The SNAPSHOT GUILD
HOBBY PICTURES

Any child hobby is full of picture chances. Adult hobbies, too. Picture them as they progress, step by step.

IF YOU have a son or daughter who is a budding hobbyist, picture the child's progress. A series of these pictures has delightful "story-telling" quality, and will increase in memory value as time passes.

Almost any hobby can be pictured. If your young daughter paints or draws, snap a progressive series of her at her sketch pad or easel. If the boy builds model planes, snap a series of him busy in his workshop fitting parts of the new model. Take pictures that show the progress of the job, from the first stick to the completed plane—and its trial flight!

First attempts at golf... first lessons in tennis or swimming... any outdoor sport is full of these picture chances. Picture each stage, and you will treasure these snapshots later on.

Take special care with these pictures, to get just the effect you want. For example, in taking the picture above, a light yellow K-1 filter was used on the camera lens, to darken the blue water and sky and make the white clothing and boat sail "stand out." Fast film was used, and reflections from the water made a short exposure possible—1/50 second at f.11. The picture shows careful thought, and proves that the rule "think before you shoot" is worth observing—whether you are taking hobby snapshots or some other kind.

Hobbies grow and expand, and they should be represented in your picture-history of the family. Take plenty of pictures, showing each new phase and development of your son's or daughter's hobby—and begin taking them now, for tomorrow there will be new stages to picture, while today's opportunities will be past.

NOTICE: Any erroneous reflection upon the character or standing of any person or firm appearing in its columns will be gladly and promptly corrected upon calling the attention of the management to the article in question.

With the success of Gerald C. Mann of Dallas for attorney general and Jerry Sadler of Longview for railroad commissioner, W. Lee O'Daniel lost two of the major posts he sought to fill. Against this loss he won the election of Coke Stevenson for lieutenant governor, although Stevenson's victory was by smaller ratio than that of either of the first two men. Giles won the land commissioner, and the judges of the supreme court and court of criminal appeals, but these judiciary officers will have little or nothing to say about any program which he may seek to put thru a legislature encouraged by his Saturday losses to oppose him.

An examination of the returns shows that the repudiation of the complete O'Daniel slate was confined to no section of the state, but that all portions participated in it. If any thing sentiment was more solidly against it in East Texas; but here as elsewhere, the people appear to have voted for or against candidates as they wanted to, without regard to the wishes of the gubernatorial nominee, or any other outsider. Whether this indicated resentment over O'Daniel's indorsement or merely that his wishes were ignored, remains a matter of opinion, but there can be little doubt but what those wishes carried little weight with the voters of this state.

The attitude toward O'Daniel's slate was reflected in at least one of the two run-off races for congress. In the thirteenth district Congressman W. D. McFarlane, endorsed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt during his recent Texas visit, was defeated by Ed Gossett. Here again the effort of one who attempted to dictate to the voters ended in failure.

Just what the attitude of those successful candidates opposed by O'Daniel will be during his administration remains to be seen. However Mann no doubt expressed it when in a late Saturday night broadcast he told the voters that he would cooperate with the new governor and all other state department heads, but that cooperation would be confined strictly to the rules laid down by the laws of Texas.

Mann, who at age 31 will be one of the youngest men ever to hold the office of attorney general in this state, was frequently referred to in the run-off campaign as "the next governor of Texas."

While the coincidence had no bearing upon the outcome, it was noted, nevertheless, that both candidates who won over O'Daniel's indorsement of their opponents are known as "Jerry"—Jerry Mann and Jerry Sadler.

The returns followed a fairly uniform course thru the election evening. At 6:30 p. m. Mann, Sadler and Giles were trailing their opponents. One hour later Giles had moved ahead of McDonald, giving first place to all of the O'Daniel candidates. Mann and Sadler went into the lead at 8:30 p. m., however, and they never gave it up after that.

In the attorney general's race, Woodul's principal strength appeared in South Texas. In his home county of Harris, however his lead was slight.

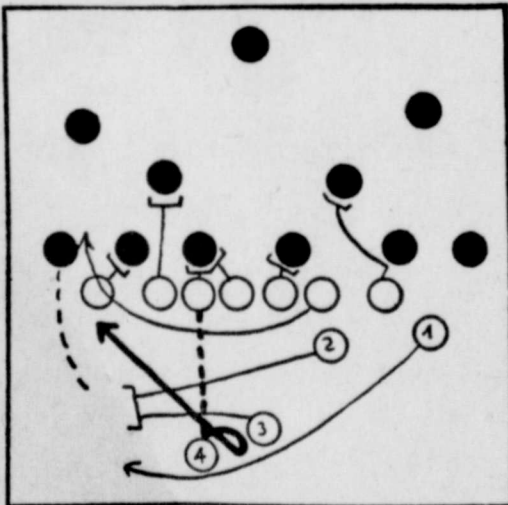

Mann, on the other hand, had a big lead in Dallas county, and in Hopkins county, his birthplace, and in other counties in Northeast and Central Texas his majorities ran two and three to one.

The election Saturday climaxed a campaign unique in Texas political history, and which may not be at an end now, despite the fact that since reconstruction days, the Democratic nomination in Texas

This is the third in a series of six outstanding diagram plays by leading college coaches from Grantland Rice's new Cities Service Football Guide.

