BOB POAGE FILES AND ASKS RETURN TO CONGRESS, RESULT OF RECORD MADE

Washington—Congressman W. R. Poage, Representative from the 11th Texas District, composed of Bell, Bosque, Coryell, Falls, McLennan and Milam Counties, today announced that he was filing his name as a candidate for reelection. Poage has served nearly three and a half years in Congress, having previously represented the Central Texas District in the Texas Senate.

During his service here, Poage has come to be recognized as one of the hardest working members of the House. He has been assigned to six important committees—an outstanding record, as there is no Democrat in Congress with more committee assignments and only two with an equal number.

In Washington, the young Texan has distinguished himself by his outstanding interest in farm problems. He represents a great agricultural district and he has devoted his untiring efforts in behalf of parity prices for farm products; of improved opportunities for tenants to become farm owners; of lower farm interest rates; of rural electrification; and of soil conservation. In fact, he was the author of the amendment to the Relief Bill, providing for WPA work on soil conservation projects, thus enabling farmers everywhere to secure Federal aid in conserving the soil.

While it is generally recognized that the effectiveness of any Member of Congress increases in direct proportion to the length of his unbroken or continuous service (when a member drops out of Congress, even though should he return at a later date, he goes "to the foot of the class") Mr. Poage is able to point out some outstanding achievements in behalf of his district. One of these is the survey of the Brazos River and its tributaries. Never, until he became a member of Congress had the Army engineers been even requested by Congressional resolution to make a survey of the Brazos River and its tributaries, the Leon, the Lampasas and the Little River. During his first session in Congress he was instrumental in securing such a resolution. When complete this survey will serve as the basis for the erection of flood control structures on these streams.

Another accomplishment to which Mr. Poage can point has been the expansion of the Veterans Facility at Waco, which has been more than doubled in size since he has been in Congress. And, far more important, all of the Administrative Offices of the Veterans Administration have been Poage has secured for the veterans of his district the most convenient service in Texas. This is in keeping with his outstanding policy of rendering the greatest possible service to all veterans. He has not only supported legislation moved to Waco from Dallas and San Antonio. Thus, Congressman to relieve veterans from the harsh effects of the Act of 1933 and to extend aid to needy widows and children of veterans, but also he has handled hundreds of individual cases for veterans who, for one reason or another, have had difficulty with the Veterans Administration.

BOYCE HOUSE, TEXAS AUTHOR, POET AND COLUMNIST, HERE

Boyce House, well known Texas author, poet, columnist and newspaperman was in Gatesville Saturday, and was very much interested in Gatesville.

In a recent University of Texas release, Mr. House was lauded for his addition to the collection of Texans at the library for his notebook, covering the well-known oil boom study "Were You in Ranger" which was deposited in the library.

Mr. House also gave the University a complete 1939 file of his newspaper column, "I Give You Texas".

Mr. House's "Were You in Ranger" has been movieized in Hollywood under the title of "Boom Town", soon to be released, starring Spencer Tracy, Clark Gable, Hedy Lamarr and Claudette Colbert, for which he has been technical advisor and writing consultant for Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer. It is a story of the Burkburnett oil boom.

CCC Youth Dies Of Crash Injuries

Robert Lee Curry, 19 year old Evant youth and an enrollee in the local CCC camp, died at 9:30 p. m. Saturday night at Providence Hospital, Waco, of injuries received in a truck accident near Mound about 3:30 p. m. Friday. The accident occurred when a truck in which a crew of CCC boys were returning from a government works project, struck loose gravel on a curve and overturned.

W. A. Brown and Robert Kuykendall also were injured in the accident and after treatment by the camp physician, Brown was conveyed to Providence hospital, Waco, and Kuykendall was carried to a government hospital at Fort Sam Houston. Brown suffered several ribs broken and Kuykendall had a fractured elbow. Late reports stated that they were improving nicely and would probably be released from the hospital in a few days.

Funeral services for Curry were held in the city cemetery at Evant Sunday afternoon. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. J. E. Curry, one brother Boice, both of Evant, and one sister, Mrs. Geraldine Kennedy of Cleveland, Texas.

