DESTROYER SUNK BY U-BOAT NEAR ICELAND FRIDAY, CONVOYING

Friday night of last week, the U.S. Destroyer Reuben James lay on the bottom of North Atlantic Friday night, torpedoed by a U-boat while convoying precious war supplies for Britain. Among the 120 officers and men, was Hartley Franks, 24, son of Mrs. Gaines Franks of Gatesville. Franks was a first-class Cook aboard the vessel.

Later news gave the rescued as 44, and that 77 were still unreported. No further official word has come in from the Navy Department or from any other source, according to Gaines Franks, Jr., brother of Hartley, at least none up until 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The vessel, built in 1919, was 21 years old and was of 1,193 tons and some referred to the vessel as "an old tin can with four pipes".

Franks has been with the ship for three years and was still a member of the crew when he visited home a few months ago, according to Chief Storekeeper Bert D. W. Pollard, a member of the Navy recruiting staff in Dallas, and a relative of Franks'.

It is variously reported and intimated from letters from members of the crew of this ship that it had already gotten rid of 2 or more undersea raiders and dropped "ash cans" on others.

Franks is a graduate of Gatesville High School and is well known to all Gatesville, as well as many Coryell county people.

"... all I know is what I read in the papers"

He was a cowboy—a plain man. But he was a great American because he thought straight.

Let all Americans in THESE times recall how a man of the people became the critic and confidant of princes and presidents. Will Rogers read the newspapers.

Will had a great ability which YOU can have, too, if you'll do as he did. He read FACTS—and the same kind of facts are in the papers today, as they were in his time—the acts of Congress, the fights, the fires, the prices, all the news of the day.

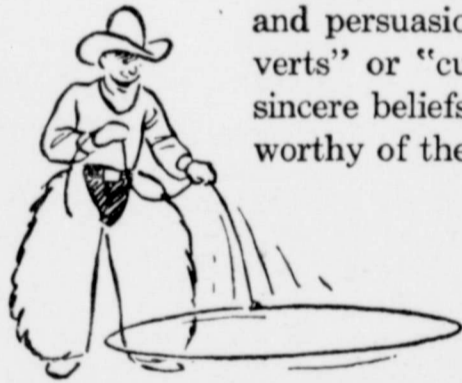

He read OPINIONS also. What this or that man THOUGHT about the facts. He read the urgings and persuasions of others, seeking to make "converts" or "customers" or "members"—the many sincere beliefs and opinions which ALL newspapers worthy of the name MUST print.

Then, armed with the facts and the opinions of the day, Will Rogers did what every man who deserves to be called a free citizen MUST DO. HE MADE UP HIS OWN MIND.

Will Rogers never complained that the papers were unreliable or one-sided. HE found enough good information in them to make himself loved, respected and listened to by almost the whole of America and Europe. How right he could be!

Herr Hitler doesn't believe the people are able to think for themselves. So he throws all but his OWN ideas in the wastebasket. Certain people in America—often they are college professors, government officials or leaders of some "ism" or movement—feel that way also. They aren't content to have their ideas and opinions offered along with the facts and along with the opinions of others.

If such people had their way, America could never have the sixty or seventy million informed, capable voting citizens who, given ALL the facts, ALL the opinions in straight, uncensored NEWS, are able to give us GOVERNMENT BY THE PEOPLE.

Read, each Tuesday in this space, the messages about your liberty and how America's newspapers help you defend it. Your letters of comment will be appreciated by the editor and by this committee—Newspaper Publishers Committee, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

VALLEY MILLS STOPS HORNETS DEAD 12-0 IN "COLD" GAME, 2 WAYS FRIDAY NIGHT

It was Hallowe'en, maybe that was the reason, and they were just out on a lark, and the Gatesville boys that got something done here Hallowe'en eve were the boys who put the chair on the City Water Tank, and should get "letters" for that. Gatesville has nothing to show for the big holiday with the exception of the chair.

In the 3rd, Valley Mills made their first counter, and the other count was also made in the 4th. The game almost thruout was played in Hornet territory, and deep at that. The Hornets made a few first downs, but there wasn't much else they made.

