TRAINING SCHOOL LOSES $15,000 O'DANIEL CUTS APPROPRIATIONS

The State Juvenile Training School for Boys was sheared of $15,000 Wednesday when Governor W. Lee O'Daniel made drastic slashes through the state appropriations. He trimmed the total of $5,383,616 from the state appropriation bills passed by the legislature.

The legislature had given $15,000 for an enlargement of the present dining hall and for the construction of new negro quarters at the training school. This was only one of the numerous items of the appropriation bill vetoed by the governor. The State Home in Waco lost $49,960, State Orphans home in Corsicana was lopped about $20,000, while more than a million dollars was cut off the highway department allotment, a reduction of 50 per cent.

Other departments receiving reductions were state police, railroad commission, game, fish, and oyster commission, education department, and comptroller.

CLOSING EXERCISES PRESBY- TERIAN BIBLE SCHOOL TONIGHT

Tonight at 7:45 the First Presbyterian church of this city will hold its closing program of the Daily Vacation Bible School, with full demonstration of the work done planned for the benefit of parents and other interested friends.

Beginning with a general assembly of the entire school in the presence of the audience, the program will present an opportunity for everyone to join in a brief worship period. The pastor will make some brief remarks regarding the school and the opportunity which such intensive Bible training affords.

This will be followed by a public demonstration of work done, each department being responsible for a part on the program. Then there will be an exhibit of work done in the various departments.

The school closes its second week of classes this morning.

Certificates of recognition will be given to approximately 25 who attended the school every day.

SOCIAL SECURITY TAX RETURN AGENT AT COURTHOUSE

Coryell County grain threshers who have not been filing Social Security tax returns on their employees are being invited this week to call at the Courthouse for aid in preparing their returns. C. D. Waide of Austin, deputy collector of internal revenue, is in Gatesville for that purpose.

"There has been a general impression that such labor is expected," said Mr. Waide. "Agricultural labor on the farm of the owner is excepted, and threshers do not have to include wages paid for work on their own farms, but when they move to their neighbors' farms then it becomes taxable. The law went into effect in 1937 and the labor of that season as well as 1938 and this year must be reported."

Mr. Waide expects to spend Friday in Evant and will return to Gatesville for the first two days of next week.

FROM THE COUNTY AGR'L AGENT

On July 6th and 7th the stack silo demonstration at the Temple Experiment Station was visited by Olin Sydow, L. L. Hollingsworth, Martin Clary, Earl Clary, Johnnie Bell, Floyd Bell, Herbert McCarver, John Taylor, Danny Taylor, Geo. Thetford, Walter Baskins, R. A. Bertrand, E. E. Wallace, S. S. Ricketts, Roscoe Coward and A. H. Vandiver.

Stack silos have proven very satisfactory and are recommended for farms where trench or above-ground silos are not available or practical. Stack silos may be used on farms where trench silos are impractical due to rocky or seepy soil. Any bundled forage crop may be used for stacked ensilage, and the only other material required is water at the time the stack is made. Therefore, it may readily be seen that this is one of the most economical methods of storing succulent feeds for consumption on the farm during winter months and through drought periods. The stacked ensilage has been fed to mules, dairy cows, hogs, beef cattle and sheep by the Temple Experiment Station, which reports that the quality of the feed is equal to that in trench or above-ground silos.

The theme of the annual county and home demonstration agents' conference at Texas A. and M. College, which closed Tuesday night, was Land Use Planning. Under the subject the various discussions thru out the conference centered around the necessity for planning the utilization of our land in order that a higher standard of living may be approached on our farms. The subject of land use planning was originated by the Department of Agriculture in Washington and is expected to be used as the basis for all future activities thru the Department of Agriculture. The Extension Service has been designated as the agency thru which this development will take place. The proper usage of lands; that is, the growing of adapted crops in the right ratio to the area and to the proportion for which they shall be used, is indeed a tremendous subject and one which is justly attracting national attention. Work in Coryell County has begun looking toward doing our part in contributing whatever we may toward this undertaking.

LIGHT RAINS BREAK SWELTERING HEAT WAVE

Light rains at varying intervals for the past three days broke an intensive heat wave that prevailed during the first part of this week and the latter part of last. This sweltering weather sent the thermometer soaring to 110 degrees, before welcome rains Tuesday

GRAND JURY RETURNS "TROUBLE FOR 8": STILL WORKING

On a partial report, the Grand Jury, which has been working since early Monday morning reported eight bills of indictment, and are still grinding. No indication was given as when "relief" would come, and riding bailiffs, door bailiffs, sheriffs, deputies and others were taking orders, and rushing folks in and out, and District Clerk Carl McClendon, was dishing out the dough for witnesses, etc.

According to Clerk McClendon, that's just about all that's happened during the past week in the courthouse, but here is a list of the Second Week Petit Jury. You know, they call this the second week Petit Jury, because the Grand Jury takes up the first week. However, it's the first bunch of Petit Jurors that work.

Second Week Petit Jurors are R. L. Whisenhunt, J'boro.; Charlie Wiegand, Gv.; Sam J. Powell, Gv. Richard Schaub, Gv.; Ernest Evans Leon Junction, H. A. Taylor, The Grove; Earl Odom, Leon Junction; E. A. Jackson, Gv.; R. H. Tharp, T'ville; John L. Webb, Gv.; T. J. Powell, Gv.; Jim Painter, J'boro.; J. C. Miles, Levita; J. A. Blanchard, Leon Junction; A. B. Graham, Gv.; Chas. ## MORE SPACE TO "THE ALL- TIME PROBLEM", "SAFETY"

Starting with this issue, as you will notice on the front page of the second section, is the first of a group of cartoons urging safety.

