TEMPLE ENTERTAINED OVER 2700 FUTURE FARMERS LAST WEEK

Last week over 2,700 Texas Future Farmers of America convened in Temple for three days. (1) A group of Temple, register the delegates. (2) W. A. Holt, Barrel, is greeted by Virginia Sheffner, "Temple Sweetheart." (3) Marlin boys discuss plans. (4) Otis Clark and Melvin Kleypas, both of official receptionist. (5) Katherine Skelton, Jeane Willis and Frances Stavinoha are registering the FFA. (6) Roscbad, Riesel and Ohlton string bands broadcast over KTEM. (7) A. J. Spengler, John Tarkenton, Stephenville, is addressing Lone Star Farmer committee. (8) Another committee receives the State FFA reports.

CONTRACT LET SATURDAY FOR NEW FUNERAL HOME BY SCOTT

Final arrangements were made Saturday, and a contract was let to Fred Smith, Gatesville, General Contractor, for building a new funeral home for Morton Scott. Funeral Director and Housefurnisher, which will be located next to the First Christian Church on East Leon street, about a half block from the post office.

T. Brooks Pearson of Waco is the architect and as we understand, construction will probably start this week.

The building is to be a brick veneer, 54 feet x 100 feet, with a half of the building to have two stories. The lower floor will have a large chapel, family room, music room, slumber room, preparation room, display room, office, lobby, storage room and garage. The Chapel will be air-cooled. On the second floor, there will be two five room apartments.

The home is to be a substantial building, equipped and furnished in a neat attractive manner and is being built for the convenience of Gatesville and Coryell County people, according to Mr. Scott.

No estimate of the total outlay for the building was released.

CLIFF CAPTURES BOY AND RETURNS TO "STATE": KNOCKED OUT

Cliff Ranking, Sunday morning, picked up $15.

Cliff was "making his route" and saw a "state boy" on the highway, and asked him if he wanted to ride. He did.

He climbed on the back of Cliff's truck, but had lost his directions and didn't know he was going back to "his former home." When he got in sight, he jumped off the truck, knocking himself out, and Cliff got him, loaded him back on the truck, and carried him to his former home.

COMMUNITY REVIVAL TO BE HELD AT BUSTER: STARTS SUNDAY

Beginning Sunday, July 30, at Buster, Sister Ruby Evans of Santa Anna, will open a community revival at the evening service.

Throughout the week, and probably the following week the revival will be held, and everyone is invited to attend.

BUYERS HEAD TO DALLAS AND FORT WORTH TO BUY FOR FALL

The annual trek to the buying centers has been started by Gatesville merchants, as is their usual custom this time of the year.

C. E. Alvis, Sr., and Mrs. Kit Bridges were earliest, being in Dallas and Fort Worth Monday, and probably more this week.

Leaving today, is Byron Leaird Jr., and Mrs. Fred Smith who will be looking over and buying Fall merchandise in the two "big" North Texas towns.

CITY BUYS CURTAINS AND STAGE FIXTURES FOR CITY HALL

Contract has just been signed, and workmen are already starting to install a curtain and other stage equipment on the stage in the City Auditorium.

The front curtain will be a velour curtain and valance with a 10" fringe, all of burgandy color. A complete cyclorama, in 6 sections is also being installed along with its border. This cyclorama, makes it possible to reduce the size of the stage, when it is used for speakers.

The units installed are arranged so that if additional installments are made later, the part installed now will not have to be discarded. The work is being done by the Southern Stage and Equipment Company of San Antonio.

This addition, will make it possible to hold meetings and to have other gatherings and entertainments in the auditorium better than could be before.

Mrs. J. T. Leeson of Abilene arrived today for a week's visit with her mother, Mrs. John T. Post, and other relatives. Her sons, John and Kerby, will return home with her Sunday.

Rodeo Sponsor

As head man for the "Sho-Kus" which opens at 8 p. m. Thursday night at The Grove, Austin Doolittle, a 6 foot 3 inch promoter of no mean ability, will pack 'em in, and give 'em a real western rodeo out where "bronc riders meet and compete".

AMPLIFIER "GOES OUT" AT RITZ: NEW ONE IN SATURDAY NIGHT

Saturday, just before "curtain time" at the Ritz Theatre, the sound amplifier "went out" and Mr. Brown was forced to postpone showing to a full house. One was ordered out of Dallas, and the show went on as usual, but not until the midnight show.

Since this equipments can be bought only in Dallas, or that is the nearest place, it was shipped to Waco and picked up there by Mr. Brown, Saturday afternoon.

FIVE CASES HANDLED ON FIRST DAY OF CRIMINAL DOCKET

Five were brought before the bar of justice at the courthouse yesterday, four of them being boys charged in the case of the kidnaping of C. L. Kirby, and other charges growing out of this incident.

Charles Mangham, in a jury case, was given 5 years in the penitentiary, charged with assisting escape of State Juvenile School inmates.

Junious Fredrick Turley, pled guilty to the same charge, waived jury trial and was given a like sentence.

