This Is the Time of Year to Be Out Enjoy- ing YOURSELF

"In this vernal season of the year, when the air is calm and pleasant, it were an injury against Nature not to go out and see her riches, and partake in her bountiful rejoicing with both heaven and earth."

—Milton

An Invitation for FALL

To make Gatesville your shopping Center! Where your interests are our interests!

FALL

For centuries, Agriculture has been agreed upon three precepts applicable to all. (1) That nothing must be done too late—that our work and enjoyment be timed to bear us the best fruit (2) That everything be done at its proper season—that our plans for fall presage the needs of winter. (3) That opportunities lost can never be regained—that the beauties and charm of fall, the thrill and the color be absorbed so that the future is made brighter with memories of the past. To a new season, then! A season of leaves in high color, of bittersweet and crackling logs—a season for joyous living!

It Isn't Saved Until It's Safe

Work niles up during cotton picking time and the inclination is to let other things go until the staple is safely ginned. It is impossible to plant all feed crops so that they mature and may be harvested at their best either before or after cotton picking time and the best that can be done is to hire extra labor or else let some crops deteriorate in the field.

There is a great deal of difference in the feeding value of all hay and forage crops, depending on whether they are cut and cured at their best, or allowed to become over-ripe and woody. Weather damage in the shock is also much greater than in the stack or in the barn, and it is like throwing away part of the crop after it is made to let it stand too long, either before or after harvesting. In the case of grain sorghums birds often destroy more than enough to pay the cost of getting it into stack or barn.

Haying and curing dry bundle feed cannot be done in rainy weather, especially if it is warm enough to encourage mildew, but moisture helps rather than hinders the making of ensilage so long as the ground is not too muddy to permit harvesting. Troy Fenner, an Erath county farmer, last year got caught with a crop of forage ready for harvest, and saved in fine shape by using an abandoned cistern as silo. His cows doubled their milk production when he began feeding the ensilage and this year he had a large trench silo ready to fill when the crop was ready.

It has cost a great deal of labor and several months time to produce the fine feed crop that the Southwest has this year, but it is not saved until it is safe—in the mow, the stack, or the silo. It is worth making an extra effort to see that none of it is wasted by standing in the field too long. Every bushel of grain and every ton of forage is potentially a few pounds of meat, milk or other livestock product, and every pound of those products is equivalent to money in the purse.

Government crop estimates indicate the largest corn and grain sorghum crop the Southwest has ever had, and for the same may be said of hay, for which the season has been unusually favorable in most sections, promising later cuttings than normal. Corn 182,937,000 bushels; grain sorghums 86,086,000 bushels; hay (except alfalfa) 4,385,000 tons; alfalfa 1,124,000 tons. Let's save it all in this fat year—next year may be a lean one.

There is still time to sow winter cover crops for grazing to help protect the soil from washing by winter rains, and to harvest next spring or turn under for soil improvement. There is a wide choice of crops for the purpose, including wheat, oats, rye, vetch, bur clover, Italian rye grass, rescue and winter peas, and there is not a farm in the Southwest that cannot benefit by using one or the other. All livestock and poultry need green feed in winter, no matter how much dry feed they have.

Most of these crops like a firm seedbed and can therefore be drilled in clean cotton ground without other preparation. If a drill is not available it will require more seed to insure a stand, but any implement that will cover the seed properly will serve the purpose.

DEMONSTRATION AGENTS OFFICE

The Spotless Tablecloth

Just as foods have their season, so do food stains on table cloths and napkins.

Early September is an especially trying season for the homemaker who has managed to squeeze wash-day in between the back-to-school rush and the now-or-never end of the canning season—only to find daubs of peach stain and splatterings of ginger ale-grape juice punch on her best linen tablecloth.

Foods now causing the most trouble as a result of accidents at table are fresh fruits, especially peaches, pears, and plums; milkshakes and soft drinks including ginger ale and the whole array of popular carbonated beverages, grape juice, iced tea, coffee, and chocolate; ice cream and frozen desserts of all kinds; and salad oil and salad dressings.

Here are some hints for removing certain stains.

