GRANDJURY COMES IN; REPORTS: TWENTY FELONIES, ONE MISDEMEANOR

District Court has received the report of the Grand Jury, whose labors have extended over a period of seven days, and Sheriff Brown, Deputy Liljedahl and the riding Bailiffs have been busy, "telling the boys". Here's the official Grand Jury report: Gatesville, Texas July 16, 1940.

To the Honorable R. B. Cross Judge of the 52nd Judicial District:

Now comes the Grand Jury for the July term A. D. 1840 of the District Court of Coryell County, Texas and respectfully submits the following report:

We have been in session 7 days during which time we have interviewed 139 witnesses. The results of our work are the return of 21 bills of indictment, 20 of which are felonies one of which is a misdemeanor.

We desire to thank our fellow workers for their effort in assisting us and the many courtesies shown us during our session. We appreciate the excellent charge with which our able District Judge, R. B. Cross started us upon our duties. We thank the Honorable H. W. Allen, District Attorney, for his willing and able assistance at all times during our session. We also appreciate the work of Mr. C. E. Alvis, Jr., our County Attorney, for his assistance during our session and we further wish to thank the Bailiffs, the Janitor and the officers of the court for the contributions to our work and comfort.

We feel that Coryell County is to be congratulated upon the fact that we were not called upon to investigate a single homicide case and upon the further fact that the proportion of law violators and the amount of crime seems very small in this county.

However in the interest of the future we feel that it would be worth while to mention some of the problems of law enforcement in this county in order that citizens themselves may take an active part in the support of their peace officers.

Due to the troubled international situation and our own national uncertainty the citizens of this county along with those of the entire United States have become nervous and more or less reflect in their thinking the uncertainties of the world at this time. Particularly the question of "Fifth Column Activities" has become one of frequent discussion and speculation. We urge that every citizen

COOPER COMPANY SUFFER ENORMOUS FIRE LOSS

Fire of unknown origin damaged Cooper Company, Inc., Tuesday morning between $10,000 and $15,000 including the water damage. Loss to the Cooper Company was confined to the stock, and the building which is owned by Mrs. Blanch Powell, was also damaged.

Both the building and stock were covered by insurance in part. J. W. Laird, manager of the company, said the stock was only about half covered by insurance, but that the damaged stock would be sold to a salvage company, and the actual loss would be small.

Firemen, Mr. Laird said, were hampered in their splendid work by not having enough gas masks, and since the fire started in a corner where lye and soap were stored, fumes from these made the firemen's work more difficult. Smoke caused about as much damage as the fire and water, Mr. Laird added.

REPUBLICANS TO HAVE CONVENTION HERE AUGUST 3

Saturday, August 3, at 6 p. m. is the time for the Republican Convention of Coryell County, which will be held in Gatesville according to information from John Hobin, County Chairman for the Republican Party.

The precinct conventions will be open to all qualified voters, regardless of previous political affiliations who believe in the principles of the Republican Party, and will support in good faith the nominees of the party.

The County Convention will send one delegate and one alternate to the Republican State Convention to be held in Beaumont on August 13, at which time a full state ticket will be nominated a platform adopted, and a Republican State Chairman and 62 members of the Republican State Executive Committee will be elected.

PURCHASE OF STOCK HERE AMOUNTS TO $6,015.25

Abe White, brother of Joe White, of Crystal City was in Gatesville Tuesday and bought $6,015.25 worth of stock, including white faced cattle from Brack Scott, other stock from Gatesville Commission Co., some from L. W. Scott and B. Basham, and also used Gatesville truckers to the extent of $315.00 to move his purchases to his home town.

Mr. White, it is reported, will also be back at other sales to make further purchases.

CALLED MEETING OF EX-SERVICE MEN FOR MONDAY NIGHT

O. L. Fowler, Commander of the Knox Curtis Post of The American Legion calls a meeting for Monday night the 22nd, at which time officers will be elected, and delegates will be named to the State Legion Convention at Laredo.

In addition, there will be other important business before the body, and all ex-service men and Legionnaires are urged to be present. Although we were not informed, we infer that the meeting will be at the usual place.

RODEO OPENED IN "MUHGREGOR" YESTERDAY

"MuhGregor" is all hopped up today, and was last night!

It marked the opening of their Annual Rodeo, and from the looks of their trade-trippers who "made" Gatesville Monday afternoon, they're going to have a grand time.

Here, were the Rangerettes, a five piece string orchestra, horsemen, and others.

There'll be shows today and Saturday, and you'll have a grand time in our good neighboring city, if you go.

CONGRESSMAN POAGE SPOKE TO 1,000 OR MORE TUES. NIGHT: CROWD CHEERS

One of the most enthusiastic crowds gathered to hear a candidate in years, cheered Congressman W. R. Poage here Tuesday night. The number present has been variously estimated as between 1,000 and 1,500 people.

