There are 30 churches in the Leon River Association, and all of these are expected to have messengers at this workers' conference.

MRS. F. D. ROOSEVELT TO SPEAK IN WACO HALL MARCH 13

Texas eyes are being concentrated on Waco, for Monday night, March 13, when Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President will speak at Waco Hall, Baylor University, under the auspices of the Domestic Science Club, which will be for the benefit of the Waco Working Girls Club.

Mrs. Roosevelt is an effective, persuasive and forceful speaker, and one feature of her addresses is the time given to a "question and answer time", which, due to her extremely keen mind, never puts her behind the 8-ball, so to speak.

$120,826.10 IN CHECKS RECEIVED BY FARMERS HERE: TOTAL PAYOFF HERE TO BE $370,000: STILL COMING

Farmers of the county are "around another corner."

To date, 1789 checks have been received at the AAA office here to the amount of $120,826.10, just a little over one-third of what is yet to come, the total amount being approximately $370,000.

Cards have already been mailed out on the checks which have already arrived, and as fast as the other checks are received, the other notification cards will be mailed.

Farmers of Texas got approximately one fourth of the $500,000,000 which was allotted to Texas.

Checks which are not called for in the AAA office will be held for 21 days, and then returned to the disbursing office in Dallas.

No one, insurance company, holding agency, or other individual can receive more than $10,000 in AAA payment.

Last week, the first batch of some 628 checks arrived totaling about $20,980.

This help, which will materially aid farming, business and professional interests hereabouts, will ease the strain of a now feeble winter, and especially, at the tax and car license paying time.

Literally, "manna from Heaven."

MINATURE CRIME WAVE HITS TOWN: SOMETHING HAPPENS EVERY DAY DURING WEEK: COUNTERFEITERS ARE NABBED

A wave of crime for a week!

Headlining or climaxing the entire week, was the arrest early Thursday morning of two men by Sheriff J. H. Brown and deputies near Cox's Springs, with considerable counterfeit money, moulds and other paraphernalia, which, Uncle Sam says should only be used in the U. S. Mints. They were lodged in the local jail awaiting the arrival of Federal Bureau of Investigation men from San Antonio who were due to arrive late yesterday afternoon.

Names of the men were not given by Sheriff Brown. They were driving a light pick-up and were armed, or had firearms in their car. One of the men, it was said, was tried here some time ago on a forgery charge, and they are said to have come from East Texas originally.

Eighty-two dollars in good All-American greenbacks were taken from the men. Plaster of Paris moulds were alleged to have been used for making the money, which was 5, 10, 25 and 50 cent pieces, made of highspeed babbit, which was marked so as to indicate it had been bought in Corsicana. The coins were almost perfect in weight, "sound" and size, the only defects being their smoothness and lack of sharp edges and protrusions.

Starting the week off, Sheriff brown arrested a man named Anderson in a car alleged to have been stolen in San Antonio. The car was a '35 or '36 Ford, it was said. He gave the names of 20 men alleged to be connected with a car stealing ring. Ranger Kelly Rush of Waco was advised and came for the man.

Sometime during the week, in a difficulty on the "Hill", a colored man is said to have "worked over" a colored woman, who was alleged to have been threatening with a razor, both of them being lodged in jail. The weapon supposed to have been used, an 1 1/2-inch sapling, about 3 feet long is in the Sheriff's office.

Also, Wednesday night, unknown parties broke in the front door of the T & P Service Station on West Leon, by prying the door with a bar, and took six truck tires, estimated to be worth $150 from the station. Nothing else was touched. No arrests have been made.

This week, in Meeks Cafe, a bunch of checks, taken in a burglary of Wright and Patterson's Garage at Tuscola, and drawn on a Tuscola bank, were found abandoned. No arrests were made in this case, since the "placers" evidently didn't bother anything in Gatesville.

About 1 a. m. Wednesday, of one of Gatesville's "nighteries" to Frank Farquhar were called to one of Gatesville's "nigheries" to quell a disturbance caused by one of the visitors. No arrest was made since the disturber took refuge on a local government reservation.

