BURNT CORK ARTISTS IN "DIXIE BLACKBIRD" MINSTRELS 22ND.

"It's gymnasium Tuesday nite." One of those dark and gloomy days, but a bright one on our calendar—that is, if you're fortunate enough to hold a ticket to the Dixie Blackbird Minstrel, which will be flung on a gaping world hereabouts on that even, under the sponsorship of the Gatesville Lions Club, the cast—"in person."

Divided into "spasms" (we are reliably told it'll be that, because each act will be a spasm of laughter) the first is a "juvenile" with Ralph Bailey as the capable Interlocutor, who throws his "leads" at End Men John G. Paxton, Billie Joe Coskrey, Doyle Johnson and Gene Ritchie.

Picking up the slack in the second "period" Rev. Ed. Bayless is the "front" for mimicking mirthful cracks from such celebrated wisecracks as "Echo" Lasseter, "Siatica" Ament, "Epsom" Worley and "Useless" Jackson.

If you're able, the third feature the domestic untranquility of a trio of "batteries" personified, behind burnt cory by Mrs. R. E. Pancake, J. Hurl McClellan and Guy Powell.

Ira Swindall, colored pastor, will speak his piece, the old time doctrine among the colored folk, and when the "rhythm" arrives, those high steppers, Mrs. Pleas Walker and Howard Franks will probably, or probably not, do the Susie Q. Who knows?

Tear everything off your calendar, except this big show on Tuesday evening. You can't possibly miss it.

Miss Louise Engebard of Biloxi, Miss., has the "big stick" and is whipping the unruly ones into form. This is her profession, she knows her—minstrelsy. She's from the Wayne P. Sewell production company.

Admission is a minor part—the doctor bills for pains in your side from laughing will be the main expense.

FIRE WEDNESDAY WAS GRASS FIRE NEAR THE EARL HEATH HOME

It was another GRASS fire! Back of Earl Heath's. Wednesday at 5 o'clock. No damage except to grass. Taxpayers yap for run. WHY not a grass burning? Somebody'll get burnt!

IMPLEMENT COMPANIES PLAY CHECKERS; MOVE

Two of Gatesville's implement fraternity have moved!

Coryell County Tractor Company, John C. Linder, manager, has moved to the building opposite the new post office on East Leon street.

The Gatesville Implement Company, formerly in the location now occupied by the first company's location, has purchased the old John Brown building, next to the ice plant and have moved in this building. This company is owned and operated by Burney & McCorkle.

Farm people particularly will be glad to note these moves, since it will save them considerable time, if they should go to the wrong places.

PETTY-JONES DUO LEAD PEARL AGAINST T'VILLE

Turnersville vs. Pearl today, at Pearl, which will present Jack Petty, scorer of 114 points in the 6-man league for first place.

Turnersville Buffaloes, an improving team, may uncork new antics to give the top flight leaders trouble.

A. T. Hedgpath, coach of the Pearl aggregation, says this will be the last conference game until the Championship, which will be played under the lights in the Mule Bowl on Wednesday, November 23, between Pearl and Ireland.

HUMBLE AGAIN BRINGS FANS PLAY BY PLAY; TWO GAMES

Saturday, Humble Oil & Refining Company again brings to Texas, and other fans, broadcasts of two important games—the Baylor-SMU, which begins at 2:20, and the TCU-Rice, which also starts at this time, using the TQN, and the first game using the other network.

Humble, thruout the season has brought repeated broadcasts of Southwest Conference games, to those of us who could not attend the games "in the flesh."

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

THIS story was told to me by what appeared from the looks of his clothes to be an Englishman, and the story led me to believe that I was in the clutches of the British Empire.

The then little Prince of Wales was dining with his Grandfather King Edward. There was a distinguished guest present besides the little Prince. The King was at that particular moment partaking of some Lettuce Salad, and at the same time listening to the conversation of one of the guests.

"Grandpap," said the Prince. "You must not speak until you are spoken to, David," said the kind King Edward.

"Grandpap," again interrupted the Prince.