Charles Reynolds, tried by a jury, was also given 5 years after pleading guilty.

Raymond Maynard, charged with kidnaping, pled guilty and asked for a suspended sentence. At 6:30, our press deadline, the case had not yet been turned over to the jury.

The only other case was that of the State of Texas vs. Joe S. Clark, charged with driving while intoxicated, and he was fined $50, given 5 days in jail and his driver's licence is suspended for six months.

No indication was given as to what would come up next, but it is probable the other charges against the state boys will be tried today.

COOPER TRUCK SMASHED IN BRIDGE COLLISION SATURDAY

One of the Cooper Grocery trucks, driven by C. E. Clemons, experienced trucker, was completely demolished as it smashed into a concrete bridge six miles this side of Hamilton on State Highway 36, the accident occurring Saturday morning.

The housing on the back axle of the truck broke as it was traveling at normal speed. The truck began swerving toward the left immediately and Clemons was unable to regain control of the wheel and avert the crash.

The truck, which was carrying a full load of 7,000 pounds of salt, was sent to Waco and turned into the company there. Clemons escaped the accident with only a slight bruise on his left forearm.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Miles of Waco visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Rogers Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Chambers and children, Doris, Frankie Lou, and Sammy Ray, were guests of relatives in Hobbs, New Mexico, Lubock, and Eastland the past week.

BOY SCOUTS ARRIVE HOME AFTER EIGHT DAY CAVALCADE

After spending a delightful week at Gorman Falls, Buchanan Dam and Marble Falls, the Boy Scouts of Gatesville headed by Mr. J. M. Witcher arrived home Friday afternoon about three thirty p. m. a tired but hilarious bunch.

From all reports every boy had a good time and many blistered backs and skinned arms and legs were displayed proudly. Although some of the boys received some cuts and bruises no one was painfully injured.

The boys camped at Buchanan Dam Wednesday night taking a boat ride up to Falls Creek and went on up to Marble Falls, starting home Friday morning.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION STARTED YESTERDAY: WORK IF NEEDED

County Judge Floyd Zeigler, members of the Commissioner's Court started yesterday morning "equalizing taxes" and had a number of visitors who were seeking adjustment of county taxes.

Judge Zeigler said they would stay in session all day yesterday, and more this week if necessary, and rushed out here and installed.

Mrs. B. O. Harrell and children, Alva, Travis, and Frances, of Eastland were guests the past week in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hair.

SOCIETY

Merry Wives Club Entertained

Friday morning Mrs. Edgar Franks was hostess to members and guests of the Merry Wives Club at her home on College street. Adorning every vantage point were vases of roses and queen's wreath.

During the morning, games of 84 were played, and at the conclusion, the hostess passed a delectable salad plate.

Twenty-four guests enjoyed the courtesy.

Ray Scruggs Home Scene of Party

Bouquets of zinnas decorated the lovely home of Mrs. Ray Scruggs on Saunders Street when she entertained members of her club, The Soil Conservation Bridge Club, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Richard Dickie was awarded the prize for winning high score. Other players included: Mesdames Emmett Stewart, A. T. Ray, T. G. Wray, Paul Hardy, J. C. Porter, Sam Nixon and the hostess.

Concluding the courtesy was the serving of a salad plate.

Nita Jean and Janell Rogers Honored

Honoring their daughters, Nita Jean and Janell Rogers, on their seventh birthday anniversary, Mrs. Ellie Rogers and Mrs. A. T. Rogers entertained a group of little friends with a party in the Raby Park Thursday afternoon of last week.

Various games furnished the diversion for the afternoon, after which ice cream cones and cookies were served. Balloons were given as favors.

Twenty-five youngsters were present to assist the honorees in the celebration.

Tucker-Jeffers In Nuptial Ceremony

Miss Mavalene Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Tucker, and Francis Jeffers, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Jeffers were married Sunday morning, July 16, at the home of Rev. Gid J. Bryan, pastor of the First Methodist church of Hamilton.

Miss Jamyrtta Tucker and Jordan Tucker, sister and brother of the bride were the only attendants. She wore a lovely peach lace frock with blue accessories.

After a short honeymoon, the couple are now at home at the home of the groom's parents in the Liberty community.

The bride was a graduate of Hamilton High School, and Mr. Jeffers, a graduate of Gatesville High School, attended the Air-Condition and Refrigeration Institution in Chicago.—Hamilton County News.

B. K. Cooper Jr. Honored On Second Birthday

Mrs. B. K. Cooper was hostess to a group of youngsters when she entertained at her home on south Lutterloh avenue with a party to compliment her small son, B. K. Jr., who celebrated his second birthday anniversary Friday, July 21.

The children arrived about 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon, and were shown to the back lawn of the home, where they found a sandbed and other toys to amuse them. Moving pictures were taken of the group, and at a later hour the hostess passed delicious cookies and punch. Favors were colored balloons and whistles.

Approximately 35 little guests were invited to share in the celebration with the honoree.

