Glenn Writes To The Boys of Army Life: Says, Okeh

Dear Mat: Well, you wanted to know something about the Army.

Take my word for it, because I am in and know. It is not bad at all, if you will keep your mind inside of the camp, and not let your mind wander all over Texas, and another thing, he should not be in love. That's what hurts these boys so bad. It's not the Army. It's the Girls they left at home.

Some of the boys here don't have any pictures of Girls, so I gave them a lot of pictures of girls from home and their addresses. They will be hearing from them soon.

The first day I was in the army I got my knee hurt and couldn't walk for about a week, and don't have to drill until it gets well, I think it will take eleven months and 20 days for it to get well enough to drill.

They had us playing leapfrog. We ought to have been playing checkers. Anyway, the boy raised up to see if I was going over about the time I was in the air, so I fell on my knee, but it is better now.

The hardest job I have had is Latrine duty. Of course all ex-soldiers will understand what I mean. J. B. "Cotton" Brown of Gatesville is in the same tent with me, 2 boys from Houston and two from Kingsville, makes 6 in all.

We are in the Field Artillery. The largest gun we have is the 155 mm cannon and it is no baby. We don't carry rifles, and glad of that, but we do carry a pistol. They told me yesterday that they were going to put me in the Motor Division.

I sure hate that, sit up there and drive a truck, while the rest of them are marching.

Reid Powell and Ernest Cummings came to see me the other day. They sure did look good to me.

I went to town last nite and met up with Red McCoy. He has a used car lot here in Brownwood. Of course, you just want to know about the army life. What Red and myself done doesn't belong to the Army so I won't say anything about it.

As I learn a little more I will let you know. Tell those boys that are about ready to come that the first thing to learn is to Gold Brick. If they don't know what Gold Brick is, tell them to watch some WPA worker and they'll

MAYOR C. E. GANDY PROCLAIMS WEEK OF MARCH 10-14, SPECIAL COFFEE WEEK

Due to the fact that Duncan Coffee Company, manufacturers of Admiration and Bright & Early Coffees are giving the Gatesville Fire Department 5c a pound on the former and 3c a pound on the latter in a sales drive here, Mayor C. E. Gandy has proclaimed the period March 10 to 14, as Special Coffee Week.

Mayor Gandy has stated that the fire boys give their services without remuneration and they assist in protecting the property of the city, and in some instances, the country, it is only fitting that this special notice be given in recognition of their good work.

Only recently, the News carried in $ and c the amount saved Gatesville taxpayers by the fire boys, and we have continually had a good insurance rate, due to their untiring efforts.

The firemen use the money so made for various purposes, including charity, keeping up their club room, and doing other things that are not in the least selfish.

It behooves all citizens, whether citizens of Gatesville or Coryell County, to participate in a small way in this campaign to make it the splendid success that it seems it will be at this time.

Help the Fire Boys, they help you!

DAWSON, JIM AND BOB OPEN FOR PLACES IN CITY ELECTION: NO INTEREST

Looks like a clean sweep in City Election, which will come off as per schedule, come the first Tuesday in April, with only three places to be considered.

In Ward 1 Alderman R. L. (Rodeo Bob) Saunders is out for reelection; J. O. (Jim) Brown, in Ward Two carries the baton for that ward, and on the financial end comes one Dawson Cooper, for re-election as City Treasurer.

May be it's the rain, but there don't seem to be any apparent interest, and these tried and true men seem to have the inside track on the deal.

'Course, there's a whole month ahead, and who knows!

WHAT GOD'S WORD TEACHES ABOUT MAN

His Original Condition

I. Man was created in the image of God. Gen. 1: 26, 27 "And God said, let us make man in our image after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. (Read Gen 9:6.)

But to what do this "image" and "likeness" refer? Answer: Eph. 4:23, 24, "And be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness."

Colossians 3:10. "And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him." (See Rom. 8:9; 2 Cor. 3:18; Col. 1:15).

The image and likeness plainly have reference to the intellectual and moral nature of man.

Man is like God in that he has power to think and to reason, to will, and in that he has a sense of right and wrong. These three elements constitute personality, and thereby sets man off from the rest of the animal kingdom. Man was created in righteousness and true holiness (Eph. 4:24). Since he has intellect, will power, and a sense of right and wrong, like God, he is made responsible for his willful acts toward God and toward God's creation.

There are some excellent teachers like Dr. R. A. Torrey who seem to think that man may have been created in the physical likeness of God. And that he may have lost much of this likeness in the fall of man. The physical condition of the serpent was very much changed after satan entered him. Man also lost much of his likeness to God when satan caused him to fall from his original God likeness.

II. The Original Intellectual and Moral Condition of Man.

Gen. 2:19, "And out of the ground the Lord God formed every beast of the field, and every fowl of the air; and brought them unto Adam to see what he would call them; and whatsoever Adam called every living creature, that the name thereof."