"Be quiet, my boy, or I shall have to banish you from the table." As you know, Kings had the banishing power in those days. The Guest kept right on talking and the King listening and occasionally taking a bite of the Lettuce Salad. When the story the guest was telling was finished the kindly King turned to the little lovely Prince and said, "Now, David, what is it?"

"It don't matter now, Grandpap there was a worm on your Salad."

COUNTY RED CROSS QUOTA IS SET AT $200.00; JOINERS SLOW

With a quota for the county set at $200.00 for the American Red Cross drive, the reports which are from just a few members of the committees working on this drive, gives an approximate return of only $20.00, one-tenth.

So far, from committees working in the county nothing has been reported, and the $20.00 has come from inside the city limits.

Seems like this drive needs a little additional boost, and, as it is for a worthy cause in a county of 20,000 people, $200.00 ought to be a breeze.

At 9:00 a. m. this morning, your money will be found in the New Guaranty Bank & Trust Company in the building which has just been refurnished.

President C. C. Sadler and his staff will be glad for you to come in and see the new bank.

A description is almost impossible, but you must see the new addition to Gatesville's better banking institutions.

Incidentally, the banks have some of those new nickels, you've been hearing and reading about.

WACO ARTIST APPEAR AT LION CLUB LUNCHEON WEDNESDAY

Miss Martha Fowlkes-Haun, psychologist and expression teacher, and traveler, was the most interesting speaker at the regular meeting of the Lions Club Wednesday noon.

As an added attraction, a number of the Lions brought their "ladies" to the affair which, of course, was informal.

Also, a member of Miss Fowlkes-Haun's staff gave a reading which was very much enjoyed by those present.

ATTENTION BAPTISTS AND BAPTIST CHURCHES IN CORYELL COUNTY

Dear Fellow Workers:

The name "Buckner Orphans' Home" is a household word with Baptists throughout all Texas. It is needless to say to you that this is one of the most worthy of our institutions. It does a work worthy of any group of people anywhere.

On Monday the 21st, when the Leon River Baptist Association meets with the First Baptist Church in Gatesville, people from all over the county will come and bring gifts of clothing, food and money for the home. They will also bring other articles of food, such as chickens, eggs, turkeys, etc, and even feed for stock etc. to be used in the barns of the Home. We urge you to bring whatever you can and as much as you can for this worthy cause.

All clothing and food will be brought to the First Baptist Church. All grains and feeds and chickens will be brought to Mr. Ed. Melbern's place of business, the Marvel Mill.

Should the weather be bad and you should find it impossible to come in on the day mentioned, you can bring your offerings later. Mr. Melbern will receive goods all through the week. So you will have ample opportunity to bring in whatever you have.

The Program of the Workers Conference will be found elsewhere in this paper. We are urging that every church in the Association have a good representation at this meeting. It will be the last meeting of the year.

The next one will be in January of 1939. You should be here to hear the announcements about our Associational organization and its progress in our Cooperative work. Let us see all of you Monday morning.

Respectfully,
C. M. Spalding, Pastor,
First Baptist Church, Gatesville.

You want to watch both McBroom and Ward, along with some of the "comer-ups" from the Jr. Hi., because they'll push someone for a place on the Hornet club next year.

WEST JUNIOR, WACO, IS VICTOR OVER JUNIOR HORNETS, 27-13

Spectacular touchdowns of 80 and 60 yards in the last few minutes of play, gave West Junior Hi Yellow Jackets, Waco, on the long end of the county, 27-13 over Gatesville Jr. High Hornets Wednesday afternoon at Munny Stadium.

Captain Compton broke thru left tackle, going 80 yards to cinch the contest, and Dollens intercepted a Hornet pass and went the 60 for pay dirt.

Gatesville's tallies came on a great run of 35 yards by McBroom and the other on a short pass that was batted into the hands of Post, Hornet end.

McBroom and Ward were stand outs for the Hornets, who were shut out for three quarters, and pushed over their counters in a sensational drive in that quarter.

