Spur, Spur! Spur! What Cotton, And A Cowboy Name

From Spur, Texas, what would you expect?

Cowboys, cows, chuckwagons, cow ponies and all the sort of stuff that makes a ranch. But, that's not the Spur, Texas, M. W. Murray tells about. The Old West, in our window that has 69 bolls of good, full, big bolls of cotton on it. Those "westerners" have gone soft, and are raising of all things "cotton". And are they raising it? This particular man, a nephew of Mr. Murray's we believe, has 85 acres like this, and expects to get 100 bales of cotton on that 85.

Let's see 100x100 is $100,000 or more, and, brother, that's farming. Mr. Nephew won't be "forgotten" long, with a hundred grand in coin of the realm.

Chamber Commerce Meets: Committee Appointed, Army

Well, even if the tables were turned, the Gatesville Chamber of Commerce is still "going to the bat" for Gatesville, Coryell County and all its citizens.

At a meeting Friday of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce and other officials, a discussion was held of the Army camp situation, and it was decided to make the best of whatever came. For this reason, a committee composed of Dan E. Graves, Chairman, County Judge Floyd Zeigler, George Painter, Mayor C. E. Gandy and B. K. Cooper were named, as a committee to direct any and all work relative to the army camp which would be in the interest of Gatesville.

This committee is only the nucleus, and if it becomes necessary to add additional members, this will be done, until the committee reaches 20.

The committee will assist both town and county folks in solving their problems relative to the proposed camp, with the hope that it will be for the best benefit of all.

Sixtette Are Not Reported: Cove Wins: Flat Rains

Sixtettes this week, we don't know about any but Flat-Turnersville and Copperas Cove-Ireland. Copperas Cove battered the Irelanders 38-0, and Flat-Turnersville clubs met yesterday at Flat, due to the big rains, Friday.

In the Cove-Irish melee, Coach C. D. Maag's Bulldogs, playing on a wet field, scored twice in the first and once in each of the other three stanzas over the weak Ireland squad.

Quarterback Cotton Adams made 2 touchdowns and kicked four of five goals, netting 8 points. Center Calvin Walker scored twice and Henry Dewald once.

Mayor Proclaims United China Relief Sunday

"Whereas, the Hon. Coke Stevenson, Governor of Texas has proclaimed a certain Sunday in October 1941 as United China Relief Sunday, and whereas he has invited the various religious bodies in Texas to participate in carrying for Fifty Million Chinese War refugees who have been driven from their home by the Japanese Armies, which refugees are starving, ill and destitute.

In the view of the fact that I believe the good people of Gatesville, Texas are always willing and anxious to share in a worthy cause and that they will be glad to respond to this worthy cause, and whereas in conference with the Pastors of our churches, found them concerned in the matter, I, C. E. Gandy, Mayor of the City of Gatesville, Texas do hereby proclaim Sunday, October 19, 1941, as United China Relief Sunday, with the hopes that we will respond to the call as is made by their Pastors.

C. E. Gandy
Mayor, City of Gatesville."

IN NORTH EAST WEST SOUTH

A SUMMARY OF WORLD, NATIONAL AND STATE NEWS

REDS SAY NAZIS GAIN

(By The United Press)
The armored Nazi juggernaut rolled even nearer to Moscow Monday amid an unending stream of German victory claims and authoritative Italian predictions that the next Axis drive would be directed against India, treasure house of the British Empire.

Moscow admitted the loss of Bryansk, important rail junction on the Desna River 210 miles southwest of the menaced Red capital, as well as important German gains around Vyazma 130 miles along the shores of the Azov Sea.

24 HOUR RAID ON NAZIS

London, Oct. 12 (AP)—The RAF back on a 24 hour bombing-strafting schedule, blasted at German shipping off the Norwegian Coast from midnight to dawn Sunday, ranged the invasion coast of France the English Channel and the North Sea thru the daylight hours and then went back to work Sunday night on the Boulogne-Calais-Dun-kerque strip.

