A pocket checker tournament, in connection with the WPA recreational program, will be held in Raby Park Friday, July 25, beginning at 8:30 in the morning. Those desiring to participate are asked to turn in their entries to the recreational directors by Wednesday, July 23.

FRANK MARLIN'S BOY LOSES MIDDLE DIGIT IN LAWN MOWER

Frank Marlin's young son, about 6, is minus a middle finger on his right hand, when a lawn mower cut it off Tuesday about 4 o'clock. He slapped at the mower as his brother was pushing it, the blade severing his finger.

NECESSARY-BAIZE REUNION TO BE SATURDAY-SUNDAY

We are asked to announce that the Necessary-Baize Reunion will be held Saturday and Sunday at Fauntleroy's Crossing on the Leon River, near Gatesville.

All the folks of these families and their relatives are asked to be present. There'll be plenty of activity, they say, including a baseball game and plenty to eat.

WITH THE COLORS

From Lakehurst, N. J., we've a note that Herman Glass has been transferred to the U. S. Naval Air Station there, and asks that his News also be "transferred there" too. And, we're doing that, hoping that Herman will give us a little more information in his next letter about his new station.

Mr. and Mrs. Luke Walker and son, Charles, have been visiting in Lubbock the past few days.

Miss Mildred Moore of Temple was a week end guest of friends and relatives here.

City Trucks will assist the Gatesville program in the pickup, and Saturday morning, July 26, the Commissioners of the county will send their trucks to the "depositories or depots" and pick up all the collection.

Pastors of the various churches of the county have been asked to announce the campaign, and every other possible source of publicity and push will be used to make the campaign a success.

BLITZ CAMP PLANNED NEAR VALLEY MILLS: IF ARMY EXPANDED: PART IN CORYELL

Yes, according to official announcement, the proposed army cantonment will be in Coryell county—at least, the back end.

Official word was received from both Congressman W. R. Poage and Senator Tom Connally in messages to Wacoans. The official war department news followed later.

Fourteen sites in addition to 9 previously announced were approved, bringing the total to 23.

The "local" camp will be a 35,000-man plant nearer Valley Mills than Gatesville, and will be constructed "if and when" total size of the armed forces is increased.

No funds are now available for the purchase of the sites or for construction of the camps. Most of the camps will be planned to accommodate entire divisions, or anti-aircraft training centers, and the camp near here would probably accommodate armoured troops.

The camps will include drill fields, review areas, bayonet courts, grenade courts, vehicular range, motor vehicle driver's instruction field, and target ranges.

Births

Jerry Weldon Alford is the name given the baby son, born to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Alford of the Schley community Friday morning, July 11. He weighed nine pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sims of Buster community announce the arrival of a baby son, Calvin Edward, who weighed four and one-half pounds. The youngster was born Sunday, July 6.

NORTH EAST WEST SOUTH

A SUMMARY OF WORLD, NATIONAL AND STATE NEWS

NAZI SHIPS BOMBED

London, July 16 (AP)—The RAF reported bomb hits on a 15,000-ton ship and many other vessels in a daring low-level raid on Rotterdam harbor Wednesday, acknowledging the loss of four planes to increasing swarms of German fighters believed to have been shifted from the Russian front to defend the western air.

PRICE FIXING STUDIED

Washington, July 16 (UP)—Congressional leaders said Wednesday night after a conference that legislation to fix prices during the period of national emergency will be introduced in both houses next week.

NAZIS SMASH NEAR MOSCOW

(By the Associated Press)
The Russians acknowledged early Thursday a deep German advance to the vicinity of Smolensk, only 230 miles short of Moscow, in a sharp, abrupt unfavorable turn in Soviet fortunes.

NAZIS THRU TURKEY

Ankara, Turkey, July 16 (AP)—

A German bid for the right to send troops across Turkey into the Soviet Caucasus was reported Wednesday as a large item in military, diplomatic and economic stresses pulling this country into a new tug of war between Germany and Great Britain.

JAP CABINET QUILTS

Tokyo, July 17 (AP)—The Cabinet of Prince Fuminmaro Konoye, which allied Japan with Germany and Italy and a few months later entered a neutrality accord with Soviet Russia, announced Wednesday it had resigned to permit formation of a government more capable of coping with the ever-changing situation.

