The second accident happened when a six-wheel sulphur truck turned over about 8 miles east of Gatesville, on top of the hill east of Coryell Creek. Reports are the driver was dodging another car, and lost control. No one was hurt. The unnamed driver was reported to be enroute to Stamford.

"ALL-OUT" C. OF C. MEETING THURSDAY OF THIS WEEK

At 8:00 a. m. Thursday of this week, the 17th, there'll be a general meeting of the Gatesville Chamber of Commerce.

It's all-out, because not only all the members are urged to be present, but also, everyone interested in the future of Coryell County and Gatesville. If you're not there, it must mean, you're not interested, or does it?

A proposition of "castor bean" culture will be brought up, and if it's for a certain oil we know of, let's skip it. However, we understand this is a badly needed product for the defense program, and is used in another angle to what you might think. Too, there's that rubber plan, that's going good in some localities.

STATE BASEBALL CLUB PLAYS WACO WORKING BOYS WEDNESDAY

MARINES O.K., ICELAND GIRLS

Reykjavik, Iceland, July 13, (UP)—United States soldiers, sailors and marines are having a hard time finding enough public amusements in this capital of 40,000 persons but they have found an Icelandic variety of the prohibition era. Soviet military reports of widespread Red army air raids, annihilation of a Nazi motorized regiment, and sinking of three ships.

FIGHT OVER IN SYRIA

London, July 13 (AP)—The bitterly fought campaign of Syria and Lebanon had ended Sunday in an armistice which British sources say will make those French-mandated Levant states a bulwark of defense against Germany and bolster the spirits of the nonbelligerent Turks.

GERMAN PEOPLE WANT U.S. WAR

New York, July 13 (AP)—Dr. Frank Bohn, national chairman of the German National Congress for Democracy, appealed Sunday for the immediate entrance of the United States into the war, asserting "a majority of the German people are our allies and they only await our call to arms."

OFFICIAL SENATE ANSWER?

Austin, July 13 (AP)—A steel-concrete vault in Texas' massive capitol apparently held the answer tonight to the question: Who will be the next U.S. senator from Texas—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel or Congressman Lyndon B. Johnson?

Tomorrow, barring unforeseen developments, the vault will be opened and the Texas Election bureau will officially count the votes cast in the June 28 special election to choose a successor to the late Morris Sheppard.

softball league will be delayed in their opening about a week. After these rains the last few days the turf should be in excellent shape for softball since the field has been greatly leveled up and the grass is really coming through.

According to the last report the league will be composed of five teams with a possibility of another entry or two. The schedule will continue until late in August. At the close of the playing schedule there will be a playoff between the two leading teams in a two out of three games affair.

SMALL FEE FOR SOFTBALL
This year the same as usual there will be a charge of 50 cents for each player in the city softball league. This money will go to help pay the light bill. This is the only charge assessed the players and everyone should be more than glad to help this much in meeting the light bill. The managers will be held responsible for the entry fee and this money will have to be handed over to the management before any team can be officially entered.

Since this league is run in behalf of city amusement and the players will be getting most of the benefit by playing and getting the exercise that most of them need there should be no kick as to the small entry fee of fifty cents.

NEWS TO GIVE CUP
This year as usual the Coryell County News will give the winners of the city softball league a silver loving cup. The winner's name will be engraved on the cup along with the winners of former years.

The teams already to have their name on the cup are the Coca-Cola team of 1938 and the Arnold's Electric Team of 1939. The 1940 season was not finished so no name was entered.

This trophy is well worth the efforts of any team for it is about 10 inches high with the image of a small softball player mounted on the top.

NORTON SAYS: IT WILL BE TEXAS U. OR S.M.U. IN '41

Seems a bit early but the predictions have already started coming in as to the winner of the '41 Southwest football crown. Coach Homer Norton of the Texas Aggies thinks the race will be between Texas and SMU with Rice, Baylor, in order. The cellar berth will be a scramble between A. and M., Arkansas and T.C.U. Seems rather odd to put the aggies down the list so far but due to graduation practically all the first and second teams will be missing this year.

