BRACK CURRY, "JOE BURNS" OF NEWS OKEHS DALLAS JOURNAL EDITORIALS

Brack Curry, journalism student of SMU, Dallas, who was selected by the journalism students of SMU to write a paper on the best Editorial page of daily papers in Dallas. Brack is the "Joe Burns" of the Coryell County News and the writer of World Comment.

Brack's analysis of the editorial page of the Dallas Journal is as follows, as published in The Dallas Journal, April 19:

"Primarily The Journal's editorial page derives distinctiveness from make-up, but it embodies all the qualities and characteristics of a good editorial page. In variety in subjects and style consistency of policy, individuality humor public service and independence. The Journal is unexcelled in the field of Texas journalism."

Patton's Cartoon

The page is well balanced with the cartoon by Jack Patton, Journal staff cartoonist, placed in the center. Editorials are carried on each side and below the cartoon, lending to the make-up of the page a distinctive note of individuality. There is no over-displays in the makeup and the typography of the editorial columns harmonizes perfectly with that of the page.

The Journal, temperate in its editorial opinions does not engage in sensational, flamboyant attacks against those with whom it cannot agree politically but pursues in its editorial columns the quiet dignity which characterizes the paper as a whole. The paper rightly makes a claim to independence of political thought thru its emphasis upon facts and figures of unimpeachable authenticity in its editorials. The logic of Journal editorials is such as to appeal to the sane, dispassionate mind, although not always to a rabid party adherents who constitute a large proportion of its readers.

Wit and Humor

Editorial of the Journal follow the trend of the paper's news policy presenting editorial comment upon news of local, sectional, national and international significance in about equal proportion. In this manner the appeal of Journal editorials is extended to a greater cross-section of readers. The editorial writer of the Journal is not so preoccupied with the exigencies of national political trends, economics and world politics that he fails to include human interest angles and humor in his editorials. The sparkling wit and subtle humor which creep into most of The Journal's editorials enliven the page and preclude the customary dullness of newspaper editorials.

Journal editorials are varied in length according to the importance of the topic subjected to interpretation. An issue of extreme significance will receive an entire column but editorials of one fourth of a column are more common.

Added distinctiveness is achieved thru the use of material outside the editorial columns suited to the editorial age. Patton's cartoon is most effective in its pictorial representation of some outstanding news issue of the day. Undoubtedly the most distinctive feature of the page outside the editorial columns, Patton's cartoon often depicts in vivid detail some local issue of the day.

Editor's Mail

The Journal includes letters from readers' column entitled of the page's most popular feature, "The Editor's Mail". This is one feature. In this column readers present individual opinions and interesting sidelights on the news of the day, politics, editorial policy of the Journal and related topics.

The Journal's 'Life Is Like That' column, penned by Joe Murray, a member of the staff, is another truly distinctive feature of the page. Murray contributes tart, trenchant, informative although facetious comments upon any subject he may choose with emphasis upon the local angle.

Another feature which attracts the reader is a box carried at the top of the page in the right corner, which includes a daily verse or quotation by some prominent personage pertinent to a news topic of the day. Editorial paragraphs and editorials from other newspapers are frequently carried in boxes below the editorial columns.

Involuntarily the reader peruses the book reviews of Hilton R. Greer, literary editor of The Journal. The reviews alternate with Don Dressen's 'Under the Spreading Family Tree' column, which, as its title indicates, is devoted to information upon family trees. These two columns are indicative of inventive and original thought in The Journal's editorial department.

Laughter in Cartoons. Regular features of the page are Ed Reed's 'Ed(reed)itorials' and Frank Owen's 'Jasper', laugh provoking cartoons which attract to the editorial page a class of readers who otherwise would be inclined to pass it by.

Through variety in subject matter and style, the exclusion of all advertising and the use of the local cartoon and the local columns, The Journal has an editorial page which would lend credit to any American newspaper.

GATESVILLE BOY GETS WRITE-UP IN "PRESS MESSENGER"

In the current issue of the Texas Press Messenger, official publication of the Texas Press Association, Pat Mayo Holt, is featured in a write-up which also carries his picture.

