

CORPORAL BOND OF COMPANY F, 143rd INFANTRY, REPORTS FROM "LOCATION"

Corporal Bond, writes to the NEWS as follows from "Somewhere in Louisiana."

August 17, 1940

Coryell County News
Gatesville, Texas

Dear Editor:

On account of the war games of the Third Army Maneuvers in Louisiana.

Our outfit, Company F, 143rd

Infantry left Base Camp at Cravens, La., yesterday, August 18, at 6:45 a. m. and marched to the bivouac area here, 8 miles from the Base. The men were all tired and hot; they pitched tents at about 11 a. m. and ate dinner at 1:30. They were permitted to rest until 5:46 p. m. at which time the Company Commander got orders to strike tents and be on the road, ready to move out via trucks in 20 minutes. The men struck tents, rolled their packs, ate supper and pulled out on time—a record I'd say because the other companies near us did not have time to eat. Their mission was to move to Cravens and form outpost to protect the rail head there. Two runners, the supply sergeant, the kitchen force, and I were left in the bivouac area to keep up communications with battalion and regimental headquarters and also to prepare food for men on the front. Brush and grass has been thrown up around our tents and kitchen area to conceal them from enemy planes.

We heard from our company this morning when two men were brought in by the supply truck. These men had suffered from a severe "blitzkrieg" from our worst enemy—"poison oak". The men reported that they had been on patrol duty all night, but had not sighted an enemy. They did report that at daybreak, two negroes came running up the road to their post, almost out of breath, with a heroic grin on their faces, and reported that their whole company had been captured by the enemy (blues). They were armed with a pistol, and thought they had really accomplished something by being the only two out of the whole company that had escaped.

Our runners from Battalion Headquarters came by a few minutes ago and reported that our company had been captured. If that is true they will be tagged white and put out of action until tomorrow—I'm glad I'm at company headquarters—near the kitchen.

Our planes have flown over our bivouac area all day to protect it from observation by enemy planes that will be out on reconnaissance missions.

A squadron of our heavy bomber just came over, and as they flew out of sight we could hear the rattle of machine guns and the rumble of big guns in action, probably they were firing on the bombers.

Sunday morning. Two of our men that have been sick in quarters at the Base Camp came in this morning after having been released from quarters, and related a race adventure in their trip over. They were pursued by enemy patrol cars, three of them, with machine guns mounted. The truck the boys were in left the road and the men took to cover in the road ditch. The enemy was so set on taking the truck that they forgot to observe their position and about that instant one of our machine gun nests, planted by the road, opened fire on the patrol cars and wiped them out.

By-the-way, we got word this morning that the F Company that got captured was of the 11th Engineers and not our outfit at all.

I think I'll take a "snooze" and be ready for that turkey we have for dinner. We can't tell, but we may have to move out of here any minute, because the enemy is trying to encircle us and crush the whole "Red" force—if this is accomplished by the "Blues" no telling where we will end up. The games are supposed to be over the 20th, and we are to leave for our home station on the 23rd. I'll be glad to get back too; creek baths are good, but I know of better ones.

Yours sincerely,
CORPORAL BOND

P. S. I'm crouched under a "pup" tent writing this—maybe it is legible. You probably won't get this until the games are over, but I thought maybe a first hand account by a home town boy might be worth sending to you.

Note: We'll admit—and, we've been wondering if anyone from Coryell County was in the TNG—but we didn't know. Of course, we are glad to get this "in the flesh" report from Corporal Bond, and may be he can give us some more sidelights on the Texas National Guard maneuvers when he returns home. We hope so.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hanes, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Maxwell and Ermon, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Rogers, Bill Murray, and Mr. and Mrs. Buel Graham have been fishing at Buchanan Dam and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson of Arnett, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Chit-wood Sr., of Purlmela were visitors with Joe Chitwood at Paris over the week end.

Mrs. C. P. Davis of Waco is visiting her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Davis. Mr. Russell Davis is with Wm. Cameron Co., of Gatesville.

Bonnie Joe Malone and Wilson Brazzil Wed

Miss Bonnie Joe Malone, daughter of Mrs. J. H. Malone of this city, became the bride of Wilson Brazzil, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brazzil of Flat, at the home of the Rev. E. D. Shelton, pastor of the Church of Christ, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The Rev. Shelton performed the single ring ceremony.

