WACO KIWANIS CLUB HEARS CORYELL CO. AGENT

Guy Powell, Coryell county agriculture agent, described the growth of that section into one of the State's finest farming areas when he spoke before Kawanis club at the Raleigh hotel Tuesday noon. F. M. Comp ton was toastmaster.

The speaker said desire to raise the farmers' standards of living to a level on par with those enjoyed by persons in other professions had been the motivating force behind the improvement program which had made rapid strides in the last few years.

"Coryell county has become one of the southwest's leading goat and sheep raising centers within the space of a decade Powell pointed out. Wool sales now total several hundred thousand pounds annually in comparison with barely 1000 pound 11 years ago. Sheep and goats are of the best quality and many have taken championship in exhibit, at large shows thruout the southwest."

"Youth plays a prominent part in agriculture in the Gatesville section" Powell said. "School organization and clubs for boys and girls who can earn their living from farming have extensive programs which serve to educate future agriculturists in scientific methods whereby farming can be made more profitable profession."

Hog raising and breeding on a large scale thru contests in boys' and girls' farm clubs was described by Powell. He pointed out Coryell county held the record for producing the largest number of pounds from a single litter of hogs. It was established 10 years ago by A. T. Quicksall prominent farmer of the section.

"Completion of the new highway thru Coryell county will give one of the most beautiful scenic drives in the state", Powell stated.—The Waco News-Tribune.

Hwy. Commissioner John Wood Visits Gatesville Thurs.

State Highway Commissioner John Wood, accompanied by Garland Adair, candidate for State Treasure two years ago were callers at the News office late yesterday afternoon and conferred with District Judge R. B. Cross.

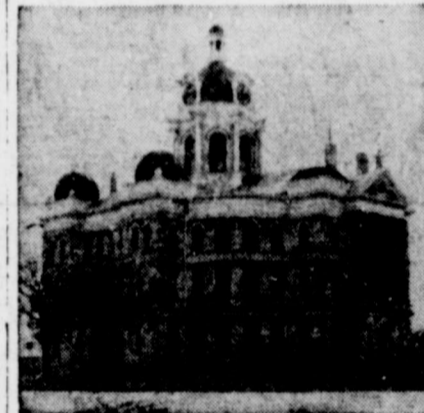

Commissioner Wood stated that the trip was for the purpose of looking over the work done in the county, on Highway 7 and a review of the situation on Highway 36 and 153.

Although Mr. Wood is a candidate for Railroad Commissioner, this was not the reason for this visit and he intimated that he would again make a trip to this county at some future date.

Trouble with cut-rate license dealers in certain counties is giving the State Highway Department trouble according to Mr. Wood. This is happening in some of the smaller counties where the license sales do not amount to as much as they do in the more populous counties.

Commissioner Wood and Mr. Adair were only in Gatesville a short time and left immediately for Austin.

Auto Tag Sale Case Up In Court March 17

BEAUMONT, March 9—The State's effort to secure earlier consideration of its motion to dissolve an injunction preventing state officials from interfering with sale of automobile license plates in San Jacinto County, failed here today when the Ninth Court of Civil Appeals set a hearing for March 17 on the case.

W. B. Pope, assistant state attorney general, filed a motion here yesterday, in an attempt to secure earlier consideration of the case than in a hearing set in a lower court for Cold Springs, March 15.

State officials have alleged that sale of license plates carried on in San Jacinto County, is costing the State almost a million dollars yearly, about $4,000 daily revenue.

This motion for dissolution of the injunction sets forth that County Judge J. H. Dale and others of San Jacinto County, have engaged during 1937, and at present are engaging in the practice of issuing and selling script, and that in return for the script, which the motion says is available at tremendous discount, the county tax assessor-collector is issuing automobile license plates, both to persons in San Jacinto County and from other counties.

In one city, state officials alleged, a business of selling bargain license plates had been established. The plates, purchased from San Jacinto County, were delivered to motor vehicle owners at a discount up to 10 per cent under regular cost, they alleged.

Gatesville Wins Three Divisions Of Junior B. B. Tournament

The Gatesville schools captured three cups during the county junior basketball tournament last weekend.

The ward school boys won first in their division with ease. In their first game they defeated a weak Oglesby team 43-4 and in the semi finals took Flat into camp 47-6. In the finals they won from a potent Jonesboro team 28 to 6. Fred Post scored 48 points during these three games to win the tournament high scoring honors and was the outstanding player in the ward school division.

The Gatesville ward school girls beat Flat and Pearl to win first in their bracket.

The high school juniors had a tough time winning a division composed of some fairly strong teams. In their first game they ran over a weak Oglesby outfit 34-4 and then edged out a four point win over the Pearl Dragons who had won three championships in a row previous to this year. The score was 12 to 8.

