Tom Connally to Address Farmers Rally at Waco November 10th

Senator Tom Connally will be the principal speaker at a general farmers and business men's rally, sponsored by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Waco Chamber of Commerce and other agencies, to be held in Waco, November 10, at the Orpheum Theatre beginning at 10 a. m. Burris Jackson, Chairman of the Cotton Research Laboratory Committee of the East Texas Chamber, will preside.

Congressman W. R. Poage, Director A. B. Conner of the Texas Experiment Station, Director H. H. Williamson of the Texas Extension Service, and other leaders in agriculture will be speakers.

Objects of the meeting have been outlined as primarily to emphasize the vital need of research for new uses of cotton, to be included in any Farm bill passed by Congress, and to urge that provision be made in the farm bill for cotton quality improvement.

Farmers and business men of this vicinity are expected to attend this meeting to get the ideas of the agricultural leader of the state on the sad condition of the cotton farmer, and those directly affected by his plight.

Farmers, themselves, are invited to comment or talk on each of these two problems which will be presented.

Radio reports yesterday, gave the Texas cotton crop for 1937 as 5,500,000 bales. The estimate for the entire south exclusive of Texas was 13, 164,096, and for the nation, 18,234,000.

Coryell County's actual number of bales so far this year as reported by W. R. Goodson, special agent of the Department of Commerce, up to October 18, was 12, 083 bales, or 3,769 more this year than last.

NOTES FROM THE COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE

A. M. Tate, State Supervisor, has visited all state aid schools in Coryell County except Mountain and Arnett. When he left the county last Thursday he intended to finish his work here Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Checking reports will take some time in the County Superintendent's Office. Weather may change his plans.

The law requires that every person teaching must record a certificate in the county in which he teaches. Teachers have been very thoughtful in this matter. Teachers are required to fill out registration cards before drawing their first months salary.

Schools which are one hundred per cent in this matter are: Pearl, Arnett, Mountain, Big-Ham, Harmon, White Hall, Crossville, Schley, New Olive, Brown's Creek, Owl Creek, Dunn, Coryell Church, Mound, Newland, Antelope, Longview, Purnela, Harmony, Hay Valley, Bee House, Levita, Turnover, Enterprise, Ireland, Clear Creek, Maple, Plainview, Coryell City Ind., Osage Ind., Evant Ind., Copperas Cove, Oglesby and Gatesville send their registration cards directly to the State Department.

Reports to the State Department of Education revealed the fact that the Rural Communities of Coryell County paid 94 and one third per cent of their local school taxes last year. This in a substantial way shows interest in Rural Education. This amounted to about $50,000.00. The office will notify schools of requirements made by State Aid Department as soon as they are filed in the office.

GATESVILLE DRY-GOODS CO., TO OPEN DOORS HERE FRIDAY

Gatesville's newest business opens Friday of this week, when the Gatesville Dry-Goods Company opens its doors in the old H. P. Sadler building between the City Drug and the Palace Theatre Messers Harry and Irving Bornstein are the owners and proprietors of this new store.

According to Harry Bornstein, they will have a complete line of new dry-goods, and are now installing entirely new fixtures for the handling of their new stock of merchandise.

These gentlemen are from San Saba, where Harry has been associated with his father for the past ten years in the dry goods business. Irving Bornstein is also from San Saba and worked with the same firm.

"THE BUFFALO" MAKES ITS INITIAL APPEARANCE HERE

"The Buffalo" publication of the Turnersville High School made its initial appearance here, with Hollis Crawford as Editor-in-Chief and Rufus Holder as Business Manager.

This improvement in high school publications is a tabloid size paper, 5 columns to the page, and four pages, crammed from every part of the school, editorials, features, and in general, very creditable paper for a high school of any size.

We understand, also that "The Hillcrest" Pearl High School publication, also made its appearance this week, which is the second year this high school has had a printed school paper.

"The Buffalo" is due to appear about once every six weeks.

VICE-PRESIDENT OF LOCAL BANK HAS OPERATION IN WACO

J. P. Kendrick, Vice-President of the Gatesville National Bank was stricken with appendicitis Sunday and was taken immediately to Waco where the operation was performed.

News from Mr. Kendrick yesterday morning was to the effect that he stood the operation well and is resting nicely. Mrs. J. P. Kendrick who went to Waco with him returned yesterday.

Andrew Kendrick, who was summoned for Federal Jury service in Waco, returned Monday, when he was excused.

W. B. Caldwell, Division Highway Engineer has announced according to City Secretary Eiland Lovejoy that bids will be asked by Austin for the surfacing of Highway 7 from the end of the pavement in Gatesville to the Coryell county line near Oglesby. Should the bids be accepted at that date work on the actual construction would probably start about Jan. 1

Interesting about this news besides the fact that this bid will also include the paving thru Torbit town from the end of the pavement.

At this time, the city is procuring right of way for this work in the city limits in order to widen the street or highway from 50 to 70 feet were required by the highway department.

Since announcement have already been made that the paving from the Coryell county line to the pavement out of Waco, will be let soon, there seems some likelihood that we can soon ride pavement to Waco.

