COUNTY-WIDE FARMER MEETING IN CITY HALL SATURDAY

A county-wide meeting of farmers will be held in the City Hall, Saturday afternoon, February 11, 2:00 o'clock, to discuss the new Farm Tenant law which is proposed, and also the movement to discontinue refunding State Tax on gasoline used in tractors.

Much pending legislation needs the serious attention of every farmer in the county. This can be done only thru a farmer's organization.

A group of interested farmers in conference with C. R. Day, president, Texas Agricultural Association, agreed to put before the farmers of the county the situation as it exists in order that Coryell County farmers may receive what they are entitled to and have an opportunity to be a part of any movement directed for the development of agriculture.

A representative of the Texas Agricultural Association will be on hand to aid in the discussion.

OUR DELIVERY BOYS ARE DOG LOVERS: THEY DON'T LIKE BITES

Cloyce and James, both like to deliver your News in time in the morning, so you can have something to do while the "little woman" is fixing breakfast, or maybe you fix it.

The boys "love" your dogs, but they're hungry, and some of them like boy's legs too well—all of which explains probably, why you don't get your paper "nearer" your own front porch.

SENIOR BOYS CLASS B TOURNAMENT AT IRELAND

This week end at Ireland. Senior Boys Class B. County-wide Basketball Tournament will be held, beginning this afternoon.

Finals will be held Saturday evening, according to our informer.

No schedule was given us as to the games, but the tournament will finally decide the Class B Championship in the county.

"HOT" COW SOLD AT TUESDAY'S AUCTION: IS RESTORED

Somebody else's cow was sold at the auction here Tuesday according to information from Deputy Sheriff Curtis Ritchie.

Naturally, the Auction Company isn't running a "fence" for stolen cows—this one just crept in. Deputy Ritchie said a man named Tywater brought the "hot" cow here, and she was sold Wednesday to a local buyer.

Officers, including the Sheriff from Cameron came this week and took "bossy" home to her rightful owner. No information was given as to whether the man was apprehended.

THOMAS A. EDISON

Looks to us like the Utilities (Light Companies) would grab this date for their own purpose.

Edison, who's birthday is Saturday, February 11, is the father of the incandescent lamp. This little instrument is the one item that probably produces larger revenue for them than any other one thing.

Regardless of this, "Thomas Edison's contributions to human progress have been so great, that he will always be remembered as one of the great men of all time.

Edison is "the" inventor of American History, that is, he and his inventions in all form of endeavor probably outrank those of any single individual.

His creed, even despite his handicap of inability to hear, seemed to be WORK, and, principally alone, and without the shining light of publicity on his efforts.

Edison, like Lincoln and Washington is numbered among the higher lights of those born in the shortest month of the year, February.

A prominent journalist says: "Mussolini is the most accessible of all dictators. He receives you cordially alone and talks to you in English."

In ancient Greece and Rome every important woman had her hair done up in small ringlets all over her head.

G. H. S. ORGANIZES SYSTEM OF STUDENT GOV'T

Gatesville High School has organized a system of student government. This system is used to keep order in the study halls. A monitor is chosen in each period study hall, and the monitor appoints an assistant on each row. The duty of each monitor is to keep order, report absentees, and help decide matters of student conduct. This body has a designated time at which they meet and decide all matters brought before them. Each study hall has a teacher present but she acts only as an advisor and order is maintained by students. Any student breaking the rules is reported to the council and his punishment is decided by that group.

Many modern schools have this system:

1. Students often have better judgement in student cases than do teachers. That is, a student also looks at the student side.

2. The worst student admits he prefers to behave for himself or another student than to do the same for a teacher.

3. This system is based entirely upon the honor and citizenship of each student.

Should this system prove successful, it will develop and students will have more authority; but if the system fails, GHS will go back to the old method of "teacher watches student". Thus far, the new arrangement has proved very successful and each student does not only learn to be a citizen, but practices being one.

RYTHMN BAND NUMBER IS OUTLINED BY THE DIRECTOR

According to Mrs. J. E. Huddleston, Director of Rythmn Band for the County meet, so many inquiries have been received about the band numbers, that this must be clarified.

The number to be used is line of special items of interest in "Country Gardens"; the arrangement in June 1937 Instructor must be used. Also, any other instrument listed with C. A. Bryant and Practical Drawing Company may be added if desired, according to Mrs. Huddleston.

"ABE" LINCOLN

Rebels and Federals honor the name of Honest Abe Lincoln. His birthday is Sunday!

The words of this man will be ever present in the minds of Americans, especially, his masterpiece, "The Gettysburg Address".

Lincoln was a "practical idealist," and, should he have lived his time, and had he missed the assassin's gun, the re-construction era in the South would have been greatly modified. With his simple, direct and persuasive language, no doubt, he would have called the "carpetbaggers" of the North off, and the smouldering hatred of the South would have disappeared much more quickly.

It would be well at this time, for many in the "seats of the mighty" to take a much needed lesson from The Great Lincoln, one of the greatest Presidents of the United States.

JOE WALKER'S FOOD STORE OPENS HERE SOON

Joe Walker, formerly manager of the local A & P store is in the process of opening up a new grocery store in the H. P. Sadler Building on Main street, which was formerly occupied by the Gatesville Drygoods Company.

Mr. Walker is thoroly acquainted with the grocery business in this vicinity, and also the grocery trade, and knows what the customers want in groceries. Outline of special items of interest in the store have not been made public, or the policy that will be followed.

Weldon Rogers, who has been with Mr. Walker for a number of years, will assist in the operation of this new business.

