LIONS' ANTICS AMUSE MINSTREL ATTENDERS TUESDAY EVENING

Despite the cold of Tuesday evening a nice crowd turned out for the Dixie Blackbird Minstrel which was presented by and under the auspices of the Gatesville Lions Club, under the direction of Miss Louise Engbarth, with Miss Helen Odum as the accompanist.

Ralph Bailey as "Interurban" introduced the Junvenile act with Tambo (Billie Joe Coskrey), Bozo (Gene Ritchie), Bones, (John G. Paxton), Gumbo, (Carol Zeigler) and the Pages (Suzanne Sadler and Pauline Martin.)

Act II followed with Rev. E. R. Bayless as "Electrocutor" (Echo), W. E. Lessester, (Siatica) Bill Ament, (Epsom) Earle Worley, (Useless) Horace Jackson furnishing the "color, comedy and cut-up" and the "songsters" being Troy Jones, E. D. Shelton, Curtis Rogers, George Painter, Jess Yates D. W. Diserens, Lee Colwick and Joe B. Walker.

J. Hurl McClellan as Clemson starred in the third division entitled "Dark Triangle" with Alexander Butler, dusty lawyer (Guy Powell) and a "tall yallar" played by Elizabeth Pancake.

The "bang" act of the entire evening was Brother Bevo, alias Ira Swindall, Clemasea, Blanche Walker, and Yancey, Howard Franks, Clemasea's "crap-shooting" spouse, who busted in an otherwise peaceful church service to start a war by the marriage route.

Between-the-acts were songs by a selected group of high school girls, and a duo-act by Mrs. Pleas Walker and Mrs. Cleburne McCarver.

R. D. Foster, as spokesman for the Gatesville Lions Club extended a welcome on behalf of the Lions Club.

PEARL-IRELAND BATTLE POSTPONED: PLAYED HERE, MON. 28TH

Due to the cold, and an agreement between the coaches and heads of the two schools, the 6-Man Championship Football game scheduled for the Mule Bowl for Wednesday night was postponed until Monday, night, November 28 at 8 p. m.

These two teams will battle it out Monday night of next week, for the championship of this district which comprises all of Coryell county and includes the teams in this district Pearl, Ireland, Flat, and Turnersville.

Another probable reason that the game was postponed was due to the fact that many of the teachers of the county attended the Texas State Teacher's Association in Dallas.

If you did not figure in an accident over the week end you still have something to be thankful for.

FARMERS VOTE ON QUOTA DEC. 10; NATION-WIDE VOTE THEN

On December 10, farmers of Coryell county, along with the farmers from all over the United States will vote on marketing quotas for the year 1939.

Schedules of voting places will be mailed to every producer listed in the AAA office.

The vote of the country will show whether the farmers are favorable to or against the present set-up of farm assistance, and will determine in a large measure what action will be taken by Congress and the agriculture administration in handling the benefits for the farmers of the nation.

Farmers are urged to consider the question from every angle and then on the 10th, let it be known how they stand on the question.

POAGE MEETS WITH THE C OF C DIRECTORS: FSA MAN ADDED

In order to handle with quicker dispatch, the mass of work thru the FSA office, a new man will be placed in the local office according to directors of the Chamber of Commerce who met with Congressman W. R. Poage here Friday.

Complaints had been made that much of the business of the office was delayed due to the shortage of the force, and for this reason, the other man was added.

FAIR ASSOCIATION VOTES TO SELL FAIR GROUNDS

At a meeting of the Gatesville Fair Association here Tuesday morning in a local bank, it was voted by the stockholders to sell the ground, now occupied by the CCC camp.

Twenty-five members were present, with more than enough proxies to complete the will of the stockholders. No price was set on the property.

On May 11, 1937 the planet Mercury appeared to touch the rim of the sun, and astronomers were able to confirm their beliefs that the tiny planet is entirely without atmosphere.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a Scotchman by the name of MacAndrew that was a catcher on the Aberdeen baseball team. He was going to get married, and he says to all of his friends, "Yes, aye, we're going to have a big wedding. I hope you come to the station to see us off — and it's a good old custom to throw shoes at the happy pair, ye ken. Not necessarily old shoes, though."

He asked the bride to tell all her friends to come and throw shoes at them, too. So when the shower of shoes come, at the station, it was the biggest ever. And Catcher MacAndrew caught every one on the fly. He used up the first day of the wedding journey trying them on.

SANTA CLAUS APPEARS IN DUAL ROLE: AT LEAIRD'S FRL. PAINTER'S SAT.

Santa Claus will hit town for two calls this week end. First on the list will be at Leaird's Department Store at 2 p. m. Friday, the day after Thanksgiving, when Leaird's Toyland will be open, and the Mamas and Papas will go up and play with the pretties.

Saturday morning at 9 a. m. at Painter's, Toy Town will be open there, and Mama and Papa will have another chance to watch the "purties" and wish that they could shed a few years, if not tears at the antics their awfsprings go thru.

