MY TRIP TO THE FARMERS' SHORT COURSE AT TEXAS A. & M. COLLEGE

Ada Marie Short

The Junior Course of the Farmers' Short Course at A. and M. College opened Wednesday night, July 16, 1941, with a program, "Freedom we Defend", presented by the Stephen F. Austin High School of Bryan, Texas.

Valuable and interesting lectures and demonstrations were given each day. I will tell the lectures which I heard that I thought were the most interesting.

The lecture "Attractive Everyday foods for National Defense" was given by Jessie Whitacre and Jennie Camp. They demonstrated ways of preparing foods in order to be more attractive, inexpensive and to increase the nutritional food value.

Agnes Young, Mildred James and other women made and exhibited very attractive and inexpensive dressers and dressing tables; which were made out of orange and apple boxes, old wash stands, dressers, machines, tables and many other things which were of little or no use. They also made machine covers which served two purposes, one to cover the machine, the other to serve as a dressing table.

Lectures on Electrical Equipment for the Farm and Home were given by Louise Venable, Kathryn Harris, Jackie Stockard and Mr. R. Bently. They explained the District Court Criminal Docket Nearly Finished

There just wasn't much to it this year. In fact only about the first three days this week, may be four, was there any thing to District Court that would attract a crowd.

Cases settled this week, since Tuesday, are: The State of Texas vs. Floyd Crosby, charged with burglary, acquitted.

The State of Texas vs. Cleburne Kelly, Jr., charged with burglary; 2 years suspended sentence.

The State of Texas vs. Clay Strickland, charged with theft of sheep; found guilty by jury and given 2 years; case appealed.

According to District Clerk Carl McClendon, that's all, and as for next week, it'll be Civil Court.

PEAGE, WHAT A PEAG! CAME FROM DISERENS, AND IS A WHOPPER

We've seen peaches, and we've seen peaches, but we haven't yet seen any pages as big as one brought in by D. W. Diserens.

It's uniform in size, and what a size, it's 11½ inches around the middle, and weighed on post office scales 12¾ ounces in "heft", and that's a "hefty" peach.

Confidentially, Mr. Diserens says it's a J. H. Hale peach, which still don't mean anything to us.

JOE AND HARRY CONVERSE
Moscow, July 31, (AP)—Harry L. Hopkins heard from Joseph Stalin in a Kremlin conference Wednesday night what kind of American equipment would help the Red army, bayonet countercharges of which were reported to have put the Germans on the defensive in some sectors.

Mon., Tues., Wed. "Maneuverblitz" Starts: "Scram"

It's our part of the American Way, beginning Monday and continuing thru Wednesday, including Tuesday, to "STAY OUT OF THE WAY" of the "MANEUVERBLITZ"!

In other words, the boys from Camp Bowie will be thru Gatesville, starting Monday.

According to Chief of Police Frank Farquhar, the center parking space on the north side of the square will be cleared, and there'll be no parking there.

You'll be ASKED, and if you don't, you'll be TOLD to stay out of the way; do not cut-in as a convoy passes. Stay off the highway unless it is absolutely necessary, and by all means stay on your side of the highway.

The convoy will NOT pay any attention to light signals, so don't try to cross even if you've a green light. Stay where you are, and "watch the boys go by."

You know, this particular U.S. 84 has Uncle Sam's name on it; he can do just about what he pleases with it. We expect, too, that HE paid a major part of its construction.

Politely, but definitely, "STAY OUT OF THE WAY"! It's telling, not asking.

BRACK CURRY GETS FIRST "BY-LINE" AP STORY

Brack G. Curry, formerly with the News, and now with the Dallas office of The Associated Press got his first "by-line" story recently, which means, his name was printed under the heading of the story.

Mr. Curry's story was about CCC Camp activities in Texas.

He is to be congratulated on getting this recognition in such a short time after joining this world wide news gathering agency. Brack is a brother of Bailey Curry of Gatesville.

REVIVAL AT CHURCH OF CHRIST BEGINS TONIGHT

The revival meeting at the Church of Christ begins Friday night, August 1, and continues ten days. A. R. Holton of Sherman will do the preaching.

Everybody is invited to attend the services. Come and assist with the singing.

Ernest Dutschmann Found Dead Near The Grove; No Inquest

Ernest Dutschmann, about 48, was found dead near The Grove Wednesday about noon. He had been shot twice, once in the center of the forehead, and a scalp wound just above the temple. A .22 caliber gun had been used.

Mr. Dutschmann had left his home near The Grove rather early Wednesday to go "top corn" and since he did not show up about noon, search was started. He was found face down at a "cistern holde" on a creek about ¾ mile from his home. His head was under water, with the rest of his body out, like he'd been getting a drink of water. A blood spattered trail led thru a fence and down to the spot. The gun was found in the bottom of the pool.

Yesterday, County Health Officer John Thoma Brown and Dr. Kermit R. Jones found the .22 bullet after an autopsy.

So far, an official coroners report has not been made, and the case is still under investigation.

Funeral services had not been announced late yesterday. He is survived by a large number of relatives and friends.

Annual Ram-Billy Sale Here August Eleventh-Twelfth

That's the dates, and just about all we know about the Annual Ram and Billy Sale which is held annually here, but still, it's of great interest, since it is so important in connection with this new industry in "Swell Cory-ell".

Miss Sidney Gale Gibson confides that the H-D Clubs are going to have something of their own during the two day show, and they will exhibit men's wool ties, we suppose made by the ladies, and, also, there'll be a butchered lamb, demonstration of lamb cuts, and some cooked lamb. Just hope there's enough.

Pen fee will be 25c per animal, and a ribbon show will be held for pure bred yearling, lambs, kids, and over two's in the following classes:

C type Rambouillets; B and C type Delaines; B and C type Angoras.

The show is under the auspices of the Coryell County Sheep and Goat Raisers Association with Claude Giddens as Sales Manager.

"Texan" Home Has Open House For Week, Aug. 3-10

The model Cameron-built "Texan" home at Highland Drive in Highland Addition will be open for public exhibition throughout the week, beginning next Sunday August 3rd., local manager of Wm Cameron & Co., sponsor of the house announced today.

There will be no admission charge, and the visiting hours will be as follows: Sunday, 1 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.; week days, 1 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

Representatives of the sponsor of this modern, low-cost home will be on hand to escort visitors thru the rooms, explaining all construction features and answering any questions the visitors might have.

This rather unusual home was designed by Cameron's Home Planning Department and was built by H. C. Gallaway, contractor. Sub-contractors were as follows: Louis Newman, paint and paper; R. E. West Electric, electrical wiring; and Barker's Plumbing Shop, Plumbing.

