Cord-Lock makes them 31% SAFER

Mansfield Cushion Balloons are built the Mansfield way — three ways differently from other tires. They have Cord-Lock construction that gives a 31% greater safety factor in the sidewalls — anchored-in piano wire beads, seven times stronger than actually needed — wide, flat, tough Duro-mix treads that wear like iron and grip tight on slippery pavements.

MANSFIELD EXTRA MILEAGE Tires

Add to this the fact that Mansfield Cushion Balloons are the "low cost" tires of the day — that they give consistently longer mileage on all makes of late model cars. When you ride on Mansfields, you know you have safety, service and savings of a new order. Every Mansfield Tire gives you more mileage than you pay for.

PLAY-OFF POSTPONED ALL-STAR GAME AUGUST 20

Due to the fact that several of the Jonesboro players had left for a fishing trip on the Colorado, the playoff series between the Eagles and Mound was postponed until Sunday, when the two teams will start their crucial game promptly at three o'clock with probably the largest crowd of the season on hand to witness the contest.

The second game will be played at the Eagles' stomping grounds Wednesday, and if a third game is needed to decide the championship it will be played on neutral ground, which will probably be the State diamond Saturday.

The fans will have an opportunity to witness the All-Stars in action against the Mound team Sunday, August 20. The game will probably be played at Mound. All of the ballots have been returned, and we will announce the All-Star Club in the Tuesday's issue.

Lefty Joe Evans will pitch for Mound Sunday, and Manager Buddy Whigham is confident that Evans will come home the winner. This boy has been invincible all summer, but has been out with a hand injury the past month, and may not be in top form when he faces the Eagles.

Jonesboro's starting hurler is not known, but it will be either Liljedahl or Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Mulholland and family are vacationing in Fort Worth and other points. Mr. Mulholland is in charge of Leaird's furniture department.

C. S. Tucker and grandson, Jack Hearn, recently left for Burnett, where they will be employed for the next several weeks.

Lorraine Turner, assistant in R. W. Ward's Service Station, returned home over the week end, following a week's vacation in Menard, where he visited his brother, Herbert, and Seth McClarty. Herbert and Lorraine are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Turner.

Miss Freda Glass is replacing Mrs. David Corrigan as Dr. T. M. Hall's assistant this week.

After an operation and several weeks of recuperation in a Waco Sanitarium Raymond Edwards recently returned to his home near Gatesville. Mr. Edwards was the victim of an auto accident receiving severe injuries to his arm.

Mrs. Ed Richardson and son Porter of Colorado, Mrs. L. C. Walker of McAllen and Miss Alva Ament of Waco have returned to their respective homes following a visit with their mother, Mrs. W. C. Ament.

Mr and Mrs A W Ellis and children, Dorothy Sue and Billy, Mrs. W. W. Cayce and Miss Barbara Jean Harvison left Tuesday for a week's visit in Fort Worth and Dallas. While in Ft. Worth the party will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harveson. Little Miss Harveson will remain in that city with her parents, after a two weeks visit in Gatesville.

COKES WIN ONE, THEN BEATEN IN MARLIN TOURNAMENT

Playing in a misting rain all the way, caused Holt, sensational young hurler, to lose his control, the local Coca-Cola Bottlers went down to defeat in the Marlin softball tournament Wednesday night. They took their first game Tuesday night from the brilliant Hicks-Tliver club the club that won the city championship of Waco, but were defeated Wednesday night by the Tom Padgitts in the Waco city League.

Holt pitched a great game in turning back the Hicks-Oliver club, 6-4, allowing only six hits with four of these bingles coming in the opening stanza, in which the Hicks-Oliver bunch scored all their runs.

Gatesville did not break the scoring ice until the second round when Ward tripped, and then came home Frank Morgan's infield out. Tackett the next man up, then slammed one a country mile for the first home run of the game. It was really a beaut.

The Bottlers garnered another run in the third when Hair singled, went to second on Thornton's singles, stole third and scored the play after Ferguson, Hicks-Oliver third sacker, allowed Wiggins hard grounder to get by him. Ward and Tackett scored runs, on three consecutive singles, another error by Ferguson, and a long fly to right field and Gatesville took the lead, 5-4.