Here's how it happened: Hornets kicked, ball going to Wells on 15, returns to 25. "Lay-out" pass fails, with 2 laying on the side line. Warren makes 2 at C. Warren fakes kicks, passes, incomplete. Warren kicks from 20 to their 30.

Hornets pass, incomplete. Perkins makes 6 at R. E. Perkins makes 1st D. Caruth bringing around end gains, but unnecessary roughness (?) costs Hornets. Fry failed at RE, when RE didn't block. Fry passes, intercepted by Warren for V. Mills.

Hubby makes 5 at C. Cross stops Wells for no gain. Lengefeld for Caruth. Warren makes it 1st D. Cross stops Hubby, no gain. Warren passes to Hubby, incomplete. He did it again, completing this time, but ball goes over.

Braziel for Wilkinson. Ball on 4 yd. line. After 3 down, Hornets kick, would have, but fumbled and recovered. Fry kicks, nearly blocked, to 40, taken by Hubby to 45.

Laurence hits L side for 5. Hubby makes 4. Wilkinson and Gilmore in; Lengefeld and Lee out. Laurence makes it 1st D. Hornets off side. 5 more for V. Mills. Fake pass makes 3. Warren, attempting to pass is thrown for 10 yd. loss by White. Next pass, incomplete. Roberts for somebody. Warren kicks out on 4 yd. line.

Davis makes 1st D. thru LG. Fry makes 3 thru C. Fry kicks from 5 to 50, returned by Warren. Warren laterals and loses 10. Hornets don't try to recover fumble, is it is recovered by VM. Caruth for J. Fry. Pass, Warren to Hubby makes 18. Fry for Wilkinson. Warren punts from 50 to 5, returned to 15.

Davis pocks up 1. Then 6 more. Loses 5, backfield in motion, penalty. Perkins makes 4. Fry kicks from 10. Killed on 48.

Tripple hand backs behind line, fumble and Davis recovered. Braziel, Wittie and J. Fry in, Caruth Roberts and Gilmore out. Fry spins and makes 4 at RT. Perkins makes 8 around LE and 1st D. Post for Braziel. Hornets penalized 5 yds, too much time. Passes incomplete and 2nd quarter ends.

3rd Quarter

There wasn't much doing the first two, anyhow, and then VM kicks, ball going to Perkins on 20, returns to 38. Perkins makes 4 more. Fry made it 6 and 1st D. Fry after a couple of plays, attempts to kick, drops ball and it goes over on 35 yard line.

Warren passes for 1st D. and 12 yards over C to Crawford. Statue of Liberty play nets another 1st D. Ball on 15. Warren to Hubby, pass, goes to 1 yd. line and for a 1st D. Laurence plunges C for touch. Pass for extra fails, blocked by Perkins.

VM kicks, Perkins takes on 25, returns to 43. Perk fumbles and loses 4. Fry makes 7 at RG. Fry makes 1. Fry punts from 40 to 25, returned to 30.

Hubby over RT makes 9. Laurence makes it 1st D. Edwards in. Warren kicks from 45 to 15, returned to 20. Perk too fast for interference, picks up 4 as quarter ends.

4th Quarter

Henderson in. Hand back, Henderson fumbles and ball goes over on 20. Wells picks up 5 at LE. Lengefeld, Boynton and Roberts in. Lengefeld stops Warren after he makes 6. Hornets off-side and donate 5. Ball on 4 yd. line. Caruth for Boynton. Illegal use of hands an offense costs VM 15 yds. Lee in. Henderson stops Warren after he makes 10. Ball goes over on 5 yd. line. Perk fumbles, loses 1. Fry punts from back of goal to 35.

Hornets lose 5, off side. In 3 plays, VM goes 9 yards. Refree fails to make 1st D. Fry picks up fumble on 15, attempt to pass, Hornets are penalized 15 for clipping. They fiddle around and Fry finally kicks from goal line out on 38.

Just to make it interesting, Hubby takes off around RE, 38 yards for touchdown, untouched. J. Fry blocked extra point. VM kicks, and 3 more and it's over.

