BAPTISTS GET PIPE ORGAN DONATED BY THE MISSES BELL

Although the price of the new pipe organ for the First Baptist Church is a secret, the donors are Misses Kate and Molly Bell, who gave the organ as a memorial to the late J. R. Curtis and his son, Knox Curtis, World War Veteran for whom the Knox Curtis Post of the American Legion is named.

A Mr. Porter of Waco, who made the largest organ in Texas the one in Waco Hall, Baylor University, will build the organ, and according to reports, will have the organ installed by Easter.

There will be ten sets of pipes with 65 to 85 pipes to the set. The console of the organ will have two sets of keys on the key board, as well as the usual foot pedals or notes.

Dan E. Graves, member of the Board of Deacons of the First Baptist Church made the announcement of the donation at the Sunday morning service last Sunday.

Total outlay for the organ is not definite, but some say the cost will be around $7,000.

CAR RUNS INTO POSTS AT BRIDGE: THREE ARE INJURED

Three out of five were slightly injured at 8:30 Sunday night, when a light coupe driven by Roy Ingram crashed into the post guarding the end of a bridge near the new Weaver home on the road to the State Juvenile Training School.

Mrs. Ingram was most painfully injured, receiving a bad ankle sprain, according to reports. Her young son received cuts about the face from flying glass.

Mr. Ingram and the two other unknown occupants of the coupe were uninjured. Mrs. Ingram and her son were brought to the local hospital for treatment and examination.

HELEN GOOCH INJURED WHEN STRUCK BY CAR

Helen Gooch, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Gooch was painfully injured at 7:30 Monday morning, about 7 miles west of Gatesville on Hwy. 7 when as she was about to board a school bus, she was struck down by another car driven by Mr. Paxton.

The child was badly bruised receiving bruises and cuts on the left side of her face, her left hip and shoulder, and her right knee. She was taken after an examination by Dr. H. M. Haynes to the local hospital, where she is reported resting nicely.

The bus, driven by T. E. Cantrell was stopped at the time of the accident. Mrs. W. A. Johnson brought the child to Gatesville to the doctor.

GOLD MEDALS GIVEN TO 4-H BOYS BY STATE CLUB LEADER

Gold medals will be presented to the two members of the county winning team in the National 4-H Dairy Demonstration, which is sponsored by the Kraft-Phoenix Cheese Corporation, and those receiving these are Harold Diserens of Gatesville and Wallace Williams of Jonesboro.

Silver medals were also received for the second placing team made up of Robert Todd of Oglesby and F. M. Fullbright of Jonesboro.

The medals were sent by State Club Leaders L. L. Johnson sent them to County Agent Guy Powell.

The teams competed for the privilege of entering the state contest to select a winning pair to enter the national finals at the National Dairy Show in Columbus, Ohio, October 9 to 16. The State winners receive an all-expense trip to the show, and the National teams receive $2,000.00 in College Scholarships.

DOVE SEASON CONFLICT IS TABOO, ALLRED SIGNS BILL

Dove hunters in these parts can shift away now, as the governor of Texas has signed a bill fixing the open season from Sept. 15th to Nov. 15th, with the exception of the Panhandle district, which season opened Sept. 1st. The bill became effective at three o'clock Oct. 12th.

Here the State and Federal laws have conflicted, but now that the conflict has been removed, the open season is in coincidence. This season of course includes the list of counties that were closed under previous law. So shoot away boys, but don't get to many there's a limit.

This information comes to us from the Western Cartridge Company thru the Thomson Grocery Company, thanks to Mr. Cummings.

"GAS FROM CHURCH WELL" S' FACT: HAPPENED AT BEE HOUSE

"Gasoline in a well; well that's right! And, what's righter, it happened in a Church yard!

The Gasoline, so far has no trade name, but suggested, would be "Methodist" or "Christian" gas.

Said gasoline, comes from the yard of the First Methodist church of Bee House, where the gas is pumped out of the well after all the water has been pumped. So far, 30 gallons have come out of the well, a sample of the (naturally colored bronze gasoline is in our window.

G. O. Edwards of Bee House is the "umpire" on the "tower" and Efton Carroll of Gatesville brought us the sample.

C. of C. Highway Committee Went to See State Commission

H. K. Jackson, member of the local C. of C. Hwy committee and Judge Floyd Ziegler appeared before the State Highway Commission Tuesday of last week in the interest of both hwy. 7 and 36, the commission virtually promises that a contract would be let on 7 west of Gatesville in November, and that the paving of the highway from Oglesby to South Bosque would be under contract within the same time, and that the paving from Gatesville to Oglesby would be done in short order.

Wednesday's Temple Telegram stated that members of the Commission unanimously agreed to restore the designation to hwy. 36 from Temple to Gatesville and expressed their desire to see the road built to fill the gap now existing in 36.

"COME ON, BUT HURRY" WARNING TO COUNTY AMATEURS

If you AM-A TOOR, and want to get in on the Hornet Club Amateur Nits which comes off November 12, 1937, boy! girl or group, you'd better hurry, according to the info we get from City Hallward.

They tell me, that it looks like Mardi Gras, the way those applications for a "spot" on this program is coming. It's literally a confetti barrage.

One more little piece of paper won't be amiss, or amister, that is if you get busy.

Furthermore, the Hornet's Club is going to ante-up $25 for the first, $15 for the second and a ten-spot for the third, as the out-of-town judges judge 'em. It's fun and finance!