Gen. 1:28, "And God blessed them, and God said unto them (Adam and Eve) Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth and subdue it; and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth."

Man was created with sufficient intellectual capacity to give names to all living creatures and to have dominion over them. Since Adams time there has been no one else but Christ that has had such ability. "Man was not created an ignoramus nor a savage, but a being with lofty intellectual powers. Whatever truth there may be in the doctrine of evolution as applied within to the animal world, it breaks down when applied to man. It contradicts not only Scripture but the known facts of history. The developments of man from an originally low order of intellectual being closely resembling the ape, is a figment of unbridled imagination falsely dubbed science. There is absolutely no one fact to sustain it. The first view we get of man is of a being of splendid intellectual powers." Dr. R. A. Torrey. There are no record of monkeys making men out of themselves, but there are plenty of illustrations of men making monkeys of themselves.

In Genesis 3:1-6 we find the record of the fall of Adam and Eve from their holy estate. The devil entered a beautiful and wise serpent, through which he made Adam and Eve believe they would not die if they ate of the forbidden fruit, but instead would make them wise. They ate the forbidden fruit. Both spiritual and physical death came upon them and their posterity, and many curses came upon all living things as well the matrial earth. Paul tells us in Roman 5:12,14 "Wherefore, as by one man sin intered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned: . . . Nevertheless death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over them that had not shinned after the similitude of Adam's transgression, who is the figure of him that was to come." (See Ecclesiastes 7:29).

Man was not created a sinner, but sin entered into the world through man, by his conscious and voluntary choice.

As we read these passages of scripture we can have no doubt as to the fact of the fall of man, and through him the whole race fell, for he was the whole race. Man did not fall up, as some would have us believe, but he fell down. Falling is always in a downward direction. If he had not been very high up he could not have fallen far down. Lucifer was created the wisest of angels and placed in the most responsible place to which created beings could be placed, but he fell so low that God had to prepare a special low place for him. "Into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels." (Matt. 25:41). (See Isaiah 14: 12-17; Ezekiel 28: 12b-19). The highest of the human creation fell so far, that the same place is designated for him as was for the devil. If something is not done to save fallen man, he must spend eternity with the devil.

The steps in the fall were: (1) Listening to slanders against God. (2) Doubting Gods word and His love. (3) Looking at what God had forbidden. (4) Lusting for what God has prohibited. Gen. 3:6.

The devil has three avenues of approach to human beings: The lust of the flesh, the lust of the eye, and the pride of life. (1 John 2:16). The devil even tempted Jesus this way. (5) Disobeying God's commandments.

The woman was the first in this deception and transgression, Gen. 3:1; 1 Tim. 2:14, "And Adam was not deceived, but the woman being deceived, was in the transgression."

What was the result of the fall on the human race?

The answer is found in Romans 5:12,19. "Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned, (or constituted sinners. This fallen nature must be redeemed or we will be eternally lost. Our personal sins is not the worst of our sins. It is our fallen nature".

"For as by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one (Christ the second Adam) shall many be made righteous."

Some might say I would rather stand for myself. If you had stood for yourself you would have fallen as Adam did. When we see God's plan as it is, it is very gracious. As the first Adam fell for us, so we all would have done for ourselves; so the second Adam (Christ) obeyed for us, as none of us would have done if left to stand for ourselves.

I think we are all ready to acknowledge that by Adam's sin physical death has come to the human race. It is unescapable, regardless as to what we think about it. But we do hate to acknowledge that the same sin has brought spiritual death upon us, and that we have a fallen soul that must be saved. We are just as dependent on Christ for spiritual life, or in other words, eternal life as we are for physical life. "In Adam we all die, but in Christ we may all be made alive by accepting what he has done for us by his death on the cross."

Pastors of the cooperating churches: Rev. C. M. Spalding, Rev. E. L. Craig, and Rev. Edward S. Bayless, have assumed charge of the meeting, with the Rev. M. Bayless delivering the sermons.

A great deal of interest has been manifest on the part of the enrollees, and a great deal of this is felt to be due to the active cooperation and encouragement of Lieut. Coleman A. O'Brien, in charge of the Camp; Lieut. A. V. Blaylock, second in command; and S. B. Graham, Educational Director.

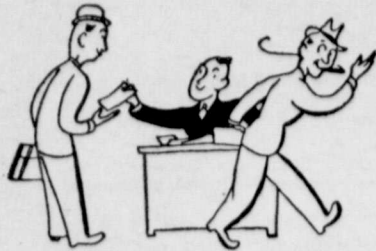

The meeting began last Sunday afternoon and has continued each night at 7:30, concluding tonight. Music has been in charge of singers and pianists from the Methodist and Baptist churches.

SELECTIVE SERVICE SYSTEM DEFERRMENT RULES ARE OUTLINED

No request for deferment of a Selective Service registrant from military training will be considered until his local board has sent a questionnaire to him, General J. Watt Page, State Director of Selective Service, declared today. He emphasized that a registrant can be deferred only by his local board and that no other group or person in the Selective Service System has jurisdiction until the local board has classified him.

