LARGEST PAID CIRCULATION IN CORYELL COUNTY

Local Representative Associated Press. Member Texas Press Association. Local Representative Texas Election Bureau.
 VOLUME VI GATESVILLE, TEXAS, FRIDAY, APRIL 29, 1938 NUMBER 36

THIRD ANNUAL WOOL SHOW IS SET MAY 14; ENTRIES ASKED NOW

May 14, has been set for the Third Annual Coryell County Wool Show which will be held in Gatesville on that date, according to County Agent Guy Powell.

Wool and mohair will be the highlights of the show and breeders and raisers are asked to enter their fleeces after making their selections.

Arrangements have been made for the following classes:

Registered fleeces: Yearling fleece (first fleece); Aged fleece (fleece from sheep previously shorn).

Mohair: Kid hair and old hair.

Unusual interest has been shown in these shows, and with the increasing markets for wool and mohair in this territory, and with the improvement in prices, a better showing of fleeces is expected in this third annual show than any before.

"MOTHERS DAY" MAY 8; FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH REVIVAL CLOSES

Sunday night, May 8, the Baptist Meeting at the First Baptist Church will close, according to information received from the Pastor, Rev. C. M. Spalding.

Interesting will be the special service to be held Tuesday evening of next week for the young people. Very special attention will be given them, and a special sermon will be arranged for them.

Attendance at the various services has been very good, and the public is cordially invited to attend the remainder of the meetings.

Some of the subjects likely to be discussed during the coming week are: "The New Birth", "The Necessity for the Deity of Christ", "The Gospel in Genesis", "Building With Blood and Iniquity" and "Hell".

Morning services will be continued as usual, the time being from 10 a. m. to 11 a. m., Monday thru Saturday.

Special music is provided each service with Evangelist Joe Trussell, leading the song service.

PARADE COMMITTEE FOR RODEO INVITES ENTRANTS

At a meeting at the city hall this morning, the Rodeo Parade Committee authorized the offering of $10.00 for the first prize float in the Rodeo and Frontier Celebration Parade here June 3, just prior to the opening of the first Rodeo performance.

Also, as many or more than 15 covered wagons are wanted for the 'frontier' end of the parade, all cowboys of the county are invited, and anyone interested is asked to get in touch with J. B. Roach at the County Agent's office or Howard Franks at Perry Brothers Store.

Only 'service clubs' will be barred from participation in the prizes for floats, and merchants, community clubs, FFA, 4-H or other organizations will be eligible.

$100. PRIZE OFFERED IN TEXAS HISTORY ESSAY CONTEST

With the subject "San Felipe de Austin", (The Capital of Austin's Colony), $100.00 is being offered by the James Monroe Hill Texas History Essay Contest to the white school student of Texas for the best essay written on the subject.

Closing date has been announced as June 15. Only one essay from each school, which is reviewed by three teachers and the principal, and they are judged 50 percent on historical accuracy, 10 percent on research, 10 percent on diction and 30 percent on comprehensive treatment.

Any further information may be had from County Superintendent J. M. Witcher's office.

PHYSICIANS AGREE ON ADHERENCE ON SET FEES

At a meeting held Wednesday evening in Gatesville, physicians of Gatesville agreed on an altered price schedule and changes in general policies of handling business, and an advertisement in Tuesday's issue of the News will give the agreements in detail.

These policies were adopted in order to create a more uniform charge for medical services, according to the report.

Those physicians who have already signed the agreement are Drs. J. H. Hamilton, H. M. Haynes, T. M. Hall, M. W. Lowrey, Chas. T. McGregor, John T. Brown, D. B. Jones and K. R. Jones. Dr. Reh Brown was out of the city and was not presented with the agreement, but it is thought he also will sign the agreement.

THREE COUNTY BOYS ARE NAMED GOLD STAR 4-H CLUB BOYS

Clovie King, Plainview, Travis Harper, Flat, and Albert Koch, Plainview have been named Gold Star 4-H Club boys for 1937, according to information received in County Agent Guy Powell's office.

Notable in this honor is the fact that in the 19 counties comprising this district, there are only 5 Gold Star Boys, and 3 of these 5 are in Coryell county.

This honor is given for outstanding work done in the 4-H Club work.

Color has been the Eastern idea of beauty.

NEW PRESBYTERIAN PASTOR TO BE INSTALLED SUNDAY AT 11:00

Edward S. Bayless, who will be graduated from the Presbyterian Seminary at Austin in May, will be ordained and made pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Gatesville, Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour. He will be installed as pastor of the Unity Presbyterian Church in Turnersville, also.

The commission, agency for ordaining or installing a minister of the Presbyterian Church will be composed of these: Rev. T. W. Currie, President of the Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary; Rev. W. R. Minter, Pastor, First Southern Presbyterian Church, Austin; Rev. C. T. Caldwell, pastor emeritus of the First Presbyterian Church, La Grange; and Mr. J. P. Kendrick, Elder of the First Presbyterian Church, Gatesville.

