TWENTY-EIGHT PIG CLUB BOYS ENROUTE CORN BELT: VISIT FAIRS AND RAISERS

Twenty-eight 4-H Club Pig Raisers and seven adults left here Sunday morning via 6-wheel truck for some of the better hog farms in the corn belt, including the states of Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska,—a 2600 mile trip.

Their route includes farms near Dallas and Arlington, Tex., Sands Springs, Okla., Baxter Springs and Williamsfield, Kansas; Grandview and Sedalia, Missouri, Des Moines and Ames, Iowa, Newhaka and DeWitt, Nebraska and back through Kansas to Stillwater, and Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, and then to Gatesville.

Bedding is being carried and one of the men will cook for the men and boys.

Those making the trip are Elmo and Clovis King, Billie and Eddie Wiegand, John Apel, Carl Goodwin, Gayle Franks, Roland Koch, A. B. Bennett, Twiford Schloeman, George Williams, Curtis Manning, C. E. Mangram, Travis Harper, Gayle Clawson, Alton and Elton Quicksall, Bruce Hollingsworth, Marion and Lavern Dyson, Robert Tood, Harold Koch, Sam Powell, Jr., William McDonald, Russell Holt, Bennie Lee Kelley, and Raymond Hopson, who all are 4-H Club boys.

Also, the Coryell County Adult Pig Club Committee: A. T. Quicksall, Byrd E. King and Albert Jacobs; Olin Sydow, representing the Gatesville Chamber of Commerce; Guy Powell, Bobby Melbern, Al Davis, and E. M. Regenbrecht, Extension Swine Husbandman from College Station.

The trip was financed, $150.00 donated by the Gatesville Chamber of Commerce, each tripper paying $3.00 a piece and the $100 won by the 4-H Boys in the Texas Swine Breeders Contest was used.

The truck, driven by Melbern, had benches fixed for the trippers, and "chuck-wagon" arrangement on the rear for the groceries and cooking. A ducking cover was stretched over uprights over the truck.

Sugarland Buys 4-H Boys' Hog

County Agent Guy Powell, last week got a request from The Sugarland Industries for a Duroc hog after their buyer, J. M. Miller, was referred to Coryell County by Fred Hale, Chief of the Division of Swine Husbandry of the Extension Service.

Bruce Hollingsworth, was the lucky boy, and the hog was immediately crated, the papers sent, and it is reported to have brought about $37.00 F.O.B. Gatesville.

Also, Elton and Alton Quicksall sold a Poland China hog to A. & M. Friday. No price was given in this sale.

Hollingsworth's was from the 4th highest litter in the U. S. among the Durocs, and was a boar farrowed in the Spring.

Two Accidents This Week

There were two of them this week, and in all cases, no one was injured seriously, just minor bruises and scratches.

A truck, driven by an unidentified Houstonian enroute to Brownwood, crashed into a light pole carrying 2200 plus volts on East Main street, breaking a front light and damaging the radiator, bumper and front fender. The driver said he was asleep. It happened about 3 p. m.

Saturday morning early a car driven by an unidentified man from Waco and a girl from Waco turned over about four times near Coryell Creek on U. S. 84, east. Scratches and bruises were the only results, except the car was badly wrecked. No reason for the accident was given.

County Budget To Be Aired, 28th

Object Monday, 28th, or hold your peace!

On that date, the Budget for Coryell County for the year 1940 will be "heard", and this is your chance to "squawk", according to a Notice of Hearing County Budget, which was inserted in Friday's issue of the Gatesville Messenger & Star-Forum.

The hearing will be in the Commissioner's Court Room at 1 p. m. on Monday, August 28.

Charity Softball Game Success

The charity softball game for Sam White played Friday night was a great success, both in a financial way and as entertainment.

Peyton Morgan's club took a 9-6 victory from a team managed by Red White. During the first three frames, the score was close, but during the latter rounds, the Morganmen pulled away for a three-run victory.

The receipts from this game amounted to a total of $47.00, which should go a long way toward helping the White boy.

