Luncheon Compliments Gamma Alpha Chapter

Members and guests of the Gamma Alpha Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma, national honorary teaching sorority, were complimented with a luncheon at the Moon Hotel Saturday afternoon. The affair was the birthday and founder's day celebration of this organization, and the sorority's colors, red and gold, were used thruout in the decorations.

HORNETTES CONSIDERED ONE OF FAVORITES FOR STATE CROWN

Gatesville's Golden Hornets are now busily engaged in attempting to capture what would be the greatest title a Gatesville girls team has ever won, the state championship. The gigantic state tournament, in progress now at the Rena Marrs McLean gym at Baylor University, is the site of the battles, and all of the state's outstanding girls teams, with the lone exception of Allison, are entered.

The Hornets, who have gained statewide recognition with their splendid record this year, are recognized by critics everywhere as one of the favorites of the meet, along with Bullard, Ropesville, Van Horn, and Meadow.

The reason for this optimistic outlook on the local sextette's chances is the fact that the Hornets have already defeated four of the 16 teams entered by decisive margins, but, due to the traditional "hard luck" which always dogs the footsteps of any Gatesville team, none of the four clubs are in the same bracket with the Hornets.

The Hornets met the Courtney team, which came from somewhere near San Angelo, last night in their inaugural contest. Nothing was known of the strength of this team, nor the type of basketball they play, so the Hornets may already be out of the running. If, however, the Hornets happened to win the contest last night, they will meet the winner of the Ropesville-Bullard contest tonight at 8:30. This will be one of the toughest games of the tournament, as both of these teams are known to be strong clubs, and both are recognized as having a splendid chance to walk off with the State championship.

If they win this contest they will have earned themselves a place in the semi-finals.

The Hornets prospects received a serious blight in the early part of the week when Leta Bell Shoaf, sensational long shot artist, injured her ankle during a practice session. To offset her absence, Coach Schwarz has shifted Margaret Weaver to forward, where she will play alongside Madylene Patterson and Ruth Rutherford. Captain Sarah Hinson, who has been out the past week because of illness, has returned to her old guard post, thereby forming a defensive trio of Thomason, James and Hinson. However, Shoaf may be able to see action during the tournament, but at last reports her ankle was not healing as quickly as had been expected.

HORNET NINE TO MEET AGGIE SLIMES AT A. AND M.

According to a report received from Pat Olsen, cagey mentor of the local high school baseball club, the Hornet nine will meet the A. and M. Freshman team at College Station within a month. The Aggie officials, in answer to a letter of inquiry from Mr. Olsen, stated that they would pay the local's transportation expenses of they would come down and play the Aggie slimes. Their offer was readily accepted.

The Hornets opened the season by shoving down the State Training School team 13-4, Friday on the State diamond. Rutherford and Otis McBroom, a newcomer from Coryell City, divided the hurrying chores and both turned in fine jobs although the Schoolboy was wild in the early innings. Poman and Newton were offensive leaders for the Hornets.

HORNETS AWARDED CAGE LETTERS IN SPECIAL ASSEMBLY FRIDAY

The Gatesville Hornets, who fell before the Evant Elks in the county tournaments, were awarded letters for their season's work in a special school assembly Friday. The seven boys who were awarded the black and gold coat sweaters were Co-Captains Bruce Weaver and John Frank Post, Ben McDonald, Loraine Turner, Jack Moore, Harold Koch, and Ray Ward. A sweater was also given to the Hornets' splendid coach, Earle Worley.

HORNET TRACK SQUAD JINXED BY ILLNESS INJURIES

The Hornets' track prospects, which looked so bright when training opened two weeks ago, have been dulled considerably during the past two weeks by the illness of Coach Worley, a foot injury sustained by Floyd Deorsam, splendid half-miler, and by the absence of Bruce Weaver, a miler who has gone to Fort Worth to try out for the Texas Wesleyan football and basketball teams.

Worley, who suffered a bad attack of influenza, has been unable to attend a workout for the past two and a half weeks, and although work has been going on steadily, his absence has been keenly felt.

Deorsam, who was counted on to take the half mile, cut his foot with an axe, and has not been able to run at all for the past four or five days. Even though he may be able to participate in the county meet, which is still doubtful, he will be seriously set back by the loss of training.

ALL-DISTRICT TEAM NAMED AT CLOSE OF TOURNEY HERE

Closing the activities in the District Girl's Basketball Tournament which was held here the past week end, the all-District squad was named, and they were awarded gold basketballs.