Mr. Kendrick will preside over the service. Dr. Currie will preach the sermon and pro-pound the constitutional questions. The pastor will be charged by Dr. Minter, and Dr. Caldwell will charge the congregation. The ordination prayer will be voiced by Dr. Huff. A slight change will be made in the commission to install the pastor Sunday night.

Rev. Bayless will assume active duties June 1, preaching on the first and third Sundays in Turnersville and on the second and fourth Sundays in the local church.

Sunday School, with classes for all ages, meets every Sunday morning at 9:45 a. m. in both churches.

The First Presbyterian Church in Gatesville was organized in 1885. In these 53 years, several pastors have served the church, but this is the first time a minister has been ordained in the church.

TWO "DRY DAYS" AND THIRTEEN PICTURES ENTERED IN CONTEST

Just 2 dry days last week! Or, just parts of two days!

And, thirteen pictures were entered by one individual in the News-Merchant's Candid Camera Contest, which, if it ever clears up so the "photogs" can photo, we'll have a shower of something else besides rain.

Merchants who are sponsoring this contest include all the drug stores, Gatesville, Koen-Foster,

City and Fientges, and Mayes Studio & Radio Shop.

There have been a lot of 'lookers', but not so many of 'leavers' as far as the pictures are concerned, but then, who wants to take pictures in the rain.

Bring them on in,—we're going to wait until the sun shines, and that Fox Cadette is still waiting for someone.

PECAN SCHOOL TODAY AT LAMPASAS

Pecan growers, and those interested in pecan culture and production in the county will be interested in the Pecan School which will be held in Lampasas today at 9:15.

Those who wish to attend are asked to meet in a group on the west side of the courthouse at Lampasas at that hour.

The program, under the direction of J. F. Rosborough Horticulturist, A. & M., will be as follows: 10 a. m., Budding; 10:30, Grafting; 11, Methods of killing foreign timber in pecan groves.

One P. M., Budding pecan and plum trees; 1:30, pecan varieties and pollination problems; 2, Experiments in the control of pecan nit case borer; 2:30, demonstrations in spraying pecan trees with power equipment.

These demonstrations will be given on the Frank Moore farm which is 20 miles west of Lampasas near Bend.

ERNESTINE SCHWALBE OF J'BORO WINS IN DIST. MEET

In the literary events, Ernestine Schwalbe of Jonesboro HI, was the only Coryell Countyite coming thru the District Meet held at Denton recently, and qualified for the State meet in Austin, May 6-7.

Miss Schwalbe won her honors in Junior girls' ward declamation.

ALMOST FINAL REPORT ON EASTER SEAL SALE

The nearest that can be gotten on the Easter Seal Sale which closed Sunday is $59.55, according to Mrs. Turk Brown, one of the committee who had charge of the sale.

One or two others are to report as yet, and it is not expected the total will run much more than $60.00. The money is used for the benefit of crippled children in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McGuire of Port Arthur are vacationing in Gatesville. Mr. McGuire is employed at the Gulf refining company plant in that city.

—Watch the signal lights.

BUCKETS SOME PLACES ONLY 2.27 FOR WEEK, RAIN

Gatesville don't get it all! At least, not all the rain. Here's the score for the week; 1st rain 1.15, 2nd, .15, 3rd, .17, and the last .80, making a grand total of 2.27, as was turned in for this period.

Out of the rain gauge, however, from stories from over the county, in some places, it evidently rained in bucket measures, and yesterday afternoon, while just was blowing on Gatesville streets, a more than gully washer was reported at Turnersville and Jonesboro.

JOE BROWN TAKES FOURTH IN REGIONAL MEET

Joe Ned Brown, Hornet speedster, copped fourth in the 220-yard low hurdle to win the distinction of being the first to place in any event in the regional meet since the present interscholastic League was formed.

Brown topped the timbers in 26.8 seconds, the fastest he has ever cleared them. At that he got off on a bad start, and had to break his stride after taking the first hurdle. When he reached the second hurdle he was five yards behind the fourth man, but quickly closed the gap, and had there been one more hurdle he would probably passed Sheffield of Paschal as he was at Sheffield's elbow when they crossed the finish line.

Brown had easily won his preliminary heat Saturday morning to qualify for the finals.

Mrs. M. W. Lowrey Hostess To Meeting

With Mrs. M. W. Lowrey hostess to members of the Woman's Forum, at her home Monday afternoon the meeting was opened with the program leader discussing Parliamentary Law. 'Vocabulary Building' followed by Mrs. Paul Martin.

Others taking part on the interesting program were Mrs. Kermit Jones who spoke on, 'Bringing up the Modern Child', Mrs. Clark Jensen talked on, 'The Future of the Family', and 'Changing Ideals of Marriage', was discussed by Mrs. Lewis Holmes.

A large number of members were present for the meeting with one guest, Mrs. Ercell W. Brooks.

JONESBORO W.M.S.

