A. W. Ellis Makes It 2 In County Clerk's Race Here

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the office of County Clerk. In asking for this office, I claim no unusual ability in anything. I believe I have had sufficient training to discharge the duties of this office capably and efficiently.

At present I am teaching school at Osage, where I have been employed as principal for the past eight year.

After the close of school I shall make an earnest endeavor to meet every voter in the county. Any favor or consideration will be gratefully appreciated.

Respectively

J. Manley Head Makes Statement To Voters Of The District

To the voters of the 21st Senatorial District:

Recently I was employed by Paramount Pictures as Historical Advisor on a picture concerning Texas History, and which is named "The Texans." A short time later they offered me the opportunity to appear in the picture. I was required to be out of the state a short time which lead some to believe and to the erroneous report that I was about to give up my senatorial work. However, I want to assure my constituents that I am always available for my senatorial duties and can always be reached in my home in Stephenville, Texas.

The Senate is not in session during this entire year unless the Governor should call a Special Session next Fall at which time I shall be at my post as usual.

If I can serve any of my constituents, personally or officially I shall be more than glad to do so whether or not we are in session.

Very truly yours

Mr. C. P. Liljebblad of Gatesville attended the Hereford Sale of J. C. Dibrell and Son of Coleman on February 9th and topped the sale by purchasing the bull Superior Domino 60th. This is as good a bull as has been brought to Coryell County for some time both in individual quality and pedigree. He is royally bred, a doubly Superior Domino out of a daughter of Belle Domino 19th, she is by Prince Domino in fact. Prince Domino is in the pedigree of the bull 3 times. This is the most popular Hereford of breeding today and has produced many of the outstanding blue ribbon winners of the Hereford breed for many years. This bull was bred by George D. Keith President of the Texas Hereford Association and one of the outstanding Hereford breeders of the State, and who has worked for the improvement of the Hereford breed in this State. This bull is two years old and will bring a great deal of personal satisfaction to Mr. Liljebblad in addition to improving his bred over a period of years. The individual characteristics of beef type as exemplified in this bull and his general disposition makes him a most desirable bull to own.

Mr. Liljebblad was confronted with the problem of securing a bull which would improve the quality of the cows which he is running in his herd. He is known as having one of the better commercial herds in the county, securing better bred Herefords as the opportunity arises and improving these by breeding and management.

The Secretary of Agriculture pursuant to Section 347 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 has announced that a referendum by secret ballot of cotton farmers who were engaged in the production of cotton in 1937 will be held on the date indicated below to determine whether they are in favor of, or opposed to cotton-marketing quotas for the 1938 crop. This referendum of cotton farmers is called because the Secretary of Agriculture has determined and proclaimed, pursuant to the provisions of said Act that the total supply of cotton for the 1937 marketing year exceeds by more than 7 percentum the normal supply thereof for such marketing year. The Secretary having made this finding, there is imposing subject to the result of a referendum of cotton farmers, a marketing quota with respect to the marketing by farmers of their 1938 cotton crop during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1938.

If two thirds or more of the cotton farmers voting in the referendum favor cotton marketing quotas, the cotton marketing quotas established pursuant to the provisions of said Act, will become effective for the 1938 cotton crop. If more than one third of the cotton producers voting in the referendum oppose the cotton marketing quotas, the quotas shall not

WORLD COMMENT

Joe Burns

The activities of the Texas Senate investigating committee are to be resumed following the return of Attorney General William McCraw from Washington. Whether further investigation of the bank accounts and activities of Tom C. Clark, now assistant attorney general of the United States and former law partner of McCraw, will produce incriminating evidence of such a nature as to run the blooming candidacy of McCraw time only will tell.

Rumor has it that the investigation which has now extended to the bank accounts of McCraw and his wife, is a deliberate attempt on the part of friends of Governor Allred to "smear" McCraw and force him to abandon the race for governor. This, naturally, is rumor pure conjecture unsubstantiated by fact.

With all good respect for the honorable intentions of Chairman Holbrook and the other members of the committee it seems to me only fair that any investigation of McCraw and his associates should be extended to the associates of other.

This was demanded by Editor Carl Estes of Longview in an open letter to Senator Joe Hill of Henderson printed in his News-Journal. Estes asked that the incomes and bank accounts

Raymond and Rene Allred former law partners and brothers of Governor Allred, be probed by the committee.

Editor Estes made this additional reasonable suggestion: "...You've been summoning some of Mr. McCraw's former assistant attorneys general and asking them to hang their private affairs on your public clothes-line; if you are patriotically and not politically motivated why don't you summon Neil Powers, Ed Clark, Elbert Hooper Everett Looney, Fred Upchurch and all other former assistant attorneys general under James V. Allred, as well as all of McCraw's and ask them to hang their clothes up there on that same line beside Clark's".

Chairman Jim Farley, Ace Publicist Charley Michaelson, and other bigwigs of the Democratic National Committee are currently in Florida seeking solutions to several knotty problems which the administration faces in primaries this year.