Employers and dependents of prospective trainees who are submitting pleas for deferments in advance of time when they come up for classification by their local boards, Director Page said, "are merely complicating the work of local board without service to the Under Selective Service Regulations, local boards must classify registrants according to their order numbers, he pointed out, and said that when the time comes for the classification of a registrant, he, his employer, and his dependents must be given every opportunity to substantiate deferment claims. Any information submitted before a registrant receives his questionnaire from his local board, he added, probably would become obsolete and valueless.

NAT'L FARM DAY TO BE CELEBRATED SATURDAY 8TH

Celebrating National Farm Day, Saturday, March, farmers all over Texas will gather at meetings, dinners and rallies.

We are certain there will be meetings of various sorts here, but both Mr. Powell and Miss Gibson could not be seen to get the details.

At these meetings farm program legislation is discussed and worked out, and other matters are handled.

Saturday night, both President Roosevelt, Vice-President Wallace, and Secretary of Agriculture Wickard are scheduled to speak at an unannounced time.

MAGICIAN CANTRELL—

out of thin air or haul them out of his open mouth, it gets you again when you see it done another time.

Magician Cantrell likes to show his tricks to doctors and lawyers. They are gullible, or at least amenable to trickery. They just look and wonder, and are amazed and amused. Cantrell (alias Estil) says children are holy terrors for magicians. Some won't play before an audience of children. This, the magician thinks, is because children have inquisitive minds; they want to find out how a thing is done. They talk it up among themselves while the performance is going on and have an embarrassing habit of refusing to be mystified. Cantrell has worked out a counter offensive procedure. He works sucker tricks on children. His performance tonight is sponsored by the Junior Class of the high school.

Hornettes Meet Dodd City in First Game of State Tournament

GATESVILLE, LOTT AND ENNIS MAKE UP CENTRAL TEXAS ENTRIES

The Gatesville Hornettes played their first game of the Girls State Basketball meet last night in the Baylor gym against the Dodd City sextette. The game was scheduled to take place at 8:00.

The local team is well known to the fans who witness the meet each year, for the Hornettes have gone to the meet each year since its origination, and have gone far in the meet each year. In 1939 the Gatesville team took top honors and won the State Championship. Last year they only went to the quarter finals, but they lost to the team that went on to win the title.

This year the Hornettes have come through in great style to win the district meet, which was by no means a walk over.

Entered in the meet this year are several old entries, but scattered over the list are many teams which are making their first appearance in the tournament. Dodd City, the team which the local sextette plays in the first round, Ennis, Silsbee, Van Horn and a few others are playing their first games in a state tourney.

The Hornettes have their worries also, for early this week Camille Lester, or better known as "Slats", was reported to be ill and it is not known if she will be able to play in the State Tournament.

Leading the Hornettes on offense are four capable forwards, who have had their on and off moments during the season. "Dollie" Moore will be a serious threat to any team which has a loose defense. She showed a sample of this by her splendid play in the District Meet here last week, and also by coping the high point honors of the tournament. Linnie Faye Turner, a long shot artist, will also give the opposing guard a little trouble for her long shots have saved the Hornettes more games than one this season. She was runner up to Moore for scoring honors at the meet. Doris Patterson and Doris Perkins are two other goal throwers that will lead the locals into the meet. Patterson, a fine crisp shot artist and also a fine long shot will team with Moore and Turner to make the Hornettes starting lineup. Perkins, a fine crisp shooter and one of the fastest and best hustlers on the squad will be on hand to fill any place that the others may not be able to handle as well as they should.

On the other end of the court we find one of the best set of guards ever to set foot on the Gatesville court. At the center position is Lester, a fast and a ball fighter if there ever was one. Dorothy Mueller, another fast and a ball hustler forms one side the guard's court. Co-Captain Black forms the other part of the trio. All three of these girls are great guards and it would not be at all surprising to see any one of them selected on the all-state team. Apel, Holcomb, and Featherston are another set of guards which have pushed the first set all season and will probably see service in the meet.

With such capable ball players as these the local team may go far in the meet and you can bet that the team that beats them deserves a State Championship. Mrs. Balch, their coach, has sent them through hard workouts this week and they are expected to be in top shape for the meet.

Gatesville shares the Central Texas entry with Lott and Ennis. The latter sextette is a slight favorite to take the meet, but Mesquite, a southeast Texas entry, has beaten them and thus makes the odds for the meet anybody's.

Thursday's Schedule:
Lapoyner vs. Silsbee—2:00 p. m.
Mesquite vs. Sidney—3:00 p. m.
Rusk vs. Anton—4:00 p. m.
Blanco vs. Trent—6:00 p. m.
Mobettie vs. Lott—7:00 p. m.
Dodd City vs. Gatesville, 8:00 p. m.
Van Horn vs. Ennis—9:00 p. m.
Friona drew a bye.