Another unique program was presented when the W. M. U. met at the home of Mrs. E. S. Watson on April 19th. It has been said that variety is the spice of life, we have found that by adding variety to our program all interest is renewed.

The meeting opened with the song, 'Love Lifted Me'. Mrs. Foster led in prayer. Personal service chairman gave a report of some small services rendered to depressed friends. Home mission chairman made a special plea in behalf of our Sunday School.

The playlet, 'Possibilities' was then presented. From that playlet we realized how short we came of seeing our own possibilities. The more we do the more we see to do, and the more we are capable of doing. But then all true success comes from earnest prayer.

Four from our society attended the workers meeting at Gatesville on April 18th. There were 24 members present and three visitors.

Refreshments of iced tea and delicious cakes were served. Our next meeting will be held in the church, May 3rd.

The educational chairman will have charge of the program which will be on Church, Schools vs. State Schools. We will have our guests that afternoon the Senior Class of Jonesboro High School.

WEEK OF WEEKS

Just for your general information,—that is, if you care at all, this coming week, May 2-7 is a veritable "week of weeks,"

First off the bat is National Baby Week, May 1-7; then there's Child Health Day, May 1; National Foot Health Week, May 1-7; National Music Week, May 1-7; National Egg Week, May 1-7; National Restaurant Week, May 2-8, and capping the climax, is,—

MOTHER'S DAY, SUNDAY MAY 8.

It's a fit, these weeks, for the reader, advertiser, feature writer, and publisher,—there are so many, you never know which one will "catch-on."

However, there's no doubt that the underlying cause of these weeks all are good, and each has its advantages for many different folks of each community. They're a sort of "calling to your attention weeks", which concentrate the minds of Mr. and Mrs. John Public on items for the good of everyone concerned.

MRS. D. CARROLL OF FLAT HONORED WITH BIRTHDAY SHOWER

On Sunday afternoon, April 10, Mrs. D. Carroll, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Will Carroll and Miss Erine, motored to the home of Mrs. Ida Carroll of Gatesville. On their arrival Aunt Ollie, as we often call her, was greeted by friends and relatives from various parts of the county who had gathered to commemorate her birthday. Mrs. Carroll was seventy-nine the following Tuesday, April 12.

After friendly handshakes and congratulations, Mrs. Carroll was led into the living room and was assisted by Mrs. Brack Jones in opening and viewing her many gifts. These were not given because of their value but were given in appreciation of the life Aunt Ollie has lived in her home and before her neighbors and friends.

After the gifts were presented, the entire crowd joined in singing several old familiar hymns led by

Mr. R. A. Dixon of Mound, Gilbert Colvin and family, assisted by Barney Colvin, rendered some special songs that were enjoyed by all present.

WORLD COMMENT

THE RETURN TO SPENDING

Amid considerable confusion in the minds of the people as to how much money is to be spent the New Deal administration has inaugurated another spending program. Again the country is to be rescued from a depression by "priming" the business "pump," we are told.

The program involves the spending of $1,612,000,000 (billions) in addition to probably $750,000,000, which will be needed next January to run the works progress administration from Feb. 1, 1939, to June 30, 1939. The public works administration is to lend one billion dollars to towns, cities and states for local construction projects, and $500,000,000 is to be allocated to the housing authority to be lent to cities desirous of clearing slums and erecting low-rent housing projects.

The Treasury has released $1,390,000,000 (billions) in segregated gold and the Federal Reserve Board will relax bank reserve requirements by $750,000,000.

The gross proposal is to add to the normal budget of seven billion dollars the sum of $3,362,000,000 (billions) for the purposes specified above in addition to the credit expansion made available by release of the segregated gold and by relaxing Federal reserve requirements.

By releasing segregated gold the Government increased its bank balances by $1,391,000,000 (billions.) With balances swollen by the new Government deposits, the banks are ready to lend industry and business more money. Statisticians estimate that from eight dollars to ten dollars can be lent for each dollar of this new Government deposit. That means that the banks could lend—if borrowers appeared—some 11 to 13 billion dollars more after the release of gold than before.

By relaxing Federal reserve requirements, the banks are allowed to maintain a smaller ratio of cash to deposits than previously. This enables banks to lend six to seven and one-half billion dollars more.

Thus the total possible credit expansion involved in the spending program is something over thirty billion dollars. This however, is only potential credit. Business men and industrialists must borrow and the banks must lend in order to make the credit of any value.

President Roosevelt believes that by pouring a huge stream of Federal cash into the hands of idle men and idle industry he will stimulate business so that it will pick up momentum and start moving to prosperous levels.

Congress must appropriate all the money for new WPA and other spending. A minor amendment to the United States housing act and possibly to the WPA act will be required.

If you started spending at the rate of $38.29 a minute in the year 1, it would require 1,938 years to go broke—if you had that money.

But if you had only the actual money to be spent and loaned in the new program, you would have to spend at the rate of $4.43 a minute for 1938 years to go broke at the end of this year.