Peach, Pear, and Plum stains. These stain are tricky because of the high tannin content of these fruits. Tannin seems to develop color where no color was and to darken and change if hot, soapy water or a hot iron strikes it. Heat and alkali change the colorless tannin to a rusty brown substance which clings tenaciously to the fabric. Once thoroughly set it is almost impossible to eradicate the rusty brown of a tannin stain.

Soak the peach, pear or plum stain in warm glycerin and if some of the stain still remains, follow the schoolboy motto of "try again" with a second application of glycerin. If traces still persist, use sodium perborate bleach. Dissolve two or three teaspoons of the bleach in a cup of water and soak the stained spot in the solution. With sodium perborate it's not in the least dangerous to allow plenty of time for the brown to dissolve. Rinse again, before laundering in plenty of hot water and soapsuds.

Grape Juice and Fresh Berry stains. Stretch the stained area over a bowl and hold in place with a rubber band. Pour boiling water onto the spot from a height of three or four feet. If any of the stain remains, try rubbing the spot and pouring on boiling water alternately. If there are still traces, use sodium perborate or Javalle water.

Tea and Coffee stain, if very fresh and without cream, may be removed like berry stains. This method should be applied only while the stain is still moist.

Coffee or tea with cream. Sponge with carbon tetrachloride. Dry. (Carbon "tet" dries very quickly) Sponge lightly with cold water. Then pour boiling water from a height as for grape and berry stains.

Chocolate Milkshakes, Cocoa, chocolate ice cream. Milk contains albumin which is dissolved by cool water and set by heat. In addition both chocolate an ice cream contain fat. First sponge with carbon tetrachloride. Dry, and apply a little cold water. Then use a generous dose of soapsuds over the stained area, before laundering.

French Salad Dressing. Soak up as much oil as possible with white talcum, powder, cornstarch, or corn meal. It may be helpful to loosen the stain with carbon tetrachloride or some other fat solvent. For very small grease spots on a very large, otherwise spotless tablecloths, try applying a past made of carbon tetrachloride and corn starch or some other absorbent. Allow past to stand on the grease spot several hours or overnight. The carbon "tet" will dissolve the fat and the cornstarch will soak it up. When the paste has dried the cornstarch can be brushed off easily and the spot has disappeared as if by magic. Better still, laundering of this tablecloth can be postponed until it has seen more service—or until some cooler day.

For very large oil stain, such as an upset jug or French dressing, souse the stained area in carbon tetrachloride before laundering. Rub plenty of soapsuds into the spot before it goes into the tub.

For mayonnaise and cooked salad dressings containing egg, first sponge out the protein or albumin of the egg in cold water. Dry. Sponge with carbon tetrachloride. Dry, and sponge again with cold water.

Egg. Scrape off as much as possible and rub between the hands to loosen and shaken out more particles. Sponge with cold water before laundering. For fried egg, it may be necessary to use carbon tetrachloride also.

Here are a few "don'ts":
Don't delay action. Start now. See the job thru.

Don't press tablecloths that may have food stains. Remove spots before laundering.

Don't start with strong concentrated bleach.

Don't tackle egg, milk, gravy, meat or other albumin stains with hot water.

Don't forget to use glycerin to remove tannin.

CHAMLEE'S GARAGE

No. 1 TAXPAYERS

The No. 1 taxpayers to the state of Texas are the oil industry and its customers. One dollar of every $2.00 of taxes in the state is paid by oil; during 1937, the total of gasoline taxes alone was nearly $48,000,000. This sum is the aggregate of taxes you and other motorists pay every time you buy gasoline; if you're an average motorist the tax on you, personally, is about $35.00 per year.

Originally devised to enable those who use the highways to pay for their construction, gasoline taxes proved to be such an easy and prolific source of governmental income that they have been diverted in many states to uses far removed from highway building; in Texas, 50% of the gasoline tax is allocated to highways; 25% to schools; 25% to the retirement of county road bonds. All of the 1¢ per gallon Federal tax (a total of nearly $12,000,000 was paid by Texans in 1937) is used for the general expenses of the central government.

Since 1920, the cost of a gallon of gasoline has decreased approximately 50%. This has been made possible by technical advances in producing, refining and transporting oil which increased quality and lowered prices. The net saving to the motorist, however, has been all but washed away in the rising flood of taxes.

