Mayor Enters Mayoralty Race for Second Term

President's Birthday Presents Variety of Novelty Entertainment

Your answer to the question that millions have asked

"How I Can Help
Fight
Infantile Paralysis"

PARTY TO BE HELD IN CITY HALL WHICH LIMITS CROWD

Plans have been completed for the President's Birthday Party to be held in the City Municipal Building Saturday night January 29th at 8:30 P. M. Tickets have been placed on sale and due to the fact there is only a limited space in the Municipal Building for this party there was only a limited number of tickets printed in order that the crowd could be cared for. There will be games of Forty-Two, Eighty-Four, Bridge and dancing at this party. You may have your choice of entertainment. All proceeds received at this President's party will be turned to the treasurer and be given for the cause of Infantile Paralysis. This is a very worthy cause and every citizen should be interested in this fight to prevent cripple children.

There will also be on sale Friday and Saturday of this week Founders certificate. At the price of $1.00, $2.00 and a family group for $5.00 any one interested in the purchase of one of these certificates will please get in touch with Mrs. Lucille Brown, or call at one of the local banks.

MEETING AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH APRIL 17 TO MAY 1

Members of the First Baptist Church of Gatesville decided in a conference at the morning service last Sunday, January 24, that two weeks beginning April

This is election year! Surprises never cease!

Here's the latest. Mayor C. E. Gandy has flung his hat in the municipal mayoralty race!

Although the "bonnet" (Mayor Gandy's) is somewhat tattered, trampled on, and may be plugged with a few holes, it's the McCoy (genuine), and he's officially in for rebuttal.

So, in this a. m. mail, we were on the receiving end, and got the following letter:

City of Gatesville,
Jan. 26, 1938.
Messrs Jones & Bethel, Pub.
Coryell County News
Gatesville, Texas.
Gentlemen:

I, at first, as announced in both Gatesville papers, stated that I would not be a candidate for re-election as Mayor of the City of Gatesville. Due to the fact that a number of my friends have insistently urged that I again enter the race for Mayor for second term, this is your authority to insert my name in the City Political Announcement Column of your issue of Friday, January 28, 1938. I would like for you to carry my name as follows:

C. E. GANDY
(2nd term)

Probably at some date in the near future, I will have a short statement to the voters of the city, outlining the reason for the change in my plans, since I had previously announced that I would not offer for re-election. Thanking you, I am,
Yours very truly,

(Signed:) C. E. GANDY,
Mayor of Gatesville.

CLAWSON'S STORE AT FLAT BURGLARIZED WED. NIGHT

Sometime Wednesday night, burglars or a buglar entered thru a rear window of Clawson's store at Flat, taking a 22 target, several boxes of shells for the 22, and three cases of eggs.

A cash register was taken across a nearby branch and looted of its contents, some eight or nine dollars.

According to Sheriff Joe White no suspects have been taken, but some clues have been found, and an arrest or arrests are expected soon.

17 should be devoted to Christian work Committees with the Board of Deacons and Dr. Herring of Baylor University are busy this week giving time to such detailed as is deemed necessary. Announcements will be made thru the local pulpit and press as fast as facts are determined. This will keep those interested informed so that all will be ready.

Pay your Poll Tax before February 1.

Coryell County Teachers Meeting Saturday at Junior High School

Alvis, Glass, Johnson Added To Line-up In Politicolumn

Names added to our "Politicolumn" recently, and the latest, yesterday, is D. I. Glass, candidate for sheriff.

Some time ago, a week perhaps, C. E. Alvis, Jr. again entered his name in the race for re-election for County Attorney.

And, in that ever popular Commissioners race around Coryell City comes Harry Johnson for Commissioner, Beat 3.

That, we believe, totals twenty-eight names that are trying to serve the citizens of Coryell county.

"Peck's In, Now He's Out" He Gives Own Reasons Right Here

One hat's gone, that was put in the County Superintendent's race. And, we imagine there's several sighs of relief.

But here's Melvin 'Peck' Tharp own story, as given us one day this week.

"Due to conditions that have arisen since I announced, I wish to state that I am withdrawing from the County Superintendent's race."

(Signed) Melvin (Peck) Tharp
So, that's that!

HUDDLESTON SUPPORTER OF COTTON LABORATORY FOR TEXAS

In support of a cotton laboratory for the finding of additional uses for cotton, sponsored by A. M. Goldstein, president of the Waco C. of C., Representative Earl Huddleston, representing Coryell and Hamilton counties has written Mr. Goldstein as follows: I read your appeal and I want you to know that we are with you in Coryell and Hamilton counties.

According to Waco papers, Huddleston also wired Chairman Marvin Jones and Ellison D. Smith of the House and Senate agriculture committees, requesting them to use all possible efforts to have the laboratory established in Texas.

A measure making an appropriation of $250,000 for the proposed laboratory passed the last regular session of the legislature and was supported by Huddleston. It was vetoed by the governor.

HWY. COM. GIVES DELEGATES NEWS ON 36

Considerable interest in Highway 36 from Temple to Gatesville has been revived since early this week when a committee composed of County Judge Floyd Zeigler, H. K. Jackson, Louis Holmes, Louis Thomson and Hurl McClellan representing the local C. of C. and F. A. Thomson and T. S. Wyche, representing Temple Good Roads interests appeared before the Highway Commission.

At the hearing the Commission gave them a most favorable hearing according to Judge Zeigler, and Harry Hines and Chairman R. L. Bobbitt stated without reservation that they were going to build 36. However, no definite time was given but they stated that additional information had to be showed them that this highway was one of the most important in Central Texas, and would get their close attention.

This portion of the highway has been designated as a state highway and now has been re-designated. Plans which have been submitted, and surveys will be gone over and the Commission promised to give more definite information as to the check of the survey as soon as possible.

Both Zeigler and Jackson stated the Commission was most favorably impressed and gave more favorable interest in the construction and building of this stretch of highway than has ever been given since they have been working on highway matters. The highway has not yet been Federally designated.

Coryell County Teachers Association will hold its second meeting at 10: A. M., January 29th, in the Gatesville Junior High School, according to Ercell W. Brooks, President.

Dr. Lorena Stretch, Chairman and Professor of Education at Baylor University, will speak on her address will be a sing-song led by L. A. Holmes, the invocation by Rev. Leslie Seymour, and variety entertainment by a group of Gatesville school children. Following will be an interscholastic League Report by P. T. Lemons.