This model home has 5 rooms, including living room, dining room, kitchen, 2 bedrooms, bathroom, hallway, entrance, 4 closets, screen porch connecting garage and house, and convenient entrance porch at front.

One of the most important necessities in a modern home is plenty of built-in cabinets and wood-work specialties. The "Texan" is equipped with the nationally famous Ideal Step-Saving Kitchen completely built in. It also has Ideal Built-in Medicine Cabinet, Ironing Board and Mantel, plus numerous other built in conveniences.

Ideal Windows, Doors, Window and Door Frames, Screen Doors, Window Screens, and Interior Woodwork Trim are used throughout.

The floors are Perfection Oak throughout the house. The roof is No. 1 Grade Perfection Red Cedar Shingles.

IT'S THAT TRANSFER BUSINESS AGAIN: BOARD MEETS WED.

There's one Board that's worked to a splinter this time of year, and that's the Coryell County School Board, who'll meet once again in the courthouse Wednesday at 10 a. m., and the problem will be transfers of children from one district to another.

We need not tell you to see them at this time, but it's the time, and if you've children to be transferred, it's your opportunity.

JOE AND COMPANY IN BIG CITY'S MARKETS

Joe Hanna and Mrs. Owen Crow are the representatives of Joe Hanna's Cash Store in the Fort Worth-Dallas wholesale markets this week.

No doubt, when they return they'll have some "style news" and other interesting facts about the fall clothing business to tell the large clientele which patronizes this popular, as they say in French "magazin".

IN OUR

Sometime ago, we got a card from John L. Moore, formerly of Gatesville, and now of Pensacola, Florida, where he went to take a civil service job as an airplane technician. He writes:

"Well, in a couple of days we got to Pensacola, and I started to work Tuesday morning on a Martin Patrol Bomber so long I could not see both ends at once. I am in the Repair and Assembly Department. Send my paper to me here. Thanks.

John L. Moore"

Ben Owen Crow left Monday morning for Big Spring where he will spend the next month with his aunt, Mrs. Roy Townsend.

Aubrey Doyle of Houston is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. P. H. Permenter, cors

The weather is very hot and dry.

Mrs. Bertha Huckabee spent Sunday with Mrs. Permenter and Mrs. Rogers, and late in the afternoon they all went to Mrs. Dickey's and ate watermelon.

Brother Bruce Weaver filled his regular appointment at the Methodist church and did some good preaching.

The revival begins at the First Baptist Church the first Sunday in August and the Methodist will commence as soon as the Baptist closes. Everybody is invited to attend both meetings.

Mrs. Ernest Jones went week before last to the bedside of her mother, who passed away. Mrs. Jones hadn't returned Sunday.

Visitors in the Lauder milk home Sunday were, Mr. and Mrs. Rubert Whisenhunt, Charles and Ruberta, Mrs. Ethel Rogers and Vonnie Collier. Sevie Lauder milk who has been ill quite a while, is doing very well.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Bundrant spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin.

Mrs. A. B. Davis spent the week end in Ireland with relatives. Mr. Davis went for her Sunday and spent the day.

"Boy" Rogers returned home from the West, where he has been for a few weeks. The rain there damaged the wheat crop a lot.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Miles have returned from their vacation reporting a nice time.

Little Janell Rogers has returned to her home in Conroe after having spent about six weeks with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Whisenhunt were callers in the Ab Davis home Sunday afternoon.

The baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buford Snoddy is very low at this writing. Their sons, Esteen and Deltian, are here from Tampa.

Mrs. Lynn Rogers passed away at her home Wednesday, July 23.

She will be greatly missed and we all join in our sympathy for her children.

J. C. Rogers of Houston visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Rogers, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Oran Webb have returned from their trip to see their son, James, who is in service in Galveston and some of their other children also.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Miles returned home after visiting their children and had a good time.

The friends of Mrs. Emamy Bland are giving her a farewell shower this week.

Mrs. Clifford Onstott Entertains The Square Dealers Club

Mrs. Onstott and her charming daughters, Charlene, Maudine and Patsy, were joint hostesses to the Liberty Square-Dealers Club at the Onstott home July 24th. The special feature of the day was a bridal shower for Mrs. Hanes Baize. It was a wonderful success. Many visitors contributed lovely gifts to the popular newlyweds.

The pink and blue colors were featured in the pickup work. It was blocks for a save-all quilt of the Martha Washington colonial type.

Plates, consisting of sandwiches cake and iced punch, were passed to 44 guests, as follows: Mesdames Hobby Hill, G. Baize, Wilmer Chumney, Marion Neal, R. L. Parrish, George Perry, J. W. LEON RIVER BAPTIST Y.W.A., G.A., AND R.A. ENCAMPMENT

July 22 and 23 approximately 80 people attended the annual YW A and GA encampment at Pecan Grove. This is the first year the RA has been included.

Throughout the entire encampment a high spiritual atmosphere existed. Mrs. C. C. Fuqua of Meridian, Miss Winifred Byrom of Gatesville and Miss Mae Ng of Baylor University were guest speakers.

Rev. Marcus Rexrode, camp pastor, and Claydene Patterson, RA sponsor, were at their best. Mrs. Paul Cloud, the much loved Association Young People's Secretary was responsible for the wonderful encampment. Plans have begun for the encampment next year.

Union Valley, Jonesboro and Coryell were the only churches having representatives throughout the entire program. We extend thanks to the Pecan Grove church for the use of their buildings and grounds.—Reporter.

GATESVILLE GIRL ON T. S. C. W. HONOR ROLL

Denton, Texas—Miss Martha Moore of Gatesville was ranked scholastically with the highest eight per cent of the student body at Texas State College for Women when Dean E. V. White recently announced the Honor Roll for the second semester of the 1940-41 session.

An average of B qualified Miss Moore for honors. A junior student at the college, Miss Moore, the daughter of W. G. Moore is working toward a degree in library science.

Mrs. Floyd Zeigler
Hostess To Contract Club

Complimenting members and additional guests of the Wednesday Contract Club, Mrs. Floyd Zeigler entertained in her home on Sidcoke street on the appointed afternoon this week. Bouquets of various summer flowers adorned the reception rooms throughout.

Mrs. Harry Flentge and Mrs. G. W. Dennis were recipients of the high and second high score prizes, respectively. Other players were, Mesdames Charles Powell, Rosser Sanders, Jim J. Brown, John Thomas Brown, Johnnie Washburn, Billie McMordie, Lee Colwick, Bill Nesbitt, Crawford Scott, Kermit Jones, Sherrill Kendrick, Russell Davis, Madison Pruitt, and Miss Jewell Witcher.

At the conclusion, the hostess served an appetizing salad plate.