Little Red Wagon Saves Wear and Tear on Artist

A little red wagon takes the place of a "brown and yellow basket," so far as Daphne Parker, brunette senior at Texas State College for Women, is concerned, and she's not planning to lose it. Used for carrying the weighty supplies which have loaded down many a student in commercial art, the wagon serves its purpose admirably, according to Daphne, who has bestowed upon it the title "Cyclone." The wagon trails her all over the campus, with steps presenting the only real difficulty, but the little artist from Temple seems to have surmounted that obstacle.

trated today in foreign lands are incompatible with continued world peace. This statement is of course in reference to the Nazi persecution of the Jews and to the unmerciful bombing by the Japanese of helpless Chinese civilian population. When forces of evil are certain as these are at work on the face of the earth they are certain, sooner or later, to be met by powerful forces with opposing sentiments and when such a meeting occurs there results, all too frequently, a war.

The Jewish people are, wherever you find them, progressive, intelligent and capable as a general rule. This fact has resulted in the acquisition of large amounts of property and capital by these people in whatever adopted land they may be residing. This is the situation that exists in Germany, even as it does here in the United States. Jewish people have acquired large fortunes and built up big business concerns. The Nazi regime in Germany has recognized this fact and has taken the opportunity to seize vast amounts of money and to do irreparable damage to Jewish business under the guise of race persecution. It is true that the Nazi hate the Jew but it is equally true that they are jealous of his business ability and are covetous of his riches. In that last sentence one can find the Nazi government guilty of violation of at least 3 of our beloved ten commandments and whether it is governments or individuals the justice of the commandments goes unquestioned in this country.

The Jewish lad who killed a Nazi embassy officer a few days ago was guilty of a crime but it is not justice for the entire race of people to which he belongs to be driven from their homes and their businesses; to have their property taken by the government and to be refused the rights of attendance of public functions and to have many other idiotic reprisals made against them. Suppose each time a person of German descent committed a crime in this country, that we made every one of his nationality responsible—there is absolutely no end to the absurdity of such a method. The more one hears of these acts of Nazidom the more one wonders if it were not true about the way the German army committed atrocities against the women and children of Belgium at the outset of their invasion early in the last war? Since war propaganda has vanished it was generally accepted that these stories were untrue, but a group capable of the things we hear of today could have been equally capable of those Belgian outrages.

And so one goes on and on trying to reason out the things that happen across the sea, perhaps our information is inaccurate, perhaps our news of what goes on does not properly give both sides of the situation. The fact remains, however, that we have nothing to go on except what we hear and read. With this as a basis let's try to find a conclusion to rest on—here is one:

It is inconceivable that the mass of people living in Germany could believe that what their nation is doing is right. It is much more pleasant to believe that they are being led or rather forced, by their present leaders, to carry out acts that their national conscience would not permit if the people were allowed to think for themselves. It is better to think that the German people are unwitting accomplices in a series of hideous crimes against humanity not because they are bad at heart, but because they are being misled. Let's hope that they discover their mistake and put their own house in order so that they will not be again beaten to their knees by others who can still tell right from wrong.

HARD WINTER AHEAD

Scientists predict this from studies of long range weather forecasting

so give heating equipment extra attention

Cold weather predictions warn us to shake the moth balls from our long underwear and give extra attention to heating equipment.

Employees of your gas company worked all year in preparing for your comfort this winter. They recognize their responsibility to you in providing dependable service under every possible condition. By checking the working efficiency of your own appliances you complete this field work in making your gas service the helpful, comforting, economical servant you desire.

● This predicted hard winter is late in getting started. With October one of the warmest on record, you've saved enough in gas service charges to make substantial payment on improved gas heating equipment. See the new circulating room heaters and prepare for the treacherous months ahead.

Coryell County News

County Agent Patterson of McLennan County were here Monday to discuss the farm program. A large body of interested farmers was present. All the ramifications of the detail controlling the 1939 wheat crop, were made clear to the wheat growers.

A game conservation movement, in harmony with the State Game Commission, or whatever it is, is creating great interest among the farmers of this section. The first day that enquiries as to who would participate was made, 22 farmers were contacted. Of the 22, twenty-one signed a paper to signify their keen interest in this laudable movement. After three hours' work nearly 7,000 acres were signed to enter the cooperative movement at the proper time. There is in prospect nearly 5,000 more acres that it is thought will join this movement. Many farmers are yet to be seen.

CORYELL COUNTY FARMS PICTURED IN "BROWN" SECTION, STAR-TEL.