Bowman cinched the verdict by slamming out another home run in the sixth frame.

Against the Tom Padgitt club Holt could do nothing. Since it was misting rain the ball became slick and Holt lost all control. The Padgitts jolted him for nine runs in the very opening inning and when the second inning opened old Strongarm Blanton went to work. He was effective, although he allowed two runs in the second and another in the third. Faubion, Tom Padgitt ace, allowed the Bottlers only three safeties.

Mrs. Kate Dunn of Fort Worth is a guest this week of Mrs. B. S. Cook.

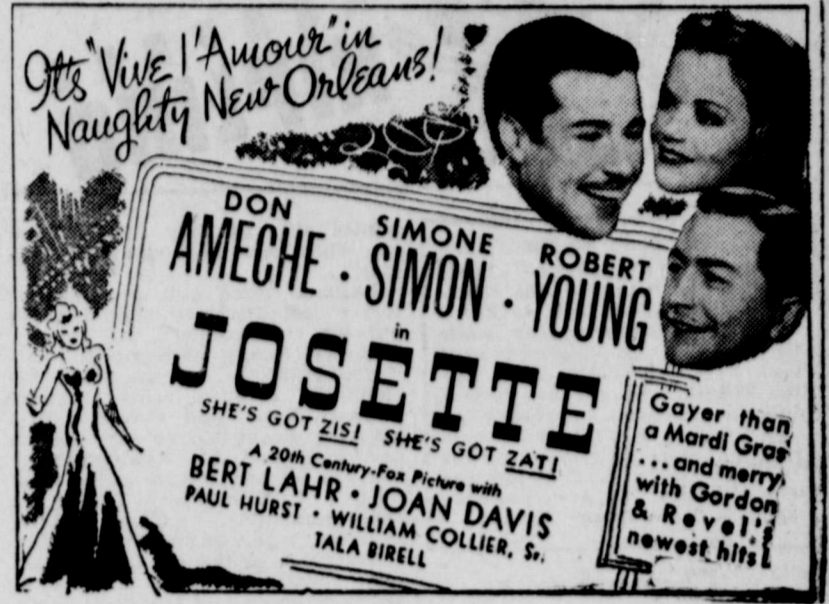

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Cockrell, who have been making their home in this city, for a short time were recently transferred to Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Bradford and Mrs. R. S. Farmer spent the week end in Goldthwaite as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Velda Bradford.

Mrs. Dessie Wyatt of San Angelo returned home Thursday following a visit in this city as guest of Mrs. Paul Hensler.

ALEXANDER KORDA presents
"ELEPHANT BOY"
 Based on "Toomai of the Elephants" by RUDYARD KIPLING

THE STORY SO FAR
 Toomai, father of Little Toomai and master of the mighty elephant Kala Nag, is killed by a man-eating tigress while they are on an elephant hunt with Petersen Sahib. While Little Toomai mourns his father, Lukman, a coolie who hates the boy, enrages Kala Nag by mistreating him. Kala Nag throws Lukman into a pool, an offense which, under the law, requires the elephant's death.

Chapter Five

"The law of the jungle demands that he die, little one," Petersen spoke, "but I will try to save him for you."

"You are very tired," he added, "why do you not lie down and sleep here?"

Toomai continued to plead piteously for the life of his beloved Kala Nag. And only when Petersen had reassured him did the boy lie down on the bed. In a moment, he was slumbering peacefully. Then Petersen strode from his tent to that where Lukman lay in his bed of pain.

As he approached the tent, Peter-smiled silly as they realized how the white man had outwitted Lukman.

Lukman cried out, protested in terror lest Petersen should carry out his command. "I will relent," Petersen finally announced, "only if you grant the boy the life of his elephant." In sheer relief, Lukman gasped "Yes!", and Petersen, first glancing about to see that others had witnessed Lukman's consent, left the tent to return to his own.