The second round of play will be Friday and Saturday. The finals will be played Saturday night, trophies and all kinds of other awards will be presented then. The State Meet is under the direction of L. C. McKainie of Abbott. The board of directors which he has consulted with is made up of coaches from various schools in Texas. The meet, which is said to be the best that has ever been held, is the third that has ever been held. Gatesville won the title in 1939 and Wayside won it last year, but with sixteen entries this year it is anyone's title.

The State Tournament is on and with sixteen district champions entered in the meet, it will be anybody's meet. Lott, Ennis, and Gatesville make up the central Texas entries.

The Hornettes met the Dodd City sextette in the first game, which was slated to take place at 8:00 last night. Nothing is known of the opposing team, but a team which can win a district title must be made up of some good ball players.

With the close of the Girls State Basketball meet the basketball for this county will be dead. Baseball will then make its unofficial appearance, and it won't be long till the News Baseball League takes shape. Those who are interested in entering a team in the race are urged to do so as soon as it is possible.

The High School Junior Basketball tournament will be held this week end at the Ireland gymnasium. The Gatesville Juniors have won the tournament for the last two years.

We stated in the last issue that Ireland had entered a basketball team in the TAAF tournament held in Waco last Friday and Saturday night. However the team failed to show up and the Jones Fine Bread team of Waco won on a forfeit.

The Brooklyn National League baseball team and the Dallas team of the Texas League have booked a ball game at Waco on April 3. The third falls on Thursday, and it will be one of the last games for the Dodgers before they return to Brooklyn to start the Major league schedule.

The Gatesville High School track team is in training, and from reports we hear that they have some mighty good material. There are only a few lettermen back from last season's team, but with many rural boys in, Coach Pruitt has hopes of a winning team.

It won't be long till spring training begins for the Hornets. With several lettermen back from last season's squad, and many of last years reserves on the squad, the Hornets may have bright prospects for next year's team.

We notice where Brents Boyles of the San Marcos Bobcat basketball team, and from Evant, was one the ring leaders in the win over the favored East Texas Lions with a dozen points. However the night before the Bobcats lost to North Texas, but Boyles managed to score seven points.

Junior Basketball Tourney Held At Ireland This Week

The High School Junior Basketball tournament will be held this week end at Ireland. There is high interest in the tournament, and with many teams entered it is expected to be a big meet. The Gatesville High Juniors have won the meet for the last two years and will again make a bid for the title this year, but with such entries as Jonesboro, Pearl, Copperas Cove, Evant, Turnersville Flat and Oglesby there is expected to be some real games in the offering.

We have not seen the schedule for the tournament, but are informed that the finals will be held Saturday night.

F.S.A. ASSISTANCE AVAILABLE TO MORE FARMERS

The Farm Security Administration is preparing to extend its rehabilitation loan program to more small farmers in Coryell County, Rural Supervisor, George C. Moore announced today.

"These loans are made to help farmers to stay on the land and do a better job of farming," Mr. Moore said. "Livestock and equipment, food, feed, seed, and fertilizer are some of the things which are included in FSA loans in addition to general crop production." "Any farmer, no matter whether he is a tenant or owner, is eligible for an FSA loan," he explained, "if he has a family-size farm on which he is now located or can find one, and can work out a farm plan to repay the loan over a period as long as five years." Loans are made only to farmers who cannot get the required financing from any source.

"The FSA supervisor said that this year Coryell County farmers have been slower to take advantage of the FSA's loan service and that they wanted "every farmer in need of this assistance to call at his office before the season becomes too far advanced." The FSA office is located over the Coryell County News Building.

GATESVILLE, TEXAS 5c A COPY VOLUME IX
FRIDAY, MARCH 7, 1941 NUMBER 23

By Wm. L. Sleeper, Secretary to Congressman W. R. Poage

Out of a very snowy atmosphere this morning our Congressman, W. R. Poage, advised me that he had decided it was about time for me to write a news letter to the people of the District. To my demurrer to this he advised me that it had always been the custom for each one in the office to write at least one letter during the year. It goes without the necessity of saying that I feel honored in having the duty fall upon me, and likewise I feel humble in carrying out my first newspaper assignment. However, there are so many things that could be said in a news letter concerning Washington and all of the activities continually going on here that the main question will be what not to tell the readers rather than what to tell them. So this letter can at best only hit upon a few of the high lights of what I have seen and heard since I arrived.

Without going into details it would be impossible to write without stating that the inauguration of the President was one of the most impressive sights that I have ever witnessed. The City was filled with people from all parts of the country and I can sincerely state that I have never seen such a responsive and enthusiastic gathering. Our Congressman, in his usual thoughtful manner, provided all his "hired help" with most desirable seats, in fact we were so close to the ceremony that it seemed you could almost reach out and shake the hand of the President. The simplicity and dignity of the ceremony was most impressive, and the response of the gathering of many thousands of people to the President's address certainly showed the patriotic feeling of the country.