Those named were: Leta Bell Shoaf, Hornetses, Margaret Weaver, Hornetses, Dorothy McAnelly, Jonesboro, forwards; Zoriada Thomason, Hornetses, Kelly, Turnersville, and Davis, Ireland, guards.

DEMONSTRATION AGENTS OFFICE

Planting Fruits and Vegetables
Viola Struempfer, member Coryell City 4-H Club reports planting seven peach trees, 1 plum tree, 30 berry plant, and heeling-in 28 fig cuttings. She made the fig cuttings from the live tips of fig bush limbs. From four to six inches is a satisfactory length for these. She has budled them together with wire and covered them underground upside-down. After the middle of March she will dig them up and distribute them to members of her club who will plant them rightside-up to root and grow.

In addition to planting trees and cuttings for producing fruit for home use, she also assisted with planting peas, onions, greens, potatoes so that vegetables for home use may be produced.

Frame Garden Covers

Last year there were twenty-five frame garden demonstrations in Coryell County. The seeds planted in these gardens were given by a southern seed company to only five Texas counties. Coryell county was one of the five counties which received the free seed by having twenty-five demonstrators enrolled immediately. This year the offer of free seeds is made to five other counties and Coryell county and the four other counties which received seed in 1938 will not be eligible to receive them in 1939.

The seed company cooperated thru the Extension Service to popularize the type of gardening known as "frame gardening". This type of planting is especially desirable where wind, sand, shortage of moisture, extreme summer heat or winter cold are limiting factors to home gardens. The frame garden helps to provide fresh vegetables for the family table.

The 1938 frame gardens in Coryell county proved so successful that many of the demonstrators have already replanted their frames or made better frames this year. One feature which needs to be improved is the type of cover employed. The food production specialist, Miss Jennie Camp, suggests a cover made from strips of canvass, such as that used on walls prior to papering them. She discourages the use of old blankets and duck except for protection in case of extreme cold. Muslin cloth covers may be tacked to one side of the frame and loop-and-nail fasteners provided at ends and other side, are recommended.

(A leaflet entitled "Frame Garden Suggestions" is available at the County H.D.A.'s office in the basement of the court house. Anyone who desires one may obtain it by request.)

OGLESBY F.F.A. NEWS

The local FFA Chapter of Oglesby High School was represented at the Fort Worth Stock Show, March 11, which was FFA Day. The Chapter entered in the Meat Identification and Milk Judging contests. The members making up the teams were Lloyd Manning, Arnold Sims, and W. F. Fowler for the Meat Identification contest and Gene Windham, Leroy Windham and Curtis Casey for the Milk Judging contest.

The judging teams left for Ft. Worth Friday morning about 11:00. We arrived in Fort Worth Friday evening in time to see the parade which was the largest that we had ever seen. We went to the Rodeo Grounds and remained until that night. We all had a good night sleep and on the following morning we assembled at the Coliseum to be sectionalized. The Meat Identification boys went to the Armour Packing house and the Milk teams went to the Swift Packing house to judge. All the boys were taken thru the plant where they saw many interesting things.

The Milk Judging teams were thru with their contest about 11:00 o'clock and the Meat Identification teams finished about two o'clock. We spent the rest of the day looking at the livestock and the exhibits. That night we went to the Rodeo and all had a big time.

Sunday morning we went up to the Black Stone Hotel and listened to the broadcast of the Bewley's Chuck Wagon Gang. We then went out to the city park and zoo, and were soon on our way home and arrived here at four o'clock.

Team winners in Milk in the order named by judges follow: Clarendon, Floydada, Kaufman, Whitebarrel, Bonham, Anton, Oglesby, Savoy and Mt. Vernon.

High teams in the Meat Identification contest in the order named were Denison, Richland Springs, Boyd, Floydada, Roanoke, Chillicothe, Rockdale, Emhouse, Cleburne, Saint Jo, Orange, Decatur, Crowell, Albany, Scurry-Rosser, Slanton, Gladwater, Ferris, Bryan, Azle, Mexia, Sherman, Oglesby, Granger and Caldwell.

The local chapter thought that their teams did well according to number of teams entering. There were between sixty and seventy schools entering the Meat Identification contest and about the same in Milk. Oglesby, Rockdale, and Granger were the only schools in Area VIII that placed in the high 25 teams. In the Meat Identification Contest Oglesby was the only school in Area VIII that placed in the high 10 teams.