50,000 TANKS FOR BRITS

London, October 12 (AP)—Lord Beaverbrook, Minister of Production, Sunday reported the Russian belief that the Germans had 30,000 tanks for their eastern campaign and were 14,000 in the present attack on Moscow, and called for a British and American production of 50,000—program vaster than any yet laid down or even contemplated.

GOOD-WILL TALK BORES LATIN

Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 12 (AP)—Mayor Fletcher Bowron returned Sunday from a 5-week aerial tour of South America to suggest a moratorium on good will junkets.

South Americans, he said, are sick and tired of such things, adding: "Good will exists but we're going to spoil it if we overdo it." "I am convinced," the former newspaper reporter declared, "that the danger of Nazism in South America has been much overemphasized. There are a lot of Germans in the various republics, but they won't be very successful in any attempt to spread their doctrines."

MILEY'S SLAYER CONFESSES

Fort Worth, Oct. 12 (AP)—Tom C. Penney, 32, scar-faced Lexington, Ky., ex-convict, Sunday signed a statement admitting that he and another man fatally shot Golf Star Marion Miley and her mother during a robbery Sept. 28.

$12,000,000 FIRESTONE FIRE

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 12 (AP)—The most disastrous fire in Fall River history roared thru the Firestone Rubber and Latex Company plant Sunday, destroyed 6 buildings and huge stocks of important defense material and left 2,000 persons without jobs.

SYNOPSIS
 "Colonel Fane," successful London businessman, is really Jim Dial, a dangerous racketeer who manages to become engaged to Glory Howard, famous beauty. Young Ricky Morgan, whom Fane once forced into a life of crime, hears that Fane has given Glory an incriminating cameo ring which Ricky broke when accidentally killing a man. Ricky breaks into Glory's apartment and they fall in love, but Glory deserts him and marries Fane. On their wedding night Ricky calls on Fane; they fight and Fane is accidentally shot. Glory, who still loves Ricky, shields him and testifies that Fane committed suicide. She is held for his murder.

Chapter Six

The little English country town was agog over the indictment and imminent trial of young Mrs. Fane for the murder of her husband. The few who sympathized with her shook their heads, clucked their tongues, and murmured, "It looks fair bad for the poor girl."

Ricky was of their way of thinking, and he was determined to do something about it. Through with accepting her protection and en-dangerous life for something that had happened to him, he marched down to the hotel where Glory's attorney, the famous barrister Valentine, was staying, and pushed his way into the room where Valentine was poring over his papers in the case.

"Mr. Valentine, my name is Ricky Morgan. I want to talk to you about Glory Fane. She is innocent — I killed Colonel Fane! I had come down to settle an old score with him. I had a gun — he seized it — we struggled — it went off and he was killed."

The attorney laughed indulgently. "I'm sorry, young man, but your story won't hold water. Very gallant of you, but don't let's be absurd. I don't believe your story, and no one else will."

And before the abashed Ricky could protest any more, Valentine bowed him out of the room.

And now Glory's fight for life was on in earnest. She was standing trial for the murder of her husband, this time with a new story to tell the jury — still not the true story, for she was determined to shield Ricky before herself. She had merely changed her version of Fane's death to suit the new evidence uncovered at the inquest.

Peters, the prosecuting attorney, was cross-examining Glory. In response to his questioning, she told him her story of the events on the night of Fane's death.

Peters, over the repeated objections of Valentine, proceeded to shake her story by drawing from her the admission that she loved Ricky Morgan, and that Morgan was penniless.

"Exactly," exclaimed Peters, addressing the presiding Judge. "It is the Crown's contention that the prisoner wanted Fane's money to spend on Ricky Morgan!"

An excited murmur arose in the courtroom. Glory grew pale. Ricky, sitting at the rear of the room, winced for the girl he loved, who was being publicly crucified for his sake. He could bear it no longer. He left the courtroom, determined in some way — any way — to save her.