Shortly after my arrival the now famous Lend-Lease Bill, commonly referred to as "1776" around the Capitol, was introduced in Congress. I then had my first lesson on "how laws are passed in Congress". It has been most interesting to follow the procedure and the steps in the passing of this bill. The hearings that were conducted on the Bill in the Committees both of the House and the Senate were most interesting, but those of us who felt that the passing of this Bill was most vital to the defense of our country could not help but be aggravated at the seeming delay caused by the extended hearings. But the Bill is now safely through the House and we hope that it will pass the Senate within a short time. As anxious as we were to see it pass and become a law we still can see the necessity for such hearings in order that the details of the bill might be carefully considered be-fire it becomes law. This Bill and the various defense appropriation bills have been introduced and are now in the hands of the Committees for consideration, among them being several dealing with the agricultural problems of the country and particularly the South.

Speaking of the South brings up a matter that I have enjoyed as much as anything else in Washington. For many years the Southern members of Congress and the Southern men in the various departments have had a gathering which meets each week and known as the Southern Policy Group. The sole purpose of this group is to meet and discuss the needs of the South and plan ways and means by which advantages can be obtained for the South. Mr. Poage, our Congressman, has had the honor this year of being selected the Chairman of this Group. He has also extended to me an invitation to become a member of the Group. The practise is to invite the heads of the different Departments to be the speakers and to discuss a subject that would be of interest to the people of the South. Among the past speakers have been Honorable Harry Slatery of the Rural Electrification Administration; Dr. H. H. Bennett of the Soil Conservation Service; Honorable Robert Patterson, the Under Secretary of War, who spoke on the Defense Program as related to the South; Honorable Arthur Flemming, of the Civil Service Commission, who spoke on the question of employment in government service; and Honorable Leland Olds of the Federal Power Commission, who talked on the development of power in the South. This group not only has the opportunity to gain information in this informal manner, but the association and friendship that is engendered among the members has made it a powerful force in Congress.

As a last thought to the people of the District, I want to state that I have found that the entire delegation in Congress from Texas is considered one of the outstanding groups in the House. They act practically unanimously on matters of importance to the State, and all of the members are respected and honored by the entire House. Many of the Texas members are on the most important committees in the House, and our District should be proud that our Congressman has had the honor of being placed on the Agriculture Committee, one of the most important and most sought-after committees of the House. He has already established himself here in Washington as being the best fitted man in the Texas delegation for this important assignment, and I can personally assure you that he is working over-time on matters pertaining to the Committee.

Heads Jackson Day Campaign in Texas

George A. Butler

George A. Butler, well-known Houston attorney and Democratic leader, is chairman of the Texas Jackson Day campaign this year. He heads the annual drive to collect funds for the national Democratic party organization which will culminate with the annual Jackson Day Dinner to which all subscribers of $25 or more are invited guests. The Jackson Day Dinner will be held in the Rice Hotel at Houston, where the Jackson Day committee have opened offices. Previous Jackson Day rallies have all been held in Dallas. The banquet will be on the night of Saturday, March 29. Appointment of George A. Butler as chairman was announced by National Committeeman Myron G. Blalock.

Again I state that I could go on indefinitely concerning the happenings here in Washington, but I realize that our friend, the Editor of this paper, has other items that must be given to the people, so I will sign "30" for the present.

SIDE GLANCES ON TEXAS HISTORY

By Charles O. Hucker
University of Texas Library

"If you kill me it will be like a spark in the prairie—make big fire! burn heap!"

A jury of Texas frontiersmen once sat in court at the little town of Jacksboro and deliberated the fate of an Indian who threw that threat in their faces, University of Texas Library records show.

It was in 1871, when Jacksboro was still a frontier town. The Indian was Satanta, veteran council chief of the Kiowas, who with another chief, Big Tree, had led a raid in which seven Americans were massacred. These were the first Indian chieftains ever tried in an American civil court—and Satanta dared the white men to convict him.

It was perhaps the most dramatic trial in the history of Texas—and so significant that finally the president of the United States had to step in to settle the case.

According to the principles of justice, there was no question about it. For two years the Kiowas had preserved a peace which Satanta himself had made with the United States government; and now Satanta and Big Tree with 150 warriors had attacked a wagon train, killed and scalped six drivers outright, tied a seventh to a wheel of a burning wagon—and had come to Fort Sill to boast of it.

Immediately General W. T. Sherman, who was then in the territory, had clapped them in irons. And there he kept them, despite the pleas and threats of Kicking Bird, the greatest of the Kiowa chiefs, who personally came to demand their release.

So early in July Satanta and Big Tree were shipped down to Jacksboro for trial. On the fifth it got underway before an audience which included directly a packed court room and indirectly the rest of the nation. Two Indian chiefs on trial was a curiosity in itself; and when that trial might presumably touch off a general Indian uprising, it was of significance to everyone in the country.

