JOHN HEARN CASE TURNED OVER TO JURY 3:25, THURS.

In District Court Monday morning the case against J. D. (John) Hearn was called, charged with the killing of Wiley Turner on January 3.

The entire day Monday was consumed in selecting twelve jurors from a special venire of 100 names, the twelfth man being accepted about 6:30 o'clock.

Examination of witnesses began Tuesday and continued until three o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when the State and defense rested.

Attorneys for both sides argued the case before the jury Thursday, closing at 3 o'clock after which Judge Cross delivered his charge to the jury, giving them the case at 3:25.

At 4:15 o'clock, the time of going to press, the jury were still deliberating.

MANY BUSINESS CHANGES HERE INDICATE PROGRESS

The numerous changes made in the business section of Gatesville denote the constant progress that the business firms have been making the past few years.

First the National Bank of Gatesville established its new quarters, and the old site of the Gatesville National Bank was remodeled and is now occupied by Flentge's Drug Store. Its previous location also has been remodeled and Hair and Coward's Barber Shop is now located there. Gloff and Pollard, barbers, have moved into the former site of Hair's.

Doc's Sandwich Shop and Rutherford's Barber shop have moved to the building formerly occupied by Potts grocery. Their old quarters have been torn down and a completely new establishment is being built for Perry Brothers, while H. B. Davis Variety store is enlarging.

The opening of a new grocery store by Joe Walker and the purchase of new equipment for McClellan's bakery are other business changes reported.

Since all these moves provide larger quarters for the firms involved, it denotes a rapidly growing volume of business.

EVANT, COUNTY BB CHAMPS; MEET CORNICANA

This morning at ten o'clock the Evant Elks, county champions of Coryell, will engage the touted Corsicana five in the opening engagement of the district basketball meet at Waco. McFarlane's winners are expected to take this contest, and have a fine chance to come thru with the district championship if they can whip West, the unanimous favorites of the Central Texas cage critics.

Evant, with one of the greatest teams in its history, walked thru the county playoffs without defeat, although all of its games were close hard-fought ones. They defeated Gatesville's Hornets, a fine club 25-21 at Evant and 29-26 at Gatesville to cop the Class A Championship and then defeated Pearl by a four point margin at Pearl, and came back with a three-point win at home to earn the all-county championship laurels.

Pearl captured the Class B championship by waltzing thru the championship tournament at Ireland last week end.

Evant showed without doubt that it was the best team in the county, and it carries the high hopes and good wishes of every other team in the county with it. It is a fine club, with a splendid coach, and has exhibited nothing but clean sportsmanship in every contest they have played.

Friday of next week, fans who follow the "hardwood" artists will be privileged to see two of the state's fastest girls sextettes in action when the Gatesville High School Hornets, Central Texas Champions take on the girls from Mesquite, who are the Champions of North Texas.

Seldom do fans of the county get a privilege like this, and with the splendid team developed by Coach Schwarz it is more than probable that the Championship of the local high school aggregation will be extended to be Champions of North and Central Texas.

FOUR ONE VARIETY COTTON COMMUNITIES ORGANIZE IN CO.; MEANS BETTER PRICES

Copperas Cove took the lead in one-variety cotton communities in Coryell County by organizing and doing a large amount of work in 1938. The Copperas Cove community has re-organized and selected their officers for 1939, Watson cotton again being the choice of the members of the organization, with an estimated acreage of 5,000 for 1939, as compared to one thousand acres of the selected variety in 1938. The officers of the Copperas Cove one-variety cotton community are: Ira Mashburn, President; Henry Dewald, Vice-President, and Fred Groth, Sec.-Treas.

The Arnett community, with a most enthusiastic group of farmers, organized on last Thursday afternoon, with Watson cotton as their selection. On the day of organization 38 farmers each purchased from one to three sacks of seed of the selected variety, and it is expected that this amount will be greatly increased prior to planting time. The officers of this organization are: H. J. White, President, L. T. Sadler Vice-President, and Chas. Lengefeld Sec.-Treas.

