Wholesale Prices Of Meat Boming 20 Per Cent In August

The average of wholesale meat prices in Chicago rose about 20 per cent during August, analysis of packing trade figures indicated today.

Livestock experts said this probably was representative of gains in meat prices in other urban centers, depending on local trade conditions. The upturn, they said, paralleled a sharp advance in livestock prices during the period, particularly in hogs and cattle. Hogs and most cattle lost some of the August advance this week.

The price rise they said, largely reflected improved consumer demand associated with industrial activity and the national defense program, although livestock receipts were slightly smaller.—Waco News Tribune.

The bag limit is 12 instead of 15. We want you to get this right; we got it wrong.

We got a new picture out of a newspaper telling all about it, layed it on the sport writer's desk, and when we looked up the information, we saw last year's law illustrated.

Don't shoot, bag or carry more than 12—it'll cost you. Incidentally, in this part of the state, the season opens the 15th.

F. H. A. REPRESENTATIVE EXPLAINS HOW PEOPLE OF GATESVILLE CAN BUILD HOMES

Mr. J. Max Montgomery of the Federal Housing Administration in Dallas was in Gatesville Thursday and Friday. On Thursday evening at the City Hall he met about 80 interested citizens and prospective home owners and explained in detail the various steps necessary to become a home owner under the FHA plan.

This project is sponsored by the Federal Government and has as its object to enable low income families to become home owners. People who have an income of $75.00 per month or more and who have a good credit rating can borrow up to 90 per cent of the cost of a new home. Owning a satisfactory lot can serve as the other 10 per cent.

Mr. Montgomery explained that the FHA does not build homes nor lend money, but they insure banks, life insurance companies, and loan companies against a loss on their FHA loans and thereby makkes the lending agency willing to make a more attractive loan to prospective home owners.

The FHA inspect and check lots, plans specifications and construction work to insure that the best methods of workmanship and material, in commensurate with cost, are built into these homes. This insures proper light, ventilation, sanitation, convenience, durability, etc.

Speaking of "red tape" Mr. Montgomery said there is no "red tape" in FHA homes, and then explained that the average family build one home in a lifetime. That considering the amount of money spent for a home as compared with other purchases, it should be carefully planned, checked, and supervised and these things should be a pleasure and not a burden to the new home owner.

At the conclusion of his explanation picture slides were shown of a number of homes built in Texas under this program. This was followed by a general discussion in which those present asked a number of questions touching their individual problems.

On Friday morning Mr. Montgomery held a dealers meeting in the Court House which was well attended. At this meeting a number of questions were discussed and many interesting facts brought out, including the following:

Number of FHA homes in Gatesville. Number of vacant houses. Need of additional homes. Average amount of rent paid by tenants. That the figures show that the dollar spent for construction helps more people than any other dollar spent. The difference between "Low price homes" and "Cheap Homes".

Mr. Montgomery also explained that the cost of a lot should be about 15 per cent of the total cost of the completed home.

The object of this meeting was to get the lumber yards, contractors, real estate dealers, and other parties directly interested, to help the prospective home owners, work out their home building problems.

GATESVILLE-HAMILTON RAILROAD TO BE ABANDONED PROBABLY SEPT. 28

An Interstate Commerce Commission ruling is to the effect that the Stephenville North & South Texas Railroad may abandon 32.72 miles of track from Gatesville to Hamilton, effective forty days from August 19, the date of the order.

The order further reads: "Provided, however, this certificate is issued upon the express condition, that within forty days from this date the trustee of the Stephenville North & South Texas Railway Company shall sell all or any part of the line to be abandoned to any person, firm or corporation offering to purchase same for continued operation and willing to pay therefore no less than the fair net salvage value thereof".

Since this looks very unlikely, it is probable that the last train to run over this line will be September 28.

CLEANLINESS TRAINING

Every year when school opens many teacher recognize the need of making cleanliness part of the curriculum, even if no separate place for it has been included in the teaching schedule. They know that the tidy and the untidy alike need to be directed into an understanding of what cleanliness means for comfort and health, and for happiness.