THE BEACHCOMBER

A Story in Pictures of Charles Laughton's Great New Picture, "The Beachcomber" - Based on a Novel by W. Somerset Maugham

(CHAPTER TWO: Marooned With the Beachcomber.) The Controleur summons Ginger Ted into his office to receive his sentence. Uninvited, the brother and sister Jones follow. Attempting to maintain a serious face while upbraiding the culprit, the Controleur sentences him to a three-month banishment on a nearby island. The pair protest that he'll corrupt the natives!

Ginger's place of exile turns out to be a paradise on earth. The idol of the simple natives, he spends one idyllic day after another swimming with the inhabitants, basking in the sun and lolling under the fragrant palm trees. His devoted friends wait on him hand and foot. Weeks roll by without Ted's ever hearing the preachments and complaints of the despised Miss Jones. But his rule as king of the island Eden is due for an interruption!

While making a tour of the islands, Miss Jones learns to her horror that her boat is picking up Ginger Ted and bringing him back to the settlement. When she forbids the boatman to do this, he replies by saying that he is under orders from the Controleur, who wants his friend back with him again. Miss Jones swears she will have nothing to do with Ginger.

A sudden mishap to the boat's motors prevents Miss Jones from carrying through her resolution! When they are forced to stop at a deserted island, Ginger informs her that they will have to spend the night there. Hysterical at the thought, she refuses to go ashore. Ginger decides that force must be used and carries her, protesting, off the boat.

(Tomorrow: Ginger Turns Knight)

We have spent most of the past week in debating the so-called reorganization bill. It passed the House Wednesday night after 3 full days of hot and often personal debate. While this bill gives the President power to reorganize various bureaus and agencies of the Federal Government it is not at all the same bill that was introduced in the last Congress. This measure does not confer nearly so much power on the President as last year's measure, and it retains a definite veto on any reorganization in the hands of Congress. No one denies that these bureaus and offices should be reorganized, and in many cases they should be completely wiped out, but everyone who has watched things here at Washington agrees that there will be no general reorganization through the regular procedure. Of course, it should be otherwise, but as a practical matter, no member of Congress likes to go ahead and destroy an agency that some of his people are claiming to be indispensable—and even more important, almost every member hopes to secure something for his district or for his friends from most of these agencies. He hesitates to vote against the agency for fear that it will hurt his own people. For instance, I have heretofore mentioned the proposal to build a Census building in Washington for use a few months next year (it will then be another ten years before there will be a regular decennial census). This measure has been up four or five times. It has the support of the Administration. I know that our people may want to ask something of the Census Bureau next year, and hence I do not like to offend it. However, I have on each occasion voted against this expense, which I do not consider justified, but the majority of the House has voted for it. I cite this to show how hard it is to reduce the cost of Government by regular legislation.

This reorganization bill gives the President power to propose the reorganization of the agencies of Government, including the right to combine and abolish agencies. When Congress meets it will have 60 days in which to disapprove of any action the President may have taken, if it feels that the action is unwise. Otherwise, the proposed reorganization stands. The bill expressly protects such agencies as the General Accounting Office from its provisions and prohibits the President from creating any new department of Government. It is felt that in this way we may be able to get some economy and efficient service that we can not otherwise secure. I hope we may. We desperately need it, but I just can not bring myself to expect too much from this bill in spite of the publicity and fanfare attendant on its passage. It seems to me that at least 80% of the interest in this bill has been "political window dressing", but every administration, Republican as well as Democrat, for the past 15 years had asked for such a bill. If it will do only 20% of the good claimed for it it will be well worthwhile. I, therefore, voted for the bill.

Yesterday and today the House has been working on the Interior Department Bill. It will probably take two or three more days and will therefore not be passed until early next week.

There is a strike on at all the big down-town hotels. We live at a small place near the Capitol and are not effected, but it has forced the postponement of a number of meetings of various kinds. Last night our Southern group, which meets each Thursday night to discuss Southern problems, was forced to postpone its meeting.

This morning about fifty of us who are interested in flood control met in an effort to devise means for securing some early consideration of the various flood control projects of the nation. There are at the present time a great many more projects already approved by the Army Engineers and heretofore authorized by Congress than there is money with which to construct them. It, therefore, looks bad for our projects which have not yet even reached the stage of approval, much less authorization. Our group expects, however, to do our best to get as much of this flood control work as possible under way.

Spring seems to be coming much earlier than usual here in Washington this year. Many of the trees are beginning to show green. It certainly makes us wish we could visit Texas.

THIS WEEK IN AUSTIN

Austin— With antisales tax leaders claiming 56 House votes against that form of levy, following a caucus last week end, the Texas legislature prepared to plunge this week into what promises to be a memorable floor battle over what form of taxes, if any, will be submitted to the people this fall or late summer, to raise $40,000,000 of new social security revenue.

