Dr. Hall Suggests Canning For New Hospital Here

Due to the fact that the proposed Coryell County-Gatesville hospital has been okehed in San Antonio's WPA office and now awaits official approval in Washington, Dr. T. M. Hall, suggests those who are canning, while they're at it, can two to six jars or cans of food, and make this donation to the hospital.

Someone has to take the initiative, so Dr. Hall asks that all those who might have some of this canned food to contribute, bring it to his office in the City Drug Store. The name will be taken, address, number of cans or jars, and a receipt will be issued for them. When the hospital is finally opened, these will be exhibited at the open house celebration.

ERNEST WOODSON JR. IN SERIOUS CONDITION AT WACO HOSPITAL

Ernest Woodson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Woodson of this city is reported in a critical condition at the Providence Sanitarium in Waco. He is the victim of peritonitis that was said to have resulted from an injury on the 15th of this month.

Details as to the way the accident occurred were lacking but was reported that young Woodson was helping load a large truck with sand to be used in hauling cattle. He was thought to have got himself in somewhat of a cren as he was lifting a shovel of sand and dislocated his kidneys resulting in the injury.

When his condition failed to improve he was taken to the Waco hospital last Saturday and has failed to respond to any treatment there. At the present time he is in a critical condition.

The announcement came yesterday morning, after the officials had a joint breakfast at Peyton's Cafe, which was attended by H. C. Jones, Mrs. Mabel Gardner, President Joe Walker, H. K. Jackson, Andrew Kendrick, George Painter, Robert W. Brown, J. Hurl McClellan, Louis Thomson, B. K. Cooper, Mrs. Tom L. Mears, Secretary, and we understand, hostess.

'Somebody's Goin' To Be Sorry, Sat.' We Don't Know, Do You?

MARTIN DIES

LYDEN JOHNSON

It's a hoss race? This U.S. Senatorial race, and has created the only interest this summer, except the rain, war and Selective Service, not to mention the proposed army camp in Central Texas.

Saturday's the last day, and if you've seen Dave, or are over the age limit, it's your boundin' duty to go to your voting box and do your bit.

Now there's a lot of men in this race, we don't know all of them, but the main men are: Dies, Johnson, O'Daniel and Mann.

Then, there are the following OTHER democrats: Bean, Hatfield, Newsome, Somerville, Williams, Fisher, Head, King, Thompson, Calvin, Gilliland, Heath, Ryan, Waller, Davis, Harding, Hicks, Morris, Schulz and Welch. Dr. John R. Brinkley dropped out some time ago.

For the Republicans, there is Elvins; Jones is an Independent, and Brooks, the Communist.

We don't guess any of the above with the exception of the Big Four will get as much as ten votes, and we wouldn't go against the Belden Poll, and make a prediction, but we don't think it is correct. We said "think".

The NEWS, the news center of Gatesville and Coryell County, will endeavor, thru the cooperation of the election officials and judges, to give you the "dope" just as soon as it is possible to get it.

The NEWS also is the local representative of the Texas Election Bureau, the election statistics

PROGRAM AT MOTHER NEFF STATE PARK, JULY 4 AT 3 O'CLOCK

Former Governor and President Pat M. Neff of Baylor University announces there'll be a program at Mother Neff State Park, the afternoon of July 4 at 3 o'clock.

There'll be speaking and music with plenty of time to visit and get acquainted. President Neff stated in his letter he hoped this July 4 celebration will be "contracted" as a habit for all other July fourths.

W.P.A. FOR DISTRICT TO BE REDUCED FROM 6,640 TO 5,214

Sharp curtailment in WPA lists have been announced from the District Office in Waco, and the district will lose 1,430 off the pay roll.

Cause of this is the reduced appropriations from Washington, and the defense program which is taking many away. Another reason is the supervisory cost, which is too high where there are only a relatively few workers.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Mayes Jr., Miss Louise Mayes and Mrs. Harold Chamlee visited in Waco Wednesday night.

Mrs. Mary Murray and son, Billy, have returned to their home in Dallas after a visit with Miss Edna Murray in this city.