"There's a bit of progress" said one well known beauty writer, "and that's the emphasis and appreciation of cleanliness. O yes, I know that we were clean, as clean went in our girlhood, and probably our mothers were too. But, honestly, did we have clean stockings every day, and do you remember putting on clean underwear every morning before school? We thought we were a mighty clean family, but I can't remember having any qualms about wearing the same dress day in and day out for weeks, without any cleaning or freshing. And now, if by some very bad management I find I haven't a clean pair of stockings in my drawer I am positively uncomfortable and have, besides, a sense of guilt that I'm not up to the standards of today".

There is no doubt that there are many people who have acquired a growing consciousness and conscientiousness about daintiness and niceness. They may not, always, in every instance, live up to their best knowledge, but when they slip, they have reached a stage where they feel uncomfortable and wish that their regular cleanliness habits had been carried out as usual.

People who are immaculate in person and dress, feel the glow of their cleanliness. They would not give it up. And more and more persons are finding that the pleasure and the comfort of cleanliness are to be had for the last amount of effort, and are not to be given up lightly.

Many a girl has been helped to a bigger better job by extra cleanliness of the all-round, every-morning kind. Many another has been held back because she set out to work with a dirty neck, slightly soiled collars and cuffs, and unpolished shoes.

DAISY EDITH SHIRLEY BECOMES BRIDE OF
H. T. MULKE

Daisy Edith Shirley's marriage to H. T. Mulkey of San Antonio Friday evening at the Methodist Temple, following which an informal reception was held at the Goodhue hotel, was one of the highlights of the past week's social calendar.

The church setting was unusually lovely with softly burning tapers in tall candelabra flanking graceful arrangements of white asters and stately white gladioli. The Rev. N. H. Melbert read the impressive service, prior to which Margaret Kramer sang the bridal solo "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer". Mrs. C. B. Holter played a program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony.

Bride in White Satin

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, S. R. Shirley, wore an exquisite wedding gown of white satin, designed princess style with long train and short puffed sleeves. Tiny buttons extended down the front and her two-tiered veil of illusion was adjusted with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of orchids.

Dorothy Jean Wager of Jennings, La., was maid-of-honor and the bridesmaids were Eloise McPhail of Tyler, Frances Mulkey of Coleman, Elizabeth Moore, Aline Armintor, Corinne Thorne, Juanita Holliman and Mrs. Joe Loper Jr.

Their taffeta frocks were fashioned similar to the bride's with Miss Wager wearing pink and the others being attired in heavenly blue. Each wore an old fashioned taffeta rosette pillbox and carried a colonial bouquet.

Mothers of Principals

The bride's mother, Mrs. S. R. Shirley, was gowned in blue jersey and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Ella Mulkey, of Coleman, wore navy sheer. Each wore a corsage of pink amaryllis.

Will Clark Gay of Houston served as best-man. Ushers were Jules E. Cook, J. L. Hemphill, Joe Loper Jr., George Morgan Lipscomb, Preston Carnahan of San Antonio and James Stevens.

More than 75 guests attended the reception at the Goodhue hotel. Mrs. C. E. Jones of Gatesville, aunt of the bride, assisted Mr. and Mrs. Shirley and Mrs. Coleman in receiving. The bride's table, with its lace cover, was graced with white asters offset by white tapers in crystal candelabra. At table ends were the three-tiered wedding cake, topped with the traditional bride and bridegroom, and the crystal punch bowl.

At The Punch Bowl

Presiding over the punch bowl was Mrs. P. A. Walker of Gatesville and serving the cake was Mrs. C. P. McCarver of Gatesville.

Margaret McAfee had charge of the guest book. Others in the house party were, Mary Katherine Knight, Ruth Hughes, Shirley Melbert, Mrs. George Morgan Lipscomb, Mrs. C. E. Hendrickson and Mrs. J. L. Hemphill.

During the evening, Mr. Mulkey and his bride left for a wedding trip. Mrs. Mulkey traveling in black alpaca with accordion pleated skirt and accessories of black. They will make their home in San Antonio—Port Arthur News.

