Individuals, organizations or groups interested in buying a picture, which will be placed in the school, or making a donation toward buying one, will have their name on a plate containing their name and the name of the picture. The entire exhibit is to raise money to buy pictures for the school.

A contribution box will be placed in each bank for the convenience of those desiring to contribute, or you may see a member of the Contribution Committee which is composed of Miss Wilhelmina Cayce, Miss Louise Hall, or Mr. M. G. Slay.

B&PW Conference Well Attended

The annual conference of the Business & Professional Women's club was held in Gatesville Sunday, October 8. A large group from the district attended conference, and each club of the District was well represented here.

Miriam Coleman, Executive Secretary of the Federation held a school of instruction during the morning session, and the conference attended the First Baptist Church during the church hour.

Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, State President of the Federation, was the principal speaker of the day.

During the afternoon a Model program, under the supervision of Maude Alyce Painter, program chairman, was given with Ernestine Durham of Gatesville and Mrs. Alyce Elliott of Waco taking part.

Miss Marjorie Rogers of Marlin was elected director for next year, and Marlin was chosen as the meeting place for the next district session.

This district is composed of Marlin, Bryan, Cameron, Temple, Waco, and Gatesville.

M. & C. Motors are Open 24 Hours

Manning and Cummings Motor Company's service station, one of the most modern in Gatesville, is there 24 hours a day, and in this recently completed station, they have what you want when you want it.

The new motor company, which has just been renovated and redesigned, is outstanding in Central Texas towns of this size.

With the mechanical department in the rear, they also have a roomy show room for the 1940 Ford V-8's, which by the way are down there now, and an office and service station adjoining. They are ready for the efficient handling of your business.

What? No Cows on Some Tex. Farms!

There are in Texas 125,000 farms in which there is not a single cow. There are 75,000 farms on which there is not a single chicken, and another 75,000 on which there are only a few neglected chickens of the "dunghill" variety, and of little commercial or edible value.

These figures may well cause concern to those interested in a balanced agricultural program, uniform spending power, and the extension of manufacturing in Texas. They mean that one-fourth of the State's farms have no income from dairy or poultry products. In the final analysis they mean too that one-fourth of Texas farms, with many acres retired through Government regulation, must from revenues on grain, cotton and other field crops, not only earn taxes, cost of production, interest, depreciation, return, however small, on invested capital, but a "store living" for owner or tenant as well. This may be said to be an unnatural condition, for no state can or has succeeded in agriculture where the providing of a living for cowmen, cows and poultry is not the first thought of its farmers.

"CASH RAISING SALE" OPENS AT HANNA'S

By the time you read this, you will no doubt have one of Joe Hanna's circulars announcing the Cash Raising Sale which opens at that popular store this morning. It's store-wide, and nothing is

CORYELL COUNTY EXHIBITS AT STATE FAIR; ONE OF 65 COUNTIES EXHIBITING

Coryell County is one of the 65 counties represented in the Agricultural Exhibit at the State Fair in Dallas. The theme of the display is "Proper Land Use Planning demands Adequate Food and Feed". This appears in blue letters tacked on a cream background. Also on both sides of the back wall are hung the 3x4 soil improvement practice pictures which were recently shown at Abilene and in both banks.

Carrying out the theme are food and feed products. These products include corn, hay, wheat, oats, millet, cotton seed, hulls, cotton seed cake, cotton oil, fresh fruits and nuts, and canned vegetables, fruit and meat. They are arranged on the table portion of the booth. The Texas Food Standard home food supply occupies the center of the space and the feed products radiate from it. This provides attractive colors which harmonize with the ecru display table cover. Both the background and the table space are enclosed with a dark brown border.

The exhibit was planned, prepared and arranged cooperatively by the local Soil Conservation Service, Extension Service, Vocational Agriculture departments at Gatesville and Oglesby, Home demonstration clubs at Pidcocke and Copperas Cove, the local cotton oil mill, the Chamber of Commerce, and farm men and women. The exhibit was placed last Thursday and will stay in display the duration of the State Fair, October 8-22. Any Coryell county citizens who attend the fair are cordially invited to visit their home county booth.