Little Toomai was no longer in bed. Summoning the Chief Mahout, Petersen began to look for the boy. Down close to the elephant picket they found him sleeping. "Leave him," Petersen said tenderly; "Kala Nag will guard him, and tomorrow we shall send the boy back."

Hours after they were gone, Toomai rose from the ground. He had been dreaming terrifying dreams of Kala Nag's death. He could not rid his mind of the ominous conversation of the men.

He ran to Kala Nag in the line and fondled his trunk. "Oh, mountain of wisdom," he whispered "thou hast served my father, and my grandfather, and my great-grandfather loyally. And still they say you are mad. It is the others who are out of their minds, not you."

The elephant answered the boy

"The law demands his death, but I will try to save him for you."

sen could distinctly hear the voice of Lukman railing against the boy and Kala Nag. He would have justice, shouted Lukman, he would have the death of the brute — and the ivory which he would yield.

When Petersen entered, Lukman fell back on his mattress crying mightily in pain. As Petersen listened, he gathered that the man's body was completely broken, that he would never walk again, that only the death of Kala Nag could recompense the pain and indignity that had been visited on him.

Petersen smiled wryly. He, too, disliked Lukman, distrusted the man's oily ways. But for the boy's sake, he decided to reason with him.

"You are stealing the bread from the mouth of an orphaned boy," Petersen pointed out, "do you want to do that?"

Lukman was unmoved by this plea. Justice was due him, he cried, and if the boy suffered in the carrying out of justice how did it concern him? He wanted the death of Kala Nag. There were muttered assents from some of the bearded faces that could be seen in the tent opening.

Petersen knew that his position was difficult. But he also knew how to deal with this man. His face grew suddenly severe with anger. "Then you shall have justice," he spoke, "Kala Nag will die!" Lukman received this announcement with a glad cry.

"But," Petersen continued, "I also know the law. I do not want you in my camp. You must leave tonight, immediately."

There was consternation on Lukman's face. "But, Sahib, I cannot," he protested. "I am hurt, I cannot move."

"Then two of you men will take him up on his bed and leave him in the first clearing of the jungle," Petersen spoke to those who ringed the bed. There were several who with curious squeaks and grunts, so tender that they hardly seemed possible in so enormous a body. Between these two there was a great love and a great trust.

Toomai was perplexed. If Petersen Sahib was forced to acquiesce to the law, his beloved Kala Nag would be dead on the morrow. Then there would be no one in the earth to whom he could turn. To the boy, Kala Nag was greater, wiser, more benevolent than any human but his own father. Now his father was dead and there was only the elephant to love in the whole world. He was suddenly determined to save him.

With stealthy secrecy, Toomai undid the chains which bound the elephant. "Up! Kala Nag, up!" he commanded, and as the elephant lifted him to his head, Toomai whispered his plan into the big animal's ear. They would flee to the jungle where none could find them. Live happily in the jungle together. The moon was shining and Kala Nag picked his way silently out of the camp, while the other elephants in the line, sensing what was happening, discreetly kept their silence.

The sun was well up in the heavens before their disappearance was discovered. Petersen was shocked, fearful for the boy's life when he heard what had happened. "Rouse the beaters and trailers," he ordered the Chief Mahout. "Prepare to break camp and follow them."

"They will travel fast in the jungle alone, Sahib," said the Mahout, "and the trail is wet and difficult to follow."

"Never mind," spoke Petersen, busily packing his things, "we must find the boy. I should have had more sense than to bring the little rogue along on an elephant hunt. And you should have had more sense than to scare him."

ARNOLD'S ELECTRICS PULL UP WITH TWO WINS

The Arnold Electrics, who made a pitiful start, are gaining momentum from three straight victories and has shifted into high. All signs point to full speed ahead as the club roars into the stretch of the close City Softball league pennant race. The team has soared to new heights under the brilliant skipper-ship of burly Red White, Electrician manager. The canny, red-faced Irishman has his forces playing slash ball. He has combined the spark of youth with the steadiness of veterans to catapult the Electric into the thick of the battle.