Quoting: Taller than "dad" whose shoes he hopes to occupy in the field of journalism, Pat Mayo Holt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Holt, publishers Gatesville Messenger, is attending State University, majoring in journalism. Pat, Jr., graduated from Gatesville high school in '36 with honors, was awarded a scholarship in T. C. U. but chose to attend State University where matriculated 12 days after his 16th birthday. Majoring in journalism from the word 'go' under the efficient tutoring of Paul Thomas, Dean of this department, Pat expects to have both practical and theoretical newspaper work when he completes his university course. He expects to receive his degree in 1940, then attend Columbia University.

"Junior" is a staunch admirer of Joe J. Taylor, "State Press", Dallas Morning News and who knows, may cast his "lot along the same line", if his ideas are not changed. His outdoor likes include tennis and golf and according to his mother, his most used hobby is eating."

OTIS HARVEY LEASES GULF STATION IN NORTH LUTTERLOH

BABIES, ANIMALS, SCENERY, IN NEWS-MERCHANT'S FOTO CONTEST

They are comin' in! Yes, sir, folks, it don't take much sunshine to bring the pickers in!

More and more are doing that very thing daily—and they are coming in, all sizes, all shapes, all kinds.

Truly, there's no limit, and we have got plenty of window space left for more.

What with the approaching harvest, there'll be a harvest of good shots on the farms around, with sweating horses (tractors) tugging at reaping binders, cultivators stirring up dust at dusk—there's a million pictures wherever you are or what you are. Think, look and take!

That's a fitting slogan for this contest sponsored by Mayes Studio and Radio Shop, Flentze Drug, Gatesville Drug, City Drug Koen-Foster Drug and of course your newspaper, The News.

Keep at it folks—the quality is better all the time, and as more and more come in more and more prizes will be added. You're going to be in the dough, if you know your own cameras, an how to use them.

Try again!

LIBRARY ASSOCIATION TO MEET IN WACO

Librarians and citizens of the state will gather in Waco on Saturday, May 7, for a session of the People's Library Movement. The entire day will be given to this movement by the Texas Library association in the annual meeting which is to be held in Waco on May 6-7. The key speaker will be William T. Polk, Chairman of the North Carolina Citizens' Movement and some of the benefits to the North Carolina.

Other speakers on the program for Saturday will be Mrs. Dorothy Journey, Field Worker for the Texas State Library at Austin, who will speak on the People's Movement from the library standpoint; Mrs. E. H. Marek of Yoakum, who will give the citizen's view; and the Honorable A. F. Cagle, State Representative from Waco, who will present the legislative viewpoint. Mr. J. S. Ebbotson, of the Rosenberg Library, Galveston, will read the proposed bill for State aid and lead the discussion on it. Reports will be heard from the district chairmen of the People's Library Movement.

The sponsors of the People's Library Movement have as objective an informed public opinion convinced of the value of public library service. The plan then is to urge the Texas Legislature to make free library service an integral part of the State's public educational system. Someone has asked, 'Why spend so much time in teaching young Texans to read and then make no provisions for books to continue their education?' 65 per cent of the total population of Texas is still without library service. Texas which is the first ranking state in size and many other respects, ranks 39th from the top in library service to her citizens.

One hundred thousand pounds of wool from the lambs and goats has been boxcared and trucked out of Coryell County since the season opened, we are told.

Swelling this total from way down Moody way, as E. C. Munz and son, dumped 1600 pounds on one of the local buyers, and took out a sizeable check for his trouble.

Now that is bringing in the wool and we are reliably told one firm has some 1800 fleeces to come up from The Grove-Moody way ere this season closes.

Best records we have, the wool is gathering more Geld was in these parts last week, than it did last year, that is, looking over the situation for his per lb., since it is grading better, firm that has buyers nearly "Shorty" Jackson, member of everywhere wool's wool.

THE AWFUL PRICE YOU PAY FOR BEING NERVOUS

Quivering nerves can make you old and haggard looking, cranky and hard to live with—can keep you awake nights and rob you of good health, good times and jobs.

What you should try is a particularly good woman's tonic—and could you ask for anything whose benefits are better proved than that world-famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? Let its wholesome herbs and roots help Nature calm your shrieking nerves, tone up your system, give more energy and make life worth living again.