Although, these same ideas have been presented in innumerable ways in all the newspapers of the state, the Texas Highway Department again sends this material out—and, we are glad to use it.

Maybe the presentation of the old ideas in a new way will catch the eye of some one and will prevent a death or accident. They will be carried by the News each issue until the series is finished, and WE DO HOPE they'll do some good.

NEW FISH LAWS FOR COUNTY EXPLAINED BY GAME WARDEN

While in Gatesville this week on his regular rounds, C. M. Tidwell, the game warden, left some interesting information in regard to the new fishing law that was passed by the last legislature and is now in effect.

Among the changes is one section that prohibits the sale, or the having in possession for the purpose of sale, any catfish taken from the water of this county.

Another section permits the use of a net, of not less than one and one-half inch square mesh for the purpose of taking suckers, buffalo, carp, shad and garfish except during the months of February, March and April. A person can catch no other kind of fish, nor have in his possession any other kind of fish, while using a set net. This prohibits the use of any seine, except the use of a 20 foot minnow seine to catch minnows only.

This bill carried a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars.

Several creeks in Coryell County have been stocked with fish obtained from the State Game Commission. The public is warned to release all bass under 11 inches in length, and to use only the ordinary hook and line or trot line and rod and reel, except the provisions for using a set net as listed above. It is unlawful to drag any seine or net.

The State Game Commission maintains several fish hatcheries and a large crew of men that spend their full time in restocking the creeks and lakes of our great state. They ask the cooperation of all landowners and sportsmen to help with their program.

G. LEONHARD DISCUSSES PIG CLUB WORK AT SHORT COURSE

George Leonhard, 4-H Club boy of Copperas Cove, represented Coryell county and Extension Service District 8 at the Boys' and Girls' Short Course held at A. and M. College last week. George was asked to discuss pig club work in Coryell County before the group of 2500 boys and girls.

In discussing the pig club work done by the boys of this section he clearly brought out the fundamental principles on which pig club work is based in this county; namely, up-to-date breeding, proper management, and distribution. In discussing breeding George brought out the fact that Coryell County hogs are founded on State and National winner, in fact breeding animals owned at present by several of the boys are sons and daughters of State and National winners.

He also explained that the club boys from ten other counties had secured breeding stock here, and that the chief objective of the club boys was a wider distribution of quality hogs on the farms of Coryell County.

It is an honor for the club members of Coryell County to have their representative on this statewide program, and for Coryell County to have such a progressive, interested club member as George Leonhard.

"SPIKES OUT", SAYS DOC RAY SOFTBALL PRESIDENT

According to a report emitting from Doc Ray, local softball "big shot," players are forbidden to wear spikes, this rule going into effect. The good doctor claims that the spikes are ruining the grass, which must be kept in the best of shape for the coming football season. The rodeo almost ruined the entire field, and the utmost care must be taken of the grass.

ZIM'S "50 MILES OUT" CARD SAYS ON HIS STORE DOOR

Zim's gone fishin'! And he tells 'em about it!

On the SE corner of the square on the front door of Zim Scott's Feed Store he has a card and sign, reading:

"Closed, Have Unfinished Business to Attend 50 Miles South of Galveston. Be Back Sunday, July 16. Zim Scott."

The peculiar thing about the sign, is the "arty" post card pasted to the front door, giving a better idea of Zim's fondest hopes. He's hoping the big ones are biting, and who isn't.

McGREGOR RODEO TODAY AND SATURDAY; LARGE CROWDS EXPECTED

The annual McGregor Rodeo opens tonight with a seven o'clock parade, the initial performance starting at eight. Two performances will be presented Saturday, a matinee and night show.

The rodeo officials are expecting a crowd of 25,000 for the show. The famous penitentiary stock, including the Brahma bulls and calves, and well-known broncs such as "Half-Minute-To-Midnight," "Tickletoe," "Nemo," "Clyde Barrow" and others have been secured. The broncs named will be recognized by rodeo enthusiasts of this county as the broncs that previously appeared in the Gatesville's annual Rodeo and Frontier Celebration.

More than $900 in prize money will be offered and more than 100 performers are expected to compete in the various events. Clown events have been arranged to make a well-balanced program.

GATESVILLE SCOUT TROOP TO LEAVE TODAY ON ANNUAL HIKE

This morning at nine o'clock about twenty-five buoyant, care-free Scouts will leave Gatesville on their annual hike, their destination this year being Gorman Falls. J. M. Witcher, who has been scoutmaster of Gatesville Troop No. 2 for the past twenty-five years, will accompany the boys.

A program of swimming, hiking and health, woodcraft, camperaft and scouteraft will prevail when the boys reach their camping grounds. School buses will furnish the transportation.

CLINTON CHAMLEE OPENS BUDGET DEPARTMENT AT CHAMLEE'S

Clinton Chamlee, who is employed by the Goodyear Tire Co., has recently opened a budget department for that firm at Chamlee's Garage in this city.

Mr. Chamlee has been manager of similar departments in Kilgore and Overton, and he states that he will probably be here for the next six months.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

CAN YOU READ LATIN?

