WE'VE PAID TO SEE WORSE SHOWS: WAS AT CITY HALL

Poston Bros., local implement dealers put on a "grand" show at the city auditorium Friday night, with the help of a Dallas implement sales organization. About 300 people attended.

Besides a motion-talkie-picture, showing the good points of Farm-all and other International implements, a stage show by professionals was put on by a magician, colored comedian, dancers, singers, and an accordion player.

Special awards of merit were given to both the Poston Brothers, R. O., and H. E., and also to "Cub" Poston.

Steve Lindley spent Wednesday and Thursday of last week with his father in Graham.

Misses Marjorie Hall, Frances Brown, and Marguerite Kelso, and John Albert Lester, John Frank Post Jr., and Thomas Richardson, students at John Tarleton College in Stephenville, were week end guests of their parents and other relatives and friends here.

GAS MEN MEET IN DALLAS: PREPARED FOR DEFENSE

Gas men from the South and Southwest will be in Dallas February 10-12 for the annual convention of the Southern Gas Association to gird the industry for its responsibility in the national defense program and consider methods to improve fuel service. Representatives of the Lone Star Gas System, which includes Gatesville, will be hosts.

Industry leaders are listed on the program. They are Major T. J. Strickler of Kansas City, President of the American Gas Association; C. B. Wilson of Little Rock, Arkansas, president of the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company, who is also president of the Southern Gas Association; D. A. Huley, president of Lone Star Gas Company, and Colonel Albert Sidney Johnson, Southern Union Gas Company president, both of Dallas, and Frank C. Smith of Houston, president of the Houston Natural Gas Company.

Predominantly a sales conference, talks will be given on residential sales, industrial sales, home service, employee training, customer relations, and advertising. An industrial gas inspection tour will be conducted for the visitors.

Miss Alma Blanchard and Miss Rose Kathryn Hayes of Port Arthur were guests of the former's parents at Mound and friends in this city during the week end.

Mrs. R. B. Curry of Dallas spent last week end with Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Curry.

Mr. and Mrs. Doc Rutherford, Misses Bettye, Jeanne and Martha Burdette and Don Burdette spent Sunday with relatives in Mart. Mrs. C. J. House, who has been a guest in the Rutherford home, returned to her home in Mart.

Knob-Knockers Knock Again: $10 At Leaird's $200 At Davidson's

Members, unknown, of the knob-knocking fraternity visited Gatesville sometime between closing time Saturday night and Monday morning, knocking Davidson Bros. & Co., out of $200.00 and Leaird's Department Store out of $10.00.

Entry was made by jimmying the front door of both stores, and knobs were knocked off the safe in each store. In Davidson's the knockers got in the safe, taking the money, and also insurance policies, notes and other important papers.

Leaird's got off relatively light, since the safe was not opened, and only small change was taken from the cash registers. Leaird's job was discovered early Sunday morning, but Davidson's was not known until Monday morning, and it is thought both jobs were done the same night, Saturday night.

A bar over a window at Davidson's was out of place, but the window was not opened. At Leaird's, covers over dresses were knocked off, but no clothing was disturbed. Evidently, the burglars were only after money, and big money, since pennies, dimes and nickles at either place were not disturbed.

Members of the State Highway Patrol, here Monday, looked over both jobs, and so far, no arrests have been made.

School Building Started At Pidcoke By W. P. A.

Work began on the Pidcoke school building and ground improvement program, which is called the Belcher consolidated school.

The new building will be 156'x 124' with a floor area of 14,161 square feet and consists of four class rooms, study hall, work room, office, storage room, and an auditorium-gymnasium, dressing rooms and toilets. The exterior will be of stone and the interior will be plastered, with a fiber board ceiling and oak floors in the class room, and a pecan floor in the gymnasium.

Other work will include a football field, two tennis courts, a volley ball court, stone bleachers, septic tank and disposal field, stone and wire fences, drives, walks, a well and storage tank and general landscaping of the campus.

The project, sponsored by WPA will employ about 55 workers a month, with a payroll of $2,500, and will involve a total expenditure (federal) of $39,309, and $25,784 by the community, or a total of $65,093. Completion is scheduled for February 24, 1942.