Wadkins-McDonald

Miss Alma McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McDonald of Gatesville, became the bride of Haskell Wadkins, son of Mr. G. W. Wadkins of Midland at the home of Rev. H. D. Bruce, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Midland. The impressive ring ceremony was read before an improvised altar of roses and fern.

Miss Vivian Arnett sang "I Love You Truly," and was accompanied by Walter Johnson, who also played the wedding marches.

The bride was attractively dressed in a triple sheer frock of navy blue with white accessories.

A reception was held following the ceremony.

Attending the nuptial services were: J. Boyd, Miss Vivian Glidewell, Mrs. Joe Mims, Mrs. Donnelly, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Denham, Tom Kirkham, J. R. Van Arsdale, Mrs. Joe Shilbune, Jim Wadkins, and Mrs. J. Wadkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Powell and little daughter of Fort Worth are visiting relatives here. Mrs. Powell is the former Mary Elizabeth Walley.

Harold Cunyus of Waco was a Gatesville visitor Friday.

TO ALL CONCERNED:

Friends, as so many of you are inquiring of me (and also asking my husband almost daily) concerning my now perfect health and just where I obtained it, knowing that I had been an invalid perhaps ever since you knew me around 36 years and hundreds of you that never knew me when I was a well woman. I now feel it my duty toward suffering humanity to answer all of you thru the columns of our wonderful paper instead of answering so many letters by mail. Friends, 32 years ago while undergoing an operation and still under the influence of ether I had the sad misfortune of getting my spine dislocated in two different places, one near the waist line and the other between my shoulders, and many's the time I have been perfectly helpless in bed from same.

I also had had neuritis for 13 years and we had spent hundreds of dollars trying to get relief from my crippled back. God alone knows what I have suffered from my crippled different medical doctors and lots of electrical treatments, but all in vain for relief. So March 10 last, a friend of mine finally persuaded me to go to Comanche, Texas, and try Dr. J. C. Gaddy (Massuer) as she and her daughter both had been cured by him and she told me of so many different patients he had cured, so just to please her I went, not believing he could help me. I told her I had chased the rainbow's end too many times now with no avail in search of health, but thank God, friends, this is one time it wasn't in vain, and I really found the pot of gold at the rainbow's end worth more than a million dollars to me in health, because after taking just 17 treatments from Dr. Gaddy, I went home a well and happy woman, and I feel better all the time and I am old only in years and looks. Never felt better or younger since I was just past 18 years old. When I went to Dr. J. C. Gaddy my entire left side was almost helpless and I had such a struggle to lie down or get up, it was almost impossible for me to get in a car. Had to helped up steps and it would of crowded me to of walked two or three blocks, and after taking just 6 treatments. I walked 49 blocks with ease.

Now on pavements I believe I could walk five miles easily and I can and do, waltz from around two or three hours almost every night. I do this only to help keep me well and strong. I have had women I know come from as far as 200 miles to see if this was correct and found it was but could hardly believe their own eyes, neither can any of my family. In fact, it is so astonishing that God saw fit to so wonderfully bless me I myself can not hardly realize it true. Oh, if I could only reach out and tell all the afflicted that it is silly and useless to suffer pain from disease when this doctor can relieve them, and I am in so much sympathy with all of them, I want to see as many of them at least that read this, go to Dr. Gaddy at the Cottage Hotel, Gatesville and have a free consultation with him and let him cure you sound and well. He positively does not know I am writing this and it will really be a surprise to him when he reads it, but I feel like God has called on me to do this to try to help suffering humanity, and all the pay (for myself only) I ever expect for writing this is a blessing from God and I do expect that and believe I will get it, bless His holy name.

NORMAL SCHOOL OF DANCING. LOS ANGELES

Charles Kenneth Baker, of Abilene is here visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kelley, and other relatives.

Mr. Baker has just returned from Los Angeles where he attended the regular normal session of the famous Belcher School of Dancing.

This school is near Hollywood and many movie stars have received instructions from Mr. Belcher. While there a few weeks ago, Mr. Baker (being a student in the same school), got a thrill of seeing Shirley Temple receive a lesson from Mr. Belcher.

HARD-FIGHTING MOUND TEAM SENDS PIDCOKE TUMBLING INTO 2ND PLACE WITH 8 TO 5 WIN

An unpredictable, flashy Mound club fought its way to a brilliant, hard-earned 8-5 victory over the league-leading Pidcoke Cokers to send the latter club tumbling into second place as the Blackfoot Indians won on a forfeit from Moshem to climb into first place by virtue of more games played.

It was a game filled with errors but a game that kept the fans roaring and rumbling all the way for they saw two fine clubs battling toe to toe, saw two clubs fight under pressure, and saw the club that had the most hustle and spirit come out on top with a glorious victory.

They saw Foy Wicker, a pitcher with plenty of nerve, stand out there and hurl one of the best ball games of his life. Although he was hit freely in spots, he bore down when he had to. When Pidcoke would edge within a run or two of the Mound lead, Wicker would pause, wipe the sweat that poured freely from his forehead, hitch up his belt, take a cautious glance at the Pidcoke men on base, and then "r-ar" back and send his blinding fast ball hopping past the Coker hitters.