THIS is one of those deceptive reverses. The success of this play depends on the playing habits of the defensive right end (or it can be reversed). If he is charging hard and fast he will be blocked out of the play. This play is to be used after the offense has had ample opportunity to study the defensive tactics of their opponents. The ball is snapped to the No. 1 back who fakes a pass to either the No. 2 or No. 4 back, then spins and plunges over the weak side end. The No. 4 back should cross the line of scrimmage, ahead of and to the inside of the ball carrier, to be in blocking position.

has been equivalent to election. An independent candidate for governor may be in the field for the November general election and the Republican candidate is expected to get a good vote.

The first upset came in the first primary, held July 23. Then it was that O'Daniel came from behind a field of 13 candidates to poll 573,166 votes, or a majority of the 1,114,885 votes cast in that race. It was the first time that any candidate for governor had won the nomination in the first primary when he was making the race for the first time only. Only twice before had a majority been obtained by a gubernatorial candidate in the first primary, by Gov. Dan Moody in 1928, and by Gov. James V. Allred in 1936. Both men were up for re-election at the time.

The run-off primary, in which the candidates for six state offices engaged, was scarcely under way before O'Daniel in a radio address which greatly resembled those which won for him in the first primary, indorsed one in each race He told the voters he desired the election of these men because they were experienced, and because his examination of the entire field had convinced him that they were best fitted for the offices they sought. In this and subsequent addresses, he urged their election because, he said, they would give him the aid necessary to give the $30 per month promised every person aged 65 years and over, and "to do other things promised in our first campaign."

The first reaction against O'Daniel's action was widespread and vociferous, but as the days passed and he made repeated addresses over the radio to justify it, this reaction calmed down, O'Daniel told the people that his administration was to be run by "God, the people and me." He justified his action on the ground that Jesus Christ has chosen 12 apostles to aid him in his work, because the president of the United States personally selects his attorney general and other cabinet members to advise and aid him, and because James Stephen Hogg when making the race for governor in the 1890's, had also indorsed candidates for attorney general and lieutenant governor.

During his own campaign, O'Daniel had stressed his opposition to the "professional politicians". He indorsed six candidates who, with the exception of the one seeking to be land commissioner, had been in office anywhere from six to 52 years.

He explained this seeming inconsistency by pointing out that in his campaign he had said that "not all the office holders are professional politicians", by claiming that if he was to run the state on a business basis, as he pledged himself to do, he would need experienced advisors, and by his references to the precedents set by Jesus Christ, by the president of the United States and by Governor Hogg.

HUBAM CLOVER PROVES WELL ADAPTED TO THIS AREA

Hubam, an annual white sweet clover has shown remarkable promise this year as a soil building legume for this area according to some forty farmers who made demonstration plantings last spring from seed furnished by the Soil Conservation Service.

E. E. McAllister, Technician in charge for the Soil Conservation Service here, points out that "here before Coryell County farmers were deprived of the benefits of the soil building of most legumes because of the prevalence of cotton root rot. This disease, which affects all tap-rooted plants, is as fatal to most legumes as to cotton."

The ability of Hubam to withstand root rot was first brought to the attention of the general public several years ago on the Blackland Experiment Station at Temple, which lies in the center of a vast cotton growing area strongly infected with root rot. Until last year very little Hubam had been grown in Coryell County. The success of this legume, however, on the John Taylor farm on Coryell Creek and the Albert Jacob farm at Coryell City and the experience of the Blackland Experiment Station led the local technicians of the Soil Conservation Service to furnish seed and encourage the planting of some forty plots thruout the county under various conditions.

"With few exceptions," Mr. McAllister continued, "these plantings have given remarkable results and all seed are being saved in order that more extensive plantings may be made next year."

THE VIRGINIA JUDGE

SYNOPSIS
Judge Calhoun Davis of the circuit court in the sleepy little town of Cedarwater Virginia is hated by his stepson Jim. Jim is in love with Mary the girl next door. Mary however prefers Bob Stuart. Jealous of Bob's new car Jim borrows a car from a neighbor without permission and takes Mary for a ride. On the way home the car is wrecked. Leaving the car in a garage he takes home an expensive shotgun which he found on the rear seat. The neighbor Higgins threatens him with arrest when Jim informs him of the accident.

CHAPTER V
"It's no use trying to soft-soap me," Higgins said hotly to the perspiring Jim. "You stole my car and busted it just because you belong to the Judge ain't goin' to save you like it usually does."
"But I'm going to pay for the damages. I've got a job," lied the youth. "The Judge just told me about it."

ne's in some kind of trouble. I thought if you."
As she spoke the front door slammed and there was the sound of feet on the stairs.

"That you, Jim?" called Martha. There was no answer.
"Maybe he's gone back to bed," said the Judge, his eyes twinkling. Then, more seriously, "I'll go up and talk to him."

In the meantime Jim, up in his room, was turning his pockets inside out to determine the state of his finances. Dig as he would, only the fifty cent piece his mother had given him came to light. Scowling, he picked up the dirty gun-case, preparatory to putting it behind the door. As he did so the flap came open. Jim gasped in astonishment. Inside was not the old gun he had expected.