HAMILTON-CORYELL SOIL DISTRICT SET-UP COMPLETED BY SUPERVISORS

Wednesday, last, the supervisors of the Hamilton-Coryell Soil Conservation District met in conference at Gatesville with Luke Ballard of the State Soil Conservation board.

Supervisors for the district, Monroe Blankenship, Chairman, Virgil Lockhart, A. T. Jones, Herman Shrunck and E. T. Hughes, advised they are now ready to take applications for work in the district.

It is suggested that those farmers and ranches desiring assistance in the soil and water conservation program, contact one of these supervisors at their earliest convenience.

In the meeting also were, C. P. Emmett, FSA supervisor, Hamilton, T. D. Craddock, County Agent Hamilton, Eric Brown of the Seed Loan office, W. P. Hardy, SCS, Mr. Turney, SCS; Ann Jacobs, Home making teacher of GHS; J. B. Roach, AAA office, and Guy Powell, County Agent, Coryell.

Coryell-Hamilton are to be congratulated on the forward step they are taking in this movement, and it is said this district is being shown and talked about as a model for other Soil Districts to "shoot at".

Enthusiastic! Was C. of C. Meeting Thursday Night

Enthusiasm seemed to be the key note of the general meeting of the Gatesville Chamber of Commerce, Thursday night in the district court room.

Although no matters were taken up by the body, everyone present who wished, expressed their views, and suggested plans for the chamber of commerce to consider. Reports were made by the various committees, showing that there was much work going on by the committees that was unknown to the public, generally.

One question, as to the regularity of general meetings was brought up, and the assembly voted at least one a quarter, and others if the directors thought necessary.

Uncle Sam Don't Take Nine Of Boys Sent

Nine of the nineteen men sent to the Dallas "Receiving Station" were rejected, according to the Local Selective Service Board. All the men volunteered to go ahead of schedule.

Two of these, whose names we are not authorized to give, will be sent back for re-examination at a later date.

Those who returned were Alfred Thurman Swindall, Andrew Glenn Hendrickson, Vance Irvin Sellers, Lester Hiram Williams, Luther Walter Foust, Cecil Marion Pierce, Teodoro Reyna Arenas, Marvin Lee Edwards and Andrew Watson Farris.

Glenn, it is said, reported he had a "crooked breast bone", and the Army turned him down on that score. We wouldn't know.

"Years" Handed Out On Non-Jury Cases Monday Morning

District Court opened Monday morning, without the benefit of a jury, and in the following non-jury cases, penalties were meted out.

The cases, all The State of Texas vs: David Armstrong, charged, burglary, entered plea of guilt; 2 years concurrently.

Oscar Seaton, same charge, same plea, same time.

E. C. (Red) Milliman, charged, theft of cattle, same plea, same time.

E. C. (Red) Milliman and John Bongard, theft of sheep, same plea, same time.

David Armstrong and Oscar Seaton, burglary, same plea, same time.

Two more cases against the same two men, Armstrong and Seaton, and they received the same in these two cases.

J. L. Walker and Curtis Owens, charged, theft of turkeys, entered pleas of guilt, and given 90 days in jail.

CAR HITS HIGH GUARD AND JUMPS OVER EMBANKMENT

Sunday morning about 2 a. m. a car driven, it is said, by C. B. Whitaker of near Gatesville, crashed into a guard rail about a mile east of Coryell creek and overturned down the embankment.

Mr. Whitaker received cuts and lacerations, but other wise was not injured. He was alone in the car, which was badly damaged. Feed in the back of the car pushed the front seat up when the car hit.

NAZIS UP TO NO GOOD?
London, Jan. 26, (AP)—Free from German raiders for six nights London went into the seventh Sunday with the feeling commonly expressed that Hitler is up to no good, possibly a grand slam attack.

There was virtually no aerial activity over Britain during daylight. A single Nazi plane dropped a bomb on the northeast coast without damage or casualties.