Divisional speakers will be Mrs. Chas. J. Fothergill, Primary Supervisor of McLennan County, Intermediate Division and Dr. Stretch, High School Division.

Association officers are: Ercell W. Brooks, President; C. A. Barton, First Vice-President; Miss Louise Hall, Second Vice-President; Miss Lottie Humes, Secretary and Miss Linnie Fore, Treasurer.

All Teachers are urged to attend as this will be one of the most worthwhile meetings of the year and delegates for the Central Texas State Teachers Association will be elected.

District Court Tangles With "Bull" Cases; Two Verdicts

District court this week had two cases hinging around one animal, one head of stock alleged to be owned by J. R. Dickie. But here's the "court" story since last issue:

The State of Texas vs. Lora Mack, charged with theft; given two years in penitentiary by jury. Motion for new trial entered.

The State of Texas vs. Granville Rogers, charged with theft; instructed verdict of not guilty on recommendation of District Attorney.

Also, starting yesterday the case of Jennie Wolf vs. G. J. Wolf, suit or divorce and division of property is still on trial and will be concluded probably today.

BLACK CAT CLUB ATTENTION!

The regular meeting of the Black Cat Club will be held Monday evening at 6:00 in the High School Gym. All old members are urged to come and new members are solicited.

Last Monday evening the new coach, Mr. A. E. Whisenhunt brought several all stars from Plainview and with their assistance, and Mr. Whisenhunt's coaching a good team is promised.

New York, N. Y. A venerable old thoroughfare; the Broadway; worthy of a moment's respectful pause to remember that for three hundred years it has been the premier of Gotham's streets. From the days of Dutch New Amsterdam when, starting near the battery wharf it had its city headquarters, its counting house its merchants exchange, its trading store, houses of refreshment entertainment, lodging a church and in time a play house all contained in the scant half mile before it ended at the city limits. The wall; now famous financial Wall Street. 1938 sees it many miles longer with whole blocks, whole sections given over to the financial district, business districts, wholesale and retail stores and churches and hotels scattered its entire length and in the center your Broadway of the nightlife. But it is the same street grown great. Others have their falls and rises; Park Avenue, once dingy and smoke-smutted from the railroad running up its middle goes high hat Sixth Avenue, gay "Hell's Highway" of the famous tenderloin is drab with employment agencies and cheap restaurants. Cluttered by an obsolete elevated railway and the burrowings of subway builders. The bowery, scandal to a nation for a century, now a refuge for down and outers. Its doves lodging houses for bums. Its 'five points' district, one time rival of Frisco's barbary coast and London's lime house, now a childrens playground with swings and wading pools and sandpiles. But Broadway goes on and on; with its Broadwaywardness such as raincoats and rubbers on dogs. Four different night clubs run by the same syndicate in one building. Plays that never should have been produced closing the night after they open and wrecking the "Angel's" bankroll and breaking the hearts of the ushers and the actors and the scrub women who were all set for a hundred week run. And in case you are the betting kind, Broadway odds are seven to five that Charlie McCarthy displaces four time winner Jack Benny as radio's favorite. The palm of 1938 to Billie Burke who looks the same—well almost the same—as she did in 'Love Watches' Jack n 1908. The French Casino is to reopen as Billy Rose's 'Casa Manana' which is Spanish for 'House of Tomorrow' and the wise ones are scoffing it should have been called 'Here Today' The Franchot Tone Joan Crawford split rumors are keeping even Franchot Tone and Joan Crawford guessing. Phooey to those shops that ripped down their Christmas decorations three days before Christmas as much as to say "We've got your money now, so what?" Here'n there—Alice Faye at Grand Central Margot Graham at Reuben's and the hiss running around in circles trying to place De Marzian's meat economy articles with the big sheets in town; pity the poor housewife with steak at a dollar a pound!! And this column thinks 'Tovarich' would have been worth seeing with Garbo and Paul Lukas but we weren't asked in time. And then there was the movie star who instead of walking out on his studio went on sit down strike and they cameraed him for the title role of a quickie to be called 'W P A'....The Broadway Parade.

KNOW TEXAS

Romance and Soap
DENTON, Jan. 25.—Exotic, moonlit nights seem more in harmony with the Yucca, Creamy desert flower of West Texas, than such a drab, everyday article as soap, but experiments have proved that soap can be made from the root of the plant. Even more unromantic but practical from the ranchman's standpoint is the fact that the leaves are good emergency cattle feed.

Future For Cedars
Woman's beauty in a few years may be somewhat dependent on the Cedar trees of Texas. Cosmetics, perfumes, soaps, medicines, paints, varnishes, waxes, etc. are among the products that can be made from cedar oil according to recent discoveries. The possibility of large-scale manufacture of these products makes the fact that Texas has probably the largest supply of uncut cedar timber in the world assume a new significance.
Getting Specific
An example of getting law-marking down to a fine point. In a certain Texas community the law provides not only that an election booth must be of a certain exact dimension, but that it must have a shelf on which the voter can rest his elbow while writing. An armchair and smoking stand ought to be next in line.

Brown, Reed Powell, Sloan Baker, Carl Bradley, C. H. Wallace, E. D. Shelton, John Voss, J. O. Potts, Pleas Walker, J. D. English, Ed. Schloeman and Levi Anderson.

Morris Federation Resumes Meeting Saturday
Members of the Morris Federation will have as their hostess Saturday January 29, Mrs. Ercell W. Brooks. The group will meet at her home for their first meeting since holding open house, December 31.

Mrs. Eugene Alvis, talented speaker, will lead the enjoyable afternoon with a book review of Claudie Cranston's "Wings". It will be followed by "Nanduti" or "Paraguayan Lace" by Mrs. T. M. Hall, and Miss Orpa Mayo will entertain during the afternoon with selected music.

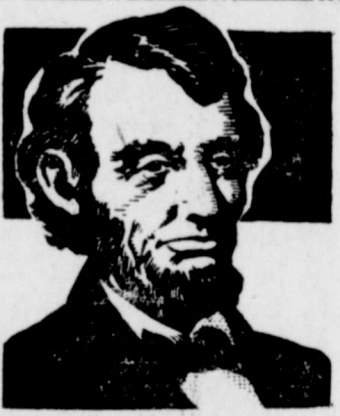

Hinson-Hughett Marriage Rites Are Held
In a very simple, yet lovely, ceremony Miss Willie Fay Hughett became the bride of Paul Hinson Saturday afternoon at 4:00. Rev. J. W. Whitefield read the ceremony which united them at his home in West.

