THREE FIRES MAR WEEK OF FOURTH: NO ACCIDENTS

Three fires, marred Coryell County's "Fourth", but no accidents attributable to fireworks or no automobile accidents were reported, even tho, there were over 500 in the nation.

The afternoon of the "Fourth" a mechanical refrigerator fire made it necessary to call out the "Volunteers", but little damage was done to Glenn Gray's home.

After dark Monroe Blankenship lost some 3,000 bushels of oats and considerable hay, when a barn burned on a place about three miles east of Gatesville on Highway 7, just south of the "historical marker". Firemen answered this call.

Thursday morning about 2:30, Mrs. M. A. Chamlee's smoke house burned, and considerable meat, and other items.

No reasons have been given for the fires, and no estimate of the losses, or whether they were insured.

In this there was a large number of cowgirls on trained horses who were introduced individually, and were judged on appearance and horsemanship; she won the title of "Cowboy Sweetheart".

In the first entry mentioned she won $2.00, and in the second mentioned, she won $5.00.

HEARING ON HIWAY 36 HELD IN AUSTIN SATURDAY JULY 1st; FAVORABLE COMMENTS BY COMMISSION

Saturday in Austin, members of the local highway committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Judge Floyd Zeigler, J. Hurl McClellan, Rufus Brown and Commissioner Oad Painter, appeared before the State Highway Commission in the interest of Highway 36.

Included in the delegation which met at the capital city, were five or six men from Temple, headed by Joe Bonner, Chairman of the Highway Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and Board of Development of that city.

These men presented the proposition of closing the gap on Highway 36 between Gatesville and Temple and requested the entire gap be put on this year's state highway program.

According to Judge Floyd Zeigler, spokesman for the group, the entire commission was in a very favorable attitude toward this request, but made no commitments. Statements were made that they would take the matter under consideration, promising to do all possible toward the completion of

Incidentally, contract has already been let on Highway 36 from the already graveled 6 mile stretch northwest of Temple to the Leon River near Moffat, and on the six miles from Temple, a contract has been let for paving or topping this.

With this work and these contracts let on these short stretches, it seems natural that the commission will be favorable to continuance of work on this highway between Gatesville and Temple.

WAGON RUNS OVER BOY'S ARM: LOADED WITH 106 BU. OATS

Willie Clifton Farren, 4½, was run over with a wagon loaded with 106 bushels of oats, on the Grover Voss farm west of Gatesville about 1:30 yesterday. He was rushed here to local doctors for treatment.

The wagon wheel ran over his right arm, above the elbow crushing it, and mashing the flesh into a pulp. The lower part of the arm and shoulder were lacerated and bruised.

He had been riding with his father on the wagon, Clayton Warren, who is on the Grover Voss farm.

DR. CLYDE BAILEY MAKES STATEMENT ON SCS

C. R. Bailey, a cooperater with the Soil Conservation Service in the Gatesville Camp Area made the following statement:

"Before a complete soil conservation program was installed on my farm I had a big gully across my field, which was caused from hillside water. This gully was too deep to cultivate across and I had to maintain a bridge across it to move my implements from one side to the other. It caused me to have about 2 acres of idle land from which I got no returns.

"A diversion terrace above this field diverted the water from this gully and I now cultivate right across it, and that area produces just as good crops as any other part of the field now.

"1.5 acres of land is retired along the diversion terrace, and soddied to bermuda grass, which produces excellent pasture for my sheep and cattle."

GATESVILLE REXALL MAN GETS TRIP "ON THE HOUSE"

R. D. Foster, manager of the local Rexall store, Koen-Foster Drug has something coming.

In a Rexall sales contest, which started September, 1938 and ending May 1, 1939, Mr. Foster's store lead in percentage of gain on Rexall products over any other store in this district. One man from each salesman's district wins a trip to the San Francisco Golden Gate Exposition, and that man, is Mr. Foster from this district.

Dealers living west of the Mississippi River, go west, and those living east of this river, are sent east. Mr. Foster will board the train at McGregor, which will carry him to Clovis, New Mexico, where all will take "The Rexall Special" to Los Angeles and San Francisco. The Company meeting will be held in Los Angeles at the Biltmore Hotel and in San Francisco at the Palace. Mr. Foster will leave the 14th.