THE law used to recognize the doctrine of Caveat emptor.

That is Latin. It means "let the buyer beware." The doctrine for which it stood was simply this: Whenever you bought from another it was your responsibility to see that you got your money's worth, not his.

If he were a dishonest man and wanted to cheat you, you had to protect yourself. The law wouldn't help. "Let the buyer beware," Charles Roth it said. Caveat emptor.

That doctrine, as unsound doctrines always must, has given way to a better one. The modern business man, if he expects to remain in business and warrant your patronage year after year, doesn't expect you to protect yourself.

He assumes the obligation of protecting you. He makes sure that his quality is high. He religiously subjects his product to tests. He introduces improvements. And he establishes a price which is the minimum on which he can remain in business.

For this change, which is one of the most important improvements in business, advertising has been largely responsible. Advertising has given a permanent quality to business. A man who advertises must be scrupulous in his integrity. He cannot write lies. He has to live up to all claims. This means that you, as a customer, can buy from such a man with absolute confidence.

Not long ago Owen D. Young, one of America's clearest thinkers and a great business executive, declared that:

"Dishonesty in various forms is becoming rarer in business. Whenever it occurs it is exploited in newspapers, because it is the unusual, not the common, thing.

"A store keeper may short-measure or short-weight his customer and make a little. He may even induce a clerk to short-measure or short-weight. But he cannot build a big business on that basis. Honesty and uprightness must exist in great business organizations."

And it must also exist in smaller business organizations, which expect to grow large.

Whenever a business man advertises, it is a sign that he wants to operate an honest business, one from which you can buy with confidence and trust.

Advertising is thus the guiding-light which you can follow in getting more for your money.

Daily it leads millions of American customers to better values, to greater satisfaction, to the serenity which comes from dealing with men and organizations they know they can trust.

LIBERTY H-D CLUB

Clara Parrish, Reporter
"Our health would be improved if we used more fruit in our diet", said Mrs. Calvin Perryman, president of the Liberty Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Clifford Onstott on Tuesday, July 11.

Such fruits as oranges, grapefruit, lemons, pineapple, and bananas are important sources of vitamin C. Vitamin C helps to protect the teeth and gums and to keep the joints and muscles in good condition.

The minerals in which so many diets are inadequate yet which are so indispensable, have to be considered in the daily diet; they are calcium, phosphorus, and iron, which are found in such fruits as apricots, prunes, figs and dates.

Calcium and phosphorus are used in building bones, teeth, and certain other tissues; iron is an essential part of the blood.

At the business meeting we discussed entertaining the Gatesville Lions club. Further notice will be given at the next club meeting which will be with Mrs. Hill Parrish on Tuesday, July 25.

Visitors present were Mrs. O. S. Crumley, Austin; Mrs. Byrom Lee, Shive; Mrs. Hobdy Hill, Miss Vada Parrish, Miss Hope Parrish, Miss Mary Jane Harris, Miss Charlene Onstott, Miss Maudine Onstott, Miss Sarah Joe Harlin, Miss Pauline Winzel and Miss Violet Tyson.

Sandwiches, cookies, and iced tea were served to the visitors and the following members: Mesdames R. L. Parish, Jack Billingsley, Eldon Harris, Joe Glaze, J. B. Sanders, Willie Winzel, A. G. Kautzsch, Calvin Perryman, Clovis Belvin, Hill Parrish, L. C. Perryman, Henry Gatlin, J. P. Keller, Loyd Hedgpeth, James Billingsley, Bertha Troutt, Lucian Sanders, J. C. Barron, Albert Tyson, Elbert Tyson, Earmon Hill, Buddy Long, W. C. Raten, and Misses Josephine Parrish, Lois Jones, Imogene Harris, Clara Parrish, and the hostess, Mrs. Onstott.

MOUND AND INDIANS TANGLE IN "CROOSHAL" CONTEST

Two teams that have an age-old rivalry existing between them and whose fans are those red-hot diehards will meet on the Blackfoot diamond Sunday. Mound and the Indians, who are tied with the Gatesville Hornets and Pearl Tigers for second place will battle it out in the feature game of Sunday's card, the fray being due to start at 3 p. m. The largest crowd in Blackfoot's history will be on hand, for these two communities are situated close together and Mound and Blackfoot have always been bitter enemies in the baseball wars.

Manager Jack Barton is due to start himself in the pitcher's box Sun., for he has always been able to hold the Mound boys every time he has faced them. Foy Wicker, who started slow but has been hurling brilliant ball of late, is due to start for the Mound boys.

If Blackfoot loses this game they will drop from a tie for second place to a tie for fourth in the league standings. Both clubs have old heads at the helm of their strategy board, B. G. Anderson piloting the Mound boys and Jack Barton guiding the Indian forces. Both these performers realize that their club will have a fine chance to finish in the money if they win, is they lose they will have to battle to finish in the first division and have a shot at the Saughnessy play-off.

Gatesville will meet the weak Turnersville Buffs here Sunday. The Buffs are stuck in the mire of the second division, and from the past records, it does not look as if they can give the locals much trouble. Tooter Hall is due to pitch for the Hornets.

The undefeated, league-leading Pidcoke 'Cokers will tangle with the second division Topsey outfit on Topsey home grounds.