Tex. Employment Man Here

VITAL S.C.S. MEETING AT CITY HALL WEDNESDAY AT 3 O'CLOCK: CHIEF HERE

V. C. Marshall, Chief of the State Soil Conservation Board will be the principal speaker, when an attempt will be made to create a Soil Conservation District in Coryell County, as was explained in the publication notice carried in the News in two recent issues.

Principals of this movement urge the citizens of this county to attend this meeting, as they say, it is of vital importance to all in the county, that this district be established.

The meeting, which was originally billed for the court house, has been changed to the city hall, due to the fact that district court will be in session Wednesday, and the district court room will not be available.

The movement, in cooperation with the State Soil Conservation Board, will endeavor to create a district in Coryell county, so that the land owners and others, may have a say as to what will be done with their land in case other districts are created in nearby counties and should attempt to incorporate Coryell County lands.

A summary of the new soil conservation law has also been in a recent issue of the News, and all interested should have a good idea about the objects and aims of the

GRAND JURY FINISHES: RETURNS 33 INDICTMENTS DURING THEIR SESSION

THIRTY-ONE FELONIES AND TWO MISDEMEANORS, TOTAL WORK

You boys can come back, now, all is forgiven until January! The grand jury turned in their final report Friday!

Included in the thirty-three indictments—those that are yet to come up for trial are: Eugene Vick, charged with burglary; Elmer "Preacher" Ellis, charged with burglary; E. A. Kosel, charged with receiving and concealing stolen property; A. J. Squyres, charged with forgery; and Joe Hix, charged with incest.

This week, since Friday, divorce was granted to Lora May McCutchen with the custody of the four children, in a suit against O. A. McCutchen; and Ora Smith was granted a divorce and custody of three minor children in a suit against Harve Smith.

The jury commission for the January term of court has been named as Edgar Jones, Jim McKelvain and J. B. Watkins. These men will select from the tax rolls the next grand jury, the petit jury and the special veniremen.

Here is the final report of the Grand Jury for this term of court, as signed by Frank T. West, Foreman of the Grand Jury: The State of Texas: County of Coryell.

TO THE HON. R. B. CROSS, DISTRICT JUDGE:

We, your Grand Jury, empaneled for the July Term, 1939, beg leave to report as follows:

We have been in session eleven days, have examined 178 witnesses, and have returned 33 indictments, of which 31 are felonies and 2 misdemeanors.

We had the energetic and able support of H. W. Allen, District Attorney, C. E. Alvis Jr., County Attorney, J. H. Brown, Sheriff, as well as all other officers of the county whose assistance we have requested or whose duties were needed or services were required by us in any way, especially our Door Bailiffs and Riding Bailiffs.

We believe that conditions of law enforcement and respect are generally good in the county and that for the most part our citizens are to be commended for their respect for and obedience to the laws of our state. We regret to report, however that petty offenses against property, especially theft of calves, mohair, and other agriculture products seems to be alarmingly increasing. While our peace and prosecuting officers have been especially diligent, their efforts have not been wholly successful, due, as we believe, to apathy on the part of good citizens in not giving them proper support and assistance. We therefore call upon all citizens, on our churches and their pastors, on our educational authorities, our civic clubs; all other organizations interested in good government, not only to assist our officers in every way possible, but to enlist in an educational campaign designed to educate the youth of our land to a better respect for law and obedience to its commands.

Having completed our labors and filed our final report we therefore beg to be finally discharged.

WPA Work Stops Soon Here

According to Mayor C. E. Gandy, there will be a temporary suspension of all WPA work on the streets, so that those in this work may be available to help harvest the crops.

Mr. Gandy said the suspension would be some 30 to 60 days and would effect between 45 and 500 men. No suspension will be made in the sewing room, he added. However, the new 18 months rule will probably "get" some of the women in the sewing room. As yet, no orders have been received in reference to the 18 months rule.

Mann Files Suit Against Gas Co.

Attorney General Gerald C. Mann, Thursday filed suit in the District Court at Georgetown, law by the Lone Star Gas Corporation under the chain store taxing to operate separate chains.

Also named in the suit were the Community Natural Gas Company, the Texas Cities Gas Company, the Dallas Gas Company, the Lone Star Gas Company and the County Gas Company.

