HOPE HELD FOR ACTION ON HWY. 36 AS LETTERS SHOW

Hope for favorable action in the near future is held for Highway 36, according to County Judge Floyd Zeigler, who has received a copy of a letter from State Highway Engineer Julian Montgomery to District Engineer D. M. Pucket.

The letter intimated the Highway Department at Austin in general conference determined that the present location of Highway 36 between Temple and Gatesville is satisfactory, with the possible exception of slight changes in location from the county line south due to circumstances which may cause alteration because of the construction of a dam near Belton.

Judge Zeigler stated this information was gratifying due to the fact that there has been considerable discussion in the Department in reference to this location of Highway 36 thru Bell and Coryell counties due to the probability of locating this dam near Belton.

Judge Zeigler continued: "It is anticipated that the necessary information concerning the right of way on this road will be furnished to the Commissioner's Court in the near future in order that they may proceed with the purchase of this right of way."

This news is highly gratifying and with these two "trunk" highways the connection of them by means of lateral highways will speed up the necessary distances for the "laterals" and will hereby assure the county of good lateral and trunk highways in the near future.

REGISTERED DUROCS WON BY CORYELL COUNTY BOYS

In an Essay Contest entitled "The Value of the Cow, Sow and Hen in Coryell County" sponsored by County Agent Guy Powell and interests out of the county, eight Coryell county boys have won registered Duroc pigs.

That other interest was "Sears Roebuck & Co."

These boys and their fathers who will be banqueted in Waco by the company are: Eddie Wiegand and his father Henry Wiegand; Elmo King and Byrd King; Twitford Schloeman and Ed Schloeman; Bruce Hollingsworth and L. L. Hollingsworth; George Williams and G. R. Williams, Travis Harper and E. G. Harper, E. Mangum and T. E. Mangum and Carl C. Goodwin and Carl Goodwin.

Twenty five more boys were eligible but out of the number of pigs given to this and surrounding counties only 8 were allotted to this county by the "generous" company.

Unfortunately and entirely unknowingly we gave this company and this "promotion" publicity in our Roddle Edition, which was not our fault.

The "piggy in the woodpile" is that each boy must give one pig back for the registered Duroc to the company, with possibly their thanks for the feeding and trouble, and, the free advertising.

WORLD COMMENT

BRACK CURRY

IOWA PRIMARY

The Iowa primary emphasized the one important issue in the current Democratic primaries: the fate of a group of nine Senators who opposed President Roosevelt's court measure a year ago.

Senator Guy Gillette of Iowa was the first of the group of nine to face the electorate for re-nomination. He was opposed by four candidates, one of whom was backed by leading members of the Roosevelt administration, including the President's son and secretary, James.

Senator Gillette campaigned not as an anti-new dealer, but as one who has supported the entire new deal legislative program with the exception of the court bill. He was, nevertheless, marked out for political extermination by members of the national administration including Harry Hopkins, WPA administrator, James Roosevelt, and, it is believed by political observers, by or with the tacit approval of the President himself.

The Iowa primary marked the third instance of interference by the administration in local primaries. In the Florida senatorial primary, Senator Claude Pepper, ardent new dealer was endorsed by James Roosevelt. In Pennsylvania, National chairman Jim Farley backed candidates for senator and governor.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, leader of the court battle opposition in the Senate warned Democratic leaders shortly before the Iowa primary that the Democratic party would lose the presidency in 1940 unless Roosevelt leaders quit taking sides in the party's primary contests.

Wheeler stated in an interview:

"If these government officials are going to continue to inject themselves in these primaries it can result in only one thing—the splitting up of the Democratic party and the possible defeat of Democratic candidates in November."

The administration endorsement of Primary candidates is creating a schism in the party which, unless it is healed will not only affect the 1938 election, but will likewise affect the presidential election in 1940.

As Senator Wheeler concluded, "A man's stand on the court bill seems to be the only real test of whether the administration will support or oppose him."

Against 7 of the 9 candidates up for re-nomination this summer who opposed the court measure, candidates who describe themselves as 100 percent for the new deal have been set up and are receiving either the public or tacit support of the administration.