Norton says he might use Cullen Rogers, the Mart product, in the backfield this year. Rogers is well remembered by some of the local boys because about two years ago he showed the Hornets how to play the game. We saw that game but was not impressed much with his playing since he seemed to play with more brute force than skill. We're not doubting Norton's word at all and hope that Rogers does live up to expectations because the kind of coaching the boys get at A and M usually makes a player if he has the strength and a certain amount of natural ability.

GAME CALLED
Due to heavy rains in the Waco area the scheduled game between the State Juvenile Training School and the Working Boys Club for Saturday afternoon was called off.

The management was probably saving the field for the big game that night between the Baytown team and the Waco Dons.

Balch will probably carry his state team to Waco for the game at a later date.

GETS NEW TURF
The local football stadium will be second to none in these parts when the present work is finished. There has been some forty loads of manure and nearly two hundred loads of sandy loam added to the turf. This has been smoothed out in order to fill the few low spots and then be about one inch deep all over the field. This should make the turf very thick and soft by the time football season starts in September. The recent rains have helped greatly in settling the new dirt and starting the new grass off to a flying start.

Memos of a Girl Friday:

Dear Mr. W.: Billy Rose offered the editors of the Commy Daily Worker a job in his Diamond Horseshoe revue. Billy considers their flippers, backflips and somersaults the most comical in the world... Tip the newspapers to see the next edition of The Hour—amazing revelations on activities of Ukrainians in the U. S. readying sabotage, etc., campaigns. A new Nazi trick because Germans and Italians are no longer in good standing over here and Ukrainians wouldn't be "suspected."

The German Military Attache in Washington is supposed to have told Washington reporters July 27 is the timetable date for the Nazi war machine to take over the Ukraine.

Pearson and Allen are furious with ex-Cong. J. J. O'Connor of N.Y. They claim to have a certified copy of a letter from O'Connor (part of the Kansas court record) in which the ex-congressman recently wrote U. S. Judge Richard Hopkins of Kansas. Alleging that two out of three U. S. appeals court judges in N.Y. were with him in the Congressman Sweeney libel action against the colyumists. Pleading sure victory in N. Y., O'Connor asked Judge Hopkins to postpone any decision in Kansas, but Hopkins promptly dismissed all of Sweeney's suits against 10 Kansas newspapers. Hurray for him.

On Labor Day, 1939 (after the Comies and Nazis got married) you reported this: Charlie of Place Elegante says vodka (Russian) and Rhine wine (German) is poisonous when mixed!... In other words we scooped Mr. Hitler by two years.
—Your Girl Friday.

Underground Ticker Tape:

The most illustrative underground story circulated in Germany is about the time Goering visited the director of an important munitions plant and asked him if there were still any Social Democrats, Catholic Centrists or members of the other outlawed parties among his workers... "Well," said the director, "about 40 per cent of the workers in my factory are Social Democrats, about 30 per cent Catholic Centrists, and about 30 per cent are still members of the other outlawed parties"... "Forty per cent, 30 per cent, and 30 per cent?" bellowed Goering.

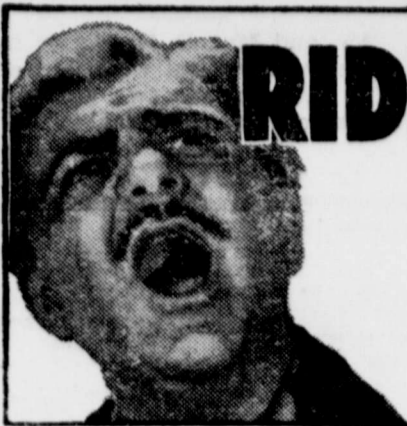

"That makes 100 per cent! Aren't any of your workers Nazis?"... "Oh, of course," was the reply, "they are all Nazis!"

During the early days of the Nazi occupation of Paris, whenever German officers entered a cafe, the French patrons would promptly get up and walk out. This so infuriated the conquerors that they issued an edict forbidding Frenchmen to leave a cafe for at least 15 minutes after the entrance of a German officer... After that, whenever a German officer entered a cafe, the Frenchmen present would reach into their pockets and pull out small alarm clocks, which they set and placed on the table. At the end of 15 minutes, the alarms would go off all over the place, and the Frenchmen would rush for the doors!