"A MODERN ARABIAN NIGHT" THIS A. M. AT 8:45 AT GYM

If you read this at breakfast, you've still at time to make this show at the high school gym, this a. m. at 8:45, the Loring Campbell Company in "A Modern Arabian Night" billed as Magic, Mystery and Mirth, with Novelty Entertainment.

It's a part of, we think, a series of entertainments sent out by The Southern School Assembly Forum of Dallas. A small admission charge will be made, since it is under the auspices of the school.

We hope your breakfast isn't too late, ours is.

STOUT'S CLEANERS OPENS WITH EXPERT TAILOR AND PLANT

W. M. Lemons and Miss Bertha Lemmons of Hamilton were visitors in the Walter Stewart home Sunday.

Earl Heath Attends Gas Managers' Meet In Dallas Last Week

Earl Heath local manager of the Lone Star Gas Company subsidiary, the Community Natural Gas Company last week attended a gas company manager's meeting in Dallas, at which meeting there were more than 400 managers, foremen and officials present.

According to Mr. Heath, who attended the meeting methods of assisting consumers to reduce their gas bills by teaching them to avoid waste operation of domestic appliances were studied.

Overheating during winter months, improperly adjusted and inefficient appliances, use of ovens to heat kitchens, failure to cut off appliances when the weather suddenly turns warm, unnecessary use of hot water faucets, and huddling in one or two rooms were discussed as some of the wasteful practices which cause consumers to use more gas than necessary.

"While the company is in business to sell gas, it does not consider wasteful practices by consumers profitable business and every effort is made to assist customers in using only the amount of gas necessary for proper comfort and convenience" he said.

In correct heating during winter months is not only responsible for some high bills, but it also is conducive to colds with resultant loss of time from the job as well as remedial costs, it was pointed out at the meeting.

"Odorizing gas has been an additional cost to the gas company, but if it proves beneficial to the consumer from the standpoint of avoiding accidents and aids in reducing bills by quick detection of leaks, the company will consider the added expenditure well spent," the manager said. "This is just one of numerous aids which modern natural gas service of Lone Star Gas System offers consumers in an attempt to help them get the most for their gas dollar"

Invisible "black light" acting on fluorescent paint will impart new wealth of color to architectural features of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

WORLD COMMENT

Joe Burns

Since the advent of the Italian, German and Russian dictatorships, much speculation has arisen as to what will take place in these states when the head of the government passes away. Like all revolutionary movements, the Fascist and Communist experiments are inspired largely by one man, and considerable doubt exists as to the ability of lesser lieutenants to carry on without the inspiring leadership of the original mentor.

The coalition of liberal forces which coalesced around the personage of Mr. Roosevelt in 1932 and has continued in his support finds itself in much the same predicament as the European dictatorships. While the question in this country is not how long Mr. Roosevelt will live and thus perpetuate his movements, but in finding a suitable leader to carry on the new deal principles after the presumed retirement of Mr. Roosevelt in January of 1941.

Mr. Roosevelt in his first campaign for the presidency espoused certain vague although at the time apparently well-defined principles which attracted to his standard millions of followers among all classes of people. He has fairly consistently attempted to fulfill his own promises, particularly as regards social reform. As these principals constitute Mr. Roosevelt's personal convictions and not necessarily convictions of his party, there is the great danger of the next executive abandoning many of the favored objectives of the present national administration.

Recognition of this possibility, coupled with the fear that the Republicans might nominate a candidate sufficiently potent enough to down any new Democratic nominee, has caused some of the most fervent and less realistic of the new dealers to suggest that Mr. Roosevelt carry the Democratic standard for a third time in 1940.

It may not be said that this suggestion has been well received or that the third term possibility offers a logical outlet for the new deal coalition's dilemma. Rather the new dealers are confronted with the same problem as are the Fascist and Communist dictatorships in Italy, Germany, Poland and Russia and other states of Europe: what will happen to the objectives of the contemporary governments when the leaders pass away?

After considerable reflection upon what lies ahead after 1941, the new dealers have rather sorrowfully turned to the selection of a suitable nominee to again lead the party to victory in 1940. As yet there is no definite buildup for any one individual and there will be none until after the results of the 1938 elections are known, for in the results of those elections may be continued the name of some new governor, senator or congressman who will evolve into the ideal candidate to succeed our estimable Mr. Roosevelt.

While our equally estimable Mr. Vandenberg is envying himself as the 1940 messiah of the Republicans, the every move of prominent Democratic administrators, senators, cabinet members, and governors is being closely watched by political quidnuncs for the first sign which may indicate who is to get the call of the Roosevelt forces and who is to be the favored one of the anti-new deal conservatives.

Reports from Washington strongly hint that the fair-haired Henry Wallace is basking in the favor of the chief executive at the present, but we have seen opinions at the White House change so often in the last five years that Mr. Wallace is not yet within riding distance of the nomination.

Paul McNutt, the ex-Illinois state Governor, is striving to make for himself in the far-away Philippine Islands and finds himself bested in his every encounter with the wily native President, Manuel Quezon. Mr. McNutt will be back in a couple of years. He is one who apparently endorses the new deal program in its entirety.

Jim Farley seems to have removed himself from the political scene by announcing his retirement from the Postoffice Department, and his acceptance of a high salaried position with an automobile concern Farley had for some time been regarded as the Democratic nominee for governor of New York next year and a possible successor to the President three years later.

Out in Michigan Frank Murphy is quietly pursuing his duties as governor of the industrial state. Murphy is regarded as one of the Democracy's brightest hopes for 1940 combining in his tireless personage the qualities of patience, tact, eloquence, and political acumen. He is one Democratic office holder who may not be watched.