The suit alleges Lone Star Gas Corporation owns all of a major portion of the stock of the other companies, and therefore are all one and the same concern. As a result, the forty four taxable units operated by the five companies must be considered as a combined chain and the graduated state tax under the chain store law so applied, making a combined tax due for the period of 1936-1937 totaling $38,872.

The five companies have remitted a total of $21,742. The $17,130 is the difference between the state's demand for $38,872 due on a combined chain of forty-four units under one combined company and the total payment of $21,742 by the companies claiming to operate separate chains.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hall returned to their home in Port Arthur Sunday after an extended visit with relatives here. They were accompanied by her small brother, Harvey Clinton Davis, who will visit them about a month. Mrs. Hall is the former Miss Winnie Bell Davis.

Waco was a small trading place on the Brazos. They first settled in Bell County at Old Howard. Moffit was their main trading place; there was no town where Temple now stands.

He moved to Coryell County in November, 1885 and settled near Levita on Plum Creek. On January 5, 1887, he returned to Bell County and married Mary Lynn Patton, and returned to the place which he had bought and where have lived together until his death.

He was the father of nine children, eight of whom survive: They are: Thurman and Curtis of Gatesville, Miss Eva of Levita, Neely, Otha, and Mrs. Ada Jones of Levita, Willie of McGregor and Mrs. A. L. Miles of Waco.

Six grandsons were the active pallbearers, Weldon, Dooley, and W. P. Jr. Rogers. Elton Miles, Travis Hestlow, and Carl Drake.

He lived a devoted Christian life to the end, having had services at his bedside just a few days before his death. He was converted in 1880 under Major Pinn's ministry and joined the Baptist Church. He has represented his local church on a number of occasions as a delegate to various conventions.

He was a good neighbor and a citizen of the old class.

NAVASOT PHILOSOPHER GETS RILED UP OVER BIG CITY PAPER'S CARTOON OF HIM AND WANTS TO HIRE LAWYER

Editor Fox's Note: The Navasot Philosopher on his stump farm over on the Navasota River has written us the following letter about the cartoon of him which appeared inn the Houston Post last week, along with the publication of his letter on transaction taxes. He was pretty riled up about it, and his letter is published for what it is worth.

Dear editor:

I want to tell you right off that that picture them Houston fellers put in the paper about me ain't my picture atal, and when I want mine took I will come to town and have it took, the same as any other American citizen who believes in an honest month's pension for an honest month's waiting.

When I saw that copy of that Houston paper blowing along the fence row over here on the Navasot I yelled at my wife to stop plowing and throw her apron over the mule's head, on account of what a mule is capable of doin when a newspaper blows along under its nose, and seein as I was already up anyhow I walked down to the corner of the fence where the paper had caught and picked it up.

I was so mad I felt like I had a O'Daniel reprieve with a transaction tax figured in both ways on the electricity and charged to me, when I seen that cartoon of me and my neighbor, Debbs Craig, That ain't no more me than Elliot

Roosevelt is Jim Hogg, and if I could figure out which one of them drawins was meant to be me, I would sue them Houston fellers right now, if I could get a lawyer to agree to take my September pension check for 1940, on account of the rest of the months in between is already engaged, and the action of the Legislature is too un-dependable to be relied on, or I would let him have the case on a contingent basis, with his fee to come out of any increases above $30 a month them politicians decide to pay, or out of any other kind of check them government fellers figures out, don't make any difference what it is, as I want to be entirely reasonable about this thing, figurin a lawyer is entitled to pay the same as me, and every man is entitled to look like he looks, don't make no difference what that is.

I wish I was a subscriber to that Houston paper so I could stop it, but I ain't a subscriber to nothing, not since the Bryan Eagle cut me off because I was fourteen years behind, and the price of eggs the lowest they had been in years. All I can say is if a newspaper ain't goin to trust a subscriber than it can lose my patronage. And the same goes for everybody else. If it wasn't for credit this country would be ruined, and any store that destroys my credit is just hurtin itself, looking at it from a national scope.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

A NEWSPAPERLESS TOWN

The earth's atmosphere is 78 per cent nitrogen, 21 per cent oxygen and 1 per cent rarer gases.

We have often tried to imagine what a town would be like which is so blind to community interests as to be indifferent in its support of a local newspaper.