The Electrics added two more games to the win column last week, the first coming on Monday when they spilled runs all over the landscape to slaughter the hapless Thomas and Ratliff bridge gang, 23-7. Then Tuesday night they took another from the CCC camp on a forfeit. So as not to let the night go to waste, Manager White contacted the Highway team, and that capable bunch, together with some more players who had come down to witness the battle went down to defeat 11-9 on the strength of Pat Olsen's homer off Holt, Merchant hurler, in the sixth with the bases loaded.

Coca-Cola dropped into tie with the Highway boys for first and second place when they suffered two defeats last week.

The Electric have to battle the two toughest teams in the league this week. Last night they battled the strong Coca-Cola Bottlers and the outcome of that crucial battle was not known at the time of the press deadline. Tonight they take on the capable and confident Firemen ten, present third place occupants.

If the Electrics can take both of these games they will definitely be in the race for a place in the league's Saughnessy playoff, but if they go down to defeat both times they are practically out of the running.

Join the Chamber of Commerce

THE GATESVILLE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE NEEDS YOUR SUPPORT

Some 18 months ago a few business men of Gatesville decided we should re-organize our Chamber of Commerce. They met in the City Hall and elected officers. This organization now has about 160 members. Since that date the work has been carried on thru the various committees working with their President and Secretary.

THE OFFICERS RECEIVE NO PAY

When you join this home organization composed of local business men every cent paid in goes to benefit Gatesville. Not one cent is paid to the officers and committees for their services, each of them donate their time doing what they think best for GATESVILLE.

YOU NAME THE AMOUNT YOU PAY

When you join, you are not assessed a certain amount each month, it is a free will offering and the money you pay goes into a general fund and before it can be spent it is passed on by the board of directors.

IN UNITY THERE IS STRENGTH

The citizenship of Gatesville must unite as other towns are doing and continue to make Gatesville one of the best small towns in Texas. You do not have to be a merchant to belong to the Chamber of Commerce, if you are a property owner or if you love Gatesville it is high time you were doing something about it.

THERE'S WORK TO BE DONE

There's plenty of work to be done but with our present finance and manpower it is limited. See the membership committee today and let's all get in the harness with one thing in mind and that is to make Gatesville still a better town. A town that we will take pride in showing to our friends from other places and make them want to live in Gatesville with us. THE BEST LITTLE TOWN IN TEXAS.

"Hold that line! Hold — that line!!"

The paean of the pigskin will soon rock the land. Football '38 will be king. Soon the great empty, steel-supported grandstands at the Stockyard Stadium will resound to the hollow thump of punts, and the solid smacks of body blocks. Now's the time the old molesking-men sniff the air. Soon co-eds will drag out their game trotting clothes, laid these many months among withered chrysanthemums.

For most of us, football flares with a rush the first quickening day of September. For a picked few the game starts earlier, much earlier; way back in the spring. Every afternoon on the practice field you can see them, forty grid-grimed youths, tanned by west winds and smoky sunlight, working furiously learning the finer points of the great old American game from their coach.

For the Hornets this year it's new names, new faces; with only a few grid-wise top-flighters veterans to keep the young world-beaters from hogging the show.

For the first time, this column will twang the lyre and boom the drum for the Hornets. We hope you like us.

The Arnold Electricians, after seemingly having hit their stride lost two games this week to the Coca-Cola Bottlers and the Firemen. The Cokes slammed James Stone, Houston pitching importation, for eight runs, while sloppy defensive play in the outer gardens cost the Electricians three more, leaving the final score eleven to six. The smokaters barely edged them out, eight to nine by putting on a three run rally in the last half of the seventh to cop the decision.

The Alvin Texacoos, a dark horse entry, won the 1938 semi-pro championship, on the great pitching of Jim Parker, former Dallas hurler. Parker beat the Mount Pleasant Cubs, the Conroe Wildcats and the Grand Prize Beermen twice to give his team an undefeated record in the tournament play. Lenny Mock, third baseman who fielded brilliantly thruout the tourney won the batting championship with a cool .600 average. He cinched his title in the final game with the Brewers, by slamming out a single, double and a home run the four trips to the plate.

Whitlo White, Alvin first sacker, received the trophy for being the most valuable player of the tournament.