SHAKE-UP IN SERVICES

Washington, July 16 (AP)—The United States, moving to strengthen its fighting forces on land, sea and in the air, today instituted a major shake-up in the army high command and ordered 37,647 enlisted naval reservists held on active duty for the duration of the emergency.

A dozen of the army's highest officers were involved in the war department's reshuffle which places Maj. Gen. Frank M. Andrews in complete charge of the Caribbean defense force.

W. LEE'S CLUB, PRESIDENCY?

Austin, July 17 (Austin Bureau-N-T) Organization of the W. Lee O'Daniel preserve democracy club, with the slogan that there is no place in a democracy for government built from the top down, is known to have been started here. Speculation instantly spotted it for the incipient O'Daniel candidacy for president in 1944.

ELEMSYINARY HEADS STUDIED

Austin, July 16 (AP)—The status of 10 superintendents of state elemsyinary institutions remained unsettled today.

The board of control which scheduled a meeting tomorrow to consider whether to renew the superintendent's contracts which expire August 31, was closeted with members of a special senate committee.

Miss Janice Durer is Bride of L. E. Slagle of Houston
(The Houston Chronicle)
The marriage of Miss Janice Durer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Durer, to Lucian Erle Slagle of Houston, son of Mrs. E. E. Slagle and the late Mr. Slagle of Hearne, took place at 6 o'clock Saturday evening at Second Baptist Church, with Rev. F. B. Thorn performing the double ring ceremony. The candle-lighted altar space was adorned by white flowers and palms. Mrs. W. T. Whitmarsh, Jr., sister of the bride, sang "Because" and "O Promise Me", accompanied by Joseph Evans at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a poudre blue sheer jacket ensemble and a white feathered toque tipped with a navy veil. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli. Miss Elizabeth Moore of Port Arthur, serving as the bride's only attendant, wore a dusty rose sheer frock with navy blue accessories and a corsage of harmonizing gladioli.

O. D. Butler of College Station was best man and ushers were Joe Ross Trichelle and Herbert Sterrett.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue corded chiffon gown with black accessories, and the groom's mother was in white shadow chiffon with navy blue accessories. Both wore corsages of pink rosebuds.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Pink and white summer flowers were placed about the library and living room, and the lace-laid bride's table held at one end a ring shaped wedding cake, reflected on a mirror plaque, and at the other end of the bride's bouquet. Assisting in serving were, Miss Doris Wofford, Misses Sarah and Marie Slagle of Hearne, sisters of the groom, and Miss Edeana Mae Wood of Los Angeles.

The bride received her bachelor of arts degree from Mary Hardin Baylor College, and the groom received his bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from Texas A. and M. College.

On returning from a short wedding trip the couple will be at home at 4102 Dover.

Among the out-of-town guests for the wedding were: Miss Lorraine Thomas of Dallas, Mrs. M. N. Thackberry of Los Angeles, Miss Helen Stotlar of Mercedes, Miss Jane Grey of College Station, Mrs. Joe Ricketts, Mrs. Edgar Franks, Miss Elizabeth Bigham, and Miss Wilhelmina Cayce, of Gatesville.

WHY ON EARTH DO THEY DO IT?

... run the risk of having to pay rent while their home is being rebuilt after a fire

If fire should chase you out of your home, where would your family stay while repairs are going on? Rent insurance costs a ridiculously low sum... and pays rentin quarters equivalent to your home while you're rebuilding.

Moral: Don't go another day without this protection. It's attached to your present policy, and costs less than you'd believe possible.

Loony Lucy

Mr. Ward Burris, Sports Editor, The Express San Antonio, Texas Dear Wardie:

Now that Pappy is a goin' to Washington to twist them politishuns' tails, I'm a goin' to throw my burros back into trainin' again. Texas without racin' is like a mint julep without any julep.

Pappy better go easy on that tail twistin' business. I twisted my balky burro's tail once and he kicked me between the house and the barn. You never can tell what them professional politishuns will do to a country boy like Pappy.

I seen where the Rushians and the Germans is still battlin' in midfield. I think the trouble is the quarterbacks ain't close enough to the line of scrimmage.