Then in the finals they decisively won a strong Ireland team 13 to 9. The score at the end of the third quarter was 9-8. Ireland and the Cardinals were still going strong and it looked as if Gatesville's was a lost cause. However they came across and scored 4 points to Ireland's none in the last quarter to cop the cup.

The Gatesville high school junior girls were edged out by a four point margin by Turnersville in the feature girls game of the tournament. The junior Hornettes had previously defeated Jonesboro 11 to 10 in the semi-finals.

Cups will be presented at a later date to winners of the various divisions.

"PENNE D" SHOTS

By LARIATIN' LOU

Before the Rodco here June 4-5, there's going to be plenty of action at others, and the big event of the month, that is left, is the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show, that ticks people and their purses. Anyway, it's a good show and incidently, a good trip.

Another big Show recently, was the San Angelo Show, which was attended, at least by that empressario of high flying horse meat, R. L. (Bob) Saunders and Eiland Lovejoy.

Anyway, folks, these big shows at least, are just 'samples' compared with the ultimate in Rodeo entertainment which you will witness in little old Gatesville along about June 4-5. (Pt. Worth and San Angelo papers, please copy.)

Incidentally, Houston has just closed a big Rodayot, which Houston papers said was a dilly and we wouldn't be surprised.

Spring weather has gotten the bowling clubs and it's fishing or something else anyway the boys have not gotten together lately.

Individualists however are on the score line: Dr. J. H. Hamilton 10 pins 204; 5 pins Luke Walker, 288 and 3 pin L. B. Brown 197. Ducks have "gone north" since Spring has hit.

Down high school way the timber toppers and other "Charlie Horse" are putting numbers on the pedometers (if they wore them) because the are unlimbering muscles preparatory for the coming county meet and who knows but what a Glenn Cunningham may show up during the "Slack Parade".

Some of the wise-creep here Some if the Wise-acres here the Bloomer Parade suppose now they'll be calling it the Slack parade, since most of the entrants wear the Slacks over their athletic uniforms. Or may be use them as the uniforms.

Baseball seems probable and rumor has it that Coach Earle Worley here is looking for some "willow swingers"—the hard

Track Workouts Open As Twenty Hopefuls Report for Practice

Track season came into full Monday when around twenty cinder hopefuls, reported to Coach Worley at the old athletic field to begin workouts in earnest. Several boys have been limbering up the past week in order to get into shape early.

Five lettermen were included in the group reporting namely Zack Fore who runs both low and high hurdles and the 220; Joe Ned Brown 220 and 440 yard dash man; Danny McClellan, another dash man; Byron G'lbreath who won first in the county track and field meet in the javelin and discus throwing event; Lester Williams, a shot putter; and Alvin Ingram pole vaulter and high jumper. Brown and Fore also will broad jump.

Esteen Poston who won first place in the district pole vault transferred to Robeud, thereby leaving Ingram and James Weaver another splendid vaulter, to carry Gatesville's hope in the pole vault event.

Neal Hinsley, who broke his shoulder during last year's track workouts has a good chance to develop into a fine half miler. This boy has a better stride than any other man competing in his event.

Bruce Weaver will probably be Gatesville's miler and he has good prospects.

GATESVILLE, TEXAS, FRIDAY MARCH 11, 1938

Officers Re-elected At County Medical Association Tuesday

Last year's officer, with Dr. J. H. Hamilton President and Dr. Dean Jones Secretary, were re-elected for the coming year at a meeting of the Coryell County Medical Association held in the local hospital Tuesday at 7:30.

Guest speakers for the occasion were Dr. Leslie Sadler, of Waco formerly of this city, Dr. Howard Wells and H. F. Conally also of Waco. Dr. Elsworth Lowrey of Ft. Worth and Dr. Hodman of Oglesby were other out of town physicians present. Local Doctors who attended the meeting were Drs. Chas. T. McGregor, John T. Brown, H. M. Hall, M. W. Lowry, H. M. Haynes, Deaa and Kermit Jones.

WACO KIWANIS CLUB HEARS CORYELL CO. AGENT

Guy Powell, Coryell county agriculture agent, described the growth of that section into one of the State's finest farming areas when he spoke before Kawanis club at the Raleigh hotel Tuesday noon. F. M. Compton was toastmaster.

The speaker said desire to raise the farmers' standards of living to a level on par with those enjoyed by persons in other professions had been the motivating force behind the improvement program which had made rapid strides in the last few years.