So, completes a week of lively activities for the keepers of peace and order in this neighborhood.

HORNETTES ENGAGE IN DIST. TOURNEY HERE FRI. AND SAT.

Gatesville's Hornettes, victorious in last week end's county tournament, will again face the cream of the crop of girls teams in this county when they square off with Ireland, Turnersville, and Jonesboro in a four-team tournament here this week end to decide who should represent this district in the girl's State Meet to be held in Waco next week.

By virtue of their previous victories the clubs entered in the tourney, the Hornettes are the overwhelming favorites to come out on top. Ireland's hustling Cardanettes, however, may upset the dope and defeat the Hornettes, as they have already done once this season. The Hornettes have beaten the Ireland club three times, twice by top heavy scores, and have fully established their supremacy over the Red sextette.

The Hornettes and the Ireland club will tangle Friday night at 7:30. This is due to be the feature game of the tournament. Gatesville barely eked out a 21-19 win over Ireland in the county tourney last week.

In the next game of the night Turnersville and Jonesboro, two teams not as strong as Gatesville but more evenly matched, will stage a contest that is going to be

IN MEMORIAM OF LEOTA
FRANCES FISHER

Leota Frances Fisher came to the world and blessed the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Fisher on January 28, 1927 of the Mountain community, Gatesville, Texas. Where she lived until her death on March 1, 1939 at 2 a. m. at the Gatesville Hospital. She was 12 years old. Frances was laid to rest by the side of a baby brother who passed on before her. In the Greenbriar Cemetery.

We were all grieved to the bottom of our hearts for the loss of a loved one and one who loved and was as loving as Frances. She was kind and true and kept a bright light burning wherever she was. Frances wore a smile for everyone. While she was in pain there was a trace of her smile below the lines of agony she had to bear.

Now there is a vacant place in that home, she fills another place with God in the land where there isn't any pain or sorrows. The hearts of her loved one will heal as her pains are healed, to know she suffers no more.

Frances was a good pupil in school as well as a child. She was always ready and willing to do the right thing. She took life as it came and never complained. She was always ready to work and when she hit a stumbling block, she didn't back down but kept trying until her task was won. She knew the right way of life and loved to go to Sunday School and Church. She was a child of God for she loved her home and her works of life. Although her work on earth is done.

Everyone who knew Frances loved her, everyone she met were friends.

Frances was the youngest child and left a vacant chair in the home that consists of the grieved Mother and Father, two brothers Robert and Ernest, three sisters, Ida Mae and Eunice of Mountain, Beatrice of Italy, Texas, three nieces. She was a grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Fisher of Ireland. A much loved niece of a group of Aunts and Uncles, brothers and sisters of both the mother and father.

Pallbearers were, Fred, Robert, Luther, Benton and Hug Fisher, brothers of Dallas Fisher, and one nephew, Otis Fisher. Flower girls were classmates of Frances.

May God bless that home and heal the sadden hearts. Our sympathy is with them all. God bless you.

Tolerance is the vision that enables us to see things from another's point of view.—Lassen.

Russians Convene, Speed 'Plan'

Photograph shows Josef Stalin (left), Soviet dictator, and Premier Viacheslav M. Molotov, directors of the Russian Communist party's eighteen congress which opens at Moscow today. Chief business before the convention is speeding of Russia's second five-year plan to complete one of the most gigantic development programs in history by 1942.