When you buy gasoline, remember that the gasoline is cheap—only the tax is high!

THE VIRGINIA JUDGE

NOVELIZATION OF THE PARAMOUNT PICTURE OF THE SAME NAME

SYNOPSIS

Judge Calhoun Davis of the circuit court in the sleepy little town of Tidewater, Virginia is hated by his stepson Jim. Jim is in love with Mary Lee, who in turn, prefers Bob Stuart. Jim gets himself into a jam when he borrows a car from a neighbor and wrecks it. To avoid arrest and to pay the garage bill, Jim sells Bob a shotgun which he found on the rear seat of the car. Later, Bob finds out from Mary that the gun didn't belong to Jim. When Bob meets Jim at a carnival that night, they begin to fight. Jim grabs a gun from a nearby shooting gallery and shoots Bob. He disappears. Meanwhile the Judge finds out about the shooting. He goes home to find Jim hiding in the attic. He decides to turn him over to the authorities.

CHAPTER X

"I figure," the Judge told Captain Smiley the next morning, as he sat

Dr. Trent told them. "As it is, it's just a flesh wound. Bob should be out of here in a couple of days."

Bob reached out and took Mary Lee's hand. Then he turned to his mother. "You like Mary Lee, don't you?" he asked.

"I certainly do." Mrs. Stuart placed her arm around the girl.

"Then you'd better start rehearsing that good old speech: 'Bless you, my children.'"

Back on the bench in the little Tidewater courthouse, Judge Davis once more was engaged in settling the innumerable disputes which came before him each day. The first case was that of Granby Tucker.

"Granby," the Judge said to a

Plato Jones escorted Spasm Johnson and Varius Trigg to the bar.

"What's the charge?" asked Davis.

"Fighting and disturbing the peace," answered the Chief.

"He was doin' the fightin', Judge. an' 'disturbin' my peace," explained Varius, a little black fellow in a cast-off checkered suit.

"What have you got to say?" The Judge looked at Spasm, a mournful-eyed, bullet-headed negro. Spasm smiled ingratiatingly.

"I didn't hit him with anything, Judge," he answered. "He seen me comin' an' turned an' run into a buildin'."

"But look at the shape he's in," Davis pointed to Varius, whose across from the weatherbeaten old sea dog in the cabin of the latter's ship, "that a year of sailor discipline will make a man of Jim. So I sentenced him legal-like and I'm turning him over to you. How about it?"

"Judge, you did me a great favor once and I'm not a man that forgets," answered the captain. "I'll take him."

"You're simply carrying out the orders of a Virginia court. I've sentenced him and I'm paroling him in your custody."

"He won't get no special treatment and he'll be gone a year... a hard year," hesitated the mariner.

"He can take it. I know there's good stuff in him," answered the other. "Well, I'd better get going." The Judge rose and started for the cabin door. Then he halted and came back. "Will you give Jim this an'... an' tell him it's from me?" he asked as he unhooked his old-fashioned gold watch from its chain and handed it to the captain.

In the hospital Mrs. Stuart and Mary Lee at last were admitted to Bob's room. The boy was pale and weak, but smiling.

"Another inch either way and it would have been a different story," shambling negro in scarecrow raiment who stood before him. "You are charged with the larceny of one side of bacon from the premises of John Finch, merchant. How about it?"

"Well, suh, Mistah Judge, it was thisaway. I was goin' home yestiddy evenin' with some dandelion greens I pook fo' supper an' when I pass Mistuh Finches sto' I see hangin' right outside a passel o' bacon. Seems like Mistuh Finch got mo' than he needs so I thought I'd take a little tiny piece home...."

"But you took a fifteen pound slab!"

"I was goin' to cut off just a couple slices an' bring the res' back."

"Why didn't you stop when the officer chased you?"

"Wus he chasin' me? Well, I'll be et fo' a cat-fish! I thought he was after a feller on ahead, so I tried to catch up wid dat feller an' tell him de law wanted him."

"You were mighty anxious, Granby. It took the officer three blocks to catch up with you."

"Yassuh, Jedge, I spec I does walk kinda fast. But yo' see, Jedge, I always do things fast."