"Coryell county has become one of the southwest's leading goat and sheep raising centers within the space of a decade Powell pointed out. Wool sales now total several hundred thousand pounds annually in comparison with barely 1000 pound 11 years ago. Sheep and goats are of the best quality and many have taken championship in exhibits at large shows thruout the southwest."

"Youth plays a prominent part in agriculture in the Gatesville section" Powell said. "School organization and clubs for boys and girls who can earn their living from farming have extensive programs which serve to educate future agriculturists in scientific methods whereby farming can be made more profitable profession."

Hog raising and breeding on a large scale thru contests in boys' and girls' farm clubs was described by Powell. He pointed out Coryell county held the record for producing the largest number of pounds from a single litter of hogs. It was established 10 years ago by A. T. Quicksall prominent farmer of the section.

"Completion of the new highway thru Coryell county will give one of the most beautiful scenic drives in the state", Powell stated.—The Waco News-Tribune.

BUILDING ON UPSWING HERE WITH MANY PROSPECTS

Painters, paperhangers, carpenter plumbers and men busy during the Pre-Spring weather not to mention gardeners and corn planters.

A few of the rumored "boom" improvements that are being done right now are Mr. G. L. Painter's L. & L. Home, E. B. Wright, City Drug Store, Western Auto Store's new home, Gatesville Drug Store, R. Arnold, Mrs. John Powell and probably many others we have not heard or seen. Anyways, it looks like a small building boom and all of us say, "Let'er boom."

FARMERS' MEETING AT JONESBORO, WHITE HALL CHANGED

Hwy. Commissioner John Wood Visits Gatesville Thurs.

State Highway Commissioner John Wood, accompanied by Garland Adair, candidate for State Treasurer two years ago were callers at the News office late yesterday afternoon and conferred with District Judge R. B. Cross.

Commissioner Wood stated that the trip was for the purpose of looking over the work done in the county, on Highway 7 and a review of the situation on Highway 36 and 153.

Although Mr. Wood is a candidate for Railroad Commissioner, this was not the reason for this visit and he intimated that he would again make a trip to this county at some future date.

Trouble with cut-rate license dealers in certain counties is giving the State Highway Department trouble according to Mr. Wood. This is happening in some of the smaller counties where the license sales do not amount to as much as they do in the more populous counties.

Commissioner Wood and Mr. Adair were only in Gatesville a short time and left immediately for Austin.

GATESVILLE DRUG GOES ULTRA MODERN WITH AIR CONDITIONING

First, it was "Fountainers" whatever that is, anyhow, Jack Elstlow and "Skeeter" Shepherd put the Gatesville Drug Store on the map as "Fountainers". But you ain't heard nothin' yet!

Now, it's modern Air Conditioning, which is going to be started immediately, according to John "Pierpont" Reising, affable manager of this popular store.

This air-conditioning is not going to be the "closed door" kind, but the doors will be open and washed air will be circulated in the drug, jewelry, Western Union, optometry, and medical department of the store.

We believe Mr. Reising's got something there!

Auto Tag Sale Case Up In Court March 17

BEAUMONT, March 9—The State's effort to secure earlier consideration of its motion to dissolve an injunction preventing state officials from interfering with sale of automobile license plates in San Jacinto County, failed here today when the Ninth Court of Civil Appeals set a hearing for March 17 on the case.

W. B. Pope, assistant state attorney general, filed a motion here yesterday, in an attempt to secure earlier consideration of the case than in a hearing set in a lower court for Cold Springs, March 15.

State officials have alleged that sale of license plates carried on in San Jacinto County, is costing the State almost a million dollars yearly, about $4,000 daily revenue.

This motion for dissolution of the injunction sets forth that County Judge J. H. Dale and others of San Jacinto County, have engaged during 1937, and at present are engaging in the practice of issuing and selling script, and that in return for the script, which the motion says is available at tremendous discount, the county tax assessor-collector is issuing automobile license plates, both to persons in San Jacinto County and from other counties.

In one city, state officials alleged, a business of selling bargain license plates had been established. The plates, purchased from San Jacinto County, were delivered to motor vehicle owners at a discount up to 10 per cent under regular cost, they alleged.

 Lovely bouquets of spring flowers were set at vantage point over the home. Various games and contests furnished diversion throughout the afternoon; during one of the games the honoree was asked to go in the dining room and there she found a table of lovely gifts.

Track Workouts Open As Twenty Hopefuls Report for Practice

Track season came into full Monday when around twenty cinder hopefuls, reported to Coach Worley at the old athletic field to begin workouts in earnest. Several boys have been limbering up the past week in order to get into shape early.