JERRY SADLER PLAYS, SPEAKS TO LARGE CROWD HERE

The customary large Saturday afternoon crowd, augmented by many others drawn to Gatesville for the rodeo, heard 32 year old Jerry Sadler, colorful and dynamic campaigner, present his candidacy for Governor. The sturdy-set State Railroad Commissioner, stressing his proposal to finance old age pension, teacher retirement and other social security by a tax on oil, gas and sulphur, said:

"I have received no reply from Governor O'Daniel to my offer, made more than a week ago, to withdraw from the race if he would call a special session of the legislature, submit the Sadler plan for financing social security and carry it through to enactment."

"Because it is my desire to see the pensions financed—and because I believe that a tax on oil, gas and sulphur is the fairest method—I stand ready, if the Governor accepts my offer, to extend my fullest cooperation to him in trying to pass this natural resource tax program and, if he will get it on the law books, I will support him for re-election."

With Mr. Sadler's party were the two kimbrough's the one that made A. and M. famous, "Jarrin' John" and his unheralded little brother, Jack.

Also, a former songbird for another gubernatorial candidate, "Leon" who strums a guitar and sings.

LETTING ON HIGHWAY 36 ADVERTISED IN THIS ISSUE OF THE NEWS: STARTS SOON

It don't take long to get in motion after anything is advertised, and that's even so about highway work.

In today's issue of the News, the advertisement calls for a work schedule, salaries, hours, etc., about the work to be done on 3.597 miles of highway work on Highway 36, the bids on which will be opened on June 25.

This sounds good to every Coryell countain, and it's especially good, according to County Judge Floyd Zeigler, since many of the proposed work plans on different highways are being passed up at this time, due to conditions both in this country and our neighbors across the water.

It seems very possible, with this interest on Highway 36, that this highway will now be completed between Gatesville and Temple.

RAILROAD, HAMILTON-GATESVILLE TO BE ABANDONED ON JULY FIRST

News was received Monday morning by Guy Powell, formerly secretary of the Gatesville Chamber of Commerce that the Stephenville North and South Texas Railway of 37.72 miles of railroad would be abandoned or discontinued, effective, July 1.

This was handed down in a decision by the Interstate Commerce Commission in Financial Docket No. 12703.

This is the section of the railroad on which the hearing was held in the spring, and in which Gatesville joined with Hamilton and other citizens of this community in protesting its removal.

TWO NEW JOBS TAKEN BY LOCAL BOY AND GIRL: BANK & GAS

It's nice, when you can get right out of school and "hit the ball" working, and that's what happened to Ray Byrom and Fred Byrom, cousins.

One, Fred (she's a girl) is with the Community Natural Gas Co. and Ray is with the Guaranty Bank & Trust Co.

The "Fourth Annual" is gone! We're eagerly, and suppose everyone else is waiting for the "Fifth", but not the "filth" column.

Saturday night, playing to a big crowd, Gatesville's Fourth Annual Rodeo and Frontier Celebration ended it's four night run, with greater crowds, a greater show, and a greater parade than ever before.

Figures haven't been worked out, but "Smilin' Bob" assures us, the debits equalled the credits, or better—in other words—the show didn't lose money.

Too, City Secretary-Rodeo Secretary Eiland Lovejoy says that in the rush of closing, he hasn't had time to check all the records yet, and that the winners of the events, including the last three "day" winners will be announced soon.

The decorating man began early Saturday evening taking down the decorations, and by Sunday a. m. the town was back to normalcy, with nothing remaining to remind of the successful run but the three or four string of lights across south eight between Painter's corner and the rodeo grounds.

Too much credit cannot be given to the many who assisted in making the premier event in Gatesville's history each year the success that it was, and is. Especially the untiring efforts of Bob and Eiland, are to be commended.

So, Gatesville, has presented to Coryell countains, Texans, and to many from other states a show, a good time, a clean entertaining feature, which is a boon to any town.

It gathers "snow" like a snowball, each year. Let's have another!

BOB POAGE

United States. While CCC camps were being abandoned in many places, he has been able to retain more soil conservation camps than any other Congressional district in Texas. He recently secured for his most populous county (McLennan) a food stamp program on a county-wide basis. This program is in operation in less than seventy cities and counties in the United States. The food stamp program means much to the local truck growers and the local merchants, but it means vastly more to the WPA workers and to the needy. It is but one illustration of the Congressman's interest in the less fortunate.