"Thirty days... and see how fast you can do that. Next case!"

clothes were torn and whose face was one big bruise.

"Yessuh," beamed Spasm. "That's cause he missed the doorway by four feet."

"Thirty days hath September, April, June and November, as well as you and you," sighed the Judge. "Take 'em away."

As Plato placed a hand on the arms of the prisoners, Spasm looked up pleadingly.

"Jedge, please, what time is it?" he asked.

The Judge automatically reached for his watch and pulled out an empty chain. He remembered with a smile that he had given the timepiece to Jim.

"What difference does it make to you?" he asked Spasm, as he frowned to hide his emotion.

As the prisoners were led away a court attendant stepped up and handed the Judge a radiogram. He slit the envelope and spread out the message.

"THANKS, DAD," it read. And it was signed "Jim."

The Judge looked up. His mouth was trembling and his eyes were misty. Then, arousing himself, he brought the gavel down with a crash. "Court's adjourned," he announced.

LIGHT CAR OWNERS INCREASING PURCHASING POWER

Purchasing power of 3,409 light car owners in Coryell County has been increased during the past 12 years by $115,565.10 according to Chamlee Garage, local Goodyear dealer.

These figures are based on a nation-wide study just completed by P. W. Litchfield, president of The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio.

"In the United States today there are 15,260,266 individuals who may be identified as a distinct group thru their ownership of light automobiles in the Ford, Plymouth and Chevrolet class," Mr. Litchfield said. "They comprise about 64 per cent of the nation's car owners and, taken with their families, account for almost one-half the nation's total population. Improvements in product and method made by the tire industry during the past 12 years have brought to each individual in this group today a saving of $33.90 in his annual tire bill."

For proof of his statement, Mr. Litchfield cites the fact that tires used on light cars today give an average of 26,500 miles of service, as compared with 14,200 miles delivered by light cars tires in 1926; that a tire and tube now costs $19.35 as compared with $23.95 in 1926 that today's tire gives $44.78 worth of mileage on the basis of 1926 values, thus reducing the consumer's tire bill by $25.43 per tire. As the average tire is in service three years, saving for one year is $8.47, an on four tires for one year is $33.90.

"With $33.90 released to him for other purposes, he may pay a months rent for an average urban home, buy an extra average suit of men's clothes or overcoat, pay an average family grocery bill for one month, or buy enough gas and oil for a 2,500-mile auto trip," the Goodyear executive continued. "Thus can the amount of the saving be translated into definite, tangible improvement in the living standards of the individual."

"The extra spending money accruing to this entire group of cars owners reaches the staggering sum of $517,000,000 a year. Such a sum baffles comprehension. Stated in more understandable terms this sum a round million dollars, is an avenue, almost 500 miles long lined on each side with newly-built home in the $5,000 class, each with 52 feet of street frontage; 100,000 of these homes, or modern living quarters for all of the people in a city the size of Columbus, Ohio; the total amount expended by our national government during the first 66 years of its existence; the cost of 10 or more super-dreadnaughts for our national defense."

"The story of the tire industry's contribution to public well-being is but one chapter in the record of service rendered by American industries. In other lines of industry where technological progress has been excised, other vast contributions have been made."

"Under the inspiration of a free competitive system, modern business steadily improves the products which it sells to the public and, in one way or another, constantly decreases the cost of those products to the public. Nowhere in the world is there a people so consistently well served. Nowhere in the world is there such a widespread creation and sharing of new wealth."

"Goodyear, quite naturally, is proud of its part in this record of accomplishment," he continued.

I asked a retired army officer, "Most young men are of the opinion that wars are fought to profit makers of war supplies. Isn't it cause for alarm, when, as one expresses himself, 'If I'm drafted, they'll have to catch me first?'"

HWY. COMMISSION IN RECEPTIVE MOOD FOR N-S DELEGATION

At the meeting of the N-S Delegation in Austin yesterday before the State Highway Commission, the mood taken by the highway was entirely favorable, although no definite promise was given on any allotment of funds, or other favorable action.

Mr. P. P. Jones of the Ft. Worth Chamber of Commerce acted as spokesman for the combined delegations and very well presented the "case" of this particular highway, stressing the need of this Central Texas section for a "relief" highway to help carry the freight and livestock one way, and manufactured goods the other. The main objective for a beginning was a bridge across the Brazos near Grandbury, and getting designation on where it would run "to and from."