At the end of this year only 1,018,612,800 (billions) minutes will have elapsed since the birth of Christ.

Glance at these headlines: Oct. 12, 1936—I tell you and you will agree, that we are around the corner. Private employment is picking up. That means that government expenditures for work and for unemployment are coming down.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, at Denver, Colo.

April 14, 1937—New Federal Cost Study is Ordered by President to Meet Revenue Failure—Sharp Cuts Asked—Relief Figures Delayed—President Awaits Final Data on 1938 Needs—Congress Move for Aid Slashes Grows.

April 19, 1937—Roosevelt Message to Congress to Ask $250,000,000 Cut in Expenses—Balanced Budget Now in 1939—Relief to Be Pared.

April 20, 1937—Roosevelt to Ask Congress for $1,500,000,000 for Relief With no Increase in Texas—President Bars Leaders' Plan to Pare Sum to $1,000,000,000—Deficite over $2,000,000,000.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Fifth avenues' Easter parade is probably the only parade where every body marches and there are no on-lookers, but ninety-eight of each hundred are there not to show off themselves but to gawk at the other two, and high society now accepts it as a bounden duty to turn out in top hats and silver fox tippets to give the Hoi Polloi a free look. The opera ends its season with 'Tristan and Isolde' and the singers go away to prepare for the long season of '39 when they will perform for half a year for the World's Fair crowds. Roof gardens are beginning to open, The Waldorf, The Pierre and the St. Regis are letting in the spring breezes the first week in May. Gotham Drama critics pick John Steinbeck's 'Of Mice and Men' as the play of the year which is an award worth while, considering the winner must have three quarters of all the votes. Many of these seasons plays are closing but some old-timers urge steadily on, 'Tobacco Road' from '33, 'You Can't Take It With You' and 'Room Service' both past their first birthdays. Before the World War and the movie nearly every American got to see a play in a Broadway theatre or the home own opera house once in a while, but a check of New York young folks between eighteen and thirty reveals that only one in a hundred has ever seen a legitimate show. Lots and lots of celebs pack Grand Central Station when they arrive but the only mob scene at a departure was the other day when Mr. Whitney went to sing. Mae West gets $12,500 a week for personal appearances at Loew's State which is an all time lot. Newspaper girls are hiring talent for their ball this year instead of trying to act themselves and nobody, including the columnist, objects a bit. Harry Richman's marriage made the feature pages of the tabloids, the second pages of the evening papers and a paragraph next to the obituaries in the a. m. dailies, and if you go to the Gotham and ask for Gene Raymond and his Missus, Jeanette Macdonald, why, they never heard of them, so try paging Mr. and Mrs. Randal and see who you get, and where would Adolph Hitler be now if his father had kept the name of Schicklgruber. Unhappiest looking visitor, Spencer Tracy with white tie and tails in the Perisan room of the Plaza. 'The Berth of a Nation' is on Broadway again. The 'John Hancock Hounds' crowding the stage door to get Allen Jones' signature last week and the same J. H. H.'s crowding the stage door to get Rudy Vallee's this week. And we wonder if Rudy scribbles 'Hubert Prior Vallee' or what. Bill Bojangles Robinson shuffling off to spend his sixtieth birthday in his new Hollywood bungalow swears he won't dance a day past a hundred and two, says of he'd started to tap when he was five instead of seven he could quit 20 years earlier on the even hundred, but it's too late now to do anything about it.

PREVIEW OF THE PRIMARIES

The Illinois primaries inaugurated the 1938 election sweeps which will decide the fate of new deal congressional strength during the last two years of the Roosevelt regime.

The national significance of the Democratic primary in Illinois lies not in the triumph of Governor Henry Horner's candidate for the senate over the Kelly Nash nominee but in the huge turnout of Democratic voters and the split in the state party. Latest reports give the two Democratic candidates for the senate over 1,500,000 votes. The total Republican vote is less than half that amount.

Although such figures would indicate that the Democrats still retain firm control of Illinois, one of the key states of the Midwestern farm belt, the battle between Scott L. Lucas, two-term congressman backed by Governor Horner and U. S. District Attorney Michael A. Igoe, adherent of the faction dominated by Chicago's Mayor Edward J. Kelly and National Committeeman Patrick A. Nash of Cook county, undoubtedly had much to do with bringing out the large Democratic vote. State Senator Richard J. Lyons, bitter foe of the New Deal, had little trouble winning the G. O. P. senatorial nomination.

The victor of Representative Lucas can not be interpreted as either an endorsement or a rebuff to the national administration, as both Lucas and District Attorney Igoe campaigned on a platform of friendship for the New Deal. Mr. Igoe's backers, Mayor Kelly and Mr. Nash, have worked more closely with President Roosevelt than has Governor Horner. Should Representative Lucas win in November over Mr. Lyons, he could be expected to be more independent than Mr. Igoe.

The Illinois primary is the only one in April. But the fireworks open in Florida on May 3 when the fate of Senator Claude Pepper, an administration favorite will be decided.