On Friday night some 65 farmers of the Coryell City community met and organized a one-variety cotton association, and selected Qualla cotton for the association. The officers of the Coryell City organization are: Herbert Gohlke President, L. L. Schulz Vice-President, and Herman Sadler Sec.-Treas.

On Monday night 20 odd Pearl farmers met and organized a one-variety cotton community, with Watson as the selected variety, and their officers are as follows: J. H. Nabors President, Lloyd Williamson Vice-President, and C. C. Reynolds, Sec.-Treas.

One-variety cotton organizations cannot be expected to be the only solution to the present cotton situation, yet this is one of the most practical steps that the farmer can take toward improving the cotton of Coryell County and it is expected that the benefits will be in proportion to the thoroughness with which the farmers participate in the plan.

The farmers of these communities will cooperate with the ginners in keeping the selected varieties pure in order that they may offer to the buyer a uniform bale of cotton, as well as uniform lots of cotton. Ginners, buyers and spinners are urging farmers in all localities to standardize their cotton in such a way that a uniform quality may be expected.

Mrs. Thomas Bigham, a graduate of the Bay City Hospital in Barrie, Vermont, has recently been added to the staff of nurses at the Milton Powell Memorial Hospital. Before she was employed in the Hamilton Sanitarium in Hamilton, Texas, Mrs. Bigham worked in the Sydenham Hospital in New York City.

The employment of this young woman has completed a staff of fully trained nurses, which is an asset to the city, as well as the hospital.

REPRESENTATIVES FROM MCGREGOR, GUESTS OF LIONS CLUB

Four representatives from McGregor were present at the regular Lions Club meeting Wednesday at noon. They explained the program, which will keep peddlers out of town; that is, peddlers are compelled to receive a card from a certain committee before they are allowed to make sales. This applies to retail sales only.

A committee composed of Horace Jackson, Floyd Zeigler and Hurl McClellan, was appointed to work this out. They will work with the committee from the Chamber of Commerce, and together they hope to make a success of it as our neighboring city, McGregor, is doing.

The representatives were Charlie Hall, editor of the paper, Geo. W. England, vice-president of the bank, a theatre owner and the president of the Chamber of Commerce of McGregor.

COPY OF NEWS AD IS ON LEGISLATOR'S DESKS: GV. IMPLEMENT CO'S.

The "Mule" advertisement recently placed in the Columns of the News has been read by every member of the House of Representatives, according to Mr. Burney of the Gatesville Implement Company.

It happened this way. After strenuous labors, the Legislature for a little fun, passed an "off the record resolution" that copies of the advertisement be placed on every member's desk.

Representative Weldon Burney is a brother of Woody Burney of the Gatesville Implement Co., and it was thru him that the "copy" for the advertisement was obtained to give the Representatives the copies.

BASKETEERS BATTLED LAST WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Three very amusing cage battles of Wednesday night brought victory to three local teams. The Plainview Junior boys met the Junior boys of Gatesville in what proved to be a "killer-diller" at any rate the Gatesville Junior boys won by a score of 14-13. Thruout the game the score stayed very close. Roland Koch scored for the Hornets 6 points.

For the next contest, Barton's Junior girls took a victory verdict of 17-10 over the Plainview girls. The little Hornets were comparatively small in contrast with the visiting sextette. The high pointer for the local sextette was Brown with 8 points. Second to top was Patterson whose goals netted 6 points. Lester's defensive work should not go unmentioned.

For the visitors, Shoaf and Giberit scored 4 points each.

The best of the three games was the last. It was a thrilling eye-opener that the few spectators viewed. The Hornet scrubs battled the Plainview boys; the Gatesville B squad was handicapped by the absence of Red White, chief of the Hornet reserves. Little Fred Post, Junior Hornet from Junior High school, filled White's shoes and really did a swell job of it. The Plainview boys started a sky rocket and before the Hornets could say, "Girls vs. Mesquite Friday week," the visiting quintette had scored 5 points to their one. Wittle then started his city playing and the Plainview boys led the half by only 2 points, the score being 13-11.