Mrs. M. S. Montgomery
Honored On Birthday
Anniversary

Miss Molly Montgomery, E. C. and Jay Farmer honored their mother, Mrs. Mollie S. Montgomery, on the anniversary of her 78th birthday Thursday, July 24, at 6:30 p. m. in Raby Park with a surprise dinner.

The beautifully decorated birthday cake was topped with seven large candles each representing 10 years and eight small candles each representing 1 year. The table had been decorated with many bouquets of flowers, and the dinner course consisted of specially made pit barbecue with all condiments.

Those present and sharing the courtesy besides the children were: Mrs. John T. Post, Mrs. L. K. Thomson, Mrs. Walter Wiggins and son. Relatives present were: Mrs. Tommie Lee Brown, niece and Mrs. Mary Ella Walker, granddaughter, and Mrs. E. C. Farmer.

Many nice gifts were presented the honoree, and at 8:30 all departed expressing a hope for many more happy birthdays for Mrs. Montgomery.

Floral Cotton

Flowered cottons are in the order of the day for summer wear, the National Cotton Council reports. This sheer cotton dress is one of a series featuring rose designs. The full bloom of the double climbing rose combines with the twining foliage in a small all-over pattern. Tiny pleated ruffles edge up the square neckline, sleeves and pockets while novelty buttons and belt pick up the gayest color in the design.

Wednesday Bridge
Club and Guests
Complimented

Members and additional guests of the Wednesday Bridge Club were complimented when Mrs. Mabel Gardner entertained in her home on East Main on the appointed morning at 9 o'clock. Seasonable flowers in profusion decorated the reception suite.

The guest personnel included: Mesdames G. W. Dennis, Robert Brown, Roger Miller, Henry Sadler, Jim McClellan, Chess Sadler, Miller Stinnett, I. F. Johnson Jr., Francis Caruth, L. K. Thomson, J. W. Laird, Madison Pruitt, John Thomas Brown, Rosser Sanders, George Painter, Russell Davis, Kermit Jones, W. C. McDonald of Galveston, S. B. Winters of Evant and T. W. Winters of Evant.

Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Stinnett were winners of the high and second high score prizes, respectively, and Mrs. McDonald received guest prize. After the presentation of the awards, the hostess served a delectable salad course.

(Waco News-Tribune)

Before an improvised altar of palms and white flowers, Mrs. Corneille Downer Wise of St. Louis became the bride of the Rev. Alonzo Monk Bryan, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Gid J. Bryan of this city, Tuesday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's father in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. James Walker Downer, 1016 South Fifth street.

Nuptial music was played by Joseph Nance, violinist, and Mrs. W. Downer Jr., pianist. Soloist was James Hester, who sang "Because".

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Jack Odell. Mrs. Odell wore a blue redingote ensemble and rose hat, and her corsage was of blue cornflowers and tiny pink flowers.

Durwood Fleming of Caddo Mills attended Rev. Mr. Bryan as best-man.

The bride was dressed in a pastel blue frock with tailored coat to match. She wore white gloves and other accessories of navy blue, and her only jewelry was a gold cross, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a white testament, on which was arranged a shower bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

Following the ceremony, Miss Belle Downer, sister of the bride, presided over a three-tiered wedding cake. Only a few close friends and members of the immediate families attended the ceremony and reception which followed.

After the reception, the bridegroom's parents entertained members of the bridal party and out-of-town guests with a buffet supper at their home, 1603 Clay avenue. Bouquets of phlox and zinnias decorated the rooms.

Rev. and Mrs. Bryan left on a wedding trip around Lake Michigan and through a number of northern states. After August 10 they will be at home in St. Louis, where he is pastor of St. Luke's Methodist church.

Mr. Bryan was graduated from Waco High School and Baylor university. Rev. Mr. Bryan, a graduate of Weatherford Junior college, received his degree from Baylor university and his B. D. degree from Southern Methodist university. He also did graduate work at Drew university, Madison, Wisconsin.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Bryan, Dabney Bryan, Mrs. Annette Smith and daughter, Mrs. Duer Wagner, and Miss Ernal Smith, all of Fort Worth; Mrs. K. T. Nance and son, Joseph, and Miss Ann Novotney, Dallas; Mrs. Pearl White and Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Beerwinkle, Gatesville; and Mr. and Mrs. Fleming, Caddo Mills.

Miss Oleta Sanders
And Ralph Hill Wed
In California

The marriage of Miss Oleta Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elza Sanders of Pearl, and Ralph Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hill of Ames, was solemnized Saturday evening, July 19, in the home of the officiating minister in Los Angeles, California. Only close friends witnessed the ceremony.

The bride wore a navy ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses. Her only attendant was Miss Rose Rosenberg of Chicago, Illinois.

J. W. Hill acted as best-man.

After a honeymoon trip to Long-Beach, California, points in Old Mexico and Catalina Island, the couple will reside at Hawthorne, California.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hill are former residents of this city. At present the bridegroom is employed by the North American Aircraft Corporation at Inglewood.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Shirley of Port Arthur and Mrs. H. T. Mulkey of San Antonio have been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jones.

Lieut. James Boyd Bond from Camp Bowie in Brownwood is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Press Bond. He is on a seven-day furlough. Other guests in the Bond home are Mr. and Mrs. V. McBroom of McAllen.

W. J. Thompson Jr., Clyde Thompson and Robert Earl Ashby have returned from a fishing trip on the Colorado River, near Lometa.

Mrs. Jack Phillips and Miss Mildred Gandy spent Thursday in Huntsville. They will return today and will be accompanied by Miss Gladys Marie Phillips and Miss Mary Nell Townsend of Houston, who have been attending SHSTC there.

Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Epperson, Misses Bettie Epperson and Ruth Fleck of Dallas have been visiting Archie and Letha Epperson near Gatesville this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Price spent the past week end in San Antonio, where they were guests of her sister, Mrs. Ed Seward.

Miss Nell Ruth left Tuesday to spend the remainder of this week with her sister, Miss Mary Ruth, in Floresville.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Caldwell of Cheyenne, Wyoming are guests of his sister, Mrs. John Price, in the Ewing community.

Mr. and Mrs. Denver Roberts and son, Billy, of Pettus were week end guests in the home of her parents, Judge and Mrs. R. B. Cross. Billy remained for a week's visit with his grandparents.

SIDE GLANCES ON TEXAS HISTORY

By Charles O. Hucker
University of Texas Library

DUVAL TAKES A DIG AT FENIMORE COOPER

One of the memorable things about John C. Duval's "Adventures of Big-Foot Wallace," which ranks among the most popular books on Texas ever written, is its ridicule of James Fenimore Cooper and similarly well-known chroniclers of frontier life.