PAINTER'S SALE TO CONTINUE TWO MORE DAYS

In order to rectify an error, and for general information, we are announcing Painter's Bargain Fair continues two more days, closing Saturday, July 8.

In our Tuesday's issue, we neglected to change a "7" to a "4" and we may have misled "customers" of this popular store.

Therefore, folks, you have today and tomorrow to take advantage of the many offerings of this sale.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Hammack of Dallas are visiting their mother, Mrs. W. W. Hammack.

Mrs. F. J. Battle leaves today for Dallas to join Mr. and Mrs. Frank Battle on an extended trip to the Southern States.

BUSINESS MEN BECOME "TOURISTS": THEY MOVE

It's summer, and seems to be getting a habit—this moving business. It must be the "tourist" in them.

Arnold Electric Company has moved from their old location in the old Post Office building on the south side of the square to the East Side of the square, where Perry Brothers moved from.

Gatesville Auto Supply, headed by Tom Freeman, made the other move, this week, moving from next door to John Washburn on East Main to the Old Post Office building on the south side of the square.

Of course, the "movers" are not entirely straightened up yet, but probably by Saturday, they'll have things straight enough to where they can find just about what you want in their lines: electrical fixtures and auto supplies.

LYNCHING RECORD, FIRST HALF 1939 IS RELEASED

This is three more than for the first six months of 1938 and the same number for 1937.

GAS COMPANY PASSES THIRTIETH MILESTONE

Thirty years ago at Austin, the Secretary of State Authorized incorporation of Lone Star Gas Company for the purpose of producing and transporting natural gas from distant fields to towns and cities miles away. At this time this was considered a hazardous undertaking. Fortunes, business reputations, and even lives were staked on that bet against failure.

The charter for this company was obtained by L. B. Denning, now president of the company, and his associates. They built the first long distance pipe line in Texas, from Petrolia in Clay County to Fort Worth and Dallas, and despite the misgivings of many people the first delivery of gas thru this pipe line became an accomplished fact when natural gas was turned into the mains of Fort Worth in February, 1910, and in Dallas two months later.

That was the origin of the Lone Star Gas System which today serves 299 towns in Texas and Oklahoma and this year celebrates its thirtieth anniversary. The 126 mile pipe line has increased to 4,700 miles of pipe, and where once there were only 15 to 25 employees today there are more than 3,000 watching over the gas service.

Dr. Denning, however, can still recall the struggles of the little company during its early years. He remembers particularly the dark days of the World War, when new sources of supply were unobtainable and customers complained each winter about the lack of pressure in their stoves. With pride he recalls the days in 1924 when experiments conducted by company engineers developed a successful method of utilizing gas from oil wells. This, with the company's ceaseless prospecting for new fields, has increased supplies from the single Petrolia field to 46 fields located in the Panhandle, Southern Oklahoma, West Texas and East Texas. Twenty-one compressor stations keep constant watch over the pressures which insure dependable gas service in more than a quarter million Texas and Oklahoma homes.

CIMARRON, DODGE CITY,
WICHITA, TO GUTHRIE,
OKLAHOMA

To Cimarron, which according to what we hear later, is not the locale of the picture "Cimarron" but Wichita, Kansas. Cimarron, itself, is just a jerkwater place, that is pitifully poor looking. It is still in the dust bowl, and it seems there is practically nothing there to interest anyone.

Dodge City, Kansas was the next town, and it has about 7,000 people. When passing, we noticed a sign "Boot Hill, 1 Block". This is a place where the old pioneers buried their dead "with their boots on". A number of historical characters are buried here, and an old couple stay in a booth and sell souvenirs, the cheapest we have found anywhere. Dodge City itself is a real good town, and is the beginning of "better Kansas".

From this point in, is the "Bread Basket of the Nation" and the famous Kansas wheat is scattered over all the hills going to Wichita.

Pratt is a town of five or six thousand, is just a neat, clean small town, that you would like to live in. But the next town, guess what.

It's Kingman, Kansas!

It's the former home of W. Lee O'Daniel, about whom you have heard so much about. We don't see why he ever left this little town. It's one of the nicest we have passed thru, ever. Only the "oldsters" know of Governor O'Daniel, since he lived there a long time ago. But the town, now, folks, it's something. For one thing, one of the Kingman newspapers was judged the second best in Kansas in 1939, and also in 1939 they won another award.