In the second half the Worley B's took possession of the ball and finished the game on the big end of a 26-17 score. Koch and Post scored 8 points each. Other scoring for the Hornets was Wittie, 5 points; Jones, 4, Ward, 1 and Culberson was among those who also played.

King and Miller were outstanding for the visiting quintette, each scored 6 points.

Saturday night the Hornets and Hornettes teams will visit Abbott and engage in cage battles there. Mesquite, north Texas champions, will play our Hornette sextette one week from tonight, here.

4-H CLUB BOYS EXHIBIT AT FAT STOCK SHOW

The public is urged and requested to be on hand to look the hogs over and see what is being produced in the county. Those who will show hogs at Houston, which includes two adults, are:

Clovis and Elmo King, 9 Durocs, Albert Jacobs, 6 Poland Chinas, Jim Shults, 2 Durocs, Sam Powell Jr., 5 Hampshires, Anson Bertrand, 2 Durocs, Durward Thetford 3 Durocs, Marshall Jackson, 5 Hampshires, C. This organization made up of girls interested in the home economic work of the college is one of the largest groups of the school. Membership in this club is gained by showing special interest in the different branches of home economics and a certain amount of formal class work is also required in this field.

FROM THE COUNTY AGR'L AGENT

Trench Silos are giving satisfaction in Coryell County as is indicated by comments being heard from day to day, based on those in operation the past season. Albert Jacobs of Coryell City dug and filled a trench with bundle grain sorghum and is now feeding out a group of Hereford calves which have shown exceptional gain. The silage is of excellent quality and is being eaten by the livestock with much relish.

J. F. Clark, Raby Ranch, preserved silage above the ground by making the walls of his improvised trench with bales of hay. This silage was run thru a silage cutter and is giving very good satisfaction in the feed lot. It is of a darker brown color than some.

Two large trenches were dug and filled at the State Training School. The forage used was run thru an ensilage cutter and was well packed in the trenches.

These silos are so situated that they could be seen easily on one afternoon's drive. The trip would be well worth anyone's time. The inspection tour should be made within the next few days because silage will be fed up in some silos in the near future.

WHOLESALE — RETAIL

Gatesville, Texas

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The series of goals set by our Sunday School some days ago, was set off for a good start last Sunday when the women of the school were present to the number of 182. The goal was 175.

The challenge has been thrown to the men that they should have two hundred this coming Sunday.
 Their goal was 100. They seem however to be in line for the 200 instead. WANTED! 200 men Sunday.

One thousand in Sunday school is the goal of the teachers and officers of the school have set for the first Sunday in April. If we work hard we can put it over.

Another goal is a Standard Sunday School by the time the Sunday School convention meets in Waco the middle of April. It looks very much like we will reach this goal before that time.

The goal Sunday week (the 26)
 is in the Cradle Roll department.
 Wanted! 30 in the Cradle Roll department of our Sunday School on that day.

Each Sunday special recognition will be given to the department striving toward its goal.

SPALDINGS TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE

Rev. and Mrs. Spalding announce that they will hold open house for the members of the First Baptist Church on the evening of February 24, from 7:00 o'clock until 10 o'clock. It is hoped that all members of the church will call at some time during the hours named. Those members having husbands or wives or some other immediate family relation who is a member of some other denomination, are asked to bring them also, as especially invited guests.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

A "song-fest" during the regular morning hour of worship is planned by the First Presbyterian Church for Sunday. Mr. Everett Williams of Turnersville will be in charge, assisted by Mrs. Williams, who will play the piano.

The purpose of this "singing" is three-fold: (1) Really to worship the Lord in song. Singing the hymns of the Church is a vital way to worship, and this meeting gives emphasis to it. (2) To learn some new hymns. So may hymns in any hymnal go to waste. Mr.
 Williams will lead the congregation in learning some new hymns.
 (3) To make the hymns we sing mean more by an understanding of the message conveyed by the words, the circumstances back of its writing, or something of how the hymns have been used to bring help and comfort in past years.

Everyone who likes to sing or to hear others sing, will want to be present for this hour of worship.