MAJOR BATTLE IN ALBANIA
Ohrid, Yugoslavia, Jan. 26, (AP)—Italian troops launched a heavy attack against Greek forces on northern and Central Albanian fronts Sunday, border advices said and observers believed that a decisive battle was shaping up. Both sides were said to have brought up heavy reinforcements.

IRON GUARDS KILL SELVES
Bucharest, Rumania, Jan. 26, (AP)—Peace once again settled over Rumania Sunday and leaders of the insurrection began to pay, some with their lives, the price of a rebellion that failed.

Iron Guard leaders were said to have committed suicide, and they were followers of vanquished Vice-Premier Horia Sima to whom the dictate had come from victorious Premier Gen. Ion Antonescu.

NAVY RECORDS BURNED
Norfolk, Va., Jan. 26 (AP)—Fire Sunday destroyed the central section of the huge administration building of the Norfolk naval operating base and a quantity of official documents and records stored there.

REPORTER'S PRIVATE PAPERS:

Chuck Barnett would have you believe he sent this taunting cable to Adolf Schickelgruber of Berlin: "Hey, long time no seize."

And Victor C. Rodgers, of San Diego, offers this after hearing FDR's last speech: "Better to Pay Taxes Than Belong to the Axis."

Quentin Reynolds, who just returned home from London, is autographing copies of his new book, "The Wounded Don't Cry," to girl friends (married or single) in this manner: "In memory of a glorious weekend at Lake Como."

Quentin's book is crowded with eye-arresting wordage like: "That night I heard the German radio expert report that London had been panicked by the German bombers. I got a cable from New York saying: 'Reports here that London in flames.' There was damage in London all right; there will be further damage, but I don't think London will be ruined or that London will be panicked. They never panicked Jack Dempsey, did they? Sure they hit him and hurt him and London will be hit and hurt. In fact, it is being hit and hurt today. But what of it? These people know they are in a war and know they've got to take a beating before they've won it. They know that lots of them are going to be killed. Every time the bombers come over they shake the debris out of their eyes, go to the nearest pub, have half a pint of bitter and say: 'Ow many did we get today?'"

The following appeared in Canada: "There'll always be an England and England shall be free. There'll always be a Scotland and nothing will be free."

There is a group called "Alcoholics Anonymous" in New York, the moving spirit being a well known transatlantic flier. . . . The group's aim is to "straighten out any fellow who will even admit he drinks too much" . . . They meet at an illustrator's place and have big "rallies." These "rallies" are attended sometimes by hundreds of lusher, many of whom have been in institutions for alcoholics, etc. . . . They've succeeded where doctors and psychiatrists have failed, working on the theory that only a drunk knows how to talk to a drunk.

Page One heroes don't last long. Remember how we cheered the Finns? . . . Well, Finland's Minister Procope chanced upon reporters and mentioned that he hadn't seen them lately. "My country isn't interesting now," he said unhappily, "nowadays we are just fighting cold and hunger."

THE NEW YORK SCENE:

New York Novelette: Everyone who knew him in St. Louis liked his fine tenor voice. He led the community singing at local bazaars, county fairs and in churches. . . . A visitor from New York heard him one day and induced him to study for the opera. . . . After a few years the St. Louis opera company engaged him as soloist. . . . Last season he toured the concert field with John Charles Thomas. . . . In New York influential friends arranged an audition at the Met. . . . He didn't keep the appointment—stage fright—or something. . . . If those kind friends want to locate their prodigy they will find Rudy Madison singing with the Barber Shop 4 at Bill's Gay 90s.

New Yorkers: Thomas Mitchell's theatrics in Warner's "Flight From Destiny" . . . Olive Major, E. Cantor's new 13-year-old find. A Wensdee night earful. . . . The ditty, "Cheery Blossoms on Capitol Hill" . . . "Who Are These Refugees?" by Isabel Lundberg, and "Hunger and the House Mouse" in the Jan. Harper's. . . . Cosmopolitan magazine's eye-arresting issue.