From Kingman, we went on to Wichita, where we turned south. Here, we visited the Dr. Pepper Bottling Company, which is jointly owned by two former Gatesville boys, Jim Powell and Oscar Winfield. They were as tickled to see us, as we were to see them, and we had a Dr. Pepper at their expense, and were taken thru their plant. They talked over old times, and said they liked to make money in Kansas, but when they had enough they were coming back to Coryell County to retire and live. It's hot in Kansas in summer, have to shovel snow out of in front of their place in the winter. Wichita is a city of some 102,000 people and a fine city.

Leaving Wichita, we turned south, and after about a 48 mile drive, hit Oklahoma. Almost as soon as we hit Oklahoma, the soil turned red. Also the country is dotted with oil wells. However, between Wichita and Oklahoma, there are quite a few wells in different sections.

Blackwell, Oklahoma was the first Oklahoma city we hit, and it was too early to stop, we drove on, but to our sorrow, as tourist camps are as scarce in the next few towns as they are in Gatesville, and we drove until 10 p. m. before we found a very nice one at Guthrie.

All thru the Kansas wheat belt, and down into Oklahoma they have been having big rains, and there is some worry, since only about one-fourth of the wheat crop is out. They're working between showers, however, and the "biscuits" are coming out in a hurry. In western Kansas and other wheat belts we've seen, they sack the grain, but in this section of the state, they combine it, load into elevators we see dotting the countryside, and there are many out in trucks and haul it to the many the field along the railroad. The crop, for the most part, we are told, was better than in recent years. The straw is short, however, and it didn't look like the rank Texas grains we are used to. The straw is only about eight inches to one foot high. This, we suppose is due to the short spring, and the quick hot summer, which isn't as long as ours, but just about as hot. One particular thing we remember about the wheat, is that on one side they'll be combining, and on the edge of the field, a tractor with a gang plow, breaking the land. This don't happen in Texas or rather Coryell County much.

We left Guthrie, this, Sunday, morning about 11 a. m., since we made too many miles yesterday, something over 400. We've been averaging between 300 and 350, because we wanted to "see the country". Anyway, this is just about enough to make in a day. The big miles are the "killers".

Guthrie, south to Oklahoma City is just red East Texas, and they use red limestone or some kind of rock very effectively to build their "made rich by oil" homes, and a Memorial Park between these two places is really beautiful, made by red brick, ornamental iron, and half melted brick. We suppose it is a soldier memorial, and has a tower with chimes, in addition to a small auditorium.

Oklahoma City, the capitol of the state, looks more like an oil field than a city. Even in front of the capitol, not more than 150 feet from the capitol building itself, they have oil wells. One, nearly directly in front. The town itself, doesn't look to be in such good shape, since the oil boom has somewhat died down, in addition to oil proration which has its effect on Texas oil towns. The idea of this, seems to save the oil from the waste of too much competition.

Going on, we came to Norman, the home of the University of Oklahoma, a town, just about the size of Bryan, Texas, both of which would probably be only a couple of hundred if it were not for their colleges.

Soon, we came into the famous Arbuckle Mountains, where the bad boys sometimes head for, when they are in trouble. This section, with the peculiar mountain formations, is an Oklahoma resort, and they're in the souvenir business, and there is swimming, hunting, dude ranches and other forms of amusement.

At the summit, Turner Falls, which, after this trip, looks like a trickle, since it is only 12 feet high. However, to Kansans, Oklahomans and Texas Plainsmen, this is some fall. Anyway, it is beautiful, and the peculiar formation, outcroppings and other formations were explained by signboards along the highway.

This is the last shot. We've got to mail this at Ardmore and will probably beat it to Gatesville. We had intended to give you an idea of the costs of the trip, especially the mileage, gas and oil costs, and an estimate of the eats, sleeping accommodations and other items.

This may come when we are home, and have time to run up some statistics for the statistically minded.

Since passing the Arbuckle Mountains the soil has changed, from red to what looks like Texas soil. Ardmore is only about 48 miles from Texas, and the last chance to mail a letter air mail, so we've got to wind this up, and mail it.

See you Monday or at the latest, Tuesday.

ARDMORE, ARBUCKLE, ABBOTT AND ABOUT HOME: STATISTICS!

It's a short story, from Ardmore home. Well, we did stay the night before, in Guthrie, which is a nice sized little city, that is a victim of "oilites". Things just ain't what they used to be there.