DESCENDANTS OF FORMER PRESIDENTS OF BAYLOR UNIVERSITY

About 3,000 alumni of Baylor University, Waco, were present Wednesday, February 1 when a tribute was paid to a pioneer Texan, Judge R. E. B. Baylor, for whom the University was named. After the huge monument was unveiled, four Baylor students, pictured above, placed a wreath on the statue of the founder on behalf of all direct descendants of

In the afternoon a reception was staged in the Baylor rooms in Burleson hall, which holds relics from the life and home of Judge Baylor. A feature of the program was music on the family piano of Dr. William Carey Crane, for 23 years president of Baylor at Independence. John Reesing played as accompaniment to singing by another student, who is a descendant of Stephen Williams, who helped foster the idea of establishing a Baptist school in Texas.

DISTRICT COURT HANDLES FEW CASES THIS WEEK

District Court the past week had a criminal tinge, and The State of Texas played a great part in the majority of the cases. These were: The State of Texas vs. O. H. (Buck) Harolson, charged with forgery and found, "not guilty".

H. M. (Crocket) Sharp and Floyd Crosby, both charged with theft of chickens, were each fined $30. and given 90 days in jail.

M. A. (Marvin) White, charged with attempt to rape, the case was transferred to the county court.

In the civil docket, the suit, Vera Ritcheson vs. Cohen Ritcheson, divorce; granted, and custody of children.

FOUR GATESVILLE MINISTERS TO PREACH TO LOCAL CCC CAMP

Plans for a "Religious Emphasis Week" thruout the North Texas District of CCC Camps have been made public by Lt. Robert C. Perry Jr., District Chaplain. The week begins February 13, and each of the camps of the district evangelist meetings will be held.

The four local churches having resident pastors are participating in this district-wide program and, thru their ministers, are uniting in an effort to present the gospel message to the boys of the CCC camp.

The meetings will be each afternoon, Monday thru Friday, at four thirty. All ministers will take part in the opening service Monday; and then each church will be responsible for one of the four remaining days. E. D. Shelton, of the Disciples of Christ, will preach Tuesday; C. M. Spalding (Baptist) Wednesday; Edward S. Bayless, (Presbyterian), Thursday; and S. L. Culwell (Methodist) Friday.

HORNETTES TAKE TILT.
DEFEAT EVANT GIRLS
25-20

Equally as exciting, but of less importance, was the Hornettes vs. the Evant Girls game. That was a rough and tough cage battle with Referee Balsch calling 32 fouls during the even. This game gave the spectators an added thrill for that dime. Evant girls took the lead and held it until the first quarter was underway. Tallies on the part of the locals brought the score up to 7 and 7 as the quarter ended. During the second quarter, the Hornettes made a couple of foul goals and a tally by Davis gave these girls a substantial lead of 11-9. This lead was maintained thruout the rest of the game and female sharp-shooters of G. H. S. were victorious 25-20.

The Hornettes were handicapped by the absence of Margaret Weaver, outstanding forward, but reserves did quite well in filling her position. Shoaf was high point player for the local sextette and Henson played her usual up-to-the minute game at guard.

Parrest, an excellent little sharp-shooter, was tops for the Evant girls. Her tallies totalled 9 points.

HORNET BASKETTEERS MOP BULL DOG CAGERS IN TWO EVENTS

Following the victory of 20-15 over the Jonesboro Eagles Monday night, the Hornet cagers visited McGregor. To start the basketball classics in the McGregor High School Gym Tuesday afternoon the Hornet B squad encountered the Bull Dog Scrubs. Aply captained by Red White, the Hornets played a close game and found the Bull Dogs equal in scoring at the half. The score then rested 10-10. The floor had been freshly polished and was slick as High School fire escapes after County Meet. For that reason, the locals slipped and slid thru out the first period. Desperate in their attempts to bring victory to Gatesville High School, Ward and Wittie removed their "box-cars" and the game was really on. Wittie accounted for a dozen Hornet tallies, and 11 and 9 points were accredited to Koch and Ward respectively. Had the local boys not removed their foot leather, the result might have been different than 36-20.

For further battling, the Bull Dog Number One squad of cagers met the Black and Gold basket bummers of Gatesville. The Hornet regulars performed with superiority to defeat the Bull Dog boys 35-23. Turner, star forward of the Hornet Quint, scored 6 points in the first quarter and was removed from the game to be reserved for the Championship event which took place Wednesday night.

In a previous battle, the Hornets downed the Bull Dogs on the local court. While at McGregor, Post and McDonald staged outstanding performances for the locals. McDonald scored 9 points.

For the Bull Dogs, Collins excelled with 6 Points.

OLSEN ORGANIZES TEAM

At four o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Pat Olsen met with a group of boys in the High School Gym. The purpose of this meeting was to plan and organize a baseball team. This team representing Gatesville High School will play all college freshman teams possible Under the present plan we will have a team that will play other independent teams and go to State Meet in May. This team will be under the personal direction of Pat Olsen and Charlie Barton. With such able men as these backing the League, it can't go wrong and it will be a benefit to Gatesville and Gatesville High School.

GAMES IN GYM TONIGHT
G'VILLE vs. ROSEBUD
BOYS AND GIRLS

Tonight in the Gatesville High School Gymnasium will be another set of up-to-the minute cage battles. This time the Hornet squads are favored by a visit of a couple of fine Rosebud teams: both boys and girls. These clubs are Falls County Champions of both sexes. Drop in on the Gym tonight at 7:30 and see what happens when Worley's Quintette meets the Falls County Champions and the females of the county title meet Central Texas Paramount Cagers of the weaker sex!