The most active candidate for the 1940 honor is Pennsylvania's ebullient governor George Earle, multimillionaire scion of a wealthy Republican family who came from the obscure Austrian ministership to become the Quaker State's first Democrat executive since Civil War times. Earle poses as the friend of labor and shares with Pennsylvania's millionaire Senator Joe Guffey control of one of the nations most potent political machines.

The Democrats have some promising material from which to draw the 1940 team, but they are in the position of a football coach who has to choose his field general from among his sophomore players. While the and Murphys and McNutts contain much promise as prospective leaders, they are freshmen compared with the present head of the party.

Mrs. G. L. Polk left Friday to spend the week end with her daughter in Clifton.

Miss Ruth Hamilton of Waco spent the week end at home.

Mrs. C. C. Curry was guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ford and Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Curry last week.

Mrs. A. D. Edmondson and children, and Miss Bettye Jean Rutherford were in Waco Thursday.

Among those who attended the Brazos Fair in Waco Saturday were: Mr. and Mrs. H. M. King, Mrs. Owen King and Lois and son Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Brazzil and little daughter, Mrs. Eric McCutcheon and Wilson Brazzil were Brazos Fair visitors in Waco Friday.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD MIRROR PICTURES

HAVE you ever taken mirror pictures; that is, for example, a picture of sister or the "girl friend" standing in front of a mirror perhaps "dolling up" a bit or maybe just admiring herself?

It is the unusual that attracts attention but it is necessary to use your eyes and a little imagination and ingenuity to ferret out the exceptional and get pictures that show individuality.

When making mirror pictures and focusing for reflected images only, it is necessary to add the distance from the mirror to the subject, to the distance from the mirror to the lens of the camera and then set the focus accordingly.

If it is desired to include the subject in the picture with the reflected image the focus should be set for the distance from the mirror to the lens. The smaller the lens opening the greater the depth of field and the sharper will be both images. Of course, the nearer the subject is to the mirror the less is required in the matter of "depth".

Let us suppose that sister Mary is two feet and the camera six feet from the mirror. If you want to include sister, as well as her reflected image, in the picture, set the focus at six feet. If you want only the reflected image in the picture, you set the focus at eight feet. A photoflash lamp simplifies your exposure problem and permits a small enough lens opening to gain a sufficient range of sharpness.

After locating your subject in the finder and setting the focus of your camera at the proper distance, set the shutter for "time", place a photoflash bulb in an ordinary floor lamp within reaching distance from the camera, tilting the shade slightly upward and toward the subject. If you cannot tilt the shade, remove it from the lamp. It is best not to have any bright lights burning near the lens of the camera. Set your lens opening according to the table on the photoflash lamp container. Take your position at the camera, press the cable release to open your shutter and immediately turn on the photoflash and then quickly close the shutter—and the picture has been taken. Simple, isn't it? For this type of picture a No. 10 photoflash bulb will furnish enough light.

In amateur photography, experimenting becomes the spice of life and you will be surprised at the interesting effects you will get in working out "stunt" pictures on gloomy, rainy days when outdoor activities are taboo. Results, in some instances, may be rather grotesque but you will have a lot of inexpensive amusement and pictures that show individuality. Anyone can take the ordinary run of pictures but it requires a little ingenuity to get the unusual. That is what you should "shoot" for, and the resulting pictures will be far more interesting than ordinary record pictures and breathe life itself into your photograph album.

JUDGES PEOPLE BY PUNCTUALITY

Plane Dispatcher Says Women More Often on Time Than Men

WITHIN sight of New York skyscrapers, fifty destitute men and women farm swamp land for a living—the strangest shanty town in the world! Their houses, averaging six by four feet, are made of old lumber, tar-paper, cast-off bits of sheet iron. They live without modern conveniences. Time is not important. If they keep track of time at all, it is by the ships of the "Great Silver Fleet" that pass overhead once an hour.

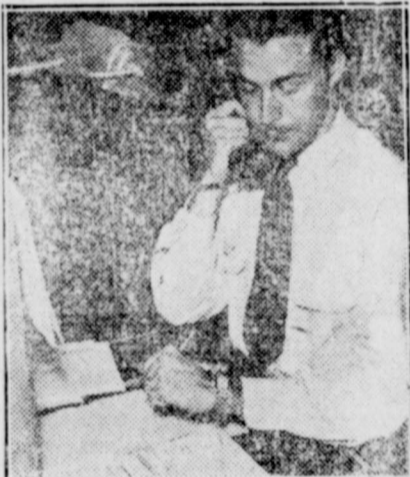

Two hundred feet away, in the headquarters of the "Great Silver Fleet" at the Newark airport, time is so important that they tell it by the most accurate watch in the world!

According to Gerald Ritchie, plane dispatcher of the Eastern Air Lines, his Hamilton does more than assure the matching of a plane's departure to the hour; it has proved to be the key to some interesting sidelights on human nature.

"You can get a surprising grasp of the idiosyncrasies of whole groups of people by studying their punctuality habits," says Mr. Ritchie.

"Men are more apt to be late than women, because they travel lighter. Actors of both sexes, who usually carry a lot of baggage, generally allow themselves enough time to take care of it. Yet you might think that actors, being temperamental, would turn up any time they pleased and then feel abused if the plane had gone off without them."

Mr. Ritchie explains that though

Studies Punctuality Habits

It is not customary to hold up a mail plane, passenger traffic can be held up, especially in the case of planes leaving on long hops. If a passenger has been unavoidably delayed in making the airport.