H-D AND 4-H GIRLS EXHIBIT TOO

The following entries have been placed in the Home Demonstration Exhibit at Dallas State Fair from Coryell County: 3 qts. snap beans, Union, Mrs. J. B. Kemp; 3 qts. tomatoes, Mrs. Parc Williamson; 3 qts. snap peas, Mrs. A. H. Mickan, Copperas Cove; 3 qts. corn, Mrs. Raby Davis, Harmon; 3 qts. peaches, Mrs. Glenn Perryman, Harmon; 3 qts. plums, Mrs. Raby Davis, Harmon; 3 qts. berries, Mrs. Dewey Lovejoy, Pidcocke; 3 qts. pears, Mrs. Parc Williamson, Harmon; 3 qts. figs, Mrs. Louis Behrens, Copperas Cove. Two 4-H girls: Viola Struempler, Coryell City and Ara Mae Black, Ewing are showing 3 qts. green snay beans and 3 qts. dewberries respectively.

A. and M. Extension Service officials arranging the exhibit remarked that the quality of the exhibit this year as a whole is an improvement over that of 1938.

C. C. GOODWIN JR'S. HOG WINS GRAND CHAMPION BARROW "TITLE" AT FAIR

Carl Cleveland Goodwin, Jr., a 4-H boy from Coryell county entered a barrow in the fair hog show, which really "brought home the bacon."

Carl's hog won the Grand Champion Barrow "title" among 1200 other hog exhibits, this being the largest Swine Show in the history of the State Fair of Dallas.

Other Coryell county boys also won high cash awards, but the information is not available at this time.

All exhibitors will be eligible for the Judging Saturday in the Open Class Show.

Coryell Countians Enlist in U.S. Navy

Among the eleven men who were enlisted in the U. S. Navy and were sent to San Diego, California, was E. N. Draper of Oglesby, Texas. D. R. Searcy, also of Oglesby, will leave for the same destination on the 23rd of October.

During the month of September the Waco Recruiting Station sent 24 men to San Diego, Calif.

J. E. Stewart Is Jailed Here

J. E. Stewart, 25, who was released from the state penitentiary about three months ago, was picked up here at a local hotel Thursday morning by Chief of Police Frank Farquhar.

Stewart is wanted in Brown, Concho, McCulloch, Lampasas, Coryell and probably Hamilton and McLennan counties on charges of alleged forgery.

Here, too, he is charged with alleged theft of A. H. (Butch) Meadow's suit of clothes, and attempting, or passing alleged forged checks. He is in the local jail.

CALL FOR GRASS FIRE COMES IN WHILE FIREMEN ARE AT LAMPASAS MEET

While a large number of the Gatesville firemen were attending the Central Texas Firemen's Association in Lampasas last Sunday, a call was answered here between 4:30 and 5 o'clock.

It proved to be only a grass fire behind Clemon's store in east Gatesville, and included some of the grass in the City Cemetery. No serious damage was done.

SPORT SCRAPS
By JONES

The Hornets meet Itasca there. SW Conference: Ark-Baylor, Waco; Rice at LSU; SMU at Notre Dame; A & M Villanova at Tyler; TCU, Temple at Philly; Texas Okla., at Dallas. A big week end in the "big league".

In Itasca, who knows. Their record is a tie with Valley Mills, and they took Mart 32 to 0, all of which don't mean anything. The Hornets have 2 games out of the way, one team, the Home, a mediocre team, always hard to defeat, with no outstanding stars. Valley Mills, a 3-star team, which the Hornets out played, for the most part, making 15 first downs to their 2. Freak touchdowns, at 2 of them, won for the Eagles, but otherwise, the game was the Hornets, who on several occasions took the ball at will down the field but lacked the final scoring punch.

Coach Worley will find the necessary sparkplug, which, we honestly believe is going to change today's game from the loss column to the win. It should be, Hornets, 12; Itasca, 6.

It's in foreign territory, and these Hornets are going to need every psychological advantage to take this team. The "twelfth" man CAN do this. Drop everything, take Friday afternoon off. Let's help put these deserving Hornets in the WIN column.

Crystal Shower Given Bride-Elect in Waco

Naming as honoree Miss Mary Ann Post of this city, bride-elect of Henry Clay of Waco, Mrs. Billy Faubion entertained with a crystal shower at her home in Waco last Saturday from 5 to 7 p. m.

After several informal games had been played, the hostess passed a refreshment plate, which consisted of sandwiches, cookies, and punch.

Approximately 25 guests attended.

Azalea Whisenhunt Weds Lloyd Neil Kirkpatrick

With the impressive ring ceremony Rev. C. M. Spalding, pastor of the First Baptist Church, solemnized the marriage vows of Miss Azalea Whisenhunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Whisenhunt of the Plainview community and Lloyd Neil Kirkpatrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Kirkpatrick of this city, Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock in a quiet home wedding.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a suit of navy blue with matching accessories. Her bouquet was of pink talisman roses. Miss Guinevere Whisenhunt, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Misses Sophie and Pauline Voss.