He was one of the first to recognize that the Federal Government must assume the full burden of old age assistance. He waited patiently until it was definitely apparent that the State of Texas was not going to make any material changes in its pension program, and that the Federal Government was not going to adopt any of the so-called self-financing pension or recovery plans. He then introduced a bill calling for a direct Federal pension of $30.00 per month to all citizens over 65 years of age, and to all blind and disabled citizens. He recognizes that somebody must pay for any public expenditure and he proposed to meet this expenditure out of the income tax, and at the same time repeal the present payroll tax for social security retirement, thus bringing to Texas about $2.00 for ever $1.00 collected in the State.

Congressman Poage has recognized that we must not only make America a land of opportunity for our citizens, but that we must at the same time be able to protect it for Americans from the subversive and un-American activities of the natives of other lands. He has, therefore, supported and voted for the continuation of the Dies Committee for the investigation of un-American activities. He, himself, reported a bill from his own committee for the automatic deportation of aliens guilty of espionage and sabotage. He has more recently introduced and secured favorable committee action on a bill requiring mandatory deportation of any alien convicted of any felony. At the same time that we are seeking to protect our land from spies and "fifth columns" we all realize that our military and naval forces must be adequately equipped if we are to protect our homeland.

Congressman Poage has at all times stood for and voted for adequate and ample National Defense—both men and equipment, including ships and airplanes. A year ago he had taken his stand with those who recognized that the safety of America required more mechanized defense units. Therefore, his present support of President Roosevelt's defence program is no new position. He has often stated that it is better to spend millions of dollars before it is too late than to spend millions of lives later on. He believes that we can best keep America out of war by providing her with adequate modern defense. He is an ardent and able advocate of the President's proposed National Defense program.

Mr. Poage has been fortunate in his ability and opportunity to cooperate with the leadership of President Roosevelt and his great Administration. In his office at Waco hangs a personally autographed photograph of the President—a token of the Chief Executive's esteem for the Texas Congressman. On his side, Mr. Poage is known to consider the President as the greatest leader of modern times, and to be in hearty accord with the Executive's desire to save Democracy by making it work—for all classes and people.

When questioned about his own campaign, Mr. Poage said that his duty was in Washington at this time, and that he intended to stay at his post and help President Roosevelt secure the defenses of our country, regardless of any action that might be taken by political enemies at home.

DAN MOODY AND THE GOVERNOR'S RACE

The gubernated race will undergo a radical change from its present status if former Gov. Dan Moody permits his name to be certified on the ballot. Moody's entrance into the melees would effect a realignment of forces that would automatically eliminate the chances of all but two of the announced candidates.

As the race stands at present, Mrs. Ferguson and Governor O' Daniel are the acknowledged leaders. O' Daniel admittedly has a large holdover vote from the 1938 campaign, and the Fergusons have launched an intensive campaign that has produced remarkably good results, considering the general public lethargy toward the campaign.

Public reaction to the candidacies of Jerry Sadler and Harry Hines is difficult to gauge this early, but it is believed by experienced politicians that these two candidates will have a difficult task overcoming the O' Daniel and Ferguson forces.

Railroad Commissioner Ernest Thompson has finally thrown his hat in the ring after several months of hesitancy. He was runnerup to O'Daniel in the 1938 race and probably made more friends and fewer enemies than other defeated candidate in the history of Texas politics.

Thompson has many friends and strong supporters in all parts of the State, but he faces the same dilemma that kept him out of a runoff with O' Daniel before.

Harry Hines of the highway commission will direct his appeal toward the same voting public as Thompson. This situation will split the conservative vote in the same manner that Thompson and McCraw divided some 500,000 votes in 1938, enough to have put either of them in the runoff. Thus the chances of either Hines or Thompson garnering enough votes to enter the second race are slim.

And that is how the candidacy of Dan Moody would affect the complexion of the governor's race. For if Moody runs, the conservative vote and that includes practically all anti-O'Daniel, anti-Ferguson votes will rally almost 100 per cent to his banner. Moody will constitute a symbol for better government in Texas in the minds of those who want neither the return of the Fergusons nor the re-election of O' Daniel.

Thus it is apparent that the candidacies of Hines and Thompson will be rendered futile if Moody runs, for admittedly his chances of winning would be far greater than that of either Hines or Thompson. Likewise Jerry Sadler's gubernatorial ambitions would be buried under the impetus of the Moody-Ferguson-O'Daniel triangle. Dan Moody's record as governor and before that as attorney general was singularly brilliant, effective and untarnished by scandal. While in office he was the rallying point for these who demanded good government and the respect of the respect of the nation for Texas.