With the formal evidence presented—Satanta himself had admitted his guilt at Fort Sill—the jury was ready to retire.

But then, dramatically, Satanta rose to have his say. Still handcuffed, he spoke in the Comanche language, common among the plains Indians, and thundered his threat into the face of the court.

"I am a big chief among my people," he said, "and I have great influence among the warriors of my tribe. They know my voice and will hear my word. If you will let me go back to my people, I will withdraw my warriors from Tehanna. I will take them all across the Red River, and that shall be the line between us and the pale faces. I will wash out the spots of blood and make it a white land; there shall be peace, and the Tehannas may plow and drive their oxen to the banks of the river."

That was his bargain, and this was his challenge:

"But if you kill me it will be like a spark in the prairie—make big fire! burn heap!"

It was with that threat in their minds that these frontiersmen retired to reach a decision. They knew—and the nation knew—what responsibility was upon them. Their deliberation was short. And when the foreman gave their verdict to the court it was—murder in the first degree, punishable by death!

It is said that, after a deep, wondering silence of several minutes, joy broke forth in that court room. However, subsequent pressure and the danger of shaky Indian relations brought commutation to life imprisonment from Governor E. J. Davis, then an outright parole from U. S. President Grant. Satanta and Big Tree were released.

Thus the possibility of outright war between the Indians and the white men was apparently averted for the time.

To end the story, however—it happened that Satanta so flagrantly violated his parole that in 1874 he had to be taken to the Texas state penitentiary; and there shortly afterward he either committed suicide or broke his neck trying to escape.

100 YEARS AGO IN TEXAS

The Congress of the Republic of Texas had just passed a bill providing for a postal service throughout the nation. Thirty-four mail routes were planned, each to be run weekly by the lowest bidder for the particular job.

The sales, managed by Mr. Wall, widely known stockman, will be weekly affairs.

SEN. CONNALLY URGES PASSAGE OF LEND-LEASE MEASURE

Senator Tom Connally in his speech in the Senate last week in favor of the Lease-Lend bill, called upon Congress to present a united front to those who would destroy democracy and free government, and a united front to those who are rallying and defending and fighting for their lives and for free governments.

In analyzing the bill, Senator Connally disproved the contention that the bill establishes a dictator. He pointed out that the bill (1) does not deprive any citizen of any of his American liberties, (2) it limits the actions of the President to defend the national defense of the United States, (3) it continues the control of the purse in the hands of Congress, and (4) it sets the termination date of the bill on June 30, 1943, or sooner if Congress so desires.

Notes of an Innocent Bystander

The Front Pages: Benito Pop-Eye is so busy getting out of England's way that he hasn't noticed his press is getting lippy. Telegrafo of Leghorn, his own son-in-law's rag, is the sassiest. It admits the beating at Bengazi and even praises the victors' ability. . . . The Spanish dailies are exhibiting boldness, too. They warn that Weygand's French army isn't keeping in shape just for a parade. They remind the Fascists the French would like to get hunk for the back-stabbing of last June. . . . Wendell Willkie, The Nation tells you, is satisfied to keep a-feudin' with publisher Roy Howard. That weekly reports that Wendell declined to have the Howards as farewell buddies when he clipped to Europe. . . . And Willkie's alliance with FDR inspires Detroit's columnist Harry V. Wade to anticipate the day when the Republican party will consist entirely of the Chicago Tribune.

The Story Tellers: The bad bargain the Bolos made with Berlin at the start of the war is exposed by Dr. Oleg Hoefding in Free Europe, publication of exiles in London. Moscow hoped to make the Heinies dependent on the Soviet Union. But Hitler's snatch of tiny nations shifted the advantage to himself. Which is why all the fingernails are short around the Kremlin—gnawed away. . . . When an RAF flier takes off to strafe the Huns he knows where he's heading, take it from Carl Olson, writing in London's Illustrated. Every target is ticketed in France and Naziland, and the bomb that hits it was the one that was picked for that spot. . . . Irwin Shaw is talking back to PM's cricketer Kronenberger. Shaw's play, "Retreat to Pleasure," had to retreat. Post-morteming it in Stage, Shaw says Kronenberger has lots of unpublished and unproduced matter souring in his desk.

The Wireless: Jerome Frank, the SEC commish'ner, coined "brutalitarian" as a synonym for Nazi. But Winston Churchill doesn't need synonyms. If you heard him say "Nazi" in the classic he broadcast recently you know he puts his own sting in his wordage. The loathing he packed into "Nazi" seared the wave lengths.

Men About Town

New Yorkers Are Talking About: The investigation going on in Congressman Ham Fish's district. . . . FDR's big Caribbean project which Sumner Welles of the state dept "knows nothing about". . . . D. Thompson, who wasn't fired by the H.-T. She plans a hop to London next month. . . . The rumor that Clare Boothe's show "The Women" may be revived under the title: "Arsenic and Old Luce". . . . How only two months ago Gen Krivitsky (re-entering the U. S. via Canada after a year's wait for permission) sang lustily with his wife and child as they crossed the border. And how chums now say: "Why a man so happy two months ago should kill himself, we can't understand."