Duncan Kirkpatrick served his brother as best man. Seth McLarty of Menard completed the personnel of the bridal party.

Miss Hermine Whisenhunt, younger sister of the bride, played the wedding music.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick left for Palestine, where he is connected with the AAA Government work.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick was graduated from Gatesville High School, later receiving her degree from John Tarleton. Mr. Kirkpatrick was an honor graduate of GHS, and later attended Trinity University in Waxahachie.

Their many friends offer congratulations and all best wishes as they begin their married life in another part of the State.

E. K. MAURY FATALLY BURNED AS FIRE SWEEPS HOME AT CHINA SPRINGS

Edmund Kimbro Maury, 88-year-old invalid, burned to death early Tuesday when fire, swept by high north winds, destroyed the home at China Springs, where he had lived for more than 60 years. A daughter, Miss Mary Maury, principal of the Methodist Home school in Waco, and her 79-year-old mother narrowly escaped the flames which quickly spread into every part of the residence.

Reports were that Miss Maury was awakened by smoke and roar of the blaze at 12:30 a. m. and that she was cut off by leaping flames from her father's bedroom, after leading Mrs. Maury to safety.

The aged man, who had been sick in bed for considerable time, was burned beyond recognition. The home and belongings, including Miss Maury's automobile, were completely destroyed; the mother and daughter escaped in their nite clothes.

Funeral services for Mr. Maury were held Wednesday at 10 a. m. at the grave in China Springs cemetery, Rev. Ernest Stires, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Waco conducting. Active pall bearers were J. W. Maury of Dallas, Claude Mabray, Cecil Granger, G. W. Maury, all of China Springs, Rolla Greig of Waco and K. S. DeBusk of Austin. Honorary pall bearers included 24 of his close friends from China Springs, Waco and Speegleville.

Mr. Maury, a native of Alabama, walked to Texas with two brothers when he was 21 years old, and it was at that time he settled on the Brazos river in the China Springs area.

Surviving besides the widow and Miss Maury are the following other children: Mrs. Annie Hatfield of China Springs, Mrs. J. E. Carpenter of Gatesville, and Mrs. Joe McFall of Speegleville; nine grand children and three great grandchildren.

Destructive floods were caused by volcanoes in Iceland; volcanic vents opened underneath glaciers and melted them suddenly.

What a Needle and Thread can tell you about YOUR LIGHTING

TRY THIS SIMPLE TEST

Take a needle and thread and sit down as you'd sit to read . . . in your easy chair, for example. Then try to thread the needle. If you have difficulty . . . if you have to hold the needle close to the light, then you'd better look into "light conditioning."

FOR EASIER SEEING -- DO THESE TWO THINGS

1. Place an I. E. S. Better Sight Lamp beside every chair that's used for reading or sewing. These lamps are complete better sight units . . . they give you proper light for easier seeing, comfort and safety.
2. Fill empty sockets and replace blackened bulbs with new bulbs in sight-saving sizes—at least 100 to 150 watts for single socket lamps; two 60's for two socket lamps and three 40's for three socket lamps.

BRACKETED

By BRACK CURRY

AUTHOR'S NOTE: In a series of four articles the writer will review the foreign policies of France, Germany, Great Britain and the United States since the signing of the historic Treaty of Versailles, and on the basis of this review assess to each state its true and proportionate responsibility for the present European war.

The final article of the series will deal with the role of the United States in international politics since 1918 and will review the heavy responsibility of American diplomacy for the failure to establish lasting peace in Europe.

In order to gain a clear perspective of current happenings, it is often helpful to employ the historical method of interpreting present event in their relation to similar events in the past.

In the present war, Germany is again branded as the aggressor in the minds of the civilized people of the world. But what generated Germany's bellicose attitude which culminated in the war against Poland? Will future generations exonerate England and France of all responsibility for the war? These are questions which should be answered.

This column believes that future generations will place equal blame upon the facetiously termed "democracies" for the series of events embracing over two decades of post-war history, which preceded the current debacle.

This may appear on the surface to be a rash statement but it should be recalled that historians and statesmen of today, with access to previously suppressed facts, candidly admit that England, France and Russia—the Allies with whom we joined in battle against Germany—were equally guilty for the outbreak of the World War of 1914-18.