This column has just been informed that the local grid squad will begin fall training August 23. That of course is a week earlier than usual but the schedule this year calls for a game a week earlier than has been the custom. Therefore making it necessary to inaugurate training a week earlier so as to give the boys plenty of time to prepare for the opening engagement.

The prospects for the '38 edition of the Hornets are not so bright. They have only four lettermen returning. The chances of the team received a severe jolt when Red White, burly guard who seemed headed for unprecedented heights, flunked out in English. His loss will leave a great gaping hole in the very center of that good old Hornet line, one that will be difficult to fill.

Bill Morgan, a center, John Albert Lester, quarterback, Bloody Blankenship fullback, and J. F. Post, an end, are the returning veterans.

The team to beat in this district this year according to the curbstone critics and Monday-morning quarterbacks, are the Valley Mills Eagles, and Gatesville's most hated and ancient rivals, the notorious McGregor Bulldogs. The Hornets whipped both of these clubs the past two times they have met but whether they can turn the trick again remains to be seen.

Ex-Hornet football stars will soon make their annual pilgrimage to Independence, Kansas, where they have formed the nucleus of pennant winning Independences Junior college grid outfits or the past two years. Woodrow Wilson and Jack Wiggins will not return this year, but Truman Blanton, who was out most of last year with a severe ankle injury; Charley Baker, star guard; Jessie Lee Wiggins, flashy halfback; and new comers Joe Baker, Zack Fore and Lowell Holt will enroll this year. Blanton, Baker and Wiggins all lettered at that school last year. Joe Baker was voted the most valuable man on the Hornet squad of '37; Holt beat the McGregor Bulldogs practically single-handed on Turkey Day, '36, and Fore has been a star half for the past two seasons in the Hornet eleven.

GINGER ROGERS, JAMES STEWART IN TOP ROLES "VIVACIOUS LADY"

Co-starring two of the screens leading favorites, Ginger Rogers and James Stewart. "Vivacious Lady" offers a brilliant and up-to-date romance to film-goers. It is scheduled for the REGAL Theatre starting Saturday night at 7:30 Sunday and Monday.

The stormy love affair of a night club entertainer and a studious young professor is the theme of this story the action of which takes place in a sleepy little college town, in whose dignified atmosphere the heroine is astonished to find herself.

Stewart, as the young pedagogue, marries Miss Rogers, the entertainer, after a brief whirlwind courtship in New York City and takes her back to Old Sharon Fearing the stern tongue of his Puritanical father, who is also president of the college, the boy hesitates to tell his family of the marriage.

Only Stewart's cousin, played by James Ellison, knows the truth, and he loyally tries to help out the couple. A series of complications fostered by the determination of Stewart's boyhood sweetheart to marry the young man, and by Miss Rogers' growing impatience with her husband's lack of decision, make up the interlocking crises of the story, with many hilarious situations piling high the entertainment values of the picture.

CHIPS FROM THE POLITICAL STUMPS

Robert W. Calvert of Hillsboro, who received almost 100,000 votes in the July primary for attorney general, has announced his active support of Gerald C. Mann for the place Calvert, who is former speaker of the house of representatives, in a statement urged his friends to vote for Mann in the runoff election.

"For the past ten days I have given serious consideration to political ideals which I have always considered right," Calvert said. "It appears that the interests I have always opposed are lining up with the intention of defeating Gerald C. Mann, who is clean, able and bound up with no ring politics or entangling alliances. Therefore, I feel that I should support Mann. I'm grateful to the thousands of Texans who voted for me in the first primary. I feel that the best insured by the election of Gerald C. Mann. I also feel very definitely that his opponent should not be elected."

Charles A. Pippen of Dallas, eliminated in the July 23 Democratic primary, has pledged his support to Harry N. Graves of Georgetown who is seeking nomination to the Court of Criminal Appeals in the August runoff primary. The contest is between Graves, the incumbent, and James A. Stephens of Knox county.

The runoff campaign of Bascom Giles, candidate for state land commissioner, is underway with Giles' promise that he would cooperate "1000 per cent" with newly-nominated Gov. Lee O'Daniel.