Anyway, it's, the above, is, just a reminder that Christmas is "just around the corner" and a whole lot closer, than that now world famous "depression" corner was.

All honor to Gatesville Hornets.

A battle,—and what a battle—was the game played in Gatesville's Mule Bowl, Turkey Day, when the Gatesville High School Hornets held the highly touted McGregor Bulldogs to a close margin of 14-6, and allowed the Bulldogs a clear title to the District 29-B.

Kittrell and Janes crossed into Pay territory for the Bulldogs, and a pass, Jackson to McDonald accounted for the tally for the Hornets.

Other scores which are of interest are: Temple 7, Waco 6. Texas 7, A & M 6

In a setting never more perfect, nearly 4,000 saw the battle in the Mule Bowl, and Coach Worley's Hornets glorified themselves in defeat, as much, or more than did the Bulldogs in victory.

Stars for the Hornet were, Post and McDonald at ends, who are both, going to be hard to keep off All-District. Line play of Schley, Blankenship and Edwards was superlative, with Perryman showing well. Morgan was in practically every play. In the backfield, Jones toe, took the Hornets out of trouble time after time. Weaver, with his blocking and running was a powerhouse. Now the two 'heavies' of the backfield, Jackson and Foster, sparkplugged every play, and proved themselves defensive threats, often saving markers.

Luminaries on the McGregor team were Pedigo, Cook, Bradshaw, and of course, Kittrell, who was the "main stem" of the McGregor attack.

The game was practically devoid of penalties, only one being assessed during the entire 60 minutes, a 15 yard penalty against McGregor for holding.

But let's get on with the game, play by play.

Play by Play

Hornets defend south goal, McGregor kicked. Who won the toss, we didn't know from the press box Janes holds, Boren kicks to Morgan, who partially fumbles but Jackson recovered.

Jackson loses 3 on first play around L side. Ball on 26. Foster hits C for 3. Jones punts to 45 where it is taken by Kittrell who returns to 42 yd. line, by Morgan and Foster.

Kittrell passes long to Bass, incomplete. Wheat for Bass. Bradshaw left end run, around L side for 2 yd. loss. Janes hits right side for 1 yd. 4th down. Kittrell back, punts out on 7 yd. line. 32 yds.

Foster is piled for 2 yd. loss by Pedigo, Time out for Hornets. Jack on right end run is stopped by Janes for no gain. Jones punts to Kittrell on 40, temporarily stopped, but out runs tacklers behind good interference goes over standing up. Kittrell carries ball around L for extra point. Hornets 0, McGregor 7.

Hornets receive, ball going to Jackson returns from goal line to 20 by fast running on left side Jackson to Foster picks up 4 yds. over right side. Jack on left side behind good blocking, picks up 5 yds. Jones hits C for ½ but fails to make first down. Jones punts from 30 to 50 to Kittrell, stopped by Post and Morgan.

1st D. on 50 yd line. Spread formation. Kittrell is thrown for 4 yard loss by Post.

Kittrell passes to Janes for 20 yard gain to the 28 yard line, stopped by Weaver. Kittrell is stopped by Foster on left end sweep after 4 yard gain. Cook carries ball thru C for 3, stopped by Jones and lineman. Kittrell goes over left side for 4 and 1st D. 16 yd. line. Pedigo carries ball for 3 yards on fake around R side. Kittrell fails thru C, stopped by Blankenship and Edwards. Kittrell passes, incomplete over goal, intended for Boren who was covered by Jackson and Foster. Kittrell fails at line, stopped by Edwards and left side of line. Hornet ball.

Jackson, behind a good line, and blocking, makes 6 yards. Foster hits RT for 1 yd. Jackson on LS loses 3 on right end run.

Jones punts from 10, out on 50 yd. line when Kittrell lets ball go out of bounds. Crain for Bubert, for Bulldogs.

Kittrell is thrown for loss by Post, Schley and McDonald, 20 yards. Ball now on 32. Kittrell passes, incomplete, ball knocked down by Foster. Pass intended for Wheat. Kittrell punts to Jackson on 27, returns to 41 yard line, 40 yard punt.

Jackson goes over right end to McGregor 40 yard line. Shirley for McMullen. Foster goes thru C taking ball to 34 yd. line where he is stopped by Kittrell. 1st D. Jackson piled up after taking one yd. to 33, as first quarter ends.

2nd Quarter

Bubert for Shirley. Jack passes incomplete to Foster. Jack pulled down by Pedigo, for 2 yd. loss. Jones punts from 45 to Kittrell on 5 yd line, stopped by Post and Edwards, Blankenship. Time out, McGregor.

Kittrell takes ball is stopped by Perryman after making 2 yds. Spread, McDonald, Jones and Edwards stop Janes for no gain. Kittrell passes, incomplete, intended for Wheat. Kittrell punts, killed on 48 yd. line by McGregor.