It will indeed be disastrous if the American people attempt to evaluate the present war solely on the basis of the immediate circumstances attending its outbreak or even on the basis of the events following Munich. The First World War was not caused by the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand, but grew out of a series of events the genesis of which lay in the formation of the German Empire in 1870 and the Franco-Prussian War of 1870-71, which resulted in the humiliating defeat of France and the cession of Alsace-Lorraine to Germany.

The impelling cause of the First World War lay in the imperialistic foreign policies of the great world powers which collided on three continents in the quest for territory and raw materials and trade. The "democracies" of Europe went to war in 1914 primarily to perpetuate the gains of the great 18th century land-grabbing era from the territorial aspirations of the newly formed states notably Imperial Germany.

The conflict of 1914-18 resulted from the refusal of the "have" powers to share the spoils of their bloody imperialistic conquests with the "have not" states.

Woodrow Wilson envisaged the ultimate solution of the world unrest which generated in 1914 embroglio and sought, through the enunciation of new principles intended to supercede the policy of "realpolitik" to bring about an equitable readjustment of world boundaries on the principle of the self-determination of peoples.

Pledged to these principles and to the reduction of world armaments, the United States entered the war with good faith in the integrity of her allies. During the last 25 years—beginning with the signing of the Treaty of Versailles—the world has witnessed a series of acts on the part of England and France involving broken pledges which leave no more basis for believing in their integrity than in that of Germany.

These broken pledges will be reviewed in detail in the third article of this series on war guilt but a few points will be noted herein.

The first violation of promises by England and France took place at Versailles, where British and French statesmen entered negotiations with Germany in a spirit of revenge and malevolence after the Imperial German government had been overthrown and succeeded by a liberal republican regime which met with their approval.

Under Gustav Stresemann, a true democrat and liberal, Republican Germany looked forward to an area of peace and prosperity for herself and for Europe. In spite of the unjust provisions of the peace treaties. With her army restricted to a police force of 100,000, Germany prepared in all good faith to forsake the militaristic spirit which had been ingrained in her people since the time of Frederick the Great. This she was prepared to do on the promise that France and the other European states would make similar reductions of armaments and would open up trade channels to repair the shattered German economy.

PRESBYTERIANS RETURN FROM MEETING IN SHERMAN

More than three hundred ministers and approximately half as many Ruling Elders are returning to their home this morning after a three-day meeting of the Synod of Texas, Presbyterian Church in the United States, in Sherman.

Ruling Elders Sam Meberg, John Hobin, and C. T. Brim of the Gatesville, Turnersville and Prairie View churches, respectively, were local representatives to the meeting. Edward S. Bayless, local pastor, also attended.

Austin College, oldest institution of higher learning in Texas operating on its original charter and pioneer in the educational work of Texas, was the scene of the meeting. Austin College, the only Southern Presbyterian Senior college in Texas, entertained Synod as a part of its celebration this fall of ninety years of continuous operation. Sessions of the court were held on the college campus, and class rooms afforded space for meetings of the various committees. Members of Synod were quartered in the dormitories and in the homes of Sherman.

Synod opened Tuesday night. The opening sermon was preached by the Rev. C. L. King, D. D., retiring Moderator.

Permanent officer of Synod (elected for a three-year term) is the Rev. S. J. McMurray, D. D., of Crosbyton. Dr. Murray was for several years pastor of the Gatesville and Turnersville churches.

Setting the tone for the whole meeting was a pre-Synod meeting on Evangelism, held in Dallas on Monday night. Under the joint leadership of Dr. W. B. Gray of El Paso and Dr. W. F. Brown of Dallas, members of Synod's and General Assembly's Committees on Evangelism, respectively, the meeting was designed to give impetus to the Presbyterian Evangelistic Crusade, launched in May of this year as a Church-wide effort to place special emphasis on evangelistic effort. Dr. Egbert W. Smith, former executive secretary of foreign missions, was the principal speaker at this meeting, held in Dallas' First Presbyterian Church. The meeting was well attended by ministers and Ruling Elders from all over the state.

Among matters of business occurring too late to be incorporated in this story was the selection of next year's meeting place. Because of recent meetings in Kingsville, Kerrville, and Sherman, the next city was that likely to be in the central or eastern part of the state.

Synod is next to the highest court in the Presbyterian system of government. Each Synod is made up of the ministers of the Presbyteries within the Synod (Presbyterian ministers are not members of local churches, but of Presbyteries), and one Ruling Elder from each local church. Ministers (known as Teaching Elders) and law members of the court (known as Ruling Elders) have equal standing and are equally eligible for office in Presbytery, Synod, and General Assembly.