D. W. Diseren's GHS band furnished the incidental music, and H. K. Jackson of Gatesville introduced the Congressman.

Congressman Poage opened his address with definite answers to allegations made in a circular which has been widely distributed here, but, his main speech was on National Defense, and what the present administration is doing in regard to defense, national problems, and other issues in which the general public is interested at this uncertain time.

Since Congressman Poage is to be back in Washington on Monday morning when Congress resumes sessions, he has been unable to see as many of the constituents as he would like to, and has speaking date, for the most part, one speech in each county of his district.

Congressman Poage expressed his deep appreciation for his many supporters and for the work they have been doing in his behalf while he has been in Washington working with Congress on the serious problems facing the country.

In addition to people from every section of the county, there were delegations from McLennan, Bell, Basque and other counties of the 11th Congressional district.

TUESDAY NIGHT'S THE NIGHT FOR WESTERN AUTO-NEWS RALLY HERE

Folks, it hasn't changed, and we are to have an old fashioned political rally right here in Gatesville, Tuesday evening, July 23, the first ALL-CANDIDATE rally held in Gatesville this year.

At this rally, a time limit is set, and Mr. Candidate, boil it down to FIVE or less minutes, because, there won't be any more for any one than for any other. And, as long as the expected crowd lasts, we'll page you boys, and you can speak your piece, or have your henchman do it for you.

Sound equipment will be furnished by W. T. Hix of the Western Auto Associate Store, with Sims at the controls. The ballot will be inverted, or rather, we'll begin at the bottom, with the one exception that we'll give the only lady candidate in Coryell County the first spot at the mike, and that will be Mrs. Lucille Preston, who is out for Public Weigher. After Mrs. Preston, we'll call the names from the bottom up.

There'll be plenty of room, and you can even hear the candidates if you park on the west side of the courthouse, because the sound equipment really carries.

Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public, of course, are to be the guests of the affair, and they'll be out to "look them over", so, Candidates, put on your best bib and tucker, because we're hoping it's going to be a swell party.

HIGHWAY 36 ASS'N CONVENTION TO BE SET

Also, all candidates wishing to make announcements, or their representatives are asked to be present, as well as the general public.

A large Saturday night crowd enjoyed the program and also Mr. Hardin's speech.

IVY EDMONDSON HAS STATEMENT FOR VOTERS

As the first Primary is drawing near, let me take this opportunity of expressing to you my appreciation for the many words of encouragement and untiring efforts in my race for County Treasurer.

As most of you know I served you as Tax Assessor in 1933 and 1934.

If the type of work I rendered to you as your County Official at that time met with your approval, then I will thank you for your vote and influence in my race for County Treasurer.

If elected I promise to every person that comes in to that office a courteous and efficient service to the very best of my ability.

In conclusion, I want to thank the people of Coryell County for their consideration and support in the past; and if I merit your support and consideration in my race for County Treasurer, I will certainly appreciate it.

Gratefully yours,
Ivy Edmondson,
Candidate for County Treasurer.

OUTLOOK FOR GOVERNOR

One week before some one million Texas Democrats go to the polls for the first primary, the governor's race shapes up along the following general outlines, based upon reports by reliable political experts in all parts of the State:

Since July 1, O'Daniel and Ferguson have lost heavily and Thompson, Hines and Sadler have gained commensurately.

Contrary to predictions by some writers, there most likely will be a second primary race with Thompson or Sadler the probable foe of O'Daniel. Hines and Ferguson loom as outside possibilities for the August primary.

O'Daniel's decision to take the stump in the last two weeks of the campaign, reversing a previous decision to remain in Austin following the one public appearance in Waco, resulted from the hammering Messrs. Thompson and Sadler have delivered against him from one end of the Lone Star State to the other.

The Governor's political advisers urged upon him the necessity of defending his record before the people, admitting that the attacks of Thompson and Sadler were having a telling effect among the electorate. Thousands of voters are believed to have deserted the chief executive during the last two weeks.

Jerry Sadler is the bitter personal and political foe of O'Daniel. Youthful, vigorous, caustic, he is one of the shrewdest politicians this State has produced in over one hundred years of hectic political history.

Two years ago he surprised the political experts by running a close second to the veteran incumbent C. V. Terrell in the first primary for Railroad Commissioner, nosing out the better known John Wood for the runoff. Sadler then proceeded to trounce Terrell in the face of opposition from Governor-elect O'Daniel.

He contends that there is only one issue in this campaign: Whether the old-age pensions are to be paid by a sales tax as favored by O'Daniel or by natural resources taxes as sponsored by Sadler.

Thompson, like Sadler a member of the Railroad Commission, was runner-up in the gubernatorial race in 1938, polling 230,000 votes. In that campaign, Thompson refrained from attacking O'Daniel, basing his campaign upon his platform and record in public office. The result is known.