"Young people are more apt to be last-minute arrivals than older people," he says. "In fact, we've had some elderly people who are so mistrustful of ultra-modern travel that they come twelve hours early and wait until ship time."

"You might think school teachers would be on time, but no—they are the worst offenders of all. I guess that's because school teachers have a habit of getting their own way. Oddly enough, our youngest passenger, a gentleman about three weeks old, arrived in plenty of time to enjoy a leisurely bottle before the take-off. Our oldest passenger, a woman of 99, caught the plane for her initial trip by air just in the nick of time. And we have one consistently late arrival—an official of one of the biggest airlines in the world. So even time is a prophet without honor in his own country!"

Miss Pauline Martin Honored on Tenth Birthday

Last Friday evening Mrs. Paul Martin honored her attractive daughter with a delightful 6:00 dinner on her tenth birthday.

The Halloween motif was carried out in the decorations, the table being laid with a Halloween cloth. In the center of the table was the lovely cake; tall yellow tapers burning in black candleabra made the table even more attractive. For the main course Mrs. Martin served to the children, cream potatoes, peas, rosettes, peach salad, cream peas, olives, potato chips and Orange punch. After cutting the cake they enjoyed the cake with orange fluff.

After dinner the guest and honoree attended the movie at a local theatre.

There were eleven friends enjoying the courtesy with Pauline, they were: Misses Hallie Joe Jackson, Joan Baily, Martha Claire Brown, Suzanne and Janet Sadler, Peggy Wollard, Beverly Barber, Grace Wiegand, Elizabeth Ann Ricketts, Patty Ruth Stewart, and Charlie Bob Morris.

SIGMA TAU DELTA COMPLETE PLANS IN LECTURE SLATE

From Baylor university comes the announcement that the Sigma Tau Delta will, after all, present its lecture course. Last spring an announcement went forth from the university stating that a number of attractions would be given under the direction of the Sigma Tau Delta, the foremost of which was Miss Amelia Earhart. Due to the fact that so important an attraction was canceled in the loss of Miss Earhart, it was thought best not to give the course, but the program has now been completed.

Hampden Is First

Walter Hampden has been here three times previously with his company. On Oct. 27, Hampden will give interpretations from his famous roles in Caponsacchi, Cyrano de Bergerac, and Hamlet. In Caponsacchi Mr. Hampden received the gold medal for his play as the outstanding play of high merit on Broadway during the first year of its presentation. Cyrano he has played all of his life, having made his first appearance in Paris under the most famous of all Cyranos.

The second attraction comes Nov. 16. Lord Marley, known as the whip of the house of lords, will speak on a subject of outstanding interest. The possibility is either of his two new lectures which he is giving for the first time this year. One is "The Danger of War," the other, is the "Changing English Empire".

The third attraction on Dec. 15 will be Will Durant, who comes again after having made such a satisfactory appearance in Waco last year.

Three After Christmas

After Christmas there will be three of the most outstanding of the attractions. William Lyon Phelps of Yale, who has written, lectured and spoken over the radio so much that his name is almost a household word, will speak on March 22.

John Erskine is a man of outstanding merit who has lectured all over America many times. He is predominantly a humorist of a subtle and appealing nature. Of all the speakers who have been here John Erskine won the audience more graciously than any other.

The last attraction will be Miss Helen Hayes in Victoria Regina. Praise in the American press has been high for the work that Miss Hayes has done. The play was done so realistically that when the exqueen of Spain was in New York to visit her son she went incognito to see the play. After it was over she asked to see Miss Hayes and told her she was so much like "grandma" that it was uncanny.

Tickets for the entire course will go on sale at Dr. Armstrong's office next Wednesday at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Young Texan on Broadway

Recognition came to a young Texas actress recently when Miss Gladene Parr of Waelder was chosen from among 300 applicants for a role in the latest production of the Theater Guild of New York. The play, "Madame Bovary," opened in Washington and then in New York. Miss Parr is a graduate of the Speech department of the Texas State College for Women, and won a prominent role in "Cavalade" last summer. While a student in Denton she was named the most beautiful girl and the most outstanding dramatic student on the campus.

GULF STATES EMPLOYEES AWARDED MEDALS IN SAFETY CAMPAIGN

District Manager Joe N. Hopper and Local Manager Bill Bamberg have received a bronze medal awarded the drivers of motor vehicles belonging to Gulf States Telephone Company by its Insurance Carrier for having completed a year's operation, ending September 15, 1937 without a single accident or a traffic law violation. This Safe Drivers Club was organized in co-operation with state and local authorities in reducing the terrific toll of traffic accidents. During the year period 24 employees operating 19 automobiles and trucks, making up the Company's fleet, traveled a total of 210,800 miles, or an average of 11,000 for each motor vehicle, without accident or violation of traffic laws. As suitable testimony of this record, each driver is being presented with a bronze emblem.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

SOME people have more troubles than others. And still, the guys with the longest faces ain't always the ones with the most troubles.

A fellow was going along home one night, and his face was purple. He fainted in front of a grocery store, and they threw water on him till he woke up.

"Sall right," he says. I just fainted because my collar is so tight. It nearly chokes me all the time, you know."
"But why don't you get a big enough collar?"
"Well, I got a lot of trouble. My wife left me, and my car won't run and the radio is on the blink. The only pleasure I got in life is when I go home at night and take off my tight collar."

LEON JUNCTION

The farmers of this community are just about thru picking cotton. The good rains we had last week has brought up the grain that was already sown and made season for the grain which is to be sown. A good many people are busy gathering pecans, and the weather report, that it was going to frost, started people to digging potatoes and picking tomatoes.