J. C. WEAVER, PIONEER TEXAN CELEBRATES 72ND BIRTH-DAY ANNIVERSARY

Sunday, October 8, a dinner celebrating the 72nd birthday of J. C. Weaver, pioneer settler of the Mt. Zion community, was held at the Weaver home.

Mr. Weaver came to Texas when he was two years of age with his parents, R. L. Shafe Weaver and Mary Ellen Weaver from Itawamba County, Mississippi. Shafe Weaver fought in the Confederate army and was wounded in battle. He moved his family to Texas shortly after the Civil War in 1870. The Weavers settled on the Brazos River, three miles below Waco. They stayed there one year and moved to Coryell City where they lived two years. J. C. Weaver has lived in Coryell County for 69 years and has lived in and near the Mt. Zion community all this time.

The old Weaver Chapel church was named after his grandfather the Rev. Fred Weaver, a Methodist minister. Although the church has been moved to Ames, Texas, the old Weaver Chapel cemetery, where the early settlers of this community are buried, still stands today as a landmark.

In Hamilton, Texas on December 11, 1889, Mr. Weaver married Miss Mattie Ellen Johnson of Bell County, daughter of J. R. and Mary Ellen Johnson, native Texans. Ten children were born to this union, Eula, Oscar, Hattie, Ellen, Nole, deceased, Juanita, deceased, J. T., R. L., Pauline, deceased and a twin of Juanita that died at birth. Mrs. Weaver died on September 16, 1926.

Those who attended the dinner Sunday were: Mrs. Eula E. McLarty of Dallas, and children, Mrs. Weldon H. Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Routt Warlick also of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Weaver, and two daughters, Charlene and Paula; Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Young and children, Waldine, Helen, Taylor Jr., and Hayden; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jones of Dallas, and children, Patsy Ann, and Bobby; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Weaver, and sons, Harold Ray and John Ed.; R. L. Weaver, and Carl McClendon and son, Carl Sterling of Gatesville. Grand children who were unable to attend were: Mrs. Sam Reed, Austin; Mrs. Pete C. Solomon Jr., Dallas, and Charles McLarty, College Station; Miss Eloise Young, Hobbs, New Mexico, Misses Jimmie and Bonnie Young, San Antonio; and Miss Mary Jane Jones, Dallas.

Mrs. W. A. White, who has been visiting her daughter in Houston the past few weeks, has returned to her home in this city.

Miss Marguerite Williams returned to her home here Thursday night after an extended visit in Los Angeles, California.

Mrs. G. A. Keil of Red Oak is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. R. E. Kiger, Sr.

Mesdames W. C. Guggolz, Byron Leaird Jr., Pat Holt, Sanders Dowdy, and E. C. Lay attended a district meeting of the WMS at St. John's Methodist Church in Waco Wednesday.

Without considering the handicaps, Double Cola got the best total for the night, and Holt, with a 181 average for the three games, got the best individual.

Watching the scores weekly, there is quite a bit of improvement for all players.

Here are the standings for so far:

Action in this sport should be on the rise. Why not a banker's team, a drug store Team, or a drygoods team, or a utility team.

"IN NAME ONLY" TRIPLE-STARRED FILM SMASH

Showing at the Regal Theatre Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

With Carole Lombard, Cary Grant and Kay Francis in the top row characterizations, "In Name Only" comes to movie-goers with one of the most high powered, costly steller casts ever assigned to one picture.

One of the very few screen entertainments to develop the "other woman's" side, "In Name Only" limns with emotion-gripping power how a wily wife strives to bar the loss of her husband to another woman with whom he has fallen in love. Although the wife openly admits that she does not love her husband, she wants to keep him only for the luxuries and social position he gives her.

The situation develops—with the wife's unscrupulous fight to retain her status and keep her husband's parents ignorant of the true circumstances—to a stirring climax, after a lightening-fast series of stirring highlights which mark "In Name Only" as one of the year's most significant productions.

Miss Lombard's role as the waiting woman represents a departure from her recent cycle of comedienne portrayals. Grant depicts the unhappy husband, while Miss Francis plays as the selfish wife. Charles Coburn, Helen Vinson, Katherine Alexander, Jonathan Hale and Maurice Moscovich have important supporting roles in "In Name Only".

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bryan of Houston spent Monday with the former's sister, Mrs. E. C. Lay, and her family. Mrs. Bill Bryan of Valley Mills was a guest of her daughter also.

Mesdames H. C. Dollins, Mark Richards, Lee Colwick, Fred Mayberry, G. L. Polk, and B. E. Pancake attended the funeral of E. K. Maury of China Springs Wednesday morning. Mr. Maury was the father of Mrs. J. E. Carpenter of the State Training School.