Jackson passes over C., incomplete to Weaver. Jackson makes 5 over RT. Jackson makes 3 thru LT. Jones punts out on about 16 yard line.

Cook takes ball thru C for 4 yds. Kittrell goes over RT for 10 yds. to 32 yd. line. 1st D. Cook takes ball thru C for no gain. Bradshaw takes ball to 40 for 4 yds. before being taken in. Kittrell back on 30 fakes punt but is stopped by Foster and Edwards for no gain. Kittrell back punts to Jackson who lets ball be killed on 30 yd. line.

Jackson passes, incomplete. Jack to Weaver to McDonald, incomplete Jackson to Foster is spilled for 10 yd. loss. Jones punts from 10 to 40 to Kittrell where he is stopped by McDonald and company. Ball on 47 yd. line.

Kittrell hits C for 1 yd. Kittrell passes long, to Boren, Weaver missing an interception. Kittrell hits C. for no gain. Kittrell punts short on the 30 yd. line.

Jackson passes, incomplete, intended for McDonald. Jackson pass—

THIS WEEK in OGLESBY

By FRANK SIMMONS

Earl Huddleston was a Gatesville visitor.

Raymond Bankhead of Valley Mills, was a guest of his relatives the George McAuleys and Chas. Parrishes.

Eugene Simmons and T. R. Bannister were in Cleburne and Glenrose one day.

Mrs. G. W. McAuley is spending the week in Valley Mills with her brother Oscar Bankhead and family.

Mrs. Sam G. Reid was quite sick several days.

Mrs. L. J. Johnson was a week end guest of her daughter Miss Moselle Johnson in Austin.

F. B. Lam spent the week in the southwest hill country hunting.

Prof. and Mrs. Talmadge Whitlock of Kopperal, were visiting their relatives, the Sam G. Reids, S. W. Martins and Smith Whites over the week end.

Mrs. M. L. Jordan and Mrs. W. Guy Draper attended the funeral rites of their niece and cousin, Mrs. Horace Payne at Moody last Friday.

R. H. and Mrs. Alexander, and Bonna and Mrs. Martin off on an extended trip to Sweetwater, Roscoe, Brady and Vernon to visit their daughters, Mrs. Allie Carlson, Mrs. C. E. Gracie and Mrs. Earl Embry.

Mr. A. P. Anderson of Temple, a son-in-law of Rev. White Alexander, passed away last Monday a. m. Mr. Anderson was well known and had many friends in this section. The many friends and relatives of this man, who live in Oglesby extend to all bereaved, their deepest sympathy.

Mrs. Olan Lawrimore is taking a dancing course from Josephine Rovella School of Dancing at Waco. In Mrs. Lawrimore's musical instructions to her pupils she has a number of students who wish to take dancing and she is preparing herself to meet all requests along that line.

The long continued drouth in this section is getting serious with range men. If we should get good rains now, that would bring grain up, it is too late now for farmers to secure any benefit from grazing their stock on the young grain. Again if we should have severe freezing weather the resistance of the very young grain, to extremely cold weather, would be at a minimum, thereby endangering the major portion of the grain crop to destruction by severe cold.

The movement to create a "Wild Life Preserve" in the eastern part of Coryell county is meeting the unanimous approval of all farmers contacted. Up to Monday of this week, more than 13,000 acres had been entered in the movement. Approximately 10,000 more acres in prospect of being signed up, by farmer who have indicated that they would enter their lands. We have not been able to see a great number of the land owners and it is requested that all interested will see County Agent Guy Powell at Gatesville, or Frank Simmons at Oglesby and enter your lands at the earliest possible date.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt has promised to visit the California World's Fair during 1939.

BEARS CLOSE SEASON IN HOUSTON WITH RICE

WACO, Tex., Nov. 25—Billy Patterson and Sam Boyd, two of Baylor's brightest grid stars will bring their college football careers to a close Saturday when the Bears invade Houston for their annual scrap with the Rice Institute Owls.

Patterson, probably the best all-around back in the entire southwest has been the mainstay of the Baylor team the past two years. His passing, punting, running and team direction have been largely responsible for the progress and upward climb of the Green and Gold elevens, for as Bullet Bill Patterson went so went the Bears.

Boyd, one of the greatest ends Baylor has ever had, is the other half of the chunking and receiving combination that has pushed the Bears to the forefront in the overhead play. This passing combination has accounted for almost half of the Baylor scores.

Both have been top notch performers this year, and the Bears are expected to be ready to go when these two all-conference greats finish their playing duty at the Baptist institution.

The tilt will be the last of the strength for the first time this season for the Bears who will beyear.

battling for third place in the final standings. The Owls are a half game ahead of the Bears at the present time, but a Baylor win Saturday would give the Bruins a cinch for third place, while a loss would drop them in the lower bracket.

On paper there is very little difference between the two teams. The Bears have the edge in passing but the Owls lead the way in the running attack. Both elevens have failed to disclose any great amount of defensive strength, and the game should likely turn out to be a wild offensive scramble.