Five lettermen were included in the group reporting namely Zack Fore who runs both low and high hurdles and the 220; Joe Ned Brown 220 and 440 yard dash man; Danny McClellan, another dash man; Byron Gilbreath who won first in the county track and field meet in the javelin and discus throwing event; Lester Williams, a shot putter; and Alvin Ingram pole vaulter and high jumper. Brown and Fore also will broad jump.

Esteen Poston who won first place in the district pole vault transferred to Rockbud, thereby leaving Ingram and James Weaver another splendid vaulter, to carry Gatesville's hope in the pole vault event.

Neal Hinsley, who broke his shoulder during last year's track workouts has a good chance to develop into a fine half miler. This boy has a better stride than any other man competing in his event.

Bruce Weaver will probably be Gatesville's miler and he has good prospects.

WORLD COMMENT

Joe Burns

President Roosevelt has lost only about four per cent of the tremendous following which swept him into the White House for a second term in 1936. So report the statisticians who periodically sample public sentiment by the straw poll method.

This means that the chief executive would receive approximately 58 per cent of the popular vote if an election were held today. And that the Republican percentage of the total vote would be increased to only 42 per cent.

Surely Mr. Roosevelt holds a record for sustained popularity for a second term president. Wilson, Coolidge the first Roosevelt and other American Presidents lost heavily in nationwide popularity and in support in Congress in their second terms.

Mr. Roosevelt and his party chieftains are confronted with a situation no less perplexing, however than faced by other second term executives. While still strong in the country at large Mr. Roosevelt will not—barring a third term try—be dealing with the people but with the elected representatives they send to Washington.

As is well known the administration's second-term program has been bogged down in controversy in Congress since Mr. Roosevelt took the oath of office in 1937. The anti-Roosevelt bloc in Congress, composed of Republicans and anti-new deal Democrats, apparently controls a majority of the seats in both the House and Senate. Administration leaders have known any thing but easy sailing in Congress since the 1936 elections in spite of the overwhelming victory given the Roosevelt-Garner ticket.

For the present at least the new deal program of reform is stultified in a recalcitrant Congress. Word from the White House is that the administration will not put pressure upon Democratic rebels during this session. This means but one thing that the administration is cognizant of the danger of ultimate destruction or the entire new deal program and that assured of continued support by the people it will enter the summer primaries and the general election in support of new deal candidates.

New deal spokesmen have marked the group of senators who blocked the court reform bill last year for political slaughter in the 1938 elections and those to follow in 1940 and 1942 presuming of course that a friendly Democratic administration will be elected in 1940. Senator Van Nuys of Indiana has been denied the endorsement of the Paul V. McNutt political machine which controls Democratic politics in the Hoosier State in retaliation for his vote against Supreme Court reform. Wheeler, Clark, Burke, George and others in the senate are marked for the guillotine when they must again face their constituents.

No less rebellious has been the house. Many a member of long service in the lower branch will find himself opposed by a candidate promising to "go down the line" for Roosevelt and the new deal. Such situations are

HUBAM CLOVER BEING PLANTED EXTENSIVELY HERE

Over 400 pounds of Hubam Clover seed have been planted the past week on farms cooperating with the Soil Conservation Camp at Gatesville. Some two or three acres will be planted on each farm to acquaint the farmer with this valuable legume and to furnish seed for future planting.

Hubam, an annual white sweet clover, has been successfully grown in the Texas Blacklands for several years. Farmers cooperating with the Soil Conservation projects at Temple, Garland, Lockhart and Gatesville indicate that the crop can be grown profitably and successfully on rootrot infested land since the clover matures before it is seriously affected by the root-rot. John Taylor, a farmer in the Gatesville Camp Area has been growing Hubam since 1922 and states that it is the most valuable land builder and general purpose legume he has ever grown.

Hubam Clover, besides being an ideal soil improving plant, is relied in at least on Texas county; Dallas where conservative Representative Hatton W. Summers was responsible for killing the Supreme Court bill in the house.

Messrs. Roosevelt, Farley and Co. are well aware of the danger of entering local elections and backing candidate for Congress. Woodrow Wilson attempted to assure the election of a pro-League of Nations Congress in 1920 by throwing the support of his administration behind candidate favorable to the League. He was disastrously defeated.