Mrs. W. R. Cavitt and her mother Mrs. Friend, of Oglesby was in Leon Junction Wednesday. Buddy Whigham and E. L. Gilbreath went to Waco Friday on business, and went in to Mart and attended the football game between Mart and Gatesville.

Joe and Henry Farrar went to Gatesville Thursday on business.

R. D. Cummings of Leon Junction was in Gatesville Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. A. and family of Oglesby visited relatives in Leon Junction Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Price visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cohagan Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Brumbalow of Mound visited friends and relatives here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wesson and Mrs. Wesson's father, Charlie Hupy all of Dallas visited Tom Gilbreath and his mother Saturday and Sunday.

Bush Kearney and family visited their daughter, Mrs. Beatrice Davis of Georgetown Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Farrar entertained with a domino party Saturday night; those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wesson of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Bedford Gilbreath, Tom Gilbreath, and Miss Minnie Farrar.

Earl Odum was in Gatesville Thursday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cohagan are the proud parents of an 8 and one half pound boy who arrived Sunday evening. He was given the name of Harold Gene.

The basket ball team of our school went to Mound Friday afternoon, and defeated the Mound boys and girls in two very interesting games.

Miss Hazel Walters of Davidson visited relatives here Saturday night and Sunday.

CEN-TEX 4-H CLUB BOYS ARE RAISING GOOD QUALITY HOGS

Central Texas 4-H club boys know the advantages of spending their time and energy toward raising good quality hogs in their demonstration work, as shown, in a recent release from the Texas Extension Service. A number of Coryell county 4-H club boys purchased and used registered sow pigs in their 1936 demonstrations.

These gilts were developed into excellent sows and bred to good quality registered boars so that this year's litters would be the type and quality required by buyers of breeding stock. Alton and Elton Quicksall have sold all of their two litters of poland chinas, two pigs going to other Coryell county 4-H club boys. Elmo King sold three pigs from his durce litter of five. Clovis King sold five of his nine durce pigs, and Travis Harper sold two from his excellent litter of hampshires. He also sold pigs from another litter of hampshires which he raised this year.

SCOUTS MEET NOW IN "PLAY ROOM" OF JR. HL

According to the Scoutmaster J. M. Witcher, local scouts are now meeting in the "Play Room" of the New Jr. High School, and will hold their next meeting there Tuesday night of next week.

With Scoutmaster Sidney Pruitt assisting the boys play, and then holding their Scout business meeting. The room has been equipped with lights and wrestling mats.

ARA MAE BLACK OF EWING HAS PAYING GARDEN

Gardens that have paid well for farm women and 4-H club girls in Central Texas, and Ara Mae Black demonstrator for the Ewing 4-H club in Coryell county, states that the cash value of her garden is about $100. She has canned 6 quarts of tomatoes, 18 quarts berries, 73 quarts cucumbers, 21 quarts tendergreens, 12 and one half quarts turnips, 15 quarts mustard, and 29 quarts peas.

The World's Fair at San Francisco will open on February 18, 1939.

BILL'S CARDINAL CHIRPS

The Ireland High School "red birds" took two games from the Turnersville basketeers last Friday night. The Ireland High lasses elegantly dressed in bright red uniforms took the curtain raiser from the Turnersville girls 21-14. The Turnersville girls stayed on even terms with the Ireland girls for three quarters.

Rena Mae Dickenson was high scorer sinking four field goals and two gratis shots for a grand total of 10 points. Gracie Rogers tossed three field goals that were beauties. Rena and Gracie turned in a fine floor game making it difficult for the Turnersville guards to stay with them. Stell Huckabee also turned in a good game scoring five points.

The Ireland guards namely Anderson, Fisher and Squires stuck to Turnersville forwards like leeches. Murry, Russell and Bunnell were also sent into the game by coach Dickenson.

Coach Dickenson's crimson clad Cardinals defeated the Turnersville boys by a score of 18-11. The "Cards" led by Russell, J. Limmer and Lee gave the Turnersville boys plenty to think about. Long, lanky J. Limmer was high scorer making three field goals and one gratis shot for a total of 7 points.

Bewitch Your Guests WITH HALLOWEEN SURPRISES

By BETTY BARCLAY

Hallowe'en is party time and party time calls for unusual dishes. A new dish or two, with a new game or two, will always please — when food and games are as good as the ones below. Try them if you think I am boasting:

Limas and Bacon
2 cups cooked, dried Limas
4 to 6 slices bacon
3 to 4 eggs
1/2 cup milk
Salt
Pepper

Fry bacon a delicate brown. Remove strips and cut in small pieces. Beat eggs slightly, add milk, Limas, bacon and seasoning. Return to pan and cook in bacon fat, stirring until set.

Spaghetti with Tomato-Cheese Sauce
(A Favorite, Italian Recipe)

1/2 lb. spaghetti
1 can tomatoes (whole-packed) or tomato paste
1 onion (sliced)
1 cup butter
1 cup grated cheese
Pepper and salt
Cook onion with tomatoes 15 minutes. Rub through a strainer or sieve. (If tomato paste is used, dilute with half as much water). Melt butter. Add seasoning, the onion-tomato sauce and grated cheese. Cook slowly until cheese is melted, stirring constantly. Boil spaghetti in plenty of salted water until tender. (Use only high quality spaghetti, nutritious and economical). Drain. Place drained spaghetti on platter. Pour the sauce over it and sprinkle additional cheese over all, if desired.