The newspaperless town indicates that it is either too small to be of much business importance, or that its citizens are without business enterprise or civic pride. The very absence of a local newspaper in any town of suitable size indicates that it lacks enterprise, energy, or civic character.

Such a town would advertise to the world that it did not think much of itself and didn't care what others thought of it. The very fact that no one published a newspaper in it would prove conclusively that it did not merit one, and that its business concerns were unprogressive and therefore unworthy of patronage. Every worthwhile town has a local newspaper.

The greatest business builder is advertising and the failure to seek business by advertising stamps any concern as lacking in initiative and indifferent to progress.

The lack of subscription support such as would make a newspaper unprofitable shows that either the paper itself lacks reader interest or that the people of the community are incapable of appreciating it.

Either way the result is the same. The newspaperless town passes unnoticed and cannot expect to be known to the world as anything but a backward community and a place where people live, but do not thrive. — Wareham (Mass.) Courier.

TWO PLAY-OFF GAMES RAINED OUT; BLACKFOOT WINS SATURDAY, 13-11

Old Jupiter Pluvius played havoc with this week end's play off schedule, both the Sunday games being rained out when a near-cloudburst hit the county about 2 p. m.

The hot Blackfoot Indians won their Saturday game with the Mound 13-11. Both clubs used two pitchers, and both nines scored in every inning, but the Indians had just a bit too much power for the Mound boys.

The second game of this series was played yesterday, but at press time we had received no report as to the outcome.

The Pearl-Pidcoke contest at Pidcoke was rained out and those two teams will play a double-header at an undetermined site next Sunday. The managers of these two clubs will meet and flip to determine the grounds, or the game to be played on a neutral diamond.

Six-Man Grid Schedule

The six-man football league, a coming thing in the sports program of the county, promises to be bigger and better than last year. Copperas Cove, which formerly played the 11-man game, has reverted to the six-man type, thus making a total of six strong, evenly-matched teams.

Following is the schedule for the 1939 campaign:

DOIN' THE WORLD'S FAIR

By Byron M. Fisher

The bookies were shouting themselves hoarse on the latest odds, the mutual boards were undergoing constant changes, track loafers and railbirds mingled with the elite of the world's society as the racing steeds of 24 states and several foreign countries waited for the gun that would send them creeping and trundling along to new speed records at the Fair. The World's fastest turtles were the competitors, turtles shipped from all parts of the United States and from distant continents, turtles to make the chef's mouth water and his eyes dilate with maudlin greed. Favorites for the big derby were Crusader, Calrod and Nina, the "dark turtle" of the event. Crusader won the world's turtle racing championship earlier in the year when he dashed across the ten foot diameter of the racing circle in the astounding time of eleven and a half seconds. Calrod came very near this time, and was working under the handicap of a missing flipper. In other words, Calrod is a three-legged turtle. Nina is a Florida turtle and has been clocked in time bettering the record of Crusader. Rules governing the race were strict and included an iron-bound edict that all turtles failing to start within five minutes after the gun had been fired would be eliminated. Sporting final results were not ready when we went to press, as this was written just as the big card was scheduled to get under way. Results will be published at a later date, however.

Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia has announced a scheme to alleviate the falling-attendance problem and it is felt by many that his plan, if accepted by Fair officials and New York business houses will greatly boost the totals that are each evening rung up on the huge National Cash Register in the Amusement Area. Mayor LaGuardia states that every person in the City of New York should be accorded the opportunity of seeing the World of Tomorrow. So he recommended to all business firms that they close their plants or rotate their employees, if the former is impossible on Saturdays, so that all may have time to visit the Fair when the new fifty cent admission price is in effect. He also recommends that the Fair give a greatly reduced rate to persons on relief, a rate that would make it possible for those of the most limited means to see the big show.

We were emphatically informed by Mr. Russell, publicity manager of the N.T.G. Congress of Beauty, that his show has no intention of closing immediately, as was reported from some sources. He surmised that the report might have been started by persons who were peeved over the fact that the N.T.G. didn't advertise in certain publications.