Interesting indeed will be the campaign techniques devised by the three candidates if this race develops.

The O' Daniel campaign will be conducted along the conventional lines of 1938, with the hillbilly band, attacks upon professional politicians and promises to the old. The Fergusons have launched verbal broadsides against what they term the ineptitude of the Governor, indicating the general trend of their campaign.

But neither the Fergusons nor O' Daniel has expected or prepared for the eventuality of a potent political figure like Dan Moody entering the race.

POULTRY REPORT

Written by Hazel Landrum, Clear Creek 4-H Club

On March 9 I set 45 Rhode Island Red eggs. I made the nests in boxes, and since the weather was so unsettled at that time, I put newspaper in the bottom of the nests to keep out the cold air, I kept feed out and fresh water for the hens. When the eggs hatched, I dusted the hens with tobacco dust to kill the lice. I sprayed the coops with lubrication oil. I put the coops in the yard on the grass. I have twenty-six chicks. A few were killed in the nests, I started them on oatmeal and mash. Later I gave them clabber but now I have them on grains, I hope to eat fried chicken early in June.

I have prepared eggs for breakfast—omelet and fried. For lunch I deviled some and made corn flake macaroons. For supper I have boiled eggs and made ice cream. Mother and Daddy seemed to enjoy my efforts. I hope to do the greater part of the cooking during the summer.

PIDCOKE COKERS DEFEAT BLACKFOOT INDIANS 6-4 AT BLACKFOOT SUNDAY

Base hits rained all over the field at Blackfoot Sunday as Virgil Lockhart's Pidcoke "Cokers" tossed out "Cheesie" Martin's Blackfoot Indians by a score of 4-6. The Cokers leaped into the lead in the first inning when Hair clouted a home run with two men on the bags and they were never headed during the remainder of the clash.

Jader Barton pitched the open-innings for the Indians and was relieved by Jack Barton, veteran right-hander in the fifth. Rutherford hurled the complete game for the Cokers. Both pitchers turned in creditable performances but at many times they received ragged support from their mates and errors on both sides were very much in evidence.

With the exception of the first inning the game was exceedingly close with both clubs hustling hard until the final stanza.

A large and enthusiastic crowd jammed the field to witness the contest. Following is a brief play by play description of the game:

First inning: Newton on first on Troy Long's error. Lockhart singles. Ward strikes out. Hair hits home run, scoring Newton and Lockhart. Porter caught out by Ivy. Perryman grounds out to Slim Long at third.

Troy Long pops out to Porter, Paul Martin on first as Newton errors. Martin stole second. Barton flies out to Perryman. Willard Long flies out to Porter in deep left field. Score Pidcoke 3, Blackfoot 0.

Second Inning: Trammell hits over short and gets on first on Martin's error. Smith singles. Rutherford singles. Newton fouls out to catcher and Trammell scores after the catch. Lockhart forces Smith at home plate. Ward pops out to Long at third.

Jack Barton out on first, Hair to Trammell. Burt out, Newton to Trammell. Vandiver out, Ward to Trammell. Score: Pidcoke 4, Blackfoot 0.

Third inning: Hair hits drive to Troy Long. Porter on first on Troy Long's error. Perryman pops out to Barton. Trammell hits hard through short. Porter steals 3rd. Smith singles, scoring Trammell and Porter. Rutherford strikes out.

Ivy singles, and advances to second on S. Long's high throw to first. Troy Long pops out to Hair. Martin flies out to Porter. Barton on by Newton's error, play scoring Ivy and S. Long. Willard Long out, Ward to Trammell.

Fourth Inning. Newton walks. Newton steals second. Lockhart singles. Ward strikes out. Hair flies out to Jack Barton. Porter caught out by catcher.

Jack Barton fans. Burt singles. Burt steals second. Vandiver walks. Burt steals third. Ivy hits to Ward. Burt beats throw home. S. Long fouls out to Ward. T. Long trikes out. Vandiver and Ivy die on bases. Score Pidcoke 6, Blackfoot 3.

Fifth inning: Perryman doubles. Trammell flies out to Ivy at center. Smith strikes out. Rutherford strikes out.

Martin flies out to Lockhart, J. Barton strikes out. W. Long flies to Lockhart in deep right field.

Sixth Inning: Newton flies out to Burt. Lockhart on by Barton's error. Ward hits long foul to Martin. Hair fans.