Among the delegates were ones from Dallas, Fort Worth, Grandbury, Cleburne, Clifton, Turnersville, Gatesville, Florence, Copperas Cove and other points.

Those composing the Gatesville delegation were: Harmon White, A. T. Humes, Chas. Stockburger, L. D. Meeks, H. K. Jackson, Jeff Bates, John Hodges, E. W. Jones Jr., Johnny Bradford, Floyd Zeigler, J. M. Price, W. C. Guggolz, Wm. Wiegand, Mr. and Mrs. Mat Jones, G. P. Schaub, J. H. Brown, Frank Farquhar, Edgar Jones, Edgar Franks, E. G. Berwinkle, Kirk Bennett, C. H. McGilvray, Oad Painter, Paul Pollard, Earl Huddleston, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Burney, J. Milton Price, Ed McMordie, Dawson Cooper, Mayo Holt, Pat Holt, B. M. Wollard, J. E. Marriott, Dr. M. W. Lowrey, Mrs. Willis M. Jones, M. H. Shepherd, Byron Leaird Jr., Harry Johnson, Lan Weaver, J. K. Necessary, Pleas Walker, Will Summers, and Ed Elms.

MR. NICKOLS HERE TO CLASS COTTON

Mr. Nickols, government licensing, grader and stapler is in this city for the purpose of classing all cotton. The Chamber of Commerce and the ginners engaged him, and his office will be in the Compton Building, the old Coryell County News office which is next to Coryell Motor Co.

All the cotton will be bought according to the class given it by Mr. Nickols.

SIX-MAN FOOTBALL IS DISTRICT HERE IN CORYELL

According to Supt. Virgil Jones, Coryell county constitutes a district in the Class D Football of the interscholastic league of Texas, and the play-off in the county will constitute District Championship for this district.

It is not known yet, whether it will be a round robin affair, or some other kind of play-off for championship of this district, but the winners, however it is figured out will be the champions of the district. Teams in the league here are: Turnersville, Jonesboro, Ireland, Flat and Pearl. The opening games are October 7.

Next year, according to Mr. Jones there will probably be a districting of the state, and other teams are likely to be included in this district besides those in it now. Class D football looms as quite as much a monster as A, B and C.

TURNERSVILLE TURNS OUT CONSIDERABLE TURNOUT FOR COLLEGE

Knowing the advantage of a college education evidently, Turnersville people are sending their sons and daughters to various colleges and universities over the south, according to information handed us by Supt. Virgil Jones of the Turnersville school system.

PLAINVIEW SCHOOL TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 26: SHOW 22ND

Plainview school will swing wide on it's 1938-39 year on September 26, according to A. E. Whisenhunt, head of that school system.

On the 22nd, the 4-H Club will entertain at the school with cake and lemonade, and a program. All patrons are urged to attend, and the public is cordially invited.

Miss Dorothe Dillashaw of Waco was a week end visitor in Gatesville. Miss Dillashaw is attending Baylor University in Waco.

"GRYPHEA COPPERI" ROCK NAMED FOR THE COVE

In one of the most interesting collection of rocks and geological specimens we've seen are in Byron Leaird Sr's collection which he maintains in the balcony of the store. This particular rock in the collection is found around Copperas Cove only, and for that reason, has been named by geologists and others from the University of Texas as the "Gryphea Copperi".

It, according to Mr. Leaird, is a branch of the oyster family, is extinct, and is a petrified or fossilized specimen. It is among the thousands in Mr. Leaird's collection.

COST TO CITY IS ONLY $3,000 OF THIS AMOUNT

Friday, was a double red letter day in the annals of Gatesville High School. The Hornets downed the Killeen Kangaroos, 47-6, in the first place and in the second—

At a meeting of the Lion Club members, Chamber of Commerce officials, City Aldermen, and the Gatesville School Board, the combined okeh of all concerned was given to a $20,000 NYA program in the local school, which will include the following improvements. From reputable, it is understood $3,000 will be the only outlay the city has in getting this $20,000 improvement.