CHRYSLER REFUSES CAR PRICE CUT

Austin, June 25 (UP)—An amazing proposal for Texas to build an army, navy and take other defense steps just as tho it were still the Republic of Texas, was outlined here today in correspondence between Governor O'Daniel and President Roosevelt, made public by O'Daniel campaign headquarters.

The President found the proposal "somewhat breathtaking", the correspondence reveals, but thought it unnecessary to place larger share of the burden of national defense upon Texas than was borne by other states of the Union.

Let's All Close The Fourth, Is Suggestion

Usually about this time every year the favorite question is "Are the stores going to close the 4th?" We can never answer this, and never can, but when the 4th rolls around, nine out of ten are closed. Anyway, we've seldom been able to find any customers on that day. We'll be shut, even if we are not closed, and we'll more than likely be closed.

Let's all be a bit more patriotic this awful year of 1941 and "shut". You and we need a little relaxation, and that's a mighty good way to get it. Just close up, and rest up during this day—anyway, do something different from the regular routine.

L. B. Brown, Leonard Meeks and W. B. Meeks left yesterday for a week's fishing trip to old Mexico.

Mrs. Henry Wiegand has just returned from an extended visit with friends and relatives in Huntington, Indiana.

The midweek prayer service begins at 7:45 each Wednesday evening. Let us come to this most helpful midweek meeting.

There will be no choir practice for the next six or eight weeks. This two months of mid-summer are taken for some rest from the regular meetings. The choir will bring good music in the Sunday services each week, and you will want to hear it.

The pastor wants to thank all who cooperated in any way for the good of the meeting that closed last Sunday. Especially does he want to thank the town's newspapers for their fine contributions in the form of publicity. They did their part in this nobly.

Pvt. Eugene Parks, who is in the U.S. Army, stationed at Camp Claiborne, Louisiana, is a guest of friends and relatives here. He also has been visiting in Midland.

Looks as though the proposed softball league has more or less hit a snag in getting all the details worked out. The officials, in whose hands lies the management of the local stadium have not given us any definite answer as to whether we can have such a league or not. Since this is a so called a municipal stadium why isn't it possible for a group of the younger people of the city to have a benefit of said stadium. If we could get permission to start the league it could be started in a week but continued delayed action will result in no softball this year.

It's up to the said officials as to whether this sport will be a reality this season or not. It wouldn't hurt at all if this league could get started and the people of the city would have somewhere to go for entertainment at a very low cost. This league will not be run as a money-making project but as a good clean sporting project.

The prospects of Coryell County having an entry in the State Semi-pro tournament this year has seemed to raise no enthusiasm at all from the ball players from over the county. For a fact, it's merely a proposed team but there will have to be some of the players or more of the players interested if any entry is made. Your sports writer is not a baseball player himself but I have taken it on myself to help organize a team if the players want it. I can't see everyone personally regarding this team; and since I can't the only way that I'll know whether you want it or not is to drop me a card or come in to see about it. There is not much more time left to get organized and if something can't be done soon the whole thing will have to be dropped and forgotten.

Everyone interested and would like to see Coryell county have an entry in the State Semi-Pro tournament are urged to drop the News office around 3:00 Saturday the 28th. There will be a discussion on the issue.

The State Juvenile Training School will play the Waco State Home this afternoon at the State diamond. As you remember these two teams have played two or three games this year and this should be a thriller like all the rest. There is no admission charge so drop out to the state this afternoon for a good game.

The Waco Dons play the Hughes Tool team of Houston at Katy park Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. This will be the second contest this season between these two teams, with Waco winning the first in the 9th frame as Jerry Feille stole home base. Both teams will probably have a better team on the field Sunday than any time this year. The Dons will be using Jack Jakucki on the mound for the first time this year. He was awarded the prize as being the best semi-pro pitcher in Texas last year. The Houston team will be using Leonard Furton as pitcher.

There is a unique game booked for next Tuesday night at Katy Park as the Dons meet the Cameron Idealers in a baseball-softball game. The teams will play softball when the Dons are batting and will play baseball when the Idealers are batting. Some of the Don players will be looking at softball pitching for the first time and will probably find it very puzzling as will the Idealers.