Wicker held his heavy-hitting opponents scoreless until the 4th inning, when they scored one run. The Pidcoke boys scored another in the fifth, and three more in the eighth, but Mound had gotten off to a big lead and was never behind.

Bruce Bomar opens the Mound barrage in the initial stanza with a single, stealing second. Manager Anderson then sends him scampering home with a booming triple, Anderson himself score on a sacrifice a moment later. They scored in the third on two hits and a sacrifice.

The game went into the eighth inning with the score standing three-two. But in this frame the supposedly steady Pidcoke club fell apart, committing three miscues afield, which, combined with three scorching hits, cost them five runs and the ball game. They came back to score three runs in their half, but to no avail. That eighth inning rally was too much.

Bomar, young Mound outfielder, along with his veteran manager, B. G. Anderson, led the Mound attack. Bently Curry was the big gun of the Pidcoke offensive.

According to a letter from our Pidcoke correspondent, the Cokers sorely missed the service of their ace catcher, Bill Smith. Rutherford suffered his first loss as a Pidcoke pitcher, going the route and allowing nine hits. Shaky support cost him a few runs, but it was Mound's day.

Gatesville suffered its second defeat of the season, one which sent them down into fourth place a bare game and a half above Mound, as the fiery Pearl Tigers took a 7-6 thriller from them.

White Hall and Topsey engaged in a slugfest Sunday, with the Topsey club outlasting their younger opponents to win, 13-10. Vance Roy went the route for the winners although he was hit freely and heavily all the way, while Bailey McCallister, the only hurler White Hall has since Otis McBroom sprained his wrist, had to stay in there and take his beating.

Blackfoot won on a forfeit from Moshem, while no report has been received on the Jonesboro vs. Turnersville fray.

Following is a complete standings, minus the Jonesboro-Turnersville game.

TEAM	W.	L.	PCT
Blackfoot	6	1	.857
Pearl	5	1	.833
Pidcoke	5	1	.833
Gatesville	6	2	.750
Mound	4	3	.571
White Hall	3	4	.428
Jonesboro	3	4	.428

Topsey 2 5 .285
Turnersville 1 5 .166
Moshem (withdrawn)

The league officials have decided to count the protested Pearl-Pidcoke game of June 25, which Pearl won, 5-1, but used an ineligible man, as "no game" unless at the end of the schedule the game would have had a definite bearing of the first division standing.

The four games that were rained out on opening day have not yet been played, and will probably be scheduled for August 20.

SPORT SCROLL

By POST

The Arnold's club took a nose dive last week, when they lost two straight decisions to slide into a tie with the Coca-Cola Bottlers and the hustling Firemen for the league leadership. Now that the bubble of Arnold invincibility has burst, the league race is due to be a hard-fought, three-corner battle between the clubs mentioned above.

The Firemen have found another pitcher to spell the portly Doc Ray in Tom Tharp, a young firebrand who played third base for the smokeaters until the strategy board gave him a chance on the mound.

A crowd that was reminiscent of the day when the Yankees played an exhibition game there overflowed the grandstands and crowded both foul lines as the 1939 Texas Semi-Pro tournament got off to a flying start Friday night at Katy Park, Waco. Two closely played games were reeled off Baytown's Humble Oilers one of the tourney favorites, edging out the Dell Pratt-managed Galveston Dry Docks, 4-2, and the South Texas Investment outfit of Houston taking a 1-0 thriller from the capable Paris nine.

This Investor nine has turned out to be the surprise team of the State Semi-Pro tournament. Sunday they whipped one of the outstanding favorites, Baytown Oilers, 6 to 2. Manager Binder used four of his best pitchers in an effort to halt the Investor attack, but by the time the Houston lads' seventh frame rally was over, they had the game sewed up.

This team is composed of Grand Prize cast-offs and a few members of the Alvin club, last year's winners. Sam Gilbert, who is managing the club and guarding the initial sack, was released by Grand Prize just a short time ago. Ditto for Danny Bloxson and McCollister, infielders, both who played a large part in Sunday's victory.

It seems that golfing interest in this city has reached its zenith. Even our co-worker, Ralph Langston, with his No. 40 waist and size 12 shoe, has been invited to compete in the "chicken roast" tournament which is now in progress. That shows just to what extremes the golf officials will go to stimulate interest in the game.

First sign of coming football season: Schedule announcements for the smaller high schools creeping into the newspapers.

HOW THEY STAND

Below is given the standings in the City Softball League at the closing of playing Thursday night.

CLUB	W	L	PCT
Arnold's	7½	2½	.750
Firemen	7½	2½	.750
Coca-Cola	7½	2½	.750
Red & White	4½	5½	.450
Highway	3	7	.300
CCC	0	10	.000

This places the three top clubs in a three-way tie for the lead and as all three clubs are showing very fine form it looks like there will be a very heated race to the finish now.