Ricky confronted the local Police Inspector in his office. "Inspector, I want to give myself up for the murder of Charles Fane."

Despite the skepticism of the police, Ricky poured out to them the true story of how Fane had met his death. But when he came to the explanation of how he had gained access to Fane's quarters—by jumping down from the roof to the narrow balcony — they refused to listen to him. It was impossible!

"All right," said Ricky, "I'll prove it. I made that jump before, and I'll do it again."

Swayed by his fiery insistence and his readiness to prove his claim, the Inspector finally summoned a couple of his constables and they accompanied Ricky to the Fane house. If he could perform the hazardous jump as he said, it was quite possible that he had done it before.

In a few moments Ricky was up the drain pipe and on the ledge of the roof. He balanced himself, drew his form up rigid — and leaped.

But this time he was to tense, too deeply worried, too full of the sense of what depended on his jump. He missed his mark, struck the edge of the balcony railing, crashed to the ground, and lost consciousness. His attempted sacrifice was for naught; he had only injured himself, had proved nothing — and Glory's life was still in the balance.

In the courtroom Prosecutor Peters was summing up. His case seemed complete. He pointed out the inconsistencies in Glory's defense, and the evident motive she had had in murdering her husband for the money. He therefore requested a verdict of "Guilty."

As he was finishing his impassioned address, a clerk rushed into the courtroom and handed him a note. Peters read it, held a whispered consultation with his staff, and then addressed the Judge.

"Sir, information has just reached me which changes the entire complexion of this case. I learn that the late Colonel Fane's partner has just committed suicide over a crash in the pepper market in which their firm was involved. Since this substantiates the defendant's earlier claim that Colonel Fane did indeed have severe financial worries which caused him to take his own life, we are satisfied that the defendant is innocent, and the prosecution hereby begs leave to withdraw!"

It was over! Glory was free! But Ricky —

In a hospital cot Ricky lay recovering from his injuries, which were painful but not of serious nature. Asleep under the influence of a sedative, he tossed and moaned, while uneasy dreams flitted through his subconscious mind. Suddenly the course of his dream changed; he saw a vision of Glory with her arms about him.

He awoke with a start, to find Glory bending over him. "Glory! Oh, Glory, I've been dreaming a lovely dream!"

She bent lower and kissed him. "Lovely dreams, darling, sometimes come true . . ."

THE END.

Well, 4 Points Won, Anyway! Hornets Out-Mud West Fri. Nite

DEFENSE WINS BATTLE IN LOUISIANA QUAGMIRE LESS FROGS, CRAWFISH

It was all there Friday night of last week, to make it a Louisiana quagmire (swamp to you) except the frogs and crawfish, and the Gatesville High School Hornets acted like Louisiana, yes, even Texas crawfish, and crawled two safeties out of the West aggregation. The final was Hornets 4, West 0.

With 12 men on the field, the Hornets were due to win. The extra was Chester Cole, playing his initial game as "ball dryer", slightly back of the referee, or umpire.

Another highlight of the game was the Earl Carrollistic possibilities in the GHS pep squad, that, with D. W.'s music, and it looked like a pre-Carroll show, not the strip kind, but the rhythm and footwork and all on a damp night like Friday night. The band, by the way, has improved 100 percent over their previous showing. We wish we could say as much for 11 other people at the game Friday night.

But, we'll get into that now. They did improve and very much. It took a little "benching" which is always good for the player, but sometimes the fans don't appreciate it, but Coach knows best.

That by way of introduction, and here's what you've been pantingly awaiting, or have you?

West kicked to Hornets on the S end of the field, taken on the 18 and returned to 21. Perkins fumbled but recovered, losing 1, and another fumble and Fry punts from 12 to Hornet 40, West taking over on 40. West then quickkicked from own 40 to Hornet 15.