New York City and Long Island have been in the grip of a drought which is seriously threatening crops. Insects are worrying the gardeners also. One neighbor in Flushing remarked to us: "If my potatoes aren't burned up for lack of rain they'll be eaten up by potato bugs. I wish I knew a method of exterminating the things". So we told him about a farmer in New Brunswick's upper Saint John valley, one of the east's greatest potato producing areas, who found a "sure death for potato bugs". He answered an advertisement and sent one dime for the "sure death". He received a small package. It contained a wooden block and a little hammer, and the terse directions: "Lay them on the block and hit 'em hard."

America's finest accordion bands drummers, band and bugle corps competed for championship trophies in the Court of Peace recently as one of the highlights of the Association of Music Merchants Day at the Fair. Bands competing came from all parts of the nation. One of them, the Wurliizer Accordion Band, contained 1,000 pieces.

A group of 21 college students representing the International Confederation of Students arrived at the Fair recently for a two weeks' tour of the exhibits. They came from all parts of the world, including Asiatic and African as well as European countries. They ranged in age from 18 to 26.

The Imperial Pearl Syndicate exhibit in the Consumer's Building is attracting a lot of attention of late, with a display of actual pearl diving and fishing by Japanese professional pearl-divers. The pearl-divers, incidentally, are ladies. The visitor is shown just how the industry is carried on in the company's pearl farms in the South Sea Islands. Baskets in the water show the oysters are planted on the pearl farms and how they are raised.

TEXAS HOSPITALS PRESENT PLAN TO HELP EMPLOYEES

BRUCE L. TWITTY

More than 300 Texas hospitals have joined with the Texas Hospital Association in launching Group Hospital Service, Inc., a non-profit organization, formed to give hospitalization to the masses upon a new low-cost basis. Bryce L. Twitty, for ten years superintendent of Baylor Hospital, Dallas, has been loaned to the new organization during its formative period as administrator. Twitty, with Dr. J. H. Groseclose, Methodist Hospital, Dallas, as president; Dr. L. N. Markham, Longview, vice-president; and Mrs. Josie Roberts, Houston, secretary-treasurer, compose the official staff.

With the officers, the following hospital managers make up the board of directors: Miss Ara Davis Scott and White Hospital, Temple; Mrs. Margaret Hales Rose, Wichita General Hospital, Wichita Falls; Mrs. Martha Roberson, Medical and Surgical Hospital, San Antonio; and Mrs. C. E. Hunt, Lubbock Sanitarium, Lubbock.

The new service comes in answer to legislation passed by the last Texas Legislature. Offices will be opened in most towns and cities of the state.

ALEXANDER KORDA presents FOUR FEATHERS IN TECHNICOLOR

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
Ten years after the murder of General Gordon in Khartoum, the Royal North Surrey Regiment receives orders to join Kitchener in the Egyptian Sudan. Lieutenant Harry Faversham, son of a long line of distinguished officers, can hardly conceal his distaste for what lies ahead; for Harry is quiet, sensitive, more devoted to books than to fighting. Harry's brother officers, Captain John Durrance and Lieutenant Willoughby, are surprised to learn from Lieutenant Burroughs that the latter's sister, Ethne, daughter of General Burroughs, has consented to marry Faversham. At the party at which the engagement is announced, Durrance, who deeply loves Ethne, forces her to admit that she chose Faversham because he is the weaker of the two.

Chapter Two

"I want you to accept this, sir."

Harry Faversham stood before the Regimental Commander and laid an envelope on his desk.

"What is it?"

"My Commission, sir. I am resigning my Commission."

"I don't understand you, Faversham."

No, you needn't tell me . . . I can see it quite clearly in your eyes! I understand, Ethne — there should be four feathers here, instead of three." Silently, he plucked a feather from the ostrich fan she had laid down on the table—the fan he had given her for her birthday. Then, taking his four feathers with him, he left the house.

It was a few weeks later that old Dr. Sutton, a comrade-at-arms of Harry's father in the Crimean war, chanced upon Harry while the latter was dejectedly watching a parade from the outskirts of a great crowd—a crowd that was wildly cheering another British regiment on its way to embark for Egypt. Seeing despair plainly written in the young man's face, Dr. Sutton insisted on having a quiet talk with him.