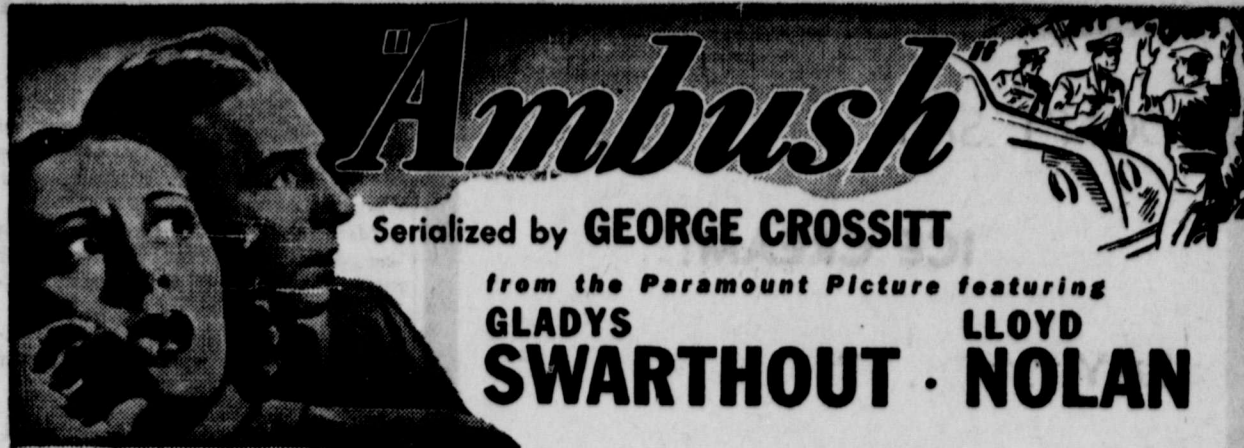

Yesterday was Texas Independence Day and I was privileged to make some remarks on the Floor of the House on the subject. I hope I was able to impress the Members of Congress from other States with the importance of that date.

This afternoon Mrs. Roosevelt christened the "Yankee Clipper"—the new airship that is going to carry on the trans-Atlantic service. I did not have time to go down although it was tied up at the Navy Yards only a rather short distance from the Capitol. We could, however, from our window, see it in the air and the other airplanes coming in to the ceremonies.

The House has been dealing with "big money" this week. We have passed two bills carrying a total of more than a billion dollars. First we had the Post Office and Treasury Departments Appropriation Bill amounting to nearly three quarters of a billion, then today we passed the regular Military Establishment Appropriation Bill amounting to just a little under half a billion. These involve tremendous sums but they are but regular annual appropriation bills for these three departments. They represent neither a decided retrenchment nor a material expansion of appropriations for these services, and this, I think, is the temper of this Congress. I do not think that it is going to effect the economies that many of us feel are possible and feasible, but on the other hand, I do not think that it is going to spend money as freely as has been done in the past.

I feel that we could save millions in our Federal Government if we would but require the various departments to exercise a little ordinary economy, but I find that these departments are so independent of Congress that we in Congress have no way to control their expenditures except to itemize their appropriation, which is an impossible task with the multitude of Federal activities, and a hardship on any properly administered Governmental agency. But in a broad way, I feel that Congress is losing faith in our ability to "spend ourselves out of the depression." I do not mean that Congress is going to stop all of the spending programs at once. To know that would undoubtedly paralyze all our financial activities, but I do feel that there should and will be a tapering off process.

As I have often said, if we can show all our people and their representatives just how fundamental it is to all property that we increase farm income, I think we can center our efforts on farm recovery and not only improve the condition of agriculture but of all industry as well. I think that most of our economists will agree that for each new dollar of farm income we also add a dollar to factory payrolls and seven dollars to national income. This fact is known to the economists but it seems that many of the Members of Congress as well as many of our own people have never looked on the farm program as anything more fundamental than a program of relief for farmers. I look on it as a recovery program for

SYNOPSIS
When bank robbers threaten to kill her brother unless she gets a truck in which they can make a getaway Jane Hartman, beautiful bank secretary lures Tony Andrews independent trucker to the gang's headquarters. Tony is bludgeoned and forced to drive the gang across the county line to a hidden plane. When they reach the plane the robbers prepare to shoot Jane Tony and her brother but Tony talking last persuades them to hide out on his ranch. While Tony and the gang leader are in town purchasing provisions Jane's brother digs up a gun and forces the plane's pilot to take him aloft.