They tell me the national debt is a goin' to reach $500 per person. I'll shore have to hit the daily double before I can pay mine.

You know, I'm a strong believer in givin' the other feller half of the road, but too dern many of them want the middle half.

Speakin' of racin' in these times of war—it would be a lot better to go to Arlington Park than Arlington Cemetery. They say you're a hero if you go to Arlington Cemetery—but you know the moral—a live bum, etc., etc.

Clay Tankersley sent me a recipe for a new dish and it's a wow. You better try it. It's "China Town Shrimp."

Don't look now, but that feets-ball season is a slippin' up on us and I got a hunch that Kyle Field jinx is a goin' to have its troubles the way them Longhorns look. I'm a wearin' Orange and White this season. Well, be careful chum, and sup them juleps slow this hot weather. It's a long, hard summer. Yours, LOONY LUCY

SPORT SCRAPS
By JONES

After the pot shot at the Soft Ball League, and with the fizzle of the Coryell County Baseball League, due to practically everything rain, war, the rodeo, etc., there isn't much left to do but play tiddle-de-winks for the rest of the summer.

There's still the Golf Tournament, which to date, don't seem to be kicking up much interest, but this sport only concerns a limited number of Gatesville men. That's a grand sport, as you know, if you have played. If you haven't, there is nothing sillier.

Well, the News IS interested in these, and any other sports, but not financially—either on the 'red' or 'black' side of the ledger. We're just interested in the 'sportsmen' doing what they want to, and we will stand up flat-footed and state that we'll try again next summer, we can't quit.

Football is beginning to creep out in the dailies, and they're counting the boys that'll be missing due to Uncle Sam and Hitler. Don't know yet what effect Joe, Hitler and Mussolini are going to have on 11-man or 6-man football in Coryell county this year. But, evidently, as in other sports, they are going to have a lot to do with the success of these necessities.

The boys could have joined the Home Guard, but now we hear, there won't be any of that. It seems according to reports, they've got too many of these outfits in this section, and will not authorize one here. Well, anyway, you'd have to buy a uniform.

The Athletic field is undergoing a "face lifting". Yes, actually, they plan to raise it an inch or two with the many piles of different dirt they've stacked on it. If the grass has time to grow, it ought to be grand in October. If the grass don't grow, it'll look like the late stockyards.

It was a great pleasure to visit in Texas even for a short time. Mrs. Poage and I drove to Texas in order that I might introduce the Secretary of Agriculture at Waco on June 26th. I then returned to Washington and was here for the important session the last of the month. After we had passed the legislation that always needs to be passed before the beginning of the new fiscal year (July 1st) both Houses recessed over the 4th of July. I flew home and attended the celebration of the commencement of work on the Brazos River Transmission lines at Possum Kingdom Dam. I stayed in Texas long enough to speak at West and at Belton on the Fourth and then drove back to Washington bringing Mrs. Poage's nephews and my mother to visit with us.

The House did not get into its regular work until Wednesday (July 9th) because of the death of another member Monday. On Wednesday we took up a measure which was originally introduced in the Senate as a simple revision of the age limits under the Selective Service Act. The Senate had, however, placed the Connally Amendment on the bill, which would have given the President power to take over any defense plant that was closed down by reason of strike or any other cause. I think this power is absolutely essential if we are to have the uninterrupted production of defense material that we should have. As I see it, if the government is to have the right to require the man from 21 to 28 to submit to military training it has not only the right but the duty to require the man above 28 who either owns or works in a plant producing defense equipment to keep that plant running.

The House Military Affairs Committee had rewritten the Connally Amendment, but had retained the same general provisions. When the House came to consider these provisions Mr. Healy, of Massachusetts, moved to strike them out. His motion prevailed in spite of all that those of us who feel that our first duty is to produce all possible defense material could do. In fact, the majority against the amendment was so large that it clearly indicated that many members of the House do not propose to do anything no matter how desperate our national need, unless it meet with the approval of John L. Lewis and Harry Bridges. I was deeply disappointed as I had cut my visit short at home in order that I might be sure to be here in time to vote for this effort to keep our national defense industries running. While I still hope that it may be possible for the conference report to include some such measure, I am afraid that the action of the House will be taken as an invitation to strike in and shut down a number of vital plants. The majority of the representatives from only one Southern state (Louisiana) voted against these amendments and only one Texas representative voted for them. As the bill finally passed it simply provided that no one who was 28 years old before July 1st should be called for military training at this time.