There doesn't seem to be much chance of breaking the tie for sometime as all three clubs have some stiff teams to play this week.

Chaddock-Bennett Wedding July 15

In a quiet and simple ceremony at the Baptist parsonage Saturday afternoon, July 15, at 2:30, Miss Evelyn Grace Chaddock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Temple Chaddock, was united in marriage to Kirk A. Bennett of Gatesville, son of Mrs. Grace Bennett of Cuero. The service was read by Rev. M. R. Soileau. Their only attendants were Miss Dorothy Pieper of Cuero and Irven LeSage of San Antonio.

The bride was attired in a becoming black sheer frock with white accessories and wore a corsage of white asters.

After a brief honeymoon trip, the young couple is at home at the Honeycutt apartment in this city. Mr. Bennett is assistant manager of Perry Bros. Store.

Misses Bess Holmes and Maude Alyce Painter left this morning for Anson, where they will visit Miss Gladys Martin. Before returning home they plan to visit friends and relatives in Brownwood and Abilene.

TEXAS HAS GREATEST FRONTIER MUSEUM IN THE NATION

While on our vacation last week, the senior partner of the News visited his old friend at Bandera and went through his Frontier Times Museum, the largest and most complete single collection of Texas and American frontier relics in existence.

The writer knew J. Marvin Hunter at Mason, Texas, when his father published the Herald there, and learned to set type in that shop with him. That was—oh, a good many years ago. Mr. Hunter has about 15,000 separate items in his collection and the number is growing daily.

How An Editor's Hobby Built a Museum

FRONTIER TIMES MUSEUM, owned and managed by J. Marvin Hunter, at Bandera, Texas, had its beginning in 1927, starting with just a few relics of the old days. At first there was a rawhide bottom chair made in 1880 and an old double-barrel shotgun used by a Texas pioneer. It was quartered in a small room 8x8 feet, in a country printing office. Other relics were accumulated and in a year's time the collection had grown so that the little 8x8 room had to be enlarged to 8x26 feet. And still it grew until 1933, when a handsome fieldstone building, 20x40 feet, was erected on Delightful Hill, one block north of the court house in Bandera. Funds for the erection of this building were made possible through the publication of a book which was sold at $1 per copy. It was thought at that time that a building 20x40 feet in size would be large enough for a long time to house the relics and curios which J. Marvin Hunter is collecting, but this proved to be a mistaken idea, for there was such hearty response to his call for these things that additional room was soon needed, and Mr. Hunter, in keeping with his first plan to raise funds, published another book, which he sold at $1 per copy and raised sufficient funds to build an addition to the main building, the addition being 24x40 feet in size. This addition was completed in September, 1934. In 1935, still another addition, 16x40, was built and in 1938, the front of the building was extended to 100 feet in length by building a room 24x60 feet, and at this time the entire museum building of four large rooms has a floor space of about 4,000 square feet.

Built of native fieldstone, and of a semi-Spanish type of architecture, it is a beautiful structure. In its exterior walls are curious and odd formations of stone, stalactites and stalagmites from caves, fossils, petrified wood, crystalized and agatized formations, vari-colored stones from over the county, and stones from historic places. Four beautiful red granite columns adorn the main entrance to the building.

In the Museum you will find the old time spinning wheels, ox-yokes, side-saddles, cooking utensils, guns, pistols, garden tools, old chairs and furniture, branding irons, bridles, bridle-bits, spurs, rawhide lariats, hobbles, and many other things which helped to develop the frontier and now belonging to a forgotten age; mounted eagles, deer heads, owls, squirrels, birds, Mexican lynx, badger, Gila Monster, a Texas Longhorn head with spread of 8 feet, a two-headed kid, a pig with eight legs; prehistoric relics of all kinds, including basket work from the Big Bend region of Texas, flint arrowheads, spearheads, skinning knives, metates, molinos, etc. Decorating the walls of the rooms of the Museum are photographs of Texas Rangers, peace officers, Indians, outlaws, desperadoes, frontier characters, old buildings, frontier forts, etc. There are snakeskins, bear skulls, prehistoric bones, and hundreds of interesting things to hold the attention of all visitors, so many in fact, that they cannot be enumerated here. Of particular interest is the Charles Fagan Collections of South American items, which includes a shrunken human head from the savage Jivaro tribe, also a shrunken head of a wild dog of the Ecuador jungles, an iguana lizard, a porcupine fish, a wooden idol from Easter Island, a pair of copper Sonquistador saddle stirrups, lace from the lacewood tree, rubber novelties from Jamaica, a carved calabash from Peru, an Inca hat from the ancient city of Cuzco, a collection of pre-Inca items taken from a buried city in Peru, some vegetable ivory from Ecuador, a wonderful collection of butterflies, necklace made of alligator teeth, a young boaconstrictor's skin, a Chimu-Hueca jar 700 year old, hardwood weapons of the Jivaros, and many other very interesting things.