"Bob asked me to adjust the sights," was the tart reply.

"I didn't know you were a gun expert."

"I'm not," Jim flared up angrily. "Don't know why he asked me. I'm taking it back to him this evening." He took the gun from the Judge's hand, pulled the case from under the bed and started putting it in.

"Bob's a nice boy," said his stepfather, trying to make conversation. "Yeah... and lucky. He gets every thing he wants. Spending money... a car..."

"Would that make you nappy?" The Judge studied him thoughtfully. "Tell you what I'll do then. You get that job you're always talking about, hold it a month and I'll do my derndest to get a car. Well, what do you say?"

"Oh, all right," was the sullen answer.

"Jim, I'd like to meet you on common ground. Don't seem to be able to. Too bad. I figured when I married your mother you'd kinda take me on as a father. I'd tickle me to pieces if you would."

"Mother is very fond of you," was Jim's non-committal reply. He walked to a window and started playing with the tassel on the shade his back to his stepfather.

"All right, Jim," sighed the Judge at last as he rose to leave in defeat. "What'll I tell your mother about that cut over your eye."

"Oh, tell her anything."

"Sure you're not in any trouble."

"No. Everything's all right."

As soon as the Judge was gone, Jim picked up the gun case and tiptoed downstairs, and out of the house. A few minutes later he knocked at Bob Stuart's door.

"Can I talk to you somewhere, privately, Bob," he asked.

"Sure. Come over to the summer house," was the surprised answer.

"What's on your mind?"

"Remember the last time we went hunting?" Jim's words tumbled over each other. "Remember that you couldn't hit a thing and said you were going to get a new gun? As he spoke he took Mr. Higgins gun, out of the case and handed it to Bob for examination. "Well, this gun belonged to my father — my real father, not the Judge. He left it to me and... Do you like it?"

"Who wouldn't!" Bob was lost in admiration.

"I'll sell it for fifty bucks."

"I'll give you forty."

"Forty wouldn't do any good. I need fifty to... to fix up Higgins car. And you're the only one of our gang that has any money. How about it?"

"Well, the price is a little stiff, but to help you out, Jim..." Bob reached for his wallet.

"You stole my car an' busted it," Higgins said hotly. "Just because you belong to the Judge ain't goin' to save you like it usually does."

You take care of the repair bill and I'll pay you back in a couple of weeks."

"You couldn't hold a job that long," Higgins laughed derisively. "No. You smashed my car. If you don't settle the garage bill by tomorrow night, I'll see the Judge. an' if he don't pay I'll have you sent up, sure as I'm standin' here."

"I'll get the money someway. Honest, I will."

"All right. Tomorrow night, and not a second later," Higgins was glorifying over the boy's fright. "See to it."

In the Davis home Martha was explaining the situation to her husband.

"He came home all kinda cut-like he'd been in a fight," she said. "He won't tel me what it is, but but a very expensive-looking weapon with a butt inlaid with mother of pearl. The boy whistled in astonishment. Then, as he heard a knock at the door he kicked the gun case under the bed and slipped the gun under the mattress of his bed.

"Come in," he called breathlessly.

"Thought you and I'd have a little talk," said the Judge gently as he entered and sat down on a corner of the bed. Something under him seemed surprisingly hard. "What you got your mattress stuffed with... rocks?" he asked. Reaching under the covers he pulled out the gun. "Great Jerushy!" he gasped. "This is a valuable weapon. Where'd you get it?"

"It belongs to... to... Bob Stuart."

"Goin' to hold someone up for a job?"

CONTOUR RIDGES ON PASTURES HOLD RAINFALL ON THE LAND SO THAT IT CAN SOAK INTO THE GROUND AND AID GRASS GROWTH

These photographs show how 4-356 farmers who operated land in the 9 project and 23 CCC camp demonstration areas in Texas are treating their pasture lands to retain moisture and increase and improve grass growth, and thereby increase livestock carrying capacity. The top row of pictures illustrate the practice of contour ridging of pastures to in pound rain fall and hold it on the land so that it can soak into the ground to aid growth of grass. The first picture (upper left) taken on the farm of R O. Mathews, Brownwood shows construction of ridges with an ordinary turning plow on a buffalo, and Texas grama grasses. Note also that the ridges are beginning to settle. The third picture (upper right) taken on the farm of T. W. Oden, Brownwood shows the flattening of the ridges and the complete coverage of the ridges by grass.

150 acre pasture. The second photo (upper center) also taken on the farm of Mr. Mathews, shows cattle grazing between the ridges. Note the luxuriant stand of Rescue, spear-fox tail, Texas filaree,

The lower pictures show how contour ridges during rains, holding the water until it has time to soak into the ground. The first picture (lower left) shows contour furrows on the farm of B. E. Robbins, Dublin, filled with water following an 2.8-inch rain. The principal pasture grass here is buffalo.

The lower center photograph taken on the farm of G. S. Broome, Broome, Texas, in the San Angelo area, shows contour ridges holding water which completely covers the intervals between ridges. These ridges, built in the summer of 1936 successfully held 20 inches of rain which fell in the San Angelo area in September 1936.