Miss Fay Jones and Don Adams were the couple's only attendants. The bride wore a lovely navy frock with white trim. Her accessories were black, and she wore a shoulder corsage of sweetheart roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Corsicana and other points in East Texas.

Mrs. Brazzil is a graduate of Flat High School and has been employed with the Coryell County News the past three years, having been Sports Editor the past year.

After September 1, the couple will be at home in Madisonville, Texas, where the bridegroom will be linotype operator for the Madisonville Meteor.

Three Members of Young Set Entertain Friends

Miss Mildred Kirkpatrick, Twiford and Johnny Schloeman were hostess and hosts to a group of the young set when they entertained with a treasure hunt Thursday evening.

Assembling at the Kirkpatrick home, the guests were given clues which directed them to the hidden treasure. Two couples, Miss Jane McCown, Tom Post Thomson, Miss Nettie Jane Franks and Billy Clay McClellan, arrived at the McClellan farm first and found the treasure. After the other guests had arrived, the group enjoyed a picnic supper.

Sharing the compliment were: Misses Maxine Lovejoy, Helen Johnson, Jane McCown, Betty Jane Jones, Suzanne Sadler, Martha Hamilton of Mt. Pleasant, Nettie Jane Franks, Patsy Lovejoy, Barbara Baize, Vivian McKelvy, Wanda Laxon, Mildred Kirkpatrick, and Messrs. Charles Francis Caruth, James Reid Powell, Raymond Maxwell, Jimmy Dick Thomas, Bob Cross, Tom Post Thomson, Harry Straw, T. L. ## Stewart-McIver Nuptials Performed in Fort Worth

In a ceremony witnessed only by members of the families and a few close friends, Miss Bertha Lillian Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stewart of this city became the bride of Quentin Altamont (Pete) McIver at the Central Methodist Church in Fort Worth at 12 o'clock noon Saturday. The Rev. Marcus M. Chunn, pastor of the Fort Worth church and former pastor of the Methodist church here, performed the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely beige sheer wool crepe ensemble with brown accessories. Her bridal bouquet was of brown orchids and stephanotis. Miss Charlene Chandler of Hamilton, maid-of-honor, was attired in a black frock with matching accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of red roses.

Jefferson Gregory of McAllen served as best-man.

Mrs. Jack Patterson of Arlington, cousin of the bride, played a prelude of organ music preceding the ceremony and included the following selections, "Ave Maria", Chopin's "Nocturne in E Major", Tchaikovsky's "Andante", "On Wings of Song" by Mendelsohn, and "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice". She also played the traditional wedding marches, and played softly "Liebstraum" during the ceremony.

After the ceremony the couple left for a short honeymoon trip to South Texas, after which they will be at home in Gatesville.

Mrs. McIver, a graduate of Gatesville High School, has attended The University of Texas the past three years. She was a member of Delta Gamma sorority.

Mr. McIver, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. McIver of Nacogdoches, attended Stephen F. Austin Teachers College in Nacogdoches, and is employed by the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company.

Flat

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Humphries and daughter, Gilda, returned Friday from a trip to Shreveport and

Hot Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mohrmann returned this week from a trip to the Rio Grande Valley and Old Mexico.

Rev. McHenry Seal filled his regular appointment at the Baptist Church Sunday.

Rev. Hogg is still away from Flat holding meetings on his charge in this community.

It won't be long until the cotton in this community will begin opening and then there will be some activity—things will wake up. Indications at present point to a fairly good crop in this section.

Miss Glee Clawson of Flat has recently been elected to a position in the school at Moffat.

Albert Dickie, who underwent a nose operation in Waco last week, is recovering satisfactorily at his home in this city.

SYNOPSIS
After killing the lion injured by de Courland, Logan returns to the clearing, his arm dangling lifelessly and blood soaking his jacket. Although suffering, he leads the party back to the compound, where his wound is dressed. He accuses de Courland of purposely missing the kill, making it necessary for Logan to go in after the lion and risking his life, which de Courland does not deny. Logan refuses to go on with the trip and returns to M'Pola by plane, leaving Linda and de Courland to return by the river boat. At the Simba Cafe, when questioned by McPhail as to the cause of his injury, Logan refuses to talk about it.