The Bruins came out of the Mustang game without any serious injuries and will be at full strength for the first time this season.

TAKE TIME TO MAKE TIME

These long winter nights may be so used as to save time and labor next summer when the growing season demands that every hour and every stroke of work be made to count. There will be no time for thoughtful planning then, but thoughtful planning now will pay large dividends later. Whether there is a governmental program or not, and whatever government program may be in effect in 1939, forehanded farmers lay out the major lines of their year's operations ahead of the planting season. In every community may be found farmers who thrive better than their neighbors under the same conditions, and in every case whether or not they consciously sit down and map out a system of farm management, it will be found that their thrift is not luck, but better judgement in making the best possible use of their facilities and utilizing the available labor to a better advantage. In its simplest terms good farm management is "man use plus land use."

Certain crops call for a peak of labor at the same time, and if they are not to suffer from neglect, labor must be hired. This is a cash outlay which must be deducted from the gross profits from saleable products, reducing the farmer's own net returns proportionately. Good farm management plans for spreading the operator's own labor over a longer period and this involves crop diversification. Crop diversification to be successful demands livestock to utilize the feed crops, and livestock grow, multiply and produce while the operator sleeps.

By planning ahead, a succession of grazing crops to be harvested by the livestock themselves may be provided and under normal conditions some sort of green grazing may be had thruout the year in most of the Southwest. This is well illustrated on the W. F. Glenn farm, Grayson county, Texas, where sheep and cattle graze the year round. The cotton and corn fields are grazed in fall, volunteer oats sometimes are also available. Fall sown wheat and oats furnish grazing thruout the winter, rye grass takes up where the grain fields leave off, and by the time rye grass seed and dies down, native pastures and sudan grass are ready to furnish summer grazing. There is more to planning, however, than pastures, and one of the most constructive moves toward more profitable farming in the Southwest is the county planning programs worked out by farmer committeemen with the technical help of extension, experiment station, and vocational educational forces.

LAST RITES HELD TUESDAY FOR MRS. M. J. LEWIS

Mrs. Lewis was born in Georgia 82 years ago to A. P. and Nancy Pennington. At the age of three years she came with her parents to Upshur county, Texas. In 1869 the family came to Coryell county, and Mrs. Lewis has been a resident of this section since that date.

February 18, 1875 she was united in marriage to M. J. Lewis. To this union four sons and four daughters were born. Twin boys died in infancy, but the following survive her: R. S. Lewis, Oglesby; Mrs. C. S. Tucker, Gatesville; P. P. Lewis, Tuonah; Mrs. E. W. Strickland, Gustine; Mrs. O. Peterson, Fort Worth, and Mrs. C. H. Graham, Oglesby.

When young, Mrs. Lewis united with the Methodist church, and she has lived a Christian life thru her long and useful career. She was preceded in death by her husband, who died about fifteen years ago.

Funeral service were conducted at the Methodist church in Ogles-

County (Texas) which showed the enhanced returns from practical and scientific planning and set a goal for the planning of every farm in the county by 1940. Doubtless other counties have adopted a similar program, and where they have, the farmers who first cooperate will be that much ahead of their neighbors.

It is not necessary, however, to wait until there is a county-wide planning program, and the individual farm family, after all, must plan according to its own resources and abilities. Helpful bulletins can be had from the agriculture college on request, and they will well repay careful study during these long winter nites when there is plenty of time to read and digest the information they supply.

County agents, vocational agriculture teachers, the Farm Security Administration will help those who wish to help themselves by planning ahead.

NOTES FROM COUNTY Supt's. OFFICE

The legislative Committee with others concerned met last Monday night and considered coming recommendations of the State Teachers Association. The program was indorsed, except the transportation section. The Committee ask that a clause be added asking the Legislature to appropriate enough to pay Rural Teachers the same per cent of State Aid as Transportation and High school Tution. This calls for 69 per cent Salary Aid to be raised to 95 per cent.

Many Coryell County Teachers plan to attend the State Teachers Association at Dallas this week. The program opens on Thursday at 10:30, when Dr. Geo. W. Truitt preaches the Thanksgiving sermon. Teachers attending these meetings get the general educational trends. They also are able to get much needed specific help in following an advanced educational program.

Several of the teachers and Principals attended the Central Texas School Masters Club Luncheon last Saturday at the Raleigh Hotel in Waco. Superintendent E. W. Brooks being president this year served as toastmaster.

Tests are in the office for Rural schools. These should be given about the middle of the last week in November. Standard schools are judged largely by the progress made rather than the grade average. Standard schools must use tests for remedial purposes.

The Coryell County school board met on Friday November 18th. Complications in the transportation system made it necessary for the Board to cease paying any type of Transportation at present. The Board feels that it may be able, with the help of schools to adjust the matter at a call session of the County Board on November 28th.