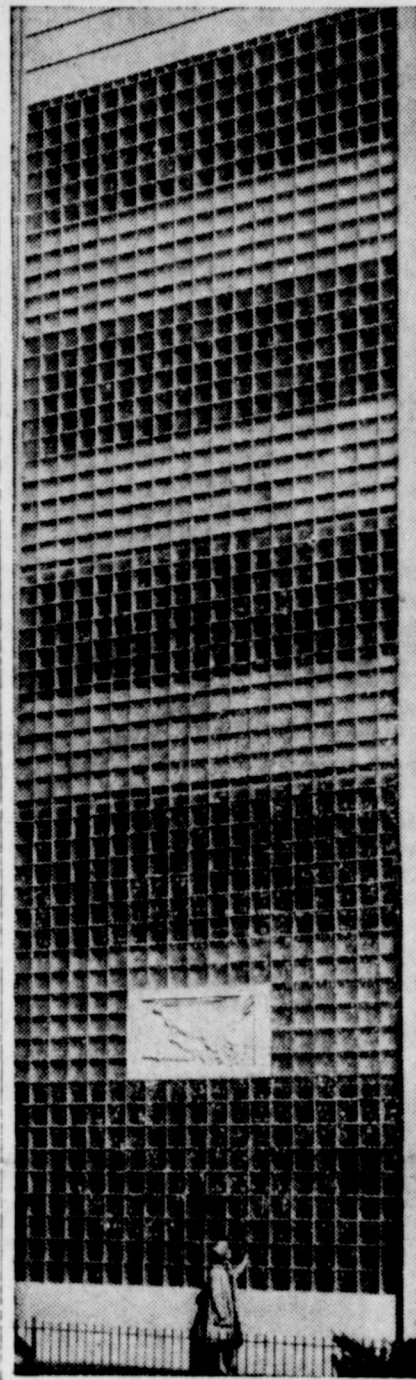

Wherever the administration backs a congressional candidate, it runs the risk of incurring the everlasting enmity of the candidate it opposes. And should local issues and personalities outweigh any support Washington may have been able to contribute the new deal forces might be heavily outnumbered by a hostile and angry conservative Democratic majority in the next congress.

Such a situation exists in Kentucky. There the Democratic party is split wide open and any move the administration may make can involve it in innumerable difficulties and embarrassment. Gov. "Happy" Chandler has announced for the senate against Sen. Alben W. Barkley, the majority leader. The administration wants Barkley returned. But Chandler is popular with Kentuckians and has an excellent chance to beat Barkley. So Barkley be defeated by refusing to publicly endorse him and perhaps lose one of its most valuable strategists and supporters in the senate? Or will the new dealers endorse Barkley and then perhaps have a hostile Chandler in the next senate?

Those who know Mr. Roosevelt, however maintain that whatever the dangers he will make every effort to capitalize upon his continued majority among the others at large and insure a harmonious new deal majority in the new congress. This condition is particularly alarming to Southern members of Congress who united not only against the anti-lynching bill but also against other pet new deal measures to block final passage.

This question is then evolved: Are Southern voters to elect representatives of their own choice or representatives designated by the administration? This the voters will decide next summer.

PRIVACY IN SOCIAL SECURITY

BEHIND these walls you will find your Social Security number! And these walls have added interest at this time—the pictured panel representing one of the largest applications of insulux glass block in the country—five stories high in the government's Social Security building in Washington, D. C., specified by Architect Albert S. J. Atkinson to obtain more daylight, but diffused, for government workers without revealing them to the gaze of outsiders.

has many other uses. The hay has a feeding value almost equal to alfalfa and if planted fairly early produces two crops a year. Hubam produces from 150 to 600 pounds of seed per acre, with a present value of from 12 to 16 cents per pound. The crop makes fairly good grazing and is very valuable as a honey crop. When turned under as a green manure, it has been followed by a 14 to 16 per cent increase in yield of corn and cotton.

Hubam seed may be broadcast in the spring on fall sown grain by harrowing the field lightly after the seed has been sown by hand. After the grain has been harvested the Hubam can be turned under as a green manure crop or it can be grazed. The Hubam in the straw stack makes the straw much more palatable and nutritious. The clover may also be planted alone as a summer strip crop, or with corn in every third row.

Hubam seed have been successfully harvested with a combine, grain binder and thresher, or, where small amounts of seed are desired the plants may be cut with a hand knife and flailed out on a wagon sheet. When the clover is allowed to seed before turning under as a green manure crop, it will re-seed itself the following spring, and

WASHINGTON NEWS

The Department of Agriculture this last week released its regulations for the 1938 cotton program and called a referendum of cotton growers for March 12th. At this time the farmers of Texas and the south will vote on the question of marketing quotas. In Texas about 365,000 farmers will be entitled to vote. Two-thirds of the farmers voting must vote affirmatively or there will be no marketing quotas. The enormous crop of cotton produced last year—largest in history—will result in an estimated carryover in August 1, 1938 of around 12,500,000 bales only 1/2 million bales less than the record carryover of 13,000,000 bales in 1932 when the price of cotton went to five cents. We all want to avoid a return of that situation. In a normal year the cotton carryover is around 5,200,000 bales hence we now have around 7,000,000 bales in excess of normal and it would now take more than a third crop next year to care for all probable needs.