Gile declares the land office "is this time as important as the governor's office."

"The governor's hands ought not to be tied by a land commissioner that he will have to ride herd on," the candidate asserts.

A bigger and better band will furnish entertainment for Jerry Sadler's audiences in his runoff campaign for railroad commissioner, Ernest Jones, his publicity man, has announced.

The cowboy stringsters will be a seven piece instead of a four piece organization. The musicians and the master of ceremonies will travel in a bus, for the sake of convenience and economy.

Sadler will use the same car he drove in the first primary, during which 25,000 miles were traveled.

Sadler is on record with a proposal to pay his runoff opponent a pension. Seeking in Sweetwater extemporaneously, Sadler advocated the pension for public officials holding office over fifty years, and declared his opponent would be the only one eligible.

Terming his opponent "the dean of all professional politicians," Sadler, Longview, called on Railroad Commission Chairman C. V. Terrell to withdraw from the runoff race in a recent speech over the Texas Quality Network.

"Three fourths of the voters have spoken decisively against the incumbent," said Sadler. "In justice to the people of Texas Judge Terrell should obey that patriotic impulse and withdraw from the race and save the people a runoff. He should bow to the will of the majority and step down from the high place he has held so long."

Sadler pledged enforcement of conservation statutes pertaining to the railroad commission's duties, and criticized the present old age pension system, saying he wanted pensions paid to every aged person in the State.

The candidate urged that "do-nothing professional politicians" be banished and replaced by men with vision and determination to fight for the plain people.

Terrell has been on a public pay roll for more than half a century, Sadler said, and knows all the tricks of politics.

"I do not know all the political tricks, nor the mud puddles from which to get the slime that is customarily thrown in a race for high State office," said Sadler. "We must finish the job started on July 23 of driving from office these chronic officeholders who have lost the viewpoint of the average man and woman."

John Lee Smith of Throckmorton, one of the unsuccessful candidates for lieutenant governor in the first primary is backing Coke Stevenson, Junction, former speaker of the house of representatives, in the runoff campaign.

Smith said that Stevenson is no politician but a master of the art of government and thoroughly grounded in statecraft. Stevenson, as a member of the houses has voted against waste and extravagance and believes that old age pensions should be paid in strict accordance with the constitutional amendment, Smith said.

Gerald C. Mann has been endorsed for attorney general by all the Dallas county District Judges and by two members of the Fifth Court of Civil Appeals.

Mann was declared a competent lawyer fully fitted to serve as Attorney General by Joel Bond, Chief Justice of the appellate court; Towne Young, Associate Justice, and District Judges W. L. Thornton, Claude M. McCallum, Sarah T. Hughes, Paine L. Bush, John A. Rawlins Dick Dixon, Grover C. Adams and Henry King.

State Highway Commissioner John Wood, Timpson, third man in the first primary vote for railroad commissioner, has endorsed Railroad Commission Chairman C. V. Terrell for reelection.

Wood invited Terrell to open his runoff campaign in Wood's home county of Shelby in East Texas, saying he would be glad to introduce Terrell to his home folks. Terrell has accepted the invitation.

In two of the the three State runoff races for major office, only a few thousand votes separated the first primary leaders.

As officially tabulated by the State Democratic Executive Committee, which canvassed complete returns from every county, assembled by Vann M. Kennedy State Democratic secretary Walter Woodul of Harris county led Gerald C. Mann of Dallas county for attorney general by less than 12,000 votes out of a total of 1,039,217 cast in this race.

Woodul polled 340,453 to Mann's 328,538. Ralph Yarborough of Travis county, third man in the race, received 220,964 and Robert W. Calvert of Hill county

AUG. 31 FINAL DATE FOR WHEAT INSURANCE APPLICATIONS

Crop insurance, which seeks to enable the farmer to have wheat to sell every year whether his crop fails or not, is now available for wheat farmers in Coryell County.

Insurance policies are to be offered against loss in yield due to drought, flood, hail, wind, winterkill, lightning fire, tornado, storm, insect infestation, animal pests, plant disease, excess of deficient moisture, incursion of animal and any other unavoidable causes.