At the vesper hour (five o'clock) the pastor will continue his series of studies in Philipians. The subject of this study will be "A Formula for Peace." The text is Philipians 4:6, 7.

"I WOULDN'T BE WITHOUT MY TELEPHONE"

"Yes sir, our family has had a telephone ever since the first line was put up around here, and I'm going to keep mine. When you start figuring out the dividends the telephone's paid, you can hardly do it—for there's the time when the barn caught fire—then when the herd was sick—my best horse broke a leg—those winters we were snowbound—the different times the kids caught this and that and we needed the doctor—the better prices I've had from the market—I could go on and on and tell you how the telephone has really helped me. No, I can't figure what the telephone is worth, but I do know it pays me a lot more than it costs."

A Telephone will work just as hard for you and it will also pay you dividends—the kind that will make you glad you have a telephone. Ask our business office how little it cost.

of sheep and in turn increase my annual income around $150," said W. W. Guggolz today.

Mr. Guggolz said that the above acreage in the past was occupied by a large gully which supported only a growth of blood weeds and sun flowers. By sodding the above area with Bermuda and Buffalo grass the increased available forage for livestock will be greatly increased; this cover will also control erosion from outside and terrace water, since a soil building mantle of grass will soon cover the entire area.

"Even though the value of the farm has been increased considerably by the development of new pasture acreage on old waste land," continued Mr. Guggolz, "I expect the treatment of the cultivated fields and the old gullies to bring the greatest returns in the long run. Terraces and strip crops in the fields will hold most of the water where it falls and the sodded waterways thru the pasture strips will carry the surplus water off without allowing it to cut gullies and carry away any more of the good topsoil from the

GATESVILLE, TEXAS, FRIDAY, FEB. 17, 1939

NUMBER 17

The House has begun to speed up and show some tangible results. The early part of the week was devoted to a consideration of the appropriations bill for the "Independent Offices"—that is, government agencies that are not a part of any regular department like the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Civil Service Commission, the Federal Home Loan Board, the Tennessee Valley Authority, and dozens of similar agencies. This bill is long. It covers many different types of work. The most bitterly fought item in the bill was the appropriation to a continuation of the work already commenced on the great Gilbertsville Dam on the Tennessee River just above its mouth. This is primarily a flood control dam designed to help protect Cairo, Illinois and the country along the Lower Ohio and Middle Mississippi Valleys. Its construction would, however, produce some power, and not only did all the power people fight this appropriation, but the coal producing regions as well joined in an effort to prevent the construction of the dam. I voted for continuing the work, but the opponents were successful in striking out all appropriations for this work. Of course, the bill was finally passed as amended.

Later in the week we appropriated the money necessary for the Dies Committee on Un-American and Subversive Activities to continue its work. The committee was given $100,000 and was given until the first of next year in which to report. There were a number of members who do not believe in this committee who tried to cut the appropriation down so low as to keep it from actively functioning, and failing in this, some of these same congressmen sought to require the committee to report before Congress adjourns this Summer. Of course, all of these efforts were but attempts to make the committee ineffective. I think that it is well to turn the light on all un-American activities, and so I voted to give this committee both time and money for its work. It will be well worthwhile if it but arouses public sentiment in this country so that we will demand the suppression of foreign influences within our own country.