The lovely bride was becomingly attired in grey satin, her accessories were dubonet.
She returned to their home is the Ames community Monday after an enjoyable trip through interesting points over Texas.
The bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hughett of Ireland. She was a graduate of the Ireland high school in 1933. For the past two years she has lived in this city where she has been employed at various places.

The groom is the son of Carl Hinson of Ames. He was a popular graduate from the Gatesville High School in 1933. Both are favorably known thruout Coryell County and the News joins their many friends in wishing them a long life of happiness.

Little Farrell Touchstone, son of Mr. and Mrs. U. Z. Touchstone of the Buster Community, who has been very ill with the flu, is some improved since he was removed to his home from the local hospital.

Various News Notes From County Supt's Office

The attendance of students in the schools of Coryell County for the past month has been exceptionally good. The students seem to be doing much reading in connection with their daily school work. The activities that are gladly taken part in by faculties and students seem to promise busy and happy citizens for the near future.

Friday January 28 is a regular pay day for all schools drawing their salaries thru the county superintendent's office. Vouchers will be ready to hand out Friday afternoon or Saturday morning if teachers see fit to mail them ahead of time. A good program is being prepared for Saturday morning Teacher's Meeting. Teachers have usually shown genuine interest in their profession by being present and taking part in meetings held for the educational growth of all.

Mid terms seem to be just ahead or in progress in the majority of the schools. Standard schools and those seeking standardization have give their remedial standard tests. A few have not completed this work by grafting individual and class records.

County Meet preparations is beginning in many schools. Spelling blanks may be had from the County Superintendent's office. Cooking, sewing, Rythm band, and choral singing rules and regulations will be placed in the local papers this week or next.

Regulations for prizes for posters on fire prevention will be found in the schools mail boxes in the County Superintendent's office.

Miss Rose Walker, who for the past five months has been living with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Tom L. Robinson, left last Thursday to join her parents in Freer. She was accompanied to that city by her aunt, Mrs. W. E. Walker.

Word has been received that Miss Anna Mae Andrew, who recently underwent an operation in a Waco sanitarium, is now at her home in that city, and is satisfactorily recovering. Miss Andrew is the daughter of Mrs. Zula Andrew formerly of this city.

Gene Straw, who has been on a two weeks visit with his parents and friends in Gatesville, plans to return to Corpus Christi this weekend. For the past several months Gene has been making his home in Corpus Christi, where he has been employed.

Mrs. M. A. Hobbs of Tyler, after an absence of over thirty years from her old home town, was the welcome guest the past weekend of Mrs. John T. Post and Mrs. J. D. Shipman. Mrs. Hobbs is a niece of the late Messrs. John and Abney Schley and will be remembered by many old settlers here.

NERVOUS?

DO you feel so nervous that you want to scream? Are there times when you are cross and irritable—times when you scold those who are dearest to you?

If your nerves are on edge, try that world-famous LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND. It will help Nature calm your quivering nerves and give you the strength and energy to face life with a smile.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through" with this reliable, time-tested medicine made especially for women from wholesome herbs and roots. More than a million grateful women have written in reporting benefit from Pinkham's Compound. Why not give it a chance to help YOU?

WITH THE SHIP OF STATE

Washington, D. C. One of the phenomena of the New Deal which has passed almost without comment even here in the capitol is the sudden shifting in prominence of the various cabinet posts. In the past the most important members have usually been the Secretary of State and the Secretary of the Treasury. Many of the men who held these jobs were already of national reputation like Justice Hughes, William Jennings Bryan, Elihu Root, McAdoo and Mellon. Nearly a dozen others used the position as a stepping stone to the presidency or, at least, an attempt at the office. Secretaries of War have been of almost equal importance, Jefferson Davis, Grant, Sherman, and Taft, for instance. The navy had its share.

But now the departments dealing with external affairs have relegated to comparative obscurity and Secretary Ickes of the Interior; an office still less than hundred years old; Wallace of the even younger Bureau of Agriculture and Madame Perkins of the Baby Labor Administration fill the public eye, and ear.

And it's likely to continue that way through 1938 at least.

Observers here predict that the year will be comparatively quiet on the foreign front although the expect an increasing number of incidents in the orient as Japan consolidate her China gains and the European tension will not lessen as the Fascist bloc absorbs all of the little countries except Belgium, The Netherlands and Czechoslovakia. Britain will make desperate efforts to conciliate Germany, and France will agree to reasonable concessions for fear that the last of her little central European allies, Czechoslovakia may be overrun.

For a few weeks it seemed as if General Franco and his Spanish rebels had made their last effort but Mussolini has sent fresh aid and the struggle will drag on.

The figures of the unemployment census came as a shock to many of the more optimistic members of Congress and when the total had been adjusted to take care of the twenty-eight per cent who failed to register it had a generally sobering effect which will shortly become apparent in the actions of the legisla-tors. Ten million, eight hundred thousand was an astounding number, when it was believed that recovery was already well established. But that is not the whole story. At least two million more are believed to have joined the jobless since the registration took place.

Unless conditions improve markedly before election; the next Congress will undoubtedly be far more radical than any so far. The pressure of the unemployed and those whose jobs are precarious or at a bare minimum wage may force the passage of emergency measures which will make present taxes on wealth and big business seem negligible.

Lets Talk about Clothes

DENTON Jan. 25—Miss working Girl should watch with particular interest the discoveries that have been made lately about her wardrobe by the State Department of Labor in New York in connection with the efforts to determine a fair minimum wage.

The bottom annual wardrobe that will get by under all ordinary circumstances was estimated at $196.81. Although a girl can't very well win any medals for being the most fashionably dressed person in town on this, she can be neat and attractive at the office and be prepared for fun in the evenings.

First among the items listed are dresses, with eight allowed annually plus one evening gown. 1 shirt and blouse can be crowded in per year, but a sweater only every two years. Milady can have a new winter coat every three, and a new spring one every two years.

Only twenty pairs of silk hose can be worn out on this plan, which's less than two a month, and four pairs of shoes. Three pairs of gloves and two handbags are annual quota, while rubbers, umbrellas and rain-coats have to last two years.

Three night gowns are Miss Workaday's allowable for the year, but she can have only a wool bathrobe every third year, and kimono and slippers every second year. In the way of underwear she can have exactly two vests five panties four slips and three brassieres. Belts buckles ornaments and other miscellany come out of a fund equal to five per cent of the total.