Perkins made r at rt end, and Fry made a 1st down over LT. West drops 15 yds, penalty for kicking, and that makes another 1st for Hornets. Perkins takes one around RT end from 45 to 20, for another. Fry picks up 5, and Perkins makes another 1st, putting swinerind (not original) on 10 yard stripe. Post for Perkins. Fry don't find a receiver, and runs for it, as Q ends.

2ND QUARTER

Perkins in, Post out. Morgan takes Garrison for 2 yd. loss, as ball went over on last down of last quarter. Kicking from 5, West kicks to 30, and Fry punches thru RT G for 7. He makes 1st D. RE don't block and Perkins is stopped thru G. Perkins makes 5 and the ball goes over without an attempt to pass. Boys, if you can't make it on the ground, try the air.

West had it one play and fumbled on the 1st and Perkins recovered. Playing around RE, Hornets fumble the slick ball, and drop 6. They then lose 6. Post for Perkins. Fry passes incomplete and West takes over. West passes twice but Hornets sift thru line and they can't go. West, 5 yds. off side. Urbis for West punted from 15 to 40 as half ended.

3RD QUARTER

White kicks, Fry holds, goes to West 4 (it would have rolled over) and they return to 9. West fumbles but recovers, and they kick from 4 to 35, ball returned by Hornets to 30. Davis drops 2 as line isn't tight. Fry makes 3 over LT. Fry kicks over goal, brought out to 20. Gerik gets loose for 8 yds. White recovers West fumble.

Fry takes off around LE for 8, Davis makes it 1st D. Fry picks up 3, Davis fails on long RE run. Post for Perkins. Ball goes over as Hornets fail to make 1st D.

West attempts to punt from back of goal, Hornets drop West back of the line, making a safety and 2 for Hornets.

West kicks to Hornets from 20 to Hornets on 50, and ball is returned to 45. Fry makes 4 at C. as quarter ends.

West passes for 1st down and successfully laterals. Roberts intercepted next pass and it's the Hornet's ball.

Cross, Caruth and Wilkinson in. Fry kicks out on 4 yd line. Wilkinson goes thru and stops West back of goal line for another safety, 2 more.

West kicks again from 20. Fry gets off on RT side line for 18 yards and 1st down. West drops 5 offside. Fry makes 1st D. Davis got 2, Fry fumbled, recovered, and ball goes over, Gholke for Wilkinson. West kicks to Fry on 40 returns to 32 as game ends.

Summarizing, our count is 2 first downs for West and 8 for Gatesville.

WITH THE COLORS

Great Lakes, Ill. September 28, 1941

Dear Folks:

Well, I arrived in Chicago yesterday at 3 o'clock and came out to the station which is about 35 miles from Chicago on the bank of Lake Superior. I'll spend about a month here before going to school before I go on to Dearborn, Michigan.

It's colder than seven north poles here. I like the San Diego weather best. It rained this morning and looks now as if it might snow any minute. I'm sleeping in my hammock now which is warmer than a bunk, but three times as hard to sleep in. I didn't fall out of mine a time last night, but they were hitting the floor all around me.

I saw one of the newest streamlined trains, the "City of Los Angeles" standing in the station in Chicago as we came thru. There were two or three other streamliners there too.

Joe Louis is coming to this station October 5th or 8th. Well, write soon and tell me all the news.

Your son,
Elmer.

Note: Folks, that's Elmer Sparks son of Mr. C. D. Sparks of Gatesville, and it looks like already he's had a pretty good ride with his "Uncle": From Gatesville, probably to Dallas, and then from Dallas to San Diego, California and from San Diego to the Great Lakes Training Station, and then from there to Dearborn, Michigan. Seems like we saw Elmer on the streets of Gatesville, just a day or two ago. He's really going places.

Where he is now, is a so called "bott" camp, or recruit camp for the Gobs, and that hammock is one of the things they have to learn to sleep in, and it's not like the old "front yard" kind, either, and you remember how you could get dumped in one of those.