So far no information regarding the highway has been released by the county officials, but since this in question included participation by the city, it is probable the information came to the city first.

REV. BALDRIDGE DELIVERS FINAL MESSAGE SUNDAY EVENING

Sunday evening November 7 a large number of people were present at the First Methodist Church to hear Rev. J. H. Baldridge deliver his final message as Presiding Elder of this district.

Rev. Baldridge's talk, which was about his work here as Presiding Elder, proved to be not only inspiring but humorous.

Rev. and Mrs. Baldridge came to this city four years ago from Mexia, and during these four years have purely become acceptable citizens.

As yet it is not known where Rev. and Mrs. Baldridge will make their home.

Mrs. Barbara Redmond of New Orleans is visiting Mrs. Gordon Davis of this city enroute home. She has been in Dallas attending the Annual Conference of the Methodist Church as a delegate from Louisiana.

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

No matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month.

Too often the honeymoon express is wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward sign that she is a victim of periodic pain.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

Funeral services were held at the cemetery at Flint Creek where she was laid to rest with the Rev. M. M. Chum officiating; and Scott Funeral Directors in charge.

Horses Versus Cars Again

DENTON, Nov. 6—Horses and mules evidently still have an edge on the "horseless Carriage" in Texas, there being over a million of them as compared with about 950,000 automobiles according to the 1936 tax figures. However, they are just worth 25 million dollars, while 87 million are invested in Texas automobiles. This evaluation for cars is almost a million higher than in 1935, but the number of cars has decreased. Texans seem to be going in for quality rather than trans-

Lets Talk about Clothes

TEXAS STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN (CIA)

Denton, Nov. 9. No longer do the salesmen croon softly. "Could I interest you in a nice pair of suede gloves?" Now it's "Would you prefer rhinestone, sequin, fur or leather trimmed gloves?" Do you want morning afternoon dinner or evening gloves?" The age of specialization marches on!

If you are one of us poor fashion watchers this specialization can come in handy. To an old faithful dress of solid color you can add bright colored stitched square fingered gloves that will be the soul of spectator sportsdom.

After lunch, when football time draws near, trade your short glove for some soft fuzzy angoras that are tops for tweed suits and are called, everything from Tyrolean to Dalmanian. Get them in wild plaids and stripes and see how your spirits soar.

Or if you are bent on shopping instead of the ball game get out a pair of tricky gauntlets with fur trim. Subtle, exotic shades of suede that fairly glow against dark clothes will take care of your informal dinner attire.

Last and most exciting to girls at Texas State College for Women are the evening concoctions ranging from tiny bits of net with sequin cuffs to long elbow-length French Suedes with that inevitable air of pride and elegance.

Gold cord is used to make some mesh affairs that fit snugly and satisfy the current rage for gold. Intricate traceries of sequins on dark velvets form an effective evening touch that harmonizes with the luxury theme of most formal gowns this season.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

BY Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND

Spend To Be Thrifty

Saving money is a commendable practice. But like all good things it can be overdone. And in one particular respect the American people are guilty of overdoing thrift.

I refer to self-medication. Of all the nations of the world, we are the most gullible in falling for testimonials of cures. Mrs. So and So, a friendly neighbor, recommends this or that remedy and we hasten to try it. Perhaps to our credit we don't condemn the good lady if her suggestion fails. We simply try the suggestion of Mrs. A who lives across the street, without ever facing the honest query "after all, what do they know about it?"

Now my interest is in school children. To me they constitute the greatest natural resource of the nation. What you do about yourselves is your business. But anything concerning children is far more important, because it has some relation to the future of the United States. Can't we agree then that Mrs. Neighbor, next door or across the street, is no better informed than you and me?

Who is informed? Naturally, your family physician is the one person in the community who is best acquainted with advertised remedies, systems of cures, and the scientific aspects of health. Why not, then, be economical at the outset, and consult him about your child's condition and needs? This, it seems to me, is along the line of thrift. Save money, in other words, by going direct to an authority. Accepting the guess of one who doesn't know is like taking a tip on a race horse you never saw before. It is a pure gamble, and I am sure you agree with me, we have no right to gamble where our children are concerned.

The title of Dr. Ireland's article next week is "The Noonday Meal at School." It carries helpful suggestions for combining proper foods in making a tasty, nourishing luncheon for the school child.

Mr. and Mrs. A Davidson Celebrate Golden Anniversary

On Sunday, Oct. 31, Mr. and Mrs. A. Davidson celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary. The celebration which was a surprise to the celebrants was planned and carried out by their children. A son and his wife took them home with them from Sunday School. While they were having lunch and planning for a drive in the afternoon the other children were at the Davidson's residence putting things in readiness for the occasion, their Mother and Dad's fiftieth wedding anniversary.

About 1:30 Mrs. Sheppard telephoned to say that some friends had come and wanted the folks to come home. They found the yard full of relatives and friends. As effort had been made by the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. A. Alex to invite every person within reach who would like to attend. If there is some friend who did not know about it, we want to take this means of saying it was not intended.

It was indeed a happy occasion, after two hours of eager conversation, we gathered in the dining room where the bride unwrapped many beautiful gifts.