Typewriter Ribbons: Elbert Hubbard's: God will not examine you for medals or emblems, but for scars. . . . Hugh Johnson's: Christmas—the annual universal binge of decency. . . . T. Gautier's: To love is to admire with the heart; to admire is to love with the mind. . . . Douglas Jerrold's: There are two kinds of readers. Those who go through a book, and those who let a book go through them. . . . A. O'Malley's: Civilization is the world with its legs asleep. . . . Edna Wood's: She swallowed her pride but it left a lump in her throat. . . . Sylvia Lyons': Emeralds are rarer than diamonds.

because emeralds always match the color of your friends' eyes.

UNDERCOVER DOCTOR

CHAPTER FOUR SYNOPSIS:

Dr. Bart Morgan, brilliant young surgeon addicted to liquor, becomes a "gangland doctor" when he does not achieve success in legal practice. Bank bandits headed by Eddie Krator, Public Enemy No. 1, are his best customers. Morgan gets a call from Krator to come to the Ace Inn. Krator is gone when he arrives. On the return trip to town he finds Bob Anders, a G-Man, seriously wounded in a gasoline station. He operates and saves Anders' life. When Krator hears about Anders, he plans to kill Bart.

CHAPTER V

BART MORGAN faced Eddie Krator calmly. When he spoke, his voice was steady. "Before we start on our little boat ride, gentlemen," he said, "there's something you should know. In case I were to fall overboard—purely by accident, of course—it might prove very embarrassing to all of you." He smiled coolly at them. "My lawyer has a sealed envelope upon which is written: 'To be opened after my death.' In that envelope is a paper and on that paper is written: 'In the event that I disappear or am found murdered, arrest Eddie Krator, Johnny Franklin, Spats Edwards and Elmer Porter.'"

Bart stopped and studied the angry faces of the men. He chuckled. "Dear old Uncle Elmer," he continued. "Then there follows a list containing the details of every crime you've committed and a list of all your hideouts, including Eddie's favorite fishing shack. And also your fingerprints, which I have been able to pick up from time to time."

Krator and Franklin digested this in sullen silence. Bart broke it.

"Well, gentlemen, let's get started on our little boat trip. The weather is delightful. The lake should be like glass." He arose and started for the door. Krator raised his gun. Franklin grabbed Eddie's arm and forced it down. "Not now, Eddie," he whispered. "Not now."

Morgan closed the door behind him.

Nothing further happened for several weeks. When Bob Anders was safely out of danger, Margaret resigned from the hospital staff at Bart's insistence, and joined him as his office nurse. She wouldn't admit it to herself but she wanted to be near Bart. He needed her, she told herself.

One morning as Bart entered his office he found Elmer Porter in the waiting room. The latter followed Bart into his private office.

"Can we be heard in here?" Porter asked cautiously. Bart assured him they could not. "I've been trying to get you on the phone for weeks," Porter went on. "Why didn't you answer?"

"I told Krator I was through and I meant it."

Porter was silent for a moment. "Suppose Courtney Weld were to learn that his daughter is going to marry a criminal doctor?" he suggested softly at last.

"Since we're just supposing," Bart snapped, "suppose the police found out that Elmer Porter, Respectable Citizen No. 1 isn't so respectable."

"You're being foolish, Morgan. You can't walk out on us."

"I'm not taking any more chances. Get someone else."

"That takes time," Porter pointed out. "And we need a doctor to stand by, today!"

"No!"

The broker's voice was plainly audible to both of them. "Sorry, Bart, but I can't carry you. You're into me now for twenty-five thousand and I've got to have it."

"Hold the wire," Morgan said as he turned to Margaret. "How much is due in outstanding accounts?"

"About ten thousand dollars," she answered.

Bart turned back to the telephone. "I can raise about ten thousand in a few days." He listened for a moment. "But I can't get it all by tomorrow," he insisted.

"And I can't wait any longer," the broker was equally positive. "If you haven't got it in the morning, I'll have to sell you out when the market opens. Sorry, Bart. Goodbye."

Bart put down the phone and picked up the bottle. Margaret seized his arm. "You can face it a lot better without that," she said angrily.

Bart pushed her away. "I'm in no mood for lectures," he said.