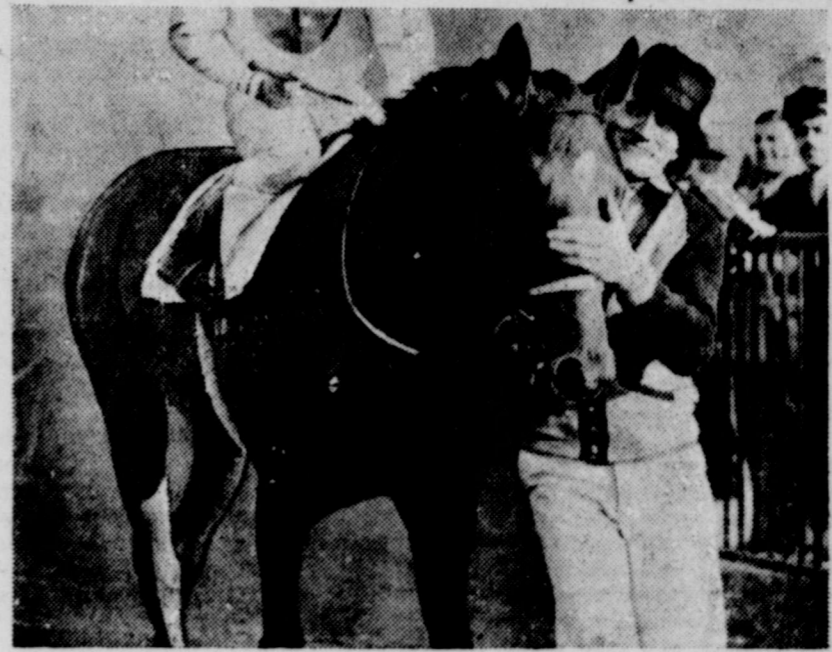

In this connection, I feel that it is just as important to protect our Government from enemies at home as from those abroad. Next week we will take up the Army Appropriations Bill, and I am sure that there will be a great difference of opinion as to just how far we should go in the matter of rearmament. I believe that we should take every reasonable step to provide for our own defense. I do not think that we should involve ourselves in any foreign alliances, and in this connection I feel that there is doubtless some misunderstanding about the sale of airplanes to France and England. This is a perfectly regular transaction. Any nation that is at peace can buy airplanes here if they have the money with which to pay. This has always been our policy. There can be no reason for denying Frances the same privilege that all other nations enjoy. Of course, the President has pointed out that supplying the needs of a friendly nation was not only good business, giving employment to our working men and a market for our raw materials, that it not only strengthened the ties of friendship (not of any alliance) that properly existed between our country and all of the Democracies of the World, but that in addition it enabled us to build up and have ready for our own use, should need arise, the plants and personell for mass production of our own aerial needs.

Yesterday, the House passed a far reaching measure whereby the Federal Government will, hereafter, tax the income of State and local officials, and the States and localities in turn may tax the incomes of Federal officials. Heretofore, neither government has taxed the salaries paid to officials of the other, but it seems that this practice has resulted in making many officials unresponsive to the effect of increased taxation. We hope this will make them tax conscious. It will make all public officials pay the same taxes on their incomes that any other citizen pays. In passing, however, I want to say that, contrary to general opinion CONGRESSMEN have ALWAYS been subject to income tax, and I have had to pay all the taxes that any other citizen of Texas has to—and this is as it should be. The new act will I trust, be followed by one subjecting Government bonds to taxation, thereby wiping out all exceptions.

FRIED CHICKEN OR FAT PORK
By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Breeder-Feeder Association

Fried chicken is a luxury for which city people willing to pay high prices. Probably not one person in ten even had enough fried chicken to get tired of it, for few are able to buy it regularly after it passes through the hands of dealers and caterers, yet farm folk who raise it and can have it every Sunday and in between at a fraction of the money cost to city people, are too much inclined to treat fried chicken as luxury only to be served when company comes.

Whether you set the hens on their own eggs, hatch them in a home incubator, or buy baby chicks from the commercial hatchery, the cash outlay for raising a two pound fryer is only a few cents. Any well-managed farm raises at least part of the grain which chickens need, and for which they will pay a good price, either for home consumption or sale. The mash feeds required to balance the ration can be had in every town nowadays, and a few farm "crops" offer as quick a turnover as the sixty days or so that it takes to bring a chick to maturity for market or home use.

It is nothing short of tragic that some farm families deprive themselves and their children of all the eggs and chickens they can eat and enjoy, sitting down day after day to fat pork shipped in from Wisconsin or Iowa. Of all people who ought to live well the farmer who produces the food is that one, and he lives well in just about the proportion that he grows what he can use at home without having to pay tribute to handlers, processors, haulers and merchandisers.