The names of the nine are Senator Gillette of Iowa, Senator Van Nuys of Indiana, Senator Clark of Missouri, Senator Smith of South Carolina, Senator Mc-

Carran of Nevada, Senator George of Georgia, Senator Tydings of Maryland, Senator Adams of Colorado and Senator Loneragan of Connecticut.

Senator Van Nuys was denied his party's renomination by the Indiana Democratic machine controlled by Philippine High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, ardent new dealer and former governor. Senator Van Nuys will probably run as an independent in the general election. He is one of the most respected members of the Senate.

South Carolina's Democratic Governor Olin D. Johnston is the administration's candidate against Senator Ellison D. (Cotton Ed) Smith. In Nevada, two opponents have sprung up against Senator Pat McCarran, who has suffered with the administration on many issues. Both of the candidates against McCarran, who was one of the leaders against the Supreme Court bill, are strong administration supporters.

In Georgia where it looked as if the conservative Senator George might slip thru unopposed, there appeared on the field a 100 per cent new deal opponent in the person of Lawrence S. Camp, a federal district attorney. Within an hour after he had been to the White House, Representative David J. Lewis, a veteran progressive who has been in the forefront in supporting the administration, announced he would oppose Senator Millard E. Tydings in the Maryland primary in September. Tydings a conservative, has probably been, as anti-new deal as any member of the Senate in his voting record.

Asked point blank whether he had been assured of White House support in his race, Lewis replied: "The White House speaks for itself." There is scant doubt however that sooner or later the White House will find means to let the Democrats of Maryland know that it prefers Lewis over Tydings.

Why should the administration risk splitting the Democratic party in order to purge the Senate of the court bill's opponents? The answer according to Washington political observers is this:

The new deal clique, which does not by any means include all the cabinet or all of the administration's chieftains wants to deliver the 1940 presidential nomination to one who will continue the new deal policies.

The senators who opposed the court bill compose the nucleus of the conservative movement which intends to block the nomination of a new dealer in 1940. Therefore, if these senators can be retired this year (that is, all of them who are standing for reelection), the new dealers will have trouble nominating someone like Henry Wallace or Harry Hopkins in 1940.

The new dealers have neither forgiven nor forgotten the defeat of the court bill. They realize that many of their pet schemes are being blocked by a court which even now does not see eye to eye with their every proposal. Therefore, they hope to revive the court bill next January if they can defeat enough of the anti-court bill senators this summer.

Meanwhile observers will watch closely the fate of the eighteen senators up for reelection who voted "yes" on the court bill. The "yes" senators are Barkley, Kentucky; Berry, Tenn.; Bone, Wash.; Brown New Hampshire; Bulkley, Ohio; Caraway, Arkansas; Dieterich Illinois; Duffy, Wisconsin; Hayden Ariz.; Hitchcock, South Dakota; McAdoo Calif.; McGill, Kansas; Pepper, Florida; Pope, Idaho; Reynolds North Carolina; Thomas, Okla.; Thomas, Utah; Wagner, New York.

Of these, Senator Dieterich did not run for reelection; Senator Pepper and Senator Reynolds were reelected and are assured of reelection in their predominantly Democratic bailiwicks. Senator Hitchcock ran and was defeated.

The fate of the others will be decided in the summer primaries and in the November election.

Comparative totals of the major party vote in Iowa indicate that Senator Gillette must overcome a topheavy G. O. P. primary vote in order to win reelection in November. In comparison to the Republican vote of 251,565 in the senatorial race, the Democrats polled only 154,797 votes. Nevertheless the Democratic volume was the greatest in the Iowa party's primary history. It broke the old record of 143,000 cast, set in 1934, by more than 10,000 votes.

The Iowa Republicans renominated former Senator Lester J. Dickinson, who was defeated for reelection in 1936 by Gov.

Clyde L. Herring, who in the 1938 primary backed Senator Gillette against Representative Wearin.

Comment on the Iowa primary: Senator Burke of Nebraska: "I think it makes very clear that the people want their representatives and senators in Washington to use their own judgement rather than following in all cases the lead of the executive."