HORNETS LOOSE TO ELKS IN CHAMPIONSHIP EVENT.
EVANT WINS 29-26

The title of Class A Championship of Coryell County was taken by the Evant Elks in a spectacular event Wednesday night before the largest crowd Gatesville High School Gym has had this season. It was second out of a 2 out of 3 series and Evant won both. The Hornets got off to a good start and held the Elks 6-6 at the end of the first quarter. The crowd roared at the sight of any scoring or any attempt to score. Although the Elks never surpassed the Hornets by more than 6 points, the score was mighty close thruout. The score was neck and neck at many points. The Elk's largest lead was by 6 points at the half. The score board then read 15-9, and the locals carried no lead at any point in the game. McFarland's Evant boys played a swell defensive game and showed good sportsmanship in every way. With 7 minutes to play, the score was 21-20 and one of the most active games Gatesville has seen in many moons neared the climax. Both teams were in dead earnest, for it was a championship game. In the fourth quarter, Moore rushed to intercept a pass and send it homeward to Turner who made a toss for the basket. The ball only rolled around the side and dropped on the outside and both groans and cheers were heard. With seconds to play, the home-town boys scored and that was offset by a couple of tallies by the visitors. Shot after shot soon netted the final score of 29-26 and whistle blew to end the game and make the Evant Elks candidate for the all-county championship.

For the Hornets, Turner was playing swell defensive work but was not up to his usual standard. His ceaseless efforts, however, did not go unrewarded. Leading scorers for the Hornets were McDonald and Moore whose tallies totalled 10 and 9 points. Weaver and Post's work proved outstanding, especially when the Worley men used a man to man defense. Koch dropped in the game for a few minutes and some good playing was done on his part.

For the Elks, James and Shelton were superior with 9 and 10 points respectively. Young of Abbott was referee. The Elks will meet the winner of the County B championship at a later date.

Dinner Compliments Elliot Sadler of California

Miss Buchie Wollard entertained with a dinner at the Howard Franks home Wednesday evening to honor Elliot Sadler of Modesto, Calif., who has been visiting in this city.

A color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the decorations and the place cards. In the center of the table was a bowl of ranunculus, which was placed on a reflector.

A three course dinner was served to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Holmes Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Zeigler, Dr. and Mrs. John T. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Stinnett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Powell, the honor guest and the hostess.

Ray Hollingsworths Given Shower Tuesday

Mrs. George Bamburg and Mrs. Clemons were hostesses to a large group of the Carden community Tuesday evening when they entertained at the church house with a shower for Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hollingsworth. Mrs. Hollingsworth was the former Rebecca Clemons.

After several games were played, the honorees were given several notes, which instructed them to go to different places. When they returned, the last note directed them to go to the stage, where they found many beautiful gifts. After admiring the gifts, the guests were served punch, cookies and candy hearts.

Approximately 50 guests were present.

Young People's Class of Jonesboro Entertained

The Young People's Class of the Jonesboro Sunday School was entertained with a party in the home of Mrs. Sallie Farquhar who was assisted by Miss Del Farquhar.

Teacher of this class, W. A. Wallace, with officers, held a consultation and presented plans for enlistment to the group. After the short business meeting, the group were entertained with various games. A very unique contest was held and prizes were awarded to those making the most attractive absentee cards. Couples were given postal cards, scissors, paste and old magazines for their "building" material. Prizes went to Margaret Rutherford, Estelle Holden, Essay Turner, Maxwell Holloway and Floyd Weaver.

Delicious refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, cookies, and cocoa were served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Watson, May Del Seale, Ella May and Estelle Holden, Annie Ruth Morgan, Margaret and Irene Rutherford, S. A. Turner, Francis Lewis, Jewell Roberts, Jiggs Drake, J. B. Morgan, Reagan and Maxwell Holloway. Madaline Holloway, Floyd Weaver and Euta Mae Painter.

Truett Spence Celebrates Sixth Birthday

Saturday afternoon Mrs. Spence honored her small son, Truett, with a birthday party. He was six years old on that day, and Mrs. Spence invited the following little friends to enjoy the occasion with him: Dale Gilchrest, Mary Jane Gilchrest, Bettie Lee Oldham, Billye Joyce Thompson, James Saunders, Roger and Bobbie Wittie and Belva Jean Gilchrest.

After several games were played, the guests were invited to partake of the refreshments, which consisted of ice cream and chocolate puffs. For favors, Mrs. Spence used Valentines and chocolate suckers.

Each child enjoyed the afternoon of merriment, and each left wishing the celebrant many more "happy birthdays".

M.M.S. Circle Meeting With Mrs. Burlison

Members of the Mary Sue Brown Circle of the Methodist Missionary Society met with Mrs. Rufus Burlison at her home at the State Training School Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. A. C. Schloeman gave the second lesson in the Bible study, and Mrs. Tom Mears gave the third lesson. At the conclusion light refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Clyde Bailey Tuesday afternoon at which time Mrs. Byron Leaird Jr. will give the fourth lesson.

Artie Powell Weds George Waldrop

Miss Artie Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Powell of Levita, and George I. Waldrop of Hamilton were married Saturday afternoon, January 28, at 3 o'clock at the home of the Rev. Leland Alton, pastor of the North Side Church of Christ in Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Hardie of Fort Worth were the only witnesses.

The bride has been connected with the Gulf States Telephone Company for a period of 16 years. She lived in Gatesville about seven years, during which time she was employed by this company. For the past eight or nine years, she has lived in Hamilton.

The groom is a former resident of Brownwood, and he is now employed as WPA supervisor on the city improvement project in Hamilton.

The couple are making their home in Hamilton.