It seems probably that it will be some ten days or two weeks before the Ways and Means Committee is ready to report the new tax bill. When it is reported it will be under what is known as a "closed rule", and it will be impossible to offer any amendments from the Floor. The reason for this is that it would be practically impossible to pass any tax bill if it were possible to offer amendments from the Floor. There is objection to every tax, and if those who object to each special item in the bill could attack it separately the whole bill would probably be destroyed, item at a time—although everybody admits that it is absolutely necessary to raise vast sums of new money by taxation. In the meantime, all the members of the House are trying to contact such members of the Ways and Means Committee as they can in regard to various proposed increases or new taxes. At present the only thing absolutely certain about the tax bill is that it will be very large.

Miss Ann Goodall of Austin was a guest of relatives and friends here during the past week end.

HOME-COMING AT CORYELL CITY HELD JULY 6TH

On Sunday, July 6th, old friends began to gather for the annual home coming. This day is always pleasant for many.

People from all over the state met here for a day with old friends. There were not as many present as usual, because there was some confusion over the date. Officers were elected for another year, and we hope to avoid this confusion. Hurl McClellan of Gatesville was elected president; W. E. Patton of Crawford, vice-president; and Mrs. G. M. Britain of Coryell secretary-treasurer.

We are looking forward to a big crowd next year. The date will be the second Sunday in July.

JOHN A. BASHAM BURIED AT PURMELA FRIDAY

Funeral services for John A. Basham, who passed away Thursday morning, July 10 at his home at Purmela, were held Friday morning at 10 o'clock from the Purmela Baptist Church with the Rev. Ray Stephens, pastor, conducting. Burial was made in the Purmela cemetery.

John A. Basham was born January 17, 1865 at Van Bruen, Arkansas and lived to be seventy-six years and six months old. When a small boy, he came to Texas with his parents, who settled near King. At an early age, he joined well as the general public are especially invited to attend any and all of these services.

The church is located (for those who don't know) on North 10th Street in Gatesville, just across from the Gatesville Coca-Cola Bottling plant.

the Baptist Church and lived a devoted Christian life before his children, neighbors and friends.

Near Goldthwaite, Texas on February 22, 1889, he was united in marriage with Miss Frances Cordelia Mason. Six daughters and one son were born to their home, located in the Purmela community.

One daughter and all of his brothers and sisters preceded him in death. Those surviving are: his wife; six children, R. J. of Burtram, Mrs. Dicy Ellington of Killeen, Delia Basham and Mrs. W. I. Roberts of Waco, Mrs. Amy Braziel and Mrs. Frances Millsap of Purmela; and ten grandchildren.

COTTON FARMERS IN COUNTY ELIGIBLE FOR FREE STAPLING, GRADING SERVICE

Coryell county farmers raising cotton in 1941, are eligible to have their cotton graded and sampled free of charge, provided:

They belong to an improvement association which could be county-wide.

And, the ginner with whom the individual gins, will take samples and forward them to the Department of Agricultural Economics, Austin, for this district.

Arrangements can be made thru the county agent's office, but must be done by July 25 so that all papers can be prepared and forwarded to that office.

Last year, six districts were organized, but some did not get on the list and did not receive this service.

PURMELA'S 4-H CLUB NEWS

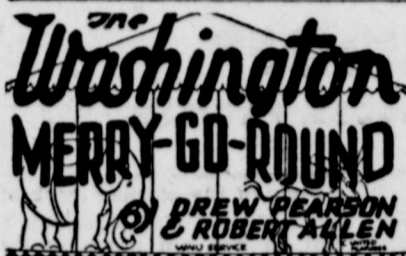

Purmela's 4-H Club girls met again July 1 for their regular meeting at the Smith Crossing. We played several games at first, then we ate our lunch which we enjoyed very much.

When lunch was over, we had our business meeting. Roll call was answered by naming a tree near by. For our next meeting we are going to answer the roll call by some kind of improvements we have made.