Debate on the proposed constitutional amendments, was scheduled to begin on the floor Tuesday. The amendment, an omnibus measure, would raise an estimated $33,000,000 of new revenue by imposing a two and one half percent sales tax on retail purchases and public utility bills, to be paid by the purchaser and collected by the seller; plus a 25 percent increase in present levies on oil, gas and sulphur; plus a tax on amusement admissions of 50 cents and over.

Push Income Tax

Those opposing the sales tax feature will seek, by floor amendments, to substitute a net income tax, with the same exemptions provided by the Federal income tax law, and a graduated income taxation schedule ranging from one to three percent for individuals, and a flat 3 percent for corporations. It is estimated this tax would raise about $20,000,000—the same sum estimated as the yield from the proposed sales tax for which it would be substituted, leaving a balance of $13,000,000 to come from the increased natural resource levies and amusements imposts.

The anti-sales tax group named a committee including G. C. Morris of Greenville; Alfred Derden, of Mariin; Bryan Brandbury of Abilene, DeWitt Hale of Farmersville, John Kerr, Jr., of La Grange and John M. Mohrman of Waco, to draft several amendments which will be offered in the effort to kill the sales tax feature of the omnibus amendment.

Meanwhile, with the session half over, the Senate is sitting quietly on the sidelines, insofar as taxation is concerned, awaiting House action. Many senators believe that the bitter struggle in prospect between sales taxers and anti-sales taxers in the lower house may result in a complete stymie, with no taxation measures getting thru the House.

Senate May Take Charge

Some Senators hope that the Senate then will be in a strategic position, by offering amendments or substitutions to some House revenue measure, for the upper body to take charge of the situation during the closing hours of the session, and thus write the State's tax policy for the new two years, at least, despite the Constitutional provisions granting the tax origination option to the House. What the Senate would do under these circumstances is problematical. There is a strong sales tax sentiment in the Senate, but on the other hand, there is also a strong conservative element which is opposed to any large new taxation burden at all at this time, believing that it is a fundamentally wrong policy to check back to the people the problem of choosing between various complicated and technical tax plans. Members of this latter school of thought feel that failure of this session to raise any large additional revenue would be indicative of the inability of the people of Texas to assume such a burden now, and would open the way to write a new and conservative declaration of policy on old age pensions, which would limit aid to strictly those in need, and recognize the economic futility of attempting to pension everybody on a more or less equal basis. They are unwilling to accept the O'Daniel dictum of $30 a month total income for everybody over 65, just as they found the unlimited $30 pension for everybody, advocated by the governor in his campaign, unacceptable.

How Would People Vote?

House members, on the other hand, seem to be generally in accord with the amended O'Daniel program of $30 total income for all over 65.

In an off political year, with normal poll tax payments down, and the aged holding exemption certificates, sentiment here generally inclines to the belief that almost any tax program planned to raise more money for the aged, would carry in a referendum effectuated by means of a constitutional amendment submission. They point out there are 275,000 persons over 65 in Texas. If each of these voted and controlled only one other vote, they point out it would roll up a vote of 550,000 for bigger pensions regardless of the tax method, which is sufficient to carry an election even in a record breaking poll tax payment year.

Austin—A bloc is rapidly taking shape in the House of Representatives for the avowed purpose of effecting a change in the personnel of the Old Age Assistance Commission in Austin. Albert Derden of Marlin is outspoken in his denunciation of methods employed by the present acting director, W. A. Little, and his first lieutenant, Claudis Hodges, so-called personal director. Three women, so-called "social experts," also are in the line of fire as these "experts" are alleged to be cold-blooded in their method of handling justifiable complaints registered from old folks over Texas.

In this connection, Representative Derden strongly condemns lobbying methods being employed by Hodges, Little and another assistant, Fred Varner. Varner was an assistant attorney general attached to the Old Age Assistance Commission until January 1, when Attorney General Gerald C. Mann failed to reappoint him to the $4,000 salary which he drew out of pension funds. Little then made Varner an "assistant director" and he stays on the job of lobbying with legislators. In an attempt to influence legislators, a series of stag parties have been held during the last 60 days at Hodges' lake-shore home on the Colorado River of Forney and his good wife visited this home recently along with some 15 other legislators. Rev. Roach, a retired Methodist minister, says he was shocked to find a bar installed in the home where beer and whiskies were being served freely. Rev. Roach reports he found one of the high officials of the Old Age set-up in a "visibly intoxicated condition" that evening and that he remonstrated at such conduct.