S. S. Class Entertained At Charlie Mounce Home

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Mounce complimented members of the Pearl White Bible Class of the First Methodist Church Monday evening at their lovely home on Bridge street. The Valentine motif was carried out in the appointments, and vases of red rosebuds adorned the reception suite thruout. Games of Hearts and 84 were played during the evening, and at the conclusion, a refreshment plate which consisted of heart-shaped sandwiches, potato chips, gerkins, cookies, candy hearts, hot chocolate and marshmallows, were passed to the members and guests present.

Attending were: Messrs. and Mesdames Floyd Zeigler, John Neubauer, Glen Gray, Jack Roach, Guy Powell, Robert Scott, Elworth Lowrey, John T. Brown, L. D. Young, J. O. Forrest, and Mesdames Pearl White, Durward Shepherd, Bailey Curry, Sanders Dowty, and Rev. S. L. Culwell.

Methodist Missionary Society Circle With Mrs. Woodall

The Bell Bennett Circle of the Methodist Missionary Society met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ross Woodall with 24 members present and two new members added to the roll.

Rev. S. L. Culwell, the pastor, presented "The People of the Bible" in a very interesting manner, and it was enjoyed by all.

Delicious refreshments, carrying out the Valentine motif, were served at the conclusion.

Mrs. Guggolz will give the third chapter, "The Book in the Making" at the next meeting, which will be in the home of Mrs. Clay Stinnett. We hope all members will be present.

Debate Is Feature of Study Club Meeting

Monday afternoon the Study Club will meet with Mrs. Kermit R. Jones at her home on south Fourteenth street. Mrs. Jones will be leader and will also give the travel talk. Steps to better speech will be given by Mrs. John Thomas Brown.

Mrs. M. W. Lowrey and Mrs. R. Thomas will debate on the subject, Freedom vs. Fiction. Following will be a brief discussion by everyone; each will give a book review.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Strong of Acton, England, received a telegram of congratulation from the King and Queen when they celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary. They were married in 1878 in a snowstorm.

At the evening hour 7 o'clock the young people will have full charge of the service. The program will be on "The youth crusade". Grady Dickie of Gatesville and other young people from Oglesby and McGregor will have a part on the program.

This service will be in charge of the young people but the public is urged to be present. Your presence will encourage and help not only these young people but will be a blessing to you as well.

The speakers and their subjects in the order in which they will come are: Patsy Kinslow, Oglesby, "History of Youth's Crusade;" Mildred Evetts, Oglesby, "The Place Music can Serve in the Crusade;" Leta McCloud, McGregor, "What a Crusader Needs;" and Grady Dickie, Gatesville, "What Youth is Crusading For."

You are invited to worship in all our services.

ANNUAL BIBLE LECTURESHIP AT ABILENE CHRISTIAN COLLEGE FEB. 19-23

Last minute plans are being completed for the 21st annual Bible Lectureship at Abilene Christian College February 19 to 23.

Twenty-two prominent Church of Christ ministers of the Southwest are included in the roster of speakers for this annual affair which yearly attracts people from over the Middle and Southwestern part of the U. S.

Besides the regular lectures on the general theme of "Christian Stewardship," several student programs, plays and attractions are being planned.

Those attending will have the privilege of seeing the student body at work. Also the annual meeting of the college Mothers and Dad Club will be held during the week, and this usually draws many of the student's parents to Abilene. Last year there were between five and six hundred out of Abilene visitors registered.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Adkinson a 10 pound boy on January 29 at the Lee Hoard apartment on the old Waco Road. He has been given the name of Richard Perry.

M. H. Shepperd Sr. and M. H. Shepperd Jr. attended a funeral of the latter's cousin in Houston Tuesday. They also visited Walter Grant who underwent an operation in that city Monday morning. Mr. Grant is improving nicely.

Mrs. J. R. Rivers and daughter, Patsy Ruth, of this city are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Burney Abbott of Haskell, Texas.

GRANDMA PUBLICITY

In Chicago last year, a group of prominent grandmothers got together to form the Chicago Grandmothers' Club. Not long thereafter, the Chicago group helped found the National Grandmothers' Club. The first act of the new national organization was to establish the first Sunday of October as grandmother's day, an event designed to rival Mother's Day.

According to the organized grandmothers, the object of all this was "to glorify grandmotherhood" and to launch a program of objectives including these: (1) to promote better entertainment, recreation and education for grandchildren, and (2) to help fight children's diseases. As a brand-new organization, the Club made it clear that it intended to stage publicity stunts to polarize itself, and last week one such stunt had won national headlines.

The ones responsible for the publicity were members of the Chicago Grandmothers' Club. Ranging in age from 33 to 85, they staged a revue in the ballroom of Chicago's Morrison Hotel. Called "Grandma's Scandals of 1939", the show was directed by a former member of "The Ziegfeld Follies." Known in her heyday as "the peerless Annabelle," the director was Mrs. Annabelle Whitford Buchan, now in her sixties.

The grandmothers who acted as chorus girls danced, wise-cracked and sang in rompers and bell-hop costumes. One of the outstanding individual performances was a Mae West impersonation by Mrs. John Wesley Gray, president of the Chicago Club. The opening scene won particular newspaper attention. In this, Mrs. Marie K. Brown, national president of the grandmothers, made up in black face, called out to the chorus: "Has you heard 'bout that preacher who wants to throw all de likker in de river?" And the chorus sang back: "We'll Gather 'Round de River."

In staging the Chicago revue, the National Grandmothers' Club was seeking publicity primarily for the purpose of winning members. Still weak in numbers, its chief problem last week was to grow large enough to be important.