Here is what's up:

1. Landscaping and underground drainage of the entire school yard.
2. Manual Training Shop building, 3 rooms, immediately west of the Junior Hi.
3. Completion of the basement, or 1st floor of the Junior Hi.
4. Flooring of the Elementary School.
5. Securing NYA house which will house 25 boys who will alternate with 25 others. The period of this exchange will be 15 days.

CLAY McCLELLAN, WIDELY KNOWN MAN, FORMERLY OF GATESVILLE, BURIED SUN.

Clay McClellan, Waco attorney, and formerly, a member of the Gatesville Bar Association, was buried in the Masonic Cemetery in Gatesville, Sunday after funeral services were held in the First Methodist church, with the Revs. Umphrey Lee, and Leslie W. Seymour officiating.

He was a son of the late J. R. McClellan of Gatesville long time District Judge here, with whom he was a law partner for a number of years. Education was received at Gatesville high school, and from 1909 to 1912 he was in the University of Texas, where he received his degree, afterward practicing law in Gateville until 1917.

He then became secretary to Tom Connally, then congressman. When war broke out, he entered Leon Springs officer's training camp and won a first lieutenant's commission in the artillery.

He was assigned to battery E, 130th field artillery, 35th division, serving overseas from May, 1918 to April 1919, his service included the Vosages, St Mihiel, Argonne and Verdun sectors. He was recommended for the congressional medal of honor and the DSC, reaching the rank of acting captain.

After the war, he resumed his law practice in Gatesville until 1923, when joined the Waco firm of Williams, Williams, McClellan & Lincoln.

As an attorney, his legal victories included, for the City of Waco its fight over the Lake Waco pipeline, which resulted in judgement of $237,000 for the city for alleged defective pipe. This litigation, long drawn out as it was, ended in the United States supreme court last winter.

Mr. McClellan was active in civic and social life of the community in which he lived, being a member of the Karem temple, James A. Edmond post of the American Legion, the WOW, First Methodist church, American Bar Association, the Waco and Texas Bar Associations.

Surviving Relatives

Surviving relatives of Mr. McClellan are his widow, the former Merle Mears, a son, Tom, both of Waco; two brothers, Dan and Jim each. The house will have a man and woman supervisor, and the boys will not be enrolled in school and will be boys from the country. Twenty five other boys, who will live at home, will be taken from town.

These boys, under the supervision and two assistants, will work on the improvements and help in erecting the shop, as well as learning how to operate the machinery after it is installed. Also, as we understand it, a part of the machinery used in the construction of the improvements, will be loaned or rented to the school after the completion of the job.

A last improvement will be baths and toilets at the new athletic field.

A Mr. Brisbane, District NYA administrator conferred with the bodies in session, and a committee composed of Dan McClellan and Supt. Erzell W. Brooks have been working on the improvements for some time, and Shingle and Seacrest have drawn the perspective and plans.

Actual time for construction to begin, and selection of the boys for the NYA house, have not been announced as yet.

Gatesville, two sisters, Mrs. Lewis Holmes of Gatesville and Mrs. W. H. Sadler of Washington, D. C. and his mother, Mrs. J. R. McClellan of Gatesville.

Active pall bearers were A. R. Wilson, Peeler Williams, Lud Lincoln, O. F. Jones of Waco, Bert Bloom of Austin, Judge R. B. Cross and L. K. Thompson of Gatsville, and T. P. Pridie of Houston.

Honorary pall bearers were officers and directors of the Amicable Life Insurance Co.; members of the Waco and McLennan County bar; members of the Coryell county bar.

Brief services were held at his home in Waco Saturday a 2:30 p. m. before the body was conveyed here for the local services.

Connally Lauds McClellan
Senator Tom Connally, enroute to California to attend the American Legion Convention in Los Angeles wired the following telegram to Mrs. McClellan:

"After I had started for California I received sad intelligence of the death of your beloved husband and my very dear friend. But for absence from the state I should attend the funeral both at Waco and Gatesville. You and your son and other members of the family have my deep and sincere sympathy in your bitter bereavement. Clay McClellan had a brilliant and useful career and his death brings to me deep personal grief. When I first went to Washington in 1917 he was my first secretary. He was not an applicant but I tendered him the position and he accepted. When the United States (Continued on last page)

It was 47-6. A good start! However, was it too, easy. We'll see, when the Hornets straighten out on Temple B club Friday, coming.