In his small, shabby hotel room Faversham told his old friend the entire story—the story of his resignation from the Army and of the four feathers.

"I am a coward, Doctor! I knew that my fate was closing in upon me, and I fought against it. I even made myself believe in my excuse for shirking my job. But I was wrong. The men who sent me these feathers knew me better than I knew myself."

"Is there anything I can do to help you, Harry?"

"Yes, Doctor. I am leaving England tomorrow. If you hear nothing

Silently he plucked a fourth feather from her ostrich fan.

"I should have taken this action months ago. I accepted a Commission for my father's sake, because all his family were soldiers. When he died, my duty towards him was done."

"Your duty towards him," exploded the Colonel. "Have you no duty towards your country?"

"My duty towards my country is here and not in Egypt. When my father died I took over an estate on the verge of ruin. If I do my job here, I may save my home with a dozen farms and a hundred good men who are starving through my family's neglect."

The Colonel turned away from him bitterly. "I never thought I would live to see a Faversham play the coward!"

Fare more difficult than resigning his commission was the task of explaining his action to Ethne. True, they had discussed many times the senselessness and futility of war; but she was hardly prepared for anything like this. She tried to show her sympathy for his plight, but he could detect the undercurrent of disappointment in all that she said.

While they talked, Harry noticed a small package on the table. It was addressed to him, in care of Ethne. The box weighed almost nothing . . . some joke, no doubt.

Harry slowly opened the little parcel. Inside were three small white feathers, each one tied by a string to a calling card. One was from Captain John Durrance, one from Lieutenant Peter Burroughs, and one from Lieutenant Arnold Willoughby. Harry's face went white as chalk. His three best friends!

"It was cruel to send them," Ethne murmured.

"But you agree that it was just?"

ing from me for a year you will know that I am dead. If that happens, I would like you to go to Ethne; tell her I tried to put right the shame and humiliation I caused her."

"Can you tell me where you are going?"

"Egypt!"

In the dingy little port of Suakim the bespectacled Greek doctor answered a knock on the door of his dark, unprepossessing house.

"Dr. Harraz? I understand that you are friendly with the English. I want your help to reach the army of General Kitchener. I want you to disguise me as one of the Sengalis—the native tribe whose foreheads were branded and whose tongues were cut out by the Mahdi. You know the brand?"

"All men know the brand of the Sengalis. But although I can stain your skin, I cannot imitate a scar to pass close inspection."