SURGICAL AID

When blood is exposed to air, it clots. This reaction is caused by a blood chemical called thrombin. Without it, human beings might bleed to death from the merest scratches.

Some persons have less thrombin and bleed more than others. They are poor surgical risks. They make it hard for the surgeon to see what he is doing, and sometimes lose so much blood that it is necessary to interrupt crucial operations to make transfusions. For surgery on such persons, four scientists from the University of Iowa at Iowa City were developing an important aid last week.

Writing a report for Science magazine, Drs. Seegers, Warner, Brinkhous and Smith announced that they had been able to obtain thrombin from the blood of cattle. Not an entirely new departure, their strain of thrombin was nevertheless purer and more potent than any known.

Sprayed onto ordinary wounds, the Iowa doctors declared, their chemical could clot blood in as little as two seconds. In liver, bone and brain operations, where bleeding is more persistent, clotting started in less than 10 seconds. Although it has not yet been completely tested for human use, the four scientists were hopeful about their thrombin. Added to ordinary surgical equipment, they suggested, a simple thrombin atomizer could eliminate the problem of dangerous bleeding from modern surgery.

"BROTHER RAT" SMASH HIT BASED ON BROADWAY PLAY

"Brother Rat," the gay comedy of life in a military school, which ran on a Broadway stage for eighteen consecutive months and had three road companies successfully touring the country at the same time, is now a picture and will have its first local showing next Saturday, Sunday and Monday at the Regal Theatre.

It is a Warner Bros. production and stars Wayne Morris and Priscilla Lane, two young stars who already have had several sensational successes. A considerable portion of the picture was made on the grounds of the Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, Va., and the entire cadet corps of that famous and historic school, 700 strong, took part.

V.M.I. has long been known as the "West Point of the South." It was the training place of that great Confederate general, "Stonewall" Jackson. The Institute authorities gave complete co-operation to the producers and to Director William Keighley.

Due to the limitless scope of the camera, "Brother Rat" as a picture is said to surpass the stage version. The drills and sports and dormitory life of the cadets are really shown in all their picturesqueness instead of merely being suggested, as was the case behind the footlights.

A "Rat" in V.M.I. parlance is a freshman, or "plebe" as they are called at West Point. Those who go thru the four years training together are called "Brother Rats." Hence the title. They are loyal to each other thru thick and thin.

This story—scenarioized by Richard Macaulay and Jerry Wald from the original play by John Monks Jr., and Fred F. Finklehoffe—revolves around the mishaps of one of the lads who has disobeyed a rule of the Institute and has secretly taken himself a bride. Not only that, but he's about to become a father. His pals stick to him and get him out of his jam.

Eddie Albert, recruited from the New York stage play, has this part. Lovely little Jane Bryan is the girl he marries.

BEARS MEET S.M.U. IN WACO SATURDAY NIGHT

The Baylor Bears will be out to throw the Southwest conference basketball title chase in a wild scramble here Saturday night when they go up against the league leading S. M. U. Mustangs.

Saturday night's clash will be the last chance the Bears will have to maintain their possible chance at the loop title. A victory over the top ranking Mustang five will send the Texas team up within half game of the Dallas aggregation and will give the Bruins an even chance to come thru in the final lap of the campaign since they will still have games remaining with Rice, Texas and S. M. U., the three leading teams of the circuit.

The young Baylor team which is made up of three sophomores and two junior in the starting five, were none too impressive in their two encounters with the Porker crew last week, but will have a week of rest behind them and should be ready to give and take with the slightly favored Mustang quintet.

If it is raining at home as it is here, and keeps up just a little longer, it is going to be too wet to plant corn. The Ground Hog has had no chance of seeing his shadow for days. Most of us here in our office have had more or less severe attacks of flu, but we are all on the job today.

The House has, by an overwhelming vote, just passed a resolution continuing the Dies Investigating Committee. This committee has been engaged in looking into Un-American activities and has, in my opinion, brought to light a great many things that should be corrected. It has been subjected to a great deal of harsh abuse but in most cases its critics complain that it has not investigated certain evils to which they can point. I am sure that it has hardly scratched the surface, and this very criticism goes a long way to convince me that its work should be continued. Doubtless the committee has not given much attention to the evils of Fascism and Nazism as it has to Communism.

Doubtless these 'isms' are just as dangerous as Communism and should be investigated, but certainly that is no reason why we should allow Communism to undermine our Government in the meantime. Instead, we should proceed against ALL 'isms' and for this reason I voted to continue the committee.

Yesterday, the House accepted the Senate amendments to the Emergency Deficiency Appropriations for W.P.A. The amendments were of little importance except the one striking out the provision inserted by the House, prohibiting a difference in WPA wages of more than 25 per cent for the same kind of work in different sections of the country. By striking this provision out, the Senate made possible a continuation of the present unfair situation where in other sections the WPA pays more than twice what it does in our section for the same kind of work. I cannot see that there can be any justification for any difference in excess of the difference in the cost of living in the various sections, and the Department of Commerce says this does not reach 25 per cent anywhere. The present WPA wage system is but another one of the numerous methods used by the North to get an advantage over the South. As I have thereto pointed out the discrimination practiced as to railroad freight rates is another. In this connection, I am happy to be able to report that our Southern group has received a promise from the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce that they will give us a hearing beginning February 28th.

Yesterday, the Ways and Means Committee began to hold public hearings on the group of pension answer our correspondence. I am sure that those of you who live in communities where there have been vacancies in the post office or on a rural route know something about how many letters we have been getting. Since the first of the year we have filled, or have vacancies pending in, twelve post offices and on four rural routes. Please understand we want everyone of our friends at home to write us about anything that may come up, but we hope that you will understand it if we are slow in getting our answer to you.