If It's Heavily Advertised
It HAS to be GOOD

OUR BRAND of democracy was won for us, and is being held for us, by men who chose their own careers, owned big farms, built big factories, and did what selling was necessary to keep those farms and factories busy.

One of the biggest aids in mass selling is mass advertising. In the long run, it "polices" itself.

Advertising of poor products always fails. Only a first rate product, fairly priced, can stand the dazzling glare of national advertising. When you think of the heavily advertised soups, soaps, breakfast foods, mechanical refrigerators, automobiles, silverware, radios—you are thinking of the aristocrats among commercial articles.

Sport News

Now, that Wilson Brazzil has left these parts for better pickings, we're going to have to again substitute as your sports commentator until such time as a better one comes along. Which you and we both hope won't be long.

The soft ball tourney fizzled for '40. We don't know why. We only know it did. And, after all that pumping up.

The "Go" light has been on for a City Championship Golf Tournament, and we just imagine it will "fizzle" too, since already the boys are booting the pigskin, and worse yet, Dove Season opens the 15th.

Yesterday we went down, and saw both the big boys and the little boys work out—and was it hot!

Coach Pruitt is getting hoarser and hoarser telling the boys, but the boys are losing the weight. As yet, we can't tell much what will come out of all this work, but with that much being done, something good is bound to come.

For the benefit of the baseball fans, Mt. Pleasant, which entered the National Semi-Pro Baseball Championship Tournament at Wichita, Kansas, came home with a big "bag". This bag contained $2992.36 in coin of the realm. Isn't that worth working like, well, for. They won 2nd place.

Just think, the Coryell County News All-Stars missed by one run making the State Championship Tourney in Waco, which was a stepping stone to Wichita.

If you're interested, football fans, in a preview of the coming competition for the Hornets, you can see Mart in action against Hillsboro Friday night of this week.

The State Fair of Texas Agricultural show will present exhibits from 60 Texas counties, three Regional groups, 32 Future Farmer bodies and 26 4-H Clubs. More than 50 additional counties were unable to secure exhibit space because of lack of room in the Agriculture Building.

Fair?—It's Cool

It's cool on Treasure Island, and an Exposition showgirl displays the 1940 Golden Gate International Exposition's new summer poster as she sits atop a cake of ice. The poster has been widely acclaimed in the warmer regions of the United States where it has been put on display in hotels and travel bureaus, railroad station and other centers of attraction.

EDITORIAL

JAMES CORYELL

We are hoping you have been reading the articles in recent editions of the News about James Coryell, by Frank Simmons.

Why this?

Here's the reason. We think the Coryell County Historical Society, if there is one, or anyone that is interested, for that matter, should, thru the proper authorities, and sources, see if they could not bring the remains of Mr. Coryell back to Coryell County and place them in a suitable marker or better, monument with a statute on the Courthouse lawn.

Traveling or visiting you will see in nearly every small town, county seat town, there is a statue, World War gun, or something on the courthouse lawns.

We can think of no better way to honor James Coryell than by this method.

Mr. Simmons has worked hard on this, along with a Mr. Cavitt and they have, according to substantiation, located the remains of this should-be-revieved-gentleman and would like to have a part in bringing him back to Coryell County.

We think it's a god idea, and would like to know what you think about it. We don't sell granite or marble, either.

Fiery Itching Skin Gets Quick Relief

Home Treatment Eases Unbearable Soreness—Distress

There is one simple yet inexpensive way to ease the itching and torture of Eczema, Itching Toes or Feet Rashes and many other externally caused skin eruptions and that is to apply Moore's Emerald Oil night and morning and people who suffer from such embarrassing or unsightly skin troubles would be wise to try it.

Just ask any first-class druggist for an original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil and refuse to accept anything else. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that a small bottle lasts a long time and furthermore if this clean, powerful, penetrating oil that helps promote healing fails to give you full and complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded.

Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Lively and Mrs. Mae Arnold were Seymour visitors Sunday.