Barton bunts to Ward, out on first. Burt singles. Burt attempts to steal second, is out. Vandiver out, Hair to Trammell.

Seventh inning: Porter singles. Perryman fouls out to Burt. Porter tagged at second. Trammell fouls out to Martin in deep left field.

Ivy caught out by Porter. Slim Long hits three bagger. Troy Long flies out to Lockhart. Long scores after catch. Martin out, Ward to Trammell.

Eighth inning: Smith singles. Rutherford singles. Smith thrown out on second. Rutherford goes to second on pitcher's high throw. Newton singles. Rutherford out on 3rd. Lockhart fouls out to Long.

Jader Barton walks. Barton tagged on second. Willard Long hits over second. Barton out on fly to Newton. Burt thrown out on first, Newton to Trammell.

T'ville-Plainview Game Rained Out

Plainview was scheduled to clash with Turnersville in a league game at Turnersville Sunday but reports are that the game was rained out. A time for this delayed game to be played will probably be set by the managers of the teams.

Jonesboro was scheduled to play Coryell City but no results have been turned in. Reports on these games will be carried in Friday's issue of The News.

F.S.A. PROGRAM SHOULD GO FORWARD AS PART OF NATIONAL DEFENSE

Regardless of what may be done about the appropriation for the WPA, now that an expansion of activities for strengthening National defenses promises to open new jobs in private industries for thousands of persons, Congress was well advised to make a liberal appropriation for the program of the Farm Security Administration.

Both House and Senate have increased benefits to farmers by voting larger parity payments, but what is provided in AAA benefits and in parity payments has little or nothing to do with appropriations for the Farm Security Administration, which devotes itself to making loans to tenant farmers for buying of land and farm equipment.

Most tenant farmers are not coming in on these other benefits. Furthermore the gifts are intended to be only temporary expedients. The Farm Security Administration is engaged in converting tenants into farm owners, and that is a work of permanency, which should not be interfered with by preparations for military defense.

In fact, an important phase of adequate National defense is a strong agricultural setup, capable of producing foodstuffs and other materials in large quantities. In the event the United States became engaged in a long war, victory would depend in no small degree on the manner in which agriculture functioned.

Strengthening our agricultural front by doing away with tenancy as rapidly as possible is a measure of National defense in itself.

And the money appropriated for the Farm Security Administration it should be remembered, is merely loaned. It will be repaid with interest directly.

There is no reason whatever why this work should be interfered with because we are undertaking greater military preparedness.

Now that Gatesville's Rodeo and Frontier Celebration is over, interest in the City Softball League should revive. Thus far there seems to be very little interest in a league of this kind, however we would be glad to call a meeting and help to organize a City Softball League. Last year six teams participated in the race with the Arnold Electric company winning the championship trophy that is offered annually by The News.

The county baseball league is gaining momentum as the season progresses with several top teams struggling to break into the lead. Jonesboro has a slight edge over the other clubs at present with Pidcoke, Mound, Blackfoot and Turnersville tied for the second spot.

Many young players are playing brilliantly in the county baseball race this year and are out-hitting, out-pitching, and out-fielding some of the "Old-Timers" who have played many seasons of the nation's greatest sport.

Hair of Pidcoke and Clawson of Mound are a couple of the county's youngest and most skillful short-stops. Rutherford of Pidcoke, Hall of Plainview, Wicker and Holcomb of Mound and many other youngsters whom we haven't seen in action this season are making splendid records on the mound. Trammell of Pidcoke with only a couple or so years of experience, promises to develop into the league's most outstanding first baseman and is hitting like a veteran. These are only a few of the youngsters who are winning their spurs in the baseball race and there are many more on the Jonesboro, Coryell City, Blackfoot, Plainview, and Turnersville teams who are playing jam-up ball.

HELP FOR THE ALLIES

The first line of defense of the United States is on the western front.

When Premier Reynaud told the French people by radio that "We are fighting not merely for Britain or France but for the independence of all countries" he spoke the literal truth.

For British and French soldiers are fighting our battle as well as their own. If the Weygand line collapses under the impetus of Hitler's mechanized forces, if France is forced to make a humiliating peace, our line of defense will automatically move to this hemisphere.