Elizabeth Adams invited us to her house July 29 for a picnic. We are going to cook our lunch down on the creek near her house.

After the adjournment of the business meeting, some of the girls went in swimming. After their swim, Antonece Bertrand read us a very interesting story.

Those present for the picnic were Mrs. Raymond Winslar, Charlotte Bertrand, Sybil Basham, Martha Jean Laxson, Elizabeth Adams, Melba Squyres and Geraldine Ballard. We were glad to have five visitors, Miss Sidney G. Gibson of Gatesville, Bessie Lee Roberts of Waco, Bess Crate of Houston, Leota Moore of San Benita and Antonece Bertrand of Purmela.

NEW LEND-LEASE SUM

The new lend-lease appropriation that has been tentatively agreed on by inner advisers is $5,000,000,000.

With the $7,000,000,000 voted by congress several months ago, this would make a total of $12,000,000,000 for aid to the democracies. Yet this stupendous sum is still considerably short of what was originally proposed, also of what probably will be ultimately required.

It's a White House secret, but the first lend-lease program submitted added up to $19,000,000,000. This was slashed to $9,000,000,000 by the army and navy and then still further cut to $7,000,000,000 by the budget bureau. The last figure was approved by the President and sent to congress.

One reason for the new appropriation is that many of the original price estimates have been found to be far too low, particularly in the case of planes, ships and guns. Rising costs, due to changes in construction, more expensive new models, and increased production charges, made it impossible to contract for these items at the original estimates; and more money is needed to fulfill the program.

Another reason for the lend-lease boost is heavy outlays for repairs on battle-damaged British warships, of which a number are now in U. S. yards. This type of aid is running into big money.

Most important, however, is the urgent need for expansion of the whole aid-democracies program. Britain, China and the other Axis foes require increased assistance to meet the greatly enlarged resources of the Nazis brought by their conquest of Europe.

Today they must stand off not only the industrial power of Germany, but also that of France, Belgium, Holland, Rumania, Hungary, and other Nazi victims. So if Britain is to continue fighting she must secure much more help from the United States. Without such aid she will quickly be overwhelmed.

Red Tape-itis

While most of the $7,000,000,000 lend-lease money has been allocated, some $500,000,000 earmarked for new armaments plants is still lying around idle. And close to $4,000,000,000 of other defense appropriations for new plants also is twiddling its thumbs while army supply brasshats and OPM chiefs, enmeshed in coils of red tape, are stalling around.

It takes from 8 to 15 months to erect these plants, so this delay in getting construction started means a serious crimp in the defense program.

Chiefly to blame are army supply brasshats, who are inadequate to handle the colossal task thrust on them, but so jealous of their bureaucratic powers that they won't let anyone else tackle it. OPM heads are champing at the precious time being wasted, but lack authority to override the army and haven't the gumption to raise a row.

WILL DAVIS

The country doesn't like strikes any more than it likes war, but the war has brought out many men of stature, and the strikes have brought out William H. Davis, new chairman of the National Defense Mediation board.

Actually Davis is no "war baby," but a veteran who has been working at labor mediation for many years. Still it was settlement of the Allis-Chalmers strike that first won him national attention.

By profession Davis is a patent lawyer, with offices in New York city. On the very next day after the Allis-Chalmers triumph, he appeared before the U. S. Supreme court, his hair no more unruly than usual, to argue a patent case. He makes his living from big-money firms, but he has a strong liberal viewpoint toward labor.

When a committee of congress asked him what he thought of a bill to outlaw strikes, he said, "When you pass compulsory legislation, you make the working man a slave, and there is no use producing defense materials for a nation of slaves."

There are a lot of odd pieces in Davis' life. He was born in Bangor, Maine, schooled in Washington, D. C., is a member of New York's swanky Downtown Athletic club, a labor sympathizer, founder of the Grand Central Art galleries, father-in-law of Argentine diplomat Alonzo Irigoyen, and careless with his clothes.

One phrase-maker says Davis has "the face of a kindly bulldog." Another "the face of a tired trombone player." Not many faces would answer to that. Davis is easy to spot in a crowd.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Employees of the British Purchasing mission leaving the elevator at their offices are confronted with this sign: "The existence of the British Empire depends on YOUR effort. Chins up—There Will Always Be an England."