Knudsen and Hillman who want the President to draft B. Baruch into gov't service. . . . Lockheed making fewer planes this year because it isn't getting delivery of fabricated aluminum parts. Besides, it is compelled to stack uncompleted planes in empty lots because it hasn't engines for them! . . . The rumor that LaGuardia has been offered the post of prexy at City college.

Jack Benny's recent trip to N. Y. They are saying it wasn't only to see "Charley's Aunt," as reported, but to try and get out of his radio contract, Joe Penner's sudden death convincing Benny the strain isn't worth $16,500 weekly. . . . Whatever became of those investigations Wm. Rhodes Davis, the oil operator, "demanded" of Senator Wheeler to "clear his name"? And what happened to the probe of Verne Marshall? Ditto the investigation promised against control of Nazi moneymen in U. S. industry? Who forgets them so conveniently?

The trouble Paramount is encountering with the pulpit over Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls." Because the Loyalists are glorified and because Marie never got a wedding ring once during the story. . . . Konrad Bercovici's autobiog, due in April—which mentions front-page names. . . . Its title: "And This Is Only the Beginning."

The New York Scene

Sallies in Our Alley: Jerry Cooper and a pal paused to read the Times Bldg. news flashes. . . . "Looks like it's curtains for Mussolini," said the friend. . . . "I think," added Jerry, "Venetian blinds would be the phrase". . . . Milton Berle was gabbing about the unimportance of Spain was like a crouching panther and tiny England, across the channel, was her quarry. Bled by conquest, swollen with successful wars, and with the life blood of gold from the colonies running through her veins the Land of the Inquisition was building slowly against the day when her swift attack would swallow up the tiny island kingdom.

Chapter One

In the year 1587, wily Elizabeth depended on her freebooters to halt Spain's furious march. Gallant seafarers like Drake, Hawkins, Frobisher and the Richard Ingolby who was just putting about in a small boat to smash his prow through the sail of his Spanish adversary.

Amid cheers and shouted curses the English seamen swarmed on board the enemy, to be met by a wall of slashing steel. Sir Richard's sword rose and fell, rose and fell. Behind him his youthful son Michael parried blows with the skill of an old warrior. Suddenly Sir Richard faced a man dressed in a rich Spanish costume. "Richard!" shouted his adversary. "Miguel!"

"Poor boy!" and was determined to nurse him to health.

Michael healed rapidly, and with the infectious good spirits of youth found a ready ally in Elena. To her he talked of England, his brown-eyed Cynthia. From her he heard of her impending marriage. Elena was dark-eyed, winsome and gentle, and glad of Michael's companionship, but when he questioned her about the whereabouts of his father, she was evasive. Even Don Miguel put off the question.

Weeks passed and Michael, easily learning Spanish from the lips of his attractive teacher, was teaching her in turn his native songs. One in particular intrigued her. It ran, "Will you hear a Spanish lady, how she wooed an Englishman." And as she carefully picked it out on her lute, Elena and Michael sat on the shore looking over to Lisbon.

Michael eased to be attentive, and Elena turned to him, "What are you staring at?" she asked.

"The smoke," said Michael, pointing across the bay to Lisbon, "It is so thick you can hardly see the roofs."

Elena shot a look of concealed dismay at Michael. "It is just smoke," she said. "Come, I am go-cried the Englishman and his point dropped.

"Poor Boy!" whispered Don Miguel's daughter.

"Father, he knows you!" shouted Michael and lunged out at the Spaniard. With a skillful thrust of his rapier, the Spaniard disarmed the youth, dropped him to the deck.

When Michael again saw his father, the smoldering wreck of their ship had been left far behind. They were now the prisoners of Don Miguel de Casans, the Spaniard who had been his father's youthful friend in England, and the man for whom Michael had been named. There was the shadow of worry on Sir Richard's face. He knew that to be delivered into the hands of the Inquisition meant certain death. But he had been pleading for the life of his son. "Go on deck!" he ordered Michael. Then to Don Miguel, "Is it not possible to help the boy?"

Don Miguel turned away to hide his distress. "It's each for himself, sink or swim," he said. Then as the thought occurred to him, "Sink or swim, do you hear me, Richard?"

Swiftly, the old sea-dog followed his son to the deck. There was a quick inspection of Michael's shoulder wound, whispered instructions. One moment of reluctant leave-taking, then a splash as Michael dove and struck out for safety.

Providence and dogged determination guided Michael to the estate of Don Miguel, bordering the sea. There he was found at night, unconscious from pain and exhaustion. And Elena, Don Miguel's daughter, looking at him, breathed ing into the house."

They entered to find Don Miguel pacing nervously before the fire place. Advancing to Michael, the Spaniard grasped the wounded shoulder. "Healed at last, eh?" he spoke. Then after a pause, "Michael, I am going to hurt you again."