The Topsey lads seem to be confident that they are going to give the 'Cokers some trouble, having beaten the league leaders in a practice game 8-0 about three weeks ago.

From this corner, it looks as if the 'Cokers have too much for the Topsey lads. Rutherford, who has pitched two three-hit games for the Cokers will be on the mound, and with the support that the schoolboy has been receiving from his mates, Topsey will have a difficult time.

The Pearl Tigers, a team that is due to be in the thick of the championship play-off, will meet the down-and-out Jonesboro Eagles at Jonesboro. Jonesboro is just about out of the race, the bad beating they took from Pidcoke throwing them back down in the second division. A defeat at the hands of Pearl would eliminate them altogether.

White Hall, the team that gave Mound quite a tussle last Sunday is due to get back into the win column this Sunday. They meet the weak, hapless Moshem nine, sole occupants of the league basement. White Hall, a club that has a fine spirit, still has a fighting chance to finish in the first division, and will be hard to handle from now on.

THE BAPTIST COLUMN

Certainly if Texas Baptists do not raise their goal of one million dollars this year, it will not be because of poverty. As long as a person has anything at all, he has something to give to the cause of the Lord. He has always the Minimum, the tenth which God has commanded and which Jesus commended and evidently practiced himself. It has been noted that approximately 1c of the American Dollar only goes for all religious causes. No one will try to defend such a low standard.

What are we going to do about it? Pastor, what are you going to do about it? The statement that the pastor is the key man has been repeated until it has almost become trite. Yet, there is no way around the truthfulness of that statement. The pastor cannot evade his position as leader. The pastor who has a vision of a lost world, who feels something of the weight of it, and who wants, really wants his church to be missionary and do something, can and will lead his church into worthy giving. Where the pastor is indifferent or lukewarm concerning missions, only in an exceptional case will anything worthwhile be done. Surely, there isn't a single church in Texas that could not quadruple the gifts that she is now making to the Cooperative Program.

Individual members, what are you going to do about it? The pastor cannot do it all. We need leadership, it is true, but we need something more than that. We need fellowship. How much did you give to missions last year? Are you satisfied, as a Texas, for us to drag along at a poor dying rate in our mission work, and average less than a dollar per member for our mission gifts? We can change these figures and we must.

The minimum that the least church, the poorest church in Texas should undertake to raise for missions during 1939, is $2.00 per member. That would be 75c less than the little Chinese mission, referred to last week, is giving to missions this year. Let no pastor, no board of deacons, no church set an objective of less than $2.00 per member, and as much more as possible. Many churches will go far beyond this amount per member.

We are entering the time when the Fall Round-up will be on. This is the time when all the churches that have not been as active in their mission work and in their giving strive to make up for some of that wherein they have failed in the forepart of the year. If the church and the pastor believe the words of Jesus: "It is more blessed to give than to receive" then both will happily shoulder the responsibility and the joy of giving graciously to the cause of the Lord. If they do not believe it, they will give little or nothing for this great cause. The further admonition is: "Lay not up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt and where thieves break thru and steal, but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven where moth and rust doth not corrupt and where thieves do not break thru and steal".

Six hundred and sixty thousand Texas Baptists praying, preaching, singing, cooperating, giving, serving with a burning devotion can and will do marvels. Large and worthy objectives challenge us; small, penurious, unworthy objectives neither challenge nor incite to any worthy action.

SIXTH BAPTIST WORLD CONGRESS TO CONVENE IN ATLANTA, GEORGIA

Baptists from more than sixty nations are arriving in the United States preparatory to a meeting in Atlanta, Georgia which meet will be the sixth of its kind ever to be held and the second such meeting to be held in the United States. The meeting is called the Baptist World Alliance, or World Congress. The dates for the meeting is July 22-28, 1939. For some weeks it was feared that the gathering would have to be postponed due to unsettled conditions in Europe but word was received some weeks ago from Dr. J. H. Rushbrooke of London, Secretary of the Congress, that it was thought that the messengers from the European countries would be able to come and final preparations are being rushed to accommodate from thirty to fifty thousand visitors in Atlanta.

It may be of interest to many, especially Baptists, to know that the Congress meets every five years. It met first in London in 1905. Central figures in this meeting were David Lloyd George, Dr. Alexander McLaren and Dr. Jno. Clifford. Dr. McLaren was chosen President. The next meeting was in 1911 in Philadelphia, Pa. with Dr. Jno. Clifford as President. At this meeting Robert Stewart McArthur was chosen as the next President and Berlin, Germany was selected as the meeting place but the World War came on and it was 12 years before the meeting finally materialized but it convened in Stockholm, Sweden instead of Berlin. In the interim Dr. McArthur had died and Dr. E. Y. Mullins of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Louisville, Kentucky was chosen to succeed him. The meeting in 1928 was held in Toronto, Canada; in 1934 in Berlin. Dr. Geo. W. Truett, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dallas was chosen President at Toronto and has served until the present time. Calcutta, India, Shanghai, China, Rangoon, Burma, Glasgow, Scotland, and Edinburg Scotland are among the cities which will try for the meeting in 1944.

NEW WAY OF BUILDING DAIRY RATION LETS COW GET MORE OUT OF FEED FOR MAKING MILK

Anyone knowing feedstuffs will readily agree that alfalfa hay is a much better feed for dairy cattle than corn cobs. Yet on a total digestible nutrient (T. D. N.) basis, the long recognized standard for judging feed values, there appears to be little difference. In 100 lbs. of alfalfa hay there are 50 lbs. of digestible nutrients, while 100 lbs. of corn cobs contain 46.2 lbs. of digestible nutrients.