More than a million women have reported benefit—why not let Pinkham's Compound help YOU, too, to go "smiling through" trying times like it has helped grateful women for the past 3 generations? IT MUST BE GOOD!

Physicians' New Charges

April 28, 1938

In a meeting held last night the undersigned Physicians of Gatesville agreed upon an altered price schedule and some changes in the general policies of handling business, the most important are listed below. These policies are prepared for publication for the information of the public and in order to create a more uniform charge for medical service. The undersigned Doctors have agreed to adhere strictly to the basic charges as given. This schedule is to be in effect beginning June 1st 1938.

CALLS WITHIN THE CITY
The charge for calls within the city will be $3.00 straight.

COUNTRY CALLS
The charge for calls to the country surrounding Gatesville will be $3.00 plus $0.50 per mile for each mile from the Courthouse square after the first mile.

NIGHT CALLS
Calls received between the hours of 9:00 p. m. and 7:00 a. m. are designated as night calls and an additional charge of $1.00 will be made on town and country calls alike received between these hours. This does not apply to maternity cases.

MATERNITY CASES
The standard charge for Maternity cases in any location will be $30.00. This includes the usual care during the prenatal period of the uncomplicated case. This is to be cash at the time the case is concluded and should place a burden on no one since there have been several months time in which to make the necessary preparations for this payment.

OFFICE CALLS AND OFFICE HOURS
The standard charge for office calls between the hours of 7:30 a. m. and 6:00 p. m. is $1.50 and up depending upon the nature of the case. Office calls outside the limits of these hours will carry a $1.00 extra charge. Re-writes on prescriptions with no examination necessary will be $1.00 during regular office hours; $2.00 outside office hours

DISCOUNT FOR CASH
Any bill exceeding $10.00 is subject to a 10 per cent discount for cash payment on the spot. This does not include maternity cases or special surgical procedures.

A copy of this schedule will be placed in each Doctors office and will be followed explicitly.

WADE SIMS IS PLEASED WITH SCS WORK

"The renter as well as the land owner, makes money when soil conservation is practiced on a farm" declared Wade Sims recently. Mr. Sims, who operates the Monroe Blankenship farm, four miles East of Gatesville states further, "The recent rains that were so heavy have thoroughly convinced me of the worth of erosion protection. I would not operate a farm now on which some sort of erosion control could not be practiced. This year in spite of the great amount of rain, my crops have not been damaged and I have the best prospect for a grain crop that I have ever had."

In pointing out the advantages of contour farming, Mr. Sims said, "By plowing on the contour last year my teams pulled the implements much easier and of course were not so tired at the end of the day."

When questioned concerning what he would receive in return for his labor in establishing this program, Mr. Sims replied, "The work that I have done here will be more than repaid in the increased crop yields. I believe that a tenant could even terrace a place himself and be repaid within a few years by the increase in the yield of his crops I have only had two years experience with a soil conservation program, but I am one hundred per cent for it and grow stronger every day."

Question: I am going to have my hardwood floors refinished and I have had them sanded in preparation. My wife wants to have them varnished, but I am afraid this will darken them, and I would prefer to have them as light as possible. I presume that shellac would be better.

What do you advise? The wood is maple.—J. T. S.

Answer: This must be the time of year when everyone refinishes his floor; lots of people have asked this question. You are correct in your theory that white shellac will give a light finish on newly sanded floors. But of course the trouble here is that shellac has comparatively short life and it won't stand much cleaning. On the other hand the average floor varnish usually darkens a light wood floor. What is needed is a finish with the hardness of varnish and the light color and quick drying features of shellac.

I would recommend that you use Floorkote. This is a special varnish made for floors, and will give a minimum of discoloration to a light wood floor. Apply it directly to the wood, and don't use shellac first. On maple two coats might be enough, but I would recommend three for best results.

Floorkote is made to give long wear; you can use all the soap and water on it you want and grease, acids, alcohol etc, won't hurt it if washed off again. If you have any questions in regard to painting write in to "Painter Pete" in care of this paper. Watch for your answer to appear in this column in an early issue.

ALLIS-CHALMERS TRACTORS And COMBINES

When in Gatesville come around to 808 Main Street, Near the Ford Dealer, and take a look at the New Allis-Chalmers Harvesters (combine) and tractors. The New Allis-Chalmers combine is in a class to itself; all we ask is take a look and talk to those who have been using them. It will save your grain and make you money. This Harvester is doing away with the old binder and thresher method of harvesting, and saves you plenty of time, worry and expense.