Duval's objection was that Cooper, whose "The Last of the Mohicans" is still a favorite today, was hopelessly ignorant of the actual conditions of life in the West. So in his biography of Wallace, several early editions of which are in the Texas Collection of the University of Texas Library he introduced a writer of his own creation who is one of the most comic characters in all Texas literature.

This "Mr. Author"—a scholarly individual with a stove-pipe hat, an umbrella, and an unshaken faith in the reliability of Cooper's Western lore—was himself writing a novel about a noble Indian of the best Cooper tradition, Hopi-Huki-lika-hajo by name, who, among other things, "never says two words without beginning, 'Brother, listen'." The title of the book was "The Wayworn Wanderer of the Western Wilds."

COOPER'S INDIANS RIDICULED

The story of "Mr. Author's" friendship with Wallace is a history of his gradual disillusionment. It begins the first night they are together, when the little stranger learns, greatly to his amazement and dismay, that the old Indian-hunter's opinion of Cooper's Indian characters is scarcely a complimentary one.

In the first place, Wallace did not care for their dress, their bearing or their conversation; and in addition he recalled that they "never laugh nor steal horses, while I have found Indians to be uncommonly fond of a joke, especially of a certain kind, and the most arrant and expert thieves that ever went unhung."

Now Mr. Author, who was at least open-minded, began immediately to consider the possibility of revising the portion of his book which was already written. He was determined to change it if necessary, for the "Wayworn Wanderer," he declared, "is not intended for a sensation novel, and its scenes and characters must be true to nature."

Another part of the little man's "Cooper code" was that "the nites are always serene and clear, the stars twinkle overhead, the turf is green and soft, and everything is pleasant and agreeable." But one night passed in a puddle of water during a roaring Texas norther dispelled this illusion and brought from him a voluntary confession that "I'm losing confidence in Mr. Cooper rapidly."

COOPER A HUMBBUG

The last straws were two experiences with animals, a buck deer and a band of ferocious Mexican hogs; from each he barely escaped with his life. Of the deer—Cooper's "timid, innocent animal that is startled by its own shadow in the sun"—Mr. Author observed "I never saw so furious a beast in all my born days." And when, while the hogs slashed his legs with their tusks, Wallace reminded him of Cooper's observations on animal nature he exploded, "Oh, bother Cooper, I say! Cooper is an unmitigated humbug!" And soon thereafter he took his leave, determined, insofar as Cooper was concerned, that "He has imposed on the world long enough."

"I parted with our little author at San Antonio," Duval had Wallace say in concluding the story of the strange friendship, "and he promised me faithfully to send me a copy of his book as soon as it was published; but I never got it, nor do I know to this day whether or not he has ever exposed, as he threatened to do, the 'humbuggeries' of Mr. Cooper, in his great novel of the 'Wayworn Wanderer of the Western Wilds'."

100 YEARS AGO IN TEXAS
"The voracious editor of the Gazette has caught the cue of his patron, Sam Houston—when driven from one falsehood, he is sure to seek refuge in another—'like master, like man.'"

"The editor of the Gazette gives a long list of drafts, which he asserts were ordered to be paid by President Burnet, without special appropriations. No, if the editor had examined closely, he would have seen that all these drafts were paid from old appropriations, which it was not in the power of Congress to cancel. These appropriations were made for the army and navy—and we believe that every item, or nearly so, which President Burnet ordered to be paid from them, was in some way connected with these departments."

"The articles which have appeared in the Centinel, intended to ridicule the stuff with which the columns of the Matagorda Gazette have teemed for several weeks past, head 'Indians in Austin', it seems has set the editor of that paper into a severe fever. We are really sorry—but with much care, we hope he may yet recover. We will prescribe for him, so anxious are we to atone for any harm we may have done the boy. We sincerely recommend that those beautiful locks of his be forthwith shorn off, that a blister plaster of mush and milk be applied, that he be closely kept in a dark room, and above all, his nurse should be carefully enjoined not to let the word 'Comanche' reach his ears; if he should, however, happen to hear this word repeated, a strait jacket, we think, will be indispensable."—The Texas Centinel (Austin), May 20, 1841.

AUSTIN, JULY 25—Texas secondary school and college officials who will have charge of the NYA Student Work program next year will be in a much better position to serve the young people employed on NYA part-time jobs in their institutions as a result of the NYA information program concluded this week, which was sponsored by 34 Texas colleges in cooperation with the State NYA School Work Council, J. C. Kellam, state NYA administrator, said today.

An estimated 5,000 summer school students, including scores of school officials and educators, were reached by Council members and NYA personnel through class lectures, individual conferences, and open forums, during which both the NYA Student Work and Out-of-School Work programs were discussed.

Members of the Council who spent considerable time and effort away from their own work to plan or to participate in the program were Chairman John P. Manning, Austin, former Robstown superintendent; A. F. Waggoner, Belton, Bell County superintendent; E. B. Comstock, Dallas principal of the North Dallas high school; H. L. Foster, Longview school superintendent; Bryan Dickson, San Angelo superintendent; J. O. Webb, Houston, director of senior schools; G. B. Trimble, director of the Fort Worth Technical high school; and R. C. Patterson, Denton school superintendent.

Mr. and Mrs. Olen Whitley of near Prairie View spent Sunday in the home of his sister, Mrs. Jim Brasher, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Holland of Ames, also Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Watts of Ater spent Sunday in the Tom Box home.

Mrs. H. R. Ragsdale spent Saturday night in the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. B. Linton, of near Ater.

Mr. and Mrs. Tine Crosley spent Sunday near Valley Mills with his father and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jones and boys visited in the Jim Brasher home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Shillings of Eddy spent Sunday and Sunday night in the home of his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Walker.

Eruce Hollingsworth, who has been working in Bryan, was home for a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Hollingsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brasher got a letter from their son, J. W., who is in the Army. He is now stationed at Panama. He says it's a long, long way from home now and he misses the states and his old friends.

The House continues to work on defense items almost exclusively. Yesterday we passed a bill authorizing approximately half a billion dollars for the use of the Navy in the repair of ships, the enlargement of docks and yards, and the erection of new explosive plants. An interesting item in this bill was a provision for seventy million dollars for the erection of a plant to produce a new type of explosive. The nature of this explosive has not yet been made public, but it is said to be different from any explosive now produced. This is one of the relatively few new inventions that seems to be in line for use in a big way.

Many thousands of inventions are being submitted to the War and Navy Departments and to members of Congress, and to the White House. There are so many from all parts of the country that it has been necessary for the War Department to establish a Bureau of Inventions to which they can all be submitted for investigation and consideration by men who are at least supposed to know something of their feasibility. Of course I am not an expert in this kind of thing, but many novel plans have been presented that looked good to me, but which were turned down as impracticable, or rejected as being already available when presented to the board of experts.