All these people render an essential service and farmers can no more do without the cities than the cities can do without the farmers. It is worth thinking about, however, that every dollar a farm family saves by producing for its own use is a dollar that can be spent for something else they cannot produce; some of the things farm folks too often do without because they are not indispensable.

Now the farm poultry business is different from the specialized poultry business in many respects. There is less cost, less risk of disease, less cash outlay all along the line. At the same time it brings returns for time and labor that would otherwise have no market, and since their time and ability is the principal thing many farm families have to sell, those who do not find some profitably activity for the hours not needed in crops lose something that is irrecoverable.

Besides the good eating there is always some kind of a market for the surplus, and many a farm flock buys the flour, coffee and other groceries which cannot be produced at home. If the market is low when the fryers or broilers are ripe, housewives have learned to can the meat for future use or sale. I know a west Texas store which buys its canned chicken from the women's home demonstration club members in the community and sells it in chicken salad and sandwiches.

W. A. Painter, a tenant farmer in Hale county (Texas) rents a freezer-locker in town for $10 a year. If the fryer, broiler or turkey market is down when his fowls are ready, he dresses them at home and stores them in the locker to be sold after the rush season is over. Mr. Painter also has built up a good business in dressed turkeys direct to customers in Dallas and Fort Worth, 300 miles away. "Where there's a will there's a way" is just as true as when it was first printed in the old Blue Back speller three generations ago.

IT'S HERE! The NEW Firestone CHAMPION TIRE with the NEW Safety-Lock Cord Body and NEW Gear-Grip Tread

Stronger Cord Body
More Non-Skid Mileage

Plus FAMOUS TRIPLE-SAFE CONSTRUCTION

FLOYD ROBERTS
1938 National Race Champion

Champion race drivers, whose very lives and chances of victory depend on tire safety, know tire construction and that is why they select and buy Firestone Tires for their racing cars.

FIRESTONE triumphs again! This time with the new Firestone Champion, the tire that sets the safety standards for 1939. This new tire provides a combination of safety features never before built into a tire. It is a completely new achievement in safety engineering.

From the experience gained on the speedways of the world and in the Firestone laboratories, Firestone engineers have developed a revolutionary new type of cord body called Safety-Lock, which provides amazingly greater strength. This outstanding achievement makes possible the use of a thicker, tougher, deeper tread which assures much greater non-skid mileage. Because of this new Safety-Lock Cord body and Gear-Grip tread, the modern streamlined Firestone Champion Tire establishes completely new standards of blowout protection, non-skid safety, silent operation and long mileage.

The Firestone Champion Tire embodies the famous Firestone Triple-Safe construction — you get the exclusive and patented Firestone construction features of Gum-Dipping, two extra layers of Safety-Lock cords under the tread and Gear-Grip tread design. Never in all the history of tire building has there been such a triple-safe combination to protect you against the dangers of blowouts, punctures and skidding.

Come in today and equip your car with a set of new Firestone Champion Tires — the only tires made which are safety proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

Grandma Graham Brought East Texas First Cook Stove, Granddaughter Finney Helps Bring State First Native Opera

MARGARET FINNEY

Margaret Finney, the charming young lyric soprano who sings the role of Prairie Flower in the opera "Cynthia Parker" at its world premiere at the North Texas State Teachers College February 16-17 is a school marm, a former Juillard student and professional singer, and a progressive Texan from "way back".

For Miss Finney will have you know that her family has been liberally mixed up with the forward looking history of her native state from almost the beginning. Take for instance, the Swank blood in her veins. The Swanks came down the Mississippi from Wisconsin along about 1854, and then up the Trinity to Dallas at a time when that city was no metropolis.

Out in East Texas, where they settled, Grandma Swank had the first sewing machine in that section of the world, and people drove for more than a hundred miles to see it.

Then there was Grandma Graham. She too was progressive; had the first cook stove in her neck of the woods and proud of it. But like a lot of loyal Southerners, Grandma Graham didn't regard the abolition of slavery as a step forward in the progress of the world. Grandma Graham, who was sheriff of Van Zandt County, was killed by the bushwhackers during the Civil War, and ever after that Grandma Graham had one of her negro boys stand on the front porch and yell "damnyankees" at the carpetbaggers as they rode by.