The lower right photo was taken on the farm of J. S. Wyrick, Garland, after a 2-inch rain which fell during a three-day period. The ridges were built on an old Bermuda grass pasture. Note the steepness of the slope and the amount of water backed up behind the ridges, covering the intervals between ridges. This moisture gave the grass a new lease on life.

REPRESENTATIVE-ELECT WELDON BURNEY SAYS "THANKS"

I want to express my sincere thanks to those who supported me in the recent election and to those who worked in my behalf, and I have nothing but the kindest feeling toward those who saw fit to vote for my opponent.

I am deeply gratified with the increased vote given me in Coryell County in the second Primary. I contribute this gain to the efforts of my good friends, whose work in my behalf is certainly appreciated.

I will earnestly endeavor to represent the people of the 94th

District in an impartial and efficient manner.

Yours very truly,
WELDON BURNEY

This Week In Oglesby

Leach, Cotton Belt station agent, reports that his station has shipped forty one cars of grain this season.

J. C. Fox attended the State Wide Vocational Agriculture Teachers meeting at College Station. Harry Johnson and wife of Harlington, Rio Grande Valley, were here Saturday and Sunday to visit their mother, Mrs. John Johnson.

Dr. F. C. Green was in town Saturday.

While helping his brother Doud-chop wood J. R. Neagle had the misfortune to receive a blow from the ax on his head, receiving an ugly gash in the scalp.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fisher have returned from an extended trip thru West Texas. They visited McCamey, Pecos, Fort Davis, and saw the Red Bank Dam on the Pecos River, viewed wonderful Park in the Davis Mountains, and met old friends they had not seen for many years.

John Roberts of Houston, was here to attend the Davidson-Martin reunion at Pecan Grove, and to visit his sisters Mrs. Chas. Parrish, Mrs. Walter Thompson and Mrs. R. G. Perkins.

Oscar Bankhead and family were here from Valley Mills, to visit the George McAuleys.

Prof. A. H. Miller has been trying for a long time to move to Oglesby, but so far he has been unable to bargain for a house that suites his requirements.

Old Coon Peppers dropped into our office in the corner of the tool shed, and took time to allow "The ballyhoo, backslapping, bull and banter will cam down a little now since the party has got all the characters they want for the next big show".

Jim Morris is having the old Bill Oglesby house, in west Oglesby renovated and conditioned. Jim and his family expect to move into this house in the near future.

George Leach has finished the summer term at the Texas University and is home with his parents till the fall term opens in that institution.

D. W. Jones was in Gatesville one day.

Little Frank Ramsey Alexander is quite sick at this writing.

Autumn is Here

The cotton gins are humming. The cornshellers are rattling. The smoke from the gin stack floats languidly across town and settles on the green fields. The four-o'clock light is seen in the town cottages for everybody not otherwise employed, is off for the cotton fields each morning. Farmers with trailers hitched to good automobiles loaded with cottonseed, going to some oilmill. Down at the gin farmers waiting, each for his turn to be ginned, are discussing current events. The aromatic smell of burning cotton hulls in the incenerator.

Brown fields, peopled by skeleton corn stalks, are on every side. Tall graceful sunflowers along branches and fencerows turning their golden crown to the racing sun. Butterflies, in many colors, floating gracefully from flower to flower. Autumn hazes softening and blending, the hard line of the distant landscape. The fruition of the year is being garnered. It is Autumn.

Children are talking school for it is September. The school buses will soon be gathering them from the houses by the lane and country roads.

Cotton pickers in descript cars of all makes, are moving into and out of, the country hoping that a better condition may be found somewhere. Fall is the season of hope, and without that blessed illusion to lead us on, existence would be rather drab.

GATESVILLE, TEXAS, FRIDAY, SEPT. 2, 1938

HORNET CLUB FITE TONITE--NEWS-MER. DERBY TODAY

GOOD "CAST" IS UP BY MATCHMAKER LOVEJOY

At Gatesville's "Madison Square Garden" tonight at 8:00 p. m., in the squared circle, a galaxy of fisticufflers will be entangled to the delectation of the hundreds of Coryell county fans,— all 1500 of them.

And they're going to really get their eyes full and if they don't like the decisions, they can cool off in "Cool—o Park Air Con. ditioned by Mother Nature."

And if you're skeptical here's what's on the Menu:

Openers are the two "veterans" Bob and Tom Lasseter, in a still unsettled dispute.

Bobby Melton, a 'County Champ' takes on Vernon Perryman in a bout that is not a "title bout", but about as good.

Jack Williams meets Dick Chandler, in What'll be some hard hitting glove shoving if y'ask us.

Buck Fulcher (unknown) meets Waco's "Dutch" Mills.

Glenn Perryman takes on another Waco boy in his weight.

The "Brown Bomber" Easley meets "Bootblack" Weaver.

Lee Brown, in the grand finale takes on John Wallace, Waco mit artist.

Included also will be a battle royal, and Matchmaker Lovejoy is trying to match two boys each in the 128 and 115 lb classes.

It'll be a gala night, and the proceeds go to the Hornet Club.