According to T. D. N. measurement, then, the difference between alfalfa hay and corn cobs is less than 4 lbs. to the hundred, even though the producing ability of the one is known to be far greater than the other. This simple comparison is one of many that caused scientists to decide that the existing T. D. N. basis for judging the productive capacity of feeds and roughages needed to be revised and replaced by more accurate methods, according to Meade Summers, head of the dairy department of Purina Mills.

"Many men in the dairy business today can remember when the first so-called balanced rations were introduced," says Summers. "College professors, feed manufacturers and dairymen began talking about proteins and carbohydrates and how they should be balanced . . . and well-bred, well-fed cows began to products are practically equal in total digestible nutrients. So much energy is burned up by the cow in digesting the corn cobs that only 13.2 therms of net productive energy remain out of the 46.2 lbs. of digestible material in 100 lbs. of cob. On the other hand, the alfalfa hay is so much more easily digested that far less energy is used up in the process of digestion and assimilations, leaving 38 therms of net energy from 50 lbs. of digestible material in 100 lbs. eaten. That means that alfalfa hay has practically three times the feeding value of corn cobs.

"Recently Professor G. S. Frapps of the University of Texas, one of the outstanding dairymen of the nation, came to the front with a statement corroborating these tests," says Summers. "Frapps said that all dairy feeds were being figured on the wrong basis and that productive energy values should replace the use of total digestible nutrients as it had done in Europe many years ago.

"Of course, it is still very important to have a properly balanced ration. And it is also important that the ration be high in total digestible nutrients. However, it is most important of all to go one step farther and see that today's ration is rich in therms of net energy, for producing milk after the cow has digested the feed.

step up production to almost unbelievable amounts compared to what they had been producing.

Digestibility Is Big Factor

"Later, scientists working in laboratories discovered that proteins and carbohydrates were not the whole story—that a feed must have digestibility as well. It was found that the more feed a cow could digest and make use of, the more milk she would produce. The discovery of digestible nutrients was a big step forward in the dairy industry," Summers says.

"But in laboratories and on experimental farms there were research workers who were not entirely satisfied with the progress made. They felt that total digestible nutrients did not tell the whole story. They were the hunger fighters of the dairy industry who realized that dairy breeding was still far ahead of dairy feeding—that the American cow was capable of producing a lot more milk if they could find the feed that would bring it out of her.

"Among them were two dairy scientists at Pennsylvania State College, who received notice for their work with a machine that showed exactly what happened to each pound of feed when it passed through a cow. They put a living animal inside the machine and made their tests. They discovered, as many scientists and advanced dairymen had believed they would, that total digestible nutrients was not the final measure of a feed. This machine measured the energy used in digesting feed. They found more energy was used in digesting some feeds than others.

Net Energy Values

"Their findings explain why alfalfa hay is a better dairy feed than corn cobs, even though the two

"About 2 years ago Purina Mills began a series of feeding tests at the Purina Experimental Farm to determine the effectiveness of this net energy basis for building a dairy feed. The climax of this experimental work was reached in a test with 60 grade cows, divided in 2 herds of 30 head each.

Checked and Double Checked

"One herd was fed the regular Purina dairy ration on the market at the time, high in total digestible nutrients," says Summers. "The other herd was fed a ration both high in total digestible nutrients and rich in therms of net energy. The result was startling. Both herds did well, but the cows on the therm-rich feed averaged 40 pounds of milk daily while the cows receiving the regular Purina ration gave 35 pounds of milk. Tests were repeated for a second full lactation period, with verifying results.

"For final and conclusive proof, the herds were reversed and the cows that had been given the regular Purina dairy ration were fed on the new therm-rich feed while the herd that had been receiving the therm-rich ration were given the Purina ration. The 30 cows fed on the therm-rich ration confirmed the results from the first herd. By this time our men in the Dairy Department were calling these net energy units 'milk-making therms.'

"Those 60 cows gave us the information needed to make our present improved dairy rations. Today our customers have a milk-making ration that not only has its carbohydrates and proteins balanced, not only is rich in minerals, not only is high in total digestible nutrients, but also is rich in milk-making therms. The result to our customers is extra dollars of profit."

EAT EGGS FOR STAMINA

By RUTH J. COOPER, Home Economics Consultant

In a study of American diets, representing a wide range of conditions both rural and urban the amount spent for eggs was 5.5 per cent of the total spent for food. In comparison to the amount of nutrition derived, this is too low by half. We need about one egg per day or approximately 30 dozen eggs per person per year, or about 11 per cent of the food budget.

Eggs are protective foods. Both the yolk and the white are rich sources of protein. An average egg of 70 calories contains about 60% of the protein in the white and 40% in the yolk. Raw egg yolk is easily digested but raw egg white often causes digestive disturbances. That is the reason that egg white is cooked just enough to coagulate the albumins for then it too, is easily digested.

Fat, and in general, the minerals in the eggs are to be found in the yolk. The most important mineral is iron. While the amount is small it is constant and in a very usable form. One egg furnishes about one-tenth of the daily iron required.

Eggs are a rich source of vitamins, containing all except "C". This wealth alone would place them in the protective foods class without their other qualifications.