The Dons will play three games with the Randolph Flyers next week. They will meet the strong army team Thursday night under the lights and will play a double header on July the 4th in the afternoon. These two teams have met twice this year both claim one victory. There was a total of 7 scores made in their two games so you see it will be worth your time to see some of these games. In their two previous meetings the score has been tied at the start of the 9th one and one.

Randolph has two fine pitchers in Crostwait and Cololkey and you can bet that both will be leveling down in these games.

Don't forget one game next Thursday night and a double header the next afternoon.

Mr. Reesing, owner of the Gatesville Drug stated that he regretted very much losing the services of Ward but is proud that he is able to open a business for himself and wished him much success in the new store.

Knowing the Ward Jamesons as we do it will be to Hubbard's gain as they were honored and respected members of this city. Gatesville could ill afford to lose such a family. We join hands with the rest in wishing the Jamesons the best and urge them to come back and pay us a visit every chance they get.

Mr. Ward Burris, Sports Editor, The Express, San Antonio, Texas
Dear Wardie:

I see where that general said the older boys gets winded a playin' drop the handkerchief. I thought they was drafted to run tanks and shoot guns—or am I wrong about it?

I think my boy friend is a gettin' ready to pop the question, he is a beginnin' to worry about the high cost of livin' and lookin' at the grocery ads.

I tell him the basis of successful marriage is a mutual understandin—that I'm boss and we both understand it.

I was in San Antone last week to see the Missions. After the game I thought I saw Umpire Dusty Boggess on the street, but it was two other guys. While I was in town I telephoned the zoo, and after I couldn't get them I asked the operator about it, and she said: "The Lion is busy, I'm sorry, the Lion is busy." Wouldn't that jar you?

I seen where they made Mr. Ikes high mogul of the oil industry. They should have specified "banana oil."

Congress is in favor of givin' the public gasless Sundays and the public is in favor of Congress havin' some gabless week-days.

A feller asked me down at the honky tonk if I'd ever been to college and I said, shore. He asked me what sorority I belonged to and I come right up with it—Gotta Grabba Poppa.

I guess we better haul out that old song "Don't bite the hand that's feedin' you." And we might bring back "Won't the Old men have a hot time while the young men are away." Hot ziggidy!

I'll be a seein' you, Pal.

Gatesville, Texas
Dear Mat:

The second annual reunion for ex (and present) residents of Coryell County will be held at Lubbock, Sunday, July 6.

This occasion will be commemorated with a free barbecue and all the accessories.

On the previous year with but little advance publicity approximately 175 persons took advantage of the opportunity of the old time get-together. This year, the gathering should be much larger. All Coryell Countians present and past are most earnestly requested to attend this gala occasion. Bring nothing but brotherly love and a big appetite.

The reunion affords all the rare opportunity to meet and renew friendships acquired thru the past several decades.

Plan and arrange to follow the old Mackenzie trail to Lubbock on July 6 for a day of pleasure and relaxation with those who have followed the advice of Horace Greeley.

Sincerely,
Bruce Hendrickson

GASLESS SUNDAYS

It begins to look as if gasless Sundays might not be so necessary after all—if certain bare-knuckle reforms in the oil industry are put through by new National Oil Administrator Ickes. For instance, the tanker system.

When an oil tanker comes from the Gulf of Mexico up the East coast, it may stop at Charleston to discharge part of its oil, then at Norfolk, then at Baltimore. It discharges a certain amount at each port where its company distributes or refines oil.

Simultaneously, a tanker belonging to another company will stop off at exactly the same ports. Thus the tankers of three or even four different companies may be feeding the same cities at the same time.

If, on the other hand, one company served one section of the country, or if one tanker delivered oil to all the companies in each port instead of only to its own, distribution would be measurably speeded.

Also, there are four different types of high octane gasoline being refined in the United States. All these varieties are not particularly necessary, one type being sufficient during the emergency. Concentration on only one type of high octane gas also would considerably increase gasoline output and distribution.

There is plenty of oil in the U. S. A.; it is only a matter of refining and distribution.