We are going to have a demonstration as soon as we can find some grain ready to cut. Everybody invited to attend this Demonstration. We are going to carry a full line of parts for tractor and combine, so if you need anything in parts come to see us. We have planters, cultivators, mowers and one-way plows. We will appreciate a part of your business.

This BRAND-NEW
McCORMICK-DEERING 6-Ft. Combine

Cuts and Threshes All Small Grains and Seed Crops

● Here is a real harvester-thresher that lives up to every expectation when it goes into your fields. The McCormick-Deering No. 60 is the best answer to the demand for a small combine that does a hundred per cent job of threshing.

In designing the No. 60, Harvester engineers have followed the basic principles that have proved so efficient and practical in the larger McCormick-Deering Harvester-Threshers. Straight-line threshing is an accomplished fact in the No. 60. This feature, long a principle of successful stationary-thresher design, means that the grain travels in a straight line through the threshing unit; there are no right-angle turns inside the machine, no dead spaces to cut capacity.

With this compact, one-man machine, cutting and threshing is finished in one field operation, making this important work a family affair. No twine to buy, no shocking, no stacking, no waiting for the threshing crew, no custom thresherman to pay, and no big crews to feed.

Ask us about this fast, easy, economical method of harvesting and threshing. See the McCormick-Deering No. 60 in our store. Plan now to own one. You can buy it on the International Harvester Income-Purchase Plan.

THE RETURN TO SPENDING

Note: This is the second of a series of articles on the new government spending program.

When Mr. Roosevelt was re-elected in 1936 by the greatest majority ever accorded a candidate for President, his victory was hailed as a triumph for liberal government in the United States and for the social objectives which he had expounded during his first term of office.

Scarcely had his second term begun when Mr. Roosevelt's more ardent followers began to speak of the 'mandate' he had won at the polls. As the months progressed it became apparent that the 'mandate' was to include any measure sponsored by the new Deal leaders, from packing the Supreme Court to reorganizing the entire executive branch of the government. The 'mandate' which was said to accompany the vote of approval given Mr. Roosevelt was interpreted by his followers as a blank check of approval for whatever Mr. Roosevelt might want to do, regardless of whether some of the things he wanted to do in his second term were mentioned during the campaign or not.

Most of the conservatives who became alarmed at some of the acts of Mr. Roosevelt during his first term were assured by the radical New Dealers and probably by the President himself that no radical legislation would be sponsored in Congress during Mr. Roosevelt's second term. During 1934 and 1935, and particularly after the Supreme Court had invalidated the NRA, when many New Dealers wanted an act of congress or a constitutional amendment to change the membership of the court, the conservative Democrats, in Congress and out were further assured that nothing would be done about the Court. James A. Farley gave out strict orders during the 1936 campaign that Democratic orators were not to mention the court or any other radical legislation for fear of alienating the conservative vote.

The overwhelming victory of Mr. Roosevelt in 1936 made possible by valuable contributions in the South and elsewhere by conservative Democrats and independent Republicans who wished liberal government to rest upon the traditional basis of constitutional government, of checks and balances and limited powers, gave promise of an era of peace and prosperity to follow the six stormy years which inaugurated the decade.

But the period since 1936 had been charged with as much political dynamite and controversy and with as much suffering and social unrest as any similar period in this century.

Mr. Roosevelt's second term was begun with a betrayal of the promises made to his conservative friends. His party was split and millions of liberal friends alienated by the effort to pack the Supreme Court with political stooges who would rubberstamp every act of the administration.

Congress—an overwhelmingly Democratic congress—rose to combat this insidious effort and to express the determined opposition of the right-thinking people of America to the proposal. And the court bill was defeated.

Since that time the administration's record has been characterized by blundering acts of hostility toward business and finance in a period when an attitude of understanding, friendship, and co-operation is essential between government and business in order to combat what now amounts to a full fledged depression.

Since the beginning of the depression, which had its inception in a mid-summer recession last year and whose first real effects were felt in October, the administration has contributed not one sane proposal for eliminating, once and for all, the causes of the depression, nor has a concerted attempt been made to definitely ascertain the true and fundamental causes.