CHAPTER X
THE trip from the encampment to M'Pola was neither as rapid nor as tranquil for Baron Charles de Courland and Linda Stewart, his beautiful blonde guest, as it had been for Jim Logan, the aviator-hunter. When the old river boat was moored for the night at one of the stops, the baron broke a growing, silent tension with a solicitous:

"You're not eating, darling."

"I'm not hungry," the girl replied. She rose. "You'll excuse me. I'm going to bed."

De Courland got to his feet, came after her, snapping his fingers. He took her arm, swung her around.

"Linda!" He looked at her for a moment as if groping for words. "See here! Things have been getting worse—we're getting colder and colder toward each other—"

"Please don't snap your fingers at me!" Her rebuke was nervous.

"I'm sorry. I did not think."

"What do you want?" She leaned wearily against the floor.

"Just to tell you how glad I am we'll be back on the yacht tomorrow. I'm sorry now I brought you on this—"

"I'm not. In one way, Charles, I'm glad I came."

"We'll go to Madrid—the Azores. You can chart your own course—"

"I'm not going back with you, Charles." Linda spoke very quietly. De Courland tried to give her a disarming smile.

"But of course you are, my dear. You must be absurd. We'll be back again where we were—"

"We'll never be back where we were!" Linda contradicted fiercely. "We can't be. We're not the same people we were! Something's happened—to both of us. Because of us, Happy is dead. Because of us, Jim might have been. Don't you realize you might—"

"I realize you've been very foolish! This fellow Logan has—"

"He has nothing to do with this, Charles! This is between you and me—"

"I am not a child, Linda. When you came back from that night, Linda, I suspected that you were in love with him. When I shot that lion, I proved it. I watched your face when he went into that brush—"

Linda's eyes widened as she stared at him, as she realized what he was saying. "Then you did it deliberately?"

"I wanted to know how things stood between you. I found out."

"And he might have been killed!" "He is an experienced hunter. His safety was his concern. My concern was with what I'd discovered about you."

"How brilliant you were, Charles! You found out. But you did more than that. You found out for me, too. I didn't know I was in love with him. But when he went in atter that lion my heart went with him."

He took her in his arms. She yielded to his embrace, returned his kiss.

"That is very touching, Linda. But you are not a woman for whom love will be enough."

"That's the woman I was, Charles—when we started out."

"You will feel the same when we start back. My yacht is where you belong. My life—"

"Stop, Charles. I'm not going back. Good night!"

She turned, left him. They did not see each other again until the boat docked at M'Pola. Linda brushed by him to go to the railing in the hope of catching sight of Logan. But he didn't appear. She was trying to choke back the bitterness which engulfed her when she found McPhail.

"Tell me," she demanded, "is he all right?"

"Well, no," McPhail drawled, "he might be at the cafe and again he might be—"

"Then he's all right!"
"—he might be, in fact he is in the hammock at me store."

Linda, excited by the information she sought, hurried to the store, found Logan just as McPhail had promised. Jim greeted her easily, told her his arm was much better. Then he rose, excused himself, saying that he had to attend to his stores, which were still on the river boat. He turned away abruptly, not heeding her cry that he stay.

He walked swiftly to the boat. She followed him. As he found his stores and began getting them ready for his boys to unload, he found her standing beside him.

"What is this—hide and seek?" he demanded.

"You've got to listen to me, Jim. I'm not going back with him."

Logan continued to look at her, said nothing.

"Didn't you hear?" she asked.

"I heard. I'm sorry your plans fell through. I did my part."

"I told him that I tried him how I tried to make him jealous. I told him that it was all my fault. I supposed that you have to be cruel—"

"I try not to be—"

"I don't mean that. I only want to ask you to forgive me, Jim."

"There's nothing to forgive. We're even."

"Jim—don't you realize? I'm trying to start all over again. It's all I have—a clear conscience, and knowing that nobody hates me, and that I've never hurt anyone, or if I have they've forgiven me."

Logan stared at her for a moment. He moved toward her, checked himself. His lips tightened.