Other members report poker parties have been the habit of some of these officials rather than the exception. The same members hastened to explain they didn't know the purpose of these lake-shore home parties until they were on the scene and that they shall not accept such invitation again.

In the meantime, as Representative Darden points out, nothing has been done by the legislature or the governor to "clean up" the methods employed by the officials in charge of the pensions set-up here. "The people back home elected us as well as the governor last summer on the specific promise that we would clean up that bureau," he says. "And if we fail, we had better not ask for re-election in 1940."

In the meantime, also, thousands of letters from old folks and others interested in this all-important problem, addressed to the governor, have been sent on to the desk of Acting Director Little. The old folks themselves will verify this statement. Little then sorts these same letters and forwards them back to investigators in the field, who are told to answer them. This is not right, as in many instances, these letters contain complaints against methods employed by these same investigators. So where does it get the old folks? Is it any wonder that thousands of old folks all over Texas are plainly disgusted with the whole thing, ODaniel and all the others? Representative Derden and many other legislators see this angle and are determined to do something about it, and the bloc is forming. Other legislators who are working for the old folks include: W. J. Bailey of Wood County, E. J. Cleveland of Hays County, Maurice Dowell of Caldwell, R. L. Brown of Nacogdoches, Otis Lock of Angelina, Bryan Bradbury of Taylor, Harrell of Lamer, Ross Hardin of Limestone, Westbrook of Sabine, Cockrell of Lampasas, Fielden of Titus, Faulkner of Ellis, Bundy of Wichita, Roach of Kaufman, Baker of Grayson, Bond of Freestone, Pace of Cooke, Kerr of Fayette and scores of others too numerous to mention. These men are actively at work.

But the stag parties are still going on and some members are visibly affected by the glamour of a $20,000 home of native rock and Bastrop cedar together with fitting refreshments and chances to get friends and relatives a job in Austin. If you folks' back home want action down here, write or wire your legislator about this matter of saving the lives of our pioneers.

Short shorts—With fifty individual lobbyists in Austin working for the railroads, Representatives Homer Leonard's bill to raise the load limit to 20,000 pounds was killed in the House this week. Little hope is seen now for any legislation along this line although other bills are pending. The veterans preference bill was passed by both houses after a spirited fight against it in the House where it was opposed by Bowen Bond in a vigorous manner. It will instruct state department heads to employ ten per cent of their personnel from war veterans who can qualify. The fair trade bill and the anti-discrimination bill both have strong support in both houses and Governor O'Daniel already is committed for them. Both bills passed their second reading but failed to get special order setting by a few votes (two thirds majority is necessary for this action). Opponents concede they will pass.

A bill to abolish the liquor board failed to get even a minority report. The State health department is seeking $150,000 of State funds to match federal funds for fighting venereal disease in Texas, also $150,000 for rural cooperative health units, both very worthy causes. Better health conditions among our rural people will pay dividends, it is pointed out by legislators who favor helping this program.

We should endeavor to be long-suffering, faithful, and charitable with all. To this small effort let us add one more privilege, namely, silence whenever it can substitute censure.—Mary Baker Eddy

The Safety Sensation of 1939!

THE NEW Firestone CHAMPION

The Only Tire Made with the NEW SAFETY-LOCK CORD BODY and NEW GEAR-GRIP TREAD...

NEVER before in our experience has a tire met with such instant and unanimous approval as the new Firestone Champion Tire. It's the Safety Sensation of 1939! Our customers have started a word-of-mouth campaign that is making this the biggest selling tire we've ever had. Motor car manufacturers have been so impressed by its superior performance that they have adopted it for their 1939 models.

Why? Because the Firestone Champion Tire is an entirely new achievement in safety engineering.

Stronger Cord Body. This is accomplished first, by the use of a completely new type of tire cord called "Safety-Lock," in which the cotton fibers are more compactly interwoven to assure cooler running and provide greater strength. Then, the fibers in each individual cord, the cords in each ply and the plies themselves, are all securely locked together by a new and advanced Firestone process of Gum-Dipping which provides amazingly greater strength. And greater strength means greater safety.

More Non-Skid Mileage. The new Safety-Lock cord construction provides the extra strength needed for the use of the new, thicker, tougher, deeper Firestone Gear-Grip tread which delivers remarkably longer non-skid mileage. This sensational new tread is called "Gear-Grip" because of its unique design — it has more than 3,000 sharp-edged angles which grip the road with a sure-footed hold to protect against skidding and assure a safe stop.

Drive in today and equip your car with a new set of Firestone Champion Tires — the only tires made that are safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.