Most of the committees are now beginning their work. I am on five committees. Claims, Immigration and Naturalization, Census War Claims, and Flood Control. Each of these committees except Census has a great number of bills before it. They all take long hours. The legislation to come before the Flood Control Committee is of especial importance to Central Texas. We spent most of the mornings in committee meetings—the afternoons on the Floor, thus forcing us to use the night to Noble-mindedness does not receive an insult.—Publius Syrus.

SYNOPSIS
Jane Hartman (Gladys Swarthout) is a secretary in a bank which is robbed in broad daylight under a smoke screen thrown by a vaporizing mechanism concealed in a truck which has been backed up against one of the bank windows. The only clue is the abandoned truck which Jane recognizes as the one on which her ne'er-do-well brother, Charlie (William Henry), a mechanic, has been working.

CHAPTER II
"BOY, oh boy!" Charlie Hartman could not repress his wide-eyed awe at the sight of the stacks of currency wedged into the suit case Randall had just opened. The two were in the living room of the bungalow Charlie shared with Jane.

Randall glanced at the boy and then closed and locked the traveling bag. "All right, that's enough for now," he said with a note of irony in his voice. "You can look again this afternoon."

"Aren't you going to count it?" "No, we're going to weigh it. Look, kid, fix me a drink." Randall said wearily. "I feel as if I just sailed out in a high wind."

As Charlie started for the kitchen, the street door opened quietly and Sidney came in, carrying his suitcase. Charlie halted.

"Hello, Sidney. Where's Mr. Gibbs?" he asked eagerly.

Sidney glanced at him but did not answer. Calmly he removed his coat and removed two automatics from their shoulder holsters. He removed the empty clips and carefully reloaded them from a box of cartridges. Randall watched him with his one good eye.

"How do you feel, Sidney?" Randall asked quietly. "Pretty good after that workout."

Sidney neither answered nor looked up from his guns. Randall went on.

"You had a big day today—three men and an old lady."

"Lay off me, Randall," Sidney said without emphasis.

"Not that I blame you, Sidney," Randall went on in the same irritatingly quiet voice. "I saw the old dame pull a knife on you."

Sidney looked up and stared levelly at Randall. "I don't like you, pal," the gunman said sleepily.

"Don't you?" Randall said mildly. "I think you're sweet!"

Charlie's return from the kitchen with Randall's drink stopped further conversation for the moment. Charlie looked from one to the other. A sudden horrible thought struck him.

"Nothing happened to Mr. Gibbs, did it?" he asked fearfully.

"Nothing ever happens to Mr. Gibbs," Randall said.

"Maybe he went after the van, huh?" Charlie asked hopefully.

"I guess maybe he did," Randall agreed.

"Then I better get my stuff—my tools and everything—ready if we're going to leave." As he considered Mr. Gibbs' cleverness, Charlie's voice became enthusiastic. "A moving van for the getaway—the cops will never figure that one out! Mr. Gibbs certainly thinks of everything, doesn't he?"

Randall and Sidney glanced at him but did not answer. Charlie hurried away to the garage.

He was busily packing tools in a kit bag when Jane entered the garage. She was obviously nervous and upset. Her voice trembled as she said.

Jane plunged her hand into her bag and whipped out the pearl-handled automatic. Pointing it at Randall, she said: "Get away from that door!"

"Charlie, you've been mixed up in some pretty dreadful things but I never thought you would go in for murder."

The boy's face blanched. "Murder! Who says I did?" he demanded.

"Charlie, four people were killed in that bank today. Did you drive that truck?"

The boy hesitated. "Yes," he admitted, "but I wasn't in the bank. I didn't shoot anybody."

"I hope you can make the police believe that," Jane said soberly.

"They've got to get me first," Charlie muttered sullenly.

"They won't have to," his sister said firmly. "You're going to give yourself up."

"Don't make me laugh," the boy sneered. "I'm not walking out on Mr. Gibbs. He's been pretty nice to me."

Jane's voice was bitter. "Yes, he's been fine, hasn't he? He's got you mixed up in robbery and murder while all I've done is to get you out of trouble all your life. Now you and I are going straight to the police and you're going to tell them the whole rotten story."

From the garage doorway came a ripple of derisive applause. Randall, lounging there, effectively blocked the opening. "I wouldn't if I were you," he said quietly to Jane. "Mr. Gibbs might be very angry."

Jane plunged her hand into her bag and whipped out the pearl-handled automatic. Pointing it at Randall she said: "Get away from that door!"

Before any of them could move, the crooked handle of an umbrella slid through the door, settled itself around Jane's wrist and yanked the gun from her hand. Mr. Gibbs followed his umbrella into the garage. "I think we had all better go into the house and talk this over," he said quietly.

In the living room of the bungalow Mr. Gibbs lazily fingered Jane's automatic as he talked.

"There's been a slight slip-up," he explained. "The sheriff has attached the garage where our truck was stored. The roads are crawling with cops. We need another truck. Not just any truck, but a truck that has a dome and a nice respectable driver." Mr. Gibbs whirled on Jane. "And you're going to get it for us," he said slyly.

"I'm not one of you," Jane answered. "I want Charlie to go to the police. He wasn't in the bank when those people were killed today. He must tell the truth."

Mr. Gibbs turned thoughtfully to Sidney.

"Didn't you say, Sidney, that one of the tellers shot at you?" he asked.

"Yeah, twice," Sidney grunted. With a sudden purpose, Mr. Gibbs leaped to his feet, seized a Navajo blanket from the divan and wrapped it several times around the gun in his hand. Charlie started to his feet in terror.