As limited as this budget may sound, girls at Texas State College for Women have found it of value as a yardstick for their needs and desires.

HORNETS DEFEAT PEARL

The Hornets had little trouble taking the Pearl Dragons Tuesday night, 29-16. The game was rough and there was not much basketball played. Gilbreath, as usual, led the Gatesville scoring with nine points, while Dillard scored six for the Dragons.

Newland played a good floor game and turned in some fine defensive work against his old teammate.

DOYLE PRESTON

Sturdy, dependable, and, in the opinion of his coach, one of the best guards in the state, Captain Doyle Preston of Gatesville is leading the unexpectedly powerful fight Coach Pete Shands' North Texas Eagles are making this year for the Lone Star basketball championship. Preston, a junior, won all-conference honors at guard last year.

TURNERSVILLE

Prof. Trantym's wife and daughter of Waco were weekend visitors here.

Kyle Hobin who is attending John Tarleton, Stephenville, spent the weekend with home folks.

Prof. Lee Johnson of Denton was here to attend the funeral of his sister the late Mrs. Ed Valentin.

Rev. Barnes was a recent visitor to Waco.

Mrs. E. O. Harrell, Miss Wilma and E. O. Harrell Jr. were weekend visitors with home folks.

Mrs. Darmon Dollins is home after spending the past week in Longview.

CRIP SHOTS

By J. F. POST

One player on the Gatesville team who receives little publicity and yet is an internal part of the Hornet defense is Roy Adams standing guard. The kind of offense that the Hornets employ requires four men under the goal, and when the opposition is a fast breaking team, Adams finds himself the lone defender of the Hornets' goal with three or four opposing players bearing down on him with the intent of making a basket. Many times this season he has stopped these threats single handed, secured the ball and pushed it back down the court to his mates on offense. He also takes a great deal of the opposition's shots off the back board.

Arkansas' Razorbacks have gotten away to an early lead in the Southwest conference basketball steeplechase and it will take some mighty upsets to dislodge the Hogs from the top rung of the conference ladder.

By virtue of their two losses to the Razorbacks, the Rice Owls, one of the early favorites are out of the championship running. Baylor with victories over SMU and Texas, loom as the chief team the Hogs have to contend with, while, Southern Methodist, with their loss to the Bears the only mark to mar their record, are still in the running.

The county basketball tournament is less than three weeks off. That affair will be held in the Turnersville gymnasium Feb. 11 and 12. From the looks of it now it will be a three way dog fight between the Hornets, Jonesboro, and Ireland. Pearl has a slim chance to win. The Hornets by virtue of their three wins over Ireland and their nine point victory over Jonesboro in the Turnersville tournament, are the favorites to carry off the championship, despite defeats they have suffered at the hands of Ireland and Jonesboro earlier in the season.

The Golden Gate International Exposition will run for 288 days.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

BY Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND

Practicing the Square Deal

So many ways of applying the Golden Rule occur in school life that it would take a sizeable volume to describe them. But one incident coming to my attention recently uncovered one of the best opportunities we have for teaching fair play. It was the common situation in which several children had acquired head lice. Nearly all schools experience such outbreaks sooner or later, although less today than formerly because of the diligence of school nurses.

As usual the parents in this instance were reluctant to keep the children at home, probably because of the extra trouble involved while others seemed to think that loss of a few days would seriously impair their children's chances of receiving an education. This second argument is pure tommyrot. But some mothers took the stand that infestation with lice was to be expected, a sort of normal condition of childhood. Said one, "Why, I had them, everybody had them when I went to school." Be that as it may, lice are not normal to human existence and the irritation they cause may lead to serious secondary infection.

Now it seems to me that when a child has lice the fair and square thing to do is to keep him away from other children until he is cured. Why pass it on to others, when you don't want others to pass it on to your child? Let's help our children to acquire this cooperative point of view by putting it into operation whenever possible.

The need for co-operation of parents and teachers alike in preventing spread of communicable diseases is stressed by Dr. Ireland next week.

SPORT SCRAPS

By JONES

Headlining the basketball incidents this week, is the Ireland Invitation Basketball tournament, which is going to prove a drawing card both to the fans and the teams. Tonight's the night and they have a brand new gym for the basketballers to cavort in. You'll miss something if you don't get in your buggy and go out.

Four scores in bowling this week, head the list. They are: 3-pin, Ray Jones, 271; 5-pin Joe Satterfield, 302; V-5 Owen Edwards, 145; and 10 pins, Lloyd Ashcraft 173.

In the Table Tennis business the first steps in the organization of a club has been worked out, with temporary officers, Jack Hestlow, proxy, Squeekie Kirkpatrick, v-p; Peyton Morgan sec-treas. and Neil Chapman broom bender.

After the business in the "Anchor Hall" over the bakery, the Anchor Club (it's new moniker) a round robin tourney was held, with Byron Laird McClellan showing his heels to the crowd including Harry Bornstein, previously proven champ. Regular meeting nites are Tuesday and the club is open to members from 2 p. m. til 12 p. m. About 20 participated in the tourney.

FFA-NEWS TO SPONSOR BOXING TOURNAMENT IN COUNTY

Future Farmers of America, local chapter, headed by W. E. Lasseter, Vocational Agriculture instructor at the local high school announces a FFA-NEWS County-Wide Boxing Tourney will be held in the near future, the dates to be announced soon.

All boys and men, who are pugnatiously inclined, are asked to fill out the coupon in this issue of the News, and mail either to the Sports Editor of the Coryell County News, or to W. E. Lasseter of Gatesville.

Weights will be divided similar to the weights in other official national and state contests held, or being held at this time, and with approximately a 10 pound difference in their fly weights, etc.

It is highly probable that in 1939, boxers in Coryell county, if they care to may be entered in the district meet nearest here, and if they win, go on to the state, and even the national meet, which is held in Chicago. It all depends on the interest.

Further information, and the tourney dates will be announced just as soon as the schedule can be worked out.

CALLED MEETING OF COUNTY H-D COUNCIL SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The Country Home Demonstration Council will have a called meeting at the Court House at 2 P. M. Saturday, January 29th for the purpose of introducing officers and members from the various clubs, approving the rules for 1938, announcing committee approved, and hearing plans for the 1938 budget.

Mr. J. Ben Whitenburg, Council Chairman for 1938, and Mrs. Mildred Melton, Council Secretary-Treasurer for 1938 will preside.