"All right," he said, tersely. "You're forgiven. Good luck."

Linda looked into his eyes.

"Very well." She turned, left him. He looked after her. Then, after a moment, he hurried after her. He took her arm, swung her around.

"I'm—beginning to believe you," he said, slowly. "I'm beginning to understand. I think that you know, now, what I meant when I told you about the Chinese woman who died by her husband."

He took her in his arms. She yielded to his embrace, returned his kiss. When they had separated, he said:

"It is I who need to be forgiven for not realizing sooner."

She smiled up at him.

"The witch doctor was right, Jim. I've got my own heart's desire."

WHY TROT TO WACO?

An important item in a lady's wardrobe is hose. Hose can either make or ruin a costume, so when buying hose, be sure that they are the correct shade and fit the foot perfectly. At JOE HANNA'S can be seen the famous Mojud hosiery—the same beautiful stockings you've seen advertised in Life and other magazines. Glamorous Mojuds, the favorites of so many women, are not at new sharply lowered prices. They come in the shades keyed to the smart new costumes and offer wide choice for individuality. Buy Mojud, the dependable hosiery.

The gift department is the place many a person inspects every day. Whether it be for the bride or for the new born babe, one can find a wide variety of gifts at ALVIS-GARNER COMPANY. For the bride one can find attractive pillow cases with "Mr." and "Mrs." embroidered on each one of the set, or "His" and "Hers", or "Guest" on another set. These come in different designs and colors as do the luncheon sets, which also make nice gifts. Other suggestions are madeira style pillow cases and sheets to match or madeira cloths and napkins, Cannon towel and cloth sets, and linen sheets. If the gift is for a youngster, one can choose between the lovely chenille bedspreads, woolen blankets, and dainty dresses and gowns. Any of these gifts would be appreciated.

Chenille robes have proved to be so popular that they are being featured again this season. DAVIDSON BROS. has just received a new shipment of these in all the wanted colors, white, rose, aqua, and copen blue, in the full skirted, wrap-around style—the rows around the bottom sewed cross-ways to give the garment that certain "swing". Not only college girls would like them, but they would be welcomed by any other smart woman. Along with the robes came a large shipment of cotton washdresses in all the exciting styles. They can be worn around the house or for dress-up. When you see them, you will purchase several.

This, the Paris Fashion shoe, is only one of the famous lines of shoes sold at LEAIRD'S DEPARTMENT STORE. Other smart shoes, Connie, Natural Poise, and Rhythm Step, are being shown at this store in the new "window" wedge, "Yankee Clipper" pump, key heel slip-on pump, and sandal in the new fall colors. All these are widely advertised in the nation's leading magazines, and are all endorsed by Good Housekeeping. Paris Fashion Shoes, shown in Photoplay, are tops in Hollywood among the stars, and are 5th Avenue styles at popular prices. Truly they are the smart young woman's way to fashion.

American Symbol prints are the latest creation in Marcy Lee frocks, handled exclusively in this city by PAINTER'S. They are conceived and dedicated to the glorification of American industry. Because American industries are so vital a part of the American scene and because their motifs and trademarks are so distinctive and beautifully styled, American symbol prints are the perfect complement to the American woman's wardrobe. Two of these frocks, the peanut man print, and the Pontiac print, can be seen in these low priced but high quality frocks at this store. They are shown in dark blue, attractively styled.

1940 SIX-MAN FOOTBALL SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED: CLUBS START WORK SOON

It won't be long until Coryell County's Six-man grid clubs will swing into action. Most of the teams will have to wait until school starts before they can begin practice, but they will make up for lost time when they do. The indications are that teams will be more evenly matched this year than was the case last season. At present Copperas Cove and Oglesby appear to be strong with Turnersville due to be very dangerous. Turnersville won the league last year. Ireland, Flat and Pearl lost many of their mainstays but will all bear watching. Pottsville is the league's new member, but nothing at all is known about their material or prospects.

Some of the outstanding players of last year who will return and are liable to deal someone lots of misery are Huckabee of Turnersville, Edwards of Ireland, Faubian of Copperas Cove, Moseley of Pearl, Blackshear of Flat and Griffin and McKelvin of Oglesby.