"You want to help your friends, don't you Charlie?" Mr. Gibbs asked as he pushed the boy against the wall and with his free hand probed the muscles of the younger man's shoulder.

Sensing what was to come, Jane screamed. Randall's hand covered her mouth as he seized her in an iron clasp.

"Yes... yes, sure," Charlie whispered through dry lips.

Calmly Mr. Gibbs raised the muffled gun and deliberately shot the boy through the muscles of the shoulder. Charlie collapsed on the divan.

"Now, young lady," Mr. Gibbs said, turning to Jane, "try to tell the police your brother wasn't in the bank. You're going to help me get a truck. And if you don't obey my orders to the letter"—his smile was icily cruel—"you might just as well make it a hearse!"

POLISH "NO"

On the map of Central Europe Poland sits uneasily in the buffer seat between Nazi Germany and Soviet Russia. Despite a wavering policy between Berlin and Moscow, the Poles have long declined to hitch their wagon to the Nazi star. Last fortnight they declined again, and last week the Nazis knew that the Poles, although they are not willing to relinquish the independence of their foreign policy, their friendship with Russia or their alliances with France and Rumania.

Feelers for Poland to join the Nazi bandwagon and thus help pave Hitler's path to the east were put out early last month when Polish Foreign Minister Joseph Beck visited Berlin and Berchtesgaden. But Beck returned to Warsaw to outline Poland's foreign policy as: (1) maintenance of good relations with both Germany and Russia; and (2) loyal observance of the alliances with France and Rumania. Last fortnight Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop visited Warsaw to talk politics and mark the fifth anniversary of the 1934 Polish-German non-aggression pact. But on such matters as Poland coming under the spreading Nazi sphere of influence and joining the Berlin-Rome axis or the anti-Communist pact, von Ribbentrop went back to Berlin with a Polish "No". Net result of his short visit was an agreement that the non-aggression pact, which has five years to run, still remains the basis of Polish-German relations.

Meanwhile, other Middle European nations last week made the following news:

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA: Signs of increasing German domination of the whittled republic were seen in: (1) revelation that German troops frequently cross Czech territory under an agreement between the two countries; (2) demands by the government party of self-ruling Slovakia that Prague join the anti-Communist pact and; (3) start of a Czech anti-Jewish campaign as indicated by plans to oust civil servants whose parent are Jews. Despite these developments, however, Britain and France went ahead with their promise to compensate the Czechs for the losses they suffered during the September crisis. At London, the democracies signed an agreement providing the dismembered republic with nearly $75,000,000 for reconstruction and refugee work. Half this sum was an outright gift while the rest was in the form of a joint loan.

RUMANIA: At Bucharest police thwarted an alleged plot by the out-lawed pro-Nazi Iron Guard to destroy public buildings by the use of powerful flame-throwers. An officer of the chemical section of the army committed suicide after confessing leadership of the conspiracy.

ORIENT: REJECTIONS

Japan's 19-month-old conquest of China remained stalemated last week, being marked only by sporadic fighting on widely scattered fronts and by widespread air raids on Chinese cities. Chief news from the Orient had to do with Japan and a series of significant diplomatic rejections.

At Tokyo, War Minister Seishiro Itagaki, apparently mindful of how his army is bogged down in China, rejected any present possibility of Japan attacking Soviet Russia. "In the present circumstances," he told the Diet, "the army will not advance troops against the Soviet Union."

At Paris, there were two rejections—one against Japan and one by Japan. The French government turned down Tokyo's newly appointed Ambassador, Mesayuki Tani, because Tani's attitude toward France had not been cooperative while he was representing Japan as Minister at Large at Shanghai. Almost simultaneously, a conference of six Japanese diplomats in Paris showed Japan was wavering in her Nazi-Fascist alliance by rejecting suggestions from Berlin and Rome for immediate conversion of the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo anti-Communist pact into an outright military alliance. Attended by Japan's Berlin, Rome, London, Brussels Burgos and Bernese diplomats, the conference recommended shelving the project temporarily.

At Chungking, emergency Chinese capital, Chinese leaders rejected anything short of an honorable peace with Japan. A 10-day session of the executive supervising committee of the Kuomintang (National Government party) ended with a manifesto proclaiming Chinese unity and confidence in ultimate Chinese victory. After being made head of a new supreme committee for national defense,

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek declared: "China will never compromise or surrender even half way."

Watch the Family "Come and Get It" When You Serve Dutch Cherry Cake

Every Homemaker Will Find Her Pantry Contains a Store House of Many Treasures if She Keeps it Well Stocked With Canned Cherries

Just when desserts were first accepted as a regular part of our daily meals, is probably a question that even our ablest historians might have difficulty in answering. Perhaps the first dessert was a handful of wild berries or a fruit of some sort. In any event, it probably served the same purpose for our early ancestors as it does for our folks today—namely, a delicious climax to a wholesome meal.

Parties are always occasions when the hostess gives a little more time and thought to the dessert she plans to serve. But whether the dessert you prepare is to be served for tonight's family dinner or at a very formal party, the fact that it becomes the last impression of the meal requires that it must be good.

Since fruits and berries are very popular in many desserts, homemakers can be thankful that commercial canners have made it possible to have them available in every month of the year. The harvest season for many fruits is so short that if our use of them had to be confined to the few weeks they are available on the market, the homemaker's dessert problem would be a difficult one indeed.

Cherries are a splendid example to prove this point. Although they are ripe in most states in July, their use in pies, cakes, custards and many other recipes continues the year 'round. February is, of course, a most appropriate time to talk about this popular fruit, because with George Washington's birthday on the 22d of this month, what American does not recall the incident of George and the cherry tree?