The new Farm Act, however, specifically provides that the National Allotments for 1938 and 1939 shall not be less than 10,000,000 bales. The Department of Agriculture has set the national acreage allotment for this year at approximately 26,300,000 acres. On the basis of 10 year average yields this should produce a crop of 10,126,000 bales. Using the 5 year average we can expect 11,230,000 bales. The State acreage allotment for Texas has been tentatively fixed at 9,839,000 acres as compared with 12,900,000 acres actually planted in 1937.

If marketing quotas are voted no farmer will however be prevented from marketing without penalty whatever he may produce on his allotted acres whether he makes a bale to 10 acres or 2 bales to the acre. If he plants more than his allotted share he will not receive any soil conservation payments or any cotton adjustment payment and the cotton raked in the acres in excess of his will be subject to a penalty of 2 cents per pound. Nor can he borrow as much money on his cotton under the loan provisions of the Act as the farmer who cooperates by keeping within his quota. County allotments are to be determined on the basis of production plus the diverted acres during the past five years, but individual farmers will receive allotments on the basis of tillable acres and not on past or historic production in the following manner:

First: If the highest number of acres planted to cotton and diverted from cotton in 1935, 1936 and 1937 was 5 acres or less the allotment will be the highest acreage planted and diverted in any one of the years in that three year period.

Second: To each farmer on which the highest number of acres planted to cotton and diverted from cotton in 1935, 1936 or 1937 was more than five acres an allotment of 5 acres to practically all farmers in Central Texas.

Third: After the allotments to the small growers of five acres or less, a small reserve of not more than three per cent of the acreage remaining will be set aside to increase the allotments to producers whose allotments are less than 15 acres.

Fourth: The remainder and great bulk of the acreage of the total county allotment will be allotted to cotton farmers of more than five acres so that each farm will have the same percentage of cropland in cotton after the acreage in wheat has been deducted from the total tilled acres. This goes away with the old system of giving advantage to the man who in the past put all his land in cotton and of punishing the citizen who in the past cooperated with the county agent and diversified.

Fifth: No allotments will exceed the largest acreage grown including diverted acres, during any of the three preceding years.

With the cotton situation as it is this referendum is of vital importance to every citizen of Texas. Many of us had hoped to get a farm bill that would guarantee a parity price for all of our cotton used at home and the right to do as we pleased, about the growing of cotton for export but until we get such legislation we must make the bill that we have work. It is the best bill we could get passed and it contains many provisions that will help to rectify unjust provisions of the past. It adds to the benefits of the little man and takes away some of the opportunities of the big plantation owner. It leaves control up to the farmers themselves. If it can hold the price up to reasonable levels it will have accomplished a great deal for the South.

The House has this week passed the Interior Department Appropriation Bill with provision for the completion of the Marshall Ford Dam above Austin and we are now working on the New Revenue Act.

he was awarded three rounds. The considerable large crowd's muttering for more action and we are advised that they're about to bet on J. W. Thompson, who claims to be 22 and looks more like 18, has for his opponent a Gatesville High product, Dewey Harrison. J. W. is a smooth boxer and can really punch with both mitts, but Dewey isn't worried and gives him a real battle before going down on a close decision.

Jack Hearn and Glenn Perryman, both of whom were eliminated earlier in the week, take the spotlight and give a real three round exhibition. There are cries of "Frame up" and "You lugs quit necking!" as they begin, but the fans have changed their minds about the boys and give them a big hand when it's all over. Hearn wins the decision.

Lightweights George Vandiver of Turnersville and Claburne Chandler of Oglesby are about to settle a little score.

There's lots of wild punches in the first and second rounds. Once they're swinging toe to toe and the Referee finally has to pull em apart. The third round is the best of the night. Vandiver draws blood and gets the verdict; and most of the crowd doesn't agree, but, so they say, umpires and referees are never right!

We are waiting impatiently for more action and the man operating the loud speaker system advised the fans that Texas Wesleyans Rem Cagers are to invade this gym Saturday night for an exhibition game.

"Don't they ever have a knock out down here?" we ask. You see we've been in Ft. Worth during the regular Golden Gloves sessions and have watched such scrappers as John "Tiger" Hosea Babe Ritchey; Beaner Garland; Wayne Templeton and Andy Ealeton send good opponents sprawling to the canvas.