An egg is an egg whether it is taken into the diet straight or in combinations. Eggs may be used in any of the various methods of cookery and with almost any food. Egg and milk combinations are nutritious and palatable. They round out the protective diet and are insurance against nutritional deficiency.

CUSTARD

2 eggs or 4 yolks
2 tbsp. sugar
1/8 tsp. salt
2 cups milk (scalded)
1/2 tsp. vanilla
Whipped cream

SOFT CUSTARD: Beat eggs slightly, add sugar, salt and gradually add milk. Cover over low heat either in a double boiler or very low flame, stirring constantly until the custard coats the spoon. If cooked beyond this stage, it will curdle. Strain, Flavor and chill. Serve with whipped cream.

BAKED CUSTARD: Combine as for Soft Custard. Strain and flavor. Pour into custard cups and set cups in a pan of water to the depth of about one inch. Bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean, about 35 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

EGGS POACHED IN CREAM
1 egg

1 tbsp. cream
Salt and pepper
Toast

Butter a custard cup and add cream. Break egg into cup, sprinkle with salt and pepper and bake in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) until egg is set. Serve on buttered toast.

CREAMED EGGS

3 tbsp. butter
3 tbsp. flour
1 1/2 cups milk
4 hard-cooked eggs
Paprika
1/2 tsp. salt

Melt butter, blend in flour, salt and gradually add milk; cook until thick, stirring to prevent lumping. Slice eggs, combine with white sauce and turn into serving dish. Sprinkle top with paprika.

Goldenrod Eggs are a variation of Creamed Eggs. Dice the egg whites and add to the cream sauce; pour over buttered toast. Press the egg yolks thru sieve and sprinkle over all.

The league-leading Pidcoke 'Cokers received quite a blow last week, when R. W. Bowman, flashy third-sacker, left this county for San Angelo, where, it is understood, he will enter the semi-pro ranks. Bowman, although he was in a bad slump during the first of the season, has been hitting the ball hard of late, and the 'Cokers will find him hard to replace.

Preparations are nearly complete for the greatest annual baseball show in Central Texas, the Texas Semi-Pro Baseball tournament, held each year at Katy Park, Waco. This is an affair that attracts hundreds of Coryell County fans each year.

This year's tournament, according to information emanating from the tournament officials' offices, will be "bigger and better than ever", to employ a well-worn phrase. Sixteen of the strongest clubs throughout the state will compete in the affair, which requires thirty games to be reeled off before the champion can be determined.

The Waco Dons, who have the best clubs in their history, are over-whelming favorites to cop the tournament title. They have defeated the strongest teams in the State in practice games, and with the addition of Harry White to their pitching corps, become almost invincible Baytown Oilers, a team that the Dons have not faced, will be the darkhorse of the tournament.

The winning team will receive besides a handsome trophy, a $1,500 cash prize. This inducement will enable you to see ball clubs which are rather lethargic in practice appearances, really hustling all the way. There will be many mafor league scouts on hand to look over promising youngsters.

More than 700 cities in the United States now operate with civil service provisions for their personnel.

Scientists attacking the problem of water temperature effect on the settling of sediment in the Colorado river, use a modern gas refrigerator, selected because it has no moving parts that might cause vibration and alter test results. Large test tubes containing samples of river water are placed in the refrigerator and checked at varied degrees of temperature.

Approximately 182 million cubic yards of sediment is deposited annually by the Colorado River below Yuma, Arizona—equal to the total soil excavated in constructing the Panama Canal.

VOLUME VII

GATESVILLE, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JULY 14, 1939

NUMBER 59

Just before midnight on last Friday night (June 30), the House passed a much amended and as I see it, a rather ineffective neutrality bill. The measure has not as yet received consideration in the Senate. This situation is the result of the great difference of opinion that exists between members of Congress just as between our people as to HOW the United States can best stay out of European wars. On many issues I have felt that the Republicans (and sometimes the Democrats) voted with an eye to the effect on their party's success. The charge has been made that this bill has become a party issue. I do not think that it has. While I feel that the President and Secretary Hull has proposed a course best calculated to keep us out of war, I can well understand the feelings of those who took another view, and do not question their patriotism.

The viewpoint of the Administration has been that the most effective way to keep America out of war is to keep Europe from going to war. This does not mean that we should rush into any European conflict. It simply recognizes the fact that as long as war does not break out in Europe that America CAN NOT be involved. It does not assume that we are sure to go to war if Europe does, but it does recognize the fact that if war breaks out in Europe that the possibility of American involvement becomes vastly greater. The policy proposed by Secretary Hull and offered in the bill as brought out by the committee recognizes that the European dictators are likely to provoke war only in event THEY THINK they can win. They have always controlled the great Krupp works—the largest munitions works of the world. They have now taken over almost equally great Skoda works—the second largest munitions works. With an adequate supply of munitions for themselves their chances of victory are, of course, much brightened in event their prospective enemies are unable to buy the munitions that they need. At present, our law prohibits the sale of "munitions or implements of war" to any belligerent nation. Thus, by merely declaring war the dictators could, with the help of our law, cut their opponents off from their only source of supplies (the United States). Surely it can not be claimed that such a policy on our part can be considered strictly neutral. Possibly it had some elements of true neutrality before the destruction of Czechoslovakia, but now it simply means that one group of European nations have all the munitions they need. They are considering an attack on a group of nations that do not have the arms to protect themselves. The bill proposed to change the law so that any nation could buy arms and munitions here. I think that such a change would go a long way to discourage any war in Europe, and if it did, it would certainly keep us at peace.