On to Ardmore, and we mailed our last letter, and by that time, we were itching to see the old Red River, since it was only 48 miles away, or something like this.

We stopped to try a little cherry and grape cider, which lacked the knock, which usually accompanies drinks of this nature. It must have been plain juice. Anyway, it was good.

All the Oklahoma rivers are red rivers, until you pass over the Arbuckle mountains, and after that, they begin to look more sandy. It's just like East Texas, only it's Northern Oklahoma and extreme Southern Oklahoma.

But, hurrying home, we got to the Red River, about 4 p. m. Sunday, and then for about 40 miles, drove over good looking Texas, to Denton, the home of NTSTC and TSCW or better known to all of us, CIA. We drove thru the CIA grounds and then headed for Dallas. We had been used to all kinds of foreign license plates, and the familiar Texas license plates looked good.

Dallas by 5 p. m. and there was nothing else to dog and since, probably, the most of us have been to Dallas, there's no use redoing the trip from Dallas to Gatesville, except to state that we made it as quickly as possible, arriving here about 11 p. m. Sunday. We took out sometime at Hillsboro, and ate our "last meal on the road" at the Andrews Cafe there, which is known all over the U. S., as a good place to get nourishment.

"So winds up another session of your Journeying Journal until this same time, we hope, next summer, and until then, with justalota good wish, we remain, your Journeying Journalist". Aw heck, that's Walter Winchell's wind-up. We'll just say, B C-ing U!

And for the statistically minded, here's a few figures! You can spend more, lots more and you can spend less, lots less. But YOU ALL can make a trip, similar, worse, or better, and our advice is, do it NOW!

Miles driven, 7,086 (our best calculation)

Gasoline, 334 gallons.

Oil, 3 changes, and 3 qts. Crankcase capacity, 4 quarts.

Gas cost from 18c at Gatesville to 29c just south of Yellowstone Park. (Standard Gasoline, not Ethyl).

Meals for 4: Breakfast, 80c to $1.00; Dinner: $1.25 to $2.00; Dinner most of the time was around $1.50. Supper: (dige supper) usually $1.00 to $1.50.

Tourist Cabins: (for 4) $2.00 to $4.25, average, $3.50. Four together in room, shower or tub, no cooking; usually garage.

Park Costs: Yellowstone, $3.00 for all; Grand Canyon, $1.00; Boulder Dam, $1.00; Yosemite, $2. Fair Gate, 50c each.

Drinks: Morning and afternoon, average, 40c for both.

Average milage on gasoline, 21 plus. Considerable second gear work on hills. One grease job. Front wheels packed once. Total Gas, Oil and Lubrication cost via courtesy card $78.70.

Tried out for tires: National, Troy Jones; Goodyear, Chamlee's; Star, Bill Nesbitt; and Mansfield, Aubrey (Spud) Walker; Firestone, (spare) Gatesville Auto Supply. Unused. Still got same air we started with.

Home expenses, if we hadn't gone!

These expenses stopped, while on the trip, except minimum on Water, Gas and Lights. No groceries. No other expenses. Groceries for 4 would have been about $40.00 at home. Gas, etc., at home would have been about $25.00. By using courtesy cards, gas does not have to be paid on trip and can be prorated, or at least put off, until expenses of trip, are relieved. Only thing that "goes on" are insurance and taxes, which are the same, regardless. Clothing: we didn't buy any extra for trip—using just what we had, including last winter ones. They felt good in spots.

Actual expenses, excepting gasoline, for 2 were $150.00 and $25 of this was for souvenirs, which, included a blanket, which could easily have been left out. Souvenirs should cost not more than $5 to $10. But the blanket will last, the rest of the junk will lay around a few years, and be thrown away.

We don't give these figures boastfully, but to show you a trip like this CAN be made, cheaply and economically. We could NOT have made it outhewise. And, you don't need a new car; ours was 2 plus years old, which, however, is new to us.

And, the difference in these expenditures is more than made up in what and where and ho you see. We believe it's a good invest-

THE BAPTIST COLUMN

At the close of the column last week mention of the One Million Dollar Objective of Texas Baptists was made. A million dollars is a very small amount for our state when we stop to consider that there are 660,000 Baptists in Texas. If Texas Baptists would give a tithe of their income this year they would give $33,000,000.00. If they gave as much per member as a little Chinese mission in San Antonio, with only thirty-two members, they would give almost two million dollars (the thirty-two averaged $2.75 per capita). Could any church that claims to be a missionary church be satisfied to do less than this little group of poor Chinese in a foreign country are doing?