We Call It Romance

IT'S JUST a can of soup. But during a long lifetime, the man who made it found some way to advertise it. At first, just a sign over his little soup kitchen, a few newspaper ads, a few billboards. But as the advertising grew, so did the business.

Now the business employs thousands of workers, helps to support tens of thousands of retail clerks and transportation men, and gives the housewife a better, cheaper soup than she could prepare at home.

Back of every heavily advertised article is a romantic story of this kind—the kind of romance that built America.

NAGGING BACKACHE

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action—Don't Neglect It!

Modern life with its ceaseless hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking, exposure, contagion, whatnot, keeps doctors busy, hospitals crowded. The after-effects are disturbing to the kidneys and oftentimes people suffer without knowing that disordered kidney action may cause the trouble.

After colds, fever and similar ills there is an increase of body impurities the kidneys must filter from the blood. If the kidneys are overtaxed and fail to remove excess acid and other harmful waste, there is poisoning of the whole system.

Symptoms of disturbed kidney function may be nagging backache, persistent headache, dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of strength and energy. Other signs of kidney or bladder disturbance sometimes are burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide approval than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. They have been winning new friends for more than forty years. Be sure to get Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

THE REASON DOAN'S ARE FAMOUS

All over the country grateful people tell others: "Doan's have helped me; I recommend them to you." That is why we say, Ask your neighbor!

EYE OPENERS—by Bob Crosby

the man who inspired America to fight the War for Independence --
THOMAS PAINE

WAS SENT TO AMERICA FROM ENGLAND BY BENJAMIN FRANKLIN WHO HAD GONE THERE TO SEEK PEACE!

BOB CROSBY

STRANGE FATE!
LESS THAN 15 YEARS AGO, GERMANY WAS BUSY MAKING AIRPLANES FOR FRANCE!

FOR SCENES IN THE MOVIE 'LITTLE BIT OF HEAVEN' COMEDIAN BILLY GILBERT COOKED 200 YARDS OF SPAGHETTI ON HIS GAS RANGE.

Thomas Paine, an apostle of human freedom, had already inspired Napoleon by his writings when Franklin induced him to go to America. Within a year, Paine's pamphlet, "Common Sense", had crystallized the idea of revolution in the colonies.

Around 1925, Germany was still paying reparations to France in airplanes!

The old fashioned range Billy Gilbert uses in "Little Bit of Heaven" is a far cry from the modern gas range in the kitchens of Hollywood movie stars! Yet it serves him well through the hilarious scenes of the picture, in which he portrays an east-side restaurateur who gives voice lessons to Gloria Jean, while preparing his specialty, spaghetti.

Lots For Sale
HIGHLAND ADDITION Gatesville

I have 30 lots in Highland Addition that have been processed for Federal Housing Loans, which I am offering for sale.

These lots have not been for sale, for the reason that the F.H.A. Authorities asked me not to make deeds until the plans for plat, restrictions, utility installations, etc., were approved by the F. H. A.

Last week the F.H.A. gave me a commitment for F.H.A. Loans on this property.

Loans for 100 per cent of improvements can be had by owners of these lots, provided the improvements do not exceed 90 per cent of the total value, (the lot serving as 10 per cent of the total value.)

This makes 100 per cent loans available for improvements, including, house, garage, sewer disposal, water, lights, gas, shrubs and lawn beautification, etc.

This property is not restricted as to cost of improvements, but is restricted as to floor space and plans.

Why pay rent when you can own your own home, a NEW home, for the same or less than you pay for rent. $14.00 to $28.00 per month will pay principal, interest, taxes and insurance on a new home.

I prefer to sell to people who want homes. Lots processed thru F.H.A. $200.00 and up.

ANOTHER DRY HOLE?

In the constant search for oil reserves in Texas, even the dry holes benefit the communities in which they are drilled.

They mean employment and wages for Texas labor, lease money for Texas farmers and ranchers and many other expenditures which benefit all lines of business.

2,300 dry holes were drilled in Texas last year at a cost of nearly 60 million dollars.