Punch and cake were served by the granddaughters, Nancy Martin, Mary Fathe Martin and Virginia Davidson.

The guests which were recorded by Charlotte Davidson were as follows: Quince Davidson, Athlene Davidson, Della D. Barnett, Amanda Davidson, Joe D. Paulk, Mrs. Alice Boyer, Roger Davidson, Quence Davidson Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Aubry Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Davidson, Merle Hapson, Perry Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Loper, Ida Dear Loper, Mrs. W. W. Hedge, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Davidson, Mabel Davidson, Lois Christine Moore, Bruce Moore, Zora Moore, Mrs. P. C. Martin, Edgar Moore, Mary Jane Moore, Mr. A. J. Martin, Billy Joe Martin, Wilma Dean Fry, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Fry, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Roney, Jewell and Flossy Melton, Mr. J. R. Martin, Hazel Walters, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Walters, Bertin Davis, Madge Davis, Burtan Davis, Mrs. Mortie Wicker, Mrs. L. D. Young, L. D. Young, Mrs. W. T. Scott, Gene Scott, Mrs. Hubert Morse, Mrs. Mack Manning.

All the children were present. They were: Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Shepherd and family; Mr. and Mrs. L. Z. Davidson, Hiram Francis, Anita and Sandra, and Miss Effie Davidson of Pecan Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Davidson, Helen and David; Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Martin, Paul, Nancy, Fathe Joy, and Patsy of Mound; and Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Williams of Waco.

IN COMMAND OF THE SHIP

A ship's officer's duties are endless. As the "Santa Lucia" docks at Cristobal an officer supervises the seamen handling the forward lines.

In command, Capt. William C. Renault, of the Grace Line's "Santa Lucia," checks the position of his ship by "shooting the sun."

Officers are trained and disciplined in the exactness of sea life. Upon their skill and judgment depends the safety of ship and passengers. During plays no part. While at sea, crew and passengers, directed by officers, go through a fire drill.

The bridge. From here go orders to seamen and engineers. In the foreground is the engine-room telegraph; one officer keeps a look-out; another stands by the automatic pilot; to his right is the wheel, next the compass; while a third officer checks the log.

Miss Frankie Mae Blair was a guest of Miss Lorraine Pollard at Oglesby over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Ligon of Austin and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brock of Corsicana are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carleton.

Miss Virginia Carlyle of Dallas was a guest of her parents over the week end.

Grady Carson of Stephenville was a weekend visitor here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kit Carson.

"BE YOURSELF" SECRET OF SUCCESS, SAYS WRITER OF TEN THOUSAND POEMS

PEOPLE marvel at the success attained by Edgar Albert Guest, forty years a newspaperman and loved by millions because of his refreshing and inspiring verses. In the first place, a newspaperman is not supposed to have the passion for the Home as an institution that has marked Eddie Guest's poetry for a generation; secondly, a newspaperman is not supposed to write poetry anyway.

America's favorite poet has never been able to reduce to a formula the factors responsible for his success. The closest he ever came to it was when he once said, "I just go along, being myself, writing verses for folks to read, and seeing that they get to as many people as possible."

"Being myself" is Eddie's idea of the way to live. Sincerity shines from every word he ever wrote. His love for the homely qualities of life, like honesty, affection, determination and devotion to family, are all an integral part of his own makeup.

He is passionately devoted to the newspaper for which he has worked during the past 40 years, and to his son, who now works for the same newspaper. Second only to his joy in writing verses is his joy in distributing them through the facilities of the press to "plain folks" all over the country. Though he once said that he was a writer and not a reader of poetry, he enjoys his radio program every Tuesday night over a great national broadcasting network because it enables him to carry his philosophy of life to more thousands who, he hopes, will profit from it.

All through the turbulent post-war era and the wild days prior to 1929, when the American home seemed fated to become a place where hats were hung and a base of supplies for entertainment forays, Eddie Guest kept on being himself, and gave himself to an unheeding public through his writing. Came the depression, and when the smoke had cleared away and the ruins of the gay days became clear, the old die-hard American decency was seen rising from the ashes. Its veritable and most powerful prophet was Edgar Guest. If a nation's existence depends upon its family

CUBS' CATCHER CONFOUNDS POET

"Gabby" Hartnett Teaches Edgar Guest Poetry of Baseball

THERE'S a lot of poetry in a pitched ball, according to Edgar A. Guest, the popular poet, shown in the picture above with "Gabby" Hartnett, famous catcher of the Chicago Cubs.

"Though I couldn't hit a baseball to save my life," says Eddie, "I surely consider a good baseball game the height of poetry as expressed in motion. When my friend 'Gabby' makes one of his beautiful throws to second, or wallops a high fly in an arching parabola against the sky, it's as lovely and expressive as any poem."

Hartnett and the poet are great pals. When the spark plug of the Cubs appeared recently as a guest on Eddie's Tuesday night radio show, he was as big a success on the air as he is on the diamond. "Gabby" (his given name is Charles) admits that Edgar Guest is a great poet, but doesn't see anything very poetic about baseball.

"Things usually move too fast for me to worry about whether a throw or a pitch is poetic," says Hartnett. "Still I guess Eddie and I have a lot in common. We both give people a thrill, and entertain them. I do know one thing—maybe I can teach Eddie to play baseball, but I'm sure he can never teach me to write a verse!"