Since checking booths were installed at Capitol entrances, police daily turn up some fresh oddity. One day a sea captain's wife, accompanied by six wide-eyed youngsters, left a large bundle of sailors' hard-tack biscuit.

SYNOPSIS

Mike Balan, who has made a racket of hijacking cattle enroute to stock markets, meets his son Johnny, for the first time in twenty years. The two of them become great pals. Trina, a member of Balan's strange household, falls in love with Johnny but this doesn't stop Balan's elaborate plans for a world-girdling adventure jaunt with his son. Before they are able to leave, however, Federal agents clamp down on Balan and he is sent to Leavenworth prison. Balan confidentially tells his cellmate Oklahoma (Lynne Overman) that Johnny will find a way for him to escape.

CHAPTER VIII

TIME and the advice, often repeated by Oklahoma, to "take it easy" worked a slow but sure change in Mike's outward behavior in the weeks that followed. Deep within him he still raged at his captors — but he did not show it. And always he thought of Johnny.

There came the day when as a result of his continued good behavior he was summoned to the Deputy Warden's office, given a paternal talk — to which Mike paid lip service with unctious — and, with Oklahoma, was assigned to general labor duty.

A few days later the pair were detailed to dig a grave for a recently deceased convict in the cemetery outside the walls under the close scrutiny of an armed officer of the prison.

The two were knee-deep in the new grave when the tattoo of a troop of galloping horses attracted their attention. Horses! Mike's eyes gleamed with interest.

In a field some distance from the cemetery a troop of cavalry from nearby Fort Leavenworth were maneuvering at a full gallop. Only a sharp word from the officer brought Mike back to his work. But he continued to watch out of the corner of his eye.

As the troopers swung near the cemetery wall one of the near horses broke out of formation, reared, plunged and, apparently completely out of control, suddenly hurtled the wall, side-stepped a grave or two and came to a halt beside the grave-digging convicts.

Mike froze into the rigidity of the nearby headstones, his whole soul staring out of his eyes. The trooper astride the horse was Johnny!

No flicker of recognition passed between father and son, but as Johnny chatted with the guard and quieted his mount he managed to bring the horse between the prison officer and the prisoners long enough to flip a crumpled tobacco sack into the grave at Mike's feet. The latter seized it swiftly and tucked it into his shoe.

Back in their cell that night, Oklahoma stood guard as Mike extracted a pellet of cigarette paper. On it was written:

FARM
Number 2 Farm, they both knew, was where the honor system prisoners worked practically without guards. Mike was exultant. "Johnny has a plan already," he whispered jubilantly to Oklahoma. "He enlisted in the cavalry so he could be near me without making people suspicious. What do you say to Johnny now?" "Well—he came through pretty good for a start," Oklahoma grudgingly admitted. "We are as good as free," Mike insisted. "Yeah! How do we get good enough for Number 2 Farm?" "I will be a good prisoner," Mike handle some of the clerical work of the troop—another step in Johnny's plan. But he was not prepared for another evidence of Kilpatrick's fatherly interest. So it was with some trepidation that he received an order to present himself in the office of Colonel Stewart, commanding officer of the post. "Trooper Simpkins," the Colonel said gruffly after he had returned Johnny's salute, "as you're one of Sergeant Kilpatrick's proteges, I shall have to make this speech sooner or later. Let's get it over with. There is a West Point Preparatory School in practically every corps area and department of the army. Every young man with the necessary educational qualifications who enlists in the regular army as a private is a potential commissioned officer. Follow me?" Johnny was startled. But he managed a "Yes, sir."

"Keep this in mind," the Colonel continued, "but I warn you that Kilpatrick will hound the daylights out of you as long as he's convinced you've got something. That's all!" Johnny saluted, wheeled and left the office. A chance for a commission! An honorable career in the army! But no—there was Mike to free.

From the beginning, Johnny had refused to become friendly with the other members of the troop. It was no part of his plan to become too well acquainted declared fiercely, "the best prisoner they ever had. I will take anything that they give me. I will not even hit another prisoner."