NOTE: Macaroni, egg noodles, sea shells or any other form of macaroni products may be substituted for spaghetti in this recipe.

Hallowe'en Orange Whip
Dissolve 1 package orange-flavored gelatin in 1 pint hot water. Pour 1/2 in. mold and chill. Chill remaining gelatin mixture until cold and syrupy. Place in bowl of ice and beat with rotary egg beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream. Pour over firm gelatin in mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with gelatin cubes, cut from additional firm gelatin, and mint. Serves 6. For large mold, double recipe.

Good Spirit's Punch
(Watch the Ghosts Vanish)
2 cups hot tea
2 cups sugar
1 cup lemon juice
2 cups orange juice
2 cups cider
7 cups boiling water
24 marshmallows

Prepare the tea by pouring 2 cups of boiling water over 4 teaspoons of tea. Let stand from 3 to 5 minutes. Strain, add the sugar and stir until dissolved. Keep hot while bringing the fruit juices and cider just to the boiling point — do not boil. Combine tea, hot juices and boiling water. Serve at once while hot.

On each cup of punch, float a ghost. These ghosts are marshmallows, on which goblin faces have been drawn with a toothpick dipped in red food coloring or melted chocolate. The ghost will vanish as all good spooks should. This punch without the marshmallow ghosts is a delicious and healthful beverage for serving at any cold-weather entertainment.

Recipes for Party Success

S. S. Van Dine's Philo Vance Detective game is the latest craze in parlor sport: the board shows a house where the crime was committed and you try to find the culprit with the help of clue cards, a list of suspects, a jury panel and Philo. Criminologist Roy Post's "Jury Box" is another game favorite that turns your guests into jurors and provides them with clues and photographs necessary for solving a series of crimes, and don't forget Monopoly that exciting real estate trading game that always provides pure fun.

HUGE CROWD SEES GATESVILLE LOSE THRILLER TO MART

Before an estimated crowd of 2500 eager football fans, the GHS. Hornets lost to Mart Fri. nite by a score of 20-12.

Mart started a fierce attack in the first few minutes of the game and never let up one minute throughout the entire struggle. Never daring to give Gatesville a single chance for a break, Rogers and Beavers, outstanding backs for the Panthers, continuously penetrated the Hornet line for large gains. The Gatesville linemen were successful in stopping most of the plays however, and only on a few occasions did the Mart boys get by Wallace and Brown, sensational players for Gatesville.

Rogers, quarterback for Mart did outstanding ball carrying throughout the game, shifting, sidestepping and shaking off his foes. We believe he is even better than his brother who plays an important position for the Texas Aggies.

Hinsley's passes were accurate most of the time, and proved to be good enough to account for the two touchdowns that Gatesville made. Gilbreath played a very good game both defensively and offensively, snatching some beautiful long passes from the hand of Hinsley.

Both Gatesville and Mart displayed very beautifully, their band and pep squad between the halves. The baton wielder of Mart

Band cut-up plenty with his prancing and tossing of the burning torch.

STATISTICS

Gatesville: Attempted 23 passes, 11 were complete, 3 intercepted, 9 were incomplete. Punted 4 times for 175 yds. Made 11 first downs, drew 2 penalties, 1 for holding, 1 for offside, netting 20 yds. Mart: Attempted 12 passes, 3 were complete, 1 intercepted, 8 were incomplete. Punted 2 times netting 55 yds. Made 17 first downs, drew 3 penalties, 3 for offside, netting 15 yards.

Officials were: Strickland, Baylor, Umpire; Carpenter, Referee, T. C. U.; Naylor, Baylor, Head linesman.

LAST RITES FOR MRS. E. C. TABOR

Loved ones and friends at Bee House and surrounding country were deeply saddened when they learned of the death of Mrs. E. C. Tabor, who passed away at her home in Bee House, October 13th. Her death was not wholly unexpected as she had been bedfast two years. She was never heard to complain or speak of her condition or her sufferings. During her illness everything that loving hearts and tender hands could do was done to relieve her suffering and make her comfortable.

The funeral services were held at the Methodist Church Thursday morning at 10:30 by Rev. Ben Reynolds and Rev. J. S. Baker. The tributes paid were in words that comforted the grief stricken relatives and friends. Interment was in the Bee House Cemetery with the following pall bearers: Buster and Roy Kinsey, E. T. and Kenneth Connor, Clarence and Spurgeon Lovell.

Miss Sarah Jane Kinsey was born in Sugar Land, February 27, 1867; she was converted and joined the Methodist Protestant church at the age of fifteen, she had always lived a devoted Christian life. In 1899 she was married to E. C. Tabor, to this union was born four children, all living except James Henry, who died in infancy. She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Miles Harris, and Mrs. Gerry Edwards one son Turner; fourteen grandchildren, two brothers, and three sisters.

Another saint had to leave us. On earth we'll see her no more. But some sweet day we hope to meet her.

On Canaan's fair and peaceful shore
It fills our heart with pain and sorrow
To part with those we love so well
But when we meet up yonder
We'll hear no more farewell
We too some day shall hear the summons.
Some day we too must cross the tide
Won't that be a happy meeting
When we reach the other side?

DRESS UP YOUR MEAL WITH BISCUITS

Good Way to Whip Old Man Monotony

By Betty Crocker

If you plan meals three times a day, week in and week out, you're probably well acquainted with that bugbear of all good cooks, "Old Man Monotony." Well, there's an easy way to whip "Old Man Monotony"—an old-fashioned way stolen from Grandma's table, heaped with its wonderful array of tempting dishes—hot biscuits!