This year Thompson has bitterly attacked O'Daniel for his alleged betrayal of promises to the old people of Texas and of his other campaign pledges.

Harry Hines has conducted his campaign along the conservative, businesslike lines which Thompson pursued in 1938. Hines has never mentioned O'Daniel by name in his campaign addresses. He has stressed his own platform while attacking the failure of the O'Daniel program.

Hines' candidacy received a decided impetus when Rep. Albert Derden, bitter anti-sales tax gubernatorial entrant withdrew in favor of the highway commissioner. Since then Hines has made rapid progress and is a distinct dark horse contender for the run-off position.

The Fergusons have adopted what might be described as a middle-of-the-road course in this campaign. Their talks have given no brief to O'Daniel and his public record, but have not been as effective as the verbal blasts unleashed by Sadler and Thompson.

While Hines, Thompson and Sadler are stumping the State from end to end, the Fergusons have campaigned rather leisurely in contrast to the whirlwind tour which characterized the earlier campaigns of this famous duo. The fact that both of the Fergusons are past the three-score age mark probably accounts for this.

There is a patent lack of enthusiasm among the Ferguson ranks. Although Mrs. Ferguson undoubtedly will draw a sizeable bloc of votes from O'Daniel, many of the old Ferguson cohorts are to be found supporting Sadler, O'Daniel and Thompson.

Sharing almost equal interest with the governor's race is the contest among eighteen candidates for the Railroad Commission, the post from which Lon A. Smith is retiring.

The contestants are Eugene T. Smith, Errol Holt, Bryan Patterson, Olan R. Van Zandt, William H. McDonald, Walton D. Hood, Pierce Brooks, John Paul Jones, O. O. Terrell, Charlie Langford, Jr., Larry Mills, Clyde E. Smith, Baker Saulsbury, John Pundt, Olin Culberson, John D. Copeland, Jr., Ross Hardin and Bailey Sheppard.

The most active and intensive campaigns are being waged by Van Zandt, McDonald, Brooks, Smith, Pundt, Culberson and Hardin.

Van Zandt, blind members of the State Senate from Tioga, was drafted by friends to run for the Railroad Commission. He predicted this week that he would receive 200,000 first primary votes. If this prediction is realized he will certainly be in the runoff.

McDonald of Eastland is attempting a political comeback after being ousted as commissioner of the general land office in 1938 by Bascom Giles.

Brooks of Dallas is no newcomer to the Texas political scene. He ran for governor in 1936 and for lieutenant governor in 1938, polling more than 400,000 votes in the second primary against Coke Stevenson. Brooks has stated that he will win in the first primary this year.

Smith of Woodville first entered State politics in 1934 when he ran for attorney general after serving (Continued on Page three) what a joy it was to again greet friends and loved ones and to tell of the experiences we had had, some of them happy and yet some sad. Soon it was the noon hour and the men began bringing baskets from all the cars while the women busied themselves spreading the long white table cloths on the table under those beautiful old trees. The old table fairly groaned under its load of delicious fried chicken, baked hams, meat loaf, salads, vegetables, pickles, hot rolls, cakes and pies, and iced tea.

The pastor of the near-by church offered thanks for this delightful occasions, and then several ladies very gracefully served their freinds and loved ones, and everyone had well-filled plates, yes, heaped up, of this delicious food. We all ate till we just could not eat any more, and yet it seemed when the food was put into the baskets again that it had not been disturbed very much, and there was plenty for the evening meal for those who stayed.

After the table had been cleared, the children romped and played and then went to the river to wade. This almost completed the day for them for soon a tired little one would slip into the circle and lay its little head in his or her mother's lap, and fall asleep.

All too soon the day passed. The evening shadows were falling and we realized it was time to return to our homes. As we said goodbye to the fifty or sixty guests present, we felt in our hearts that it was good to have been there, and we each returned to our homes, looking forward to another such day.

Those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Raby Davis and Thomas Lynn Mr. and Mrs. H. N. eight years as district attorney of Hardin, Tyler, Liberty and Chambers counties. He is back in the arena this year with considerably stronger support than in 1934.

Pundt of Dallas is making his second race for the Railroad Commission. He polled 400,000 votes against the incumbent, Lon Smith, in the 1934 race. An automobile accident a few weeks before the election kept him from completing his campaign.

Culberson of Austin, served seven years in the gas utilities division of the Railroad Commission and during that period saved consumers $500,000 annually as the result of sixteen major gas rate reduction cases he handled.

Hardin of Prairie Hill is one of the famous "legislative twins", his twin brother, Doss, being a member of the Texas Senate and one of his most active supporters. Hardin promises to turn "tax-eating, money-grabbing State employees" out of the Railroad Commission if he is elected.