Senator Wheeler of Montana: "Senator Gillette's nomination is a vindication of democracy and a repudiation of the backseat drivers here in Washington. Their attempt to pack the court failed and their attempt to pack the senate will fail."

Senator Gillette: "My candidacy had become a symbol of resentment against a well planned attempt by a group outside the state to dictate to Iowa Democrats whom they should send to Washington. This plan would have subverted the constitutional right of a people to be represented in congress by those of their own choosing."

Spald-prevalent, yet with charm evident the marriage of Miss Florene Simpson and E. T. Mayes Jr. was solemnized Monday evening at 10:00 o'clock. The single ring, being local Baptist pastor.

The bride was attractive in a blue lace frock with harmonizing accessories. A number of friends were present and attended a small reception held at the Routh home after the wedding.

Mrs. Mayes is the charming daughter of Mrs. G. C. Simpson, now of Waco. She has made her home here for the past two years. Mr. Mayes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Mayes of Mayes' Studio and Radio Shop, where E. T. Jr. is employed. Both were students in Gatesville High School. Mrs. Mayes is a popular employee at the Palace theatre and will continue her work there. The couple are now at home on Main Street.

"GOLD'S WHERE YOU FIND IT" COMING TO REGAL SAT. NITE. SUN. MON.

"Gold is Where You Find It" an outdoor action drama dealing with the colorful war between the California farmers and hydraulic miners of the 1870's, is scheduled to be the next feature attraction at the Regal Saturday night Sunday and Monday.

It is a Warner Bros.-Cosmopolitan production, done in the newest Technicolor and co-str-ring George Brent and Olivia de Havilland. It includes too such sterling players as Claudio Rada, Margaret Lindsay, John Litel, Barton MacLane, Marla Ralston, Tim Holt and Sidney Toler.

"Gold is where you find it" is based on the best selling novel of the same title by Clements Ripley, which ran in the Cosmopolitan magazine. It was made almost entirely out of doors on the actual locale of the bitter conflict which it portrays—in remote Trinity county, California.

The cause of that ancient war was this: The hydraulic miners, whose powerful streams of water tore away at the hillsides, claimed that they had a right to search for gold in any way they chose. But the muck caused by their work (a combination of mud and sand and stone called "slickens") poured over the fertile fields and crops.

Conflict resulted. Battles were fought many were killed. Finally, a Federal court decision declared in favor of the agriculturists and the hydraulic miners had to quit their operations.

Miss Ruth Merrill, News correspondent for Weaver Bend community, near Jonesboro, shop ped in Gatesville Monday and was a caller in the New office.

Party and Shower Honoring Bride Elect
 Among the courtesies extended Miss Walker, one of the most attractive was a party and shower given last week by Miss Margaret Dixon at her home. Miss Walker in the bride elect of Roy S. Gaines of Houston.

The rooms where tables of 42 were arranged were attractively decorated with beautiful spring flowers. During the games little Miss Yvonne Angerman of Hamilton entered bringing to Miss Walker a kitten in a cellphone bag. Miss Angerman also carried a large card which had these words: "The cat is out of the bag—Lois and Roy, June 26." The kitten held a ball of twine on which was a note to Miss Walker. The note read: "Soon the old cat will be out of the bag and his tail no more will wag; on the other end of the twine, there you will find what is thine."

After following the twine through various rooms Miss Walker found a most beautiful 8 piece dinner set which was a gift from the hostess and guests.

Dainty refreshments plates of sandwiches, salad, potato chips, olives and cookies and punch were served to the following guests: Mrs. Bernard Angerman and daughter of Hamilton, Misses Pauline Voss, Gloria Deavers, Margaret and Frances Koch, Quida Campbell, Azalea and Guinivere Whisenhunt, Rosalie Koch and the honoree.