Pepper is opposed by Representative Mark Wilcox anti-New Dealer, and by former Governor Dave Scholtz who favors the President. A runoff will probably be necessary between Pepper and a runner-up.

Pennsylvania's rival machines will clash on May 17 in test of strength rivaling the Illinois campaign. The Democrats will nominate candidates for governor and senator. Senator Joseph F. Guffey is aligned with Thomas Kennedy, lieutenant governor and vice president of the United Mine Workers, who is running for governor with the support of John L. Lewis and his C. I. O. The Guffey-Lewis machine is backing Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia, who was elected as a Republican, for the senatorial togs.

On a rival Democratic ticket are Governor George H. Earle for the senate and Charles Alvin Jones, Pittsburgh lawyer for governor. This lineup has split Pennsylvania's Democratic party, which was led in the 1932, 1934, and 1936 campaigns by Guffey and Earle, who is a former ambassador to Austria. Failure of Guffey and Earle to agree upon a slate resulted in the two rival tickets which will endanger the possibilities of a Democratic victory in the November general elections.

On the Republican slate is the incumbent senator, James J. "Puddler Jim" Davis who is opposed by Republican National Committeeman G. Manson Owllett. Davis will win without trouble and probably face Governor Earle as the Democratic nominee in November.

Senator Robert R. Reynolds is another New Dealer who must hurdle party primaries this summer. Representative Franklin Hancock, who has little chance to win, is opposing him.

Senator Guy Gillette of Iowa is running for re-nomination without the blessings of the administration. He is opposed by Representative Otha D. Wearin 35 year old liberal who is backed by National Chairman Jim Farley. Lester J. Dickinson, former senator who was defeated in 1936 by Governor Clyde Hering, Democrat, is running for the G. O. P. nomination. He has an opponent Lloyd Thurston, seven term congressman.

Senator Gerald Nye, famous liberal Republican who headed the munitions investigations is facing the most serious opposition of his career in Governor William A. Langer who was impeached as governor a few years back following conviction on charges of mishandling relief funds. Langer was re-elected as a vindication of the charges after threatening to run his wife in typical Ferguson style. The primary will be held June 28.

In Oklahoma Governor E. W. Marland has announced against Eimer Thomas for the latter's senate seat. Date of the primary is July 12.

Senator George McGill of Kansas has as yet drawn no intra-party opposition. He will face tough opposition in November in Clyde Reed publisher and former liberal governor.

Missouri will present little opposition to the re-nomination and re-election aspirations of Senator Bennett Champ Clark, who hopes to run for president in 1940. Clark will receive the support of the potent Pendergast machine in Kansas City.

All reports indicate that Senator George Berry of Tennessee will be defeated in the Democratic primaries of August 4. Boss Ed Crump of Memphis and Senator Kenneth McKellar, who controls a powerful political machine, have as their candidate Tom Stewart prosecutor of the famous Scopes evolution case.

National attention is focused upon the August 6 primary in Kentucky, where A. B. Barkley administration floor leader in the senate will fight for his political life against governor A. B. "Happy" Chandler, new deal critic and powerful vote-getter. Barkley is counting upon administration support to tide him thru this political hurdle. President Roosevelt will speak for him in Kentucky sometime in July.

The only woman in the senate, Mrs. Hattie Caraway of Arkansas is running against a field composed of Representatives John McClellan and David D. Terry. Mrs. Caraway will run on her record as a 100 per cent Roose-

CHAMLEE'S GARAGE

Everybody is wondering how long this session will last; everyone wants to adjourn as soon as possible and yet there has been a very noticeable slowing down of legislative activity. Apparently the leadership is waiting to decide just what program they will follow and the members generally are as much at a loss as the public to know just what will be brought to the floor of the House.

I know that many of our people are wondering just why a Member of Congress should wonder what bills will come up. You doubtless feel, as I have often felt that any member should introduce any measures he wishes and get it before his fellow members and require them to vote it up or down. As a matter of fact, it is not difficult to introduce bills. There have been about 12,000 introduced in the House alone at this Congress, but after a bill is introduced it is sent to a committee to be heard and even there probably two thirds of the bills are never reached. An important committee will have several hundred bills referred to it, and the simple matter of time makes it impossible the consideration of all of them.

The committees generally call on the Department involved for a report on any bill referred to them. Of course, this report is not always followed, but I think that in altogether too many cases it is followed. This is particularly true of a bill involving money. There is too much reliance on the opinion of the bureau of the Budget. Then the Committee may hold long hearings on any bill. Most bills die in the committee but if a bill should get a favorable report it will not ordinarily reach the floor for debate unless and until the Rules Committee reports a rule for its consideration and debate. In this way the Rules Committee can hold up legislation. But even after the bill gets a "rule" it must be called up and the order of calling them up or the "program for the week" is determined by the majority leader and his assistants—"The Whip and The Assistant Whips".