Miss Madge Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Amos Mormon of Houston returned to this city Wednesday after a months' vacation in California, where they attended the San Francisco World's Fair. They also visited in other western states. Miss Miller is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, this week, but Mr. and Mrs. Mormon have returned to their home in Houston.

The debate here in Congress the past week has been about as lacking in decisive action as the struggle on the Western Front in Europe. The Senate has actually begun to debate the "Cash and Carry" bill. The first two or three days there were tremendous crowds trying to get into the gallery to hear the debate, but these are fast becoming smaller and the interest in the speeches is passing. Last Monday, and on up to yesterday, there were lines four wide down each stairway to the Senate gallery extending down the halls on the floor below. Admission is by a Senatorial card, but only a small percent of those who were able to get cards were able to get in. Members of the House are entitled to the privileges of the Senate Floor, hence I was able to get in and hear Senator Pittman and Senator Borah open the debate. Each of these Senators started off very forceful, but neither one of them was able to maintain the forcefulness of his speech very long. Frankly, I was disappointed in their speeches. On Wednesday, our own Senator, Tom Connally, delivered what I considered by far the most forceful speech that has yet been made in the Senate on this subject. It was my privilege to hear Senator Connally. To my way of thinking, he did a fine job of showing the danger to our own country in the retention of the present "embargo" law. I wish you all might have heard him. There was considerable speaking in the house by various members, but inasmuch as there is nothing before the House on which we can act before the Senate acts, the speeches have attracted little attention.

We continue to get lots of mail. This past week our mail has covered about all subjects. We still get some mail in regard to our foreign policy, but we are now receiving more mail about jobs with the Census Bureau than any one subject.

There have been some newspaper reports about the appointment of "Area" inspectors of supervisors for the census, which have been rather widely misunderstood. These "Area" men are to serve as inspectors or auditors over a rather large territory. There will only be about 100 of them in the entire Country. At present there are about 170 individuals here in Washington training for these places. Only about 2-3 of them will be given these positions. These men will NOT have control of employment. They will only have one secretary each. The District Offices will be set up some time about the first of the year. The "District" Supervisors will select the Enumerators (census-takers) Therefore, those of you who are interested in these jobs and it won't be possible to give one job to each dozen people who apply— should NOT write to Washington. You should file application with the District Supervisor when he is appointed. As soon as he is named his appointment will be announced locally. You will then be able to get all information and details, including application blanks from him. Census workers will be required to devote full time to census work. The Census Bureau will give its own examination to determine the respective qualifications of applicants.

The hysteria that was sweeping Washington when we convened has abated somewhat. The White House grounds have been reopened and policemen are not quite so numerous. I think that the people here are beginning to realize that we are not at war with anybody, and there is no reason for us going to war. Certainly, we are not seeking trouble as some people have tried to lead the public to believe. On the contrary, I feel that we have a good chance of passing legislation to keep our citizens out of the war zone before some "incident" occurs, and if we will do that I believe WE CAN AND WILL STAY OUT OF WAR.

Destructive floods were caused by volcanoes in Iceland; volcanic vents opened up underneath glaciers and melted them suddenly.

Brazos Valley Fair To Start Saturday

Starting Saturday, the 14, the fifth annual Brazos Valley Fair swings into action with fun and entertainment for everyone. The agricultural and live stock exhibits are larger than any so far at this fair; besides the individual exhibits there are community booths, home economic and home demonstration displays and FFA and 4-H Club exhibits.

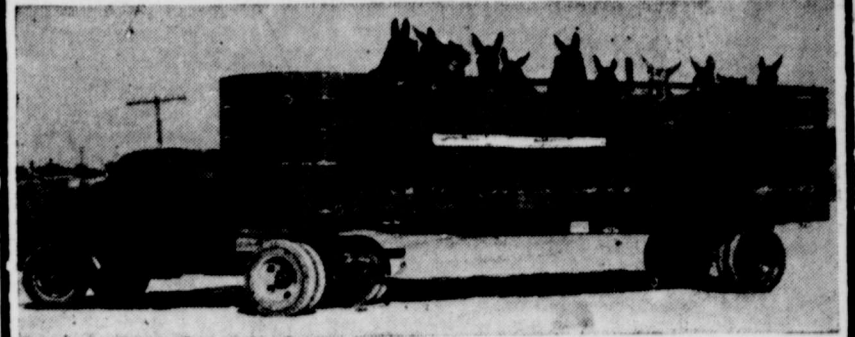

The fun begins on the mile long midway where there are curiosities of every description. There are new and strange things from far away lands as well as the rarest of creatures and objects from this country.