"PLYMOUTHANS" LOOK OVER 39 BUS IN "BIG D"

At a "called meeting" of Plymouth dealers from over the state those attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. D. D. McCoy, Clarence Sheperd, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Jones Jr., W. T. Hix of the Western Auto Store accompanied Sheperd.

Not bragging, but these boys interviewed, said "swell car", "keen boat", "best on the market", and all the other expletives. 'Course they sell them.

T. E. DAVIS IS NEW SALESMAN AT HANNA'S

T. E. Davis, formerly of Waco has accepted a position in Joe Hanna's Cash Store and has been here already about a week making friends, and preparing for a big Fall season.

Mr. Davis was formerly with Rush Drygoods Company of Waco and is an all-round experienced man in the merchandising of dry goods.

Shortly after the first, Mr. Davis will move to Gatesville, bringing his wife and three sons.

More than 180 parts used in automobiles, in addition to tires, are manufactured by the rubber industry. Engine mountings, hose, floor and running board covers, and upholstery materials are included.

HERE'S WHO STUDENTS FACE SEPT. 10 AS SCHOOL OPENS

Gatesville Public Schools will open Saturday Sept. the 10th, at 9 o'clock with a general assembly in the gymnasium which will be followed by enrollement. High school students who are entering Gatesville High School for the first time, however, are urged to bring their credits and enroll Sept. 6th, 7th, or 8th in the High school office. Students from other schools in the County must get their credits from the county supt. before they can be enrolled. Classes will begin Monday, Sept. 12th.

Faculty members who will be in the Gatesville system for the first time are Charles B. Breedlove Jr. of Haskell, Sally Coryn Britton of Coryell City, Lois Coleman of Cleburne, and Rebekah Wilcox of McKinney, all of the High School. C. A. Barton of Antelope, Junior High School Faculty, and Elizabeth Bigham of Reisel and Chloe Yongue of Gatesville, Elementary school faculty.

Other faculty members are: High School: Ercell W. Brooks, Supt., Earle Worley, Prin. D. W. Diserens, Ernestine Durham, Linnie Fore, Mamie Sue Halbrook; W. E. Lasseter; Mrs. John Milner; Mrs. John Reesing; Fred G. Schwarz; Lois Scott; Junior High School: E. D. Shelton, Prin.; Louise Hall; Edna Murray; Sidney Pruitt; L. D. Young; Elementary school: Maude Alyce Painter, Head Teacher; Wilhelmina Cayce; Janice Duerer; Lois Grantham; Bess Holmes; Lizzie Lockard; Helen Odum; Aurora Young; Colored School: T. T. Jermany, Principal; Mrs. T. T. Jermany.

POWELL RESIGNS, SEC'TY AGRICULTURAL ASS'N OF COUNTY

Guy Powell, County Agent, has resigned as secretary of the Coryell County Agricultural Conservation Association which has in charge the handling of the governmental AAA Farm Program. He will continue as county agent devoting his time to this work, and the AAA program will be handled by J. B. Roach and the County Committeemen.

This according to information we have, is being done all over the state so that the county Agents will have more time to handle their respective work.

J. B. Roach, Assistant County Agent will still handle along with the County Committeemen, the major part of the work for the AAA.

NO CHANGES ARE IN ELECTION: VOTES CANVASSED

Chairman C. H. McGilvray and members of the Coryell County Democratic Executive Committee met Wednesday morning in the district Court room, and the runoff ballots were carefully canvassed.

According to Mr. McGilvray, there were no material changes in the winners, and E. L. Turner held his own as Commissioner-Elect of Commissioner's Beat 1. He will replace H. E. Preston, who was nosed out by probably one of the smallest majorities in the history of the county,— a mere margin of 4 votes.

No other action was taken by the committeemen.

South America's Columbia

By R. G. Davidson

(Note:—This is the first from R. G. Davidson who recently went to Cucuta, Columbia, South America. He tells to his mother, Mrs. T. M. Davidson of Gatesville about his trip "down under the United States".)

"Left Houston Saturday nite at 9:45 p. m. and go to Miami, Florida 4:00 p. m. Monday. One other fellow, a Mr. Crume a driller, came with me. He is a great big, red-headed, fellow and we had a swell time together.

Called Mr. Hanks (Byran Hanks formerly of Gatesville) as soon as I reached Miami and he called by for me and took me out to dinner at 6:30. While waiting I went in swimming—our hotel was a swanky big place right on the beach, just walked out the back and jumped in the water. Mr. Hanks was very nice and I surely did enjoy being with him.

Tuesday morning we left at 7:30 only four of us on the plane. The plane was huge, having two pilots one radio man, 1 steward and a purser, a crew of five in all. We flew about two hours and landed in Cuba for a short stop.

Then we next landed in the Jamaica Islands at Kingston. It is a beautiful place. We stopped there for weather reports and to pick up 3 more passengers. The weather report was found to be rather rough so the Captain decided we should stay overnight.

Say it was beautiful. The meals were just elaborate. We were called at 4:00 in the morning and told that the weather had cleared so we were up and got away at about 7:30. Nearly all the way we flew at an altitude better than 10,500 feet. Some of the time as high as 12,500. It was very very comfortable, food was served about every two hours, sandwiches, coffee, etc. We arrived in Baranquilla, Columbia, South America at 10:15. We were met there and carried thru the custom offices and then to a hotel. The hotel was beautiful—a big swimming pool in the center of the court. At two o'clock after lunch at the hotel we went out to the airport and arrived here by the company plane at 5 o'clock. (Cucuta, Columbia, S. A.)