While this is the only way to handle the volume of plans that come in, I cannot but fear that our military and naval men are all too conservative and too slow to change their established ways and methods. Therefore, the plans to produce a new type of explosive are very encouraging to me. One illustration of the reluctance of the Army to change its traditions is seen in the fact that our army still devotes relatively more attention to training masses of men than to the complete mechanization of many divisions of troops. I realize that we must have trained men, and lots of them. I realize that we have not as yet trained enough men. I realize that we must in times like these keep a vast army of trained men ready for action at a moments notice, but I am also convinced that our men must have more tanks, more artillery, more trucks, more armored cars, more anti aircraft guns, and of course more airplanes. We should have not two, ten or even twenty armored and mechanized divisions—we should have the great bulk of our army equipped with all of the latest machinery. In this way we can increase the efficiency of each soldier many times over. In this way, and only in this way, can we make one or two million well trained men more effective than an old fashioned army of eight or ten million.

I realize that to establish such an army requires just as many men as the old type did, because it takes so many industrial workers to supply and maintain a mechanized army. To my way of thinking it is better in every way to use the great masses of our men in industry rather than in ranks. In so doing it seems to me that we could use many of the millions who are being rejected for military service on physical grounds. However, such a policy to be successful would require a better response on the part of industrial workers than we have heretofore had. It would likewise require a more general recognition of their responsibility for the defense of their country. The attitude of those who say that American soldiers can whip the world with rifles and bayonets reminds me of the statement of the famous Bob Toombs of Georgia who said at the beginning of the Civil War—"We can whip the Yankees with cornstalks before breakfast". The trouble was that the Yankees wouldn't fight with cornstalks, and the trouble now is that the dictators won't fight simply with rifles and bayonets.

We have expected the tax bill each week since about the middle of May but the Ways and Means Committee continues to revise it. It now seems quite certain that it will not reach the House before the first of August. It is thought that if it ever gets on the Floor it will be quickly passed as the rules of the House will not permit long debate, but when it goes to the Senate it will probably involve several weeks of debate.

CROP, FEED, SEED
LOANS ARE AVAILABLE
FARMERS IN CORYELL

Emergency Crop loans for the production of winter wheat and other small grains are now available to farmers in Coryell County, and applications for these loans are now being received at District Clerk's office in Gatesville, Texas by Eric E. Brown, field supervisor, of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Section of the Farm Credit Administration.

These loans will be made, as in the past, only to farmers whose cash requirements are small and who cannot obtain a loan from any other source, including production credit associations, banks, or other private concerns or individual.

As in former years, the money loaned will be limited to the applicant's necessary cash needs in preparing his land and seeding his 1941 grain crop.

Borrowers who obtain loans for the production of grain crops are required to give as security a first lien on the crop financed.

DEBTS ADJUSTED NOW WILL AVOID TROUBLE
LATER

Farm debts adjusted in midsummer will prevent foreclosures next winter, said FSA County Supervisor, George C. Moore as he announced the next meeting of the Farm Debt Adjustment Committee.

The meeting will be held Monday, August 4th, at Gatesville in the FSA office, at 10:00 o'clock a. m.

Farmers who anticipate debt difficulties before the end of the year are invited to this meeting, as well as creditors who would like to get on a sounder basis with their farmer creditors.

Mr. Moore said that many debt burdened farmers in the county can avoid year-end debt difficulties by getting on a realistic and sound basis now. Land tenure agreements can be more readily worked out by landlord and tenant if the latter's debts are within his ability to pay.

The farm debt adjustment committee, composed of local people, offer expert assistance in helping farmers and their creditors arrive at a fair schedule for repaying debts.

P.O. WARNS OF CHAIN
SCHEMES FOR GETTING DEFENSE STAMPS

From the office of the Solicitor, Washington, D. C. thru the local postmaster, J. Hurl McClellan, comes the following warning:

"The mails in all parts of the country are being flooded at present with letters relating to so-called endless chain schemes soliciting Defense Savings Stamps.

"Patrons of the various post office depositing in the mails matter relating to schemes of this nature should be warned that the sending of such matter thru the mails is a violation of the postal fraud and lottery statutes. Notices are served upon persons participating in such schemes whose names come to the attention of the Post Office Department requiring them to show cause why fraud orders should not be issued against them. Such orders forbid the delivery of any mail to the persons named therein."

From the U.S. Air Corp, Radio School, Scott Field, Illinois, we get a card from Pvt. Wm. F. Rutherford, who's been transferred there from Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis, Mo., and he wants his paper sent to his new address.

Pvt. Russell M. Riddling of the 89th Platoon, Recruit Depot, M.C. B. (Marine Corp Base) San Diego, California, writes as follows: "I

If the Coryell County News wants me to write information how the boot camp is run and how discipline is taught here, I will do so." Well, we've an idea how it's done, but it would be better from Pvt. Russell.

First Lieutenant Henry (Duggan) Haynes left this week for San Antonio, from where he will entrain for Washington State and eventually Alaska, it is thought. Lieut. Haynes is in the U.S. Medical Corp, and is a son of Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Haynes. His wife remains "in the states".

TEXAS HOME GARDENS

College Station—Texas ranked second among 11 Southern States in the number of home gardens grown under a special provision of the 1941 AAA program. North Carolina led with 156,539 while the Texas figure was 148,861, according to a recent announcement from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. A total of 645,254 families benefitted from home gardens which qualified for payment.

Since the 1940 provision was announced, provisions for home growing of food have been expanded considerably with the AAA supplementary food conservation practice and other phases of the Food-for-Defense program. By taking advantage of these practices families can have a better living at home and at the same time release larger quantities of commercially-produced food for defense requirements.

REDUCE KITCHEN "TRAVEL"

Texas A. and M. College Extension Service For release July 10

Summertime may be the season for travel but not "kitchen travel" which refers to unnecessary steps and wasted energy in the preparation of meals.

Louise Bryant, Extension Service specialist in home management, says lost motion can be eliminated by efficient arrangement of the kitchen. This will make all meal time duties—preparation and serving of food as well as the subsequent dish washing—less difficult, she says.

Here are some tips on kitchen arrangement which will help reduce "kitchen travel":

If the stove, sink, and cabinet or work table are arranged around two or three adjoining walls, unbroken by doors, this will form a continuous working surface so that utensils will be more accessible.

If doors break into the wall space, a continuous surface may be provided by a drop leaf or by a table mounted on casters.

If a working surface with cupboards above can be placed at the left of the sink, dishes may be put away as soon as they are dried without extra steps.

If all the doors opening into the kitchen are at one end and there is no passage way through the work center, work is usually simplified. Where work centers cannot be conveniently arranged, a service wagon will cut down the travel, Miss Bryant points out.