Something entirely new to this section of the State is the Cotton Club, where the famous Anson Weeks and his orchestra will play for dancing every night. The floor show will feature the talented Dorothy Byton Girls, and the renowned dance team of Natalie and Howard.

In France the poor are assisted partly through the public "bureau de bienfaisance" and partly by private and ecclesiastical charity.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

THIS STORY was told me by a Scotchman. Naturally, as you might say, the talk was all about what you might call prudent care for the shillings, and this Scotchman said he didn't think that the Scotch have got quite all of the thrift. He kinda made me blush when he complimented a section of America. He said Scotland can't take the pennant for thrift more'n two seasons hand-running any more, since New England broke into the Big League, along about 1620 or so.

This Scotchman asked me for a privilege, and of course, since he was paying for the dinner, I told him go ahead. He said he wanted to nominate for the all-world team in the thrift league a Maine farmer that was building a house on his farm, up near Augusta. It seems that this old fellow was building his house and barn all in one, and the whole thing was about a block long and only ten feet wide, and the whole side next to the road was a blank wall, without any windows in it.

"Queer house, ain't it?" said Neighbor Cabel.

"Yep," remarked the builder.

"What's the idea?"

"Well, you see," the prudent farmer answered. "The patent medicine men are always good enough to paint the side of the barn that's next to the road. So I built this here house so's to fool 'em. They'll think it's a barn and paint the whole side of it fer me, with an ad fer pills. An' since it's mostly side, it won't be hard to talk 'em into painting the rest of it too."

HOLY CROSS COLLEGE . . .
by
Joseph L. Shoeketski
Head Football Coach

This is the sixth of a series of six outstanding diagram plays by leading college coaches from Grantland Rice's new Cities Service Football Guide.

SINCE the innovation of spinners to the Notre Dame offense, it has been proved conclusively that a balanced line with a box formation in the backfield has become more difficult to stop. The power to the weak side has become sufficiently great to warrant our running reverses as well as plays to the strong side. Many teams under-rate our attack to the weak side and consequently defend it as a weak side play, thus permitting the Notre Dame offense to become more effective.

The above play is one used by Holy Cross with much success. The tail back receives the ball, spins and fakes it to the fullback who plunges inside the defensive weak side tackle. The ball is then handed to the halfback who races off the weak side tackle with two blockers ahead of him. The success of this play requires perfect timing and deception, in addition to speed and good blocking.

Four parties will be listed upon the ballot used in the General election in Texas on November 6, Democrat, Republican, Socialist, and Communist. The voter may choose between four candidates for United States Senator. The 21 Democratic nominees for sets in the national house of representatives are opposed by eight Republicans, one independent and two Socialists.

ARW

Some two or three years ago, Congress passed a shorter work week law for Postal and other Government employees, whereby they were entitled to have Saturday afternoon off, thereby cutting their time to a maximum of 44 hours per week. The local post-office will close every Wednesday afternoon, according to Postmaster Ford.

Backed by a large crowd of their own townspeople, the Clifton High School football eleven ran rough shod over the Gatesville Hornets here last Friday afternoon piling up a score of 26-0.

THE RECORD Facts That Concern You

ONE INCOME THAT'S INCREASED MIGHTILY
SINCE 1932!

IN 1932 (last year before repeal) BEER'S TAXES WERE PRACTICALLY NOTHING!

*Data from Liquor Control Board, includes beer license fees and estimate (not official) of mixed license fees.

BEER helps even those who do not drink it! To the tune of a million dollars a day nation-wide, beer tax revenue reaches back into every community, to help pay for relief, for public works, for education . . . and to lift a burden that would otherwise rest directly on the taxpayers.

To this, add a million new jobs made by beer. And a 100 million dollar farm market.

How can we keep these benefits . . . for you and for us? Brewers of America realize this depends on keeping beer retailing as wholesome as beer itself. They want to help public officials in every possible way. They cannot enforce laws. But they can—and will—cooperate!