The Tahoma Park Seventh-Day Adventist Church in Washington D. C. has a membership of 555. They have no wealth, are hard-working people, no one member of the church having an income of more than $2,400.00 per year. In 1937 they raised an average of $136.98 per member or a total of $76,028.00, they gave $27,000.00, or an average of $48.65 per member, to missions. Texas Baptists gave an average of $1.00. There are 452,000 Adventists in the world. They gave $5,578,000.00 to Missions in 1938. Had Texas Baptists given proportionately, they would have given $7,920,000.00. Surely we would not hesitate about giving $1,000,000.00. Who could say that Texas and Southern Baptists should not do more than any people on earth in the light of their mission, heritage, opportunities and ability? The Adventists are doing work in 385 different countries, colonies and islands and have averaged entering a new language in their mission work every eleven days for the last several years. If thou sluggard; consider her ways and be wise," what would he say to Southern Baptists with reference to learning a lesson on stewardship and missions from the Adventists?

The writer once knew a pastor who was afraid that if his people gave to missions they would not be able to pay his salary. Some will say "My people are just not in a position to give, they are having a hard time and I will not bother them." The challenge is out to any one who can find a real missionary church that does not pay its pastor and care for its other obligations. Churches that are not missionary will all but starve their pastors. Churches do not need to be taken care of in the matter of giving, they know very well how to take care of that part of it and more. The need is to show them the blessed privilege of giving and the responsibility that God's Word places on them to give.

Witness the pauper widow as an example of giving and listen to the words of Jesus as he calls attention to her gift. She preaches a sermon on giving every time that text is read. (Mark 12:41-44) She gave her all and Jesus did not chastise her for it. He did not say: "you are too poor to give this", but he made her a notable example for all ages to come because she DID give it. The Macedonians gave "out of their deep poverty" and Paul did not condemn them but rather lauded them and made their church, with its liberty, an example to stir other churches to a deeper sense of their obligation to give. Jesus has said: "It is more blessed to give than to receive." Every church receives all it has from God. What are the churches giving in return?

The London Baptist Church out in the open country near Corpus Christi, with 84 members, raised a budget of $2,565.00, an average of $30.53 per capita in 1938. This little church gave $400.03 for missions or $4.75 per capita. If Texas Baptists would even measure up to the gifts of this little church in the country we would raise $20,149,800.00 in one year. If we should give only as much to missions as that church gave, the amount would be $3,125,000.00. This church has no wealth. Less than a dozen members own their own homes. Rev. J. E. Early is their aggressive pastor.

However poor an individual may be, as long as he has anything, he is under obligation to give and every God-called preacher is under obligation, an obligation imposed by God Himself, to preach the opportunities and obligations of giving and thus lead the people into this great open door that will bring blessings to other hearts and help send the gospel message to the end of the earth.

But is it a question of poverty? After all, is the excuse, "We are too poor to give," a sufficient reason for not giving to the cause of Christ? Can we not truthfully say that Southern and Texas Baptists are several times better able to give than the Adventists? If we should give to the Lords cause the MINIMUM that we SHOULD GIVE, the TITHE, we would have no financial difficulties. The church cannot be found anywhere, whose member conscientiously tithes with material blessings. Our has financial or other difficulties. The Lord has blessed Texas Baptist with material blessings. Our difficulty is that instead of giving to the Lords cause, we are spending our money for something else.

How do we spend our money? The American people average for every man, woman, boy and girl in the nation, spending $8.10 per person each year on the movies, or about eight times as much as they spend for missions. This is not right. It is not fair, to a lost world, nor the Savior who shed his blood on calvary to save the world. Twenty one cents of every dollar goes for luxuries, twelve cents is wasted outright. $15,000,000,000.00 goes annually for crime while 1c of the American dollar goes for ALL CAUSES of Christ. No! We can readily see that poverty is not the question. What is the question?

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

"Volunteers, Enlist" will be the subject of the sermon Sunday morning at the First Presbyterian Church. Taking Matthew 9:38 as a text, the pastor will develop the experience of the disciples of the Lord in this connection as a communion meditation.