The trip was beautiful; this country is either mountains or rivers. The mountains are really high and I believe prettier than Colorado for the vegetation on them.

The dormitory here is called the "Staff House" and is very nice. The food is excellent. All the meals are served in real style, fruit, soup, meats, vegetables, desert coffee, gem, tasse, etc. There is so much to write about I'll just have to scan over this and write more later when I get more settled.

Today, we spent all our time either in the office, or at the Cus. tom House; everytime you go any where here, we have to have our

TOM CARLTON, PIONEER BUSINESS MAN DIES HERE WEDNESDAY

Finished is the life of Tom M. Carlton, which was composed of so many years actively engaged in business in this city; a life which was lived so many yeears prominently in both civic and social affairs. Although Mr. Carlton had been in failing health for several yeears, his death was a sudden sadness to many. He passed away Wednesday evening at his home on Main Street.

Mr. Carlton was the son of Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Carlton, who with their family of seven, founded the little town of Carlton, when they came to this state from Arkansas.

He was part owner and manager of the former popular G. M. Carlton Bros. and Co. Stores which were equally as well known in Hamilton, Walnut Springs, Stephenville, and Iredell, as well as in Gatesville.

Services were conducted Thursday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the First Baptist church by Rev. Spalding of the First Baptist Church and L. W. Seymour of the First Methodist Church. Interment was in the Masonic Cemetery with Scott Funeral Directors in charge.

Surviving Mr. Carlton are his wife two daughters, Mrs. Lenox Ligon of Austin, Mrs. Frank Brock of Corsicana and one son, Tommie Lee, three brothers; J. S. of Dallas; Dr. Ben of Freeport; and J. R. of Walnut Springs.

"FREE PLUG" FOR BANKS, AND THE REST OF US NO HOLIDAY 5TH.

September 5th is really "Labor Day" here—and being 1st Monday, no one could be expected to close, not even the banks. We haven't heard about the post office.

Anyway, here's a little dope on this: "Labor Day is not a legal national holiday! In fact, according to information, there are NO NATIONAL, LEGAL Holiday! This is true because of the fact that Congress has no jurisdiction to proclaim one. In the United States legal holidays are determined by the statues of several states.

So there!

TEMPLE DAILYIANS ARE VISITORS THURSDAY IN GATESVILLE

Harry Blanding, Sports Writer and Bill Durham, Farm Editor of the Temple Daily Telegram were here "on assignments" and called in the News office.

Bill said he was getting the low down on farm, and general items of interest, and Harry was with City Secretary and Matchmaker Eiland Lovejoy, getting a sports writer's angle on the Hornet Club Fight Nite, and other "sporting items".

DR. WALTER M. W. SPLAWN VISITOR HERE THIS WEEK

Dr. Walter M. W. Splawn, at present a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, coming from the Philippine Islands where he has been on business in this capacity passed thru Gatesville this week.

Dr. Splawn, a graduate of Baylor University and formerly President of Texas University is well known in Texas, and has been prominent in national affairs for a number of yeears.

NEWS-MERCHANTS DERBY AT SUNDOWN TODAY: ENTRIES FEW

It comes off at Sundown today! There have been sixteen entries in the News-Merchants Bicycle Safety Derby, which will be held today, at Sundown. Entries will be received until noon today.

Entries to date are: Division I, Girls 6-12: Betty Rutherford, Mer-tie Sue Jones and Emily Ament.

Division II, Girls, 13-17, None.

Division III, Boys, 6-12: Paul J. Ashby, George Hodges Jr. Ayres Anderson Ned Price, Bill Blankenship, Robert Routh, Charles Campbell Jack D. Pruner, Moody Farquhar, Glenn Coskey and Charles Caruth.

Division IV, Boys 13-17: James Bradley.

Division V, All over 40: C. A. Bradley.

Division VI, Boys 17-40, None.

Division VII, Girls, 17-40 None.

There will be ample protection for the race,—as best we can get—but we urge motorists to give away for approximately 10 minutes at Sundown, as the race will not begin until that time, and will be over shortly.

Last yeears entries were 46 and there were 32 starters, and figuring on the same percentage this year, it looks like it won't be a very hotly contested race. However we may have a rush registration by noon today, which will increase the number.

Prizes, briefly are: Choice of accessories, Western Auto Associate Store; in the two 6-12 divisions, Gatesville Dry Goods Co. offers a pair of "Keds" tennis shoes; and Koen, Foster Drug in the same divisions offers for the girls, a $1.00 fountain pen; for the boys, a $1.00 watch.

Probably the most generous offer are the 15 beautiful medals offered by the Cycle Trades of America, Inc. the League of American Wheelmen set, which will be returned if entries are not enough for races in the divisions.

Gatesville Auto Supply, Freeman and Anderson, offer in each division a 'combination' bicycle lock, which insures the old 'bike' will be there when you get back.