The sound of the door chimes nailed him. Out in the waiting room, Bob Anders had opened and closed the outer door to attract attention. Margaret hurried out.

"Hello," Bob said, eyeing her appreciatively.

Margaret smiled. "And hello

"Unless you date me up for dinner tonight," Bob said, "I'm liable to tear up the place."

"No" is a word to be used only after mature deliberation. Porter argued. "I wouldn't say that you're being impetuous."

"Let me worry about that," Bart said shortly and led the way to the waiting room. Margaret was seated at her desk. For her benefit, Bart added:

"Follow my advice, Mr. Porter. Stay away from doctors and your health will be perfect."

"Perhaps, Doctor, perhaps," Porter replied, fully understanding Bart's double meaning. As Porter opened the outer door, Bob Anders entered. The two collided slightly and Anders stared at the older man.

"I'm sorry," Bob said. Porter grunted angrily and continued on his way.

As Morgan turned back into his private office, Margaret followed him. Bart crossed to a liquor cabinet and poured down a stiff drink. Feeling her accusing eyes, Bart turned and faced the girl.

"I know what you're going to say," he flared. "You had to cancel a lot of appointments. Well, I was busy." He seized the phone and dialed a number.

"Hello, Easton?" Bart's voice was excited. "This is Morgan. How do I stand now?" Margaret watched the worried expression on his face deep-to you."

"Tell me, why did you up and vanish one day while I was taking a snooze?" Bob demanded. "Was that any way to treat a fellow when he was in a hospital?"

"I quit my job and came here to work with Dr. Morgan," the girl explained. "I . . . I . . . was going to say goodbye to you but you looked so comfortable and happy. . . ."

"You want to know why?" Bob cut in. "I was dreaming that you and I punting on the Thames—just the two of us. No, that wasn't it. We were throwing crumbs to our pet sea gulls, the ones on our own desert island."

Margaret laughed. "So. We had an island. I didn't know."

"That's why I dropped around—to tell you about it." He grinned at her. "You think I'm crazy, don't you?"

"Well, not violently so."

"Unless you let me date you up for dinner and a show tonight, I'm liable to tear up the place."

"We have a nice padded cell, Mr. Anders."

"Then you're quite safe, Miss Hopkins. What time did you say I should call for you?"

"I didn't say," Margaret smiled.

"Swell!" Bob grinned. "Seven o'clock it is!"

FLOGENE MARTIN BECOMES BRIDE OF ERWIN H. SPLITTS SATURDAY

Miss Flogene Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Martin of this city, became the bride of Erwin H. Splitts, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Splitts of Waco, in a single ring ceremony performed by the Rev. E. L. Craig in the Methodist Church in this city Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

White cathedral tapers burned in candelabra, and tall floor baskets of pink gladioli and lilies, interspersed with palms and ferns, decorated the altar. White satin bows marked the pews for members of the families.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was beautiful in a powder blue frock with navy accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of gardenias, and for something old, she wore the wedding ring of her grandmother, Mrs. Amanda Martin, of Hamilton.

Miss Annie Ruth Witt was the bride's only attendant. She was attired in a navy and pink redingote with matching accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Bill Witt served as best-man, and ushers were, J. B. and Earl Martin, brothers of the bride.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Ola Mae Parks, organist, played "Because" and accompanied Miss Mabel Marion Brown, who sang "At Dawning". She also played the traditional wedding marches, and during the ceremony she played softly "To a Wild Rose" by MacDowell. Mrs. Parks wore a brown frock with gold accessories, and Miss Brown's dress was black with matching accessories. Their corsages were of ranunculi.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left for a short honeymoon trip to San Antonio, after which they will be at home in the Ford apartment on East Leon.

Mrs. Splitts was graduated from Gatesville High School, and Mr. Splitts attended Reisel High School and Texas A. and M. College. At present he is employed as local NYA supervisor.

Among the out-of-town people who attended the wedding were: Mrs. E. W. Splitts, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Splitts, Miss Virginia Burleson of Waco; Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Stanford, Miss Johnnie Pierson, of Hamilton; Miss Frances Brown of Stephenville; Miss Gladys Marie Phillips of Denton; and Miss Arlene Bates of Austin.