At first the administration refused to admit a depression existed. Seasonal let-downs and overstocking, it was said, had occasioned a slight recession. By December, when we were in the midst of a full depression (the financial indices reveal that the drop in values has been faster and steadier in the last six months than during the first six months of 1929), the administration revives its old charges against the economic royalists and Tories, who presumably delight in closing factories and firing thousands of workers in order to see their families go on relief or starve to death.

When the American people refuse to believe the scare stories about the feudal economic barons the administration returns to its first attitude of discrediting the depression. And now, with approximately 12,000,000 Americans on the breadlines we are to return to the pump priming policy under which twenty millions of dollars of the public's money was spent in six years to rescue this country from the depression. Twenty billions! and the President himself admits that a depression exists again.

Mr. Garner is reliably reported to oppose the return to spending and to have told the President in frank words that government spending was not the solution of our problems. One caller reported him as saying (and most Americans I feel believe as Mr. Garner does):

"We've been trying this new deal spending orgy for six years and where has it got us? More millions out of work, business again depressed, fear returning economic and financial security tottering, and the national debt increased to a point that imperils the very structure of the government. This sort of thing can't go on. I for one refuse to support more reckless spending. It's got to stop."

"That's socialism, not democracy. Oh yes, and we're going more and more into housing, encouraging real estate sharpers to operate with public funds, thereby discouraging private capital in such enterprise. Well, not with my consent and approval.

"One more thing. If democracy is to be a political party and not the chattel of the President, this planning legislation without consultation with congressional leaders and sending up here bills with must orders has got to stop. This still is a government of laws and not of men. We must keep it so even if we have to fight against our party leadership."

Such is the opinion of Mr. Garner.

Continued government spending for relief is necessary for the present time, at least until such time as business recovers and the unemployment rolls are substantially reduced. But the relief problem should be handed back to the states and cities and grants made from the Federal treasury. Only in this way can the rolls be pared of those who do not want private employment and the political power wielded by the relief administration be taken from the hands of the political party in control at Washington. Just how political machines are built upon relief funds—which should be spent to alleviate human suffering and not to maintain some political office—was shown in two articles

WITH THE SHIP OF STATE

WASHINGTON D. C.—Possibly no plan ever presented in Congress has been so poorly advertised to the people as Senator La Follette's idea of broadening the income tax base. The public only heard—or at least understood—that it meant a tax of $800 incomes instead of thousand dollar ones for single persons and on $2,000 incomes instead of $2,500 ones for married couples. At first glance it seemed definitely a 'tax the little fellow' scheme and almost nobody read any farther.

As a matter of fact the tax rate would start lower and therefore broaden faster so that while the two thousand dollar couple who are now exempt now would have to pay a tax of $10. The tax of the $10,000 a year man would jump from $415 to $609; and the $50,000 man would pay an increase of over three thousand.

The purpose of the La Follette plan is not to raise money for new taxes but to substitute the broadened income tax receipts for some of the 'hidden' taxes now in use.

The man who smokes a package of cigarettes a day now pays the Federal Government more than $20 dollars a year in taxes—over twice the La Follette schedule for a $2500 income.

If he buys an automobile at from $600 to $700 the Federal Sales Tax is again over $20. The oil and gasoline tax and tires are taxed, his wife pays high percentages on her cosmetics. These taxes, say supporters of the La Follette Plan, are a negligible portion of a $10,000,000 income. Comparatively unimportant to one of $2,500. But they use up a large part of the very small incomes—from a few hundred to a thousand—A part that could better be spent in buying commodities and thereby increasing employment and higher wages.

Government agencies are beginning to report that the recession shows signs of checking for the volume of business reported in March stood up well in comparison with January and February. Individual business men testifying here, while deploring conditions generally, have admitted that their own lines are not going up well.

Oddly enough this faint hope of prosperity is not entirely welcome to some of the legislators—for with elections due in six months—a sudden wave of prosperity or even a definite trend toward it might disrupt the plans of those who intend to capitalize hard times. Hence the outcome of the fall election is still too doubtful to predict with assurance.