GATESVILLE DEFEATS TURNERSVILLE

The Hornets defeated the Turnersville Buffaloes Wednesday in the local gym. 29-16. It was Felix Newlin, rangy guard, who played his greatest game against the Turnersville club. Felix was spinning around the free throw line and sinking the ball through the net and his work on tip-in shots under the basket is rapidly gaining for him the name of being the best for that particular type of scoring in the county circuit. He scored 18 points, the most a single Hornet has scored in one game this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Warren of Streveport, La. are visiting their parents in this city he later part of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Franklin and little son, Leroy, have moved to this city from Blankett Texas and are making their home in the Davis Apartment.

Little Betty Joe Atkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Atkins is seriously ill with pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Post and Mrs. Colgin of Tyler were weekend guests of his mother, Mrs. John T. Post.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hinson and son David, accompanied by Mrs. Hinson's mother, Mrs. S. J. Caldwell were business visitors in Dallas Tuesday.

Mrs. J. H. Draper and charming baby daughter, Johnnie Louise of Waco are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. King of near Gatesville.

FEATURES of INTEREST

WORLD COMMENT

Joe Burns

Partisanship often beclouds the truth in America. In their eagerness for the prestige and spoils of public office, Democrats and Republicans are glib to ignore basic issues and truths and to concentrate upon the inconsequential which may prove an attractive vote-getting issue.

It is most difficult for Democrats to consider seriously the criticisms directed toward them by their Republican opponents, and vice versa. The result is that charges of bias are hurled against independent writers, thinkers, lecturers and commentators by the party against which the facts stand.

Because of these unknown facts it is both interesting and informative and indeed rather odd, to read what a resident of another country has to say about America and American politics. At least the charge of party bias cannot be hurled against those observers from abroad who come to America from a purely objective viewpoint to learn whatever of value they can, which might in turn be applied on their own spheres. For this reason two statements by Englishmen attracted my attention and I pass them on to you.

Mr. Brendan Bracken is a member of the House of Commons who recently visited the United States to study the economic situation and the politics of President Roosevelt. He printed his conclusions in the "Financial News" of London and they were passed on to us by "Time". Herewith are a few quotations from Mr. Bracken, who, please remember is an Englishman to whom the words Democrat and Republican mean little if nothing.

"How to create a depression—President Roosevelt's Recipe. Mr. Roosevelt, like most vocal humanitarians, is a great hater. Roosevelt's punitive mind is mirrored in the drastic extensions of the Capital Gains Tax. Working men may be forgiven for thinking that Mr. Roosevelt's passion for half-baked reforms has reformed them out of their jobs. As a result of (the Roosevelt Administration's) crazy experiments in taxation and their policy of harassing industry, the lights are going out in factories all over America. The dreadful "No Men Wanted" signs are brought out of storage. If the economic royalists were responsible for the last depression, Mr. Roosevelt and his budding commissars must take the responsibility for this one...."

It is the New Dealers, who are the real menace to American prosperity. Until they cease to have power to run the government, confidence will not return to America. Congress may be incoherent, but it is not so flipulant as the President and his posse of advisors. Will they dare to ring down the curtain of the President's prima donna performances which are the root of this Crisis of Confidence?..

"No man's head however big could carry all Mr. Roosevelt thinks he knows.... One day an inflationist, the next a deflationist. A fixer of prices who denounces his own creations, a given of what he calls 'the more abundant life' who orders the destruction of food while millions of his fellow countrymen are undernourished. A great preacher of free speech who threatened the political ruin of the Senator who for the sake of principle opposed his Supreme Court 'reform'. A bitter critic of bureaucracy who has created so many bureaux that Washington cannot contain them. A stern advocate of economy who has spent more money than any President in the history of the United States.

In the light of these inconsistencies, can it be denied that 'confidence' and Mr. Roosevelt go ill together? The power to create a state of uncertainty in which no businessman or investor will incur risk is vested in the President of the United States. Mr. Roosevelt is the first President who thought fit to use that power. Every ounce of it was applied. Neither graphs nor economic jargon, nor statistics are required to show how Mr. Roosevelt made the depression which should always bear his name. He created it by methods which were as direct as they were effective."

Mr. Winston Churchill was at one time Chancellor of the British Exchequer, Home Secretary Colonial Secretary and War Secretary. He is now a member of the British Parliament. Here is his view of current conditions in America:

The quarrel in which President Roosevelt has become involved with wealth and business may produce results profoundly harmful to the ideals which to him and his people are dear.

It is surely far better to allow the productive forces of capital and credit to create wealth and abundance and then by corrective taxation of profits, meet the needs of the weak and poor! Instead, the Washington Administration waged so ruthless a war on private enterprise that the United States, with none of the perils and burdens of Europe upon it, is actually leading the world back into the trough of depression.

"A prosperous United States exerts directly and indirectly an immense beneficent force upon world affairs. Those who are keeping the flag of peace and free government flying in the old world have almost the right to ask that their comrades in the new world should, during these years of exceptional and not diminishing danger, set an example of strength and stability. There is one way above all others in which the United States can aid European democracies. Let her regain and maintain her normal prosperity."

Growing Buffalo Grass From Seed

Enough information is now available to grow Buffalo grass from seed. There are several methods of establishment of Buffalo grass on pastures and retired land. One method that has been pointed out by cooperators of the Gatesville camp area is by allowing sheep to graze between an old established Buffalo grass pasture and a field retired from cultivation. Seeds and plants have been distributed in the same way, but a complete cover in this way is very slow.

Probably the most effective way to get a complete cover is by treating and planting as a row crop, and never seed Buffalo broadcast. Plant Buffalo grass seed in the fall and early spring with an ordinary one-row walking or riding cotton planter with cell plate containing enough holes to allow 6 filled burrs to be dropped per linear foot in 36 to 40" rows. Cover the seed about one inch, attach light roller behind planter to firm the soil over the seed.

Young plant should be cultivated to keep weeds and other grasses down. First cultivation should be given soon after germination; the second cultivation about 6 to 8 weeks later; and the third cultivation should be given only in the middles to keep from disturbing new runners.

Do not graze the first year. Stock will eat the new runners and pull up the rooted ones. Only moderate grazing should be practiced the second year.