Since the formulation of the Monroe Doctrine as a cardinal principle of American foreign policy, the British fleet has protected our Atlantic coast and all of South America from foreign encroachments, permitting the American navy to guard our vital interests in the Pacific. If Britain had not acquiesced, the Monroe Doctrine could never have been enforced without the maintenance of a two-ocean navy for the United States.

Britain and France have long functioned as a bulwark for the United States against the foreign ideologies of central and eastern Europe, absorbing the shocks of countless invasions from these regions.

We know that the British and French way of life is essentially our way of life. We likewise know that Nazism and its counterparts in Italy and Russia are foreign to every aspect of our American civilization and of democratic institutions everywhere.

It is therefore the duty of the United States to lend aid to the Allies in every practicable manner, short of sending an expeditionary force to Europe. The primary need of the Allies is not for men but for guns and planes and armaments of every category. These we must provide, as quickly and in as large quantities as possible without endangering our own defense forces.

Fortunately, we have no Chamberlains, no appeasers, directing our foreign policy. President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull are even more acutely aware of the urgency of the Allied need for American help than the average citizen. They know that the extent of American aid may determine the outcome of the European conflict.

Material aid can be extended by the United States without violating the precepts of the neutrality act. That act specifically forbade credits and loans to the Allies and the sending of materials to the Allies in American vessels.

But the Allies have ample funds for the present, and more ships than at the beginning of the war, since the additions from the Norwegian, Dutch and Danish merchant fleets.

Congress should immediately grant the President the necessary powers to sell surplus stocks of guns and ammunition now held by the Army to private corporations which in turn can sell them to the Allies.

Under the government to manufacturer to Allies plan, as many as 1,500 planes now in use by the Army and Navy may be sold to the Allies. These will be invaluable in the fighting now raging on the western front if delivered in time.

Planes are the imperative need of the Allies. Every plane that can possibly be spared by the Army and Navy, every plane that can be produced by our aircraft factories that is not needed for our own national defense, should be sold to the Allies.

For the danger to our own security of a Nazi victory cannot be over emphasized. Only deluded pacifists or fifth columnists in this country possibly can foresee any other possibility than totalitarian efforts to dominate South American and eventually to attack the United States, if France and Britain are defeated.

If the British tommies and French Poilus fail to stop the Huns in Europe, American doughboys will have to do it in the Americas.

JUNE IS

Dairying—This is National Dairy Month.

Milk, everyone uses it in some form.

Milk and dairy products form a great part of the money that pays for shoes, hats, clothing, eats, amusements, etc., and newspapers in Coryell county.

It's true there are no BIG dairies in this county, but you'd be surprised at the amount of milk and dairy products handled by Gamblin's, Meeks', Sasse's dairies handle. Also, there are other sources, including that sold to local residents by our neighbors in the country.

Dairying, in Coryell County is Big Business, and also, includes Borden's milk plant, the produce buyers such as Gatesville Poultry and Egg Company, Walker and Dolloff, Daniels Produce Co., Carroll Brothers, George Hodges, Bill Nesbitt, John Hodges, H. N. (Spud) Brown, McClellan, Murray Grocery & Market, E. R. Black, E. G. Beerwinkle, Thompson Food Market, E. Price Bauman, Craig Davidson, Gus A. Koch, Pennington & Boyd, A. and P., and all of the many smaller businesses of the country.

Dairy Products in Coryell are most certainly, evry important.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

ONE of the funniest customs that has grown up with our extra intelligent civilization is that of disappearing. Well, you know what I mean. Every day somebody's wife or husband or plane plays disappears. Generally, when they turn up, they got no memory to speak of. It's often right handy to lose your memory that way too. It's something it took a smart man to think of. A generation ago, when a guy went away he just beat it to Canada or South America, or else he come back and faced the music.

Well, there was a guy in Chicago, and his wife disappeared. He had her hunted for all over the country, and finally he got a wire from New York that they had his wife there, and she had lost her memory.

"What does she say about herself?" the guy wired back.

"She will not talk," the police answered.

The Chicago man sent back this telegram collect:

"Just as I thought. She ain't my wife at all."

LIBERTY H-D CLUB NEWS

"I wonder if I am qualified to speak to this group, I am neither a girl or a young matron, and it has been a long time since I have had a beau", began Mrs. J. D. Hedgpeith in her lecture to the Liberty 4-H girls on the subject, "Where Cobwebs Grow, Beaus Won't Go". Everyone present knew that our "Train the Young Members" movement could never entirely crowd "Aunt Lindy" off our programs. She has a wonderful ability to say the right things at exactly the right time and the inspirational value of her talks can not be measured by words. Then, too, the youth of this section can always think of her as being completely "dust conscious", and as a cobweb annihilator.