Kentuck's Gov. Albert B. (Happy) Chandler has announced for the Democratic nomination for the senator against Alben W. Barkley senate majority leader. The administration is alarmed over the possibility of a defeat for Leader Barkley where by the majority leadership might go to a conservative Democrat such as Pat Harrison of Mississippi. Barkley defeated Harrison for the leadership following the death of Joe Robinson of Arkansas.

Chandler, oddly enough, closely resembles Jimmie Allred in his political technique and mannerisms. (Tis said our Jimmie also has senatorial ambitions.) Chandler in his announcement proclaimed himself the friend of President Roosevelt, but warned that he would attack the chief executive if Roosevelt should come to the aid of Barkley.

Texans will remember how Washington sources extended aid to Senator Connally in 1934 and Senator Sheppard in 1936 in their campaigns for re-election. But even presidential aid may not spare the toga of Leader Barkley from young Governor Chandler.

Rumblings of discord and strife in the Democratic machine organized in Pennsylvania in 1932 by Senator Joe Guffey strike an equally discordant note with those from Kentucky at Democratic national headquarters.

Gov. George H. Earle ineligible by law to succeed himself has announced for the senate seat held by Republican James J. Davis.

Charles A. Jones, Pittsburgh attorney has received the endorsement of David Lawrence for governor, the state chairman but Senator Guffey, boss of the machine, is opposed to Jones. Guffey wanted to run for the governorship himself but was dissuaded by President Roosevelt, who asked him to remain in the senate.

Opposed to both Guffey and Jones is John L. Lewis the C. I. O. leader, who is determined to make Thomas Kennedy lieutenant governor, and secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers, the Democratic candidate for governor. Lewis claims his unions in Pennsylvania control 800,000 votes.

Thus the President and Chairman Farley are apprehensive lest an intraparty fight in Pennsylvania cause the Democrats to lose many of the congressional seats won in the last two elections not to mention the governorship and the senate seat held by Senator Davis.

Senator Fredrick Van Nuys opposed the Supreme Court reform bill last year and is now marked for political slaughter in Indiana.

Paul V. McNutt, erstwhile Indiana governor who is now Philippine High Commissioner, is visiting in Washington to launch his boom for the presidency in 1940 and to lay the groundwork for the execution of Senator Van Nuys.

The powerful McNutt political machine, ably run by Senator Sherman Minton and Gov. M.

Clifford Townsend, has already set the machinery in motion against luckless Senator Van Nuys who will likewise be tacitly opposed by the national Administration.

California's 74 year old Senator Williams Gibbs McAdoo is in prospect for this summer one of the hardest political campaigns of his career.

Opponents of McAdoo are Pierson Hal, former McAdoo lieutenant who is now U. S. Attorney in Los Angeles, Sheridan Downey, personal attorney of Dr. Francis E. Townsend; with U. S. Comptroller of the Currency James F. T. O'Connor considering entrance into the race.

Nat'l Used Car Week Features Many Values

New York, Feb. 27 —A national drive to sweep the American automobile industry out of the current recession and stimulate American business generally was announced here today by Alvin Macauley, speaking for every American automobile manufacturer and the nation's 46,000 automobile dealers.

The campaign to be known as "National Used Car Exchange Week" and scheduled for March 5 to 12 is an outgrowth of recent conferences at the White House between President Roosevelt and leaders of the automobile industry. Mr. Macauley said. The President has been advised of plans for the campaign which is the first cooperative effort ever undertaken in which all American automobile manufacturers have taken part.

The campaign, is timed at the outset of the spring selling season when both new and used cars usually begin to move in greatest volume. Mr. Macauley said. It is aimed primarily at stimulating the disposal of used car stocks now in dealer hands. Once this is accomplished a substantial increase in car manufacturing schedules and employment of wage earners in the automobile industry is anticipated.

To support the campaign the campaign Mr. Macauley announced, the manufacturers will spend $1,250,000 in newspaper, radio and outdoor advertising and in other promotion channels. Two-thirds of the advertising budget will be spent in newspapers.

"The motor car industry," said Mr. Macauley in making the announcement "is generally credited with showing the way out of the last depression".

"Today the automobile manufacturers their suppliers, the nation's 46,000 dealers and allied industries are launching a similar drive".

So far as the automobile industry is concerned the most serious barrier to business improvement is the large stock of used cars in the dealer's hands. Mr. Macauley pointed out.

Until these cars can be sold, it is impossible for dealers to handle a normal value of new car business, he explained. This means that factories will be forced to continue on part-time and thousands of men in the motor car business and plants must remain either out of work or on part time schedules".

The primary purpose of the campaign he said, is to make known to prospective owners the remarkable used car values which are now being offered by automobile dealers in all parts of the United States.

"The present situation has resulted in the best used car values in the country's history. We are confident that used car stocks will be reduced sharply as soon as the public becomes aware of the fact" he added.

During the last few years vast improvements have been made in motor cars and this improved transportation is available on easy terms to those who take advantage of the bargains to be offered during "National Used Car Exchange Week" Mr. Macauley stated.