CHAPTER X
HUNCHED over the control stick of the plane, Randall talked with frenzied earnestness.
"Listen, half-wit, do you think you can make a getaway? Every cop in the country's looking for this crate," he said over his shoulder. "They'll spot us before we're twenty miles from here!"

Gonzales and Bosen halted their car at a fork in the road. Before they could decide which road to take their attention was attracted by Randall's plane. As they watched, it went into a series of slow loops and disappeared behind a line of trees. There was a terrific crash, followed a second later by an explosion.
Bosen headed the car across the fields toward the wrecked plane.

Neither Tony nor Mr Gibbs had seen or heard the plane. As they arrived at the farmhouse Jane rushed out. "Charlie and Randall, she said breathlessly, "they went off in the plane!"
Mr Gibbs jaw sagged. Recovering himself, he leaped from the car and ran around the house. The plane was gone!

Alone with Jane for a moment Tony said quickly "The Sheriff may

"And now my fine young friends, I'm afraid we've really come to the parting of the ways," he said softly. As Tony started to speak Mr Gibbs cut him short. "No, Andrews, you can't talk yourself out this time. Just toss me the key to your car."
Tony obeyed but he tossed it just out of Mr Gibbs' reach. As Mr Gibbs bent over to recover it, Tony leaped on him. The gun fell to the floor.

Twisting out of Tony's grasp, Mr Gibbs swung his umbrella viciously down on Tony's arm. As Tony recoiled in pain, Mr Gibbs hooked Tony's ankle with the umbrella handle and sent him sprawling. His head struck the wall and he lost consciousness.

As the master bandit stooped to recover his gun he heard the sound of a car approaching. A quick glance through the window revealed Gonzales and Bosen pulling up in the police car. Mr Gibbs quickly shot the bolt on the door.

"Come out of there!" Gonzales ordered.
Mr Gibbs pushed Jane into position between him and the door.

"All right," he answered. "I'll come out but get off the porch first."

As Mr Gibbs pushed Jane ahead of him through the doorway, Tony's eyelids fluttered and he managed to sit up. He took in the situation at a glance. Seizing the shotgun shells in his pocket he tossed them into the glowing coals in the fireplace.

"Don't shoot! This girl is innocent," Mr Gibbs called to the police officers, "but if you don't let me get to that car, I'll—"

The staccato explosion of the shotgun shells behind him caused him to whirl and fire blindly into the shack. As he realized his error and again faced the police, Tony swung Mr Gibbs' discarded umbrella. It caught the bandit on the forearm holding the gun. The automatic clattered to the floor. Tony leaped on Mr Gibbs. Gonzales and Bosen joined Tony in subduing Mr Gibbs.

"Where's the rest of em?" Captain Gonzales demanded as he snapped handcuffs on Mr Gibbs.

"They—they got away in the plane," Tony gasped, still breathless from his struggle with Mr Gibbs.
"Did they take the money with them?" Gonzales demanded.

"No, that's in the car," Tony answered.

Further questioning was halted by the arrival of a farmer in a car. He, too, had seen the falling plane and had rushed to be of assistance.

"They're both dead, Captain," the farmer said as he stepped out of his car. "One of them was just a kid. I found this in his hand," he continued as he extended the pearl-handled revolver to the police officer.

Jane's eyes widened and then filled with tears. Recognizing the revolver she suddenly recognized something else: The sacrifice that Charlie had made for her. No longer would he be a problem.

Wordlessly she turned to Tony. And wordlessly he took her in his arms.

THE END

As the master bandit stooped to recover his gun, he heard the sound of a car approaching.

"That's just what I want them to do," Charlie answered calmly. Randall thought he understood.

"So that's it. You've decided to turn stool-pigeon and save your own neck, eh? Well, the joke's on you. There isn't enough gas in this job to take us around the corner."

"Where we're going we won't need any gas," Charlie replied.

Involuntary terror gripped Randall. "Look, kid—I'll make a deal with you," he pleaded. "Let me go back and I'll split my share of the dough with you."