Since oil was discovered in Texas, 52,000 dry holes have been drilled in all sections of the State at an expense of more than one billion dollars.

This billion dollar research has already resulted in the discovery in Texas of over half of all the known petroleum reserves of the Nation. The creation of this wealth will benefit Texas citizens for generations to come.

Whether the oil man wins or loses, the community always gains.

Our best wishes go with Novel Young as he goes to enter the Southwest Teachers College at San Marcus.

Cotton picking seems to be taking the day as farmers wind up the harvesting of a splendid maize and ajax crop.

Omer Farres was the first farmer in our community to have a bale of cotton ginned. The gin at Ruth had the privilege of ginning it for him.

DOUBLE RANGE ANTI-KNOCK in the New Sinclair H-C

Now at Sinclair dealers you can get a new Sinclair H-C which has Double-Range Anti-Knock!

Every motorist knows that there are two important ranges of acceleration where you need knockless power. The first range is from 10 to 45 miles per hour for ordinary pick-up in traffic. The second range is from 45 to 90 miles per hour where you need extra high anti-knock for sudden spurts of speed to pass other cars on the highway.

Some gasolines may give high anti-knock in one range but not in the other. Now Sinclair has developed a gasoline that gives you high anti-knock not just in one range, but in two.

With this new Double-Range anti-knock you also get quick starting—rapid pick-up—smooth power—and longer mileage. The new H-C is truly an all-around gasoline, the result of many years of continuous improvement in refining.

See your nearby Sinclair dealer. Try out the new Double-Range H-C today. A complete tankful will give you a personal demonstration in your own car.

For performance, no gasoline at regular price is superior to the new H-C.

STAGECOACH
A WALTER WANGER production • Directed by JOHN FORD

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
Geronimo, most savage and most feared Indian chief on the Southwest frontier in the Eighteen-Eighties, is on the warpath as the stagecoach from Tonto, Ariz., begins its overnight trip to Lordsburg, N. M. The passengers include old Doc Boone, a drunken physician; Mrs. Malory, an army officer's wife; Dallas, a dance hall girl; Ringo, attractive young fugitive from the law who has fallen in love with Dallas; Peacock, a whiskey drummer; Gatewood, an absconding banker; Hatfield, a gambler, and U. S. Marshal Curly Wilcox. Arriving at Apache Wells, a way station, amid constant signs of an impending Indian attack, Mrs. Malory, who is about to become a mother, falls ill. Doc Boone sobers up with draughts of black coffee and goes to her aid.

Chapter Four
The hours wore on... nine o'clock, ten o'clock, eleven, midnight, one o'clock. The waiting men sat at the table in the cheerless inn, absently playing cards, chewing at sandwiches, fidgeting; or walked up and down aimlessly and sat down again. From the with wonder and tenderness as she smiled down at the tiny figure, then looked up and faced the questioning little group of males. "It's a little girl," she whispered, proud as if the child were her own.

"Well, I'll be doggoned," croaked Buck. "A baby? How—why—"
"I'll explain it to you sometime, Buck," said Curly. Then, as Boone emerged from Mrs. Malory's room and headed methodically for the bar, Curly waved his arms in the air and yelled, "three cheers for old Doc Boone!"
The moon was well on the wane when Dallas stepped quietly out of the station inn and wandered toward a nearby hill for a breath of air. It was good to be alone, to have time to think about things, after the strange rush of events since the day had begun.
"You oughtn't to go too far, Miss Dallas," said a soft voice behind her. "Apaches like to sneal up and pick off strays." It was Ringo, and she waited silently as he came up and joined her.
"I watched you with that baby—that other woman's baby," he went on. "You looked—well, you sure looked nice!"
They sat down on a rock, neither speaking for several moments. Then Dallas, with a rush of feeling, turned to him impetuously.