Finally, the News offers State Fair of Texas books with three gate admission tickets in each.

All or any of the prizes are generous, and the merchants have been glad to sponsor this race which was so successful last year. There's still time!

Get an entry blank and enter now.

LIONS CARRY PROGRAM TO LIBERTY: GET SWELL FEED

Gatesville Lions are the best when picking a place for a swell feed. We KNOW this time. It was the Liberty Community. We were there last year.

Besides the "feed" (which they brought home) the Lions presented a delightful program including Oran Cathey's Stringsters, Miss Anita Lowrey, who presented two readings, and a trio of "sister singers", including Misses Belva McCoy, Gene Pattillo-Nell Goodall.

A partial list of those who made the trip include: Horace K. Jackson, Floyd Zeigler, Bill Ament, W. E. Lasseter, R. Bates Cross, J. Hurl McClellan, Harry Jones, R. B. Foster, Crawford Scott, Pat Holt, Dawson Cooper, Andrew Kendrick, Coach Earle Worley, Wm. Wiegand, George Painter, Olin Sydnor, Chas Mounce, J. I. Yates, Guy Powell, E. W. Brooks, Luke Walker, Howard Franks and E. A. Shingle.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Fisher of Parris are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Turpin of this city. The Fishers were formerly residents of Gatesville.

Hornet Club Fite Nite, tonight! Also today, there was to be a News-Merchant's Bicycle Safety Derby!

This remains to be seen. There ARE sixteen entries but as to racers, we don't know. We'll know at sundown.

In the softball business, we've been the loser this summer. We haven't seen a game 'til Tuesday night! In fact, the last one we'd seen was at the CCC camp lot B. CCC. (Before CCC camp).

Our phony idea was the class of softball was the same. In fact, it's just like comparing high school baseball with American or National League baseball. It's our loss!

Incidentally it's your loss. If you don't see that fast moving, no argument splendid show put on four or five nites a week, and it's county wide, players and spectators coming from all over the county. Come out like we did, for the wind up!

There has or ought to have been noticeable decrease in soft drinks sweets etc. locally, due to the fact the Hornet's are doing some real work, trying to pick the best

PERFECT SETTING FOR END OF A PERFECT DAY

PICTURE Windows, those generous expanses of gleaming polished plate glass replacing ordinary windows, are enjoying a constantly increasing vogue. Opening up walls for more light and cheer within, they capture an outdoor scene and frame it for a living picture on the wall. Here, for instance, is shown a Picture Window in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gardner, Benton Harbor, Mich. Facing the setting sun and overlooking the picturesque St. Joseph River, such a window provides a perfect setting for the end of a perfect day. And the food, no matter how well prepared, somehow seems to taste better in such stimulating surroundings.

ICE CREAM

FROM 12 TO 14 PER CENT BUTTERFAT

It's smoother, It's Better, It's Delicious. It's what you have been waiting for. Ice Cream that talks for itself. Any flavor, any amount any time. It is served over our tables and counters daily. See for yourself if it isn't as fine. Ice Cream as money can buy. Stop by and try a 5c or 10c dish or take a 15c pint or 25c quart home with you and treat the family. The cheapest and best dessert you can buy. Parties, it is marvelous.

We also have the 10c pints Ice Cream. The same cream exactly that we used to sell for 15c a pint. There is none better for 10c a pint. Made of 10 per cent Butterfat. What is fine about the whole thing, is that our Ice Cream is Factory made but still it is Home Made. We make it here at Meeks Cafe in a Mills $2,500.00 Super Creamed Ice Cream Machine. It is always fresh and will compete with the best of cream anywhere. As the old saying goes, "What Gatesville Makes Makes Gatesville". Try our Curb Service.

COACHES STRESS BLOCKING; HORNET OFFENSE IMPROVES

The Hornet's offense showed much more potency as Coaches Worley and Schwarz began putting their inexperienced proteges thru extended blocking drills during the past week.

While Worley is teaching the backs how to handle the ball, and spending long hours improving their passing and punting line coach Schwarz has been sending the linemen thru the mill, working all afternoon teaching the boys how to take care of themselves in the line, up where the football game is played. His work showed results, as the Hornet plays began clicking with greater smoothness than at anytime this fall, with the blocking looking better than usual. Bruce Weaver, converted from the backfield to guard, has shown up great at that position, and Schwarz, a guard himself during his younger days, is showing him the tricks of the trade. This boy is a great hustler, likes the game and may prove to be the answer to Worley's guard problem.

Joe Reese Robinson and Butcher Schley, two husky tackles, have also profited from Schwarz's patient tutoring. They have learned to break thru on defense, and also to move the opposing guard out of there.

Paul Tyson, veteran coach of the Waco Tigers and generally acclaimed the best high school coach in the southwest, came down and watched the Hornets go thru their paces Monday. He was greatly impressed with the work of Slaughterhouse Morgan, Hornet cent, Morgan has looked consistently good thruout the spring and fall sessions, and promises to more than fill the big boots of C. H. Wallace, all district center last year.

Bill McBride and Butch Post have been holding down the wings with the former showing great improvement in the blocking department, which has been his weakness for the these any years.