May we send you a booklet telling of their unusual self-regulation program? Address: United Brewers Industrial Foundation, 19 East 40th Street, New York, N. Y.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
When Jill Baxter, wealthy young American divorcee, stops at Dartmouth College to change trains en route to Montreal, she meets an old flame, Professor Johnny Weldon, to whom she was once engaged. Her interest in him decidedly re-awakened, she decides to spend a day at Dartmouth, where the famous Winter Carnival is in full swing. Jill intrigues Johnny into proposing to her again, but when she refuses to settle down and live permanently in the college town with him, their old quarrel begins anew, and Jill decides to go on to Montreal. Meanwhile Jill's younger sister Ann, up at Dartmouth for the Carnival, is acclaimed Carnival Queen, just as her sister was six years earlier, and chooses young Mickey Allen, Dartmouth ski champ, as her escort.

Chapter Five

The dance was on in full swing at the fraternity house. Ann tried to appear casual about her new-found glory as Queen of the Carnival, but Mickey Allen realized that it had quite gone to her head. He realized it better than ever when she permitted the dashing Count Eric Von Lundborg to cut in on their dancing for the fourth time.

"Aren't you going to introduce me?" said Count Eric.

In matters of romance the Count was not one to let grass grow under his feet. He informed the breathless Ann, almost giddy with the excitement of the evening, that he had found out about a perfectly lovely intimate little road house across the river. She was ready to go there with him... And after that?

"We can keep right on going," said Eric smoothly. "My boat doesn't sail until Tuesday... Even that doesn't have to be the end." She smiled up at him warmly as they danced.

When Ann went to the improvised powder room she was called to the telephone. Jill was calling her from the station to congratulate her on having won the crown of Snow Queen.

"Goodbye, darling. You can come over and visit me in Europe next summer, if you're a good girl."

"If I'm not," boasted Ann flippantly. "I can get there before that. You might even find me waiting on the dock." She proceeded to tell her sister, half joking, half boasting, about her "conquest" of Count Von Lundborg, who was ready to do anything with her, take her anywhere.

Jill remonstrated, pleaded, threatened, but it was no use. "Thanks, but I'm not going to be a rookie forever," concluded Ann — "and I don't need any more advice than you did... Goodbye — Eric's waiting for me. Have fun."

Jill frantically rang another number, and ordered a sleigh.

"Boy! Get a load of that!"

"That's for me!"

"What a babe! Answer to a stag's prayer!"

"Don't hold me back!"

The stag line had taken on a new lease of life. A wave of fevered excitement rushed over the unattached boys — and those with partners as well — as all eyes turned toward the entrance of the dance hall and watched the arrival of the ravishingly lovely blonde, wearing a decollete more extreme than any other in the room.

Jill deftly eluded the crowd of stags who pressed around begging for a dance, and made her way directly to where Ann and Von Lundborg were dancing. Ann, seeing her, stopped in her tracks and stared.

"Darling!" caroled Jill, sailing right up and kissing her. "It's so good to see you, I didn't think I'd be able to get here!" At the same time she gave Eric a soft, lingering look that plainly intimated love at first sight.

"Aren't you going to introduce me?" said Count Eric.

Ann did so, gritting her teeth. And before she knew it, her sister had appropriated Eric for the remainder of the dance.

The young Count, experienced though he was, was no match for the cleverer and more experienced Jill Baxter. By the time the dance was over she had him regarding her younger sister as a mere babe, unworthy of his polished attentions; and she had as much as agreed to cancel her passage and cross on the same boat with the Count. "And it doesn't have to end there..."

"Darling, isn't it terrible?" Jill grinned wickedly as they re-joined Ann at the edge of the dance floor. "Eric made me promise to cross on the same boat with him—maybe you can come over and visit me after school closes this summer, if you're a good girl!"

Ann, in tears, rushed off to the bar for a consoling sarsaparilla — her romance shattered!

Jill then turned easily to the Count. "Eric. I have a confession to make. May I?... In all my life, I've never met a man quite like you. Really, it's quite an achievement to have stuffed so much conceit into so few years. Goodbye, and thanks for the dance!"

Jill, having changed back to her traveling clothes, emerged from the dressing room to find John waiting for her. Ann, meeting him at the bar to which he had come from the railroad station, had told him about Jill's "betrayal" of her. Weldon was moved to genuine admiration of Jill for the workmanlike bit of "surgery" she had performed in saving her little sister from following in her own footsteps. He put his admiration into words.

He did more than that, as a matter of fact. It was well after midnight. It was only common decency for him to drive her to the Morgans to be lodged until the next morning...

"It was a wonderful ride home, John," whispered Jill when he pulled up in front of the Morgan house. "And that little house on Lime Road — just as lovely as you said... Will it still be there in the morning?"

"Uh-huh. It's weathered its first hundred years. Everything's built to last up here."

Her arms went slowly around his neck. "I'm all through traveling, John. I'm even dry dishes your way."