TWO MORE SIXETTE SCORES, BUT NO GAME INFORMATION

Sorry, we can't give your schools a "break" if you call it that, we've only got the scores of these two games.

Pearl and Pottsville's scores has not been sent in, but here's two others: Turnersville 42, Ireland 21; Flat 20, Oglesby 8.

Martin Clary of Turnersville did give us this: Game at Ireland, starting for Turnersville were Patterson, Wiginton, Neely, Crawford, Jacques, Clary, E. Smith and M. Smith.

COP. COVE BULLDOGS SMASH LOMETA IN SIXETTE GAME 44-7

Copperas Cove's high-g geared Bulldogs slammed Lometa 44-7 in a six-man game Friday, with the Bulldog reserves seeing lots of action.

Lometa scored first, early in the game, but the Bulldogs grabbed the lead in the second quarter when Adams scored twice. Other touchdowns were made by Henry Dewald, Urbantke, Stevens and two substitutes.

Playing on a wet field, the Bulldogs showed plenty of offensive power and seem to be a sure bet for the District championship.

MERIDIAN'S AERIALS STOP GATESVILLE STATE SCHOOL 24-12

Meridian, combining a baffling passing attack with a speedy ground game Friday night, defeated Gatesville State School for boys 24 to 12, and the Gatesville team scored a freak touchdown.

In the 3rd, with Meridian leading 18-0, Massengale leaped into the air and pulled down a pass which was thrown by a Meridian back, trying for the extra point after a touchdown and ran 95 yards for a touchdown.

Meridian scored in the 1st, with a 30 yard pass from Kilpatrick to Burch set up the scoring play. Kilpatrick then ran the remaining 14 yards for a touchdown.

A 25 yard pass, Kilpatrick to Burch produced the second Meridian counter in the second. A blocked punt which was recovered behind the Gatesville goal made the third. The fourth was a pass, good for 24 yards, and Burch raced 50 yards after receiving this one. No extra points were made.

State's second counter came in the fourth, when Massengale scored from a short distance.

DARK JOURNEY

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
Under the guise of running a fashionable dress shop in Stockholm, Madeleine Godard engages in spying activities with the German Intelligence. In reality, however, she is in the service of the French counter-espionage, seeking to find out from her German colleagues who is their commander-in-chief. Madeleine falls in love with Baron Karl von Marwitz, who poses as a German deserter. He admits to her that he is the German espionage head she seeks, but discovers her secret — that she is a French spy. Karl, with duty to his country uppermost, then seeks to capture her, but she is rescued by the Stockholm police and put on a steamer bound home for Paris.

Chapter Six

A shot boomed across the bows of the little Swedish packet as she steamed toward Le Havre under the rays of the early morning sun. "Everyone on deck, please! All passengers on deck!" A steward went from cabin to cabin, pounding on the doors, uttering the familiar cry. Meanwhile the U-Boat that had fired the warning shot stood by a few hundred yards to starboard and began lowering her little boat.

Madeleine waited stolidly amid the lineup on deck, while the submarine's boat, propelled by the oars of a single sailor, crept nearer. An officer sat rigid in the stem of the little craft, and as she came close his features were discernible. It was von Marwitz.

Briskly the German officer walked down the line of passengers, paying scant attention to any of them until he came to Madeleine. Saying no word, he tapped her on the shoulder and motioned her to come with him. As silently she complied, "I protest!" sputtered the ship's Captain. You have no right to take a passenger from a neutral ship!

"This passenger cannot claim the privilege of a non-combatant," replied the Baron coolly. "She is a French citizen and a member of the French Intelligence." Without waiting for further parley, he led Madeleine to the ship's ladder. In a few minutes they were seated side by side in the stern of the small boat and the oarsman had pushed off.

Meanwhile there was a flurry of interest on the deck of the waiting U-Boat. A ship had been sighted, off toward the horizon, steaming toward them. The U-Boat Commander's binoculars showed her to be a tramp steamer flying the Dutch flag.