Note—The anti-trust laws have prevented the oil companies from cutting competition of this kind, but the government oil administrator should be able to do what the oil companies can't.

But LaGuardia, who made his own terms when he took his defense post, is still in charge of national morale.

SECRECY OF CONVOYS

Most people don't realize it, but the contents of almost every ship leaving the United States for England is known to Nazi Germany. However, learning just when the shipment will reach England and the route it will take, is another matter.

Getting information regarding the departure of supply ships to England is relatively simple. All Nazi agents have to do is go down to the waterfront to watch the loading of British ships. The type of goods being loaded cannot be readily concealed.

Or if an American vessel is loading for the Red Sea, the papers signed by the crew must disclose the port of destination. This is required by law, so that a seaman may know where he is going, and because extra insurance and sometimes extra wages are paid if the ship enters certain areas.

Once a British ship is loaded, however, the utmost secrecy is imposed on its route and time of departure. Usually the ship hugs the shore as far north as the Canadian port of Halifax. There it may wait for days or even two or three weeks for a convoy to be made up.

When it finally leaves for the hazardous voyage across the Atlantic, orders are given to the ship's master by hand. Nothing is trusted to radio. A small boat puts out from the commander of the convoy, carrying sealed orders to the master of each vessel.

No other orders are given, and no radio messages are exchanged during the trip except in case of attack, because radio messages might be picked up by Nazi patrol planes.

Note—American ships, on the other hand, follow a regular, well-advertised course and constantly send out radio messages informing the world of their position.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Supporting the plan of Chief of Staff Marshall to lower the age of army commanders, war department officials quote the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, who fought in the Civil war. To Lady Pollock, during the Spanish-American war, he wrote: "A general of 45 and a private of 30 are old men."

The commerce department has set up a separate British empire unit, headed by W. Walton Butterworth, former state department official in London. His job is to establish closer commercial ties with British dominions and colonies.

After Gen. Allen Gullion, the army's efficient judge advocate general, appeared in the comic strip "Hap Hopper," he received a letter from an old boyhood chum saying: "I have been wondering where you were for 40 years, and now at last I've located you through the funny papers."

Twenty-six years ago Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin Roosevelt toted a friend's baby son around the old Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Savings bank, much to the amusement of Judge John E. Mack, who later nominated FDR for President. The other day, on the anniversary of the incident, the baby—Charles Durant Maines of Flint, Mich.—was inducted into the army.

Rural Electrification Administrator Harry Slattery is proud of having strung up wires in Alaska and the Virgin Islands. Also, he is making a survey in Puerto Rico.

SYNOPSIS

Mike Balan, wild Cossack immigrant, makes a business of hijacking cattle enroute to stockyards. He has a son, twenty years old, whom he has never seen. When his ex-wife returns him to his father because he has proved unmanageable, the two tempera clash and Mike and his son engage in a terrific fist fight. His son's fighting ability pleases the old Cossack and they become great pals.

CHAPTER IV

MIKE and Johnny lounged on a bench under a broad tree at the edge of the stable yard. Between them was an oil-soaked loaf of coarse black bread and a bottle which Mike had opened by the simple expedient of knocking off the neck. From the house in the background came the sound of the girl's voice in song.

"Who's that?" Johnny asked.

"Who?" Mike was busily munching his bread.

"That girl singing?"

"Oh, that?" Mike chewed noisily as he considered the significance of Johnny's question. He looked shrewdly at his son. "You would not like her. She is old and cross-eyed and has crooked legs," he explained. They ate in silence for a moment.

"You're a lot of fun, Mike," Johnny said. "I never felt so free in my life before."

"That's how a man must feel—free. I would die if I was not free," Mike answered. His voice was drowsy. "Tonight we have a big party. A whole sheep you and I will eat and wash it down with good brandy. You like that horse, Sasha, you rode?"

"I've never been on anything like him before," Johnny said fervently. "He's yours," Mike said as his eyelids closed and he dropped into untroubled slumber.