FARM CASH INCOME IS UP FROM THIS TIME LAST YEAR

Austin, Nov. 9. Farm cash income in Texas during Sept. was estimated $101,000,000, compared with $87,000,000 during Sept. last year, an increase of more than 15 percent, according to Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director of the Bureau of Business Research at The University of Tex. The average September farm cash income during the sixty months base period, 1928-32, was approximately $114,000,000, so that the September index percentage of the base period income was 88.4 this year and 76.4 last year. "The wide variations in the indexes, as between the different crop reporting districts during September, and also as between the same districts this year and a year ago are attributable to the marked differences in production of the main sources of cash in come, and to the changes in prices of major crops and live stock enterprises compared with last year, and with the base period, 1928-32," Dr. Buechel said. "It should be added that government benefit payments and subsidies are not included in any of these computations."

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

TRAVEL INTO FAIRYLAND

Have a heart-to-heart talk with yourself! Double exposure, accurately planned, will let you.

Do you remember the wonder tales you read when a child, the forbidding castles filled with ogres, the huge jinn of the Arabian Nights, the trolls that lived under bridges and the fairies that haunted mysterious woodlands?

You can use your camera to recreate those childhood memories. You can make giants walk through your pictures. You can hold yourself, or a tiny version of yourself, in the hollow of your own hand. You can pose in intimate conversation with the Irish "wee people," the elves and fairies and the cobbler leprechaun.

It's not hard. The method is to use our old friend, the double exposure—two shots on the same film. All that is necessary is accurate posing and careful control of the light. A black background is necessary or you can pose your subject before the door of a dark room.

Note the picture above. Although it was made with a camera having a ground glass for focusing, which simplifies making such pictures, you can get the same effect with your own small camera. First, pose the subject fairly close to the camera, with his empty hand extended. Snap the picture and mark the position of the hand on the glass view finder, very carefully, with a tiny dot of ink.

Now, without winding the film, move the camera back several feet, so the subject appears small in the view finder. Let him stand, facing his former position, so that his feet appear right on the ink dot in the finder. Arrange the light so the feet are not too brightly illuminated. This will help eliminate evidence of slight errors in the position of the subject. Snap the shutter a second time and the final picture is made. When the picture is developed, presto!—there are the little man and the big one, facing each other on the same film.

You will probably make mistakes in placement on your first tries, because the view finder is small, but this is part of the fun of trying trick photography—and some of your errors may give a funnier picture than the one you carefully planned. It is well to remember that only the figures in these shots can be lighted—if surrounding objects show up, they will spoil the picture.

If your camera has an "open" direct view finder, without glass, it is best not to try this sort of work. If, however, you have a camera with ground glass back, you can place figures with greater accuracy.

With this technique, you can make a fairy dance on the table in front of you—the fairy being your small daughter in her ballet dress. If you want to make the little figures transparent, shorten exposure a little. You can, if you like, do costume work, illustrating the fairy tales you enjoyed as a child. Try Jack and the Beanstalk, with an intrepid small boy eluding the grasp of a fierce ogre. Or get an old hiking brogan and a copy of Mother Goose and picture the Old Lady Who Lived in a Shoe.

WORLD COMMENT

Joe Burns

From the standpoint of practical politics, the significant aspect of the New York mayoralty election, which swept Fiorello H. LaGuardia into the mayor's chair for a second four-year term and elected Thomas E. Dewey to the potent district attorneyship of Manhattan (New York County) was not the defeat of Tammany Hall but the injection of two new personalities into national prominence.

Until Mayor LaGuardia won election for a second term as chief executive of Gotham, he claim a voice in the councils of either the Republican or any new third party which might be formed before 1940, as reform mayors of New York have perennially been defeated for re-election before the onslaughts of Tammany.

With an enviable record of four years of clean government behind him and four additional years in which to carry on his program, LaGuardia occupies the best strategical position of any leader who aspires to the nomination of either the Democratic or Republican party in 1940. He has proved himself to be a good executive, and should be able to command the support of liberals and progressives because of his identification with the philosophy of social reform and advancement promulgated by President Roosevelt.

Dewey, only 35, ran on the LaGuardia ticket at the insistence of the Mayor, who relies upon Dewey to continue his war upon grafters inaugurated while he was special crime prosecutor. Already widespread is talk that Dewey will run for Governor in 1938 or 1940 on the Republican ticket.

Well may the G. O. P. in future years speak of the New York election as a producer of heavenly manna.

In none of the results of Tuesday's voting is a reaction either for or against the new deal discernable.

In New York, while National Chairman Farley, Senator Wagner, and Governor Lehman supported Judge Mahoney, the Tammany Hall candidate, against LaGuardia, President Roosevelt refused to take a stand against the Mayor, and his friends said he silently supported the Mayor.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes spoke for LaGuardia, purportedly at the President's request.