WELDON BURNLEY CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE 94th DISTRICT

Including Hamilton and Coryell Counties
Asking for a Second Term

During the last session Weldon Burnley fought against a sales tax which would have compelled the people of Hamilton and Coryell counties to pay two hundred and forty-five thousand ($245,000) each year and would have cost the people of Texas forty-two million dollars ($42,000,000) annually, with a provision to limit the old age pension fund to twenty million ($20,000,000) each year.

Weldon Burnley fought for House Bill No. 340, which would have raised fourteen million dollars ($14,000,000). By adding this amount to the nine million dollars ($9,000,000) now coming from liquor, wine and beer, we would have a total of twenty-three million dollars ($23,000,000) for pensions and other social security.

This would have given us the best social security program in the United States and would have compelled the people of Hamilton and Coryell counties to pay only nine thousand ($9,000) annually. In other words, a general sales tax would have cost the taxpayers of Hamilton and Coryell counties $245,000 each year, while House Bill No. 340 would have cost them only $9,000 each year.

His fight for the raising of the 7,000-pound load limit is known throughout Texas; the records show that he led the fight for this bill.

Weldon Burnley will appreciate the opportunity to serve you in the next session of the legislature to continue the fight against unfair taxes, and to repeal the unreasonable 7,000-pound load limit law.

"Freedom-of-the-Press" Exponent Candidate For Criminal Appeals Judge

Hon. George E. Christian, Who Wrote Opinion Upholding Rights of Newsmen to Report Trial Testimony to Public, Seeks Promotion; 13 Years Experience As Commissioner.

By Texas Capital News Service.

AUSTIN. — Candidacy of Hon. George E. Christian of Burnet County for judge of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals recalls to newspaper men throughout the State the opinion written by Judge Christian as appeals court commissioner in 1935 that definitely set out the "freedom-of-the-press" in the matter of reporting and publishing for the public accurate news of testimony and proceedings in a trial court. A district judge presiding over a murder trial in Brazoria county had instructed three Houston newspaper reporters present not to publish the testimony in the case until after the trial of companion cases set for later date involving two others in the same alleged crime, lest it prejudice and thereby disqualify prospective jurors in the subsequent trials, possibly requiring a change of venue.

The newsmen, Harry McCormick of the Press, Frank L. White of the Post and Ed Rider of the Chronicle, communicated the court's instructions to their respective managing editors, Ed M. Pooley of the Press, Max Jacobs of the Post and George Cottingham of the Chronicle, who refused to refrain from publishing the testimony. The six men, after being duly cited and given a hearing, were adjudged to be guilty of contempt of court and assessed fines. The case attracted nationwide attention in the summer of 1935.

sible for the use of that privilege; and no law shall ever be passed curtailing the liberty of speech or of the press."

Commenting on the quoted section, the opinion reads:

"The language of this provision makes plain its purpose to prevent previous restraints upon publications. The privilege of writing one's views is accorded and protected, and at the same time accountability to the law is demanded for the abuse of the privilege."

And then it continues:

"It is generally conceded that liberty of the press means immunity from previous restraints or censorship."

It concludes:

"In the nature of things, the proceedings of public trials constitute news which newspapers have the right to publish in informing the public of current events."

A flood of newspaper editorials evidenced approbation of the Christian opinion.

Another Important Decision

Another important decision of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, where the opinion was prepared by Judge Christian, is the case against Herbert Tigner from Harris county, that holds in effect the right of the state legislature to enact anti-trust legislation for control of industrial interests who would combine in restraint of trade, but exempt agricultural and live stock producers, labor unions and taxpayers' groups. This opinion was sustained May 6, 1940, by the United States Supreme Court.

A native and resident of Burnet county, Texas; a student in Southwestern University, Georgetown, and a graduate in both arts and law from the University of Texas; an officer in the American Expeditionary Forces during World War I, George E. Christian has served as a district attorney, assistant attorney general, and as a member of the Board of Pardon advisers before his appointment as a judge of commission in aid to the Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas, July 1, 1927. A commissioner is appointed by the Court to sit in on consultations and write opinions, but has no vote. After a service of 13 years in this capacity, Judge Christian is now going before the court of public opinion to ask a promotion.

BAPTISTS MAKING GRATIFYING RESPONSE TO THE EMERGENCY APPEAL

Word has been received that the various churches throughout the south are making a gratifying response to the emergency appeal in behalf of the British missionaries now stranded in several nations of the world. Both Southern and Northern Baptists have set about to make love offerings for their relief, to the amount of 200,000.00 each, making a total of $400,000. to care for the 433 missionaries now in dire need because of the terrible war conditions in Europe which have shut off their support.

Gatesville Baptists will make their love offering Sunday. Every boy and girl and every man and woman in the congregation will be given an opportunity to make a sacrificial gift to this most worthy of causes. No Baptist will want to be left out of this undertaking.