Cherries possess all the qualifications necessary to give them a top rating in the list of summer fruits. They are not only attractive to the eye because of their bright red color, but they are appealing to the appetite because of their sparkling flavor.

Every homemaker will find her pantry contains a store house of many treasures if she keeps it well stocked with canned cherries, and when it comes to desserts, they'll help you ring the bell as the season's smartest hostess. If you wish to have your family sit down to a mouth-watering dessert for supper tonight, or if you wish to wrap yourself in glory when your friends rave about your Dutch Cherry Cake, you had better jot down the recipe for it now.

Dutch Cherry Cake

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 2 eggs (No. 2 each)
- 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla or almond extract

Sift flour, measure, add baking powder, salt, 1/2 cup sugar and sift together three times. Beat egg yolks and combine with milk, melted shortening and the extract. Add liquids to flour all at once and beat until smooth. Fold in the cherries, then the stiffly beaten egg whites to which the remaining sugar was added. Bake in well greased pan (7" x 11" x 1 1/2") or in individual baking dishes or muffin pans, in moderate oven (350° F) for 30 minutes or until done. Serve either hot or cold with hot Cherry Sauce, or top with whipped cream and garnish with individual cherries. 10 to 12 servings.

Hot Cherry Sauce

- 1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 1 cup liquid from cherries
- 1 tablespoon shortening
- 1/2 teaspoon almond extract
- 1 cup cherries

Bring liquid from cherries to a boil. Combine cornstarch, sugar and cold water and add to the hot cherry juice. Stir constantly until sauce boils. Remove from heat and add shortening, extract and cherries. Serve hot sauce on either hot or cold Dutch Cherry Cake. 10 to 12 servings.

Creeps, Rickets and "Hollow Horn"

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Breeder-Feeder Association

These troubles in livestock are what is known as "deficiency" diseases, caused by the lack of certain essential elements in the feed. Those who have green pastures and good legume hay need lose no sheep, for there is little danger of any of these troubles developing. The green feed supplies vitamin D, and legume hay, especially alfalfa and clovers, usually carries enough lime and phosphorus to supply the needs of the animal.

At this season of the year range cattle on dry pastures and other livestock receiving only dry forage, such as bundle sorghums, grass, sorghum hay, and even some of the starchy grains, are liable to become anaemic, for lack of the minerals and vitamin D. Now sunshine is also a source of vitamin D but animals absorb it mainly through green feed and not through the skin, so we cannot depend on its ultra-violet rays alone to keep them in health and vigor.

Dairy cows may fall off in milk for lack of lime and phosphorus in their rations in spite of having all the dry hay they can eat. The mineral deficiency is easily and cheaply supplied with lime and bone meal in the proportions of two to one. Lime is supplied in the form of pulverized limestone or oyster shell and may be mixed with bone meal in open troughs, or mixed with the feed. Only a fraction of an ounce a day is needed for cattle.

Mineral mixture for hogs are quite generally used, tracing back to the old practice of placing ashes and salt in the hog lot. There are several formulas, one of which can be had from your county agent or the agricultural college.

Many experiments in recent years have gone to prove that creeps and rickets, along with other less definitely recognizable troubles, are not true "diseases" but are due simply and solely to malnutrition, and in these the malnutrition is a deficiency of essential minerals.

What we used to call "hollow horn," "hollow tail," and so on, was nothing more than lack of enough feed containing the necessary elements for health and vigor. After an animal reaches the stage of extreme weakness it is difficult to correct it, but if the minerals and vitamins are provided extreme cases seldom occur.

In some areas it has been found possible to increase the percentage of the calf crop and the calves are stronger at birth by the use of mineral-bearing elements in the feed. Cottonseed meal or cake carries some lime and phosphorus and in some cases is sufficient for the purpose, but in the light of experience more and more livestock raisers are playing safe by adding lime and bone meal.

In very sandy soils and in the excessively leached soils in the heavy rain belt along the Gulf Coast, mineral deficiency is most serious. The "loin disease" which formerly caused heavy losses of cattle in the Gulf Coast region was found to be nothing more than lack of minerals in the pasture grasses, and it has since been effectively prevented by feeding bone meal. The distinguishing symptom of "loin disease" is the habit of chewing bones. At first it was thought the cattle "caught" some sort of germ from the bones, but when the "bone hunger" was assuaged with bone meal the disease disappeared—also the bone-chewing habit.

The only "germ" or "microbe" in this and its kindred "diseases" is the germ of hunger for something that is missing from the feed. "Malnutrition" is the technical term, but in barnyard language it's merely "not enough of the right feed."

D. R. McCLELLAN LIKES SCS WORK ON HIS PLACE

"I am convinced of the value of soil conservation work from that which has been done on my farm and others which I have seen thruout the county," said D. R. McClellan, cooperator with the Soil Conservation Service at their Gatesville camp, this week. "Even though the program has only recently been completed on my farm it has already increased the value of the place considerably by stopping the washes in the fields, by using every acre of the land to the best advantage, and by improving the appearance of the farm altogether."

Mr. McClellan continued, "I had realized for a long time that something should be done about the erosion damage on my farm in the Schley community. When the Soil Conservation camp came to Gatesville I was among the first to sign an agreement with them for erosion control work. Even though it has taken three years to complete the program I believe that the cost of the work will be offset by the increase in the value of the farm."

"Since the work was done over a long period of time, much of the original plan was changed. In every case, however, the new recommendations proved to be more economical than the first ones."

"Judging from my experience on my farm I believe that, by similar methods, erosion can be economically controlled on every farm in the county."