The president and program chairman presented a 4-H program setting forth the possibilities, goals and achievements of that organization at the meeting with Mrs. Fred Hartgraves, May 28th.

Other numbers on the program were "Possibilities of the 4-H", Mrs. Calvin Perryman; "Home-made Toys," Mrs. Powell Seward; "Something for the Bedroom," Mrs. Loy Gene Brown; "Splatter-Work Applied to Nature", Miss Rae Seward; and "Tufting Work," Miss Pauline Glaze.

After surveying the community, it was found that the girls eligible for 4-H membership naturally fell into two distinct groups, one in their late teens, who have already had two or more years in 4-H work, and a large group of 10 year old beginners. It was decided to have two groups with two sponsors for the remainder of the year. It was made clear to the girls that they were organizing too late to complete this year's work; but that there were some good projects that they could complete and thereby get ready for the new year this autumn. It is further understood that the groups will do the same work and function as one group, so far as the H-D agent is concerned.

Mrs. Alvin Kautzsch was selected by the Senior group to be their sponsor. Mrs. Loy Gene Brown was selected for the Juniors.

"This rose bed needs fertilizing, give it leaf mold, never manure" instructed Mrs. L. C. Perryman, Liberty's rose specialist. She is considered an authority on rose culture, and her advise is constantly sought.

"This bed spread is made of feed sacks, the candlewicking colored threads can be secured by dyeing the white feed sack strings. Many pretty things can be made at very little cost". (An extract from Miss Pauline Glaze's talk to 4-H girls).

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
John Webb, a crusading attorney who, with his partner Rus Sampson, is fighting to break the hold of Vincent Cushing's graft ring on the state highway contracts, is "framed" by Cushing's police friends for two mysterious murders. As if this were not enough trouble, he is also harried by the jealousy of Ann Seymour, a cute but light-headed little night club entertainer who is in love with him. Temporarily released on a writ of habeas corpus, Webb discovers that Cushing knows something about a past murder in a little Texas town which would throw light on the crimes of which Webb is suspected. He and Sampson decide to fly to Texas to investigate; but a few hours before they are to depart, Ann is menaced by Sampson with the same knife that killed the two women Webb is suspected of having murdered.

Chapter Six

Morganville, Texas snored in its midnight stupor as the two partners alighted from their special plane, hired a decrepit car from the local service station, and trundled out to the cemetery. On the way Webb explained to his friend the theory behind the visit. They knew that Alma's murderer had once lived in this town and murdered her father there. If the murderer had relatives buried in the

"So Ann thought I did it, huh?" laughed Rus. "She gets some screwy ideas."

"Yeah..."

"Yeah..."

"Why did you throw that thing at me last night, Rus?"

"Sorry, chum," said Rus quietly. "I thought I could scare you off." Sitting in front of his desk facing Webb, he quietly slipped the top drawer open. The knife was there, and his hand went on it, unnoticed by Webb.

"Now when I think of all the things that pointed to you," mused Webb. "Trying to frame me with the knife in my desk... And you stabbed Alma in the back just because she had that clipping about her father being murdered?"

"No. Because she tried to blackmail me." His hand on the knife hilt, he began slowly, imperceptibly, to draw it toward him.

"I know how you felt about Alma, chum," continued Rus. "But what could I do after she recognized me as the guy who knocked off her father in a fight?"

"And Ater? That was hardly the way to get rid of her."

"I couldn't give her two weeks notice. She saw me put the knife in your drawer." His hand now held the knife in his lap, still unseen by Webb.

"Well, that's that," said Webb slowly.

"Wanna let me go to another state — just for old times' sake?" pleaded Rus.

"You bet I'd like to. But you didn't understand. Rus, when I said I was very fond of Alma. Sorry, kid." He stood up and went little community, which was very likely, a gravestone would give the telltale name. All they need do was keep their eyes peeled for a Cushing, a Godena, or perhaps a Taylor.

"Sorry, chum," said Rus quietly. "I thought I could scare you off."

The cemetery was no darker than a graveyard at midnight should be. It only seemed blacker. A few black nightbirds whizzed about their heads, screaming hoarsely.