Throughout the county the churches are urged to receive offerings this coming Sunday or immediately thereafter, for this cause. Every one should see to it that his offering is made in time to be sent with the amount this coming week which will go to the Foreign Mission Board office where it will be placed in the hands of proper parties for further distribution.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Webb of Waco were guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Cook Sunday afternoon.

LIBERTY CLUB

Grace Elam, Reporter
Cleanliness, neatness, and that business like precision that always distinguished their well ordered household was ever prevalent, as Mrs. Willie Wenzel and her charming daughter, Pauleen, welcomed the club members last Tuesday.

"Quilts will be softer, fluffier, and they will last long if they are quilted wide apart and both ways," explained the hostess, as she measured off three-inch squares on her quilt. The delicious refreshment was not necessary to remind the members of the hostesses' culinary ability. They are both famed in that art.

The threshers and busy season were blamed for the fact that the attendance was reduced to 44 women. An exchange of canning methods and recipes and plans for mattress-making were the program high points.

The recreational meeting was moved from Wednesday to Friday to accommodate the community-school mass meeting. It was well attended and much enjoyed. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Curtis Keller July 23.

TOM L. ROBINSON CANDIDATE FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Believes in and solicits your vote and influence on the following summarized principles:

That every citizen has the right to expect and look to the law to protect his rights, liberty, property and pursuit of happiness and, in our land, it is not necessary for anyone to rob, steal and burglarize and that vigorous prosecution will have a great tendency to stop such offenses and safeguard the rights of the citizenship.

His twenty-four years of actual practice and his past record has demonstrated that he is fully qualified to cope with and meet the best of lawyers in the court room in any case and that the people's rights can be and will be fully protected by him in every case without the extra expense and necessity of employing someone to assist him.

I believe in our young people and in using time, patience and consideration with them and their problems, in a fair and impartial prosecution of every case upon its own facts, without persecution, with courtesy and consideration to all alike.

I am deeply grateful to my many friends and the citizenship of the district for the kindness, courtesy and things done and said in my behalf during my campaign and believing that you endorse the above principles and that in this time of grave concern you will carefully consider the qualifications and experience of each candidate before casting your ballot. I earnestly solicit your vote and influence

Respectfully,

Candidate for District Attorney, 52nd Judicial District.

LEADING TEAMS IN NEWS BASEBALL CUP
RACE TO PLAY AT BLACKFOOT SUNDAY

The Blackfoot Indians and the Jonesboro Eagles, the two top-ranking teams in the News Baseball Cup Race will steal the sports spotlight of the week when they tangle on the Blackfoot diamond Sunday afternoon.

The Eagles by virtue of hard hustling and an occasional lucky break have only lost one game out of nine starts and that loss was chalked up against them early in the season by the Mound club. Blackfoot has lost only two games out of eleven starts and they'll be doing their best to pound out a victory against the Eagles Sunday. A victory for the Indians in the crucial game would put them on an even basis with the Eagles and these two teams have already cinched a spot in the league play-off. Baseball fans who like to see tough competition on the diamond are urged not to miss this game.

Red & White and Coca-Cola Win Tues.

Here's the results of the games played Tuesday night in the City Softball Race:

In the first game the Coca-Cola Bottlers downed the Gatesville Boosters by a count of 9-0 and in the second the Dixie Gas crew lost to the Red and White team by a score of 7-11.

Monday Night's Results

Monday night the CCC team the second highest team in the race ran up the highest count of the season when they romped on the NYA club by a score of 30-5. The CCC lads are finding their opponents to be very little trouble on their march to one of the leading positions in the league standing and they can be considered as a dangerous threat by the Coca-Cola Bottlers and the Arnold Electricians who were previously doped to have the race in the bag.

In the other contest played Monday night, Arnold's nosed out the Firemen 14-4.

Mound vs. Plainview
At Mound Sunday

The Plainview baseball nine that turned in a sterling performance against the Jonesboro crew last Sunday will go to Mound Sunday where they will endeavor to break into the win column by out-slugging the fast little Mound team. This feat may be difficult to put over however, as Mound is expected to be in high gear after defeating the Pidcoke Cokers at Pidcoke last Sunday and they'll be doubly hard to take on their own field.

Turnersville is billed to play Topsey, but since Topsey has with drawn from the race they have on scheduled game Sunday. Pidcoke will go to Coryell City Sunday, though there is some talk that Coryell City may forfeit the game, as they failed to appear against Mound last Sunday. If such be the case the Cokers will probably be notified by the Coryell City manager sometime between now and game time Sunday.

Coca-Cola to Play
Hamilton Wed. Nite

Peyton Morgan, manager of the Coca-Cola Bottlers has informed us that they will play a softball team from Hamilton on the local field next Wednesday night, July 24. The Bottlers recently went to Hamilton and played this visiting team and were victorious only after a hard struggle.