Well, look how the Swanks felt about the Civil War, for that matter. Granpa Swank was one of those "bitter-end" Van Zandters who were going to secede after the war and set up the little Republic of Van Zandt. A cockleburry old gentleman when he was aroused, was Grandpa Swank. He was one of the leaders of that army from Wills Point which was going down to Conton and forcibly bring back the county archives about the time the two towns were quarreling about changing the county seat in the good old days. And that was certainly progress from a Wills Point point of view.

Then, what about the Graham who was construction engineer for the first railroad in Texas? He built a line from Beaumont to Houston for which Miss Finney says he got a lot of land. But land wasn't worth much in those days.

So now this descendent of the Swanks and the Grahams, Margaret Finney of Temple, Texas, is helping bring progress to the Lone Star State, just like Grandma Graham and Grandma Swank. This time it is opera, native born and bred—Julia Smith's "Cynthia Parker", which is probably the first opera ever to have its premiere in a Texas college or university. And opera, says Margaret Finney, is just as much sign of progress as the first sewing machine or the first cookstove.

In the performance, Miss Finney sings one of the three leading roles, the other two being taken by Leonora Corona, former prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and Roger Harris, graduate student in music at the Teachers College.

Finney, a former pupil of William Brady, has traveled under the auspices of the National Music League, singing Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel" and small versions of Von Flotow's Martha. She was a singer and played second treble with Van Beuren Players of Ancient Instruments which has since been formed into a school in New York City. She studied ballet with Theodor Kosloff's Imperial Russian School of Ballet and danced in his "Scherazade." She also appeared in a New York musical comedy, "May Wine".

Mrs. H. M. Fellers spent Friday night with her sister, Mrs. Sam Whigham of Flat.

vidson of Hamilton Sunday. Mr. C. A. Lawrence of Valley Mills visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Lawrence and other relatives Sunday.

SYNOPSIS
 Jane Hartman, beautiful bank secretary, discovers that her brother is mixed up in the operations of a band of bank robbers. She goes to him and tries to make him surrender. Mr. Gibbs, "brains" of the gang, traps her by wounding the brother and threatening to kill him unless Jane gets a truck in which the outfit can make its getaway. At a lunch counter, she finds Tony Andrews (Lloyd Nolan), independent trucker. He agrees to give her a ride when she tells him a hard luck story. Calling for her at the gang's headquarters, he is judged by Gibbs and his truck taken over.

CHAPTER IV
TONY choked on the whisky Randall was trying to force down his throat and slowly regained consciousness. He was stretched on the divan in the living room of the bungalow, he discovered. His head, swathed in a wet towel, ached and throbbed.

His eyes focused on Mr. Gibbs who was sitting beside the couch, his chin resting on the crook of that deadly umbrella of his. Mr. Gibbs smiled. Sidney and Randall hovered in the background.
 "Ah! How do you feel, my boy?" he inquired solicitously.
 "Terrible," Tony muttered thickly. "Something hit me."
 "You'll be all right in a minute—just lie still." Mr. Gibbs continued in a soothing voice.

"Who are you, the doctor?" Tony asked.
 "Not exactly," Mr. Gibbs smiled disarmingly. "I'm the man who hit you over the head." With the point of his umbrella he picked up the wet towel which Tony had discarded and handed it to Sidney.
 "Freshen that up for our friend," Mr. Gibbs said.

As Sidney turned, Tony saw that the entire left side of the other's face was scalded. Tony sat up.
 "Oh . . . you're the gent who likes to hide behind doors," Tony said.

In a sudden fit of rage, Sidney hurled the towel in Tony's face. Instantly Tony sprang at Sidney. He was halted in his attack by the sharp point of the ferrule on Mr. Gibbs' umbrella prodding him in the chest.
 "That's enough," Mr. Gibbs barked. "Get out, both of you—I want to talk to this young man." As Sidney hesitated, glaring at Tony, Mr. Gibbs dexterously shifted his grip on the umbrella from the handle to the ferrule and raised it menacingly. Sidney faced him tensely for a moment and then slunk from the room.