It used to be that fluffy, golden-brown biscuits were a sort of prerogative of experienced cooks. But today, with specially prepared biscuit flour, even the newest bride can surprise her husband with a plate of biscuits. And how men love them—especially if the jam or the honey pot is already on the table.

Variety in meats is costly, vegetables are mostly limited to what's in season, fruits and simple jellies and puddings are standby desserts, but you can always count on hot biscuits to pull your weekly menus right out of the red.

Extension Specialist in Family Life, the following list of books was recommended:

Meigs, Invincible Louisa; Ewold, My Little Boy; Canfield, Understood Betsy; Aldrich, A Lantern in Her Hand; Aldrich, White Bird Flying; Anon, Log Cabin Lady; Cather, My Antonia; Crockett, A Goodly Heritage; Deeping, Sorrell and Son; Curie, Pierre Curie; Myers, Learning to be Likeable; Starrett, The Charm of a Well Mannered Home; Beaven, The Art of Living Together; Groves, Wholesome Marriage; Wile and Winn, Marriage in the Modern Manner; Haskins, Tides of Life; Suckow, The Family; Walpole, Jeremy;

Extension Service, Bonzeman, Montana, Everyday Courtesies for 4-H Club Members; Bishop, Roosevelt's Letters to his children; Trotsky, My Life;

In further realization that homemaking is the most important profession and assist in definite profitable use of time in the home these readings are suggested.

FROM THE COUNTY AGR'L AGENT

TO ALL PERSONS INTERESTED IN C. C. C. COTTON LOANS:

This office has just received following information from Mr. E. N. Holmgreen, administrative officer in charge at College Station.

"A landlord by waiving his lien in order that a tenant may place his share of cotton produced in 1937 under the Commodity Credit Corporation loan will not be bound to comply with the 1938 agricultural adjustment program unless he also enters into a loan agreement. Such tenants entering into the loan agreement and failing to participate in the 1938 program will be liable for any deficiency between the amount of the loan plus charges and the amount realized on the cotton which may be sold under terms of the loan.

Insofar as the 1937 cotton loans are concerned, the provisions that a holder of the note may declare immediately due and payable upon the failure of the producer-borrower to participate in a program offered to cotton producers with respect to the production and marketing of the 1938 cotton crop, is operative only in the event the person obtaining the loan in farming in 1938."

Straight from Paris comes the news that several famous designers are featuring nightgowns in elegant colors such as cyclamen, red plum, emerald green and blue. Many of them are in chiffon with empire waists and entirely pleated skirts and shirt-maker touches.

The Housecoat vaude that went riot this year continues in a new vein. All of them, now available in flannel, satin, grass grain and velvet, have that same suave hip line, tiny waist and full skirt. Zippers are ever present.

In an even frillier line there are such foolish but flattering numbers as the little waist length marilyn jacket held together at the neckline with a jeweled clip, and prettily guaranteed to make convalescents draw out their illness. These come in peach, apricot, shell and other pastel tints.

Washable velvet is used for bedspreads of all sorts, ranging from conservative bits to artistic creations. Girls at Texas State College for Women are crowing over the fact that one can wash this new

Samuel Goldwyn PRESENTS DEAD END
The play that thrilled the nation becomes an even greater film, starring SYLVIA SIDNEY and JOEL McCREA, with Humphrey Bogart... Released through United Artists...

Fictionized by VIRGINIA WARREN HASTINGS

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
Dead End is a street fronting the river on New York's East Side, where the dingy tenements of the poor rub elbows with a luxurious apartment house of the very rich. A group of tough, dirty street urchins make the wharf their playground, the beggaried river their swimming hole. Tommy Gordon is their leader. Drina, Tommy's older sister, has spent her young life struggling to rescue him from the sordid neighborhood. She is in love with Dave Connell, an unemployed architect. Dave, however, thinks he loves Kay Burton, a rich man's darling. Two strange men wander into Dead End. Dave recognizes one.

Chapter Two

Dave watched the shadow of fear that flickered across Martin's face when he realized that Dave had recognized him in spite of the plastic surgery that had transformed his face into an expressionless mask.

"I was one of the gang of kids," Dave told him. "Remember?"

"Yeah. Sure." Martin relaxed, smiled. "You weren't such a bad kid. Still good at keeping your lips buttoned up?"

"It depends on how good you are at keeping your hands buttoned up."

Dave took out a cigarette and casually lit it. Martin turned irritably to Hunk, who had been standing behind him, nervously listening to their conversation.

"Go over and try the address in Brooklyn. See if you can find her." He said to Dave. "I'm sending him over for Francey. Remember Francey? She was my girl when we were kids."

"Yes. She moved away a long time ago. Well, you turned into a headliner, all right. All over the newspapers. Should you be around here?"

"I ain't here," Martin grinned. "I'm out West. I got kind of a yen to see my old lady — and Francey. You know?" He leaned toward Dave confidentially. "I ain't seen my mother in ten years! Since the day I came out of reform school."

"You've come a long way since then," said Dave. "Eight men —"

Martin exploded angrily. "What you trying to do, you —" His anger subsided as quickly as it had flared. "Say, what's your racket?"

"I'm an architect. I build houses. Or I would if I could get a house to build."

"You don't say. Well, you went to high school and college, didn't you? You were always smarter than the other slobs, Dave. You must be in the dough now."

"Yes, sir. I been painting Pasquelli's restaurant for a month and he's going to give me twenty-five bucks for it. And that's the first dough I've earned in a long time."

