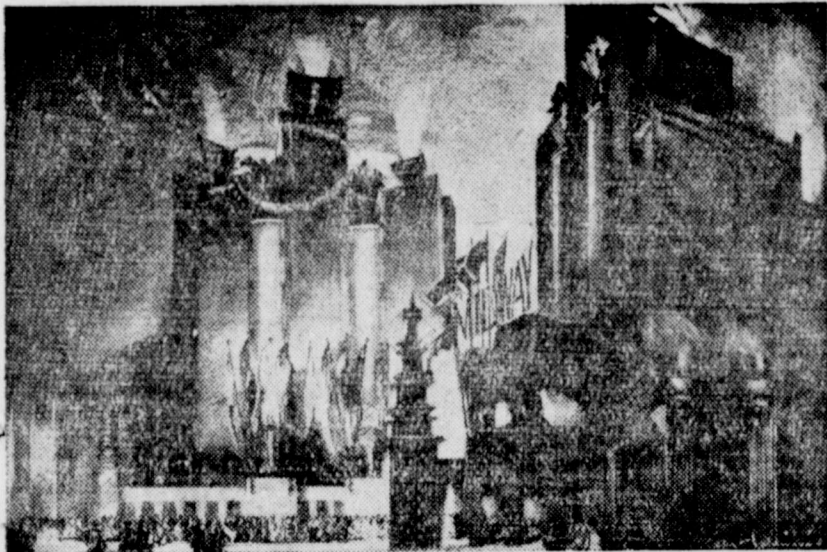

The port captain has ordered the hawsers taken in. Powerful winches haul in the slack edging the ship safely alongside the Grace Line pier.

The "Santa Elena" is docked; baggage is piled up on deck; and passengers wait impatiently for a first-hand look at New York.

Amazing as well as amusing, the Exposition's forty-acre Midway will be a sportive Pageant of the Pacific.

THE FAMILY VOTED FOR THIS ONE

Rose Hampton, Brilliant Young Metropolitan Opera Soprano, Gives Us This Grand, Homey Dish From Her Grandmother's Kitchen

SOUP, salad, meat, vegetables—a trip to the market checks off the list in a jiffy. But there's still the dessert problem. Grandpa wants pie. Junior won't have to be told to wash for dinner if he knows ice cream is in the offing. Pudding is Sister's favorite. And that's the way it goes. So here's a dessert that will bring smiles to every face in the family—Peach Batter Cake. It's so easy to make that even the person who cooks it gets a pleasant surprise when she lifts it from the oven, warm, fluffy, fragrant with its delicate fruit odor, appetizingly golden and peach. Try Peach Batter Cake this Saturday night for a week-end surprise.

Peach Batter Cake

- 7 or 8 medium-sized peaches
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1 cup water

Emergency Cake Foundation Method

Peel, stone and slice peaches. Arrange them in bottom of a well-buttered 8-inch square pan, at least 1 1/2 inches deep. Sprinkle with sugar; then add water. Bake or cook on top of stove until peaches are tender. Pour Emergency Cake batter over the hot peaches, and bake. When cake is done, turn pan upside down on serving plate. Serve hot or cold—with or without plain or whipped cream.

Emergency Cake Foundation

- 1 3/4 cups Cake Flour
- or 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 2 1/2 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 2/3 cup milk (not too cold)
- 1 egg
- 1 tsp. flavoring

Method

Sift flour once before measuring. Sift flour, sugar, salt and baking powder together. Measure softened shortening into cup and fill cup with the milk. Add these, with the unbeaten egg, to the flour mixture. Add flavoring, beat well for 2 to 3 minutes. Pour quickly over hot peaches and bake immediately.

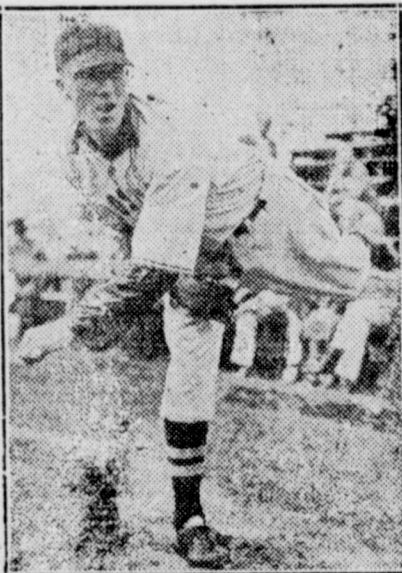

Bake 45 minutes in 350° F., moderate oven, in 8-inch square pan.

LEFTY GROVE GIVES DIET ITS DUE

Veteran Southpaw Says Breakfast Is Most Important Meal

NEW YORK, August 15.—Lefty Grove, veteran curve-ball artist of the Boston Red Sox, attributes his long career in the major leagues chiefly to diet, and he believes that good eating habits are the secret of the success of any star athlete.

"A good pitch," he says, "starts from the stomach." To set them down swinging—especially fellows

Acme

Robert M. "Lefty" Grove like Joe Di Maggio of the Yanks and Hank Greenberg of the Tigers—you've got to have everything. Your nerves and muscles have to work fast, and they won't unless you eat right.

"Ideas have changed a lot on what athletes should eat. In fact, most of the trainers I know have abandoned the old-fashioned training table entirely. The important thing is to follow the same sort of mixed diet a normal person uses who is engaged in strenuous muscular activity; and—this is important—watch the times of your meals.

"Personally, I think breakfast is the important meal. I mean a real man's breakfast with fruit, cereal, eggs, toast, bacon and anything you want. Fifty years ago they tell us athletes were permitted only two meals a day, breakfast at 8 A. M., and a second meal at either 2 or 5 P. M. But I always tell youngsters, whatever the number of meals they eat, to train to the habit of eating at regular times. Sometimes I miss a meal at 8 o'clock or night, but I've never missed breakfast—that's my champion meal."

the signs of government three years from now.

The accrued benefits to Republicans emanating from a grass roots conference, held at some large city like Chicago or Milwaukee or perhaps Des Moines, at which time the "little man" of moderate income could speak his mind of what he wants Republicanism to represent in the years ahead, can not be estimated in this current dark day for the Republicans.

But these things might be accomplished:

First, if the farmers and merchants of the Middle West and South and coastal regions are given control, a program of principles can be enunciated. The Republicans can take their stand—a definite and uncontroversial stand—on such subjects of Nation wide interests, as agricultural legislation, relief, the budget, national defense, the reform of the judiciary, taxes, the labor situation, to mention only a few.

Secondly, the candidates of next year's congressional sweepstakes can be assumed the promise of a vigorous backing by the national committee, which should be resuscitated and revitalized with new blood.

The differences of opinion between Landon and Hoover can and should be settled over a friendly conference table and they should jointly assume the leadership of the new Republicanism.

But one of the most important accomplishments which can accrue to Republicanism from a grass roots convention is this: an appeal can be made to those elements which have fallen away since 1928, the most prominent of which are the Borah followers, the Johnson supporters, and the Norris and La Follette backers.

The defection of these elements was one of the main causes for the decline and decadence of the Republican Party. And it was the senile leadership of the party which drove Borah and the others into an attitude of independence. By repudiating the Old Guard, these independents will have opened to them a political refuge from the terms of independence—a refuge far more enticing than is the new deal of today.

The Republicans must choose. For the sake of democracy, let us hope they choose the right course for democracy can continue to exist in America only by the maintenance of a vigorous minority opposition.