Assistant State Supervisor A. M. Tate has promised to spend Wednesday, November 23rd in the Coryell County Supt's. office. While his business is primarily checking reports he may be consulted on school matters by anyone.

Pupils in many school in this County under the direction of able teachers are doing creditable work in Unit Work in various fields of every day studies.

Arnett School No. 9 on last Friday Evening had an open house with excellent exhibits on display. Following the review of the exhibits the children gave a very creditable program. It was unique, in that it was very largely original. It followed closely the daily program of the school, yet it dramatized vividly their every day school activities. The teachers, children and the community should have credit for this advanced standard of work.

Turnersville R. H. S. No. 1 is preparing an exhibit that will be on display in the near future. Teachers and pupils of other schools should visit these exhibits and avail themselves of some concrete examples of impressive types of unit study. This work finds the student at home since he takes great delight in explaining work that has thrilled him. This form of work puts the teacher and pupil in the background and permits all to live in the best of school experiences.

The forces in the County Superintendent's office and Rural Library plan to spend Tuesday in the Book Store of Austin, replenishing the reading lists in the Rural Library Room, Congenial District, Clerk Carl McClendon promises to watch two doors for a part of the day.

HER MAJESTY, MILDRED MOORE, CROWNED BY JOE REESE ROBINSON

One of the most spectacular and colorful events of the year was the Third Annual Coronation which was staged last Friday evening under the excellent direction of Miss Mamie Sue Halbrook, faculty member of the Gatesville schools. The Gatesville High School gymnasium proved to be both an appropriate and lovely setting when Her Royal Majesty, Gerda of Asgard, Queen Mildred of the House of Moore was crowned Queen by His Royal Majesty, Odin of Asgard, King Joe Reese of the House of Robinson.

As one approached the stage, he ascended a flight of small steps, which were flanked by lights. Green lights, blue reflectors, a white throne, and white towers, carrying out the color scheme of green, royal blue and silver, furnished a beautiful and attractive background for such an extravaganza.

The music was rendered by the Choral Club, the accompanist being Miss Julia Ann Melbern, and also the Gatesville Band, under the direction of D. W. Diserens, with a solo trumpeter, Harol Diserens and bells played by Marquerite Kelso and Betty Sue Thetford. The choruses were from the cantata, "The Frost King's Daughter" by Grieg.

Entering first were the heralds from Valhalla, Jessie Morene Alford, Nettie Jane Franks, Gene Gentry, Bobby Jean Hudson, Maxine Lovejoy, Bebe Jane McCowan, Janelle Richardson, Harriet Robinson, Suzanne Sadler, and Ruth Spence, each dressed in a costume of green with royal blue trimmings. The soldiers of Asgard's Palace, Ruth Bradford, Johnnie Bell Coskrey, Nettie Davidson, Marjorie Hall, Nancy Martin, Margaret Sheridan, Azilee Stewart, and Grace Walker, wore royal blue and silver costumes.

Prime Minister, Prince Oran of the House of Baker entered and announced the arrivals of the duchesses, dukes, princesses and princes. His Royal Highness, Crown Prince Raby of the House of Alford preceded the Scepter Bearer, Margaret Ann Jones, who wore a green satin evening gown, and the Crown Bearer, Maurice Ashby, after which His Royal Majesty, Odin of Asgard, King Joe Reese of the House of Robinson entered and took his place on the throne.

Arriving next were Lords and Ladies of Asgard Realm. The Ladies, representing different clubs and organizations, were attired in glamorous evening gowns made of lovely taffetas, satins and velvets. Lords and Ladies included Duchess Frances Reesing, Duke Bruce Weaver, Choral Club; Duchess Jean Pattillo, Duke John Albert Lester, Pep Squad; Duchess Flo Gene Martin, Duke Arnold Etchison, Home Economics; Duchess Margaret Weaver, Duke Ben McDonald, Basketball; Duchess Alma Louise Murray, Duke Ralph Hill, Press Club; Duchess Treva Davis, Duke John Frank Post, Football; Duchess Mary Jane Sloan, Duke D. I. Campbell, Dramatic Club, Duchess Martha Ann Powell, Duke Bobby Melburn, F. F. A.; Duchess Juanita Yates, Duke Jimmy McClellan, Debate Club; Duchess Jerry Davis, Duke Douglas Pollard, Band.

Lords and Ladies of Jotunheim Realm included Duchess Charlotte Bertrand, Duke Anson Bertrand, Purmela Province; Duchess Mildred Cox, Duke Glyn Dale Shave, Evant Province; Duchess Kathleen Walker, Duke Ollie Spradley, Oglesby Province; Duchess Norma Apel, Duke Adolph Schoenewolf, Plainview Province; Duchess Billy Margaret Eubanks, Duke Eugene Blanchard, Ewing Province.