Belton only took Temple B by a narrow margin of 14 to 6. This makes it look a shade tough for the Hornets. McClung for Temple started on offense. Hairston looked up on line backing. Temple B's scored on a pass.

Pass defense of the Hornets was about the major weakness of the Hornets in their premier, but we imagine Coach Worley will do something about this. Of course, there are other knots and rough places to be worn off, but that will be attended to. Plenty of fight and spirit was shown in the first "get-together".

Here's your next schedule: TCU, Sept. 24, Centenary, Oct. 1, Arkansas, Oct. 7, Temple, Philadelphia, Oct. 15, Aggies, Bryan; Oct. 22, Marquette, Milwaukee; Oct. 29, Baylor; Nov. 5, Tulsa, Tulsa; Nov. 12, Texas; Nov. 19, Rice, Houston; Nov. 26, SMU, Dallas

PEP RALLY HELD IN GYM FRIDAY, SEPT. 16

At 12:45 o'clock students from both the Junior High and the Senior High school assembled in the gymnasium for the first of their pep rallies. Under the leadership of Miss Ernestine Durham, sponsor of the Pep Squad, the group started the rally by giving several yells which were followed with music by the Gatesville Hi school band.

Miss Leah Dale Franks, ex-student of the school, was present and lead the group in a yell, Raby Alford also made a speech in which he spoke about the loyalty of the students to the football team.

The president of the Hornet club Bob Arnold, then introduced the other members of the Hornet Club who were present.

By request of the football team, Jim Martin spoke to them. Coach Worley introduced the football squad after which Coach Schwarz talked to them.

At that time the group gave several yells which were lead by the capable cheer leaders, Misses Flo Gene Martin, Martha Ann Powell and Bettye Burdette, who were introduced, along with Miss Frances Brown, banner carrier, at the beginning of the rally.

To conclude the first successful pep rally of the season, the entire group, including the students, teachers, and the visitors, stood and sang the Alma Mater.

TOUCH-DOWN TACTICS

by
Bernard F. "Bunny" Oakes
Head Football Coach

This is the concluding article of a series of outstanding diagram plays by leading college coaches from Grantland Rice's new Cities Service Football Guide.

THE above play works well with our passing attack. It is a fake pass and run. The No. 1 back starts slowly to the right with the ball raised as if to throw a forward pass. The No. 4 back starts out as if to receive a pass, but turns in and blocks the strong side line-backer. The left end cuts off his defensive tackle and blocks the safety down field. The right end has an advantageous block on the defensive guard and drives him in as far as possible to widen the hole.

The defensive tackle and end are drawn across trying to rush the passer. The blocking back, No. 3, and fullback, No. 2, delay their blocks slightly and time them well. The No. 1 back drives through the hole inside of tackle led by both guards. The backs must time their blocks perfectly.

DEMONSTRATION AGENTS OFFICE

Choose Orchard Sites Now

This month and next is a good time to check the soil where orchards are to be set this winter.

Do not plant on soil that is infested with nematode, poorly drained or infested with root rot.

If you are in a balck land area and cotton is growing on the land you can see at a glance if the soil is infected with root rot. In sandy areas where nematode abound tap rooted plants growing there will indicate the presence of nematode. Pull up some of these plants, and see if there are small bead-like enlargements on the roots. Where nematode are found, chose another location for the orchard.

If the land has sufficient slope to warrant terracing lay off a terrace for each tree row. The trees should be planted later in the fall on the terraces.

It's about time to get the old orchard plowed and put in shape for planting a winter cover crop in October.

Hairy vetch is one of the best winter legumes for East Texas. It should be planted at the rate of 15 lbs. per acre. Good soil drainage is essential to the successful growth of vetch. A vetch crop turn under is equal to 400 lbs. per acre of nitrate of soda, and a nitrogenous fertilizer is the most important plant food element to stimulate tree growth.

In Central West Texas. Oats, what or rye may be planted. Where rainfall is limited, the green manure crop should be turned under early in the spring to avoid taking moisture from the trees.