She turned to him impetuously. "Why don't you escape?"

outlying desert strange animal cries intermittently disturbed the night; and now and again came nearer sounds, unexplained whis-pers and rustlings from the corral outside the house.
Yakima, Chris' Apache wife, slid noiselessly out. A moment later they were startled by the thud of hooves galloping outside, and the sight of dim figures flashing past the window in the darkness. Buck rushed to the door and looked out.
"It's them Mexican vaqueros!" he cried. "Them friends of Chris' wife. They're runnin' away with all the spare horses!"
There was nothing to be done about it, and the group settled down into moody silence again, each pondering on whatever ominous significance this new development suggested to him.
A lone coyote howled his high, plaintive note in the distance. But the note continued longer than usual, and seemed to merge into a higher, thinner wall that sounded much nearer. They all pricked up their ears.
"Them coyotes gimme the creeps," complained Buck throatily. "They sound just like—just like a baby."
The high, thin wall was repeated, and this time there was no mistaking it. As one man the waiting travelers jumped to their feet and looked toward Mrs. Malory's bedroom. Out of the doorway came Dallas, triumphantly holding in her arms a squirming little bundle of life swathed heavily in blankets. Her face glowed

"Why don't you escape, Kid? Why don't you escape?"
"I aim to, Miss Dallas — in Lordsburg."
"Why Lordsburg? Why don't you get over the border?"
"My father and brother was shot down by the Plummers. I guess you don't know how it feels to lose your own folks that way."
Dallas looked off down the moon-drenched valley, and spoke quietly. "Maybe I do. My people were killed by the Indians when I was just a kid."
He fidgeted for awhile, then turned to her—his voice shy and halting.
"Look, Miss Dallas—maybe I'm crazy to ask you—but—well—I still got a ranch across the border. It's a nice place—trees—grass—a house half built. You see, I'm askin'—well, what I mean is—a man could live there—and a woman..."
She looked at him in astonishment. "But you don't know me! You don't know who I am!"
"I know all I want to know," said Ringo quietly. "You're the kind of a girl a man wants to marry."
She tried to quiet the welling emotion within her. Ringo gently took her hand in his—but they were interrupted by the crunch of heavy boots coming toward them. "What you doin' out here, kid?" cried Curly Wilcox angrily. "Come on back, and stick close to the reservation. Don't forget you're still my prisoner!"

TOWARD A BETTER WORLD

It is possible that democracies, like human beings, at times must undergo adversity and hardship in order to strengthen themselves physically and spiritually. While it may not be accepted as a universal rule that man only turns to his Maker for succor in time of stress, often it is true that prosperity increases worldliness of mind and of spirit, adversity reverses the trend and produces spirituality.

Barnacles tend to form wherever there is inertia, and intellectual and spiritual inertia are no exceptions to this rule. Democracies during the last two decades have suffered from an acute case of "do-nothingness" that penetrated to the spheres of defense, economics, morality and religion, producing a general paralysis that rendered the mincapable of coping with the intoxicated virility of totalitarian peoples.

Can it be that out of the morass of war, destruction, poverty, refugee hords and general disillusionment will come a better world, a saner world, a safer world? I think so.

No sane man would willfully have brought upon the world the catastrophe that has overtaken the peoples of Europe and that is threatening all the other hemispheres. But, unknown to any except the Highest of the High, a neutrotic ex-corporal may have ignited the fire that will sweep away forever those forces of greed, incompetence, personal venality and dishonesty that were more instrumental in crushing France and the other democratic states of Europe than all of Hitler's tanks and dive bombers.

Hitler has spoken often of the "decadence" of the democracies in the pre-war era. And in a sense he was right. The principles of democracy were as sound and as noble and as practical in relation to contemporary life as they had ever been at the outset of this war.

But the leaders who directed the governments which ostensibly adhered to these principles, and to a lesser extent the peoples who lived under these principles, had become contaminated with ideas and ideals functioning of democracy as black rotten to the core, that not even the dread spectre of Hitler could placate the quarrels of French political, loosen the bank accounts of the opulent, force co-operation from industrialists and labor, or unite in the common cause of defense the divergent political factions.

Gross incompetence if not outright treason and graft existed in the high command of the touted French Army, and these same factors were present to a lesser extent in Belgium, Holland and Norway.