Perhaps Mike's sleep would not have been so peaceful if he had known of a certain message teletyped to headquarters from the district field division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The message read:

"Thirty-two steers were stolen last night from the United States Department of Agriculture's Experimental Farm at Avondale. Check immediately every stockyard, packing house and shipping point within a possible night's truck run. Look particularly for any signs of burned hides. Somebody slipped up this time by grabbing Federal property and it is up to us to take advantage of this opportunity to break up the whole rustling racket. Notify every agent in the field and also appropriate local authorities."

But Mike could not know of this. As he slept the girl's voice again attracted Johnny's attention. He decided to investigate. Following the sound up the broad stairway, Johnny came to a closed door at the end of a small hall. Unquestionably the singer was on the other side of that door. He listened for a moment and then, summoning his courage, knocked sharply. The song stopped abruptly.

"Who is it?" It was the voice of the unseen singer.

"A scout from the Opera," Johnny said in a facetious attempt to cover his confusion. "I should like to see your voice."

There was silence for a brief space.

"What do you say?" the girl called again.

"I say maybe we could use you in a floor show at the opera."

There was another brief pause. Suddenly the door swung open and the girl, without an instant's hesitation, slapped Johnny sharply across the face and attempted to slam the door shut. But despite his surprise Johnny was too quick for her. He managed to get his foot across the door sill.

"Get out! Go away!" the girl shouted, pushing the door against his foot. She attempted another slap at his face but Johnny caught her.

"This is a swell house," Johnny said, rubbing his cheek where she had slapped him. "You have to walk

"And you—you're not ugly, with the face of an idiot."

Johnny was angry. "Who said I was?" he demanded.

"Ostap, the houseman." She bridled. "And who told you I was cross-eyed?"

"Mike. Those two old vultures! They didn't want us to meet." I wonder why?"

"Your father," the girl said dryly, "he is very headstrong."

"But I don't even know your name."

"It is Kathleen Fields. Mike always call me Trina."

Johnny grinned. "I know. He re-around with your dukes up all the time. What's the big idea?"

"You crossed the dead-line," the girl explained.

"The deadline?"

She nodded and pointed down. "The second floor."

"I see. The second floor is the deadline," Johnny didn't see but he must prolong this conversation.

"With the kind of people Mike lets in this house, you have to have a deadline." The girl was thoroughly angry. "They always begin with a smart crack—just like you did." She suddenly banged the door against his foot.

"Ouch! That hurt." He pushed the door open and pulled her roughly into the hallway. "You little wildcat—" He stopped in surprise. "Say, you're not Russian, are you?"

Revealed in the dim hallway, Johnny saw a slim, blond girl with level gray eyes. Her hair was wound tightly around a wide brow and her costume, although it suggested a Russian influence, was smartly modern.

"No, I'm not," she answered as she in turn studied Johnny. She came closer to him and studied him at short range.

"I know you," she said at last. "You're Mike's son."

"But—you're not old and cross-eyed, Johnny said in puzzled surprise.

named me Johnny. Well, now that I got that slap in advance I'll deserve it." He seized her and before she could turn her head kissed her full on the lips, then stepped back and raised his hands defensively. Trina looked at him gravely.

"It's strange," she said slowly, "but I'm not angry now."

Johnny seized her hands. "I'll play safe, though. Do you know it's your fault I'm here? I heard your voice and it put heart into me. It said to me 'stay on and see this thing through.'"

"That's very funny. I didn't even know you were in the world."

"It just goes to show how careful a girl should be—throwing her voice around like that. It followed me all over the place."

"You know the words I sang?"

"I couldn't understand them," Johnny answered truthfully.

"You understood very well, I think," Trina said softly. "because they mean: 'Man whose face I have not seen, come to me quickly so that I may love you before I am too old...'"

For a long moment they gazed deeply into each other's eyes. The spell was broken by a babel of voices. Mike's rose above the others.

"Johnny!" Mike bellowed. "Where's Johnny?"

Clarence Bunnell, assisted by Joe Walter Jones; Gayle Calhoun and Floyd Leo Sutton; Alvin Kautzsch and Habert Kelm; James Billingsley and Marion Author Neal comprise four teams that are already on active duty. We wish to correct the statement we made last week concerning the sale of the Stiles' property. Mr. Stiles says that no sale has been made.