DEATH OF CHARLEY SMITH OF FLAT

Charlie Smith was born January 29, 1872; departed from this life December 18, 1937. He had been in declining health for over a year. At the time of his passing he was at the home of his sister, Mrs. Dr. Jones in Talpa where he had gone for medical aid. Mr. Smith had spent most of his life near Flat, where he had a host of friends to ever welcome his smiling face; to know him was to love him. He was so kind and accommodating to everyone; always lending a helping hand in every possible way.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, December 19, at 3:00 in the Smith Cemetery near Flat by Rev. Dossie. He was buried in full honors by the Masonic Lodge. Active pall bearers were his nephews, Floyd Potteridge, Fred Jones, Allen Smith, Claud Potteridge, Rufus Smith and Eugene Smith. Mr. Smith leaves to mourn his passing two brothers and three sisters and several nieces and nephews: his surviving brothers and sisters are Mr. Andy Smith of Flat; Mr. Ernest Smith of Old Mexico; Mrs. John Myers of Bronte, Texas; Mrs. Rena Jones of Talpa; Miss Zada Smith of El Paso. Among his nieces and nephews are Lee and Calvert Smith of Southbridge, Mass; Mrs. Kermit Smith of Kaufman;

WASHINGTON NEWS

FROM OUR CONGRESSMAN

W. R. PORGE

This week has been one of steady work in the House. We have passed one of the the Major Appropriation Bills—the Independent Offices Bill and have spent two days debating another one of the large appropriation bills—the Post Office and Treasury Departments' bill. Both of these bills contain very substantial reductions in the sums appropriated last year, and if they can be taken as a measure they indicate a large reduction in government spending for next year. I believe that these reductions must be made and I hope that our people will realize that we must reduce the expense of government if we are to hope for any large scale expansion of private industry. Unless private business can hope to earn a profit over and above taxes and running expenses, it is not going to employ anyone. If it does not provide employment the government must; but it is very

THE HARMON HOME IMPROVEMENT CLUB

The Harmon Home Improvement Club met at the home of Mrs. Parce Williamson, January 18, 1938.

The afternoon was spent in hemming cup towels and Kinging.

The house was called to order by the President and minutes of previous meeting were read. The roll was called, nine members were present.

Motion was made and carried that we have secret pals. The ones present drew names.

We planned to have some kind of entertainment at the school house in the near future. Mrs. Whittenburg was elected chairman.

Mrs. Rosa Perryman will be bed room demonstrator for this year.

Refreshments of cake, cookies coffee and cocoa were served.

The motion was made and carried that the meeting adjourn to meet with Mrs. Rosa Perryman January 22.

Mrs. Hubert Hallmark, San Marcos; A. J. Smith, Seguin; Allen Rufus, and Eugene Smith of Flat; Floyd Potteridge, Claud Potteridge, Fred Jones, Smith Wright and Mrs. Lucille Casner of El Paso, a brother-in-law, Mr. Jim Temple of Ewing. Among those from out-of-town to attend the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Ruby Bradford and son Fred, of San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Smith Wright and Mrs. Lucille Casner of El Paso.

Mr. Smith was laid to rest beneath a mound of beautiful flowers, showing the high esteem in which he was held by his many friends.

difficult for us to work out a plan of stopping government spending long enough to get private spending started. It is also well for us from the Southwest to remember that we get a much greater benefit from certain types of government spending than from others. For instance, the expenditures on roads and the agriculture program are especially helpful to our section.

The House also passed a number of amendments to the Federal Trade Commission Act giving this body much greater power to prevent false advertising of foods and drugs. It has long been recognized that there was not sufficient power to prevent the indefensible practice of making false claims about drugs that were being sold to the public. This bill attempts to supply this power.

On Monday the House voted 188 to 209 not to consider the Ludlow Resolution which would have submitted a Constitutional Amendment requiring a vote of the people to declare a foreign war. I expressed my views on this matter last week. The action of the House Monday but emphasized the folly of relying on Congress to resist pressure and keep the County out of foreign wars. A majority of 218 names had actually signed a petition to bring this measure out for debate and then after the press spread the alarm that this resolution would in some unexplained way hurt our foreign trade, the departments all got excited and put the pressure on Congress and actually got a number of the very Congressmen who had asked that the resolution be brought out to vote against its consideration. For my part I voted FOR the consideration of the resolution, just as I expect to vote for every effort that comes before me that is reasonably calculated to maintain peace.

Since Congress has reconvened we have had a tremendous number of requests for jobs. Unfortunately there are very few jobs available and as government expenses are reduced there are fewer and fewer. We are, however, glad to do all we can for our people but I want to ask everyone who writes us to be careful to sign your name and to put your address on the letter (not only on the envelope.) It is surprising how many letters are received with no name signed to them and even more come in without an address. When we get such a letter it is impossible for us to reply, so friends, please help my office force by signing your name and address to every letter you write to our office.

Yours very sincerely,

PEABODY NEWS

School seems to be progressing as much as possible under the rainy conditions. Attendance has been as near perfect as could be expected during the present weather circumstances.

We are beginning our county meet studies and are doing fairly well in other subjects, along with our studies we don't forget our social and field activities. We are hoping to win out in a few events.

Some of our unit work has proven to be successful especially the unit one, Indians. The fifth and sixth grades are now at work on their Texas units. We are hoping to do better with it.

We received our thirty-four library books back from Waco, where the Texas Book Binding Company has been rebinding and patching them for us. We are very well pleased with the excellent work they completed.

Peabody School and Community have tried to entertain the community with a monthly program. So far we have done this. Christmas we had a small play, The Tail of a Mule's Tail, and a Christmas program consisting of songs, readings, plays, operettas and pantomimes. For this month, January, the ex-students and other members of the community are entertaining with songs, readings and plays. Three one act plays will be presented; The Cow that Kicked Chicago; It's All over Town; and Please Pass the Cream. The songs are; A Garden Romance; acted and sung by two; The Old Spinning Wheel; dramatized and a few other songs. The readings are; Rivals in Politics; by two negro men; Old Fashioned Madien's View of the world To-day; and a new reading of newspaper clippings. Come and enjoy the program on Thursday January 26.

The Gatesville National Bank

CAPITAL $100,000.00
SURPLUS $50,000.00

Gatesville, Texas
January 28, 1938

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

On February 15, 1938, the shareholders of the two banks will meet to vote upon the consolidation of The First National Bank of Gatesville, and The Gatesville National Bank. The merger and consolidation, due to certain set legal requirements, cannot be completed until after that date.

The question may have arisen in your mind as to whether this will affect your account with this bank.

The merger will be made without affecting or disturbing your account in any way.

On the day the consolidation is completed, the accounts of both banks will be transferred to "The National Bank of Gatesville", which will be the name of the consolidated institution.