"Too many unsafe, wornout unreliable cars, without modern safety brakes, safety glass large tires and steel bodies are in operation today" he continued. "Too many are costly to operate. Eleven million seven years old or older are licensed for operation throughout the country.

"Many of these cars can be replaced during the "National Used Car Exchange Week"; to the great advantage of the buyer and of the public; with newer up to date cars without initial investment beyond their present car and on terms to suit the average pocketbook. These new cars offer modern equipment and are a good investment in comfort, safety and economy".

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

THE tourists haven't been swarming across the ocean so much the last few weeks, they say. Too much ocean, maybe. Anyhow, there was one maiden lady from Boston that was on one of the big liners, they tell me, and she didn't know much about the kind of talk they use at sea. But she was going to get her money's worth out of the trip, and she was set on interviewing the captain. She says to a steward, "Say, I want to talk to the captain. Where'll I find him?" "He's forward, madame," says the steward. "Well," says the maiden lady, kinda sharp like, "I don't care how forward he is, I'm going to talk to him anyhow! I've handled a lot of forward young men in my time, and if you'll just kindly tell me where to find the captain maybe I won't tell him what you been saying about him!"

KNOW TEXAS

Six Grow Fast

DENTON, Mar. 4.—Texas is among the six states in the union which have maintained a 20 per cent increase in population both in the period 1910 to 1920 and again between 1920 and 1930. Other states are California, Florida, Michigan, Arizona and New Jersey. California is by far the leader in the last census, having a 67 per cent increase.

The Eyes Will Get It

Although grapefruit eaters in 43 of the 48 states tasted the Texas variety in 1937, more people in more states are due to taste it in the next few years. There are a greater number of young grapefruit trees, ranging from 3 to 12 years in the lower Rio Grande Valley new than in any other producing area in the United States. This means that the biggest increase in production will probably be in Texas, since few of these trees are yet full-bearing. The bulk of trees in Florida and California are 13 or more years old.

SENATOR TOM CONNALLY FAVORS PROPOSED COTTON LABORATORY

The recently enacted farm bill provides for the establishment of four regional research agricultural laboratories. The function of such laboratories is to conduct research into and to develop new scientific, chemical and technical uses and new and extended markets and outlets for farm commodities and products and by-products thereof. One of these laboratories is to be located in the cotton region. A federal appropriation of one million dollars is authorized for the establishment of each laboratory.

Texas, by all means should be the site of the cotton research laboratory. However, other cotton states will, no doubt, make a determined fight for its location.

While the act does not require any financial participation by the state in which it is located, the act does provide that the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to acquire land and interests therein and to accept in the name of the United States donations of any property, real and personal, to any laboratory established pursuant to the act and to utilize voluntary uncompensated service at such laboratories.

There is wide-spread interest throughout Texas in behalf of the location of such a laboratory in our state. Cotton producers and the cotton industry generally have for a considerable period, indicated a vital interest in this project. Texas is the largest cotton producing state. It is more directly interested in cotton exports than any other state since 90 percent of the cotton produced in Texas is normally exported. The establishment of such a laboratory in Texas would be of immeasurable benefit to all of the people and industries of the state. Cooperation with the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas and other institutions devoted to agriculture would insure outstanding service to the people of the entire United States through the agency of such a laboratory.

I desire to urge that organizations in Texas, Chamber of Commerce, the Agricultural and Mechanical College, and farm associations cooperate actively with each other in a movement to bring the location of the cotton research laboratory to Texas. Pertinent data, the proposal of a site or location, and all related Ranking first in many things, Texas slips a long way down the ladder to 24 place in national Forests. There are only 614,000 acres of National Forest land in this state, as compared to more than 19,000,000 acres in California, Idaho and Alaska.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The jazz age first famed to a glow in the pre-war days of Turkey Trots and Bunny Hugs, which finally burst into flames under the bellows of the world conflict has come back to Broadway to the tune of the Big Apple and swing; and if it is hard to believe, imagine a crowd of a thousand kids mostly; some playing hookey and some just over school, age gathered around bonfires in the street at five o'clock on a near zero morning waiting to get into a show place that won't open until nine o'clock but at six there were two thousand—at seven, five thousand and they had to open the doors and with the help of special police reserves let in the mob which filled the aisles as well as the seats, all this for the privilege of hearing a swing band on the stage; for the privilege of jiggling hysterically in the aisles, pounding time with feet, wriggling on the plush seats—and this goes on day after day with such minor items as matters will be of tremendous values in presenting this matter to the Secretary of Agriculture. Steps have already been taken to advise the Secretary of Agriculture that Texas expects and desires the location of the labor, in our state. The Texas delegation in Congress will actively and aggressively press the matter before the Secretary. It is hoped that their efforts will receive the hearty cooperation and the support of our people.