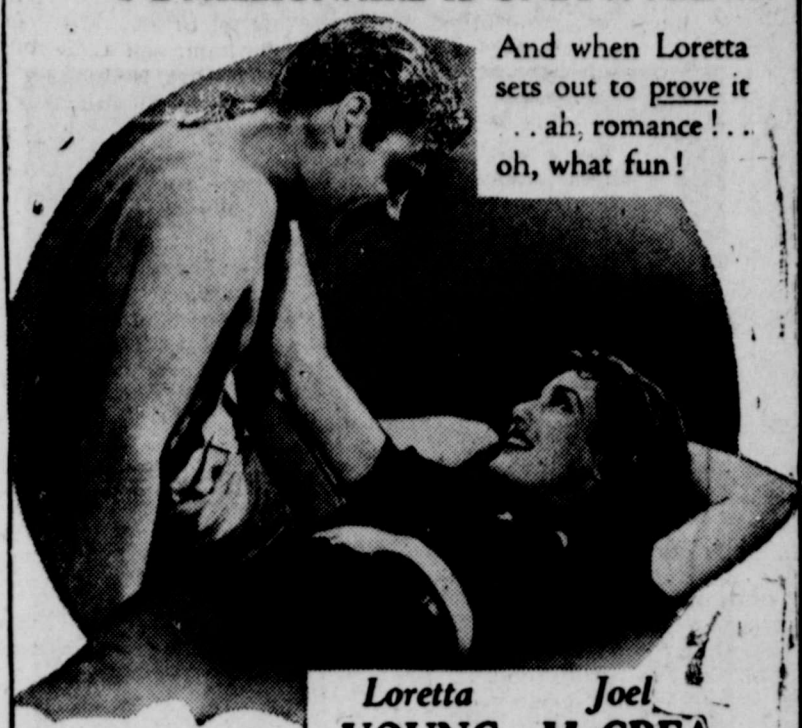

Patsy Lovejoy Honored With Birthday Party

Honoring her daughter, Patsy on her twelfth birthday Mrs. Eiland Lovejoy entertained Friday morning with a pretty party from 9:30 until 11:00 o'clock at their home on Fennimore Street. Tables were neatly arranged about the room where the boys and girls enjoyed card games and table tennis. Following the entertainment the guests were called into the dining room where favors were presented, which were neatly wrapped in green and tied with yellow ribbon.

DODGE AND PLYMOUTH SALES AND SERVICE

"A PENNY SAVED—"

Says the adage, "is a penny earned." Thinking of that thrifty principle in terms of the farm, making the crop is not complete until it is saved. It is saved only when it has been either safely stored for future use, or consumed by livestock and transformed into a saleable product. Tons of meat and milk, eggs and wool are produced on some farms entirely by "saving" grass, weeds and crop residues which go to waste on neighboring farms for lack of animals or fowl to utilize them when available.

At this season of the year the Southwest is often threatened with drought, corn begins to "burn up" and its failure is indicated. Since the introduction of the trench silo it is quite possible to avoid a total loss by cutting the corn and storing it in the trench before it dries up. This is not merely a penny saved and earned, but coils on dollars for the ensilage will keep indefinitely and can be turned into cash through livestock whenever you are ready. If rainy weather interferes with curing hay it need not be lost. Put it in a trench silo, which can be dug in a few hours, or at most a few days. You can't lose it then; it cannot burn up, blow away or deteriorate from weather.

There is nothing mysterious or complicated about ensiling a crop. A few simple rules must be observed. Green crops with a reasonable sugar content need nothing but close packing to exclude the air, either cut or ensiled in the whole stalk. Other crops, such as alfalfa and other non-sugarine forage crops require some cheap molasses to and shape of the trench, how to fill it and treat each crop, and how to insure its keeping, can be learned from your county agent or your neighbor who has had silo experience.

A few cross fences, either temporary or permanent, are indispensable to the full utilization of what grows on the farm. Grass, either in field or pasture, and crop residues have no market value on the ground and usually will not pay for harvesting unless the livestock do the work. It is poor business to lose this potential cash return, whether for lack of livestock to use it or for lack of fencing so they can use it.

An Arkansas authority says an acre of good grass has made up to 400 pounds of beef, and the steer did the work. Few acres will make so much but every day good grazing represents a pound of beef, or butterfat; to "save" it means the animal must be on the ground when the grazing is ready. Like some factories the value of by-products saved on the farm often means the only profit in the manufacture of the main product.