Martin-Splitts Wedding Party Given Dinner

Complimenting members of the Martin-Splitts wedding party, Bill

Witt entertained with an informal dinner at his home on South 14th Thursday evening following the rehearsal.

An arrangement of garza chrysanthemums in a crystal bowl placed on a reflector formed the centerpiece for the dining table, and at either side white tapers burned in crystal candelabra.

Attending were the following: Misses Flogene Martin, Annie Ruth Witt, Mabel Marion Brown, Patsy Kinslow of Oglesby, Estella McFarlin, Mrs. Ola Mae Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Martin, the Rev. E. L. Craig, Earl Martin, J. B. Martin, Erwin Splitts, and the host.

Mrs. Parks, Miss Brown Co-Hostesses At Shower

Mrs. Ola Mae Parks and Miss Mabel Marion Brown were co-hostesses when they entertained at the home of the former on East Leon Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock with a miscellaneous shower naming as honoree Miss Flogene Martin, bride-elect.

The bride's table was centered with a modernistic container holding white iberis and pink sweet-peas, and under the small arch stood a miniature bride and bridegroom. Other tables were centered with vases of white iberis.

After the hostesses had passed a delicious refreshment plate, little Miss Belva Jean Patterson and Master Jim Turk Brown presented the honoree her gifts in a clever way.

In attendance were the following: Misses Eloise Cook, Jane Thomson, Frankie Mae Blair, Oneta Stanford, Jeanne Burdette, Annie Ruth Witt, Patsy Kinslow of Oglesby, Waldean Dollins, Estella McFarlin, Minnie Lou Witt, Mrs. Turk Brown and son, Jim Turk, Mrs. Pete Patterson and daughter, Belva Jean, and Mesdames W. J. Thompson Jr., Dick Hinson, Jim Martin, L. W. Scott, J. B. Graves, B. K. Cooper, Rufe Brown, and the honoree and the hostesses.

Mrs. Brown Entertains Thursday Bridge Club

Members and guests of the Thursday Bridge Club were complimented when Mrs. Rufe Brown entertained at her home on East Main on the appointed afternoon last week.

Seated at the three tables were: Mesdames P. M. Browning, Elmo White, Ray Scruggs, E. C. Slone, B. B. Garrett, R. B. Cross, C. E. Gandy, D. D. McCoy, Bob Saunders, B. K. Cooper, R. G. Dickie, and R. W. Ward. Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Dickie were high and second high score prize winners among the members, and Mrs. White received the high score award among the guests.

Concluding the affair, the hostess served a delectable salad course.

Weiner Roast Given For Younger Set

Miss Lola Moore entertained with a weiner roast for a group of friends at a roadside park east of Gatesville last Friday evening.

Various games were enjoyed by: Misses Joyce Jones, Faythe Martin, Jonnie Boyd, Judy and Gene Gentry, Eloise Thomas, Betty Cantrell, Nancy Landers, Nancy Martin, Mattie Earle Jones and the hostess and Messrs. R. C. Cook, Odell Cunningham, Ben Shirley, Pete Christin of McGregor, O. C. Turner, Paul Martin, Virgil Lee Moore, Elmar Stooth, Grover Green, Wayne Boyd, Price Green.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shepherd were business visitors in Port Arthur and Houston last week.

Dr. and Mrs. Kermit Jones and daughter, Margaret Ann, and Mrs. Blanche Powell spent the week end with relatives in Alice.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ford and two daughters of Teague were visitors in this city last Saturday.

Hornettes Meet First Defeat

(J. Mc.)
After being on the road most of Friday afternoon, the G. H. S. Hornettes met their first defeat of the season when they tangled with the strong Ennis sextette on the Ennis court. The Hornettes got off to a quick start by splitting the mesh for two long shots and Ennis followed with one shot. During the first quarter first one team and then another was in the lead, but Ennis managed to sink a free throw and gained a lead of one point, eleven to ten. The locals were never able to slip ahead during the three remaining periods. They added up five points in the second quarter to Ennis' ten. The score at the end of the third was 28-19. The final count was 36 to 25 in Ennis' favor.