Until you have been supplied with new checks, deposit tickets, pass books, etc., the same forms as you are now using will serve you and will be acceptable.

The merged institution will operate at the present location of The Gatesville National Bank until the First National Bank building can be remodeled.

We express the hope that we may have your continued loyal support and cooperation, just as we have had in the past.

We assure you that your account will have every safeguard and the same careful handling that you have learned to expect from us.

One of the main purposes of the consolidation is that of rendering greater service and creating an institution of the very best efficiency.

We will be glad to explain as best we can any question that may present itself to your mind pertaining to the consolidation.

Respectfully yours,

Dan E. Graves,
President

New York, N. Y. —So this column casts one vote in favor of having every new year's eve on a Friday night because by Monday morning it's possible to go to work; and work... and quite a new years it was, too, thank you—with the Gothamites doing the unpredictable as usual; in spite of reasonable prices at the nightspots the revellers preferred to go vagabonding and the most popular and prosperous places (were those with no reservations; no cover charge and no entertainment. Holiday high spots; Bill Robinson impersonating a dusky Santa Claus at the Cotton Club The baby relief fund party at the Ultra-ultra stork clup with 'cafe' society attending in diamonds and baby clothes, and acting the age they were dressed for. That picture of Times Square at noon on Christmas Day with only twelve people in sight, and the one taken at midnight on New Years eve with twelve thousand and in spite of 'Do your shopping early' signs the big town managed to tie itself in an all time record traffic jam in the sleet of Christmas eve; ten blocks an hour was practically speeding. New York newspaper film critics will pick 'Captains Courageous' as the best of 1937 making a total of twenty one films which have been selected. Top notch writers are deaf to the call of Hollywood because the picture Moguls insist on using anywhere from two to twenty writers on every film; and nine out of ten of the good films are taken from good books or plays written by just one person. Short short story; Al Capone, alcohol, Alcatraz. Broadway theatres hit a mid-December slump that sent up the notices on all but six boards; but the slump lasted only three days. It musta been worth seeing; Two-gun western William S. Hart in 'Ben Hur' back in '99; and Allison Skipworth in the title role of 'An Artist's Model' model 1896. The big news twenty years ago; America goes to war, Czar abdicates, Mata Hari. Ten years ago the Snyder-Grey murder case Sacco-Vanzetti, Lindbergh and for 1937—the Big Apple Congress, Charlie McCarthy.

There's a cabinet officer's wife who spends more time in the night clubs than she does in Washington but still the photogs won't take her picture. And Herbert Hoover is reported to have smiled in the rainbow room at radio city. And a big hand to that new Fifth Avenue restaurant which had the building front done over in the red brick and white woodwork colonial style that makes the modernistic skyscrapers look like a bad dream from eating too much turkey. And I'll bet that you didn't know that turkeys weren't named that way after the country but used to be called "turkers" because the first settlers thought their gobble sounded like "Turk. turk! turk!" And in case you've forgotten the Chinese pay all their debts on new year's day. Hoping you did the same. The Broadway Parade.

Lets Talk about Clothes

DENTON; Jan. 18—Fashion's coasting season is here again—the time when madame is looking toward Spring while the weather restrains her ideas to winter. Suits are the answer.

Well-known for this between-season qualifications, suits have been given their big chance this year by manufacturers and retailers a like. The two and three piece creations make it possible for you to keep your January and February wardrobe from being the stepchild of the year.

Softly tailored classic suits are as good as ever, with capes added to many of the simple, shirt jacket types. Slate blues, Banker's gray and other like tones are featured in herring bone worsted and other smooth weaves. Girls at Texas State College for women find that twill gabardine also makes an unbeatable suit for this reason and can be worn later than the worsted.

Natural blue Fox is being pushed ahead as the best trimming for late costumes. This shade is particularly successful because it blends so well with the new colors that are showing up all along the style horizon—beige, blues; rose shades; mauves and navy.

Details are playing a large part in giving dash to the newest creations, with pockets rating high in the list. Often they are set in the short and three-quarter length coats, thus emphasizing the panel but not distracting the eye by the additions of another line. A complete two platoon fire department stationed on Treasure Island, will guard the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

FORD OFFERS TWO NEW CARS and keeps their PRICES LOW

Right — the Standard Tudor Sedan 60 or 85 horsepower
Below — the De Luxe Fordor Sedan 85 horsepower

THERE are two new Ford cars for 1938—the De Luxe and the Standard—differing in appearance, appointments and price—but built on the same dependable Ford chassis. Both bring you the basic advantages of a V-type 8-cylinder power-plant—smooth performance and compact design. The De Luxe Ford has the 85-horsepower engine. The Standard Ford provides a choice of 85 or 60 horsepower. Both new cars are economical to operate. The Standard, with thrifty "60" engine, costs less to run than any other Ford car ever built. And both new cars are priced low. Low price, like economy, is a Ford tradition. Ford founded the low-price field 30 years ago and keeps Ford prices low. The De Luxe Ford costs slightly more than the Standard Ford, but provides more style with extra room in the closed sedans. Both cars, in proportion to price, represent unusual values. Both are built to the same high standard of mechanical excellence. There's a dealer near you.

SYNOPSIS
In 1844, Ramsay McKay, handsome express agent is drafted by his company to extend the service from the Atlantic seaboard to St. Louis. He does so willingly because it gives him a chance to see pretty Justine Pryor, aristocratic Southern belle whom he had met in Buffalo. He wins the confidence of Justine's rich father when he delivers a much-needed bank draft from New York when all other transportation agencies had failed. On Mr. Pryor's recommendation McKay hires Hank York, hardy plainsman, and Pawnee, his Indian companion, to help him in St. Louis.

CHAPTER IV
WITHIN two years after Ramsay McKay's arrival in St. Louis as a Wells Fargo messenger, the pioneer express service had more than a full share of the business conducted between St. Louis and the Atlantic seaboard, and the cities and settlements in between; not to mention the growing commerce with Texas and other frontier areas. Ramsay McKay had been manager of the St. Louis office since its opening and not the least of his success had been due to the manner in which Nicholas Pryor had profited by his faith in the service of the company.

St. Louis was booming in 1846 and ing, I am told in Washington. All this means a tremendous tide of emigration."

He turned again to a map unfolded before them, and with a pencil traced lines across it, stemming out of St. Louis, three of them: One, to the Southwest, through Texas and Spanish New Mexico; Two, almost due West by way of the Great Salt Lake to Central California; Three, bearing Northwest to the Dalles, in Oregon.