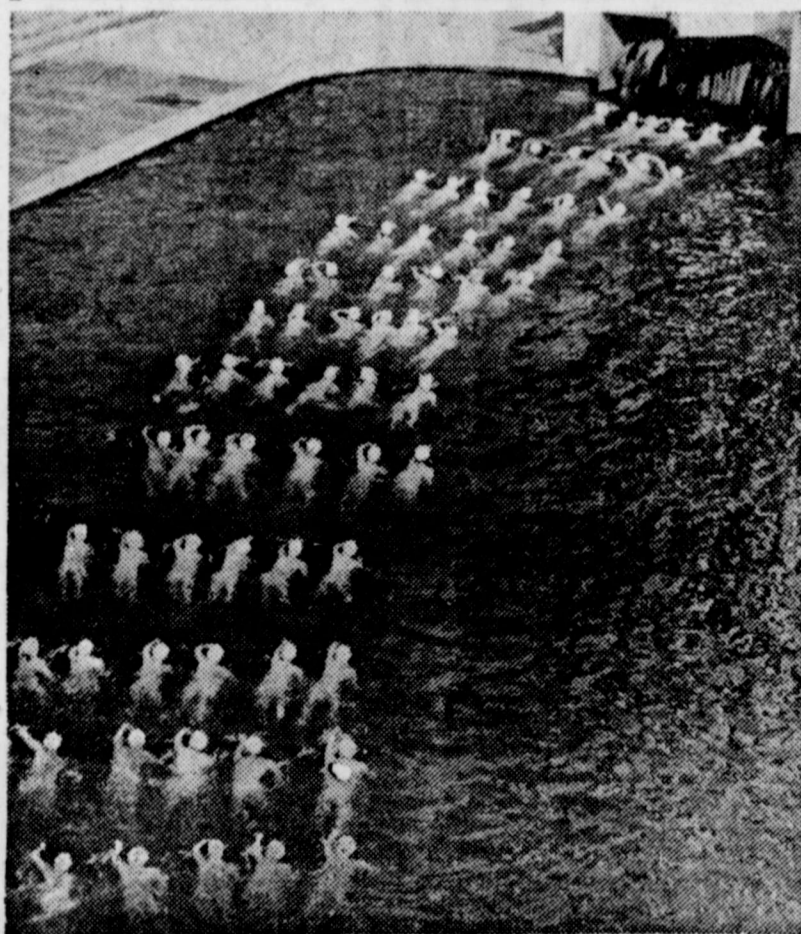

"That, too, I understand, Doctor. All I ask is that you allow me to rest in your house until the wound is healed."

A little later, when all had been made ready, three of Dr. Harraz' servants gripped Harry by the arms as he lay back against the cushions. With impassive face, the Doctor took the white hot branding iron from the fire and applied it to Harry's forehead. As it seared the flesh, Harry shrank back, shut his eyes and ground his teeth, while rivulets of sweat poured down his face. But no outcry passed his lips.

A look of wondering admiration broke through the impassiveness of Dr. Harraz' features. "You are a brave man," he muttered.

With Orleans Chocolate Layer Cake

Hear the Murmurs of Pleasure When the Family Tastes THIS Cake

Here's a layer cake with the well-loved flavor of old-fashioned chocolate-covered molasses candy. A little molasses gives the frosting a delicate, delightful tang, as well as a lovely fawn color. Chocolate decorations rim the cake, making a striking finish for the satiny swirls of frosting. And the cake itself is even grained, "chocolatey" and velvet-textured. Serve Orleans Chocolate Layer Cake for parties or for a special dessert, most any time—it always creates a sensation.

Lovely to Look at—Easy to Make
Here's where you "skyrocket" your reputation for fine cooking—and so easily! Just follow the simple directions at the right, but be sure to use the new triple-creamed shortening, Spry, because you do want to have that luscious flavor, that feathery lightness.

Surprise the family—serve Orleans Chocolate Layer Cake today. Don't forget, these tender chocolate layers are delicious with other frostings too.

Orleans Chocolate Layer Cake
1/2 cup Spry (triple-creamed shortening)

- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs, unbeaten
- 3 ounces chocolate, melted
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1 cup milk.

Blend Spry, salt and vanilla. Add sugar gradually and cream well.

Add eggs, singly, beating well after each addition.

Add melted chocolate and blend well. Sift baking powder and soda with flour three times. Add flour to creamed mixture, alternately with milk, mixing after each addition until smooth.

Bake in two 8-inch Spry-greased layer pans in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes.

Orleans Frosting

- 2 egg whites
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 5 tablespoons water
- 1 tablespoon light molasses.
- 1/8 teaspoons cream of tartar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- Chocolate decorettes

Put egg whites, sugar, water, molasses, and cream of tartar in top of double boiler and mix thoroughly. Place over rapidly boiling water and beat constantly with rotary egg beater until mixture will hold a peak (about 7 minutes). Remove from fire, add vanilla, and beat until thick enough to spread.

Spread frosting between layers, making swirls on top. Sprinkle chocolate decorettes around edge of cake, making an attractive border. (All measurements in these recipes are level)

Last Call for Winter Pastures

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Associate Editor
Farm and Ranch
Breeder-Feeder Association

The Southwest is particularly fortunate in the variety of pasture crops which can be grown for fall, winter and spring grazing. Of course pasture crops are of little interest to a farm without livestock, but a farm without livestock and poultry is not a complete farm anyway. Anyway back in 1924, when cotton had been twice to four times the price of recent years, an Oklahoma investigation showed that farmers who depended on cotton for less than forty per cent of their income had accumulated property three to four times as fast as those who depended on cotton for seventy-five per cent or more of their income.

"As the percentage of income from livestock increases the annual saving of wealth increases," and "the farmer who had less than forty per cent of his income in cotton and more than twenty-five per cent of his income in livestock and livestock products made the most money on the average". There are perfectly logical reasons why this was true then and is true now, which have been touched upon in these articles before.