There are hundreds of things in Frontier Times Museum which will take you back to the days of your childhood. For instance, here you will find a display of green coffee, and parched coffee, with the old time coffee roaster, and the coffee mill; and there is a rack of buggy whips; and several old time soda pop bottles; and a buggy tongue; and churns; and an old Washington hand printing press used in printing a newspaper at Castroville in 1830; and there's mustache cups, shaving mugs, trundle beds, little brass-toed boots, fascinators, celluloid cuffs and collars, and many, very many, other things this present generation does not use.

It's worth coming a long distance to see this wonderful museum. So many people who think of Bandera as just a small town entertain the idea that this is a small museum, too. But when they come to see it they are astonished that so great a collection of interesting things has been assembled here.

Butter was discovered by carrying milk on camels, the jolting motion producing the butter.

SYNOPSIS OF CHAPTER IV
Dan Waldron (William Henry), Federal Bureau of Investigation agent is being married while his partner Pete Griswold (Lynne Overman), makes plans for a vacation. Dan's honeymoon plans and Pete's vacation are knocked away by word that Matt Flagler, a notorious criminal has been seen in town. The two agents are assigned to capture Flagler. They miss the criminal but in the roundup capture Dot and Freddie Martin, a pair of crooks wanted by police in the little town of Glenby. Dot and Freddie are sent back to Glenby in a police car, but en route overpower the dim-witted deputy sheriff accompanying them, and make their getaway.

CHAPTER V
FREDDIE MARTIN let his right arm, which clutched a smoking pistol, drop wearily to his side. He pointed to the bunch of splintered walnuts lying by the fence before him. "I've practiced enough for today," he complained.

Dot shook her head. "There's got to be a best in everything—and that's what I'm going to make you in this racket."

Martin scowled. "Before I met you, I was doing all right, I was free."

Dot smiled. "You're still free. You can go. Nobody's stopping you."

"I can't go," Martin shook his head. "It's like I'm chained to you."

Dot smiled again. She kissed him and held him for a second. "Now then, let's try it again, and keep saying to yourself 'I'm the big guy behind this gun. Nothing can stop me.'"

He turned firmly to face the fence, and started firing at the remaining nuts perched on top of it.

A couple of hours after the Inter-city Securities Building holdup a big black sedan came skidding to a fast stop before a lonely gas station. Dot and Freddie stepped out, ordered the tank filled and sauntered over to the soft drink tub standing by the newspaper stand.

As Freddie fished out a couple of bottles, Dot pointed to the headline which lay staring up at them. An eight column streamer read: "Unknown Bandits Hold Up Federal Reserve Truck." She nudged Freddie. "Nobody ever got anywhere being an unknown," she said.

He stared after her as she snatched the paper from the stand and glanced at the name. Dot rushed to a wall phone and jiggled the hook. "Operator," she called into the phone. "Operator, get me the Morning Times."

Freddie looked panicky. "Don't pull anything crazy," he begged frantically.

She smiled. "I'm not. I'm going to give you a reputation." She spoke into the phone. "Hello, Times? Editor, please." Her voice hardened. "Never mind who it is. Get me the editor or I'll call another paper." She pushed the frightened Freddie away, and turned back to the phone. "Hello. Is this the editor? Well, here's a tip. You've got a headline about 'Unknown bandits.' Yes, the ones who pulled that stickup. Well, I can give you the name of the man who pulled the job. . . . Yes, it's Gunner Martin. That's what I said, Gunner Martin." She paused for a second. "Sure I know what I'm talking about. I'm his wife. . . . Oh, you think I'm kidding, eh? Well, put this number down." She glanced at the telephone box. "Elmstead 4576. That's it. Call back in two minutes and ask the man who answers what happened." She hung up and turned to Freddie. She smiled. "I know, you think I'm crazy. Well," she pointed to the attendant, just closing the hood of their car. "Watch. When I give you the signal, crack down."

They strolled out to the car, and this is what you've been living for. He glanced around the room and the expensive clothes draped over every chair and sofa. "I'm not talking about right now I'm talking of tomorrow. Next year. Where's all the money we've cleaned up? Look." He rose from his seat, and waved toward the sofa. "Twelve grand for a fur coat! Now we've got less than a thousand dollars and we're so hot we can't pull a job!"

Dot smiled. "Stop worrying. We'll cool off, and we'll be in the money again."

"We've got to begin saving, I tell you! Then we can quit!" He took her in his arms. "What's this between you and me? Just something until you get tired of me?"

Dot's voice was weary. "You're getting around to that again?"

Freddie's face drew into puzzled, tired lines. "Dot, let's get out of here. Let's go down to your mother's farm for a while. You might get a different slant or things. And maybe I could forget what the papers say about my being only a dope who turned into a man."

Dot shook her head venomously. "No. We stay here." She stiffened suddenly, as she heard a knock on the door. Then she relaxed. "Calm down. No one knows we're here, except the right people."

Freddie held his gun pointing directly at the door as Dot opened it to admit Matt.