Sunday's Fort Worth Star-Telegram pictures a block of eighteen farms near Gatesville in which the Soil Conservation Service has done work. In another of the views, the form of Dr. C. R. Bailey is named and the following caption is under that picture:

"Cotton Protected.—This farmer goes about the task of cultivating his cotton planted to clean-tilled intervals between strip crops of oats, secure in the knowledge that the strips will check the velocity of rainfall run-off, filter out silt and thereby protect his crop. The picture was made on the farm of C. R. Bailey near Gatesville."

Under the picture of the eighteen farms, it has this to say: "Every Acre Utilized" Here is a block of 18 farms near Gatesville. Each acre has been treated in accordance with its needs and capabilities to control erosion and insure an economic return to the farmer. As far as the eye can see, rows are stretched across the slopes on the contour. Strip crops of grain on the contour terraces planted to grain divide the field intervals planted to clean-tilled crops. In the center may be seen a fenced-off terrace outlet channel. This serves the dual purpose of providing a drainage for adjoining fields and grazing area. This is one example of how every acre on the farm is utilized to the best advantage."

Look in the News office window, we've got these pictures there, if you didn't see them. They're really a credit to Coryell, Gatesville, the officials, and the producers.

MOTION PICTURES PRESENT HOME MISSION WORK AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Recognizing visual education as a vital way in which to present a subject, the congregation of the Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning will see the work this Church is doing in the home mission fields as the workers and those among whom they work pass before them on the screen.

This is a service which the Home Mission Committee, with offices in Atlanta, Georgia, has recently added. The pictures to be shown have been taken within the past year in various parts of the southern United States, and depict the work being done by the Presbyterian Church in the mountains, among the foreign speaking peoples, and other places. A running script tells interesting details relative to the pictures. Being presented in place of a regular sermon, these motion pictures will themselves be a sermon, presented in a most effective way, and dealing with the home mission work of the Church.

Sunday School of the Presbyterian Church begins at 9:45, with classes for boys and girls, young adults, and the regular adult class. Morning worship, at which time the motion pictures will be shown, begins at 11:00 o'clock.

At the vesper hour, five o'clock, the pastor will preach a Thanksgiving sermon, entitled "The First Century Thanksgiving." This will be another of the series of sermons from the book of Acts, in which an intensive study is being made this month.

Teachers take on their traditional rivals, the East Texas Lions, in a Lone classic at Commerce. The Eagles, who have been spotty in their performance this season, again last Friday warned the defending champions, the Lions, of their potential power when they are clicking, by blasting the Austin College Kangaroos 32-2 at Sherman. All four backs shown above participated in the touchdown marches as did Sisco's little passer, Johnny Riola, of Temple.

HUEY BROTHERS LEARN TO SAVE TOP SOIL

Nov. 14, 1938—"When we began farming this land twenty years ago, we were planting all the way up the slope and producing more than a half bale of cotton per acre." This statement was made last week by the Huey Brothers, Herbert and Ernest, who operate 400 acres of land in the L. E. Burt and Blanche Powell farms 2 miles east of town. They pointed out that continued cultivation of the land during the past twenty years, without providing some effective means of erosion control, has greatly reduced the number of tillable acres and the fertility of the remaining acres. "Each year," they continued, "we were forced to 'turn out' additional acres in the steeper parts of the fields because the top soil was washing away, leaving the upper slopes too poor to produce a crop. In late years this washing has caused the lower parts of the fields to become seepy and too wet for cultivation also."

The Huey brothers were among the first in their community to realize that something must be done to conserve the fertility of their lands.

PULLMAN porters have got to be pretty smart to make any kind of a success with their work. They have all kinds of people to deal with, and they got to be polite, no matter what happens.

There was a guy that was too intoxicated to get into his berth alone, and the porter was helping him. The guy hit his eye against a corner of the upper berth, and the porter went and got some ice to put on it.

"But it'll turn black anyhow, and how'll I explain to my wife?" says the guy.