Representing each class were the Princes and Princesses of Asgard Realm. The apparel of the Princesses were also of velvets, tffetas, and satins, and they, like the Ladies, wore beautiful corsages with pastel chrysanthemums predominating. The following were announced by the Prime Minister; Senior class Princess Sarah Hinson, Prince Stephen Lindley; Junior Class, Princess Bettye Burdette, Prince Bill Morgan; Sophomore Class, Princess Jennie Katherine Spalding, Prince Ben Owen Crow; Freshman Class, Princess June Marie Chamlee, Prince Robert Stockburger; Seventh Grade, Princess Patsy Ruth Lovejoy, Prince Sam Powell; Sixth Grade, Princess

She wore a lovely pale blue satin gown with an apricot train, and she carried a silver staff filled with Talisman roses and ranuncula. Her Royal Highness, Maid of Honor to the Queen, Princess Mildred of the House of Gandy chose a gown of peach taffeta and carried an arm bouquet of pink chrysanthemums.

Flower girls to Her Royal Majesty were Ann Frances McClellan, Patricia Painter, Frankie Lou Chambers, and Neta Jean Rogers, who were all dressed in royal blue taffeta evening gowns.

After making the path to the throne beautiful with the many flowers, Her Royal Majesty, Gerda of Asgard, Queen Mildred of the House of Moore was announced. She wore a gorgeous gown of white satin which was lined with royal blue satin. A large peacock was painted on the train with silver sequins surrounding it. In her hands she carried a fan made of peacock feathers, white mums, and Texas gold roses. Train bearers for Her Royal Majesty were Beverly Ann Barber and Louise Graham.

Climaxing the evening was the crowning of the queen of Frost, after which the usual entertainment for Their Majesties was staged. This included the dance of the Snowflakes and Snowmen, solo dance by Dorothy Ayres, dance of the Penguins, Minstrel's Song by Mable Marion Brown, Lula Jean Morgan and Bill Lasseter, dance of the Snowbuntings, and several selections by the Choral Club, singing as the finale "Let the Trumpets Sound".

Miss Halbrook is to be complimented on the excellent presentation which was enjoyed greatly by every member of the audience.

LOOKIN' OVER THIS WORLD

By Anon E. Muss

Unless there is a prompt shift in public opinion regarding the Medical Profession and its methods there is strong evidence that this respected group is soon to succumb to the advance of commercialism. More and more people are announcing their desire to contract for and buy on the installment plan, their medical attention. There is plenty of argument on either side of the question of whether or not such a system of control could be successfully applied to a service of this type.

Meditation on this question leads the meditator to the inevitable question of why? Why this desire for a change in the method of handling a service which has such a well established and proven system of distribution as has the healing profession. Probably the most fundamental reason for this demand for changes is the change which has occurred within the profession itself. The fee system for the practice of medicine probably was at its best 25 to 30 years ago and at that time this method of finance was well suited to the occasion. At that time medical treatment and care as handled by the family doctor was relatively simple and inexpensive. He simply visited the patient, listened to the story of the onset and development of the illness, made an examination which consisted only of what he could feel with his hand, hear with his ears, see with his eyes and even smell with his nose. These particular methods of examination he developed to a high degree of skill but he was born with the equipment to do this examination and there was very little expense involved in the operation of this equipment. In contrast to this diagnostic procedure a patient today is not infrequently subjected to hours of intricate study with highly technical equipment which requires special training to operate and understand; X-ray, Electrocardiogram, and many many complicated laboratory procedures. On the other hand when it came to the treatment of disease the doctor of the early 1900 period had an equally simple and inexpensive armamentarium as a rule consisting of a few standard drugs and a very few necessary instruments. How different is the treatment picture today. Again we find the doctor employing expensive methods for the better care of the sick. He finds it necessary to use hospital care with its added expense if he is to keep pace with his competitors and if he is to satisfy his patient. Development of surgery with all its benefits to man has nevertheless increased the cost of medical care enormously because of its requirement of special equipment and additional training. All of these various developments in the method of locating and curing disease have naturally resulted in a tremendous increase in the cost of obtaining the best in medical care.

Every man, rich or poor, wants the best that can be obtained in the way of doctoring when a member of his family is stricken with illness. He has found however, that the advancing cost of the best medical attention has made it almost impossible for him to secure this service for his family and still be able to meet his everyday obligations as they continue to come due—even in the presence of the sick. This is the situation that is creating a demand for a new system of financing the doctor. A large number of the people feel that by banding themselves into groups, each member of the group contributing a certain amount of money for a given period to a common fund and this group obtaining their medical care on a contract basis with a doctor or group of doctors, that they could in this way obtain collectively better service than they could acquire individually. Such methods of group bargaining for health are being practiced at a number of places in this country and with apparent success. It is a matter that is deserving of thought both from the angle of the prospective patient and from that of the prospective doctor.

Another article on this subject will appear in an early issue on "The Government and Medicine."