The teams swing into league competition a bit later this year than they did last year, but most of the teams have warmup games prior to the league season. Flat's Yellowjackets will open with Reagan of Falls County on September 27, and word has come that Oglesby and Turnersville also have warmup games but the opponents are not known.

New Coaches in the league this year are Coach O'Neal at Pearl and Coach Smith of Ireland.

Nipponese would not engage in any attack upon this country if our government ceased opposing them in Asia.

The entire question devolves to this simple formula: Are our leaders to be concerned with moral actions taking place 9,000 miles away and of no direct concern to the American people or with the safety of this country.

FALL CHECK UP OF TIRES URGED BY LOCAL DEALER

For years it has been the custom of many a motorist looking toward Fall driving to use the period just preceding Labor Day to get his car ready for bad weather, since vacations for the most part are over and with them the long Summer drives have ended. Looking to his car's battery, cables, ignition system and especially to tires, has become an annual routine.

Coupled with this is the fact that tire engineers have proved through road and laboratory tests and observations, over a period of years that when new tires are applied to automobiles in cool weather, their owners gain as much as 20 per cent longer wear from them, than would be the case were the tires applied in hot weather. Besides this, new tire treads are sharp and clean cut, providing necessary protection against skidding on wet pavements prevalent in Autumn.

"Wet weather is just ahead, you know, and slippery roads demand tires that will stop, for safety's sake. Skids are the first cause of a majority of accidents.

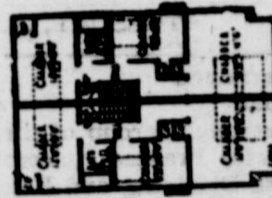

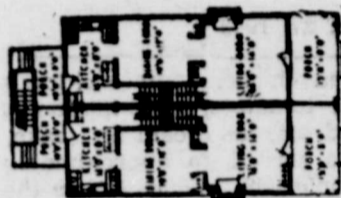

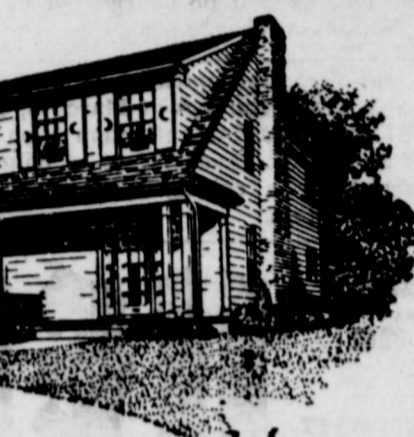

"We are interested in putting good tires on cars now, when they can be seasoned well, so in cool weather they will provide up to 20 per cent more milage than if they had been applied during the extremely hot weather.

"We are ready and willing to make inspections of anyone's tires to be sure they are highway safe.

LEGALISM OR HUMANISM

Adequate national defense and a practical foreign policy supplement one another in insuring the safety of any nation. The United States is no exception.

The defense program now underway and bulwarked by over ten billions of dollars of congressional appropriations, is designed to afford this nation an army, air force and navy capable of defending not only the continental limits of the United States but also the entire western hemisphere.

But to assume that a paper defense program which will not become a reality for two years in the case of the army and for six years in the case of the navy can insure this country against attack during the next 24 months is to place the American people in jeopardy of falling as did the French people.

In the intermediate period which must elapse between this time of great national peril and the completion of our armament program, the United States must adopt a foreign policy designed to protect the outposts upon which our defense rests, either in the Atlantic or in the Pacific. This our government has not done.

The result is that our navy is now needed in both oceans and we have only a one-ocean navy. This situation has arisen because the Washington government has been playing a gigantic game of bluff with Japan over a period of seven years.

Japan, fearful of the expansionist policies of Soviet Russia on the west and uncertain of the attitude of the United States on the east, has been driven into the arms of Hitler and Mussolini. Playing the game of the totalitarian dictators involves keeping this country concerned with developments in the Far East while Europe is mopped up for the Fascists. If and when that happens the United States will be the subject of the greatest squeeze play in world history.

While that is a possibility of the future, the need of the moment is to make peace in the Pacific in order to prepare the best possible defense for the Atlantic. But there can be no definite assurance of peace so long as Mr. Roosevelt consistently knocks the chips from the Japanese shoulder.