"Land of untold resources, undreamed wealth," Henry Wells declared. "Those who settle its homes, its villages and its cities will demand reliable communication with the East. I plan to give it to them. That is why I am in St. Louis today."

"But, Mr. Wells," Ramsay objected, "aren't you looking pretty far ahead? You say that you want trails mapped and possible express and freight routes laid out all the way to California. Wouldn't such an outlay be a tremendous gamble?"

Henry Wells smiled.

"For the first time since we formed our partnership, Will Fargo has said I may be crazy, but I think nowhere were signs of activity more evident than Ramsay McKay's office on a fine Spring morning. Ramsay was met at the doorway by Hank York, in company with the ever-present Pawnee.

"Ramsay," Hank began, "me and Pawnee been thinkin'—"
"Again?" Ramsay smiled.
"Yup. This city life is a gettin' us down. We need some fresh air. We been workin' for you ever since we brought Mr. Pryor's furs in last Fall, and—"

From the river a boat-whistle screamed.

"You'll have to wait until tomorrow to quit," Ramsay told Hank. "Mr. Wells is coming in on that boat from New Orleans, and I must hurry to meet him."

For hours of that day Ramsay McKay and Henry Wells were closeted over such projects as made the young man more fully appreciate the vision and the far-seeing national consciousness of his employer, those qualities which were to set Henry Wells down in history as one of the truly great Americans of his time. Even after they had dressed for dinner, to which they had been bidden by the Nicholas Pryors, the men returned to the Wells Fargo office where the elder held Ramsay fascinated, almost enraptured with maps and papers and his running fire of prophecy. Talk turned on the war with Mexico.

"General Taylor has crossed the Rio Grande," Henry Wells continued. "I would rather that Texas might join the Union through peace. But, when this war is over, it is my belief that this whole area west of the Pacific Ocean, including California, will be United States territory. The Oregon boundary has been settled; the treaty is ready for sign-

I have convinced him that I'm not. I want Wells Fargo to be first in the field, if possible, and to dominate the communication and transportation business of this great new territory. That is worth some risk. But the gamble is not as great as you may think; only the outfitting, the pay and the travelling expenses of about three men—a leader who senses what I must know and perhaps, as guides, two capable frontiersmen."

Ramsay was silent for a moment. He gazed at the map and from it, possibly, took fire with the enthusiasm with which his employer had traced his pencil-lines. Then, as casually as he might, he spoke:

"When do you want me to start, Mr. Wells?"

"Took you long enough to ask that, Ramsay. Just as soon as you can get ready, and get the men to go with you."

"I have the men," Ramsay replied, mentioning Hank York and Pawnee by name. "I think we could leave here tomorrow evening."

Further talk was cut off by arrival of the Pryor carriage, and at the Pryor home additional guests made any discussion of business enterprises out of the question.

Later in the evening Ramsay managed to break away from a group, and to search for Justine, with whom he had had scarcely a word, in the months during which he had lived in St. Louis. Ramsay had been regularly a caller at the Pryor home, and though he sometimes wondered if Mrs. Pryor did not actually dislike him, he had not been idle in opportunities thus afforded.

Ramsay was certain that Nicholas Pryor knew how matters stood, that there was definitely an understanding between Justine and himself, and that only Justine's desire to win over her mother's approval of Ramsay as a son-in-law withheld formal announcement of their betrothal. Mrs. Pryor had been unusually gracious that evening and the young man was thinking that possibly his standing was improving, as he walked to the veranda and a secluded seat where Justine often waited for him. As he hoped, she was there; but with her was Talbot Carter.

Ramsay did not know then that Talbot Carter had just learned from Justine's lips that the Carter-Pryor union on which all St. Louis had counted since the two were children was not to be. As kindly as she might Justine had told him, but had evaded direct answer to his why. Thus, Ramsay could not know the fine and generous spirit which prompted Talbot to excuse himself from the trio, but to pause to say wholeheartedly:

"Congratulations, old man."
"Does he know?" Ramsay asked anxiously.

Then Justine told him of what had just occurred.

"Let's tell them, tonight," Ramsay pleaded, "before I go away."
"Away?" Justine echoed.

"Tomorrow. To California, for Mr. Wells."

"California!" the girl exclaimed.

"But, Ramsay—"
"I know, sweetheart. But, you see—"

"Ramsay," Justine clutched her lover's arm in panic. "That's so far. It will take so long. You're not going without—you can't be going—alone."

"Oh, no," Ramsay was most reassuring. "I'm taking Hank York and Pawnee along."

The girl's lip trembled. Tears welled in her lovely eyes as she stammered, "But, Ramsay, darling, I meant—alone without me."

"You?" It was the man's turn to be startled. "Why, Justine, that would be impossible."
But Justine interrupted.

"We could be married tomorrow morning. I don't care what mother might say, I'll do it. I'll go in and tell them all, now."

Ramsay seized the girl's arm. He held her while he tried to make clear the sheer folly of her plan. But no talk of hardship, of dangers she must share moved her; she abandoned her idea as suddenly as she had adopted it only when Ramsay added:

"And, I have work to do—big work."

Justine wrenched free. Eyes blazing, cheeks flaming, she faced him, and told him flatly:

"I never want to see you again. Never."

Then she burst into tears and ran into a side-door of the house.

Three saddlehorses and four loaded packmules were hitched outside the Wells Fargo offices next morning before noon, and nearby Hank York loafed, waiting, with Pawnee. Ramsay McKay, already in his trail clothes, was inside for a last talk with Henry Wells. Nicholas Pryor's carriage drew up at the curb and from it the fur trader and his daughter alighted to enter the office. Henry Wells and Ramsay were just emerging from the private office at the rear.

The girl ran straight to Ramsay. "Oh, my dear, my dear," Justine sobbed, "I couldn't let you go without telling you how sorry, how ashamed I am. I didn't mean a word I said. I will wait for you—forever. But, Ramsay, if you love me, don't make forever too long."

They went into the private office, were there but a moment and when they opened the door again Justine was smiling through her tears. As Ramsay hesitated, the girl spoke.

"Go, Ramsay, now. Please, dear, now."

The men shook hands and exchanged farewells. Outside, the voice of Hank York broke into song:

"I don't know where I'm headin' for, I'm headin' for, I'm headin' for. I only know I want to go Where I ain't been before."