A producer may be insured for either 75 per cent of 50 per cent of his 1939 wheat crop. The average premium on 75 per cent coverage is .8 of a bushel per acre, while the average premium on 50 per cent coverage is .3 of a bushel per acre. Premiums may be paid in wheat or its cash equivalent. If premiums are paid in wheat, the actual wheat is to be stored by the Corporation in approved warehouses, and will be held until paid to farmers as indemnity for crop losses.

Realizing that this is something very new County Agent Powell is most anxious that crop insurance on wheat prove successful and is urging every wheat producer to come to the County Agent's office at once for further information.

This program will end August 31, 1938, therefore, it is most important that this matter be attended to at once.

It's a Toss-Up— A Toast to Taste

A trick of the old-time bartender—tossing a drink from glass to glass—is being revived by modern maidens at summer drink fountains. This brings tree-ripened freshness to canned fruit juice, grapefruit growers in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas have found. The explanation: Grapefruit juice, which is packed now in its full fresh taste, is put up in vacuum—all air removed. To serve, "put the air back." Fountains and restaurants featuring the drink this summer pour the grapefruit juice from cans into their motor-driven mixing machines to aerate it.

Government estimates of the 1938 cotton crop was placed Monday at 11,988,000 bales.

A drop of $1 a bale was the immediate result of the report and AAA officials immediately started machinery for a probable loan to cotton growers.

The farm act authorizes loans at between 52 and 75 per cent of parity—8.27 and 11.92 cents a pound.

Entered as second-class matter June 24, 1933, at the post office at Gatesville, Texas, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

NOTICE: Any erroneous reflection upon the character or standing of any person or firm appearing in its columns will be gladly and promptly corrected upon calling the attention of the management to the article in question.

ADMISSIONS

Admissions, are admittedly necessary for any activity—those who attend the benefit should pay "the freight". Thereby hangs the tale.

First, let it be understood, we have used these columns for the purpose of forwarding soft ball and all other sports in this vicinity. We're for them, and always will be.

But we're also for other activities.

"The Hat" has been passed at the soft ball games. Many pay. Many do not. The theatre have a standard charge, and do not "pass the hat".

Summer is a tough season for them, with cooling, which is expensive, and, outside activities which take many people in other pursuits. These folks pay considerable taxes.

Those interested in soft ball have expenses too, of course, and, do considerable in advertising and good-will for this community. But, isn't it fair to have a "gate" or standard charge instead of "passing the hat"? What it should be, doesn't matter so much, but what seemingly does matter is, there SHOULD be a charge for soft ball on the gate.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

A comedian in a recent show we saw said: "Where there's no hope, there's no hurry!" Must be right.

PWA

This could stand for "People Want Action," but, in reality, it means Public Works Administration.

What we're trying to interest the populace of this community is getting some of the PWA money that is a part of the "spending-lending" program underwritten by the government, all of which we are going to pay our prorata part, whether or not we get any of these grants.

We do not know the financial condition of the city. But here's a few ideas for some immediate action on behalf of someone since the "time draweth nigh" and we don't want to be "Virgins without oil".

Wouldn't these be good expenditures here in absorbing some of the "spent-lent" money, for instance: a park for the colored folks (a promise of so many city administrations?), a community center in beautiful Raby Park, more street resurfacing, drainage, gutters storm sewers, a city lighting project?

If you don't like these, or have others, let's hear your views in signed letters in our "If I Were Editor" column. It's open season on ideas—and, who knows, you may have the better ones.

In spite of the fine season and the fine growth the cotton plant have made, it looks as if the crop might be short on acre yield. A number of representative farmers, including Jim Griffin, Earl Summerford, T. P. ### PUSH THE PULLETS AND CULL THE DRONES

"A hen does not stop laying because she is molting, but molts because she has already stopped laying" says a poultry authority. Hens which begin molting in June, July or August brand themselves as short-season layers and if they have not already been culled out, had best be disposed of before the fall laying season. The feed they would eat can be better used by the pullets and the hens which will molt later.