In Holland, on Prince Bernhard's birthday, all loyal Dutch citizens wore a white carnation, the prince's favorite flower, as a symbol of defiance to the Nazis. Angered by this display of "insolence" on the part of the conquered people, the Nazis went around tearing the carnations from the coats of passersby... A short while later, Dutch sailors made their appearance on the streets and in cafes with carnations prominently displayed on their chests. The Nazis soon desisted from tearing them off... The carnations worn by the sailors contained ingeniously concealed razor blades.

In Holland, one of the big problems in the underground warfare against the conquerors is how to find out who can be trusted. One couple solved it in this manner: A few minutes before two o'clock every afternoon, the wife shouted to her husband, who was working in the garden, "Come in, dear. It's almost two o'clock." Two o'clock being the time for a London news broadcast, their next-door neighbors reported them to the Gestapo... The Gestapo didn't arrest the couple, however, because they were able to prove that they didn't own a radio... But their neighbors had swallowed the bait and unmasked themselves as Nazi stool-pigeons.

Ever since the Nazis conquered Holland, the natives have been forbidden to listen to the Dutch broadcasts from London, but most of them defy the regulation, at the risk of their lives... One Dutch woman, who was recently caught listening to BBC (the British Broadcasting Chain), was arrested. The infuriated Gestapo asked her explanation... "I wanted to hear Hitler speak," was her calm reply. "Hitler said he was going to speak from London last September, and I'm still waiting for him."

SYNOPSIS

Mike Balan, who has made a racket of hijacking cattle enroute to stock markets, meets his son Johnny, for the first time in twenty years. After a fist fight between the two, Mike thinks his son is a chip of the old block. Meanwhile, Trina, a singer who is a member of Balan's strange household, meets Johnny and falls in love with him. Mike and Johnny plan a round-the-world adventure saunt. Before they leave, Federal agents clamp down on Balan and put him in Leavenworth prison.

CHAPTER VII

MIKE BALAN, now prisoner Number 86119 in the Federal Prison at Leavenworth, lay on his berth and stared unseeingly at the bottom of his cell-mate's berth above him. Vague scenes of his trial and conviction wandered through his mind but he dismissed them as things of the past. Only one thought persisted: Hatred of this place and the men who held him prisoner. Somehow, some way, he must escape!

Feet scuffed in the corridor and a prison officer raked the bars of the cell with his club before unlocking the door. Mike's cell-mate, a soft-spoken, leathery bandit who answered to the name of Oklahoma, swung down from the berth above Mike and accepted the plate of food which a prisoner accompanying the officer handed him. Mike continued to stare stonily at the bunk above him.

"Nineteen! Here's your chuck," the officer snapped. Mike continued to stare into space. "Hey, Balan—come out of it," the officer said more sharply. Mike turned his head slowly and stared at the officer. Deliberately, he arose and accepted the plate of food from the prisoner. Suddenly his hand flashed and the plate of food struck the prison trusty squarely in the face. Instantly the officer leaped back and slammed and locked the cell door.

"All right, tough guy," the officer snarled at Mike. "I'll give you another shot to chew on!" Mike had speedily learned that a "shot" was a report of misconduct. He had accumulated a great collection of "shots" since he had become an inmate of Leavenworth.

Oklahoma, from his perch above Mike, watched the proceedings with complete lack of interest. As he continued to eat he said, with quiet disgust: "That's gonna get you a lot."

Mike apparently did not hear him. But presently he said, speaking in a strangely impersonal way as though thinking aloud:

"When I was fourteen years old, in the Ukraine, they put my father in prison... In three hours I had him out... I climbed up to his window and broke the bars and got him free."

Oklahoma glanced up at the tiny ventilator in their cell. "Your kid sure is a quitter," he drawled with quiet sarcasm. "All he'd have to do to get you outta here is to shinny over three walls, dodge a dozen machine guns and climb a hundred feet. And then there ain't no windows. But you Russians always was quitters."

Mike's voice was stony. "In three hours I set my father free."

"Give the kid time. You've only been here three months."

Mike was silent for a time. When he spoke his voice softened as it al-

His voice rose to a snarl. "You cheap no good!"

Oklahoma's eyes narrowed. All vestige of expression left his face. He took a leisurely step toward Mike. When he spoke his voice was very soft. "I got a feeling there's one foreigner too many in this cell," he said.