EAT WATERMELON AS A FRUIT IN THE DIET

Texas A. and M. College Extension Service

Eating watermelon once daily several times a week is a pleasant fulfillment of fruit diet needs.

According to J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist of the A. and M. College Extension Service, watermelon is classified as a fruit in the diet, and it will serve admirably as a fruit serving for at least one meal a day during July and August.

About 1,000 carloads of watermelons are shipped to other states from Texas yearly. At present the outlook is good for large yields of high quality melons, although maturity will be later than usual. Many growers prepare for large domestic consumption on June Tenth and July Fourth.

Last year Nacogdoches County shipped 27 carloads in addition to many truck loads which went to various cities in the state. Henderson and Leon counties are rivals of the Nacogdoches area in carlot shipment Waller and Austin counties formerly were large shippers by rail, but have changed to trucks as a means of transporting their crop to market.

In recent years the quality of watermelons has improved markedly. Breeders have attempted to reduce the number and size of seed, and to make the flesh more tender and crisp. Dixie Queen and Cuban Queen are varieties resulting from the efforts of plant breeders. Melon of this type have been developed with the idea of eliminating end cuts, which usually are smaller than those taken from the center. The Blue Rind Watson is a Texas-developed variety which is popular for commercial use.

To obtain large melons, growers remove all on the vine except two of the best when the fruit has reached three to six inches in length. After heavy rainfall, Rosborough says, it is well to add 100 to 200 pounds of commercial fertilizer per acre to offset loss of fertility through soil leaching. This will insure ample food material for a strong growth and make the melons large.

"TEXAN" HOME—

Minnesota Brand paints, enamels, and varnishes, selected and handled exclusively by Wm. Cameron & Co. because of their unusual suitability for the Southwestern climatic conditions, were used throughout. Wallpaper consists of choice selections from among Cameron's "1941 Smash Hits". The foundation is guarded by approved metal termite shields to exclude termites and all other crawling insects.

"This is one of 36 Cameron-built 'Texan' model homes throughout Texas which are being opened for public inspection", said Mr. G. W. Dennis. "Government statistics show that about 80 per cent of the adult population of the United States earn less than $2,500 a year. Certainly these people cannot afford the more expensive homes which are being offered the buying public and, for this reason, Cameron is giving special attention to the building of small, high quality homes containing a maximum of liveability, comfort, and beauty to meet the need for low-priced, real-value homes."

usage and the advantages of good electrical lighting, and the advantages of good electric irons and cooking equipment.

Fred W. Westcourt made an interesting talk on "Landscaping the Home and Grounds". He explained the arrangement of shrubs, flowers and buildings around the home. If the lawn, buildings, and gardens are properly arranged it will add to the beauty of the home.

Dr. Rebecca W. Smith's talk on "Today's Challenge" inspired every 4-H Club boy and girl to be a more loyal American. The most interesting point which she expressed was "Who are you?" "I am an American".

Highlights of entertainment was special music by Hidalgo County 4-H Club band, group singing was led by Walter Jenkins, Elizabeth Rueter, Sarah Pearl Davis, Charles Ball and Marvin McMillan gave interesting talks describing their trip to the National 4-H Club camp at Washington, D. C.

Thursday night, a pageant entitled "Our 4-H Club" was presented by the Burleson County 4-H Club boys and girls.

The Junior Course of the Farmers' Short Course closed Friday night, July 18 with a theatre party.

My trip to the A. and M. Short Course was not only enjoyable, but very educational. Every farm boy and girl should belong to the 4-H Club because I think it is grand to be in 4-H Club and to do 4-H Club work.

A ole maid is a woman what has bin good fer nuthin'.

One way fer a gal t' git in deep water is t' refuse t' neck in a canoe.

A FELLER what rites sports fer a Nue York paper cums out an' sez shortstop posishun is th' tuffest fieldin' posishun on a ball nine an' is th' most important like. He's right as a rabbit 'bout that, but he goes on an' fails t' hit a bull's eye.

He naims sum great shortstoppers sich as Dan Richardson o' Washington (1892), Shorty Fuller, Nue York Giants (1895) an' Tom Corcoran, Cincinnati Reds (1898). They wus all good shortstoppers, but the Nue York boy jist didn't go fer enuff back t' git th' peer o' 'em all.

Yes, siree, th' greatest shortstopper wus George Wrigh' o' th' famous Cincinnati Red Stockings, th' first pro ball club, bac' in 1869. 'Course I never seen George play, but they is enuff left in th' books t' tell us how good he wus.

Wright died in Boston in 1937 at th' age o' 90 yeers an' head o' th' firm o' Wright & Ditson, makers o' sportin' goods. A. G. Spalding an' others o' them 1869 days all sed Wright wus th' smartest an' fastest fielder they ever seen.

Due t' Wright's smartness baseball t'day has th' infield fly rule—a fly ball in th' infield is a automatic out. Wright pulled th' trapped ball trick in 1870 whin th' Red Stockings wus playin' th' Atlantics o' Nue York.

Th' score wus tied goin' int' th' tenth, 'cordin' t' Spalding, an' th' Atlantics had men on second an' first. Th' batter hit a pop fly an'

Wright holdin' up his hands as if t' catch th' fly he signalled fer th' fielders t' stick t' their bases. Th' baserunners figgerin' it shud be a easy out, held their bases. Wright purposely trapped th' ball by scoopin' it up on th' first bounce an' throwed it t' third an' th' third baser shot it t' second fer a dubble an' retired th' side. Th' Reds failed t' win, however, as th' Atlantics scored in th' eleventh innin' t' end th' gaim, 8 t' 7.

Why nobuddy ever thought o' this 'fore Wright I dunno. Innyhow, his trick caused th' baseball officials t' maik th' infield fly rule. Miny say Wright also start'ed th' ideer o' tossin' th' ball 'round in th' infield after strikeouts an' outs at first with nobuddy on. Th' ideer wus t' keep th' players pepped up an' let 'em feel o' th' ball.

Th' smart ball players has caused most o' th' rule changes or maikin' o' nue ones. Hughie Jennings used t' coach at third fer Detroit an' with a man on third he'd tear out an' run toward home as th' pitcher started his wind-up. They wus no rule sayin' how fer th' coach cud run toward home an' sumtimes Hughie wud run down t' within ten feet o' th' bag.

It took th' other clubs three yeers 'fore th' rule wus maid settin' a definite territory fer th' coaches at first an' third.

It's my feeble opinion th' next big change in baseball will be all gaims played at night 'cept Sunday an' th' night gaims cut t' seven innings.