If the hen drones are not already fat it will take only a few days in the coop on a rich fattening ration to put them in condition to can for family use, or for market. It is mistaken economy to take a poor hen to market, or to put in a can one too thin to kill for Sunday dinner. City dealers know better than to offer their trade hens that are not fat. If they must buy them poor, they feed them up before offering them for sale and they therefore buy thin hens with this extra expense in view. The farmer loses the sale of the few pounds of grain it would take to fatten them, and pays the market man to finish the job.

Fall and winter egg production when the price is highest, comes from well developed pullets and late-molting hens. Most people prefer eggs from mature hens for early spring hatching, and those which have kept laying thru out the summer go into a late but quick molt and are likely to furnish the earliest hatching eggs. The same habit indicates a high annual egg production which makes them the most desirable for producing next year's pullets.

Chickens like people, must have a variety of food to keep healthy and vigorous. No one kind of grain will give them what they need, and while the ration should be built around the grains raised on the farm as a matter of economical production, it is also poor economy to deprive either growing pullets or laying hens of other grains and mixed mashes to supplement the corn or grain sorghums which nearly every Southwestern farm grows. Wheat is the best single grain for poultry, but it, too, must be supplemented by animal or vegetable proteins, which are best supplied by skim milk or scientifically compounded mash feeds. The label on mixed feed tells its composition.

However well the skilled poultryman gets along with a flock under close confinement, his intensive methods are not adapted to farm poultry production. Sunshine and green feed are the natural vitamin-carrying elements and if the farm flock is given free access to them, while observing the same sanitary precautions of the poultry specialist there is little doubt that the farm flock will be more resistant to disease, more productive in proportion to the feed used, and therefore more profitable type of operation.

The Southwest is fortunate in that green feed may be grown for use in every month of the year, thus avoiding much of the winter expense for sprouted grains; and its many sunny days thruout the cold season reduces the need for cod liver oil in the ration. At this season preparations for winter greens are in order. If alfalfa or sweet clover is not already growing it can be seeded as late as the first of September; mustard or turnips sown now will give quick greens and fill the gap until wheat, oats or barley are ready. Italian rye grass is making a good showing in most of the Southwest for winter pasture, and may be as useful in the poultry run as in the field.

The land for fall and winter greens must be ready for the seed when the time comes. If it is not ready now it is none too kind of seed bed suited to the crop which is to be sown. A good seed bed is half the job.

Earl Huddleston Says He Will Co-operate With the New Governor

I have been asked by some people what my attitude will be toward the New Governor Elect Hon. W. Lee O'Daniel if I am chosen Representative of the 94th District on August 27th. I am pleased to give the people of my district an honest answer on this question as I have always been ready to answer any public question asked me by any citizen of this district.

I will state that if chosen as your Representative that I will cooperate with The New Governor elect in every way possible. This has been my policy toward the two governors withwhom I have served in the Legislature. During the terms which said governors served, I, as a member of the House, supported men for Speaker of The House who were friendly to said governors and their programs and this shall be my policy toward Hon. Lee O'Daniel. I have so written some of my friends in the legislature who have asked my support for this place.

I assure the people of this district that I will continue to work for a fair Old Age Pension Law as voted by the people, support legislation in behalf of the unfortunate, the laboring class, the farmer, the small business man and the cause of education including our worthy teachers. I will work and vote for a fair law relating to the trucking industry of this state ever keep in mind the rights and protection of the general public. I think some changes should be made in trucking laws including the raising of the load limit and other regulations which are discriminatory against the small business man and the farmer. I voted to bring a bill up in the House last session which would have accomplished this. I will support a constiutional Amendment giving the people a chance to vote on the question as to whether the poll tax law should be repealed. I believe this is democratic and right to let the people express their will on any subject. I sponsored a bill in The House which would have placed poll taxes at one ($1.00) dollar.

I propose, if reelected, to honestly and fairly represent very person in the district and to assist each person with his or her problems which come before the legislature or which pertains to my office in any way, This has been my policy since I have been serving as your Representative and shall continue the same service if reelected August 27th.

Sincerely,

EARL HUDDLESTON

(Political Adv.)