This particular game is sure to prove interesting to softball fans of this city and they are urged to be present in the stands next Wednesday night to lend their support to the home team.

be on the outlook for any activities by either groups or individuals, which are designed to undermine the principle of American government. If such information comes to hand you are urged to notify immediately the nearest office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the agency which has been delegated to handle these matters. However we urge the citizenry to retain its balance and avoid mass hysteria or illegal action in any case, and we should be sure that any group or individual is genuinely anti-American before we condemn them.

The Grand Jury has received reports from several sources of annoyance to individuals by persons who were overly insistent about peddling pamphlets to the residences of this county. The attention of the citizens is called to Article 479 of our Penal Code which reads as follows:

Peddlers refusing to leave. Any peddler or hawker of goods or merchandise who enter upon the premises owned or leased by another and willfully refuses to leave said premises after having been notified by the owner or possessor of said premises, or his agent, to leave the same, shall be fined not less than one nor more than twenty-five dollars.

If such persons refuse to leave after being requested to do so, action may be taken under the above statute.

It has come to the attention of the Grand Jury that certain carnivals and shows have visited Gatesville and Coryell County in the past and that they are likely to do so in the future. We were further informed that many or most of these shows seek to operate devices and games which fall clearly within the prohibition of our gambling laws and laws against lottery. These devices are to be condemned and it is hoped that our enforcement officers will enjoy the support of the entire citizenship in dealing with this problem.

In our investigation of sheep and livestock in this county we have found that it is difficult to trace suspected persons and vehicles in this age of rapid travel. We therefore suggest that all persons and especially stock men, take the license numbers and get a description of persons and vehicles that are unknown and which appear at an hour or under circumstances which make their presence suspicious. This information might prove invaluable in tracing a thief. It has also come to the attention of the Grand Jury that our County Courthouse is being well kept and that persons generally are showing more respect for the building and property of the county than they have shown in times past.

Having completed our session we respectfully ask that our report be filed and that we be discharged.

W. C. Edwards, Foreman
District Clerk Carl McClendon
did not give any information as to the cases turned in by the Grand Jury, and no Civil Cases are completed to report, since our last issue.

COUNTY'S OLDEST HOUSE STILL STANDS IN GATESVILLE ON WEST LEON STREET

(Specially written by Lore Marlin for the News)

R. H. Grant was born in Tennessee on February 22, 1808 and died on August 21, 1858. After leaving Tennessee, he came to Texas and settled at Fort Gates, near the Leon river, six miles southeast of the present site of Gatesville, in 1849. This fort was established in honor of General Gates, a Federal officer.

An election for county officers was ordered by the County Judge of Bell county, and was held at Fort Gates on the fifth day of May, 1854. In this election R. G. Grant was elected County Treasurer.

In July, 1854, the county seat was located at Gatesville. The county site was donated by R. G. Grant, who had purchased several thousand acres of land for which he gave twenty-five cents per acre. He donated the streets and square of Gatesville.

Mr. Grant erected a saw mill, a grist mill and a distillery house, operating them by water power with a brush dam built across the Leon River about a mile from the town. Mr. Grant, who owned the town lots had a public sale of lots in the month of July, 1854, which was attended by a large crowd, many of them from Waco, Belton and Marlin, and Mr. Grant, with his usual open hear, entertained the crowd and stimulated the bidding by placing a barrel of pure corn whiskey, with the head knocked out, and tin cups in the barrel. Benches were provided in the center of the public square, and everyone was invited to help themselves to the whiskey, sugar and water, straight or mixed to suit their tastes. The barrel sat there all day, free to all, and everybody drank as much as he wanted but there was not a single drunk man on the ground.

When Mr. Grant came to Gatesville in 1854, he erected a grocery store and he not only sold groceries but dry goods and other merchandise. He stayed in this field of work until his death, making a success of this business.

During his spare time, he sawed the wood to eight log houses which he built, and also sawed the wood to the old jail house which is still standing, and is located about two miles northeast of Gatesville.

As for this "oldest house", it has had sheds built on the south and north ends. It was a two story house, and the top, as you'll notice from the picture has fallen in. Regardless of the age of the house, the oak lumber and iron nails with which it was built are still in good condition.

Or Any Texaco Station

with Henry Stephenson • Directed by Richard Wallace • Produced by DAVID O. SELZNICK • Released thru United Artists

SYNOPSIS: Miss Ellen Fortune's four new friends, society hoboes, whom she had invited as her house guests after they rescued her from a train wreck, were "Sahib" Carleton, who pretended to have served with the Bengal Lancers, and his charming family, Mrs. Marmy Carleton, George-Anne and Richard. Established in Miss Fortune's home in London, George-Anne insisted they keep up appearances in hopes of inheriting Miss Fortune's fortune. George-Anne's suitor, Duncan MacCrae, found a job for the Sahib — his first in years — and immediately afterward, Richard went to work in an office managed by Miss Leslie Saunders, with whom he formed a romantic attachment. Shortly afterward, Duncan brought Richard home drunk. George-Anne was furious at Duncan, but Miss Fortune only remarked that "love never comes twice."