We hear another rumor that interests us. It is that two of our young men are hearing the call of "Westward ho", that has been pounding on the ears of ambitious men throughout the ages. Loy Gene Brown and wife are planning a month's travel visiting relatives and friends from San Angelo and Stanton on north to Amarillo, and on into Colorado and New Mexico. They are prospecting we hear. Another report is that Mr. James Billingsley and family contemplate going to California, where he will enter National Defense work with his brother, Paul J., who is stationed there. Wonderful opportunities await you in the far west, James.

Success has always visited the brave men who dared break the home ties and "Go West". This very locality was settled by youths who were weary of the wracking agonies of the malaria that was prevalent in the lowlands. They decided to seek health and strength in sunnier climes. Their parents told them that they were headed for stavigation in a country that "wouldn't sprout black-eyed peas or grow shellot onions".

A glance at the resources of Hamilton and Coryell counties show how wrong they were. It also proves how wrong it is for parents to attempt to thwart the impulses of their children, thus preventing them from planning their own lives or from stepping out on their own initiatives. Let's let them "go west" if they so desire.

LIBERTY SQUARE DEALERS ORGANIZE AS CLUB

It was only last March that Mrs. Parrish's suggested the organization of another woman's club at Liberty. Everyone recognized the truth of her statement. The H.D. Club with its sixty members, had become cumbersome. It was too large to be comfortably entertained in the small, modern home. Then too it covered so large an area that the interests of one section were foreign to the other group.

In order that they might better serve the needs of the women and girls of the northwest Liberty territory, the Square Dealers decided to follow Mrs. Parrish's lead and form a separate club. It was organized at the A. A. Kautzsch home last Thursday. The following officers were elected: Miss Grace Elam, president; Mrs. J. P. Keller, vice-president; Mrs. A. A. Kautzsch, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Bessie Brown reporter.

The meeting at the Kautzsch home was a party honoring Mrs. Willie Lange with a gift shower. Despite her youth, Mrs. Kautzsch proved to be an able entertainer. The red, white and blue color scheme was manifested everywhere. The bouquets of blue githagos and delphinium, white sweet-peas and baby's breath, and red blossoms and roses added to the patriotic touch; so did her layer cakes that when cut into slices revealed as many flags with its red, white and blue coloring. Plates were passed to nineteen guests.

Miss Elam is an ardent advocate of training our young people for efficient service. She announced that while she would be the real president, she expected to appoint a different president of the day for each meeting until every available member had served as the presiding officer. The next meeting, July 8th, will be with Mrs. A. G. Kautzsch. Miss Nelda Kautzsch, who has made a wonderful record in parliamentary procedure, during the past year while she served as Liberty 4-H president, was appointed as president for the next meeting.

The Club was organized with eleven charter members. Many more who could not attend last meeting, have expressed a desire to join. Our little club is expecting to derive much pleasure and profit from our meetings. The members will always appreciate Kate Parrish, mother of the Four Square Club. Perhaps at some later date we will decide to still follow her urgent suggestion for our club to become a H.D. Club.

My, how we've changed!

WELL, WELL, Mr. and Mrs. Homefolks! What are all these bottles and packages on the medicine shelf? Toothpaste? Aspirin? Cod-liver oil? Antiseptics?

Where on earth did YOU learn about such things? Why, in the REST of the world, only the very rich even KNOW these products EXIST—much less that they are USEFUL or even NECESSARY to health.

Ah, hah! Somebody's been TELLING you. Drug and cosmetic manufacturers have been ADVERTISING; your papers must have been talking in the health columns; your druggist has been using newspaper space to help you understand the difference between the phony pain-killers of an earlier day and the scientific health and hygiene aids of 1941!

Do you think such advertising is costly? When someone teaches you that a QUARTER'S worth of a GOOD product can replace a DOLLAR'S worth of swamp water, you don't LOSE, you SAVE. When he does it in your newspaper, he gives the paper a good part of what it must pay for OTHER kinds of news—without which you would lose control over your political and social servants.