After an absence of several Sunday mornings, the pastor will be in the pulpit for both morning and evening worship. The evening sermon (vespers, 5:00 o'clock) is presented as an anecdote for wrong doing, "Too Busy to Sin."

There will be regular worship at the Prairie View Community Church Sunday night. Rev. Ed. Bayless will meet the young people and children for their usual meeting at 8:00 o'clock, and preach at the evening hour of worship, 8:30.

tended so far are invited to begin Monday.

Classes meet each morning, Monday thru Friday, from 8:30 till 11:00. Bible instruction, hymns, handwork, and directed recreation constitute the program.

SPORT SCROLL

By POST

Much interest is still being manifested in bowling in this city. The Queen Bee is doing a thriving business, which is only natural after its operators have done so much, putting up one of the best-equipped alleys in Central Texas and fostering matches between teams of this city and surrounding towns, and according to information we have received, they are trying to start inter-city competition.

Every time a bowling alley opens in this city, it goes well for about a month, but then interest dies. The Bee officials however, are taking steps to offset this, doing everything possible to maintain interest in this healthful sport. They have installed benches for spectators, and re-varnish their alleys each week, keeping them in the best shape possible.

Pat Olsen, fiery catcher for the local baseball nine and also receiver on the Arnold Electrician softball club, is out for the season. He was hit by a Mound pitcher in the Mound-Gatesville game two weeks ago, and although he did not know it at the time, this blow cracked one of his ribs. Monday while throwing to second base in a softball game, he snapped the previously injured rib loose. The doctors said it would be six weeks before he would be able to see any action. It is understood that he will continue to be connected with the Electricians club as coach.

The Firemen were knocked from their perch on the top limb of the softball standings when Arnold's beat them 9-5 Monday night. The smokeaters have surprised everyone, however, by their strong play this year. When the season first opened it looked as if the Firemen would not be as good as last year's club, which finished fourth. They have flashed a surprisingly potent attack, Doc Ray has been pitching fine ball, and the Smokeater infield has been airtight. This may not last long, but the Firemen have already contributed some sparkling games to the league schedule. They added new talent in the way of Tom Sharp, speedy third-sacker and Jack Franks, hustling catcher who for the last three years has been the spark-plug of the CCC outfit.

It looks as if the July 4 softball game between the Highway and Red and White will have to be played over. Red and White won the game 5-4, but during the game a decision contrary to the rules was called by the umpire, and according to the league officials, the game will have to be played from the point where the wrong decision was made. These are the same two clubs that became embroiled in a big argument during the playoff last season.

Congress has been working the past week as if an early adjournment was really expected, but at the same time most of the "old timers" seem to think that we will be here for many weeks or months before this session comes to a close. I only know that legislative bodies are always unpredictable when it comes to speed. When it seems that they should dispose of legislation they show no results when no one expects action they buckle down and grind out great volumes of legislation. Something of this kind has been taking place in the House. A week ago we stayed in session until long after one o'clock in the morning to pass the WPA Relief Bill. Monday we spent a hectic day with many roll calls on the affairs of the District of Columbia, but accomplished practically nothing.

Then we took up the Neutrality Bill. We had several days of general debate on the subject, then after staying in session until 11:45 last night we laid that bill aside this morning and took up some conference reports on measures that must be passed by both House and Senate and signed by the President before the end of the fiscal year (tonight at midnight). First, we considered and passed the report on the WPA Relief Bill. While this report was not what I would like in all respects, it is my opinion probably the best WPA bill ever passed by Congress. It seems to eliminate some of the evils that have been so apparent in the present administration of the Act. It eliminates any reference to PWA. This in effect gives $125,000,000.00 more for WPA, and should be enough money for the year. It provides that not more than 10 per cent of the amount appropriated shall be spent in any one month. This should make it impossible for them to spend all of the money by the first of February as they did this past year. It prohibits any increases in administrative salaries as were made here in the Washington office last Spring right at the time needy people were being cut off the rolls. It contains the very fine provision that rates of pay for the same work shall not vary in different regions more than the cost of living would justify. I consider this a decided victory for the Southern worker. The bill expressly directs those in charge to consider "relative need", a thing on which I have long insisted and a regulation which if fairly enforced will, I think, do a great deal to improve our present situation. It requires all WPA workers who have been employed for as much as 18 consecutive months to make room for those who have had no chance to work. This provision will probably work some hardship, but it is doubtless fundamentally fair.