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
 Joan Butterfield, heiress to the Butterfield department store millions, is bored to desperation by the necessity of acting as companion to her wealthy but irascible old grandfather. His close watch on her has thwarted her repeated efforts to run away. Called to London on business, he leaves her in charge of his splendid ocean-going yacht in the Mediterranean, giving orders to the Captain to take her on any trip she desires upon her promise not to leave the boat. Joan promptly orders a trip to New York. The Captain, having no choice but to obey, radios this news to Mr. Butterfield, who promptly sails on a liner for New York.

Chapter Two

Bill Spencer was in a vile mood. He had little use for women in general. He had less use for flighty department store heiresses whose escapades were always plunging them into Page 1. And he had no use at all for the idea of getting up at 3 A.M. to go out in a revenue cutter and meet just such an heiress on her run-away yacht. But that was his penalty for being the best reporter on the New York Press, and all his eloquence had not been sufficient to talk editor Stevens out of putting him on the story. So here was Bill Spencer, with his camera-toting neigmate "Flash" Fisher, thinking murderous thoughts on the cold wet dock of the cutter as it approached the young lady's boat.

While the breakfastless journalists were dreaming daydreams of a gallon of hot coffee and a mountainous stack of buckwheat cakes, the Nauticus hove into view. In a few minutes they were scrambling up the Jacob's ladder, bluffing their way past a bulky Swedish seaman, and scanning the deck for their quarry.

Joan emerged from her cabin, and the alert Flash buttonholed her.

"Listen, he whispered confidentially. 'I gotta get some pictures of that Butterfield dame. Do you know her?'"

"Why, er — yes," sputtered the surprised Joan. "I'm her — her maid. There she is now." She pointed to her Swedish maid. "Miss Butterfield," she called, giving the girl a wink, "here's a friend of mine who'd like you to pose for some pictures. Do you mind?'"

Flash set to work feverishly snapping pictures, while Bill engaged the suspicious seaman in a multilingual argument, and Joan unobtrusively slipped into the Captain's gig which had been lowered preparatory to taking him ashore.

"Miss Joan!" shouted the Captain from the deck, as they got under way. "You can't do that — you promised your grandfather you wouldn't leave the boat!"

"Except in case of an emergency!" she called back. "And this is it!"

At the same moment Bill Spencer lost his argument with his sailor friend.

"I shall have to ask you to get off the boat," repeated that worthy for the fortieth time; and this time putting his request into action, he gathered Bill into his brawny arms and dumped him over the side with the biggest splash Bill had made since he broke Page One with the Van Schmalz divorce case.

"Hey, squarehead!" sputtered the star reporter, coming up and squirting the water from his tonsils. "Toss me my hat! It's cold down here!"

Joan made directly for the office of her father's attorney, but found the stage well prepared for her arrival. Counselor Gorman introduced her to two imposing-looking gentlemen who were waiting in his office: none other than Dr. DeVilbiss and Dr. Snezrude, the celebrated psychiatrists. After listening to her excited account of her adventures, they shook their heads gravely, muttered many ominous Freudian phrases, and advised a rest cure. After protesting against this obvious dodge of her grandfather's to detain her, Joan decided to use a little psychology on her own behalf. Suddenly consenting to go quietly with the medicos, she entered the building elevator with them, but as they emerged at the ground floor she swung sharply around and slapped the faces of both eminent scientists in turn.

"Why, you nasty old things!" she cried in the hearing of the swiftly collecting crowd. "I've never been so insulted in all my life!" And while the crowd began to threaten the amazed doctors, she slipped away.

With her cash resources amounting to exactly one nickel, Joan hungrily tramped the streets of New York all day, afraid to speak to any one lest she be recognized and detained. Finally, at dinner-time, she entered a shabby one-arm beanery and ordered a cup of coffee.

From the armchair next to her arose an indignant outcry from an inexpensively dressed but neat-looking girl — one of the thousands who make up New York's great army of shop-girls. She complained to the manager that her dish of beef stew had disappeared the moment her back was turned; and she appealed to Joan for confirmation of the fact that she had really had beef stew.

"Certainly," Joan spoke up, fibbing like an old-time moocher. "She had beef stew and apple pie, and I had beef stew and lemon pie. And while they sailed into their dinners which the grudging manager grudgingly 'replaced' for them, they conversed chummily. Peggy, the shop girl, on learning that Joan had no money, no home she could go to and no place to sleep, invited her new friend to accompany her home.

"I've got a roommate and a cat, but they're both out most of the time."

"That's very nice," protested Joan, "but you don't even know me."

"Well, you look all right to me, and if I like you, then we'll introduce ourselves."

And home they went to share Peggy's half-interest in a room at the back of a dingy old brownstone house. While Peggy was initiating her guest into the mysteries of the bed that springs out of the wall, her roommate, Dorothy, sour-faced, violently blonde, good looking in a ten-cent-store sort of way, came home. Dorothy made no secret of her lack of joy in meeting the interloper, but Peggy staunchly fought for her right to bring home a friend. Finally, when Peggy made a few meaningful references to her roommate's friendship with "Mr. Dobbs, the floor-walker," Dorothy left in an exceedingly tall dudgeon.