Mike was right about Johnny. He had enlisted in the army for the sole purpose of camouflaging his efforts to aid Mike escape. But as the days grew into weeks and the weeks into months the strictly-disciplined, hard-riding life of the troop began to bring about a change in him just as Mike, in a different way, had been influenced by the hard routine of the prison.

Never for a moment did Johnny waver from his purpose—to free Mike at any cost. But there were times—many of them—when Johnny found himself regretting that the day Mike escaped would also be the day he, Johnny, would have to desert.

It was Staff Sergeant Kilpatrick, veteran of thirty years' service, who by word and example was most responsible for this subtle change. The elder man liked young Trooper Simpkins, and Johnny, secretly troubled by the deception he was practicing, deliberately cultivated Kilpatrick's good will—for this was an essential part of Johnny's plan to free Mike.

It was with Sergeant Kilpatrick's help that Johnny was assigned to with his mates. As a result of what they considered his high-hat attitude and Sergeant Kilpatrick's obvious patronage Johnny soon found himself a sort of pariah. At first the other troopers had tried to get him to join them on their occasional trips into town but soon these casual invitations ceased.

Johnny was lonely but he consoled himself by concentrating on his plans to free Mike. Already he had succeeded in making a couple of preliminary moves.

But one night the loneliness overcame him. Alone and blue, he hitchhiked his way into Leavenworth.

Even the town seemed dead. Now and then small groups of troopers passed him but they gave him no more than a casual glance. Midway in the block Johnny halted in front of a dimly lit café. From within came the sounds of a small orchestra. Above the door was the legend: THE ROSE PUP.

As Johnny stood irresolutely a girl's voice singing a plaintive Russian air joined the melody of the orchestra. Johnny started, then pushed his way through the curtained doorway.

On a small dais beside the orchestra, the girl was singing. It was Trina!

Mike was right about Johnny. Johnny had enlisted in the army for the sole purpose of camouflaging his efforts to aid Mike escape.

now has a daughter what wurries fer feer ber's is.*

I DON'T guess this is very impor- tant like but I wus talkin' with Georgia Laschinger frum 'round Gilmer down in Upshur County 'tother 'ay an' we cum t' th' con- clushun fue folks knowed jist how bad a East Texas feller felt whin he wus sick.

A furriner frum Oklahommie or other fer away places don't under- stand th' degree o' illness ex- pressed in East Texas terms. It's a serious like sittyashun an' we oter do sumthin' t' cleer it up. It mought happin a East Texas feller wud git out in Californie an' sumbuddy wud ask him how he felt an' h'd answer "kinda puney like" an' th' asker woudn't know innymore then he did b'fore. T' kinda cleer matters up I'll set down th' definishuns o' sum terms o' East Texas illness—t' wit, et all—

"TOLERABLE"—T' feel toler- able kin mean sumthin' an' then on th' other hand mean nuthin'. If ya bin very sick an' is gittin' well an' ya say ya is tolerable ya is still pretty sick, but better. If ya ain't bin sick an' say ya is tolerable ya is on th' verge o' gittin' "puney" and ya better start talkin' molasses an' sulphur an grease yer chest at night. Wudn't hurt t' eat more gar- den sass an' lay off six-titter side meat. After ya pass seventy ya can't expect t' feel innu better th' rest o' yer life 'cept tolerable. Whin a feller sez he's jist feelin' tolerable don't git wurried. Jist pass it off an' go on an' start talkin' 'bout th' weather.

"PUNNEY"—Yer best friend won't tell ya whin ya is feelin' puney. I has know'n birds what has gone 'round feelin' puney all their life an' didn't know it. Th' worst puney feelin' is what they call in th' city "hangovers." Ya wake up in th' mornin' an' ya wished ya hadn't waked up. Ya try smokein' a cigarette an' that won't wurk. Ya talk on sum canned tomaters with vinegar an' salt an' that mought help a little. Ya try sum oter things an' then maik up yer mind jist one big drink wud do th' job. Whin ya feel like that ya is with- out innu doubt 100 per cint puney. If ya ain't a drinkin' man or wo- man ya kin still be puney. A feller sets up all night an' plays poker an' breathes foul cigarette smoke an' loses twenty bucks. He gets home at 5 an' gits up fer wurk at 7 an' right there is where he feels puney. If ya win insted o' losein' twenty bucks ya even feel semi-puney. Ninety-nine out o' a hundred WPA wurkers is puney an' don't ever want t' git innu better.