Thus it will be seen that for practical purposes the average member must wait until the leaders decide what will be taken up before he can know what the program is to be. You will also note that there are a great many places along the road where a bill may be pigeonholed and die. This may in some measure help to explain the importance of committee assignments which are made (so far as Democratic members are concerned) by the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee. They in turn proceed on the rule of seniority which controls so many relations here. In other words, the man who stays here continuously acquires more and more seniority and gradually acquires positions on important committees, and thereby becomes more and more able to be of service to his people. This explains in large measure the great number of Southern members who occupy places of importance in Congress. Their people have re-elected them more consistently than the members from other states and they have, therefore, acquired more seniority.

This week the House finally passed the Agricultural Department Appropriation Bill and the Bill. I had hoped that the agricultural bill would carry over a substantial increase for the tenant home ownership work but on final vote this increase was defeated by six votes. I voted for this increase. We did, however, secure a very substantial increase in the sums allocated for public roads and highways. I think this was thoroughly justified. I know of no better way to spend money for relief. I think that we get a maximum of employment as well as lasting benefits when we spend our money for roads and highways.

On August 30 Senator Ellison D. "Cotton Ed" Smith old guard conservative and New Deal opponent must face youthful Governor Olin D. Johnson, who is a New Dealer. The South Caro-

Two anti-administration Democrats, Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland and Senator Walter George of Georgia, are due for opposition from New Dealers who will receive the endorsement of the administration.

Painter Pete's QUESTION & ANSWER BOX

Question: My linoleum is beginning to wear off in places near the sink and at the back door. What would be the best way to prevent this? I understand you can put on some kind of clear coating that will protect it from scuffing.—J. B. S.

Answer: The best way to finish your linoleum is to coat it with Linkota. Linkota is a pale, tough, water proof varnish, especially made for use on either linoleum or printed linoleum. It effectively seals the pores, thus making cleaning much easier. It also, being a varnish-type finish, dries to a hard, elastic gloss which resists wear and scuffing feet.

Before applying Linkota, be sure to wash the surface with turpentine. This will remove dirt, dust and any wax that may be present. Then apply the Linkota with a varnish brush. You can also put on Linkota with a patented spreader, obtained locally.

Anyone having any questions about painting or paint products is invited to send them in to 'Painter Pete'. Address your correspondence to 'Painter Pete', in care of this paper. Your questions and the answers, will appear in an early issue. Watch for them.

ALLIS-CHALMERS TRACTORS And COMBINES

When in Gatesville come around to 808 Main Street, Near the Ford Dealer, and take a look at the New Allis-Chalmers Harvesters (combine) and tractors. The New Allis-Chalmers combine is in a class to itself; all we ask is take a look and talk to those who have been using them. It will save your grain and make you money. This Harvester is doing away with the old binder and thresher method of harvesting, and saves you plenty of time, worry and expense.

We are going to have a demonstration as soon as we can find some grain ready to cut. Everybody invited to attend this Demonstration. We are going to carry a full line of parts for tractor and combine, so if you need anything in parts come to see us. We have planters, cultivators, mowers and one-way plows. We will appreciate a part of your business.

Isn't this the real problem of Beer —and almost its only problem?

THERE ARE people, of course, who steadfastly and sincerely believe beer to be intoxicating, or its use sinful, harmful, or a first step toward use of "hard liquor."

Just as sincerely we hold that the weight of the evidence is overwhelmingly against them...that beer is a mild, wholesome food beverage...and that "there is nothing more promising to combat the evil of too much alcohol than the opportunity of drinking good beer."

No...it is not in beer itself, we believe, that its gravest problem lies, but in those conditions, undesirable to us all, which sometimes surround its sale.

How should that problem be handled... by brewers, by retailers, by consumers, and by the public authorities? On its handling, we believe, depends the ultimate success or failure of the art and science of brewing, with all its manifold contributions to human pleasure and happiness and to the farm and industrial welfare of this country.

In that belief, a short time ago the Brewers Foundation was organized... to align the brewing industry with forces working for the public good in this country.

Our underlying motive... to perpetuate and promote our industry... is of course obvious. But equally obvious, we hope, is the fact that our interests coincide with the public interest.

Important progress has been made. Brewer-members of the Foundation already represent nearly half the production of beer and ale in the United States: and these members are pledged, individually and collectively, to the Brewers Code, one significant clause of which is as follows:

"We pledge our support to the duly constituted authorities for the elimination of anti-social conditions wherever they may surround the sale of beer to the consumer."

Being practical men, we promise no miracles. We cannot immediately or effectively "police" the quarter-million points where beer is sold (nor, to be fair, have we legal authority in many cases to do so). Nor can we, immediately, bring about full compliance with the law among all retailers, nor honest enforcement by all authorities.

But a beginning has been made...and we do promise that you will see results from it.

How far we can go, and how soon, depends very much on ourselves...but partly also on you.

Public opinion, once aroused, can operate to bring about honest enforcement of existing laws. Restriction of your patronage only to legal, respectable retail outlets can and will operate to raise retailing standards. Public preference for the products of Foundation members* will bear witness of your approval both to members and to cooperating retailers, and will encourage them to renewed efforts.