Private Papers

Of a Cub Reporter:

J. Edgar Hoover and the G-Men received great acclaim from all sources for rounding up those spies . . . Some congressmen, however, showed their appreciation by killing the wire-tapping bill—designed to make things easier for the G-Men in espionage cases . . . What's the matter with them? . . . Afraid they'll hurt the civil liberties of a few spies and kidnapers?

Many of the papers now praising the G-Men for their efficiency in rounding up the spies are the same ones that found fault with the G-Men a short time ago . . . And you were a G-Man's stooge if you defended the FBI.

From page 187 of William Shirer's best seller, "Berlin Diary": "Representative Ham Fish seems to have been completely taken in by Ribbentrop, who gave him an airplane to rush in to the Inter-Parliamentary meeting in Scandinavia."

Boy, that sure explains a lot of things.

By all means read the article on Wheeler and Roosevelt in the July 15 Look . . . While Wheeler goes around the country wrapping himself in the Flag and rapping the President by using all kinds of idealistic arguments—this article proves that the whole thing is strictly personal . . . And get this: The reason Wheeler sneers at everything the President does—according to the article—is that Mrs. Wheeler doesn't like the President!!!

Everett Roeder, one of the alleged spies rounded up by the G-Men, had an important job at the Sperry Gyroscope company—which manufactures some of our most vital defense material . . . When that company was first given defense contracts, we pointed out (in the column and on the air) that Nazi agents worked there . . . It has taken more than a year to confirm these allegations.

Congressman Coffee introduced a resolution in congress to stop the sale of oil to Japan . . . Just the other day we gave some oil to Vichy, but if we send any oil to Britain, we are trying to get the country into the war.

With typical stupidity, Virginio Gayda is giving away Nazi plans . . . The other day he boasted that if Germany whips Russia, they will have air bases near Alaska and will be able to bomb the Western hemisphere . . . Of course, the appeasers refuse to believe that anything like that can happen.

Or maybe they know they can stop bombs from hitting their homes by making certain kinds of speeches now.

A bored gal buttonholed a stag at the Stork Club bar and begged him to crash the table where she sat with her kluck.

"He's boring me with his monologue," she wept. "He's repeating himself like a day-time radio commercial."

From F.P.A.'s Column: "New names for this and new names for that. How about the America Last Committee?"

How about getting it first? And don't WHOM me!!!

A Lexington Avenue motorist jammed on his brakes two inches from a jay-walker and cussed him to a cinder. "Gwan, you ape," the pedestrian squelched, "the last generation of your family was menacing people with coconuts instead of cars."

F.D.R. freezing Axis dough over here panicked lots of the well-heeled refugees . . . The allotment of $500 a month to everybody is going to cramp their style, shoo them out of the luxury hotels and hamper them from picking up cafe checks.

But if they think their money has been frozen, wait'll they see the expressions on the faces of some of their fair-weather friends.

Notes of an

Innocent Bystander:

The Big Parade: Ex-Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock, now a soda water emir, making the rounds of the midtown joynts and grills to peddle his product . . . District Attorney Dewey boarding a taxi near the Biltmore as cabmen gape in awe . . . Spencer Tracy and Paul Muni, a couple of Hollywood guys, looking like any other two "out-of-towners"—ha, ha!

Sallies in Our Alley: One of the Broadway health-seekers was floored by the 90 per cent humidity . . . "Whew," he complained, "it's so hot I can't stand it under my sun lamp!" . . . An actress opened in a new show and was slapped with so many summonses and attachments on her first pay night that she thought it was snowing . . . Overheard description of a midtown magazine editor: "He's so yellow he could sell the streak up his back for a caution signal."

DUST ROSES FOR MILDEW

Mildew on roses may be controlled by spraying with boreaux mixture or by dusting the bushes with a good coat of finely ground sulphur.

Sadie Hatfield, extension specialist in landscape gardening, says that because some home gardeners object to marrin gtheir plants with yellow dust, it now is possible to obtain in some places sulphur which has been dyed green.

The symptoms of mildew, which is encouraged by excess moisture, is the grayish-white appearance of the leaves. They look as though they had been dusted with flour o rashes, and curl up and eventually die. Buds often fail to open and if they do open the blossoms are malformed. Some varieties of roses have strong resistance to mildew while others, like the Dorothy Perkins for instance, are very susceptible to it.

Shade and the sprinkling of water on the leaves encourage attack in years of normal rainfall. Infestation also is encouraged by growing susceptible varieties near resistant varieties.

"I WANT A DIVORCE"

Based on a story by
ADELA ROGERS ST. JOHNS

Serialized from the Paramount Picture

CHAPTER I

JERRY BROKAW was in a rush. She sped downtown through the tangled Los Angeles traffic like an impatient comet. But the tall shaft of the City Hall, which was her goal, seemed to get no closer despite the fact that her speedometer was registering figures above the legal limit.
 Whenever Jerry had something unpleasant to face, she postponed even thinking about it until the very last minute. Then in the fine frenzy that goes with a mad rush, she avoided the unpleasantness until she bumped smack into it. Jerry did not at all like what she was going to smack into this fine Spring morning.
 Jerry's bete noir this day was her sister's divorce. She was headed for the Court of Domestic Relations to appear as a witness, much against her will. Jerry didn't ap-dislike of all Wanda's friends. His smug satisfaction and suaveness always puckered her nerves.

 "Isn't it true, Mrs. Holland," he was asking Wanda, "that there were many other occasions on which your husband subjected you to mental cruelty?"
 "David cruel," Jerry humped inwardly. "Even a dope like you knows better than that."
 The judge interrupted in a bored tone, before Wanda could answer. He knew Brandon's tricks and the hoops through which his clients jumped like well trained circus dogs. "I'm quite satisfied, Mr. Brandon," he said wearily, "that in a default action like this it is unnecessary to cite further evidence of this nature. Besides Mr. MacNally has already contributed thoroughly to this phase of the testimony."
 "And what does Mr MacNally know about it?" Jerry wondered. He must be that fellow at the coun-she thought, to restore her to reason and calm. As Jerry fumbled for her lighter, someone struck a match. She puffed on it before looking up. It was Allan MacNally. Without a thank you, Jerry turned to walk away from him.