"But I've got an idea that's big," Flagler said. "I can't handle it alone. My mob can't think."

as the attendant turned to greet them, Dot nodded. Freddie's arm moved as swiftly as a striking snake. The attendant's eyes popped as he found himself facing the business end of a menacing pistol. Freddie smiled as the man raised his hands in terror. "That's it," he said.

Dot quickly rifled the cash box. She turned back to the attendant and took an empty shell from her bag. "Here's a souvenir for you," she said. "It's a cartridge fired by Freddie Martin. You know; Gunner Martin, the great Gunner Martin."

The attendant timidly took the shell. "Thank you," he said.

Dot smiled at the sound of a ringing telephone bell. "There's your phone," she said. "You'd better answer." And as she and Freddie jumped into the car, Dot called back, "And don't forget the name—Gunner Martin."

Dot eagerly picked up the perfume bottle from the table. She looked at the label and murmured, "Tantalizing." She yanked the stopper out, and doused the scent all over herself, breathing deeply of its aroma. Freddie scowled. "A hundred and fifty dollars for a bottle of perfume. That's a lot of money."

"Is it?" Dot snarled. "Then it is. But it's what I want. That is what I've been living for."

Freddie shook his head. "All right,

Flagler, no longer as dapper as when they had seen him last, who entered with a timid. "Remember me?"

"I never forget anyone who leaves us holding the bag," Dot answered steadily.

"What are you doing here?" Freddie demanded truculently.

Flagler smiled at Dot. "I came to hand you a laugh. Because of you and that dim-wit with you, we can't do any business. Ever since you started, the cops have really gone to work. I turned you down once, but now I want you to take me."

Dot smiled. "What do we want with you? You're washed up."

"Maybe," Flagler nodded. "But I've got an idea that's big. I can't handle it alone. My mob can't think. I need somebody to think with me; that's why I looked you up."

"What's your big idea about?" Dot asked casually.

"First," Flagler smiled, "I'd better tell you that it's worth two hundred thousand."

Dot nodded. "That's interesting—if our cut is half."

Flagler hesitated only for a second before he smiled. "Okay. You're in."

"What's the job?"

Flagler leaned forward. "You ever hear of a man named Burt Nast?"

"What's his racket?"

Flagler smiled knowingly. "Being a millionaire," he replied softly.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

KEEP YOUR SALT CELLARS CLEAN

THE other day I read of an eccentric old woman, rich and socially prominent, who went from house to house judging the occupants by the condition of the salt cellars on their tables.

If these were clean and well kept she put her stamp of approval on the household, but if they were not, regardless of the graciousness and charm of her hostess, she put them down as dowdy folks.

Not all of us, fortunately, are quite so critical, but in one sense we are. And it is good that we are. We are critical of the merchandise we buy and of the merchants from whom we buy it. It is our criticism which keeps the standards of goods and stores high.

One of the many advantages of advertising is that it invites us to be critical of the goods being advertised.

The advertiser assures us that his goods are good. He invites us to compare them with others. We do. If he relaxes for a minute and lets his standards drop, we discern it. We tell others. We cease buying his product.

He knows that even the finest of commercial reputations will suffer if a mere handful of people get wind of the fact that the goods are sub-standard. They will tell their friends. Soon a whispering campaign is under way. He suffers.

It is only by being careful at every minute of the day that his goods and service are up to high standard that the man who advertises can succeed.

You expect more of him than you do of the man who does not advertise. The non-advertising manufacturer or merchant can fall down in delivering quality and service. You may expect him to. But the man who advertises has to live up to his high obligation.

So you see that advertising is a great vigilance committee, established and maintained in your interest, to see that the men who aspire to sell you will always be worthy of your trade.

The merchant who advertises must treat you better than the merchant who does not. He must treat you as though you were the most influential person in town.

As a matter of cold fact you are. You hold the destiny of his business in your hands. He knows it. He shows it. And you benefit by good service, by courteous treatment, by good value—and by lower prices.

Be critical of advertised goods and stores which advertise. They want you to be critical. Advertising invites you to compare before you buy. It stands or falls on value alone.

Start Now for Winter Pastures

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Associate Editor
Breeder-Feeder Association

The foundation of next year's income is laid this fall. The "September rains" (which often begin in August) may grow a winter cover crop to enhance the cotton yields next summer, may start green pastures for winter grazing, may be stored (especially west of the 100th meridian) in the soil where next year's crops can draw upon the reservoir of moisture; or they may be permitted to run away downhill with no profit to the farm where they fall.

Grain stubble, or fields from which ensilage crops have already been harvested, may now be prepared for fall sowing. If no already terraced and plowed no time should be lost in doing so. Wheat, oats, barley, Italian rye grass or any other of the standard winter pasture crops should be in the ground early enough to get well established before December and January cold weather, if we are to get good winter grazing. Good stands cannot be had without a good seed bed, and a good seed bed cannot be made after planting time arrives.