The next phase of neutrality legislation must have to do with our policy in event we should fail to maintain peace in Europe. As proposed by the committee, the bill would have prevented the sale of any goods to belligerents except for cash and would have prohibited the transportation of any goods of any kind into the zone of conflict by American ships. I think this was a most important provision because most of the conflicts between warring powers and neutrals arise from some destruction of life or property of the neutral in the conflict zone. Only by keeping our ships out of the fighting can we keep them from being sunk. Only by keeping American citizens out of the war zone can we keep them from being killed. Only by refusing to lend money or sell on credit to warring powers can we keep our own citizens from building up a financial interest in the outcome of the fight. All of these things are likely to lead us into war. I feel that we should, so far as possible, keep them from arising. Unfortunately, the House, by a very close vote, amended the committee bill so that we still retain a prohibition on the sale of "lethal weapons" (whatever that means), and also allowed the shipment of foreign owned goods into war zones on American ships. I feel that both of these changes were very unfortunate. The first, because it does not make a clean cut declaration to the nations who are contemplating war that their intended victims will be able to fight back in an effective manner, thereby inviting an attack, and secondly, because it would allow American ships to go into combat zones loaded with contraband and thereby invite destruction with loss of American lives and property. I opposed the amendments, and after they were put in, I voted to send the bill back to the committee for re-writing, but when this motion failed, by only two votes, I voted for the bill as being better than nothing. I hope that the Senate will restore vitality to the bill. I feel that the blood of innocent people will be on us if we do

Use and Observe These TRAFFIC SIGNALS for Your Safety!

Traffic signals were not invented for the playing of polite parlor games. True, it is good driving manners to use and observe these signals. But courtesy is merely incidental to the real purpose: YOUR OWN PERSONAL SAFETY.

When you extend your arm straight to the left, even the half-wit (whom every driver fondly imagines is steering the car immediately behind him) can understand that your car is going to turn left. Raise your arm straight up, and he knows you are going to turn right. Lower your arm over the side of the car, and he is amply warned that you are going to stop.

Simple signals, these three; and so easy that their use can become as automatic as opening the mouth when you want to speak. So simple and so easy that it is hard to understand that for many they have meant the difference between life and death. Psychologically, perhaps, it is explained by the fact that many people who drive 1939 cars still follow 1910 driving methods . . . and are as hopelessly old-fashioned as if they wore bustles or yellow buttoned high shoes! Their intentions are good; they plan to do the right thing. But they don't practice it. And the tragic part is that they only have so forget just once! "Once is enough" is Death's own motto and should be graven on thousands of those hard gray slabs.

Let's be good sports and set the dilatory ones a good 1939 example . . . USE and OBSERVE these traffic signals not just occasionally, but ALL the time!

J. EDGAR HOOVER

SYNOPSIS CHAPTER I
Police in the little town of Glen-by have identified the mysterious bandit who robbed a filling station as Freddie Martin (J. Carrol Nash). At the same time Dot Bronson (Patricia Morison) a local beauty operator starts her own crime wave by stealing an expensive compact from the pocket of a customer's fur coat.

CHAPTER II
DOT BRONSON reached into the wastebasket for the empty perfume bottle which her last customer had tossed there. She pulled it out and read the name, "Tantalizing."
Then, while the maid watched her, Dot let some warm water run into the bottle. She shook the water in the bottle, smelled it and doused the perfumed water over herself. Her eyes narrowed in thought, and to the maid's enviously sighed. "Ah wonders, how does a body go about gettin' one of dem expensive fur coats?" Dot slowly answered, "I don't know yet, but I'm going to find out."

She was interrupted by the opening of the front door of the beauty shop. As the maid saw Joe Butler, she turned to leave. "Ah guess you all kin lock up," she said. "Good night." And she walked out.
Dot coolly submitted her cheek for Joe's kiss. "We going out?" she asked. "Sure," Joe replied. "We'll drive over to Mike's for a hamburger, grab ourselves a couple of dances and take in a movie, maybe." Dot looked annoyed. "How's about us skipping the hamburgers for a change, and going out to that new roadhouse?"

"At two-fifty a head?" Joe was flabbergasted. "We can't afford that, Dot." His voice grew irritated.
"Why are you always wanting to throw money away? If I listened to you we'd never save enough to get married." He paused, then continued tenderly, "Don't be sore, honey some day we'll be able to..."

"There'll be no some day for us," Dot snapped. "I'm tired of riding around in a dirty jalopy that smells of old tires and greasy overalls, and I'm tired of eating hamburgers and dancing in two-bit roadside joints!"
As he opened his mouth to answer, she held up her hand. "There's the door," she said. "Somebody's coming in. Pipe down. Don't tell the whole town. You'd better go."

But before Joe could turn to leave the shop, a man appeared in the doorway. The stranger's eyes were fixed on him, and the firmly gripped gun in his pocket was unmistakably pointed straight for Joe. "I want the dough I saw that guy pay in front of the barber shop," he snapped.
Dot's eyes narrowed. "Take a crack at him, Joe," she urged.
The stranger made a suggestive move of his hand, still in his pocket.
"The dough," he repeated, menacingly.