Mahoney was, it is true, the Democratic candidate and in a local sense the Democrats of New York City and New York State will suffer from his defeat. But LaGuardia, as stated above, espouses the same political phil-

ARMISTICE

The biggest flop of the 20th century! At least, the idea that was prevalent before the Armistice. The idealistic, conscientious President Woodrow Wilson had dreams, for that matter, fond hopes for a "Warless World" which is impossible in the greedy, covetous world of ours. The idea under which he gave his consent for the United States to enter the World War, was to make the "World Safe For Democracy".

Such an idea had more chance of success in 1918 than it has today,—and it would not work then, even after the carnage, destruction, desolation and depression in finance and feeling which was prevalent thruout the world then.

Today, wholesale murder is rampant, rulers are grasping and ambitious, peoples are persecuted, customs broken, economic conditions have been dynamited, and the world as a whole is seemingly on the verge of a far greater catastrophe than the dark days of 1918.

There is, however, one redeeming feature of Armistice that should never be obliterated from the minds of the citizenry, and that is, the memory of those who are still and stilled, "on Flanders Field",—those who died for a different cause than that which they thought,—those who were duped by carefully guided publicity, designed to make people hate other people, by gastly charges against nations—all of which has since been brought out and proven false by careful investigation.

So, to those who "gave their all," and those who are disabled in mind or body, and only those, we have utmost reverence and sympathy, and this United States of America should not fail to provide for them and their immediate families.

Now, as a warning, before another period of destruction breaks on our heads, beware of the pictures of hate which are NOW being carried in magazines and newspapers supposedly with the idea (since they worked last time) of instilling hate in the American mind against other nations far removed from us. Let's tend to our own business and STAY AT HOME. We've got plenty to attend to here.

osophy as does President Roosevelt and aside from party labels, there is little to distinguish between the two.

The collapse of Tammany Hall for 137 years' dominant in New York politics, both state and city, marks the end of Democratic domination of New York City and perhaps of the Empire State. It ends the hopes of the national administration of securing control of a local organization which should be independent of both Tammany and the G. O. P. Likewise, Tammany's downfall betokens no bright prospects for a Farley-for-Governor campaign in 1938.

Before the Republicans is now opened an opportunity to establish a strong following in New York which, if properly could national administration of secnorship next year and the state for their presidential nominee in 1940.

LaGuardia's 450,000 plurality over Mahoney smashed the impression prevailing since the Landon debacle of 1936 and generally so since Hoover's defeat in 1932 that the Republican party consists only of diehard, fossil-like conservatives with no social (continued on page three)

PIGSKIN HERO TO BE SELECTED

Denton, Nov. 6 —Who will succeed Slingshot Sammy as the pigskin idol of 2500 girls at Texas State College for Women?

At the end of each football season T. S. C. W. students choose their ideal player. Last year when Texas Christian's famous passer rated No. 1 man, he and his coach were introduced at the College and presented with a trophy by the student body.

The rules govern the contest—the player is not judged by yardage, position or number of games; in fact it may be the dimple in his chin that wins out. So if any prominent players are seen ingratiatingly at fair spectators during the rest of the season they may be marked as hopeful entrants.

Hornets Take Mt. Calm for a Cleaning

Gatesville High School Hornets chalked up another Friday night at the expense of the Mount Calm Panthers, to the tune of 33 to 18 in a lack-a-dasical game that ended in a thrilling climax.

The Hornets, featuring a running attack of Fore, Brown, Taylor and Gregory, showed up remarkably well as a line plunger replacing Voss who only played a short time in the game. Gilbreath, Gatesville's bit for all-conference berth, played his usual stellar game.

Not outdone, except in the final score, Mt. Calm Panthers, under the leadership of Dunn, Hoover in the backfield and Pruitt at end continually worried the Hornets, and during a greater part of the game, showed more fight and alertness than did the sluggish Hornets, who evidently were resting during part of the game.

Armistice Day November 11th, brings us the Gatesville-Hamilton game on the local gridiron, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. on that date.

We're "footballin'" 100 per cent as far as sports prognosticators go this season. They're all wrong this season, it seems. We did guess the Aggies would take SMU, but o-oo, the gobs of others we missed.

Now, foremost in the minds of Coryell Countians and Gatesvillians, that is if they're football-minded at all, is the Hornet Bulldog clash here the afternoon of the 11th.

Desdemona's Porkers took on Hamilton Hounds Friday night and the Bulldogs expected an easy game. Desdemona, the weakening of the Hamilton conference up to Friday night and played five games, won 1 and lost 4. Dublin, leading that conference with three 4's. Hamilton has played 4, won 3 and tied 1, with a percentage of 75. Also, Hornet fans, this conference: Comanche, Dublin, Gorman, De Leon and Desdemona. And Hamilton is third in the percentage column, following Dublin and Comanche.

John B. Sullivan in "Punts and Passes" in the Hamilton County News devotes about half his column to the Hornet-Bulldog tussle here the 11th, and he says, with Hamilton though light, playing heads-up for 60 minutes in the game, can take the Hornets.

We doubt if the Bulldogs can take the Hornets, and one guess is as good as another when it is made three or four days prior to game time. But for a try at the favorite sport of sports writers Game Guessing, we'll say softly, Hornets 19, Bulldogs 7.

In New York City the Republicans demonstrated, that they will, when given the opportunity, elect candidates devoted to the welfare of the common man, to honesty, economy and fairness in government.