"AILING"—Whin ya is ailin' ya is gittin' "misery" but don't know where. Ya mought have a headache an' rhumatics in th' knees at the same time an' ya can't tell which is the worse so ya jist combine 'em t'gether an' say ya is ailin'. Whin a feller tells you he is ailin' ya has t' wait a day or so an' ask him agin' t' find out how he feels. I 'member Bill Spew tole us he wus ailin' one day an' a week later he had pella- gra, squirts, hives an' swamp fever.

"MISERY"—This term is used in Deep East Texas, where they still don't cum out loud in print an' de- signate what we call "social dis- eases." Th' East Texas folks jist can't see innuthing social 'bout 'em. I never did either as fer as that is consarned. On th' other hand it mought be misery in th' legs or arms like rhumatics. They has bin cases on recur'd 'round Gilmer, Mount Pleasant an' Atlanta, where sum folks jist laid in bed an' sed they had misery whin investiga- shuns an' later events proved they wus jist damned lazy. They is sum wimmen in East Texas t' day wear- in' smocks jist t' git outta doin' sum wurk. Now don't git th' ideer they ain't doin' it in other parts o' Texas. I like East Texas folks bet- ter'n innu fer my folks wus born over there, but I'm jist taikin' East Texas as a example.

"LOW SICK"—Now we cum t' th' wurst part. Whin ya is low sick ya mought as well git out a insur- ance policy if ya has one an' have it reddey fer the undertaker. Time he gets through with it ya won't care much 'bout what's left innu- how so toss it t' him an' tell him not t' spare th' horses. Low sick is jist 'bout eight blocks worse then jist bein' sick. I has herd 'bout folks bein' low sick an' 'fore I cud ask what their naim wus they wus plumb dead. Bein' low sick shore does cut int' yer afternoons.

Now, whin ya go down t' deep East Texas you'll know how folks is gittin' long. If they ever invite ya down fer butcherin', cemetery cleanin' or a buddin' demonstrashun talk me 'long with ya fer I shore do like t' eat.

An' I promise ya I won't be puney or ailin' whin ya is reddey t' go.

It's EASY to learn this!

Can you Goose-Step?

With a little PRACTICE nearly anyone can go through all the motions of being the SLAVE of a "Super State."

Just relax. Just say: "Oh, why should I worry about how the country is run or who runs it?" Just do as you're told. Don't bother about your freedom or your rights.

You'll be goose-stepping in no time!

Strange as it may seem to the goose- steppers, AMERI- CANS decided, on the FIRST 4th of July, that they'd RATHER worry a little than to be made into wooden FOLLOWERS.

"We'll try governing ourselves," said these Americans. "Of course, we will have to know all the time what's going on and have to do some THINKING for ourselves. But, if the price of FREEDOM is so rea- sonable, we will have a try at it!"

"But wait a minute. This wandering around LIS- TENING to this or that opinion wastes a lot of time. How about offering some enterprising fellow a few cents to go everywhere, report everything EVERY DAY?" So these free Americans reasoned.

Right! NEWSPAPERS were the answer! Not the GOVERNMENT'S new- spapers, though—the PEOPLE'S newspapers. Never mind if the EDITOR is a "fearless fire eater." Never mind how many OPINIONS he has, so long as he reports the FACTS—and we, the people, are free to make up our own minds from the NEWS.

Now if we stopped HERE we still wouldn't have FREEDOM. A man who knows all about how to govern himself but doesn't know how and where to turn his money into good VALUE is only HALF free.

That's an EASY one to solve. We let all the makers and sellers of goods report what THEY have to offer—right in the same newspaper. Call it ADVERTISING. To the free citizen it is a daily catalogue of the best bargains, the NEWS of new and useful things, the daily guide to the most for his money.

The world calls us "lucky," in America. Maybe we are. But there's quite a little HORSE SENSE in the system. It lets an AMERICAN sit in his easy chair with his shoes off while public servants and store- keepers seek him out to please him.

And even if we sometimes choose WRONG, we Ameri- cans still prefer to do without the kind of "leaders" who could teach us to goose-step past a balcony.