This is even more important if alfalfa, or any of the clovers, are to be sown this fall. Plowing must be done far enough in advance to allow for pulverizing and compacting the soil. None of the clovers germinate well in a deep, loose seed bed, and if it has not had time for the rains to "settle" it extra work will be required to firm the sub-surface and create a finely granulated surface tith in which to deposit the seed.

Some of the crops sown for soil improvement or winter grazing are more tolerant of poor seed beds than others, but it is safe to say that best results, both in present stands and future growth, will be had with a deep-plowed but well-firmed soil. Start in time and save labor.

A rapidly increasing number of Southwestern farmers are boosting their cotton yields by sowing hairy vetch in the fall and plowing it under ten days to three weeks ahead of cotton planting. We have to think about it now if we are to cash in on the practice at next cotton-picking time.

Wherever there are sheep, cattle, hogs, horses, chickens, turkeys or geese, for family use only or for commercial use, there must be green forage in the winter if it can be had. Up north they feed their poultry cod liver oil to supply the necessary vitamins, but in the Southwest there is abundance of winter sunshine and normally, with foresighted planning, the same and other vitamins can be had without buying them in a bottle.

Italian rye grass has won many friends as a winter grazing crop in the Southwest in recent years. Rescue grass is a favorite with others, and if not a native, has become thoroughly naturalized. But clover, sweet clover, white dutch and hop clovers are becoming increasingly popular and deserve it. Austrian winter peas and vetch, though not as well adapted for grazing as for soil improvement, have their advocates.

All the common cereals furnish some winter grazing, depending on the time of planting, the character of the soil, and the kind of season. All of them fall short if sown late and a dry winter follows; all of them are sometimes frozen back. But those who consistently sow them year after year agree that the grazing will pay for the seed under almost any conceivable condition except failure to get an early stand and the rare occasions when extreme freezing out occurs in the Southwest.

The odds are all in favor of sowing crops for soil improving and winter pastures, in spite of occasional failures. There has to be a first time, and those who have not already adopted these "more-income" practices might as well make their start in 1939.

FARMERS ARE DIGGING
TRENCH SILOS AGAIN

Much interest is being shown by Coryell County farmers in digging trench silos to store their feed in accordance to George C. Moore, Rural Supervisor, Farm Security Administration.

Silos have recently been dug and filled by Berkley Laxson, Luther Chitwood, and J. D. Wolfe. Stewart Williams, Carl Wright and many others are now digging silos which will be filled at a later date. There are about 15 Coryell County farmers who the FSA is helping to get back on their feet who will store their feed in silos this year. The trench silos are very inexpensive, are fire proof, rat proof, easy to fill, and the feed may be stored in these silos indefinitely. Farmers who have plenty of ruffage this year are trying to store feed in silos that will be adequate for two years.

One Farm Security borrower is making a stack silo which we are watching with very much interest. Mr. Guy Powell, County agent, is helping with these silos and the farmers seem very enthusiastic.

Maybe IT'S the HEAT

... but anyway, we're thinking that a lot of folks are going to find it mighty comfortable to break their vacation trips this summer with stops at Humble Service Stations . . . What with the two Fairs and all, we're expecting a lot of vacation travelers, and we've provided everything we can think of to make their trips more comfortable . . . You know what a Humble Service Station is: you've heard how clean the rest-rooms are—maybe a neighbor told you, if you haven't found out for yourself; anyway, they're reason enough to plan your stops where you see the Humble sign . . . But they're not everything, not by a jugful! There's an abundance of refreshing ice water waiting for you. There's cool shade, a stretch of green lawn, a glimpse of bright flowers . . . And last, but far from least, there's a friendly greeting and a cheerful good-bye from a neatly uniformed, courteous station salesman who renders you a service that's prompt, trained and genuinely helpful . . . So, when you plan your vacation trip this summer, also plan to stop and stretch your legs where you see the Humble sign!

COTTON COUNCIL GAINS IN FIGHTING TAXES ON COTTON PRODUCTS

Progress in the Cotton Belt's nationwide legislative fight against discriminatory taxation of margarine made chiefly from cottonseed oil was reported here today by President Oscar Johnston of the Nation Cotton Council.

Although fourteen bills proposing to tax all types of margarine have been introduced in ten states this year, all were killed or died with adjournment of the legislative bodies, according to Mr. Johnston. Thirteen other bills further restricting the sale of margarine thru prohibitory licenses fees and burdensome regulations were introduced in eight states, he said. All of these either were killed or died with adjournment.

Two bills of this nature have been introduced in the national congress, but Mr. Johnston predicted recently that no action would be taken on them at this session.

"Legislative leaders," said Mr. Johnston, "are finding that the public has become weary of discriminatory practices which restrict interstate trade, stifle normal outlets for a great agricultural commodity, and prevent purchase of consumers of a healthful low-cost spread for bread."

"We are highly pleased with the results of defensive efforts of the past few months, and are building plans for an aggressive fight to obtain removal of discriminatory legislation already on the statute books. Our fight is one which will be invincible because it is based on good business, good sense, and good Americanism."