This record upon which to rely and with the two bright stars LaGuardia and Dewey, the New York election may well mark the turning point for the Republican Party.

While the net result of the elections was a slight loss for the Democrats and a equally small gain for the Republicans, labor won and lost equally important contests.

In New York City, the American Labor Party, which supported President Roosevelt last year and delivered to his banner 238,000 votes, backed Mayor LaGuardia and added 400,000 votes to his total gleaned from Republican, Independent Democratic Communist, Socialist and Fusion sources.

This victory was a important one for labor. LaGuardia has consistently supported labor and the working man since he served

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
Drina finds Tommy hiding and makes plans to run away with him. "Baby Face" Martin, stung by rebuffs from his mother and childhood sweetheart, Francey, decides to kidnap the rich Griswold boy. Dave senses the scheme and warns Martin and Frank, his henchman to leave Dead End. Martin stabs Dave. A fight ensues, in which Dave knocks out Hunk and pursues Martin with a gun to the warehouse roof. He fires at Dave but misses. Dave shoots and kills Martin. He learns that he has earned a $5,000 reward.

Chapter Six

Someone had told on Tommy. Someone had given Mulligan his name, and a cop was on his way up to find him. This was Milty's whispered message to Drina. Drina, terrified, told Tommy to get somewhere until dark.

The street that only an hour before had witnessed gunfire and death was now quiet. The blood and the confusion had been cleared away and the crowds had dispersed. On the wharf Spit, Angel and T. B. were roasting mickeys over a garbage can. In the dim glare of a street lamp Angel read aloud a tabloid account of the day's gruesome events.

"Mystery man today shot and killed the famous 'Baby Face' Martin. The killing took place in a picturesque tenement basement, the walls covered with blood and bullets." Angel looked up with a bewildered frown. "It says so in the paper. But that ain't the way it happened. I don't get it."

T. B. was reading over Angel's shoulder. "They found twenty grand in his pockets. Boy, he musta been a pretty smart guy."

Spit said, "'Baby Face'? Sure. He was tops. Public Enemy Number One. He wasn't scared of nobody. Boy, he could knock them off like that —"

He snapped his fingers. Milty said, "The cops are wise to Tommy."

"No kid! I bet they send him to reform school."
T. B. had been to reform school, and he told them he knew a guy named Smokey who could teach a fellow a lot of swell rackets. The fire had begun to die down, and all save Angel went to forage for more wood. A shadow detached itself from the sandhopper.

"Pest! Hey — Angel."

Angel wheeled around at the sound of the familiar voice. "Tommy! Gee — what you going to do?"

"I'm going away so the bulls don't catch me. But I ain't going till I catch the guy who snitched. I think I'm wise to who done it."

"Angel's eyes were popping. "Gee! Who?"

"Spit. Now listen — I'm going to hide, see? Now do like I tell you. When Spit comes back, you say the guy I stabbed was looking for Spit to give him five bucks for snitching on who done it. You got me straight?"

"O. K. What you going to do to Spit if he done it?"

Tommy drew his knife and flipped the blade open. Angel whistled. "Gee! The mark of the squealer, eh, Tommy?"

Hearing footsteps, Tommy moved swiftly back into the shadows.

Dave was walking slowly down the street towards the wharf. Presently Kay joined him. She was dressed in flowing white satin and her face was flushed.

"I came to see you this afternoon when I heard what happened. Dave. The bulls sailing tonight." She faltered. "I — I don't want to go. I won't go, if you tell me not to."

"If I tell you not to?"

"Can't we go away now? You have some money and we could have a year at least — a year of happiness — I don't care what happens after that —"

Dave looked embarrassed and wretched. "No. That isn't what I want. I don't want a spree. Look, Kay. When I heard about the reward money I thought of you. Of us. Of that year we could have. But then I realized — Oh, Kay, I'll be honest with you. I knew this afternoon that we — that I —"

Kay said, "That I wasn't what you wanted. That you'd made a mistake."

He took her hand and held it gently. "I don't belong in your world, Kay. You don't belong in mine. It's good that we found it out in time."

They stood apart in an awkward silence. A voice called to Kay from the darkness of the yacht landing. She said a hurried goodbye to Dave. In a moment she was gone. Dave stood watching her until she had disappeared.

Spit, T. B. and Milty had come back to the wharf with a wooden crate for kindling. Angel delivered Tommy's message to Spit. In a flash Tommy himself appeared out of the shadows and leaped on Spit's back, throwing him to the ground and sitting on him, threatening to administer the dreaded "mark of the squealer" on Spit's face with his knife. Dave ran up and grabbed the knife from Tommy. He backed the boy against the wall.

"What are you trying to do?" he asked fiercely. "Haven't you made enough trouble? All her life she's worked and slaved for you. And for what? To take the rap for you every time? She's young and pretty and she ought to have something, too. Going to run away, are you? What for? So she can get old working for you?" Tommy's face was sullen and unhappy. Dave continued, "There are thousands of you in streets like these. You saw the end of one of them today. You'll start with knives and end up with guns. Well, if that's what you are, good luck to you. But leave her alone. Let her forget you before it's too late."