"Never worry, sah; jest tell her it's a berth-mark," says the porter. (American News Feature)

Need for a 1939 Farm Program in Coryell County

By N. FOOTE, Chairman, County Committee

ARTICLE III

Now let us get down to real brass tacks and see what is the need for a farm program in Coryell County for 1939. Before we open our mouth and fill the air with words, cuss the administration, cuss the Farm Program and make cute remarks, suppose we get the truth of the matter and know what we are talking about. If you have not studied the causes of the present farm situation, what the effects are upon this county, what the present Farm Program is trying to do, you are not capable of discussing the matter with any degree of common sense. Some of the remarks made about the Farm Program are as absurd as one made about the first iron plow, which was that the rust from the plow would kill the soil. Also farmers objected to the trains by saying that the smoke would kill the crops. Silly you say, but if you will just put in a little time in studying what the present Program includes you will see that some of the statements made about the present farm situation are just as silly. We need to lay aside our personal feelings and opinions and review the crop situation in Coryell County for the past four years and see what is the real truth about the farm problem for the United States as a whole.

First, the farmers of this county need a program because it is insurance against such disastrous crop failures as occurred in 1935, 1936, and 1937, in many sections of the county and practically all over the county this year. We all well remember the terrible drought of 1925. A Farm Program such as we now have would have permitted many farmers and business men to continue in business. Surely everyone will agree that a crop insurance program would have been a great help to this county in 1925. We certainly cannot be sure that we will make good crops in 1939, therefore the farmers and business men should back a program that would give the farmers some money in case of crop failures. Farming, which is the greatest business in the United States, is about the only business that does not have insurance in some form or another for protection. It certainly seems strange that farmers will insure farm buildings, yet object to crop insurance which is the very foundation and support of the farm buildings and the well being of farm families. There are instances in Coryell County where the benefit payments have been the only means of keeping home owners and tenants from foreclosure. Without these benefits many farmers could not have secured credit to carry them through these hard years, and to make a crop for 1939. Thousands of dollars would never have been collected. The business men and financial interests of the county should examine the amounts paid on obligations from benefit payments in arriving at their decisions on the matter. The financial welfare of almost every business man in Coryell County depends upon a reasonable farm income; therefore it certainly seems that the business interests would back a program which is so beneficial to them. At least those who are so bitterly opposed could lay aside hearsay information and personal prejudice a sufficient time to study the matter so as to become fully informed as to what they really are talking about. Certainly no one will doubt but what the $590,000 which will be received in this county is very much needed and the business men will realize their share of this money as it passes around. Consider the acute distress the people of this county would have been in this year if they had not had insurance in the form of the Farm Program for the past four years, particularly in 1938.

Second, a Farm Program permits the farmers of this county to diversify. We all know that it is not a good policy to put all our eggs in one basket; likewise, it is not good farming judgment to depend entirely upon one crop. Any farmer depending entirely upon one crop will eventually go broke. Nor is it wise to depend entirely upon crops alone. Every farmer in Coryell County needs some kind of livestock. The Farm Program helps the farmer to have more than one crop and to have some livestock. It is seldom that all crops and livestock both fail or that the prices of all products from a diversified farm are low at the same time. In many cases this year the more acres of cotton a man planted, the further he was in debt because the insects so damaged his crop that he did not make enough money to pay his expenses; therefore, for such individual the more cotton acreage he had the worse off he was. The present Farm Program permits and helps diversification of crops and livestock; therefore, we should support the program in order to have a more even income and to avoid the evils of a one-crop system.

Third, Coryell County needs a Farm Program for 1939 to help control farm surpluses. There are about 13 million bales of cotton in the present carryover, when the normal is only about 5 or 6 million bales. Without a Farm Program for 1939 it is very probable that the farmers of Coryell County would be faced with very low prices for cotton and other products and would receive no other money. You may do your own guessing as to what price you get if there is no control for 1939 and the total production is 18 million bales, which is less than the 1937 production on a voluntary program. It certainly seems nothing but good sound business judgment to keep the present Farm Program with its control and thereby insure the farmers of this county some money for the year 1939, and also assist him in getting a better price for his products which he will have to sell. It has been said that the AAA has not helped the farm prices for 1938, but did you ever stop to consider what the prices would have been without a program? If you believe that they would have been better, for what reason do you think so? And on what true information do you base your reasons?