"This is a chummy little household," Tony ventured. "Where's the girl who wanted a ride?"
 "She's here and she still wants it," Mr. Gibbs answered. Randall returned with a wet towel but Tony waved it aside. "I don't need that," he declared. "If we're going, let's get started." He paused and studied Mr. Gibbs. "Or are you going to rob another bank first?" Tony inquired softly.

Mr. Gibbs and Randall involuntarily exchanged a quick glance.
 "I'm afraid you are being just a little romantic," Mr. Gibbs said, smiling his enigmatic smile.
 "I don't think so. A beautiful girl lures me here, so I figure you need my truck," Tony explained. "You slug me—but not too hard—and then take good care of me. That means you need me." Tony extended his hand. It contained several empty cartridges from Sidney's gun. "And when I found these under me on that sofa, I just put two and two together—and it adds up to ninety-eight thousand dollars!"

 Randall turned to Mr. Gibbs. "You know this clown of a truck driver may be something of a nuisance," he said.

"Yeah?" Tony cut in. "How far do you think you can get without me?"
 "Listen, chum," Randall retorted. "I've handled everything from a bob-sled to an autogyro. You're not the only one who can drive a truck."
 "I'm the only one who can drive

ing subject. . . . tion before they were permitted to pass through the police lines. Tony was right. The bank bandits needed him and his truck.
 At police headquarters the only tangible piece of evidence, the "vaporizer" mounted on its small truck, was disassembled and thoroughly checked. The entire apparatus, including the truck itself, had been assembled from odd parts undoubtedly purchased simply from second hand dealers. These, Gonzales admitted, were almost impossible to trace. But the brass nozzles which fed the gas into the tank were new. The police concentrated on them.
 Their search led them to a small hardware dealer on the outskirts of this truck without it being stopped," Tony pointed out. "By now the cops will be watching every road out of town, mister, and a lot of 'em know that boat of mine. The minute they see somebody else at the wheel—" He waved his hands expressively and turned to Mr. Gibbs. "But you know that, or you'd have hit me harder," Tony concluded.

"Our destination need hardly concern you," Mr. Gibbs answered. "If you'll just sit at the wheel and behave yourself I'll take care of you."

 "Quite right," Mr. Gibbs agreed silkily. "We see eye to eye, my young friend." He arose and started for the door. "We're going to do a little work on your truck now and then you're going to drive all of us—just one big, happy family."
 "All right," Tony's tone was casual. "Where are we going? Or do you just want to get out of town?"
 "Our destination need hardly concern you," Mr. Gibbs answered. "If you'll just sit at the wheel and behave yourself, I'll take care of you."
 "And if I don't?"
 Mr. Gibbs' voice was as suave as ever but it had a sinister note nevertheless.
 "Then Sidney will take care of you," he said.

Meanwhile the police had not been idle. Under Captain Gonzales' supervision, a drag-net had been spread over the entire state. Every road leading out of town was patrolled and all motorists were be-the city. Yes, he had sold the nozzles, he admitted, but he couldn't remember anything about the purchaser. The man had paid cash and had hired a small boy in the neighborhood to carry the nozzles away in a hand-drawn wagon. No, he couldn't identify the boy, either.

 Captain Gonzales had an idea. A few seconds later "Uncle Toby's Children's Hour" on the local radio station was interrupted for the following announcement:
 "Station WIRB has been asked by the Police Department to make a very important announcement, so listen carefully. About a month ago a small boy with an express wagon helped a man take home some bundles from Mosher's Hardware Store at 1722 Terry Street. The Police Department wants that boy to report immediately to the hardware store. The boy will be rewarded. Get that address—1722 Terry Street."
 In a matter of minutes, Mosher's Store was surrounded by an army of small boys. As Captain Gonzales and his detectives lined them up for examination, Mr. Gibbs came out of the store and pushed his way through the group. He had just bought paint, brushes and plaster of paris. Unmolested, he returned to the bungalow!