While Dave was speaking, Drina had come up behind him. There was a strange look on Tommy's face, a look she didn't recognize. He was ashamed.

"You know what, Drina," he said wistfully, "I'm going to give myself up. I'll tell them I didn't mean to do it. Maybe they'll let me go."

Mulligan and the doorman came out of the apartment house; Mulligan ordered the kids to put the fire out and beat it. Tommy saw his chance and blurted out who he was. The doorman excitedly went to fetch Griswold.

"Please give him another chance," Drina begged him when he came. "He's sorry. He's only a kid and he made a mistake."

Griswold said ruefully, "A mistake a half inch deep and painful."

"I know. I'm sorry. But will it help to send him to reform school?"

"No. But it will at least keep him from doing it to someone else. They'll at least take him out of the gutter and teach him a useful trade."

Dave interrupted angrily. "What do you know about it? The man that got killed today came from this street, and from that reform school. It taught him a useful trade, all right. It will teach this kid one, too."

"That will be up to him. There is nothing else I can do."

Drina made a last desperate plea. "Didn't you ever do anything you were sorry for later? Hasn't anybody ever forgiven you for anything? Don't you know what it is for people like us to be in trouble?"

Griswold looked at her with pity and his voice was kind. "I'm sorry, believe me. I'm not punishing him for hurting me. That's done. But today, for no reason, he beat up my boy and stole his watch. There are other boys like mine. They have to be protected. All right, officer."

"Don't worry, Drina," said Tommy, pretending a bravado he did not feel. "I ain't so scared."

Drina took his arm. "No, don't be scared, Tommy. I'm coming with you."

Dave blocked her path. "Drina, we'll go down in the morning and get the best lawyer in New York. I've got the money. Plenty of it. We'll get Tommy off, and we'll get away from here. All of us. Some place where we can forget all this." He whispered urgently, "I need you too, Drina."

Drina smiled, and there were two bright tears in her eyes.

"Yes, Dave. We'll go away. But only if you'll come back some day and tear it down. The way you always wanted to."

From up the block Tommy's voice called insistently. "Drina—Drina—"

Drina took Dave's hand and they started up the street together.

"We're coming, darling," she said.

The indisputable inference from Detroit is that C. I. O. can count upon no outside sources for votes in any election. The public is not in sympathy with the organization methods of the C. I. O. and other aspects of the industrial organization movement. Mr. John Lewis should think twice before entering candidates in another local election and three times before running for President.

With two New York entries marked for the 1940 and 1944 presidential sweepstakes, New Jersey makes its unofficial entry with the election of United states Senator A. Harry Moore to the Governorship. Moore, who served two terms as governor before entering the Senate, is backed by the Frank Hauge machine of Jersey City and will be presented as New Jersey's candidate for the Democratic nomination in 1940.

CAN WE EDUCATE FOR PEACE?

This question has been selected as the topic for thought on the first day of American Education Week this year, Sunday November seventh.

In view of world conditions today and because of the fact that America, although somewhat isolated, would feel keenly the shock of a European conflict, this question becomes a challenge to every man and woman in America and undoubtedly one of the schools greatest responsibilities.

It has been said that it takes a year to change the philosophy of a man and that education as a remedy for war is too slow, yet when it comes to a question of Peace vs. Profits, there is no doubt but that the proper child training in the home and in the school can place much weight upon the side of peace.

The child's peace education begins in the home where he receives his first lessons in tolerance and unselfishness, and where his life takes on the spirit of good will or illwill. This education is continued with his own selfish interest teacher dominates him by force rather than guiding him into the paths of selfreliance and respect for others it is unlikely a child who is reared in an unfriendly home nurtured by an unsympathetic school and has no religious instructions is likely to be concerned with his own selfish interest throughout life.

We must teach our children not only the brutality but the futility of war. That war never pays which side is right but which side has the might. In doing this we shall be molding perhaps slowly but surely an influence for peace which will be more powerful than all the conferences which have ever been held.

The Chief cause of divorce is marriage.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK

In recent years the leading educators have seen the necessity of sponsoring a program which will renew the interest of the American people in their schools.

Years ago when the school was not only the educational but the social center of the community and also when the teachers took a part of their salary in board in the various homes in the community, it was easy to maintain the proper relationship between the home and the school and between the teacher and the parents of the children she is teaching. In recent years however, the people have few occasions to come to the school or into close contact with their teachers. Patrons are accepting the school as a place to be taken for granted and have lapsed into almost a state of lethargy so far as the school interest is concerned.

In order to remedy this situation the National Educational Association in cooperation with the United States Office of Education and the America Legion sponsors each year in November an American Education Week at which time special efforts are made to renew the interest of the people in the schools and to bring about a closer relationship between the home and the school. American Education Week also has the support of influential persons and organizations throughout the country. Each year approximately forty Governors issue special statewide proclamation.

This year the week beginning Sunday November 7th and extending thru Saturday November 13th, has been selected as American Education Week. The general theme for this year is Educational and our National Life. In addition to the general theme daily topics have been selected for study. Sunday Nov. 7. Can We Educate For Peace?