Guy Powell, County Agent, recommends seed inoculation by placing the seeds in a container with a mixture of nitrogen and water. Stir until all the seeds have a sooty appearance.

NOTICE

Rev. W. B. Keener will preach the first Friday night, Saturday night, Sunday morning and Sunday night in October at the Mountain community church.

Hornets Sting Weak Kangaroos In Opener 47 to 6

"THREE RABBITS" ARE INTRODUCED TO FANS

Led in an offense by Co-Capt. John F. Post Jr. and Bill Morgan, Gatsville High Hornets out ran an apparently heavier Killeen eleven Friday evening to a tune of 47 to 6.

Paramount in th play, were Jackson and Foster, two midgets, who with speed to spare, behind their slower interference, featured in the game, behind splendid blocking, and a charging forwall. Robinson as full looked good. Kirkpatrick, with competition, would probably show better, as well as Lester, who Quartered well. In the line it was Post and McBride, who seemingly ended the end worries of Coach Earl Worley, and in the line, were Blankenship, Schley, Edwards and the stellar center, Morgan. McDonald too, let'em know he was there. Jones identified himself with his toe and defense Perryman and Weaver took plenty tackles.

The game, was a set-up, and Coach Buckley's Kangaroo's did remarkably well for their experience only two being lettermen. Arnold, Fergus, Berry, Bishop Levy, and Boydston carried the brunt of their attack, and the Katter boys, subs, were worries.

At the flip of the coin, Co-Capt. John F. Post Jr., called, won, and selected to defend the north goal. The Kangaroo captain, choose to receive, and the 1938 football season in Coryell county was open.

Lester kicked, (Fish) Culberson holding, ball went to Griffin who returned 10 yards to the 30. Arnold lost 2 on first play thru center. Fergus passed to Boydston, who failed to catch. Fergus punts 30 to 40 yd. line, is received by Kirk (Kirkpatrick and returned to the 37. Robinson gains 1-2 thru C. Killeen off side, ball on 35 yd. line. Culberson fails at line. Lester passes 20 yds. over S. to Kirk ball on 30 Dual pass Lester to Fish ends with Fish making TD. Robinson converts thru line. Gv. 7, Kil. 0.

Morgan, Fish holding, punts to 15, fumbled momentarily by Fergus. Fergus, on 1st play fumbles, recovered by Post. Pass, by Lester intercepted by Fergus, who was tackled behind line for touchback.

Ball placed on 20 yd line, 1st and 10 for Killeen. Fergus passed, blocked by Morgan. Griffin to Arnold, spin, fails at line. Fergus punts out on Killeen's 44, 24 yd punt.

Kirk over rt. G makes 5. Lester over left side makes 2 yds Robinson mks 10, fumbles., Levy for Killeen recovering.

Subs: Foster and Jackson for Lester and Fish. Killeen penalized 15 for clipping. Subs. Edwards for Schley. Fergus back, Arnold takes ball thru C. for 1. Fergus punts 35 out of bounds.

Long pass, incomplete. Kirk to Lester over L side of line makes 1. Foster makes two around rt. end. Kirk passes to Foster 25 yds., who goes to 11- yd. line. Kirk makes 1 thru line. Foster makes 1 thru line. Jackson runs over interference for 2 yds. Kirk makes 3 over rt. end. Ball goes over to Killeen on downs. Fergus punts 35 to Jackson who lozes behind splendid blocking for TD. A grand 35 yd. run, with plenty of speed and univrsal jointing. Robinson converts over rt end.

CLAY McCLELLAN—

entered the World war he was restless to go and volunteered without waiting for the draft. He came out of the training camp with a commission as lieutenant and served with distinction in France with the 35th division. Upon returning home he again took up the practice of law, in which he attained eminence. He afterwards removed to Waco, where greater opportunities for his talents and industry awaited him. He passed away in the very flower of a splendid legal career. He was in youth and manhood of the finest character.

and ethics. He was a man of great native ability, which had been cultivated and developed by study and industry. He was a gallant soldier and a courageous citizen. He was a lawyer of great power. He was devoted son and affectionate husband and an indulgent father. I know that he was a loyal friend. My affection for him was almost parental. God bless his memory and keep his loved ones.