The Hornettes were outplayed but they were at a disadvantage because of their absence of the first string forwards, Patterson and Captain Moore. M. Armstrong, Ennis six foot forward who is an expert at the pivot shot, set the pace of the game with nineteen points. Perkins was next with ten. The Ennis team has an average height of five feet ten inches and it is an excellently fine ball club.

The Hornettes who played in the tilt were, Perkins, Turner, Shoaf, Lester, Captain Black, Mueller, and Apel. Lester and Mueller guards were switched to forward positions for a short time during the last quarter. The Ennis squads, both boys and girls, will return the games this Friday night in the Gatesville gym. Both Gatesville teams will be fighting hard to even up their defeats of last week and the games will be thrillers from start to finish. Be out to back your team. They appreciate it.

Hornettes Meet Hamilton and J'boro This Week

Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the Gatesville court the Hornettes will clash with the sextette from Hamilton in its return game. The boys play at 3:30. Tuesday night the Gatesville squads go to Jonesboro to play. Gatesville and Jonesboro have not played any games together this season.

Menus

If you are party minded February brings plenty of opportunity to "strut your stuff" what with Valentine's Day and the two important birthdays, Washington's and Lincoln's! So here are cakes for the festive occasions.

LADY BALTIMORE CAKE
1-2 cup butter
1 cup sugar
1-2 cup milk
1 3-4 cups flour

1 1-4 level tsp. baking powder.
3 whites of eggs

Measure all ingredients accurately. Beat butter to a cream and breat in the sugar gradually. Then add alternately the milk and the flour and lastly the whites of eggs, beaten dry. Beat the mixture thoroughly 3 to 5 minutes; turn into prepared pan and let stand 3 to 5 minutes before baking. Bake in 2 layers about 18 minutes.

FROSTING

1 cup sugar
1-3 cup boiling water
1 white of egg
1-3 cup chopped raisins.
1-3 cup chopped nuts,
2 figs, cut fine
1-2 tsp. vanilla extract
Make a "boiled frosting" of the sugar, water and egg; add the fruit and vanilla and use as filling and frosting.

CHOCOLATE NOUGAT-CAKE

1 1-2 cups white sugar
3-4 cup butter
2 eggs
1-4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
1 square chocolate
1 cup chopped walnut meats
1 cup chopped dates
1 cup sour milk
1 tsp. soda
2 cups flour
Cream butter and sugar, add melted chocolate, beaten eggs, salt, vanilla, milk, soda, flour, nuts and dates. Bake in slow oven 45 minutes to 1 hour.

Cream 3-4 cup butter, add 2 cups sugar, Sift 2 teaspoons baking powder and 3 cups pastry flour, add 2 tablespoon of this to butter. Add 4 eggs, 1 at a time with 1 tablespoon flour before each egg. Add flour alternately with 1 cup milk.

BRACKETED

By BRACK CURRY

Britain and Germany are fighting a battle of morale at present, marking time until spring weather will permit more intensified air, sea, and land operations. To date, the British are victors, having dealt exis prestige heavy blows in the Balkans through knockout victories in Africa and similar successes of their Greek allies in Albania.

The immediate and ultimate effect of these victories from the standpoint of morale is incalculable but should not be overestimated as a factor in the final outcome of the war. On the home front, the British people have been encouraged to endure more sacrifices and suffering with the thought that their African army is dealing punishing blows to the weary Italians.

Friends of the democracies in France, Spain, Turkey, Russia, the Balkans and the occupied states of Europe have drawn new encouragement to resist the Germans whenever and wherever the opportunity arises.

Negatively, the Italians have been disheartened and now have less enthusiasm for the war than at the beginning, which was little enough then. Italian home morale may be expected to take a further drop when the new armies of former Emperor Haile Selassie take the offensive against the isolated troops of Il Duce in Ethiopia.