In recent issues of the Saturday Evening Post which dealt with the political oligarchy formed by Senator Joe Guffery of Pennsylvania largely upon WPA jobs.

Obviously the solution of the relief problem lies with business which must take up the slack in employment and relieve the government of the ruinous burden of

BABY WEEK

Baby week, is May 1 to May 7.

Baby week is becoming an institution in the United States. For only a few years, has there been so much attention paid to so unspeakable events as pre-natal care, child birth hygienic needs and "appliances" for the baby.

Now, there are scientific foods, scientific books, scientific equipment of all kinds which make the living easier and better for the "King or Queen of the Domain," and his mother.

Wide-awake merchants have all kinds of new gadgets for baby and mother, and many department stores and even a mail-order house specialize in nothing else but items for mother and babe.

And, why shouldn't they? Are they not the grandest pair in the world? Ask any papa?

RAILROADS BOOST TEXAS BUSINESS

Texas benefited substantially from the expenditures of railroads in 1937 for materials, supplies, fuel, new equipment and payrolls, it is revealed in a special study which has just been completed by the Bureau of Railways Economics of the Association of American Railroads.

Railway purchases in Texas last year totaled $23,074,728, the report shows. Of this sum, $23,070,759 was spent for materials, supplies and fuel, while $3,969 went for new equipment (not including that built in company shops). These purchases were made in 603 towns and cities located in 190 of the 254 counties of the State.

Wages paid to railway employees in Texas during 1937 amounted to $79,286,059.

The review discloses that, for the nation as a whole, the railroads last year paid $1,133,361,468 for the more than 70,000 different items which they use. Materials, supplies and fuel cost $966,383,000 and expenditures for all new equipment (except that constructed in railway shops) totaled $166,978,468. More than 12,000 towns and cities located in 2,638 of the 3,072 counties of the United States derived direct benefits from this large volume of railroad buying.

In 1937, the country's rail carriers also distributed $1,983,990,485 in wages to their employes, the report says.

AN EDITORIAL ON PRINTING

(From the Colfax Calif. Record)

The cheap printing salesman invades Colfax from time to time and it is surprising the number of orders he receives from business people who ought to know better. These business men expect local people to give them their business but think nothing of whatever of giving a printing salesman an order in Los Angeles, Chicago or some other distant city. These same business people expect their home newspaper to give them a boost, and instead of giving their home paper a boost with their printing orders, they give it to some cheap-printing salesman because they can save a few cents on the order.

This inconsistency is not confined to the businessmen of Colfax alone, but is somewhat general among the business men of the smaller cities throughout the state.

These business men who send their printing orders out of town because they can save a few cents forget to that people, too, can sometimes save a few cents on their merchandise by shopping elsewhere.

There are a few local business men who are 100 per cent loyal to their home town and newspaper, who do buy all their printing in the home town. To them the Record is deeply thankful for their consideration. This little episode which took place in a local store recently, illustrates the point.

Printing Salesman: I have some fine samples of printing I'd like to show you.

Colfax Businessman: I am not interested. I buy all of my printing in Colfax.

Salesman: But I can save you a lot of money. Your printer can't sell you printing as cheap as I can.

Colfax Businessman: Maybe you can save me money but why should I buy printing from you for the dollar commission that you would make on the order which will be printed thousands of miles away in a shop that pays no taxes here nor cares few dollars it can make out of it. thing about our town except the My local printer not only pays taxes here, maintains a payroll here, boosts my business and our home town, but he also buys what he needs in my line of merchandise from me. What kind of a business man would I be if I gave you an order for the merchandise which I should, in fairness, buy from him? Maybe I can buy printing cheaper from you but he never questions my prices, even tho he can get some of the goods I sell cheaper in other big cities. No I'm not interested in buying my printing thousands of miles from Colfax.

Gatesville stepped into the lead in the high school league by slapping down a Flat team 22-4 Friday at Flat. The Hornets scored seven runs in the first inning, and kept up that torrid pace thruout the contest, until the last inning when he line up was sprinkled with scrubs.

W. A. Barry scintillating third sacker as the leading hitter of the day with four safties in five trips to the plate. Byron Gilbreath, big first baseman, slamed out a homer, triple and a single, in five trails, while captain Sticky Anderson got three out of four.