Charlie looked at him contemptuously. "Keep climbing," was his only answer. The engine began to sputter. With sudden desperation, Randall abandoned the stick and threw himself on Charlie. The gun spat but the bullet crashed harmlessly through the windshield. Randall's fist caught Charlie and he dropped.

But as Randall leaped back to recover control of the ship, Charlie seized the empty gun by the muzzle and brought it down with terrific force on Randall's skull.

The plane whirled and fluttered crazily.

be here any minute. Get in the house and light a fire as a signal."

Further conversation was checked by the return of Mr. Gibbs, gun in hand. "Get in the house and stay there!" he snarled at Jane. Covering Tony with the gun he drove him to the porch of the house and began frantically tearing up the rotten floor boards. In a moment he dragged out the two bulky tires containing the stolen money. Momentary relief flooded Mr. Gibbs' face. At least Randall and Charlie had not escaped with the money.

"Carry them back to the car!" Mr. Gibbs ordered. Suddenly he saw the smoke pouring from the chimney of the farmhouse. Inside, Jane was tossing narrow strips torn from a blanket on a roaring fire and then checking the draft with the remainder of the blanket to produce a heavy smoke.

Forcing Tony to precede him, Mr. Gibbs rushed back into the house. With the hook of his umbrella he dragged the logs and smoldering blanket out of the fireplace. As the smoke diminished, Mr. Gibbs swung on Tony and Jane. His face was contorted with rage.

the nation. At least that is what it should be and would be if we would go far enough to really give the farmer a profitable price for all his crop. We have long been promised such an income thru parity payments, but the payments have never been large enough and have never been paid on a large enough part of the farmer crop to bring agricultural income up to a point where it could exert the influence on national income that we need. I am for, and will vote for, such payments directly out of the treasury, but I doubt our ability to get this much. It seems more probable to me that we have a better chance of getting some kind of price control for agricultural products.

This morning I attended the hearings before the Agricultural Committee on the "Cost of Production Bill". Last night I met with a group of Congressmen from agricultural states to discuss and consider a proposal to make parity loans on all major farm products with the Government selling all surplus over domestic consumption on the world market and absorb the loss. Both of these plans have lots of difficulties to overcome, but they are both based on the fundamentally sound principle that a farmer is just as truly entitled to a price for this product that will give him his cost of production as a laborer is to a living wage, or a utility or railroad to a rate that will pay a fair return on its investments, and it is just as much the duty of the Government to get it for him. It takes years to get these ideas into law, but I believe that our people are gradually coming to realize that in leaving agriculture on an unprofitable basis we are definitely curtailing all national income and prosperity.

The Safety Sensation of 1939!

THE NEW Firestone CHAMPION

The Only Tire Made with the NEW SAFETY-LOCK CORD BODY and NEW GEAR-GRIP TREAD...

NEVER before in our experience has a tire met with such instant and unanimous approval as the new Firestone Champion Tire. It's the Safety Sensation of 1939! Our customers have started a word-of-mouth campaign that is making this the biggest selling tire we've ever had. Motor car manufacturers have been so impressed by its superior performance that they have adopted it for their 1939 models.

Why? Because the Firestone Champion Tire is an entirely new achievement in safety engineering.

Stronger Cord Body. This is accomplished first, by the use of a completely new type of tire cord called "Safety-Lock," in which the cotton fibers are more compactly interwoven to assure cooler running and provide greater strength. Then, the fibers in each individual cord, the cords in each ply and the plies themselves, are all securely locked together by a new and advanced Firestone process of Gum-Dipping which provides amazingly greater strength. And greater strength means greater safety.

More Non-Skid Mileage. The new Safety-Lock cord construction provides the extra strength needed for the use of the new, thicker, tougher, deeper Firestone Gear-Grip tread which delivers remarkably longer non-skid mileage. This sensational new tread is called "Gear-Grip" because of its unique design — it has more than 3,000 sharp-edged angles which grip the road with a sure-footed hold to protect against skidding and assure a safe stop.

Drive in today and equip your car with a new set of Firestone Champion Tires — the only tires made that are safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.