If that isn't a real bargain, just let Stalin and Hitler try to offer a better one!

Considerin' th' amount o' free advice we give out, sum peepul 'peer t' git 'long very poorly like.

It's 'bout got t' th' point where San Antonio kin collect accidint insurance if they win a gain.

WHOEVER started callin' baishball th' great nashunal pas-time was jist downright silly. Fishin' is th' nashunal sport o' America an', t' my way o' thinkin', it's th' greatest sport innybuddy kin enjoy. An' folks frum 5 years t' 100 kin enjoy it.

Men go nuttier 'bout fishin' then innny other sport. A golf bug is bad enuff but a man what has gone crazy over fishin' is th' worst in th' book. He'll dream, talk an' eat fishin' as long as innybuddy will lissen t' him. An' they is more money spint on fishin', th' experts in Wash- ington say, 'hen on innny other sport. They jist ain't innny limit on how much ya kin spind fer a fishin' trip. I know one Texas feller what paid $75,000 fer a yacht jist t' go fishin' in.

One o' his trips t' sum fer off place where he heers sum big ones is bitein' will cost him easily $1,000. This includes expenses frum his home in Dallas t' a Gulf port an' th' pay fer his crew, food, sodie pop, etc. He generallie taiks 'long two or three other fellers t' keep him company. He likes t' fish an' catch big shark an' he has caught sum whoppers. One tackle outfit alone he has fer catchin' shark set him back $1,200.

On th' other hand a ten-year-old kid kin git him a nickle outfit an' dig him sum worms or catch him sum grasshoppers an' have jist as much fun catchin' sun perch. That's what maiks it th' nashunal pastime an' baishball ain't in it with fishin'.

—00000—

An' fishermen will buy innny trick gadgit put out if they figger it'll help 'em catch more an' bigger fish. They has even got a "Bait o' th' Month Club." Ya join fer ten bucks a year an' every month thy'll sind ya a nue artificial bait.

I don't think I ever tole ya 'bout Jidge Charlie Evans. He is what I wud call . . . 100 per cent fisherman. He gits all th' fishin' magazines an' he'll sind a doller for innnythin advertised no matter whether he needs it or not.

Last summer he cum rushin' over t' my camp an' sed he had jist received sum nue bait what wuld attract every cat fish in Lake Dallas t' his trotline. He cud hardly wait t' git out on th' lake an' try this nue bait. I wint over t' his camp an' there was th' bait in a five-pound can. Whin he opened it up ya cud smell it a half a mile. It looked sumthin' like dough bait.

He had sint a doller t' sum cheese factory in Wisconsin t' git it. Th' direchshuns was very simple like— jist wad a small piece o' it an' put it on th' hook. Yeah, it sounded very simple like but we found out differ- int. As fast as we'd wad sum on a hook an' drop it in th' water it wud dissolve an' flote way frum th' hook. We'd tried all kinds o' ways t' try an' keep it on th' hook but nune wud wurk.

Well sir, Jidge Evans rote th' cheese factory an' asked 'em 'bout it. They rote back an' sed they jist maid an' sold th' bait. How t' git it t' stay on a hook was his bizniss. Th' last I seen o' that bucket o' bait was Jidge Evans throwin' it int' th' lake in 'bout thirty feet o' water.

—00000—

But, I betcha if he seen a ad in a magazine 'day 'bout sum nue fishin' gadgit what costs a doller he'd have a doller bill in th' mail in ten minutes. He's bin doin' this fer forty years an' has got his garage an' fishin' tackle boxes so dern full o' chunk he 'as a tuff time diggin' in t' git a simple hook, line an' pole t' really catch fish with. Th' factories don't turn stuff out fast enuff fer him an' most every month he cums out with a inven- shun o' his own. His latest inven- shun was a gangplank t' walk on frum th' bank t' his row boat. It wud o' wurked, too, if he had sum- buddy with him all th' time t' hold down th' other side o' th' boat while he walked in it on his gangplank.

Right now he's wurkin' t' invint a pair o' scales what'll weight a fish 'fore ya git him outta water so ya won't have t' throw him back.