boring breathing spell to let the dance ditty youngsters recruit themselves for a new spasm. Yep, the jazz age is back... and so onward to the pleasant peace of the nightclubs where they go to bed at dawn instead of going to a dance. The White Range of Sarawak waits impatiently at the International Casino for daughter Princess Baba and bridegroom son-in-law Bob Gregory, the wrestler; who never show up. Machado, Cuban ex-president at El Morocco; Jimmy Braddock and his wife celebrating their anniversary at the Cotton Club the night before he announces his retirement from the ring. Sonja Henie with a dozen escort, at La Conga; Barbara Bennett, The Henry Fondas; and outward bound, Ken Harvey of the Paradise on his way to tweak European ears with his banjoking; Miriam Hopkins at the mercy of the autograph hunters at the Golden Theatre where "Shadow and Substance" is hailed as the latest and perhaps the greatest. Hit of a season of outstanding shows authored by thirty-seven year old Paul Carroll, thirty dollar a week Glasgow school teacher who will collect weekly royalties bigger than his yearly wage; and at last Julie Haydon climbs to stardom as the little Irish maid who has faith, after years of rebuffs in the movies because she looked too much like Ann Harding, Miami bound Betty Lawford of "The Women" who took that famous stage bath four hundred and seventy-five times; before she announced she was wash up, Edward G. Robinson, Little Caesar applauding the Mercury Theatre production of Julius Caesar—the modern dress show; which Aline MacMahon the cinematress angled and in case you missed the news, Charlie McCarthy won the radio popularity poll as a comedian but not as a singer; there isn't a cheep out of that old block yet!!! CLOWNING THROUGH LIFE

From left to right, you see John, the bronc-busting monkey; Parburkarkas, trained mule, and Homer Holcomb, rodeo clown. The trio will try to steal the show when the world championship rodeo is held at Fort Worth during the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, March 11 to 20. John was re-united with his two pals recently after being lost in zoos since last November. John will ape the cowboys in a bronc riding act. He also has ambitions to be a trick rider as the picture indicates.

FEBRUARY H. D. COUNCIL MEETING

The Coryell County Home Demonstration Council held a regular meeting Saturday, February 26 at the Court House and transacted seasonal business. Representatives from Harmon, Purmila, Topsey, Four Corners, Mountain Home Demonstration Clubs and the Pleasure and Profit and Priscilla community Clubs were present and gave reports of their club activities.

Mrs. John D. Strauss, Vice President of Home Demonstration District 8 was a guest at the meeting and discussed the District H. D. meeting to be held in the Checkerboard Room of the Roosevelt Hotel at Waco, March 17th, for the purpose of discussing 1938 Educational plans. Mrs. T. C. Music was elected a delegate to attend the meeting. Mrs. J. O. Winslar, was elected Vice-Chairman of the Coryell County H. D. Council and she, as well as any Home Demonstration club members are urged to attend the District meeting on March 17th from 10 A. M. to 3:30 P. M. Mrs. Strauss also insisted that H. D. Clubs be 100 per cent in paying 5c to the Educational Fund as soon as possible. This fund is used to carry on the State Association's business and as a $300 scholarship for a 4-H Texas girl.

Council also voted to carry the Ball Contest plan again in 1938 and exhibit yellow peaches as the acid product and green snap beans as the non-acid product.

DENTON Mar. 4—Between Shirley Temple and Princess Elizabeth the world of children's fashions has been completely revolutionized. No longer do we hear mothers bemoaning the fact that their children are at "that ugly age", because smart designers have found that certain tricks can hide the flaws in any age, from one to a hundred.

Little brother and sister are now about ready for their spring wardrobes, and if mother is wise she has started long ago preparing for the deluge. Like other parents, she has found that the ducky little creations in the children's departments also have ducky little prices, and plans to try out her luck with homemade styles.

Dresses and suits in the military mode never fail to delight little wearers, and the effect is easy to achieve with braid and little yarn balls. Classic sailor suits and dresses with a plentiful supply of stars are in this ever-popular class too.

Just as in Milady's clothes, the peasant influence will rule. Little girls play dresses this spring. Full, short skirts, full-sleeved blouses and sashes are very much in vogue.

Mistress Midget plans to follow her big sister in the Bolero movement. Trim little Scotch plaid belted skirts with paid boleros and little round-collared blouses make the kind of children's togs that people go over.

And Oh yes—the hemline convention that bothers girls at Texas State College for Women and everywhere else—little Miss Priss just make it at least two inches above the knee and all will be well.

SPORT SCRAPS

By JONES

Any column this week should be written about the FFA-NEWS Boxing Tournament.

It's about all we've heard this week, even with the Hornettes taking on teams in the Irene Invitation Tournament (basketball) this week end, and Texas Wesleyan College taking on the Ft. Worth All-Stars in the gym Saturday night and the Hornets meeting Jonesboro Hi.

That's a real sport week, and the entire week seems to be overshadowed by the FFA-NEWS Boxing Tournament.

Add Interest: On the FFA-NEWS Tourny, W. E. Lasseter, happiest promoter in these parts, states proceeds from the boxing will be used for a FFA Loan Fund, either to send students to college who can't make it otherwise, or finance FFA projects, which we think is about the swellest idea we've heard of,—specially since the 'talker' has been so grand.

Spring is making the boys oil up their fishing, and base ball equipment, and sharpen the spikes of the track shoes. Luckey, yesterday morning was seen with a nice sized cat fish, and angling is on the up and up.