"I feel embarrassed," Joan mourned, "causing all this trouble. Has she any place to go?"

"Has she! Why, she can stick a pin in any page of the telephone directory and find a home!"

"Has she got a job?"

"Sure — she works in the same store where I work, and where I'm going to get you a job tomorrow."

"Really? Where is that?"

"Butterfield's Department Store!" Joan staggered slightly and sat down on the bed.

FREE PRESS NECESSARY TO AMERICAN DEMOCRACY

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 23—If properly protected, unhampered educational institutions and a free press are the safeguards of American democracy and will enable this system of government to withstand the attacks of old-world dictatorships, William L. McGill, professor of journalism at The University of Texas, told the members of the Texas Editorial Association at its recent meeting here.

"Democracy, the sovereign will of the sovereign people, must and will ultimately prevail," he said, "but it will prevail only while discussion is free, while thought is unhampered, information uncontaminated, and education unrestricted."

"It is not enough to preserve the right of the people to vote, it is not enough to assure them the opportunity to be heard, it is not enough to protect a mob in its meaningless maneuvers. In a democracy an enlightened citizenship is essential to survival."

"It is the job of such institutions as the University of Texas to see that all essential facts on all sides of all subjects are revealed and held up for examination and appraisal; to hang old ideas out on the clothes line to be exposed to the sun rays of new truth and new conditions, safe in the assurance that the old verities and veracities will not fade.

Discussing the value of the University to the State, he pointed out the "fundamental functions of a great university—the transmissions of the accumulated knowledge and experiences of all mankind, the verification of these facts, the inquiry into how these things got this way, what makes them tick, and how this and that could be done better—all with the goal that our State, our Nation, and our people, and the peoples of all the world may grow and thrive and prosper, may not only pursue happiness but actually attain it."

PURMELA SCHOOL NEWS

The next regular meeting of the 4-square club will be held on Wednesday night, November 23 at which time the school will present an interesting and entertaining program. All are urged to attend.

The total enrollment of students has reached 90 now with the entrance of Raymon and Lowell Buckner from Speegville and Leonard Manning. The school welcomes these new students.

Boys basketball teams and playground ball teams went to Levita Thursday afternoon and enjoyed games with teams of that school. The local teams won 2 games and lost 1; all games were very close and unusually interesting. The teams are looking forward to Levita's visit to our school.

Students and teachers enjoyed a half holiday Armistice Day. The high school students presented an Armistice Pageant in the morning which gave students a review of some of the events leading to the signing of the Armistice 20 years ago. Another event of the morning was a surprise visit by Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Pointer and A. R. Junior, from Fentress, Texas. All were overjoyed to see these beloved people and only wish they could surprise us more often.

The school and community regret the loss of the Nealey Rogers family who has moved to Levita; Mrs. Wynn and her children who have moved to McDade; and Mr. Thomas Logan's family who have moved to Plainview. We hope these people will remember Purmela and return for visits often.

Ireland presented the play "The Eighteen Carot Boob" to an appreciative audience last Thursday nite. The proceeds went to the ex-student's club who plan to spend it on the improvement of the school soon.

The ex-students plan to present the play "Peter, Beware", on Friday night, December 2, 1938. Keep this date in mind as there will be entertainment for all and no one can afford to miss this big event. The cast of characters include Billy Laxson, Ometra Thetford, Mrs. B. B. Comer, Thersa Simms, Mrs. Harold Whitley, Audie Mayberry, Antonece Bertrand, C. T. Hoard, and is directed by C. O. Huckabee. So remember Dec. 2 as the "big night."

The Rythm Band is progressing nicely now with a total of 46 members. They plan several numbers for the program Wednesday night and have a big surprise for everybody in the form of entertainment so be sure and this part of the program.

The advanced public school music class plans its first public appearance next Wednesday night also. This class is the largest in school with an enrollment of 50. Numbers to be presented are "I've Got a Pocketful of Dreams" and "When Mother Nature Sings Her Lullaby".

CORYELL CITY EX-STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

The following officers were elected: Clifford Tubbs, president; Gerald Lina, Vice-president; Joe Marie Tubbs, secretary; Lorene Gaff, Treasurer; Miss Eva Louise

Mack, sponsor.

Miss Enice Holmes, Miss Syble McClendon, and chairman R. B. Forrest were appointed as play committee. They are to select a play and the characters. The play will be presented Christmas.

Dale Britain, Odis McBroom, and chairman Cecil Copeland were appointed Volley Ball Committee. They are to construct and light a volley ball court. There will be teams of each boys and girls. Games will be matched in the near future.

The next meeting will be Wednesday night, November 30, and all Coryell City Ex-students are asked to be present.

Steel housing will make its official bow to the public at the California World's Fair on Treasure Island in 1939. The new type home is ultra-streamlined.