Chapter Five

Richard's groans next morning awoke Miss Fortune. She slipped in to see if she could help him.
"My head's on wrong," he lamented. "I must have eaten some-

"Drunk? Are you mad?"
"Not at all. Miss Ellen drinks like a fish...Started when a child...Didn't you know?"
George-Anne was still confused when Marmy and Miss Fortune arrived. Richard thrust the puppy into Miss Fortune's arms, and the old lady cuddled it fondly. On her face was a rapturous smile, and there were tears in her eyes. Richard stood behind her with a broad smile, and winked at George-Anne. George-Anne helped Miss Fortune upstairs to bed.
"Now that you're doing so well, I'm frightened that you'll want to go away and make a home of your own," the old lady said.
"Had you rather we didn't go?"
"Oh, my dear, if I only knew you'd be with me when — I'd never be afraid again."
"We'll stay with you," George-Anne replied, "as long as you want us."
Then she crossed the hall to Marmy's room.
"Did you get the old lady to bed, darling?"
"Yes — and she made me promise we'd never leave her."
Marmy thought that was wonderful, but George-Anne pointed out they weren't in the old lady's will yet, and that was what counted. She then shocked Marmy by suggesting they give up the whole idea. But her mother didn't under-

CARD OF THANKS

We want to thank all who helped to comfort us in the loss of our dear wife and mother. We assure you your kindness shall never be forgotten. The floral offering, the food you prepared, and the many kind words spoken, we cherish all in our memory and pray you have such friends when sadness comes your way.

thing —
"I know just how you feel — I've been intoxicated, too."
Richard snapped his eyes open at this, although the effort cost him a pang.
"YOU have?"
"It was a long time ago...Somebody gave me a glass of punch by mistake...The trees started going round and round...There was a boy there — John Dickey...He let me hold his hand so I wouldn't fall off the earth."
"Darn decent of him."
"He had a little white dog with him — with a black spot like an enormous eyebrow over one eye."
"Sounds like a nice dog."
"Yes, John Dickey promised me one of her puppies, but there weren't any. Does your head feel better?"
"A little. You won't think — badly of me?"
Miss Fortune patted Richard, and covered him up. Certainly she didn't think badly of him! He was only being gay — happy — young!
A few days later, Richard took Leslie to the country for a bicycle ride. Stopping at a dog fancier's, Richard, after some chaffering, purchased a pup with a black eyebrow, exactly like the one described by Miss Fortune.
Leslie asked why the dog had to be just so, and Richard told her he was trying to please Miss Fortune, who, he hoped, would leave the Carletons her fortune. Leslie was obviously shocked. Richard, pedaling home after her, was silent and thoughtful.
Duncan MacCrae called at Miss Fortune's home to tell her he was going to India within the week. George-Anne missed him, and didn't feel so happy. She sat mournful alone, until a small dog ran into the room and jumped into her lap.
Richard came after, talking fast.
"Her name's Jane of Aylesbury. I bought her for Miss Ellen. She saw a little white dog once when she was drunk —" stand, and said:

"We'll get the old lady yet!"
To celebrate the Carleton's decision to stay with her, Miss Fortune decided to throw them a party. As a surprise to George-Anne she invited Duncan, and Richard invited Leslie.
Meanwhile Attorney Anstruther had returned from his trip to Paris, and informed Miss Fortune her guests were crooks.
"Colonel Carleton is not even a colonel," he said. "He is nothing but a common adventurer — a card sharp. He and his family are well known on the continent as fortune hunters. They were last heard of when the son nearly took in a wealthy American girl."
There were tears in Miss Fortune's eyes.
"And George-Anne?"
"All of them live by gaining people's trust and then cheating them — and they've always done it."
Miss Fortune looked into the distance.
"How sad," she remarked. Anstruther was startled.
"Sad?"
"That such fine people could have been reduced to such extremes. How cruel life must have been to them!"
"But they aren't fine people, Miss Fortune. They're little better than criminals. Who knows what plans they may have against you? You must get rid of them. They will take everything you have — your house, your money, everything."
"That would be small payment for what they've done for me. They have taught me to give complete and unquestioning faith to the people I love."
When Mr. Anstruther had gone, Miss Fortune told George-Anne of the new will by which all of the old lady's estate was to be left to the Carleton family.

America's first Amateur Golf Championship was played at Newport, R. I., October, 1895. Richard Peters, one of the entrants, was serious when he used a billiard cue on the greens to make all his putts. His grotesque position caused much laughter among his opponents, however.

In 1828 gas fuel was a luxury for the few, and the "gas inspector" saw to it that lights didn't burn longer than one's contract allowed. There's an abundance of natural gas today, and it is the accepted fuel in millions of American homes for cooking, water heating, house heating and refrigeration.

and how is it used in making beer and ale?