These effects are significant. But, as this column has stated before, World War II will be decided on the Atlantic shores of Britain and of Europe, not primarily in the Mediterranean.

If Britain should succeed in knocking Italy completely out of the war, she would be little closer subduing Germany, unless the Italians should enter the war as a belligerent against their present allies.

Similarly, the successes against Italy in Africa and Albania will avail Britain nothing if the Germans launch a successful blitzkrieg against the British Isles this spring.

The war in Africa will serve a useful purpose only if the British are able to keep their island inviolate from invasion and aerial destruction, firstly, and then to carry the war to the continent with a land invasion.

Aside from the moral factor, the greatest gain which the British can anticipate from their African victories is the elimination of the weaker end of the axis and the freeing of the Mediterranean for their commerce. The naval units now patrolling the area from Gibraltar to the Suez Canal would make a needed addition to British naval strength elsewhere.

Germany, it must be remembered, is not depending upon Italy for assistance in her attack upon Britain. Her own resources were sufficient to subdue all of Europe. Her military strength on the land and in the air is the most formidable the world has ever seen.

Thus, we must conclude that the fighting in Africa, in Albania and in the Mediterranean is but a side-show for the larger spectacle which will be enacted this spring with Britain and Germany as the chief protagonists.

CHERRY DESSERTS FOR FEBRUARY

For Inviting Appearance, Sparkling Flavor and Downright Deliciousness This Cherry Charlotte Has Few Equals

When it comes to desserts, have you ever realized what a gold mine of menu assistance there is in that can of red pitted cherries that rests on your pantry shelf? While many homemakers limit their use of this popular fruit to the nation's favorite dessert—Cherry Pie—there are truly scores of recipes wherein cherries may play a stellar role.

Refrigerator desserts, salads, cakes, fritters, dumplings, cobblers, muffins, gelatin desserts and puddings are but a few of the many delightful recipes whose color, appearance and taste are greatly enhanced by the addition of cherries, whose tart sweetness provides a pleasing contrast to other foods.

Since the fresh cherry season is such a short one, homemakers can be thankful that commercial canners today are able to prepare and can cherries to such perfection that they equal the fresh fruit in taste, flavor and appearance.

Since this is the month that we observe George Washington's birthday, and, of course, recall the cherry tree episode, it is a logical time to take stock of your file of cherry favorites. February is also an ideal time to entertain the bridge club or start paying social debts, so you'll have many occasions to call upon the following cherry desserts.

Cherry Charlotte

- 2 lbs. plain gelatin
- 1/2 c. cold water
- 1 No. 2 can sour pitted cherries and juice
- 3/4 c. sugar
- 2 egg yolks
- 1 lb. lemon juice
- 1/2 c. sugar
- 2 egg whites
- 6-10 lady fingers, vanilla wafers or sponge cake strips
- 1 c. whipping cream

Soften the gelatin in cold water. Combine in a double boiler the 3/4 cup of sugar, cherry juice, slightly beaten egg yolks, and lemon juice. Cook until slightly thickened. Then add gelatin and cherries. Remove from heat and chill until thick, but not stiff. Fold in egg whites beaten with 1/2 cup sugar; also the whipped cream. Line a mold or pan with the lady fingers and fill with the gelatin mixture. Chill thoroughly and serve garnished with some of the cherries reserved for this purpose. Serves 6-8.

You'll marvel at the way canned cherries contribute their alluring color and incomparable flavor to this

Frozen Cherry Torte

- 1 No. 2 can sour pitted cherries
- 3 egg yolks
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3 egg whites, beaten stiff with
- 2 lbs. butter
- 2 lbs. lemon juice
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 1/2 cup rolled Graham cracker or vanilla wafer crumbs

Strain juice from cherries. Combine juice, 1/2 cup sugar, slightly beaten egg yolks in top of double boiler. Cook until slightly thickened. Remove from fire and add cherries and lemon juice. Cool until thick, but not firm, then fold in beaten egg whites and whipped cream. Turn into greased refrigerator tray that has been well coated with crumbs. Reserve enough crumbs to cover mixture with thin layer. Freeze until firm. Serves 6-8.