A Pennsylvania Dutchman lives well and eggs rich by saving what we in the Southwest too often waste—the straw, grass and manure. None of them can be sold in the market place as such, but what difference they make when saved and used on the farm where they are. The difference between success and failure, profit and loss.

A penny saved is still a penny earned no matter what form it takes.

FIRST BATH TUB STARTED MODERN SWIMMING PARTIES

Loretta Young, Joel McCrea and David Niven were chatting between scenes during the filming of "Three Blind Mice," the new 20th Century Fox hit starting Saturday at the Palace Theatre.

The warm California sun had brought up the subject of a swimming pool party.

You kids should have been around in my father's day Director William A. Seiter observed. "Then they had a bathing party that was a bathing party. It made bathing a violation of the law for many years after."

Folks who know Seiter always crowd around and press for more details when he states one of those legends.

Stuart Erwin, Marjorie Weaver Pauline Moore, Binnie Barnes and Jane Darwell joined the group and demanded the story.

"Well," began Seiter, "away back on December 20, 1842, Adam Thompson, a wealthy grain and cotton dealer from Cincinnati, bought the first bathtub to America. He had heard while in London, that the Prime Minister had one of the newfangled gadgets.

So he ran a big dinner at his home that night—and all the gentlemen guests—one after the other—tried out the tub.

The story got into the papers the next day and politicians and doctors raised the roof. Thompson was fined and a lot of restricting laws were passed almost immediately. Philadelphia considered an ordinance prohibiting the use of bathtubs between November and March; Virginia placed a $50 tax and extra heavy water rates on each tub, and Boston passed an ordinance forbidding their use except on medical advice.

"Gee," observed Loretta Young "imagine a country where they first pass a law against water... and then pass a law against whiskey"

"That leaves us nothing but ginger ale," observed Joel McCrea... let's have some to cool off with—before the cops break in."

There are between 200 and 350 Fiji Islands.

There are more than 6,000 christian missionaries in India.

This has been a great day in the House. At least it has been a great day for those of us who are interested in the farmers. We have just acted in the conference report of the Agricultural Appropriation Bill. We have had an all-day fight but we have succeeded over the objections of the Committee to retain a number of Senate amendments that I consider of vital importance to our section.

First: We voted to provide the money ($4,000,000) for the immediate construction of all of the four regional agricultural laboratories. This should mean the speedy construction of a cotton use laboratory, although the actual selection of a site and determination of the scope of such are still with the Department of Agriculture. Many members of Congress did not want to make the money available.

Second: We revised the regulations again in what I believe will be a successful effort to secure prompt payment of the parity payments due on the 1937 cotton crop. This money has been due our farmers for about a year and I can't understand the attitude of some members of Congress in refusing to vote for immediate payment.

Third: We provided the funds for the payment of the C-1 1933 cotton pool certificates. Although Congress had already promised to pay one dollar per bale on the 1,800,000 bales represented by those certificates, the money had not been appropriated and a large group of Members opposed the payment.

Fourth: We succeeded in including the full $25,000,000 allowed for the purchase of farm homes for tenant farmers under the Jones-Bankhead Bill. Compared with the vast sums expended for city slum clearance, I feel that even this is pitifully small but it will allow an expansion of this tremendously important work.

I voted for all of these items and believe that this bill which carries over a billion dollars (the greatest sum ever appropriated for agriculture in any nation) and of which approximately one half is for the payment of direct benefits to our farmers should, at least help our critical farm problem. If we can now retain $212,000,000 parity payments provided in the relief bill, I will feel that we have been able to do something worth while for our farmers although, even if we get that money, it will not bring farm prices to anything like actual parity as some of our people have thought. I shall however, continue to do all I can to get as close to parity prices as we can.

The House this week passed the Third Deficiency Bill which generally means that adjournment follows shortly. We also have passed a great number of private and special bills.