Before the boy could recover from his amazement, Don Miguel had blurted out the whole story. Richard Ingolby had died, sentenced by the Inquisition to the stake. The distant smoke Michael saw was his father's pyre. To his son, the father had left these last words, "It isn't our quarrel. It isn't the Queen's quarrel. It's a war of ideas."

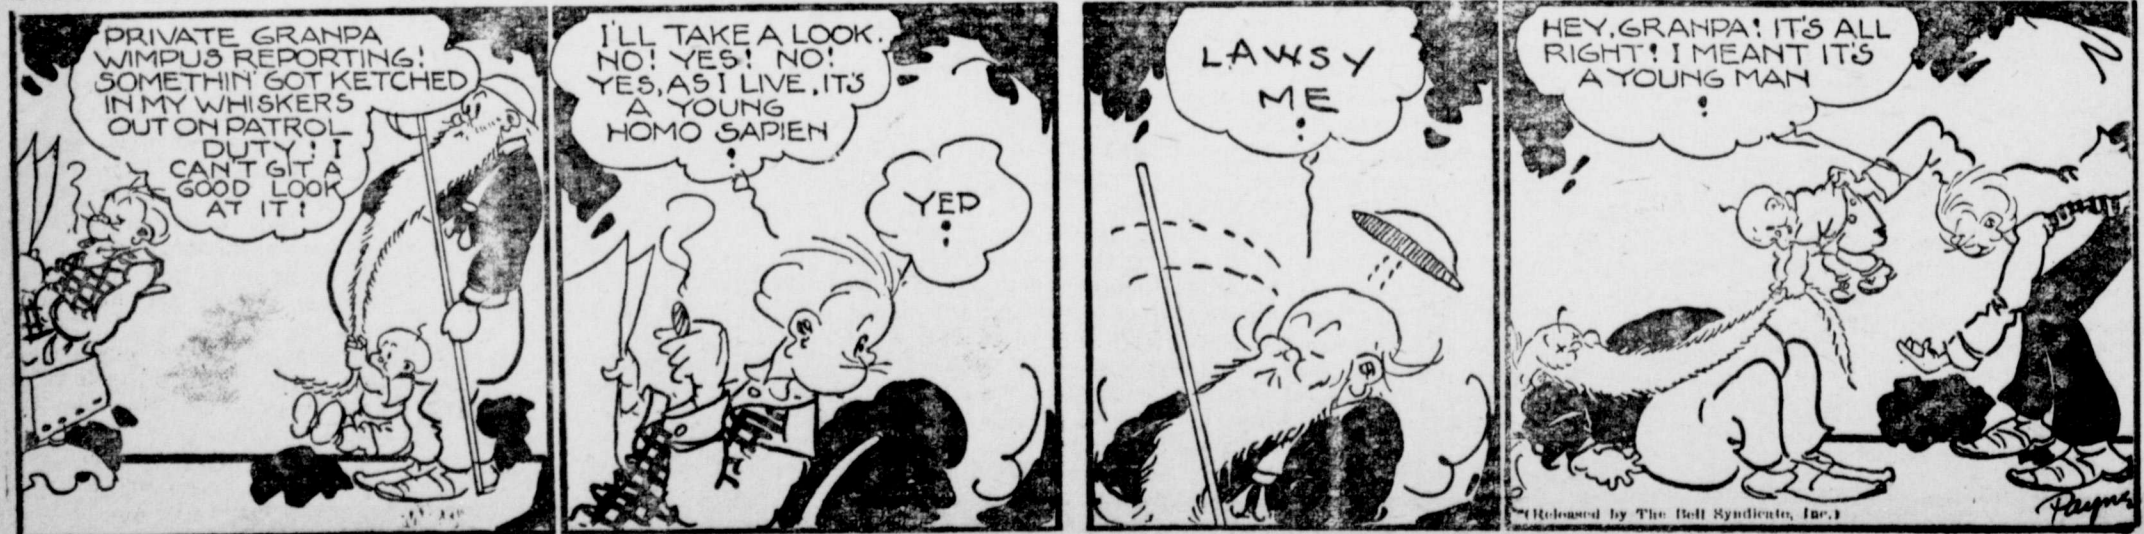

Gasping, pale with horror, Michael tore himself from Don Miguel's grasp, ran back to the shore to stare in amazement at the last wisps of smoke disappearing over Lisbon. Then as grief overcame him, he sank to the ground, overcome by uncontrollable spasms of tears. For hours he lay unnoticed. Then he rose, wiped the tears from his eyes.

Michael was cold, determined now. He never wanted to see either Don Miguel or Elena again. His sole idea was to flee this horrible Spain. And, scouting cautiously along the harbor, he found an unguarded fishing boat. Watching his opportunity, he dropped into the boat, cast off lines and rapidly hauled sail as he headed out to sea. He was returning to England, to home and Cynthia.