This week end at Oglesby, the Junior Boys and Girl's Basket Ball Tourny is in full swing. Other vents here are likely to have a diasterous effect on the 'Gate' down at Oglesby, which is a tough break.

Gypsie Tours are goin' to start now, especially with this good weather; 315 miles was ours last and Sunday before, about 350 and included San Antonio, Randolph Field, Austin via Evant, down 66, back by G'town, and Ft. Worth, Dallas and home. It's fun to drive now. Hamburgers furnished the 'feed'.

CARD OF THANKS

To everyone who has helped us in any way since our home burned the 11th of February, we sincerely thank you.

There are times when even a kind word helps. You have been so nice to us, we only hope we will never fail in our duty as you have not failed in your kindness to us.

WITH THE SHIP OF STATE

WASHINGTON, D. C. The word 'politician' is more often used as an opprobrious epithet than as a complimentary title and yet, if politician means one who secures his own or his candidate's election by actually favoring the side of an issue which will insure the larger number of votes, politicians are almost as scarce in Congress as in the legislatures of the various States. A case in point is the Assembly of the State of New York which recently refused to ratify the Child Labor Amendment by a vote of 107 to 40.

In 1937 the Assembly, impressed by organized opposition to the measure on the part of certain social and religious bodies rejected the Amendment. In the November elections certain candidates for the Assembly promised to vote against the measure. There candidates were, without exception defeated in the metropolitan area.

Certain candidates for reelection had already voted against the measure. They were not re-elected.

In spite of this perfectly plain expression of feeling on the part of the electorate the Assemblymen once more cajoled by the militant opposition, defeated the bill. And thereby almost certainly eliminated themselves as office holders in a State where the Child Labor Ament is a burning question.

Foreign affairs and rearmament have stolen the show from the local politician during the past weeks and only two rumors have gained sufficient strength to attract general attention first that there will be a Cabinet shake-up early in March; second, that the penguins at the Washington Zoo are about to hatch an egg.

And by the crowds which flock to the new airconditioned Penguin House (every house of real importance in the Capital is air conditioned), the latter is the more important and interesting event. After all it is the first time a penguin has laid an egg

DOES YOUR HOME SUFFER FROM "LANGUID CURRENT"?
REWIRING WILL SAVE MONEY AND GIVE YOUR ELECTRIC SERVANTS A CHANCE

By Kathleen Robertson
(From McCall's Magazine)

DOES your electric iron ever get hot enough to do its work properly? Do you get black eyes because of running into a door while looking for a light? Do fuses keep on blowing out "just at the wrong time?" Do you often feel it is less nuisance to mix a cake by hand than to try to find a convenient outlet in the kitchen?

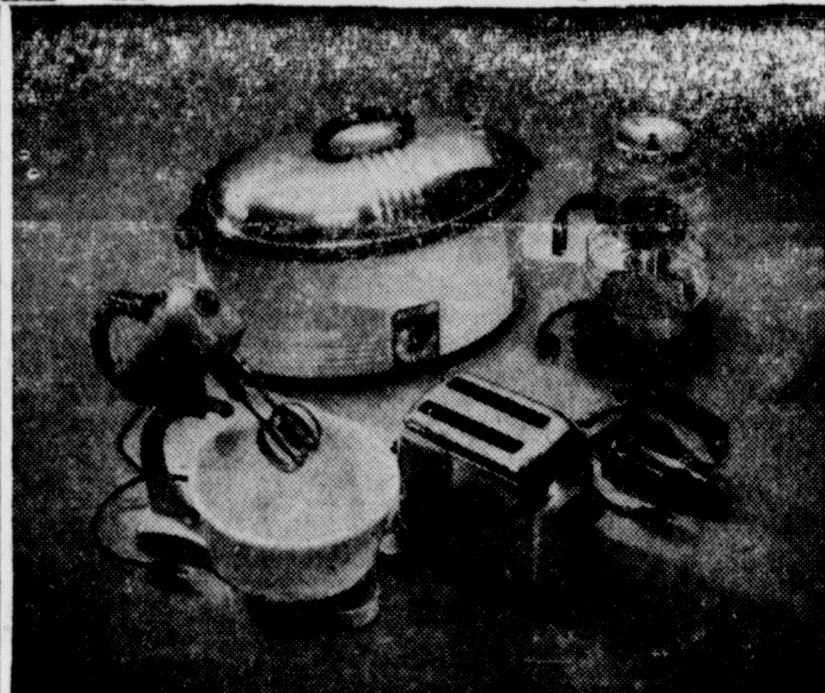

If the answer to these questions is "yes," it means that you may have spent good money on the last word in mixers or roasters or coffee-makers, but you can't get the service from them for which you paid. It means also that you are wasting money on current. It means that the wiring in the house should be overhauled.

The trouble is "languid current," caused by wiring which is too small for the load it has to carry. It is just the same as if you were trying to get water into an attic bathtub through a pipe as thin as a fountain straw.