BARLEY

Answer: Brewers' malt is barley that has had its starches modified. The barley is first permitted to "sprout" by the addition of moisture. At the right instant, the growth is checked by heat and the sprouts are removed.

What remains is malt... the essential base of all good beer and ale.

Every step in the brewing of good beer and ale has been taught by centuries of experience. Today, amazingly expert brewers — using only the purest ingredients — make beer and ale the mild, tasty, wholesome beverages that they are.

Now the brewing industry is taking action to keep the retailing of beer as wholesome as beer itself. A plan to eliminate abuses is already in effect in a number of states. It is being extended. Ask us for an interesting free booklet.

POLITICS vs. AMERICANISM

The political campaign to choose the next President of the United States will get underway officially following the Democratic National Convention at Chicago this week. In the pyrotechnics which will characterize this campaign lie a real danger to the security of this country at a time when unity and harmony in mind and in spirit among all factions of the population are essential.

Americans tend to forget their Americanism when they become embroiled in politics. Personalities, issues, and platforms take precedence over national welfare, consciously or otherwise, at such times Presidential campaigns in the United States are the nearest approach to unarmed civil war that one can imagine.

In the campaign which is now at hand Americans will face a test which will prove conclusively whether they have the necessary restraint, tolerance, common sense and simple patriotism which are essential to the future preservation of our democratic system of government.

Let us analyze the presidential campaign and on the basis of the analysis evaluate the emotions which may rightly be aroused among the people by the Presidential campaign without endangering the internal solidarity of the republic.

It may be assumed, first, that both of the presidential candidates will be loyal Americans to whom the preservation of our way of life and our form of government are unchallengeable.

Mr. Willkie and Mr. Roosevelt have agreed substantially upon the foreign policy which the United States should pursue during the ensuing four years. (If Mr. Roosevelt is not the Democratic candidate, it is a practical surety that the nominee will adhere to the administration's foreign policy.)

This means that the vital questions of national defense and foreign policy will not be the chief issues of the campaign as they would have been if the Republicans had nominated Taft, Dewey or Vandenberg. Hence there should be no public schism over problems of such acute national concern.

Therefore, it is a certainty that the domestic program of the new deal administration will be the debatable ground upon which the campaign will be predicated. And, unfortunately, no more controversial field calculated to arouse the passions of the American people could be found.

It is in the discussions about the new deal program, discussions which will involve frontal attacks by the Republicans, defensive tactics by the Democrats, that the restraint, tolerance, common sense and simple patriotism mentioned heretofore in this article will be needed if passions are not to be aroused which would impair our defense efforts for years to come.

If each and every voter would exercise the four human qualities mentioned, this campaign would prove a boon to the country rather than a curse, for it would place the electorate's stamp of approval upon the administration which is to guide our destinies through four of the most critical years in the history of this republic.

Restraint and tolerance as applied to politics imply granting the other fellow a right to his own opinions. He may differ from you in his estimates of personalities or issues, but his right to differ constitutes one of the essences of democracy.

If you would deny to your neighbor his right to a personal opinion, in so doing you would take the greatest step toward depriving yourself of that selfsame right.

In this country there has been too much of these attitudes: "Roosevelt is always right and if you are against him you are a Tory, a reactionary and a tool of the big interests," or "Roosevelt is always wrong and if you are for him you are a socialist, a radical and a menace to the safety of the country."

The fervency and blind allegiance of Roosevelt supporters often has blinded them to the sincerity of the opposition, equally often has made them intolerant of criticism and of alternative proposals to those of the administration.

Hatred of many for Roosevelt has caused them to overlook his humanitarian ideals, his forward-looking social program.

Is this Americanism? This "I'm always right, you're always wrong" philosophy? Rather the antithesis of all that democracy of the American pattern stands for.

Already it is apparent that many Democrats in the South and elsewhere are going to support Wendell Willkie for the presidency, regardless of whom the Democrats nominate. Should these people in solid Democratic states be branded with epithets which characterized the carpet-baggers?

We should remember that they are first and foremost Americans, exercising their sovereign and inalienable right under our constitutional system of government to vote for whom they please.

If they are cajoled by public opinion, by carping and intolerant criticism of a majority, into voting against their conscience, they are then being subjected to pressure action which has characterized the entire political history of Germany National Socialism.

Common sense and simple patriotism will prevent any such attitude in the South or elsewhere.

Likewise, if a man favors the re-election of Franklin D. Roosevelt when you believe that a third term would destroy the American form of government, you have no right to challenge that man's patriotism. Only his judgement.

Argument is good for the soul. And it is the benison of democracy. But intolerance is not and never will be conducive to the proper functioning of democratic forms of government.

Let's be Americans first and foremost in this campaign. And give due credit to the patriotism of those who differ from us. That's a splendid way to preserve Americanism!