The new bill is in my opinion going to work a burden on some poor communities in that after January 1, 1940 it will require that the local sponsors put up at least 25 per cent of the costs. This is little more than the average in Texas at the present time. I had hoped that we could give some leniency to the poorer communities. Another item of interest to our people is the provision that no new buildings can be erected where the Federal monies involved are more than $52,000.00. This is to keep the WPA from becoming a building agency in competition with regular construction. This provision will not, however, effect those schoolhouses and other buildings for which bonds have already been issued or on which work has begun. The report increased the appropriation for the Farm Security Administration by $20,000,000., giving them $143,000,000.00 which is approximately $30,000,000 less than they received last year.

Finally, the bill contains the substance of the amendment that I offered to the Relief Bill in January, allowing the use of WPA labor in soil conservation work thru the sponsorship of soil conservation districts. This has seemed to me to be of vital importance. I tried to insert it last Winter and while I failed at that time I did secure a promise from the committee to put this provision in the regular bill. The provision enables any community to establish useful projects on which WPA labor can be most effectively used and at the same time there will be no conflict with skilled labor. It will protect organized labor from unnecessary competition. It will assist local communities to provide useful projects. It will give work to a type for which many of our people are fitted by experience, and finally, it will go a long way toward saving our greatest resource—our soil. I realize that the value of this item depends entirely on the attitude of the WPA officials in administering it, but I am sure that our State WPA official is friendly, and I have talked with Col. Harrington, the WPA Administrator, and he assures me that they will assist in good faith with this soil conservation work.

Later in the afternoon, the House passed the bill extending the President's power to control our money policy and continuing our silver purchasing policy. I think this measure contained many questionable provisions, but it also contained powers apparently necessary. The Senate has not yet approved the measure and it may be killed by a filibuster in that body.

It is now 8:30, Friday night (June 30th) and we are still discussing the Neutrality Bill. It seems probable that the debate will go on for hours, but I think we will stay in session until the bill is passed tonight.

JONESBORO RECEIVES DECISIVE TEST SUNDAY

Whether Jonesboro's present determined climb back into the second division with the 3 straight victories denotes a good club finds its own level, or it just a flash-in-the-pan performance of a washed up team will be decided Sunday when the defending champion Eagles meet the hot Pidcoke 'Cokers' on the latter's home diamond. Three time within the last two years the Eagles have edged out the Cokers, by one run, and the Cokers, who are now leading the league and seem to be one of the best teams in the circuit, are determined to avenge these past embarrassments by handing the Eagles a decisive defeat. An accomplishment like that, however, is easier said than done.

The Cokers will probably send Schoolboy Rutherford into the box against the Jonesboro lads. Rutherford, who beat Gatesville 3-1 last week, is just about the best hurling bet the Cokers have. Lockhart and Wiegand are both ready for relief duty should the Schoolboy find himself in trouble.

Miller, a chunky little fellow who handled all the relief pitching for the Eagles last year and who turned in some nice work against the Topsey nine last week, will be on the firing line when his cohorts square off with the Cokers.

The Moshem nine, sole occupants of the danky league cellar, will attempt to stop the onrush of the Pearl Tigers. The Tigers have been going great guns of late, and it looks as if they are going to be up among the leaders when the regular league season is over and the Saughnessy play-off begins. The Whatley brothers, C. B. and Theo, are the entire Pearl pitching corps, and one of them will start against the Moshem Club.

Gatesville, greatly embarrassed over last week's ignominious defeat, are ready to redeem themselves in the eyes of their fans by taking a mediocre Topsey club into camp. Overconfidence was one thing that helped beat the locals last week, and they should be cured after that costly loss. Either Boog Jones or Tooter Hall will go to the box for the locals.

Mound, in the throes of a losing streak will tangle with the White Hall club in a game that may develop into a nip-and-tuck affair or one that may be a runaway for the Mound boys. Otis McBroom will probably hurl for the White Hallers, and if he is having one of his good days and receives a little support the Mound club is going to have its hands full.

The Blackfoot Indians, who have lost only one game this year and are tied for second place in the league standings, will try to retain their lofty standing with another victory over a weak Turnersville nine. The Indians defeated the Buffs in a practice game before the regular league season opened.