We can only speak of electricity as flowing along a wire. As a matter of fact, we would be more accurate if we said electricity pushed its way along a wire, using a certain amount of pressure, or voltage, in so doing. And, for a given amount of current, the smaller the wire the harder the current has to push and the more energy it expends along the way. The amount of current arriving at the outlets is the same as the amount leaving the meter box. But if house wiring is too small for the load it carries, current is delivered at the outlets in such an enfeebled condition that it needs a long time to do its job.

In that case you might have to pre-heat your roaster forty minutes instead of thirty. Or your iron might never reach the temperature it should, so you would have to use it for a longer time. There are any number of ways in which languid current can cost money.

But how can one diagnose one's own wiring troubles? Frankly,

There is service in your appliances—get it out with the right wiring very few house owners can. If the answers to the above questions are affirmative, you'd better consult your utility or electrical contractor. The amount of money involved will naturally depend upon the existing size of wire in the house, the number of circuits, and the uses to which you put electricity. If your house is more than five years old, very likely the wiring system is carrying too great a load.

You will see why wiring systems are outgrown if you will consider the number of appliances you now have that were not even in existence ten years ago; the number that now use greatly increased wattage (1000-watt irons in place of 600-watt, for instance); and, in the interest of sight saving, the tremendous increase of wattage in I.E.S. lamps.

In many cases of overloading, increasing the number of circuits will relieve the strain. Often no provision is made for the separate circuiting of appliances, though the demand of today's high-powered appliances causes much of the overloading.

Convenience outlets for dining room, breakfast room and kitchen should be on a separate circuit, using a heavier wire than that used for lighting circuits. There should also be a separate circuit for laundry equipment and, of course, one for the range. In a new house such circuiting can easily be arranged but even in an old house re-circuiting may often be accomplished at no great expense. In any case the outlay may be justified by increased efficiency of appliances and lamps.

Size of wire and number of circuits may be difficult things to visualize. But it is easy to visualize convenience and how it affects daily living. Take this matter of convenience outlets. You know they are called convenience outlets because they are supposed to be convenient to use. That is, there should be enough of them, and in places where appliances are logically used. There should be one near the kitchen working surface for the sole use of the mixer, another for the roaster or percolator. The breakfast room and dining room should certainly have a battery of appliance outlets, so coffee-maker, toaster, waffle iron, sandwich grill can all be used at the same time for buffet suppers, refrigerator raids, and in the interest of painless breakfasts.

What this country needs are more wall outlets for lamps so a trip across the living room will cease to come under the heading of the hazardous, with cords trailing in loops to catch the feet of the unwary. Trouble is we get used to cords and forget how ugly they are. All wall spaces should have enough outlets so women could indulge their inherited urge to push furniture around freely.

Do you have to grope your way into your own house after dark? Inadequate wiring again! Of course, it is difficult to tell exactly how many switches you should have because the number and placement will depend on your house design and your way of living. But that expert we spoke of can survey your house, talk with you, then tell you what should go where.

We should really like to see home owners put as careful thought on the size of wire, circuiting, placement and number of convenience and wall outlets as they do on the selection of wallpaper or the placement of foundation planting. After all, wiring is a fairly permanent job. You'll be living with it for some years. And manufacturers are always thinking up new uses for electricity. So build for future as well as present uses.

The clamor against Justice Hugo Black has subsided to a murmur, something of an astonished murmur, at his decided and dissenting opinions. His opposition to 'precedent' where he believes the original decision was an error or where changing times have outmoded it has caught the attention of both lawyers and lawmakers.

Without a doubt the question of whether of not a corporation is a "person" under the meaning of the 'due process of law' amendment, will be bound to come up for consideration with increasing frequency as the government campaign against certain types of corporations is pushed. Justice Black maintains that a corporation is not a 'person'.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE

Young Bill Jordan accidentally kills a man in a night club brawl on his twenty-first birthday. District Attorney Mathews, who sympathizes with the boy, allows him to plead guilty to manslaughter instead of trying him for murder. Bill is sentenced to ten years in the state penitentiary. . . Six years later Bill, who has been assigned to the prison jute mill, is a hardened, embittered prisoner. Mathews, who is being groomed to run for Governor of the state, is appointed warden of the prison. On the day he arrives with his sister and beautiful daughter, Elizabeth, to take over his new job the prisoners greet him with a rebellious demonstration of yammering. Alone and unafraid, Mathews walks into the prison yard and faces the men down. Later, Bill collapses at the jute mill. The prison doctor recommends a change of work and environment for him. Warden Mathews summons him to the office and recognizes Bill as the boy he sent up six years before. While he's in the office Bill sees Mathews' daughter, Elizabeth, and falls in love with her immediately. Mathews makes Bill his chauffeur. Three months on this job works a miracle on Bill. He has regained his spirit and his hopes for the future and he is deeply in love with Elizabeth. Mathews is quietly working to get a pardon for Bill when there is a prison break. One of the convicts squeals and another man is killed. Mathews transfers the terrified squealer to his office for safety and he sends Elizabeth away until things grow quieter at the prison. Bill drives her to the station and, saying goodbye to her, all but blurts out his love.

went down the stairs. The guards at the door were having all they could do to hold back the mob. Captain Grady saw Bill and turned to him. "Get back upstairs!" he ordered.