"I need that dough," Joe said. "I have to pay a bill in the morning."
"Kick him in the shin," Dot begged feverishly. "Don't plead with him, Joe."
The stranger laughed shortly.
"You notice she's asking you to take all the chances."

Dot smiled grimly. "Is that so?"
she asked contemptuously, and leaped suddenly toward the stranger.
He let out a sharp yelp of pain as her sharp heel caught him in the shin. She yelled, "Joe, jump him!

Quick!"
Joe leaped, and for an instant all Dot could see was a flurry of arms and legs. But it was all over in a moment. There was the sound of a thud and Joe sagged, unconscious, to the floor.

The stranger straightened and covered Dot with his pistol. "Don't move," he ordered. "Or I'll show you what being tough really means."
He bent down and swiftly rifled Joe's pockets. "Come on," he said, after he had transferred the money to his own pocket. "You're going to drive me out of town in your boy friend's car."

"Try me." His voice was low and intense. "I'm willing to be anything you want me to be."

Dot sneered. "But we haven't even been introduced."

"The name's Freddie — Freddie Martin. Get going!" Dot, urged by the menace of the gun, slowly accompanied him out to the car, where she slid into the driver's seat and started off.

"Not too fast," Martin ordered, from the seat next to Dot. "Make it look as though you were the girl friend, taking me out for a spin."

They drove for a few minutes in silence. Then, at Martin's sudden fright at the sound of a police siren, Dot smiled grimly. "How'll you plead—guilty or not guilty?"

"I won't be around that long," he answered, opening the door. "Goodbye, sister."

"Don't be a chump," Dot snapped quickly, as she stepped on the gas.
"Stay where you are!" And she swung off the road into a small clump of trees, where she cut the motor dead and snapped off the lights.

Martin studied her suspiciously.
"What the..." he demanded.
"Shut up! Wait," she commanded warningly.

They sat in silence while the sound of police sirens approached on the road nearby, roared past their hiding place, and vanished into the distance.

Martin turned to stare at Dot.
"What's the idea, giving me this break?"

She shrugged her shoulders. "How do I know? How do you know why you do things?"

Martin moved close to her. "You and I could do big things together," he said slowly.

Dot laughed contemptuously. "Like sticking up a garage mechanic for forty dollars?" She sneered. "A bold, bad man behind a chocolate fudge sundae!"

"I need a little ready cash," he muttered.

"I'm not interested in a little ready cash," she snapped. "If you're

SENATOR CONNALLY OF TEX. INTRODUCES OLD AGE PENSION BILL IN SEN.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Senator Tom Connally of Texas has introduced in the Senate and expects to urge before that body the adoption of a proposal to secure two-thirds Federal participation in Old Age assistance payments up to a maximum of $15.00, the State and Federal governments to continue to share equally above that amount, as at present. If enacted into the Social Security Act, this would have the effect of providing $10.00 from the Federal government to match the first $5.00 from the State government for federally eligible old age pensioners in Texas instead of the equal basis of contribution now in operation.

In explanation of his plan, Senator Connally said:

"Under the present law, the Federal Government pays to each State an amount equal to the average paid by the State to old age pensioners who are eligible and are on the roll under the State administration of old age assistance or pensions. The maximum limit is $15.00 per month on the part of the Federal government, but there is no minimum fixed by law. The result has been that in some states the Federal contribution has been out of proportion to the same contribution in other states. For instance, in Arkansas, the state contribution amounts to something over $3.00 per month, and, therefore, the Federal government pays to the eligible old age pensioners in Arkansas something over $3.00 per month. However, in other states, such as Colorado and California and some of the richer states, the Federal government, in some instances pays the full $15.00 maximum limit and in some states pays an amount something less than the maximum limit. This situation has created a state of inequality in the amount of Federal contributions because of inability or unwillingness of some states to make substantial payments or contributions to eligible pensioners on the old age pension rolls. An anomaly is presented to the Federal government paying to eligible pensioners on the old age pension rolls a little over $3.00 in Arkansas and to a person similarly situated who may reside in Colorado $15.00 out of the Federal treasury.

"To somewhat rectify this inequality, the amendment which I have offered provides that the Federal government shall contribute two-thirds of the payment to be made to eligible old age pensioners on the state rolls to an amount not exceeding $15.00 (In other words, the Federal government would pay $2.00 for each dollar provided by the State, or $10.00 in Federal contribution to $5.00 state contribution, to a maximum of $15.00 under such proportion). It further provides that from $15.00 up the state and the Federal government shall match payments equally as under existing law.

Senator Connally continued: "The purpose and the effect of the amendment, if adopted, will be to aid the states which have not adequate revenues to provide payments under existing law, and the states where there are relatively large numbers of old age pensioners in proportion to the remainder of the population. It is well known that in certain states of the Union that condition exists.

"My amendment will be urged when the bill is considered by the Senate. I feel its adoption and enactment into law will afford a very substantial contribution toward meeting the obligations with respect to old age pensions," Senator Connally concluded.

POAGE LETTER—

not do everything in our power to prevent the outbreak of any war, and particularly the involvement of America. I realize that Congress can never pass any laws that guarantee peace. Peace can only be guaranteed by the hearts of the people, but Congress can and should do everything possible to reduce the probability of war, and I believe that the overwhelming majority of both Democrats and Republicans in Congress are trying to do just that.