"Boom!" went the submarine's aft deck gun, and a shot whistled across the bows of the tramp. While the small boat bearing von Marwitz and his prisoner was being rowed back toward the U-Boat, the crew watched the activity on board the new arrival. Men in dingy clothing and battered bowler hats, looking more like roustabouts than like seamen, and a few dowdily-dressed women were climbing into a lifeboat.

On the deck of the tramp steamer the skipper, puffing light-heartedly on a clay pipe, nonchalantly addressed his mate.

"Dear me, I do believe that's a German submarine!"

"Righto, Chief," replied the mate as jauntily. "And keep your ears inside the boat before they get lopped off by a shell!"

"Very good, very good! Now get your panic party into that lifeboat and lower away."

As soon as the lifeboat was a safe distance away from the steamer, strange things began to happen on that craft. The Dutch flag was hauled down, and up ran the British ensign in its place. At the same time, the superstructure of the boat collapsed on hinges, revealing the bare deck stripped for into position by the men who remained aboard.

For this was no peaceful tramp steamer at all, but one of those British "Q-Boats" that were the bane of the German submarine fleet during the late stages of the war—armed craft manned by happy-go-lucky, desperate seamen ready to blow any U-Boat out of the war after they had lured her within range of their guns by their "tramp" disguise.

While Madeleine and Von Marwitz watched helplessly in their little boat, caught almost directly between the two opposing craft, a spirited battle got under way between the submarine and the Q-Boat. Rapidly, and with steadily improving aim, the strange vessel hurled shell after shell toward the undersea craft from her rapid-firing guns. There was no time for the submarine to submerge and take refuge in the bottom of the sea while bringing her deadly torpedo tube into action.

The Q-Boat's first two shots — range finders — fell short, throwing up fountains of water in front of the submarine but inflicting no damage. But the third struck the U-Boat's foredeck, blowing several men into the water and disabling the turret and started the water gushing into the craft.

Meanwhile the aft deck gun crew of the submarine managed to fire a shot that burst in the rigging of the Q-Boat. A few men, hit by the falling shell fragments, fell to the deck; some of them writhing with their wounds, others lying very quiet, to move no more. But the battle was virtually over. The fifth shot from the Q-Boat landed squarely amidships of the submarine — a direct hit — causing her to heel over. Officers and men leaped from the deck to consign themselves to the water and the mercies of their vanquishers.

Madeleine, the thought of her country foremost in her mind, flashed a look of triumph at von Marwitz as the German sea scourge gave a final list and then went down amid a miniature whirlpool. The British lifeboat raced up to the scene and began picking up the floundering seamen.

At a word from von Marwitz, the oarsman of his little boat rowed over to the victorious Q-Boat. Madeleine, Von Marwitz and the seaman were helped aboard and greeted by the commanding officer masquerading as a "tramp steamer" skipper. "Miss Godard, I believe?"

"Yes."

"Had orders to look out for you. Glad we arrived in time. You've had a rough passage, haven't you? We'll make you as comfortable as we can until we put into port."

Then, turning to Von Marwitz: "Bad luck, Captain. We're picking up as many as your men as we can. An English destroyer is following us, and our orders are to turn you over to it."

Von Marwitz smiled sardonically. "You are very kind."

The awaited destroyer duly hove to, and sent over a boat for the German prisoner. As Karl left the Q-Boat he passed Madeleine on the deck. Neither spoke, but their eyes met in an eloquent look.

As the destroyer's lifeboat shoved off, Madeleine turned to the Q-Boat captain. "What will they do with him? They won't shoot him?"

"Certainly not," smiled the captain. "We don't shoot our prisoners."

She turned eagerly to the rail, cupped her hands to her mouth, and shouted over the water to Von Marwitz in the small boat.

"Karl! I'll be waiting, Karl! The war can't last much longer — I'll be waiting for you!"

He nodded to show that he had heard, then raised his cap and waved it toward her in agreement. And she knew that he would be waiting too — waiting for the time when he could join, in happiness and in peace, the slip of a girl who had outwitted him in war!