Fourth, the present Farm Program permits the growing of feed crops for home use; therefore, the farmers of this county have a golden opportunity to feed their livestock from the farm and not buy feed. Crops from the neutral acres could be used to carry the workstock much of the time and, therefore, release more acres of depleting crops for sale. Crops from the neutral acres can be used for other livestock, thereby increasing the farm income. Some object to the kinds of crops that must be grown upon the neutral acres, granted that they are not exactly what we like, but nevertheless, they can be used very profitably if a farmer will make an effort to do so.

For the year 1939 the home garden is a part of the neutral acres; therefore, the farmers of Coryell County have a wonderful and golden opportunity to grow their living at home. It certainly seems that advantages should be taken of this fact and everyone should put up enough food supplies from the garden to reduce the grocery bill and thereby save that much money for something else. Few keep an accurate account of how much money is spent for groceries, therefore, do not know how money could be really saved by putting up food out of the garden. A saving on feed for the stock and for the family would make a great difference for every farm family in Coryell County.

Fifth, the present Farm Program helps the farmers of Coryell County to build up the soil of their farms. Surely everyone realizes that the land does not produce as well as it did when it was first put into cultivation. By taking advantage of the opportunity as offered in the Farm Program the farms of Coryell County can be made to produce more. The money

DESPITE the "feud," Fields gave the precocious infant some of his best parts. He did something in "The Old Fashioned Way" that no other actor on the screen could have done without arousing protest.

Fields, head of a struggling vaudeville troupe—a troupe whose troubles were strangely reminiscent of Fields' own early difficulties—landed in a small town and took up residence in a boarding house. Jan Duggan played a widow with Baby LeRoy as her infant son. LeRoy proceeded to drop Fields' watch in the molasses, hit him in the eye with cream pie and in other ways annoy the old master. Finally Fields catches the youngster alone. After a cautious look around to make sure he isn't observed, he gives the infant a severe kick, landing him flat on his face on the floor.

It was one of the funniest scenes in the picture and audiences throughout the length immediately and was distinctly on the mend after that time. With his mind busy, his recovery was rapid. He has no particular plans for the future. He hopes to go right on making comedies as long as he is able. If it ever happens that he has to quit acting, he plans to write. He wants to write comedies for the screen, and maybe some day he'll sit down by himself, or maybe with his friend Jim Tully and knock out his own life story. It ought to be a best seller.

When Eddie Sutherland called the final "Cut" on "Poppy" and the picture went to the editing department, Fields departed in haste for a nearby hot springs. From there he planned to go to Arizona, in his magnificent trailer, and live in the desert for a few weeks in his beloved sunlight. It never can get too hot for Fields.

But he won't be idle. He'll be hard at work on a new story that he hopes to start again before long. And the studio is just as anxious to have him start another one. Fields is one of the biggest box office attractions in Hollywood, ranking far ahead of many feminine charmers and handsome male stars. Recently a newspaper conducted a popularity poll in one of the Mid-Western states. Claudette Colbert was the most popular woman, and Fields—by a very large majority—the favorite male.

And he is just as popular in Hollywood among the picture colony as he is all over the country. No one comedian commands the universal respect of every other screen funny man that Fields receives. The late Will Rogers never missed one of Fields' pictures. Once, being out of town, he failed to see a Fields release. He easily could have gotten the film by calling Paramount but apparently he wanted to see it with an audience.

But probably the greatest story of all concerns an important executive, Fields, a telephone call and the ever faithful Rod. The executive is the kind no one says "no" to.

It was a warm afternoon and Fields was snatching a few moments sleep. The phone rang and Rod answered. An important executive was calling—let's say Brown. He had to speak to Fields and convinced Rod that it would be all right to awaken the comedian.

Somewhat timidly he shook Bill's shoulder.

"Eh? Eh?" said Bill sleepily. "Whassa matter?"

"Mr. Brown wants to talk to you on the phone."

"Which Mr. Brown?" muttered Fields.

"I don't know."

"Find out." Rod did. He returned. Fields was already asleep again. Rod shook him.

"Hub?" said Fields.

"It's Mr. John Brown."

"Oh—him," sleepily. "Whasshe want?"