And here in Gatesville we are about to see a guy get his medi-clue. Dick Chandler a CCC middleweight who has no expression on his handsome face and some real boxing ability scattered over his fine athletic build enters the ring alone with another boy in the same weight Chick Hale. Dick looks the better fighter as they began but little do we know what is about to take place. Dick starts swinging for keeps. He crashes into Hale with rights and lefts rabbit punches and body blows and finally slips a Joe Louis punch to Hale that sails him out of the ring and into a ringsider's lap. Action did you say.

Then there's the most thrilling fight of 'em all. Foy Wicker and Southerland get together. These boys like to fight and land plenty of good blows. Both can take it and dish it out just as well. Finally Southerland draws blood. That surprises many of the fans who had expected Wicker to coast in with a vic-

Chapter One

"Your five and here are ten more."

Jerry Warriner riffled a red and blue chip from his pile and tossed them into the pot. "I'll see you," he said.

"Aces full," said George, showing his cards.

Jerry grinned. "Tain't enough, my good man. Four little ladies here insist 'tain't enough."

"I give up," George complained. "I haven't won a hand from you now in three, four days."

"Say, that reminds me. What time is it?" Jerry asked.

Dave Martin reached back, lifted the curtain and flooded the room with sunlight. He looked at his watch.

"Ten-thirty-five," he announced, "and a lovely day it is, too."

"Oh-oh," Jerry shook his head.

"Time for me to pick up my marbles and go home like a good little boy. I'm due back from Florida this afternoon."

A few minutes later Jerry strode into the locker room of his athletic club, stripped quickly and stretched out on the massage table.

"Turn on the sun lamp, Hank," he called to the attendant, "and give me all it's got. I've got to get a deep Florida tan and I've got to get it in the next three hours. Give her the gun!"

Frank Randall, another member of the club, paused beside Jerry. "Hello, Jerry," he said. "Say, you look awfully pale for a guy who just had a week in Florida."

Jerry grinned at him. "You know," he said, "that's what I thought, too."

"Oh — ho! I get it. You didn't go to Florida at all. Putting one over on the wife eh?"

Jerry frowned. "No I'm not," he insisted. "Not the way you mean, anyhow. It's just that — well, don't

"Oh!" Lucy fluttered from Jerry's arms. "You know Armand Levalle, don't you. Armand and I have had the most terrible time. His car broke down last night — this morning, rather — a million miles from nowhere and we had to stay the night at the most unspeakable inn you ever saw. It was dreadful. We were coming home from the Junior Prom and —"

"And will you forgive my automobile's imperfect performance?" Armand asked.

"Of course," Jerry said. "How could you help that?"

"I'm afraid we'll have to be going, Jerry," Frank said. "We're having an early dinner and then we're off to the theatre."

Armand was waiting for Lucy and Jerry in the living room when they had said goodbye to their guests. "The next time I take your wife out, Mr. Warriner," he said, "I hope —"

"I hope you buy a new car," Jerry cut in. "Or else I'll loan you mine. By the way, are you hungry?"

"Why, yes, I'm starved," Armand beamed.

"Then why not run out and eat a bite?" Jerry suggested pointedly.

Levalle stared at Jerry. "Mr. Warriner, what have I done?" he asked.

"That's what I'm going to find out," Jerry replied grimly.

"Why, Jerry, you can't believe —" Lucy broke in.

"We'll discuss it in private," Jerry said. "That is, if Mr. Levalle remembers where we keep our door."

Levalle bowed stiffly and left. Jerry turned to Lucy.

"Now, what have you to say for yourself?" he demanded.

Lucy sighed. "You know, I knew you were going to say just that," she said. Then she began to speak, patiently — as a mother explains something in the simplest terms to a child. "Armand was invited to the

BOXING MATCH—

Then Foy takes over and brings blood from Southerland. They're swinging like mad and it's only the second round. The third round opens and in ten seconds they're bleeding like stuck-hogs.

The customers are getting their money's worth and then some out of this fight alone. The round is over and we along with our friend Jones of the News; Earle Worley and the many other began to wonder who'll get the verdict. Then the judges ask for another round and Southerland holds the edge and wins the decision. At least the judges claim he held the edge. We won't voice our opinion but there's lots of booing and plenty of the fans think Wicker should be the champion.

None of the boys seem to doubt the fact that Lee Brown of the Gatesville CCC is the best heavyweight. At least none of the other heavies showed up and Lee gets the title.

The medals are awarded to the winners of first and second places. Everybody seems to be happy and everybody will get lots more of this kind of action next year when plans are to be made to stage a Golden Glove tournament right here in Gatesville. Gatesville may have something there with the title and the all-expense trips to Fort Worth and to Chicago. Who knows?

They're beginning to clear the gym and we pick up the little typewriter and trundle back to town and then to bed at the hotel.

Down at the local drug store somebody asks "Say Dub do you think Southerland really whipped Wicker."