Eye to eye, the two men faced each other. Suddenly Oklahoma brought up his knee and simultaneously his fist shot for Mike's jaw. Mike grunted as the knee sank into him but he came in fighting. He wound his powerful hands around Oklahoma's throat and with cold, fierce hatred struggled to kill him.

Three officers rushed down the corridor as the two men crashed into the bunks. Oklahoma managed to break Mike's grip on his throat but Mike had forced him back over the lower berth and the two locked in a death grapple.

An officer pushed the nozzle of a fire hose into the cell. "Turn on the water!" rang the order.

The powerful stream knocked the two battlers down but it was minutes before its fierce force drove them apart and ended the battle.

"That's enough!" an officer shouted and the fire hose was withdrawn. "You guys all cooled off now?" the guard asked.

Mike and Oklahoma lay side beside on Mike's drenched bunk, gasping for air and clutching at their bruised throats.

"Get the deputy warden," the officer ordered. "I want him to see this himself."

Mike pulled himself erect and shook his head dazedly. He was surprised to find that he could still move it. Then gradually something like a grin spread over his face.

"Oho, that was good!" Mike croaked hoarsely. "Now I feel better."

"Yeah, let's do it every day," Oklahoma wheezed. "It'll break the monotony."

Mike laughed. The laugh brought a stab of pain in his throat but his grin grew bigger.

"You are a man I like," he said. "I think I can use you."

Oklahoma stopped rubbing his throat. "Yeah? Well, I'll use you first—don't ever forget that!"

For a long minute their eyes clashed. Neither would admit the other's supremacy. Then Mike grinned and stuck out his hand. "It's too bad you are not a Cossack," he said.

For a moment Oklahoma hesitated. Then he gripped Mike's hand. "You mighta come outta the Ozarks yourself," he drawled.

"I got a feeling there's one foreigner too many in this cell," Oklahoma said.

ways did when he talked of Johnny.

"Just when I found him they took him away..."

"Took him away?" Oklahoma chuckled mirthlessly. "Wait till them screws come back—then you'll know which one of you they took away."

As Oklahoma finished his food he took a small mirror from one shoe. Sticking it out between the cell bars he made a quick survey of the corridor. Finding the coast clear, he took a sack of tobacco from the other shoe and quickly rolled a cigarette. As he inhaled deeply he said:

"Forget about the kid. Settle down and live right—or you won't live to get outta here."