"I don't know," Rod admitted.

"Go find out."

Once more Rod talked to Brown and came back to find Fields asleep. For the third time he woke him up.

"He wants to know if you'll make a picture for him—an important picture."

"Hub?"

"Mr. Brown—he wants you to make a picture for him," said Rod, naming a production that later was a sensation.

"Oh," moaned Fields. "Give him an evasive answer—tell him to go to hell!"

And Mr. Fields promptly went back to sleep.

OFF THE DOLE, ON THE PAYROLL

Last week we discussed the folly of keeping livestock and poultry "on the dole" — just enough feed to keep them alive. Everyone will agree that they don't pay until they are on the payroll, which means placing them on a producing ration. Thinking of the farm as a factory turning raw materials into commercially finished products, the livestock may be considered both as machines and as labor. As machines they transform materials into new forms; as labor they do part of the work for themselves.

As machines they must have all the raw material for which they have the capacity, as labor they must work regularly at the job, if they are to pay a manufacturing profit to the owner. It is the owner's job to see that the raw material is supplied as needed, in the proper combinations, in productive quantities, and at regular hours so that there will be no idle time for the machines and laborers.

If it takes twenty-five pounds of feed daily to keep a cow giving a gallon of milk, she must have more feed to produce two gallons, and still more for three gallons. Authorities estimate that twenty five-pound hens can get along on seven pounds of digestible nutrients a day, but it will require nine pounds for the same twenty hens in full laying. Since no feed is totally digestible this means that allowance must be made for the indigestible waste materials in the feed, which varies widely in different feeding materials. Production for sale, whether of eggs or milk, comes from the surplus of feed above a living ration.

The substance of this theme is to take the animals and fowls off the dole and put them on the payroll. The quicker the feed is turned into a saleable product the better the chances of profits—always with the reservation that the ration is probably balanced for the purpose it is intended, and that it shall be supplied at the rate at which it will be most efficiently utilized.

It is a common saying that "a fat hen won't lay," but it is certain that a poor one can't lay. The "fat hen" theory is putting the cart before the horse—the hen gets fat because she isn't laying, and therefore turns her food into fat instead of into eggs. This may be her own fault (lack of laying capacity) but it is just as likely to be because the feed she gets is better adapted to fattening than to egg production.

Now is a good time to start the light weight turkeys on full feed for the Christmas market. Ross M. Sherwood, Chief of the Poultry Husbandry Division, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, quotes a man who has handled a great many turkeys as saying that "my records show that the profit in turkey raising is almost in direct proportion to the size of the birds."

In other words it costs about the same to raise a small framed turkey to the finishing period as a large one, and the latter has a larger capacity for putting on edible meat. Since a pound of turkey is practically always worth more than the several pounds of feed required to make it, the bird that will use the most feed in the finishing period is the best market for the feed.

Whatever the size of the skeleton, it is only the fat turkey which will bring the top market price.

FARM PROGRAM—

paid by the Farm Program for soil building can be used by the farmer to improve his place. There are many practices for the individual to choose from. Surely one can be found that will fit every circumstance in this county. Apparently, terracing is one of the great needs of this county, and by a systematic program from year to year a farmer could terrace his entire farm. Few realize the vast amount of good soil that is leaving the farms of this county. It does seem foolish not to take advantage of those things which will do so much good for the individual farms of this county. The present Farm Program has not been in operation one year. It is by far the broadest program ever given the farmers of this county and the United States. It is a real effort to help the farmers. It has had the deep and earnest thought of some of the best minds in this nation. Agricultural industry is certainly sick. If you do not think so, look at your bank account. The farm situation is like a fever in mankind, it cannot be cured at once. It will take time and certainly more than one year. Before the present program is discarded it certainly seems that a careful consideration should be given to where the farmers of Coryell County would be without a program. Before the present program is traded off for any of the substitutes now being offered, we should find out and be sure that we are getting something better than what we have. This matter is of most vital interest to every individual in Coryell County and should receive careful thought and study. It certainly seems a good plan to try the present program long enough to see how it will really work and to work out the unsatisfactory points from time to time.

Think it over.

- #1 He saved a trip to town for a tractor part