Martin regarded Dave with a puzzled expression. Suddenly he threw back his head and laughed. "Six years in college, and what you get now is handouts. That's a good one! Well, I'm glad I ain't like you punks. Starving and freezing — for what? Peanuts? I got mine. I took it. Look."

He indicated his shirt — real silk. Twenty bucks. His suit — custom tailored. A hundred and fifty bucks. He launched into a rhapsodic account of the "dames" a man could have if he knew his way around.

Dave said quietly, "Ever get scared?"

"Me? What of? You can't live forever. Sometimes I get the jitters. Sometimes — aw, hell, I want to see Francey. Maybe she's married. Maybe —"

They continued to talk in low tones. Across the street Tommy, T. B., Angel and Spit had made an interesting discovery. A rich boy who lived in the East River Apartments was standing in the exit. Due to road repairs the street running parallel one block south had been closed off, the tenants of the building were obliged to use the rear exit. The boys stared incredulously at his immaculate shirt, long trousers and plastered hair.

"What are you — a boy or a girl?" inquired Tommy.

"He's a girl. Can't you see?" said Spit scornfully.

They were so filthy and ragged, Philip Griswald felt inclined to material, shake is out and don is.

Hostess gloves are reminiscent of early southern belles, with lacy trims and little black velvet ribbons tied fetchingly at the neck and trailing full length. Other coats are of prided taffeta quilted satin and crepe de chine.

preen himself. He bragged about the swimming pool in the apartment house, about his uncle, Judge Griswald. He bet them a dollar he could name all the presidents of the United States. Tommy suggested to the others that they "fix" him. This they would have done, quickly and expertly, had not Philip's father and French governess arrived to take Philip away. When the Griswalds had gone the boys went into a huddle. He was they decided, badly in need of musing up.

Kay Burton came out of the apartment house and walked over to where Dave awaited her. He rose and his eyes were soft as he greeted her.

"I had such a good time last night," she told him gaily. "I usually go to fancy places and have a dull time. But I always have fun with you, Dave."

Unconsciously Kay looked up at her terrace and frowned. Dave followed her gaze and read her thoughts. She was thinking of him — the man who paid for all that. He hated the man, but he couldn't blame Kay.

"Do you like him?" he asked gently.

"Yes, I like him. He's been good to me. He wants to marry me now."

"That's his boat out there, isn't it?" He indicated a yacht lying at anchor. "Looks as if it's going ready to make a trip. When?"

Kay lowered her eyes. "I don't know."

"You'll be going with him, won't you?" Seeing her unhappy face, he continued quickly. "I'm to phone Del Block this afternoon. I've been trying to get a job with him for a long time. I left some drawings there, and he said there might be something. It wouldn't pay much, but —" He paused. "I guess I'm a fool to talk this way."

Kay said, "I haven't thought about the trip. I kept pushing it off because — I suppose because of you. I've thought about us a lot, Dave."

Their conversation was interrupted by the arrival of Kay's chauffeur, who informed her the car was waiting. Kay touched Dave's hand and left him, staring disconsolately out over the river.

Meanwhile two strange kids had approached the wharf. They cautiously came up to Tommy and his gang. One of them spoke.

"Which is the captain of this gang?"

"Me," said Tommy. "Who wants to know?"

"We're up from the block," said the second boy. "Want to fight our gang?"

"Sure," said Tommy readily. He turned to the others. "O.K. fellas?" They agreed noisily. "O.K. Saturday? Four o'clock? No bottles and rocks, just sticks and bare knuckles. Flat sticks."

"O. K. The two boys, pleased with their pact, moved off up the street.

'Baby Face' Martin had watched the byplay between the boys. He smiled.

"So your fight's at four o'clock?"

"Yes, sir," said Tommy. "We'll be there on the minute."

Martin laughed. "That's the trouble. That's the wrong way. Get there early. Surprise them. Pick up some old milk bottles —"

"Can't," Tommy interrupted. "We made up no bottles, only bare knuckles and sticks."

Martin snorted. "You made up. Listen, when you fight, the idea is to win. It don't matter how. And to win a gang fight there's nothing like a stocking full of sand and rocks, and if that don't work, a knife will."

"But that ain't fair —"

"Ain't fair, huh? Suppose some guy pulls a knife on you?"

"Then I pull one on him." Tommy borrowed Angel's knife and demonstrated clumsily.

Martin grabbed it from his hand, showing him a better way. He was dexterous and swift. The knife found its mark.

Dave had been standing a short distance away, watching the scene angrily.

"Teaching him tricks, huh? Listen," he said looking Martin steadily in the eye, "I don't like you around here. See your old lady and then get out — quick."

Old World Romance

Legends of gallant Prince Carl and lovely Lady Sophia surround the old German town of New Braunfels. Happily relates that after a few German settlements were made over here in 1840 an "Association for the Protection of German Immigrants in Texas" was formed of twenty odd princes, counts, barons and noblemen in Germany.

The association bought a grant near Comal Springs and in 1844 Prince Carl of Solms-Braunfels led them to America, where they founded their first colony west of Gaupalupe. Erecting a log castle for Prince Carl, the colonists christened it Sophienberg in honor of his sweetheart, Lady Sophia.

Flustering a government like that of the old country, Prince Carl stayed in Texas ten months. His counselors made a strangely mixed society, with a Count as the grocery man, a Baron on a farm, another Baron dispensing beer, and others in odd jobs. After Texas' annexation the Prince returned to his ancestral castle in Braunfels.