General Weygand, who commanded the French armies in the last hours of the Third Republic, admits these conditions and believes that his country must endure much suffering before it can undergo what he terms a "spiritual regeneration." He recognizes and admits the internal factors which will wreck democratic institutions of government everywhere if they are not corrected by the responsive wills of free men.

How can a better, safer and saner world emerge from the chaos of 1940. How can man rebuild that which has been destroyed in the tangible and intangible assets of his civilization?

The answer to this question is that the kind of world for which all free men hope is one that must be built upon a state of mind, not upon armies and fortifications and air fleets alone.

This statement may sound off-hand like foolish idealism, but it is not nearly so idealistic as the dream of those who professed to believe that democracy could exist among peoples who were not prepared to accept the responsibilities of freedom and who were not willing to contribute their collective efforts toward its perpetuation.

France had an army. Yet we know now that the collapse of democracy in France was inevitable under the conditions prevailing during 1939 and early 1940, even if Hitler had never burst into the selfish complacency of French life.

Democracy, to survive, must be built upon a state of mind among a people which impels men to offer to serve the government and society, not to demand sinecures from them; which propels an entire adult population to vote in public elections for the best qualified candidate; which demands that public officials serve the public as a whole and not their personal interests nor the interests of selfish minorities; which creates an alert state of mind that recognizes demagoguery either in public office, the pulpit, industry or the classroom; which protects the peanut peddler as it does the bank president.

Exactng as this war has been in human and material costs, it will not represent the curse to humanity which it has been represented if it causes a regeneration among the democratic peoples of the earth, if it provides a firmer foundation upon which the institutions of democratic government can be erected.

Shoppin' With The Snooper

In keeping with the latest styles, PAINTER'S are now showing the new hip-length coats made of duvetyn material. These sports coats styled by Evelyn, are buttoned in front and have a narrow belt and patch pockets; the back is semi-flared. Another important feature is the fact that they come in the new colors, sky blue, dusty rose, gold, sailor blue, and natural to match all skirts and sweaters. One of these would be welcomed by any high school or college student.

Something new in the way of dresses can be found at JOE HANNA'S. This store handles Prima Donna frocks exclusively, and once you've seen them, you just can't resist buying at least one—they are priced to sell. One which appeals to many of the buyers is the light weight wool suit—the full black and white checked skirt is completed with a three-tone patent belt. The short jacket is reversible—one side is made of the checked material to match the skirt, and the other side is of green velveteen; the three buttons down the front are contrasting to the belt. Another sports dress being admired a lot by the young set is the sheer wool frock fashioned shirt waist with the new blouse-back. Onto the collar is attached a hood lined with a contrasting plaid to match the plaid-covered buttons on the blouse.

Switching from the woman's world to the men's, we find that ALVIS-GARNER COMPANY has a complete line of clothes which the well-dressed man will wear this fall and winter. The tweed suits, the three-buttoned draped models, will be the highlight of the season. With the sports jackets come the contrasting slacks which suits, are made by Curlee and Sewell, handled exclusively by this store. According to the fashion preview, green will be the leading color in sports suits for men, their hats will have wider brims, and the shoes will be in either antique tan or golden brown styled with the wing tip or the perforated cap.

The millinery department at LEAIRD'S has been attractively decorated and re-arranged for the autumn season displaying the new line of hats for women, the Jean Allen hats styled by Gage. These highly advertised hats are the foremost fashion, and come in all styles, and all the new colors, khaki green, loyal blue and vineyard red. With these hats may be purchased for an additional small amount an attractive hat box, which any co-ed would appreciate on her "to and from home" trips.

You'll be in the style swim if you possess one of the Hercules knitted sweaters being shown at DAVIDSON'S. They are in the soft colors of heather rose, white and heather blue—the boxy type sweaters everyone will be wearing this season. Made of wool, these sweaters have pearl buttons down the front, and the small pockets add the last touch of "style" to them. Truly you are always at ease in a Hercules. Besides this special brand of sweaters, the store also has other types, such as the slip-over, coat and zipper type, not only for grown-ups but also for children.