INTELLECTUAL CONTESTANTS

Just to show that Turnersville has her Interscholastic League ambition we take note of the fact that even though it is early for such thoughts the following people have announced their intentions entering several of the principle intellectual contests.

The boy contestants for debate are Hollis Crawford, Curtis Vernon, Virgil Brasher and Scott Hamilton; the girls team consists of Gladys Schoefield and Mary Francis Lewis.

It is understood that the issue for debate this year is: Resolved That Texas should have a Unicameral Legislature.

Those entering the field of Declaration are Reva Dean Lary, Lavern Scott, Betty Jean Hobin, and Be Garren.

GIRLS SPORTS

The first basket ball game of the Turnersville girls team was played Friday night Oct 22, with Ireland.

The girls started out full of pep and eager to go. Dorothy Vandiver Mary Frances Lewis started out at the forward position.

The guards were Gladys Schoefield, Cordille Carter, and Margaret Jones.

A substitution was made by coach Williams at the end of the first quarter, Nella Weaver for Vandiver. During the second quarter Helon Humes went in for Ketching.

In the same quarter Ruth Morgan took Carter's place as guard. At the end of the first half Ireland was leading by one point. The second started out with more fighting and determination on the Turnersville side.

Weaver, Humes and Lewis were holding down the forward positions; while Jones, Schofield and Morgan were guards. Olive Humes was substituted for Lewis, and every girl renewed her efforts to win the game.

During the third quarter, Carter was substituted for Schofield and in the same quarter, Carter was substituted for Schofield and Lewis for Humes, scores 19-19 in favor of Ireland.

The Ireland coach and his basket ball squad is to be commended for its fine sportsmanship.

PRACTICE GAME OF BUFFALOES

The first game the Turnersville Buffaloes played in basket ball was a practice game with Jonesboro. This game was played Thursday afternoon, October, 19 1937.

At the opening of the game there was not much excitement. When the first quarter ended the score was 6-1, Jonesboro. During the second quarter, Wallace tried to save two points and hacked Walce. Walce made one of the free shots. The next foul was made on Wallace but he missed the free shot. At the end of the first half the score was 9-1 in Jonesboro's favor.

Brasher was substituted for Crawford in the beginning of the third quarter. Brasher hit the floor playing when the whistle blew. He had played about a minute when he fouled Walse, who missed his free shot. The next foul made was a double foul by Vandiver of Turnersville and McDonald of Jonesboro. Both boys made a score on their free shots. Simpson of Turnersville tried to save two points and fouled McDonald, who made one free shot. The next point was made by Walse of Jonesboro. Looks as if Walse is poison this year. Thus ended the third quarter with Jonesboro in the lead.

In the fourth quarter Sellers fouled Vandiver, who missed both shots. Sellers made a ringer from the corner. It looked as if the Buffaloes waited to long to start fighting. Wallace got a free shot and made it. Simpson had the ball and made a ringer from Center, Southerland fouled Walse, who made a free shot. Wallace broke to his goal with the ball immediately and shot from halfway center and made a field goal. The ball had no more than left his hands before the fatal whistle blew, ending the game with a score of 7-15 in favor of the Jonesboro Eagles.

The Buffaloes are weak, but will be hard to defeat after the season is well under way.

FIRST GAME OF BUFFALOES

The first game of the Turnersville Buffaloes was played in the Turnersville Gymnasium. The Turnersville line up was Center, Southerland; Forwards, Vandiver, Simpson; Guards, Wallace and Crawford. The main line up for Ireland was: Center, Russell; Forwards: Glass, R. Lemmer; guards, J. Lemmer, Roberts.

When the ball was pitched up in the Center, Ireland got the tip off and broke for their goal. They fumbled the ball, thus losing their chance to make a score. The Buffaloes got the ball and broke for their goal, and Simpson started the game formuch has Egypt you".

There were only two field goals made by the Buffaloes; both were made by Simpson.

The Ireland boys made eleven fouls, and the Buffaloes made seven of them count against them. The Turnersville Buffaloes made eleven fouls, and the Ireland boys made eight of them which gave them a better average on free pitches. The field goals shot were about 3-1; that is, Ireland shot about 3 to Turnersville's one. The final score in field goals was two for the Buffaloes and six for the Ireland boys. This made them about even on field goals for the number shot. Had Ireland made all they shot they would have defeated the Buffaloes 40 to 1.

Th final score was 20-11 in favor of Ireland.

The Ireland boys had an advantage over the Buffaloes because they were so much taller than the Buffaloes. They had enough substitutes to run in a new man when one would get tired, while the Turnersville boys did not. However, if the Buffaloes continue to struggle like they did in that game, they will come out winners regardless of whether the team is large, tall, or small. The Turnersville team is going to be hard to beat a little later in the season.

"Is she Hungary?" Jimmy asked.

"Alaska," said Johnny.

"Yes, Siam," she replied.

"Oh, don't Russia," Johnny adomoshed.

"What if she Wales?" Jimmy suggested.

"I'd rather have Turkey," she said.

"Except that I can't have any Greece."

When the waiter brought the check, Johnny asked Jimmy,

"I say, look and see how Simpson started the game formuch has Egypt you".