 Allan watched her move over to the window and stare out, as he shrugged his shoulders in a what-have-I-done-now expression. She was tapping her small well-shod foot in annoyance. "Darn nice legs," he commented to himself. His admiration didn't stop there. This member of the Brokaw family had grown into a handsome young woman from the time he last saw her. That must have been eight years ago, at least, he figured. She had been Wanda's maid of honor, and Wanda and Dave had been married at least eight years ago. Looked as though she had some sense, too, he decided. Not the flighty type like Wanda. But what on earth did she have against him? She had acted as though he were a walking congress of freaks peddling life insurance. He decided he wanted to know this girl.
 "What do you want?" Jerry snapped at him, as he sauntered over to her.
 "Well, I thought you might have an extra cigarette you'd give a fellow," Allan announced, undismayed by her brusqueness. "I gave you a match. You give me a cigarette. Everything will be even."
 None too graciously, Jerry dug into her bag and fetched the package out.
 "We've met before, you know," Allan offered. "I'm not out of bounds trying to talk to you. We met at Wanda's wedding. You weren't more than a kid then, were you?"
 She looked so sweet, so genuinely penitent, Allan felt like taking her in his arms, as you would a child who has been hurt by something it doesn't understand. This was a rare girl, this Jerry Brokaw, with plenty of temper and spirit, but with a genuineness that stood out immediately.
 "I'm sorry I've been so rude," she told him. "But this whole thing has upset me."
 "You were all right in there," he said, nodding in the direction of the court room.
 "I hated myself," Jerry replied, and all the sweetness had left her again.
 "You didn't feel any worse than I did," Allan answered.
 "Then what did you testify for?" she turned on him. "Just to hear yourself talk—or were you paid for the effort?"
 So that was it. That was why she'd been unfriendly to him—for his part in her sister's divorce, Allan realized. Embarrassed, he started to explain.
 "Brandon put me on the spot," he said quietly. "You see I'm scheduled to work for him once I pass my Bar Exams. But before I agreed, I phoned David and told him. David said to go ahead, if it would help Wanda. I understand how you feel about this, and believe me, I agree with you."
 Jerry said nothing. She turned and again stared out the window. Allan could have kicked himself. Everything he had said so far had annoyed her, and that wasn't what he wanted. He determined to have one more try.
 "What made them blow up—I mean Wanda and David?" he asked.
 "If you want my honest opinion," Jerry responded coldly, over her shoulder, "I think it was the kind of people Wanda chose for her friends. I think they are about the messiest conglomeration of moral and intellectual garbage it's ever been my misfortune to—"
 Allan cut in before she could finish. "Wait a minute. It might interest you to know I was one of their friends."
 Turning, and looking him right in the eye, Jerry said calmly: "The crack still goes." Then she marched down the hall and into the elevator, leaving Allan as angry as she had been.

She walked the short distance to the witness stand, took the oath and answered Brandon's opening questions briefly.

prove of the idea of divorce, even generally. She theorized that if two people loved each other once, enough to marry, they could easily find some way to hang on to that love and patch up whatever differences had come into their lives. She particularly didn't like the idea of Wanda and David separating, and the lying that would have to go on to make that separation legal.
 What had got into Wanda, anyway, Jerry wondered. She had been so swell, and she and David had been so happy. Jerry still liked David. He was a peach, she told herself. But Wanda had changed, since David had started making so much money. And the sort of people Wanda had started drifting with. Jerry didn't blame David for not wanting them around. Addelepted bird brains, every one of them, with a set of values as phoney as a gambler's deal. It was awful to think that Wanda had turned into one of them.
 Jerry had no further time for gloomy contemplation of her sister and her friends. She parked her car, hurried into City Hall and to the elevator. As she walked into the courtroom, she saw Wanda already on the stand. She looked calm enough, Jerry decided. No broken heart showing there. And she certainly fitted the picture caption that was sure to be on the front pages of the afternoon papers: "Beautiful Society Matron Sues For Divorce." Wanda's well groomed beauty would dress up any page.
 Erskine Brandon was handling her case. That was assurance enough that there would be no hitches. Brandon had made a fortune loosening marital ties and had the enviable record—which you paid well for—of never drawing an adverse decision for a client. Jerry had found him almost the easiest to table, she decided after looking around, with two of Wanda's women friends. It was bad enough for women to get themselves into a fracas like this, but no self-respecting male had any business in a public tattle-telling bee. Probably one of those paid witnesses, she decided.

 "Well, you're the next witness," Brandon said to her, yanking Jerry back from her musings.
 She walked the short distance to the witness stand, took the oath and answered Brandon's opening questions briefly. She heard herself parrot like: "Yes, David Holland had criticised Wanda Holland constantly. No, she didn't think the criticism justified. Yes, her sister had been a good wife and an irrepachable mother." It went on in the same strain under Brandon's deft maneuvering. Then it was over. With a defiant tug at her hat, Jerry left the stand.
 "You were a darling, and I know how you hated it," Wanda whispered, patting her arm.
 "It's all right, Baby, just so long as it will make you happy," Jerry told her. Kate Newhouse, sitting next to Wanda, reached out an arm that was elbow deep in diamonds, and plucked at Jerry's sleeve.
 "We'll do the same for you," Kate—three times divorced herself—giggled.
 "You do," Jerry muttered through her teeth, "and I'll hand you a sock on the nose that will jar your ears loose!" Then she sallied out of the courtroom, seeing a beautiful, bright, clear red, and shaking with fury. Fury at herself for having had any part in the whole disagreeable business. And a violent fury at Wanda's friends whom she held largely responsible for the whole mess.
 She better cool off and wait for Wanda. A cigarette might help,

AIR CONDITIONING WITH PURE ICE

NOTHING CAN TAKE THE PLACE OF REAL ICE

SAFE—No gases nor moving parts to worry about.
 AIR CONDITIONED—Fresh, washed air is kept circulating in an ice refrigerator.
 MOIST—Foods retain their original freshness
 TROUBLEFREE—Nothing to get out of order, no repair bills to pay.

Modern ice refrigerators are built along scientific principles. Warm air is lighter than cold and consequently rises as cold air, being heavier, falls. As the heated air from the food in the refrigerator rises it is cooled by the ice and descends, so that the air in the refrigerator is kept in constant motion. Furthermore, because the ice in your refrigerator is purer than the water you drink, this air is being constantly washed and purified. This adds immeasurably to the proper preservation of the foods in the refrigerator.

TWO LOCAL STUDENTS AT S.W.S.T.C. TO RECEIVE B. S. DEGREES

San Marcos, Texas—About three hundred students at Southwest Texas Teachers will receive degrees here at the annual summer commencement exercises August 20, according to Dr. A. A. Grusendorf, registrar. Two hundred under graduates will get bachelor's degrees, while the others will take degrees of master of arts.

Among these are W. T. Walker and Nadine Ruth Goodwin, both of Gatesville, who are receiving degrees of bachelor of science. The exercises will be held under the lights at Evans Field, where a grandstand will be erected in front of the stadium. The Baccalaureate services will be held Sunday, August 17, also at the football field.

President C. E. Evans, head of the college for the past 30 years, will confer the degrees. Commencement and baccalaureate speakers have not been named yet, President Evans said.