The backfield outlook received a terrific jolt Tuesday when Bloody Blankenship one of the four returning lettermen, wrenched his knee in one of the blocking drills. Blankenship will be forced to refrain from any kind of work for a week or two, but if the injured knee responds to treatment he should be ready to go in the Hornets' hoist the '38 curtain again at the tough Killeen eleven September 16.

Jan Jones has taken over the fullback duties in Blankenship's absence. This boy is a great defensive man, but still has alot to learn about blocking.

John Albert Lester, Duncan Kirkpatrick and Jack Jackson round out a capable backfield corps.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Blackburn and Mr. and Mrs. "Bugs" Rutherford are in Galveston for a few days fun, frolic and frivolity.

Mr and Mrs. Tom Cage of Gatesville spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Holman in Waco.

Mrs Luie Campbell is visiting this week with her grandmother and other relatives at Robert Lee. Before returning home she will visit her father in Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Hammock of Dallas were week end guests of his mother, Mrs. W. W. Hammock and his sister, Mrs Frank J. Battle.

GILBREATH AND EAST TEAM BEGIN WORKOUTS

Byron Gilbreath, pride of Gatesville's 1938 football squad began working out with the East team Tuesday at Wichita Falls, site of the East-West Class B football classic to be played Labor Day.

Gilbreath and Sam Baker, Itasca wingman, were the ends who were selected from this district. Carol Woods, president of the Texas Coaches Association, former coach at McGregor and now head coach at Cameron is tutoring the East team. That squad is going thru two a day workouts.

Gilbreath was the only athlete from Gatesville selected for that signal honor. He is a great pass receiver, and may be one of the offensive threats of the East eleven.

COCA-COLA BOTTLERS AND MERCHANTS IN FINALS

The Coca-Cola Bottlers and the surprising Merchant team advanced into the finals of the City League soft ball play-off the first game of which was played last night. The Highway team, which was defeated by the Merchants Wednesday night 10-6 in the deciding contest of their three game series, and it may be that the contest will have to be replayed.

The Bottlers after losing to the Firemen 11-6 Monday night, came back to defeat the smokeaters twice 14 to 4 and 10 to 3 to earn themselves place in the finals. The Merchants won Monday night, were defeated Tuesday night and then won the protested contest from the Highway Wednesday night 10 to 6.

—Try home merchants first.
—Watch the signal lights.

Miss Wanda Bates is visiting in King this week with her grandparents.

Fishermen Tuesday were: Raymond Meeks, Albert Yielding, Jack Pate, and Raymond Bullock who did their fishing at Renfro Dam.

Zack (Red) Fore leaves this week for Jacksonville, where he will enter Lon Morris College.

"Sonny" Hair leaves the sixth, for Sam Houston State Teachers College at Huntsville. He will train for the coming football season.

HARD-BITTEN AVIATORS ARE LOVE RIVALS IN "SKY GIANT"

Showing at the REGAL theatre Saturday night at 7:30, Sunday and Monday. Break-down in Alaskan Wilderness Resolves Rivalry between Richard Dix and Chester Morris over Joan Fontaine.

Weaving an exciting story around the training and lives and loves of the men who guide transport planes thru the sky, RKO Radio's "Sky Giant" brings Richard Dix, Chester Morris and Joan Fontaine in the starring roles.

In a big aviation school headed by a stern ex-army officer, a noted transport pilot and the old colonel's son clash. A triangular romance between the pilot, the young student and a society girl leads to the film's absorbing climax.

An ambitious attempt to map a new air route to Europe by way of Alaska and Siberia is carried out by the pilot, the student and a third flier. A crackup in the Alaskan wilderness and the efforts of the three aviators to make their way to the coast and safety, leads to the film's stirring denouement, solves not only the question of survival but settles the romantic problem.

The aviation school background lends much realism to the film, since the work of the student flyer in learning navigation, plane design motor testing and maintenance and other phases of aeronautics in addition to the actual flying instructions is revealed.

- Watch your speed.
- Keep your eyes on the road.

-DAVIDSON'S LETTER

pass port changed. This afternoon I took a nap and then went and ate a big chicken supper, everything even to ice cream. Now I'm full and think I'll just sit out in the patio 'til bed time.

This is a big place and most of the men are from Texas and so very friendly. We have been treated as a brother.

There is so much to write, I can't say it all. I do like it and will write often and all about it. I'm not doing so well with speaking Spanish, but I have a native interpreter.

Tomorrow, we leave here at 6 a. m. by train for Petrolia, but you are to send my mail here and it is brought out there everyday. This is the only place we get our mail in this station.

One of the fellow came in and asked me to go driving, so I do want to see the city. It is a big place and very beautiful.

You don't have to turn a hand here, there are so many servants. Things here are very reasonable to such as prices of clothing. A tailor was sent over to make my work clothes and they will be ready day after tomorrow and made to measure to fit just like the suit I am wearing.

The people here are so friendly and really so very nice. I know I will be crazy about it here. There are about 30 single men living here in this "Staff House" and it is large enough for twice that many. Most of them have a room to themselves. Most of the buildings is tile.

Must close and go for a ride, now. Just give me time and I'll get it all written about. I'm enjoying it so much I can hardly sit still long enough to write.