This is, therefore, at once a statement of our objectives and an appeal for your support, without which we must fall short of our high hopes. We urgently invite your full and sympathetic cooperation.

SYNOPSIS

Released on a charge that he was captain of a slave ship, Captain Nuggin Taylor, an American, conspires with the British Naval Commissioner's Office to trap one of the slaving ringleaders, Lieutenant Tarryton of Her Majesty's Navy. Tarryton deserts and sails for America on the William Brown. Also on board the William Brown are Margaret, Tarryton's sister, Louisa, Taylor's best friend and a host of emigrants to the United States. A pyromaniac starts a fire aboard. The ensuing explosion kills the William Brown's Captain and ruins the water and food stores. Taylor takes charge. To protect the passengers for the two insufficient lifeboats, he sets up a kangaroo court. The judges have the final word as to who will stay on the boat and who will be allowed to depart. Meanwhile, Taylor fights an honor duel with de Bastonet, a passenger. The latter is much superior to Taylor with the sword and it looks like the end for the American.

CHAPTER VIII

"Look out below," Powdah shrieked. He had taken a coil of rope from the weather pin-rail, and now pretended to throw it to the sailor stationed at the quarter-boat. The rope fell on de Bastonet's sword, and dashed the point aside. "On guard," Taylor said. "That joined his. A head of mutiny was rising, more threatening to the ship than that cobra's head of cloud.

"Those of my faction, follow me. We shall know how to defend our lives," Tarryton exclaimed.

There was a fearsome cracking. The mainmast, charred at its base, fell like a tall shadow, and broke out a section of bulwarks.

The Court, in spite of all, still passed its judgments. So did the clank of the ship's pumps.

Powdah dropped to his knees at Taylor's feet.

"Nuggin, they're coming for me. Don't let me go to Davy Jones' locker, Nuggin. Don't let 'em chain me to a sinking ship. Why, the rats themselves are leaving her."

Two men stood either side of Powdah with ropes. They looked to Taylor for orders.

"Take him. Try him," Taylor said sternly.

A surge of wind passed over the ship. The William Brown rose drunkenly on a swell, as the wretched Powdah faced his judges.

"Kroomen," he shrieked. "Kroo-

Amidships, by the stump of the fallen mast, the mutinous Tarryton spoke to George Martin and a growing rabble of men like-minded with him.

"Come George, you have got a club there. Let us rush them. . . . Pah, have you got a chill? You are shaking like a dice-box, man."

"Stanley, are you mad?" Margaret cried. "A Tarryton can't show the white feather. Since you wouldn't let the Court pass judgment on you, you must condemn yourself."

"Margaret, be quiet. I won't let you go away with strangers. Not with that black devil, Taylor."

"I will stay here with you. We shall have good company," Margaret reminded him proudly. But the Lieutenant was gone, collecting mutineers round him as he went, whispering, pointing, urging.

Margaret felt a powerful arm round her waist.

"To the boats, my girl." This was Taylor.

"Do you go too?" she cried, struggling against him.

"I must."

"But I shall stay here."

Margaret's lips made one red line of determination. But time was scanty. Taylor hit her savagely on the chin with his bare fist. Holding her limp body close against him, he walked to the ship's rail. It was very near the water now. A pair of brawny arms reached from below and dragged Margaret over the rail.

"Throw a little water in her face," Taylor ordered. For a second he stood opening and shutting the fingers of the fist that had hit her. Other women were being helped into the boat. A withered crone, struggling and pushing out of turn, dropped something out of her dress. This object struck the deck with a metallic ring. Jewels flashed and scattered. The crone snatched at them in a frenzy, and Taylor saw the crazed eyes of Powdah shining there.

"So Powdah my friend—"

"Touch me and I'll drill you through," Powdah muttered. "I won't die in the water, and that's flat."

"Yes, you will. For once the sea will cheat the gallows."

Powdah from his stooped position was able to see that Tarryton and his mutineers were creeping close.

"Look out behind, Nuggin," he yelled. Tarryton's revolver flashed, but Powdah, quick as a lizard, had stepped between, and took the bullet in his heart. He fell sprawling to the deck.

Taylor's own revolver blazed; Tarryton clapped a hand to his shoulder with a cry of pain. The pistol had fallen from his nerveless fingers. The mutineers were checked and stood uncertain. George Martin, looking aft, saw the eyes of the peasant girl Aileen fixed on him in merciless judgment. . . . Suddenly he saw that he had been fighting like a fool, and without fear—but on the wrong side.

Tarryton meanwhile had picked up his weapon in his left hand, but there was no time to load. Taylor closed with him, and lifted him high in air. They swayed nearer the sinking rail. At this instant Taylor's eyes encountered Margaret's.

Crouched below him in the longboat, she stared, transfixed with horror. For the space between two heart-beats, Taylor hesitated. Then, before her eyes, he hurled the wounded Tarryton headlong into the sea.