(Posed by Cary Grant, Irene Dunne and Alexander D'Arcy.)

you ever get days when you want to walk out of your office and look up the kind of people you used to chase around with before you were married?"

"But when you feel like going on a tear," Frank said, "why don't you take Lucy with you?"

Jerry shook his head. "No. Lucy wouldn't like my old gang. She's not much of a mixer, you know. She's particular who she knows, hardly ever takes a drink — she's so darn proper. She'd think they were pretty rough."

Frank shook his head. "You're a fool if I ever saw one. You have the most perfect wife any man ever had and —"

"I know it," Jerry interrupted. "Lucy's perfect. Too perfect. Her behavior is always correct, her perfection is unquestioned." Jerry sighed. Sometimes I wish she'd be a little human for a change."

Frank laughed. "I'll remember that," he said.

"You have a fat chance. She just sits around and waits for me to come home. Makes me feel like a rat."

"Maybe you are one," Frank said. "Anyhow, what about stopping off at my house when you get through here for a cocktail. The Barnsleys and Viola Heath are going to be there."

"I have a much better idea. Let's pick up the gang and bring them all over to surprise Lucy."

But Lucy wasn't at home when Jerry and the crowd arrived to surprise her.

"Never mind. She'll probably be along before we finish our cocktails," Jerry said. "She probably ran up to her Aunt Patsy's cabin. She usually does if she gets lonely."

At that moment the hall door opened and Lucy Warriner came in. Tall, slender and graceful, with a strikingly vivacious face and a ready smile, Lucy was decidedly ornamental especially in the evening wrap and the clinging gown she was wearing. She ran to Jerry with open arms. "Darling!" he cried. Jerry took her in his arms and kissed her. "Gee, it's good to see you," he said. Then he looked over Lucy's shoulder toward the door.

Junior Prom. He invited me to go along. I went because I could think of nothing worse to do. Coming home, the car broke down. We stayed over night at an inn. This morning, when a garage opened, the car was repaired and here I am."

Jerry shook his head. "That isn't funny," he said. "If you had any sense you'd see that our marriage is teetering on the edge of a cliff. And you treat it lightly!"

Lucy shook her head in mock sorrow. "It's enough to destroy one's faith, isn't it?" she asked.

"I haven't any faith left in anyone," Jerry snapped.

"Not even in that conscientious person in Miami Beach who mailed your letters to me every day?" Lucy asked slyly.

Jerry stared in amazement. "And you've known all the time? Why didn't you tell me?"

"I thought it was a little game you enjoyed playing," Lucy explained. "And I had a feeling you weren't up to any real devilment."

Jerry beamed. "You're wonderful, Lucy. I'm sorry I — I —" then suddenly, Jerry remembered and scowled darkly. "But it's too late for any sweet understanding. You've fixed everything fine. I suppose you said to yourself — sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander didn't you?"

"Certainly not," Lucy said angrily, "but it's an interesting philosophy. Jerry, the story I've told you is strictly honest — now let me tell you something more. I wouldn't go on living with you if you were dipped in platinum. You're the most contemptible, petty-minded, selfish individual that ever breathed and I'm through with you. So go ahead and divorce me. It will be a pleasure!"

"Divorce you! Are you crazy? Do you think I'd bring that — that music teacher into court and let people see what you preferred to me?"

"Very well then," Lucy crossed to the phone and dialed a number. "I'll do it. What's the most convenient day for you to be divorced?" she asked.

MODERN MEDITERRANEAN HOUSE

Trim and neat, cheerful and bright this modern bungalow provides a perfect atmosphere to live in. It is surprising to find out how inexpensively homes of this type can be built. There is added convenience in having all of the rooms on one floor, particularly when they are as well arranged as are these four rooms and dinette in this plan. The airy living room and dinette, which together form one large room, are further enhanced by the massive fireplace and attractive terrace at the rear of the house.

went to a snake den several days ago and killed four snakes. Two of them measured 4 feet and 6 inches and the other two were four feet and six inches long. The two largest snakes were guessed to have about 17 rattlers, but they didn't know just how many the snakes did have because part of them were gone.

There have been a few cases of whooping cough in this community recently.

The fruit of prayer is effective testimony. Do we Christians think of our prayer life in its possibilities for an increasingly powerful witnessing. As someone has said; "Let us advance on our knees" with these words he defined prayer in the life of the Christian.

The spirit of prayer was dominant when the W. M. U. presented its evangelistic program at the home of Mrs. W. T. McBride on March 7th. The meeting opened with the song; Count your many Blessings; Prayer; Mrs. Maude Morgan; Song; Help Somebody Today.