The Ireland Cardinals behind the first decent pitching they have had all year, won 4-0 victory over the Jonesboro Eagles. Lemmer went the entire route for Ireland, turning in a shut out performance. The game was limited to five innings because of rain.

The Turnersville Buffaloes finally broke into the win column by out slugging the State outfit and taking a 11-3 verdict. Hollis Crawford though hit freely, lasted the entire route.

MOUND SCORES TWICE IN NINTH TO EDGE OUT STATE, 7-5

Mound shover two tallies across the late in their half of the ninth to edge out the State school 7-5, in the last warm-up game before going into the regular league schedule. Joe Milsap went the route for the Mound nine and although hit pretty hard, turned in a fair slab performance.

NATIONALLY KNOWN COACH TO CONDUCT SCHOOL

Coach Clifford Wells, the best known high school cage coach in the nation will conduct the first annual basketball coaching school of the the recently formed Texas High School basketball coaches association, which will be held at North Texas State Teachers College the last week in June.

Wells, who is coach of the Logansport High School of Indiana has written several instructive booklets on basketball, and that coupled with the unusual success his teams have in winning state championships, has attracted nation wide attention.

SCRUBS' SHIFTING DEFENSE PUZZLES HORNETS

The Hornet second string has been holding the regulars down pretty well during the past two weeks of training by employing different types of defense. Instead of using their regular 6-2-2-1 defense they have been using a 6-3-2- and 5-3-1. Then 6 2-2 defense, they have been giving the first the greater amount of trouble, although heir passes have been working against every defense. The linebackers are chopping down the first string ball toters with provoking regularity.

Duncan Kirkpatrick has proven himself to be the best ball carrier on the Hornet squad. This boy is slippery as an eel, and when it looks as if the opposition has stopped him he breaks away for a long gain. The Hornets have been opening up every day against the scrubs, and have been throwing laterals with reckless abandon, but most of these have been successful

PEARL ATHLETES TO ENTER STATE MEET

The Pearl track and field team will enter the State-wide Class B track and field meet which will be held in the Denton, May 6-7. Jack Petty, Dragon Captain, is the only one accorded a chance to come thru with a win. This boy who took first in the 440 yard dash at the Class A district meet in Waco should have a fine chance to repeat in the State meet. However he will face the toughest opposition of this kind. Goff of Evant holds the State Class B record for he 440 having run the distance in 51.7 seconds in 1936. However that record has been beaten in a county meet performance by Martin of Whiteface High, who ran the event in 50 seconds. Other speedsters that Petty will have to face are Davis of Moron High and Ross of Courteny high both who did 52 flat.

caring for ten or twelve million families.

What is the matter with business and what can be done to rescue it from this depression?

Nine times out of ten the bus iness leader will answer, "fear of the New Deal", to the first part of the question. Fear of what aspects of the New Deal Fear that Mr. Roosevelt will establish a socialist state in which the profit system will be abolished. Fear that inflation will result from the piling up of the national debt. Fear that all industry will be ruined by the punitive tax system backed by the administration. Fear! Fear! Fear, where reassurance is all that is needed to correct an economic system which is not fundamentally unsound.

The burden for accomplishing the reforms which will eliminate the barriers to recovery lies now with Congress, not with the President who has yet to realize just what is the trouble. Congress—a free and independent group of men echoing the sentiments of the average middle-class American, who has nothing to gain and everything to lose in continued huge expenditures by the government—must assert itself and restore confidence to business. That Congress is no longer shackled to the administration was shown, first in the Court bill then in numerous lesser acts, and finally in the defeat of the executive reorganization bill.

The rehabilitation of the railroads must be accomplished, to be accompanied with a dispassionate study of the basic weaknesses of the railroad system.

The government position in regard to the utilities must be clarified at once, so that the flood of expenditures which the private utilities are prepared to make once the twin spectres of government ownership and of government competition are removed may be launched.

It is urgent that whatever government spending is done should not be done in such a fashion as to supplant rather than to supplement private initiative.

Legislation must be enacted making labor responsible with business and industrial disputes, the sit-down strike must be eliminated as a challenge to business.

American enterprise has not been able to function properly and effectively since the depression began. It is time business was given a chance to pull this country out of the hole.