"The canvas has ripped," a sailor reported. "Water is coming in again." "Lower the boats," Taylor commanded.

trick is old." With an adroit flick of the sword, he severed his adversary's belt and buckle. "So. . . . Fencing is the art of touching without being touched D'Artagnan."

De Bastonet was roused to heights of sword-play. Both men were bleeding now, their shirts were ripped. But suddenly with a bell-like ring, the Frenchman's sword was on the deck. De Bastonet was disarmed. Shame and despair filled him.

"Fick it up," Taylor commanded. "Morbien no," de Bastonet murmured. "After all, I prefer drowning to the sword."

He vaulted the rail. The wretched onlookers stared, but he did not come up again. The sea had swallowed him. Utter silence. Not the cry of a bird, not the flap of a sail, not the ripple of a wave. The sun, as if it had been another human life, was blotted out by rising cloud.

Then Tarryton, near the stern of the ship, could be heard saying furiously, "I deny the jurisdiction of this Court. Are any with me in this?"

"I am with you," George Martin cried in a trembling voice. He had forgotten that his sweetheart was one of the judges. Other voices men was all they was. Why, your worships, I loved 'em like a brother, I did."

"You were a slaver. You dealt in human flesh," the Reverend Clark said solemnly.

"Against me will, Reverend. It was Granlay as forced me—Granlay it were sure, my masters. Tell 'em it was Granlay, Nuggin. Why, Nuggin, you wouldn't turn against me too?"

"I turn against no man. But I recognize facts. You die here, it seems, Powdah. Take it like a man."

Powdah rolled on the deck in an agony of fear.

"By the nails of Christ, I am innocent," he bellowed.

A sailor, wet to the skin, staggered out of the main-hold.

"The canvas has ripped. Captain. Water is coming in again."

"Lower away the boats," Taylor commanded.

Powdah was forgotten. The starboard boat stood by the longboat davits.

"Now. . . she's water-borne. Cap size the after-block."

Women and children were handed weeping into the cockle-shell which might well prove as grim a refuge as the settling ship.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

The story of our times is being told for the next generation by amateur photographers who take and preserve simple scenes of present-day life, such as this.

DID it ever occur to you that as the owner of an amateur camera you are blessed with the means of making a valuable and truly significant record of the times in which you live? Magazine, newspaper, news-reel and other professional photographers are doing just that every day and a vast store of pictorial history is accumulating.
Thanks to the progress and spread of photography our descendants are going to know much more about the way we lived and acted than we know of the way our great-grandfathers did. Through these millions of photographs of life and action now being taken our descendants will possess visual evidence of the things we did, how we dressed, how life went on in city and country. Contrast the advantage they will have over this generation which has to rely upon the descriptions of writers and the work of artists for its understanding of life prior to the introduction of photography scarcely more than two generations ago. However accurate the work of writers and artists may be, it cannot equal the reality and truthfulness of photography.
We amateur photographers, now millions strong in every country, are also making a tremendous contribution to this photographic record of our time. Few of us, however, are doing it by design. Most of us take pictures for the present amusement of ourselves, families and friends with not so much thought to their value and interest to our children's children. Too few of us take pains to preserve the pictures we take.
Well, what do you say to the idea of becoming a photographic historian for the benefit of your own posterity? This you can do effectively even on a small scale. It simply means making a collection of pictures, taken by yourself, best representing the life, customs, dress and activities of the present day and placing them in a special album to keep and hand down as a family possession. Some of these pictures will seem commonplace now but as interesting and valuable forty or fifty years hence as those of the "gay nineties" are to us.

Select subjects which in your judgment are most typical of the current scene. Certainly you should not neglect to include your own home life, street scenes and other views about your changing city, the homes of the rich and the homes of the poor, life in the country and present types of automobiles, airplanes, railroad trains and other things in general use which today spell modern life and tomorrow will be obsolete.
You should not fail to include off-guard snapshots of people doing things illustrative of common life—what the artists call genre pictures. Make your camera your companion especially in traveling and be ready for these. For example, a shot out of your car window of a scene on the platform of a railroad station may seem ordinary enough today but it is a sample of common life. Years hence this picture will be a curiosity. The modern scene is constantly changing. There is no other medium than photography which can show so truly after a lapse of years what these changes have been.
John van Guilder.

Your BAKER knows GAS BAKING IS BEST

Texas Bread Week
We salute the Bakers of Texas! "Texas Bread Week," which they are sponsoring, deserves the support of everyone.

It is the quality of breads and pastries offered to his customers that largely determines the popularity of a baker's products. That's why practically all bakeries in Texas, wherever gas service is available, use heat-controlled gas bake ovens. For every baker knows that the even heat distribution and perfect temperature control by automatic regulators which these ovens provide are essential to his success in baking quality breads, cakes, pies and pastries. Operating costs are less, too, because of cheapness of gas. For baking, your baker knows gas is the best.