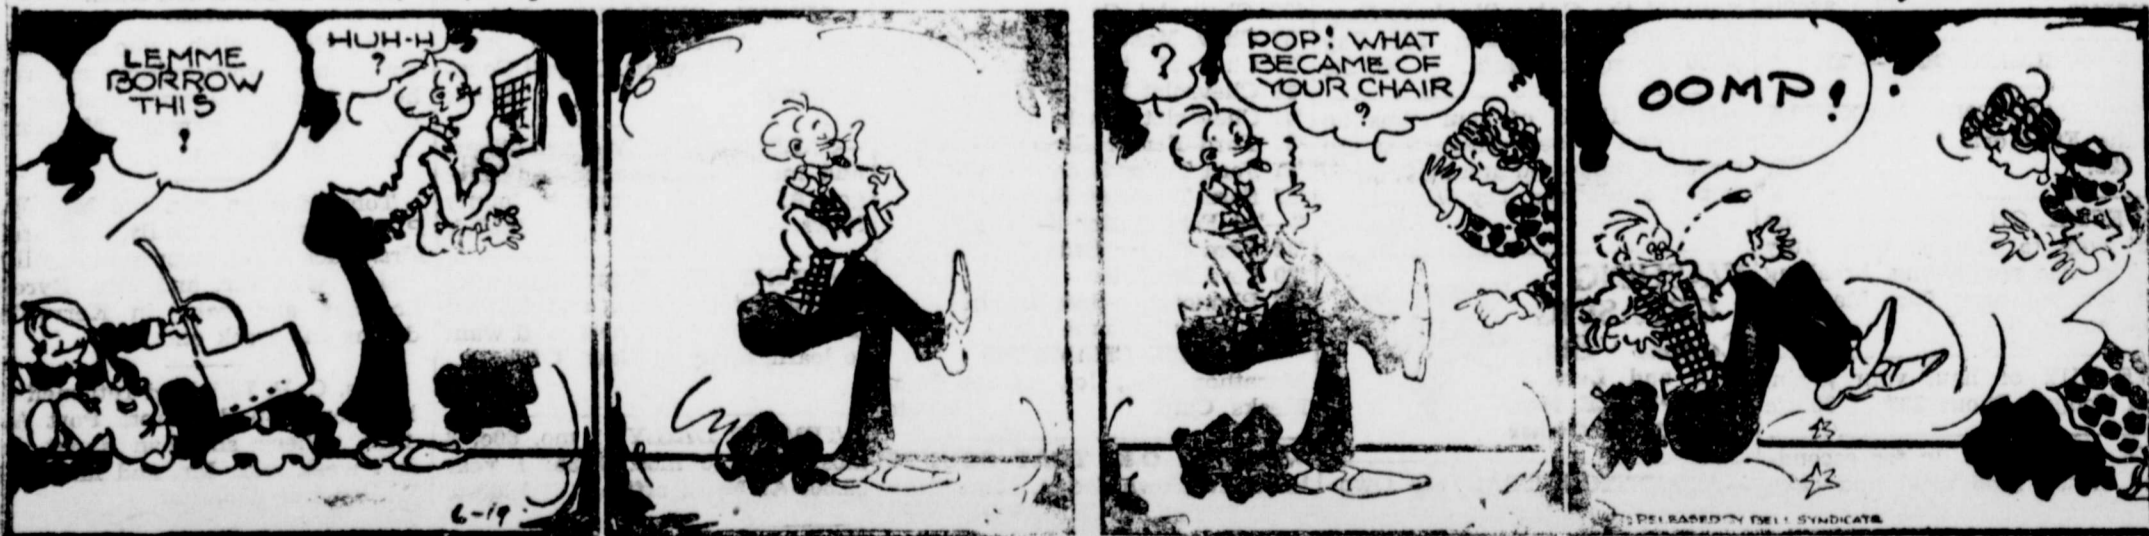

"They will not keep me here long," Mike mused softly. He got up and walked to the cell door. For a moment he peered out, then he shook the bars in helpless rage. "You are right, I think," he said harshly. "He is weak. He is no good. He has not stopped running yet, I think. But you"—he turned toward Oklahoma—"you would have acted differently, I think. You would not let your father rot in prison."

"I don't know about my old man," Oklahoma answered lazily. "But I went in after my brothers once ablazin'."

"Of course! You are a brave man," Mike said sarcastically. "You are afraid of nothing, I can see that."

How to look funny—

ALL OF US know men who scorn the idea of being "stylish." Sissy, they call it. Maybe so. But, just the same, none of us wants to look funny—even in his overalls.

1 What keeps YOU from looking like Sir Walter Raleigh, while others laugh? Aren't you glad styles have CHANGED?

2—or what made you give up peg-top pants and bulldog toes? Don't say "they quit making them." You could still buy them.

3 Oh! So you watched what OTHERS were wearing! Well, who told the OTHERS? When did the CHANGE happen to the FIRST man?

4—Here's what happened: One day a clothing store put an "ad" in the paper. A lot of men saw it. They bought the "new-style" suits. They looked nice.

Pretty soon even CARELESS men weren't looking funny.

5—A dime spent by a merchant in newspaper advertising, helping you to buy better style and value, cuts his selling costs and saves you dollars. And who wouldn't spend a dime to save a dollar?

WITH THE COLORS

Pvt. William F. Rutherford writes for the NEWS from Flight No. 33, 354 School Squadron, Jefferson Barracks, Missouri. That's all he said, but we are hoping for more in his next letter.

Pvt. John C. Bunnell, writes from Troop "C", 125th Cavalry, F.F.T. Bliss, Texas, and encloses a history of the famous Twelfth Cavalry, which we'll brief soon for our readers. They recently had Organization Day, and this is a part of the pride the various branches of the Services develop in the men in the different outfits, which makes better outfits, as well as soldiers.

J. C. writes also that the "climate is arid, and the work is hard, but that they are building an Army out there that will be hard to beat."

Francis L. Hodges, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hodges, of Gatesville, has enlisted in the Air Corps in the United States Army.