"You take that row over there," suggested Webb, "and I'll take this one. Watch the names on the stones."

Rus Sampson complied. As he scanned the headstones, his jaw tightened at sight of an inscription on one of them:

SAMPSON SMITH
Born 1886 — Died 1930
Close by it was another:
AIMEE SMITH
Née AIMEE RUSSELL
Beloved Wife of
SAMPSON SMITH

His face set grimly. His eyes became like little beads. He reached inside his coat...

Webb, with an involuntary yell, felt the knife plunge into his arm. He gritted his teeth and pulled it out. Rus was at his side in a moment, asking solicitous questions. Was Webb hurt badly? Had he seen what his assailant looked like? Webb shook his head, reeling unsteadily.

"Come on," said Rus. "We'd better get you into town."

Webb went to his office early the next morning. He had promised to surrender to Commissioner Fromm by noon.

Rus was already sitting at his desk in a characteristic posture: feet up on the desk, strumming on his guitar. Webb informed him that he had some new ideas on the solution of the murders.

"For example, I've been wondering how the murderer found out we were going to that cemetery last night. None of the suspects knew our destination. Ann didn't know; and besides, she thought you were the murderer."

toward the door.

Webb grabbed a chair and whirled around holding it in front of him just in time to catch the flying knife point in the chair bottom. Rus was on him before he could drop the chair, landing his fist on Webb's face.

His return blow landed on Rus's shoulder. Another crashing blow to the side of the head sent Webb to the floor, with Rus on top of him. They rolled and struggled for a minute; Rus broke free, stood up, and hurled a heavy bookend at Webb. Webb ducked it, recovered his balance, and smashed Rus on the jaw. Rus toppled over and landed with his back against the bottom of the chair through which three inches of the long knife blade protruded.

Webb stood over him, aghast. Rus looked up at him and grinned weakly. "Thanks, chum. That's the way I always wanted it to come — nice and quick."

Ann had arrived at a great decision. She had decided that she and Johnny Webb ought to get married. It really was for his own good... those "fishing laws". Lots of people, she explained, knew about her nocturnal visits to his apartment, about those charge accounts, and so on. They were beginning to talk. It really was for his own good.

She herded him back to his apartment, where she had thoughtfully arranged for his friend Judge Boyle to be waiting. Webb was still arguing while the Judge read the civil marriage ceremony.

"Listen, Puss, I'm no good. I'm a crook — a thieving politician — a cheap shyster — I'll steal, chisel, cheat —"

"I now pronounce you man and wife," droned the Judge. The Cupcake uttered a squeal of joy and threw her arms around her husband's neck.

"Oh, Johnny — I like you!"

THE END.

ONE MILLION Texans

One million Texans would have to find other means of livelihood if the Texas petroleum industry were to shut down tomorrow.

Steady employment, good working conditions, reasonable working hours and fair wages are the industry's responsibilities to its workers and their families—a million Texans in all.

It must maintain production, find and develop new fields, meet competitive markets for its products and pay its total expense bill of 750 million dollars a year, which includes its payrolls.

The Texas petroleum industry now has to pay 97 million dollars a year in taxes to Federal, State and local governments before it can consider wages and employment.

When expenses must be cut to satisfy increasing tax demands, employment suffers, and with it, the buying power that employment creates in our State.

RANNY WEEKS PRESENTS 1940'S "ICED QUEENS"

Meet 1940's "Iced Queens"—Miss Gertrude Hammack and Kay Matchett selected as "Miss Iced Coffee" and "Miss Iced Tea". The smiling gentleman congratulating the girls is none other than Ranny Weeks, nationally popular band leader, currently appearing at the Rice Top Deck, Houston. The occasion marks the third annual observance of the opening of the iced coffee and tea season.

The event is to be observed nationally thruout the coming weeks. Coffee growers of the leading coffee producing countries will send special samples of their coffees by air express to this country, where the coffee will be blended and the resulting brew served to government officials and to the mayors of leading United States coffee ports.

Iced coffee provides a potential outlet for that increased consumption. Many people who have never tasted the nation's favorite beverage (coffee) in iced form turn to other drinks in summer weather. Throughout the country, roasters, grocers, and restauranerus will bring iced coffee to their attention this summer, with the hope that hot weather consumption of the commodity will stay on the same level as during the winter. In the Southwest, this campaign will be aggressively supported by the Southwest's own Admiration Coffee and Tea.