Somehow, these bills can never get a consideration until the last few days and then they are rushed thru by the dozens. We have a session tonight to consider more of these private bills, but no one can say yet when we will adjourn. We had thought we might adjourn today but there has been no agreement between the House and the Senate on the relief Bill, nor on the Wages and Hours Bill. Both of these measures are in the hands of Conference Committees and the Senate will not be in session again until Monday in order to get their conference a better opportunity to work on these measures. In addition it is now generally thought that the president wants us to stay here and act on some railroad legislation that he may suggest early next week. It now seems that it will probably be another week I expect to come home just as soon as I can but I have such an accumulation of work here that it will take two or three days after adjournment before we can leave and I will also have to consider what the doctor says about Mrs. Porge's ability to travel. She still has her leg in a steel brace and a steel plate in the leg. This may delay us a few days but I hope to be home in a couple of weeks anyway and by the time this is printed I would suggest that any of my friends who want to get in touch with me should write to Waco. In that way I will be sure to get the letter and probably sooner than if it were sent to Washington.

MOUND LEADING SUNDAY BASEBALL LEAGUE WITH SIX WINS

Mound's fighting ball club is way up in front in the Coryell County Sunday Baseball league because of their steadiness. Where other teams, composed of younger players, blow up when the going gets tough, the Mound men come to the front and play better baseball. That was fully demonstrated in the contest with Pidcoke last Sunday. In the sixth inning, with the score tied at one-all, Mound players committed three straight errors to allow a Pidcoke run to come in. Young teams like Coryell City, Blackfoot and CCC would blow sky high in such a predicament, but not Mound. They retired the next three men in order, and then went on to score three runs in the last three innings to win the game. It has been that way all season.

Jonesboro has a fine team, but we are not so sure that they are any better than Pidcoke. Jonesboro edged out Pidcoke, 5-4, when Drake tripled with two on and two down in the last half of the ninth. However, Harviston Jonesboro outfielder kept the Jonesboro club in the game by making three difficult leaping catches, of screaming Pidcoke liners that had the word "hit" written all over them. On one of the catches, Harviston turned and started running at the crack of the bat. There is a little creek circling the outfield on Pidcoke's diamond, and just before Harviston got to the creek he twisted his head, turned around and leaped up to snare the ball. Just as the ball hit his glove, he toppled into the creek, but the ball stuck in his glove.

Now things like that don't happen twice. If it had not been for those kind of breaks Pidcoke would have defeated Jonesboro. Then let's look at those two team's games with Mound. Mound routed Jonesboro 11 to 5, and played what many Mound rooters said was their worst game. In this game, Gilbreath, Mound 1st secker made five errors. Now Mound edges out on four to three win over Pidcoke, with Gilbreath's single in the last half of the ninth turning the trick. In addition to that Gilbreath handled fourteen chances in the field without a flaw, and twice he scampered deep into foul territory to pull down three foul flies. They say that Gilbreath's errors were responsible for at least two Jonesboro tallies and we say that his fielding in the Pidcoke game cut off at least three Pidcoke scores. There is the situation, and it will be interesting to see the outcome of the next Jonesboro-Pidcoke contest.

JONESBORO-CORYELL CITY GO FEATURES SUNDAY BB CARD

The Jonesboro Eagles vs. Coryell City. That is the feature game on the June 19 schedule of Coryell County's Sunday baseball league. Jonesboro is runner-up to Mound in the present league standing and is Mound's most dangerous competitor. Coryell City is in fourth place, with a 500 percentage, but that have a nasty, fiery ball club that might knock off Jonesboro, Pidcoke and Coryell City, with Coryell having only an outside chance to finish in the runner-up position.

Mound meets Moshiem a nine, the team that is now occupying the league basement. Mound should take this game with ease, but you can never tell in baseball. The Mound is apt to suffer a let-down after that hard game with Pidcoke last Sunday, and it is a possibility that Moshiem may be the team that will defeat Mound.

The improved CCC club will tangle with Blackfoot in a contest that is anybody's ball game.

SOFTBALL TO HAVE ANOTHER FLING HERE

Softball for this summer will have its inauguration here Monday night, when some practice games will be played under the lights of the new athletic stadium, where all games of the year will be played. These games will be played in order to arouse interest in the game before a definite league is formed.

Pete Patterson, head of a committee appointed by the Firemen to organize the circuit, has 6 prospective teams lined up. The Firemen will have their own entry, while Doc's Sandwich Shop perennial champions of the old loop will enter. Other teams are the Highway Gang, CCC, Thomas and Ratliff, and S.A. Anderson.