Bill turned and went back upstairs. In the upper hallway he bumped into Hawkins, one of his cellmates, coming out of the warden's office. Hawkins stared at him in amazement.

"Get out of here, you fool!" he whispered. "Don't let them find you here. Beat it!"

"I can't, Jack," Bill replied. "The warden told me —"

"You sap!" Hawkins went on. "You would have to get into this." There was a sound below stairs and Hawkins turned and disappeared through a door into the warden's living quarters.

Bill was standing there when Mathews and Captain Grady came up the stairs. "I thought I told you to stay with Runch," Mathews said. "I know, sir, but he asked me to —"

Mathews pushed past Bill and went into the office. Runch was sprawled by the window, stabbed to death.

Mathews turned to Bill. "You didn't do this, did you, Bill?"

"N — no, sir," Bill stammered. "I just told you — Runch asked me to —"

Solitary Confinement

"Never mind that now," Mathews snapped. "Who did it?"

"I don't know, sir," Bill said. Mathews looked at Bill intently.

"You're lying, son," he said calmly. "You're lying to shield the murderer."

Bill's eyes shifted from Mathews' face. "Maybe I am, sir," he said, "but I can't squeal — not even for you, sir."

"Bill," Mathews pleaded, "you can't do this. Look, your parole's due here any day now. Do you want to sacrifice that? Do you know what will happen if you don't talk? It'll Mountain View community is here now visiting in the home of her friend, Miss Freda Clayton. We hope that she will enjoy her visit very much.

Messrs Curtis Davis and Billie Robinson were in Gatesville Monday on business.

Last Saturday night we had three of the most interesting games of basket ball yet played in our gymnasium. They were all played fast and furious, all full of pep from start to finish. The first match game was between Ireland girls and the Jonesboro girls. These girls have been strong contenders against each other. It has been Greek met the Greek. First one then the other would win, but this time it was Irelands time to win and they did by a score of 16 to 12.

Then the Gatesville boys and Ireland boys clashed. Oh! what a game, full of interest with the Ireland boys winning over the Gatesville boys in our gymnasium for the second time.

The score was 22 to 15 in favor of Ireland. The outsiders of Akman and the outsiders of Ireland played the closest game of the night, 22-20 in favor of Akman. These games were very interesting and were enjoyed by every one; they could not have been better.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY Chapter Four

When Bill returned to the prison from the railroad station he reported to Warden Mathews. Mathews and Captain Grady were standing at the window, watching the prisoners in the yard.

"There's trouble brewing down there, sir," Grady said. "Those men are altogether too quiet. No talking, no laughing."

"Well, if you're worried, call out the night detail and post extra guards at the gate leading up here. If they're after Runch they'll head this way."

The quiet in the yard was shattered when the prisoners began their "yammering." En masse they began to move menacingly toward the administration building. Grady ran for the door and down the stairs. Mathews went over to the window and Bill joined him there. Another door flew open and Runch came in. His face was ashen and he was trembling so he could barely walk.

"They're coming after me!" he cried hysterically. "Do something! Save me! Get me out of here!"

Mathews turned from the window. "Shut up!" he commanded. "Nothing can happen to you here. There are eight feet of stone and steel between you and the outside." One of the prison guards rushed into the office. "Captain Grady wants you at the gate at once, sir," he said.

Mathews started for the door. "Bill," he said, "you stay here with Runch. Don't leave this room."

When he had gone Runch came over to Bill at the window. "What is it?" he asked. "Why are they yammering like that?"

Bill shrugged. "I dunno," he said. "Probably a fight."

"Please, Bill," Runch pleaded, "go find out what it's all about."

"I can't," Bill said. "The warden told me to stay here."

"Just go down to the door, Bill," Runch went on. "You might hear something. I gotta know! I can't stand it!"

Bill turned and looked scornfully at the craven snitcher. "Okay," he said. "Anything to shut up your sniveling." He left the office and mean ten to twenty years more for you."

"I didn't kill him," Bill insisted stubbornly.

"All your time for good behavior — that'll be taken away from you," Mathews said. "You'll have to go back to the jute mill —"

Bill's face paled but his jaw still set stubbornly. "I'm sorry, sir," he said. "I can't tell you anything."

Mathews looked at him sorrowfully and sighed. Captain Grady interrupted. "A week in solitary is what he needs," Grady said. "Then he'll talk."

"All right, Grady," the warden said. "I guess you'll have to do it."

The week after the murder was not as easy one for Warden Mathews. While Bill languished on bread and water in solitary confinement, Mathews strove vainly to find the Runch killer. To add to his troubles the prosecuting attorney of the county harassed him incessantly to turn Bill over to the county authorities. When Elizabeth returned from her trip she found a sorely tired father to greet her.

Briefly he told her what had happened. "Where is Bill?" she asked.

"In solitary," he said. "I put him there to shield him until I could break this case but I'm afraid it's useless."