If this country had the army which we shall have in two years and the navy which we shall have in six years, the foreign policy of the Roosevelt administration would make sense even if it challenged the dictators more directly than at present. But we are not prepared to fight a war in our own hemisphere, even in defense of our own shores, at the present and to risk commitments and the possibility of war in the Pacific is the most foolhardy action this government has taken in the realm of foreign affairs.

Morally and legally, our government is right in challenging Japan. But I am doubtful that the American people are prepared to go to war over the legality of Japan's foreign policy since 1931, including the unprovoked undeclared war against China.

The defeat of Britain within the next month of six weeks is a definite possibility. If Britain fell, all or part of her fleet might fall into the hands of the Nazis. With additions from the French, Italian and German navies, Hitler would hold naval supremacy over the United States in tonnage afloat and would have in his possession shipbuilding facilities which exceed our own by six times. Thus a concerted attack by the totalitarian navies on the east and the Japanese navy on the west would find the United States totally unprepared to defend itself.

But Japanese foreign policy is notably pragmatic, and there is every reason to believe that the

COACH MADISON PRUITT ASKS PIGSKIN TRAINEES TO REPORT WED. AND THURS.

Coach Madison Pruitt asks boys who will enter the Football Training Camp to call by the gym, Wednesday or Thursday of this week so that he might measure each boy for equipment and have things in readiness for the first practice session, Monday morning, September 2.

So far, these have indicated they'll be in the camp, and Coach Pruitt asks also, that if any can't report Sunday night, advise him.

Those to be out now, are: Sydow, Anderson, Sexton, Gribble, Bone, Crow, King, Williams, Oldham, Thomas, Sparks, Parsons, Manning, Cross, Post, Caruth, Walker, Blanchard, White, Lee, Davis, Moore, Brown, Wittie, Wittie, Hemphill, Fry, Gilmore, Powell, Thedford, Thomas, Schoenewolf, Schloeman, Berry, Berry, Gohlke, Bell, Edward, McBroom, Altum, Martin, Edwards, and Holman. That's 44, and out of a crew of this kind, who knows, there could be a championship team in this anyway, it won't be their fault.

BETWEEN BOTTLES

By W. MAT JONES JR'S "GHOST WRITER"

Now, that politics is over a while, and that's the reason "given" for leaving my "stuff" out, I am going to, at last, come into my own.

I didn't want to do anything that would detract from the intense interest the boys "runnin'" were trying to create. You know I wasn't even "sittin' up" the last time I had my "piece" in the paper.

Since then, I've been sittin' up and have a different slant on things. Of course, I'm still lookin' up, but I can look down on dogs (small dogs) and cats, but still have to do a good deal of looking up yet.

They took me down to Mr. Mayes Studio and put me before that box with a big eye, and the result is over in that column next to this one. 'Course, it's not my vanity that make me get this done—I shun publicity just like all the "big shots". You know, they say they do, just like I do, and they lie just like you know I am. It just tickles anybody, and I mean ANYBODY to get their "name in the paper". A lot, however, depends on what it is about, and of course, that makes a lot of difference. It is, tho, really, the Old Man's vanity that caused this photo to be taken.

Of course, I haven't begun to autographing, but you can each have one of these pictures that are in the NEWS. The Old Man guessed pretty well what I'd look like, or rather, after one look he picked out this cut out of the advertising service, and coincidentally, it did look like me.

They've got me a two wheel hack with a top, just like the two wheeled carts they used to drive, or a buggy. I feel so antiquated in it. Me born in an aerial age, or to say the least the Motor Age. Mom or some of the relatives, of course, will be the horses, but I don't know how they expect a 1939 model to be satisfied with a 1910 model buggy. We ought to get an outboard motor, or something that'll take you there and get you back, and not back to the horse-and-buggy days. If I don't postpone a part of this bunk until another trip, Hubert's going to get ired, with a "T" in front of it, and throw the whole deal in the trashcan. Me and Little Hubert, that's big Hubert's boy are going to take that joint over some of these days, and then, then my fans, my public, you'll see real newspapermen in action. And, it's now bottle time.