One feature that insures the league's success is the fact that Hazen "Four-Eyes" Ament will be the chief umpire. Ament made the following statement to your correspondent: "Everything I call will be just that way and I ain't taking nothing off nobody! No, Sir!" To which we say a sly "Oh, Yeah?"

BASEBALL CHATTER By Post

The Waco Dons rode to victory Wednesday night on the big bat of Roy Reiss, who pulled himself up by his bootstraps out of the throes a terrific batting slump. Reiss caught a hold practice relief pitcher's fast ones in the thirteenth stanza and sent it sailing over the left field wall to give the Dons their first Temple victory this season.

The fact that makes the game doubly interesting to Don fans is that this chunky young kid Stevenson turned out to be a pretty rifty little hurler. In fact, he looked great and with errorless support, he could have probably gone the route against the Surgeons. He has a blazing fast ball a baffling hook and a goodly amount of control. He is also a great fielding pitcher, making two sensational stops of hard hit grounders. What's more he has a mart cool baseball head between his husky shoulders.

But when Stevenson steps down for a pinch hitter in the eighth, who do the Dons put in there but old Fuzz Douglas, who was a star hurler for Baylor ten years ago and is present athletic director at that Waco institution. Yes, old Douglas brings his trusty right arm out of the dark shadows of retirement, and sets the hard-hitting Surgeons own with one lone hit in the last four frames.

At we view the Dons, their chief needs are a catcher and a third baseman, although McCoy may yet develop into a capable third sacker. The Dons have more pitching strength than any other semi-pro outfit in Central Texas, what with Bass, Stevenson, Douglas, Gilum and Connally all on the firing line.

It is beginning to look as if the Mound team is going to sweep right thru their schedule in the Sunday baseball league without a defeat. They have a fine little club, generously sprinkled with old veterans of the baseball wars, but with an up-and-coming kid here and there in the line-up to keep these old timers on their toes. They have three pretty good sidesters, Joe Evans, Cleo Whaley and Francis Rutherford. Evans pitched great ball in the closing three innings of the Pideoke contest last Sunday, but he is too easy going to make a really great pitcher. Whaley is one of those hot and cold hurlers. One day you can't touch his delivery, but the next time he hurls he is apt to be jolted from the mound. Schoolboy Rutherford, who went like a house afire in the high school league has not yet broken into the Mound line-up.

The fans of Central Texas have already begun talking about the annual State semi-pro tournament. As we sat in the Katy Park grandstand the other night the chief topic of conversation going on around us besides that of the ball game, was the semi-pro tournament. They were expressing their views as to the coming thru with the state championship bunting. This year's tournament will display the tops in the semi-pro baseball teams and individual performers and will attract more fans than the two previous ones. Several times last year the crowd overflowed the grandstand, and it would be a great thing if the tournament officials would build a new set of bleachers in the right field to increase the seating capacity of Katy Park. They are going to need all the space they can get in the coming tournament.

RESIDENCE LOTS

HIGHLAND ADDITION

To Gatesville

Price of Lots:

$200.00 to $600.00

Terms if desired

Highland Addition will meet the need of a new residential section to Gatesville. The natural barriers have prevented Gatesville from building any further to the North or South; it has built a mile and a half to the East passing the cemetery, compress, oil mill, railroad, milk plant and other industries.

The opening of the new highway will give Gatesville a new opportunity for expansion to the West and make possible desirable, residence lots at a reasonable price.

The Federal Housing Administration has figured that the cost of a lot should be 10 per cent of the value of the completed property and the improvements should constitute 90 per cent. This proportionment of value has been impossible in Gatesville and in recent years some of our people have paid almost as much for a lot as they have paid for the improvements they placed on it.

Highland Addition offers a limited number of lots at a reasonable price, conveniently located to the business section of Gatesville and having distinctive advantages of beauty and desirability and restrictive protection not found elsewhere in Gatesville.

Let me show you the lots in Highland Addition and explain to you how a Federal Loan can be obtained.