In 1924 and for a long time afterward there were no government "benefits" for doing a good job of farming. Now the government actually pays farmers to do what good farmers were already doing. But the "benefits" from cotton, wheat, etc., will not make prosperity for those who do not follow through and capitalize the land and labor released from cotton growing, by using both in some other profitable form.

There is nothing wrong with trying some new "cash crops," or looking forward to "industrial crops" of which we hear so much since the "farm chemurgy" idea has been so highly touted. In the meantime it is within the immediate ability of every Southwestern farmer to improve his own condition by practicing the well-known and long-proven principles of balanced farming outlined in the Breeder-Feeder program.

Crops and livestock belong together on the farm, and as shown above, offer greater promise for independence and farm prosperity than any new-fangled theory that has ever yet been invented. Now pastures, winter and summer, are the foundation of a balanced farm program in which man-labor is better distributed and better-paid, by turning more of the work over to the animals. And winter grazing depends on planting the right crops at the right time.

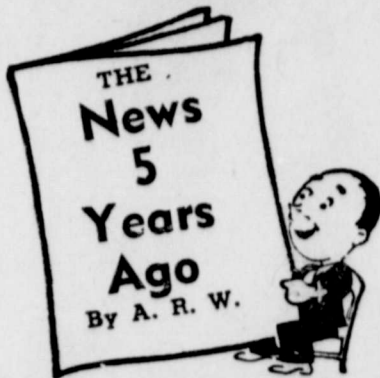

It is a common expression among practical farmers that wheat, oats or barley will pay for the seed and labor in the grazing alone, in most years. The grain crop is that much to the good. Says the Texas Experiment Station "for fall and early winter, barley is the best producer; wheat, oats and rye produce most grazing for winter months; while rye grass gives the most grazing for March and April.

"Winter legumes offer another good us for the land and labor during the winter months. Crops such as vetch, winter peas, and some of the clovers, grow well in many sections during the winter and early spring, and when plowed under in the spring, improve the soil. Substantial increase in the yields of cotton have consistently resulted . . . in East and Central Texas when legumes are grown in winter and plowed under in early spring before planting the cotton.

This holds true also in Eastern Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas, as thousands of farmers have proven by their own experience in recent years.

Winter pasture crops may be sown from now until November in the Southwest, but naturally the earlier they get started the more grazing they will provide.

AGE AND YOUTH PONDER PROBLEM OF GATHERING ROSEBUDS

To disprove the familiar poem which says that old age and youth "cannot dwell together," pretty young Virginia Paty, 18-year-old co-ed from Paris, Texas, stares appealingly up into the eyes of this beautifully carved Chinese God of Old Age which has been placed in the State Historical Collection at the North Texas State Teachers College this summer.

"Old boy," co-ed Paty seems to be saying, "why can't we two get along?"

The three-foot temple idol was purchased in China for the Teachers College by Miss Blanch Groves teacher in a girl's school at Soochow, China. It is one of the 17 Oriental idols in the State Historical Collection at the Denton Teachers College. It is also one of a number of Chinese pieces purchased by Miss Groves for the Oriental collection of the college.

The God of Old Age or Longevity is a familiar figure in the Chinese hierarchy of deities. He is characterized by his staff and his unusually high bald head. Wisely he peers down on co-ed Paty, but Chinese philosophy hardly permits him to murmur, "Gather ye rosebuds while ye may."

He'll Guide You

Here is Tom Murphy, California World's Fair guide, in his smart new uniform. The double breasted coat is of electric blue whipcord with trousers of gold whipcord and a stripe the same color as the coat. The cap is blue and gold with black patent leather strap

You need this oil

Insulated Havoline is an oil that can "take it"—give peak performance winter and summer—in any car, new or old. Don't trust to old-fashioned oil that's likely to break down and form piston varnish that makes pistons drag and not give the lubricating protection your car needs. Havoline is not only Insulated—it's Distilled—clean and pure and won't deposit hard, injurious carbon. Havoline is waxfree, too, so it flows freely, quickly, even in cold winter weather. Why don't you drive in—change to Insulated and Distilled Havoline; it's a better oil in any weather—in any car.