Tears welled into Elizabeth's eyes. "Dad, you've got to help him," she pleaded.

Mathews exploded. "Help him!" he cried. "I haven't slept for a week! Why? Because I've tried to help him. But he won't let me. I'm washed up. I'm through! He'll have to take what's coming to him."

"You can't do that to Bill, Daddy," Elizabeth said softly.

In the midst of his tirade Mathews turned to look at her curiously. "What's the matter, honey?" he asked. "What are you driving at?"

Elizabeth was silent.

"Come on," Mathews urged. "Let's get down to cases, sweetheart. What's up?"

Elizabeth wiped the tears from her eyes and looked squarely at her father.

"I love him, Dad," she said simply.

1,450 People Fill Gym to Witness FFA-News Semi-Final Matches

Fourteen boxers fought their way into the finals of the FFA-News boxing tourney and one was acclaimed champion as a result of Tuesday night's fights. Dick Chandler local CCC enrollee was awarded the middleweight crown by default. In his only fight of the tournament he won a technical knockout over Zack Fore.

According to Supt. Brooks the turnstiles clicked to the tune of 1,450 paying customers, twice as many as there was last Thursday night, and the greatest number to ever fill the gym for any occasion.

The best fight of the night came right off the bat when Sydney Gregory contributed the biggest upset of the tournament by winning a wide decision over Lawrence Spencer favorite to capture the welterweight crown. Gregory waded right in at the start and landed four hard blows before Spencer got started. Slugging Sydney kept up throughout the fight and won all three rounds. He had Spencer down for the count of three in the third round.

In the second welterweight bout Ernest Smith of Purnela eliminated B. W. Woodson from the running for the title by using a powerful left to advantage to gain a close decision.

The long-lauded Killer Rutherford had a tough time taking Lorenzo Harrison into camp. The Killer won the first round but the second was awarded to Harrison because of a low blow on the part of Rutherford. However the Killer came back to win the third round and the decision.

In No. 4 little Bobby Melton one of the most popular fighters in the tournament slugged his way to the flyweight finals by winning a decision over F. L. Gates of Pidcoke.

J. W. Thompson, who looks like cinch to capture the feather weight crown won a close decision over H. S. Perryman. Thompson hit Perryman while he was down in the first round thereby giving Perryman the round. Perryman fought a smart fight evading Thompson's powerful right but to no avail Thompson won the last two rounds and the decision.

Dewey Harrison gained the right to battle Thompson in the feather-weight finals by winning a close decision over Pat Bone. Neither fighter did much damage.

In the lightweight semi-finals George Vandiver won a very small margin victory over Skeeter Sheppard. Sheppard floored Vandiver for the count of six in the first round and for the counts of seven and six in the second. Vandiver floored Sheppard for an instant in the third. When the decision was given to Vandiver every fan in the gym booed long and loud.

Orville Whaley fell victim to Foy Wicker's murderous lefts and rights as Wicker pounded his way into the light heavy-weight finals.

In the last fight of the night Killer Rutherford won his second fight of the night by defeating Ernest Smith. Rutherford will meet Gregory who drew a bye, in the welterweight finals.

GILBREATH TAKES HONOR

Byron Gilbreath, rangy Hornet center won the honor of being the high scorer of Coryell County for the season of 1937-38. He had an average of 10.47 points per game just five hundredths of a point more than Ralph Walsh, Jonesboro star. Gilbreath scored 398 points in 38 games while Walsh scored 323 in 31 games.

Tex. Wesleyan Cage Team at Gym Sat. Night

Tomorrow night one of the greatest crowds to ever witness a basketball game in this county is expected to gather to see the polished TWC cagers perform against a squad of Fort Worth All-Stars. Fans of this county have been clamoring for the chance to see this strong college team in action, and now that they have that chance they are expected to flock to the scene of battle.

Four Coryell county boys will show their basketball talents. Johnny Edwards, who used to play for Ireland and was the coach of Levita's 1937 county championship team; Jack Thornton, Leon Junction Star and graduate of Gatesville High School; Cullen Walsh, former Jonesboro flash; and Hazen Ward, star on Gatesville's county championship squad a few years back are the boys who the basketball fanatics are coming to see. All these boys were stars on the FFA's Dry Code team, which won the F. A. A. F. meet held at Ft. Worth last year. Edwards was the captain.

Nothing is known of the strength of the Fort Worth All-stars, who serves the opposition. However, it is probable that the TWC boys will have to put out all they have to take the all-stars, thereby promising the fans basketball action galore.

In the curtain-raiser, the local Hornets who are seniors and the Jonesboro seniors will tangle in a contest that within itself would draw a good crowd.

Hornettes Meet Strong West Sextette In Irene Tonight

Tonight at eight o'clock the Hornettes will meet the strong West Trojanettes in the Irene invitational tournament. This is the second time these two teams have met, Gatesville having defeated the West girls 15-9 in the invitational tournament held here Dec. 10 and 11.

Close observers of girls basketball state that these two teams are the most outstanding in Central Texas, and the game tonight will decide the supremacy.

West has been pointing for a return game with Gatesville and
